Oscar Wilde, who is now in Boston, states that he did not settle a suit for damages in New Brunswick by paying $100, but will contest it to the end. He says he is going to England at an early date.

Chief Justice Waite paid $24,000 for a house on I street, Washington. When the fact became known, values in the region where he now resides fell 10 per cent., with a corresponding rise in the locality where he purchased a home.

At Germantown, Kentucky, George Inscoe dared to promenade the fairgrounds with the wife of George Cooper, an old flame, in opposition to Cooper's wishes, and got killed for his audacity.

Mr. Courtney, a member of the British parliament, assumes to define the policy of the government by stating that Egypt is to be detached from the sultan and her people be left to stew in their own juice.

A passenger train on the new road from Chattanooga to Atlanta struck a freight train when twenty miles out, by which James N. Waters, an engineer, and John Hobbs, a pilot, were killed. The fog was so dense that the switch was passed.

The adjutant general of Texas, who has been on a trip along the frontier, reports rich discoveries of gold, silver, and copper in the vicinity of the Guadaloupe and Waco mountains. General Rust has found an extensive deposit of gold and silver near Carizza.

The Dominion government commissioned Captain Scott, of the royal navy, to report on the condition of Canadian vessels navigating the lakes. He will insist on a radical change in marine architecture, and he considers all lake craft top-heavy.

The people of Lincoln county, Missouri, have rebelled against an order of court levying a tax of 1 per cent to pay a judgment for $300,000 on railroad bonds, and declare that they will resist the collection in every manner known to the law.

Almon L. Meaker, of Waterbury, Vermont, who assisted his mother in murdering a pauper girl boarding in their family, and who lies under sentence of death, has made a detailed confession of the poisoning.

Because a policeman arrested a drunken man at Limerick, a mob stoned the officers and fractured the skull of one of them. The leaders were subsequently captured. A sentry stationed outside the barracks was wounded by some assassin.

Charles S. Childs, superintendent of the cemetery at Cambridge, Massachusetts, while driving on Coolidge avenue, Saturday forenoon, was stopped by two disguised men, who shot him in the eye and robbed him of $550. He will probably die of his injuries.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

An American horse, Lorillard's Touch-Me-Not, won the two-year-old stakes at Newmarket.

William, the youngest son of Prince Bismarck, has been raised to the rank of government councilor.

Four men were killed by a fall of rock in the Republic iron mine in Michigan.

A block of business houses on Front street, El Paso, Illinois, valued at $100,000, was wiped out by fire Tuesday.

W. M. Lowe, a member of congress from Alabama, died Thursday at Huntsville.

A Paris cablegram announces the death of Count Napoleon Ney, a son of the famous marshal, at the age of 70.

Boxes of petroleum and gunpowder were found in the Imperial theatre at Riga, Russia.

Franklin Edson has been nominated by the democrats for mayor of New York.

Four of the largest butchers of New York have decided to transfer their slaughter-houses to Chicago and send the meat east in refrigerator-cars.

William George, a merchant of Reed's Landing Arkansas, was killed by unknown assassins.

A vein of fine coal over four feet thick, was found at Wenona, Illinois, at a depth of 333 feet.

Rev. Thomas Gaurd, a leading Methodist pastor of Baltimore, died Sunday from the effects of a surgical operation.

Joseph Parish, one of the most dangerous confidence men in the west, was captured Sunday in Indianapolis.

The block of stone for the Washington monument to be contributed by Nebraska is four by six feet, and bears the state's motto and coat-of-arms.

John Black, a well-known merchant of Pekin, Illinois, is said to be a defaulter for $15,000, and to have sailed for Germany two weeks ago.

The Masonic Grand lodge of California passed resolutions indorsing the refusal of the Grand lodge of Utah to admit upholders of Mormonism.

Samuel C. Davis, who founded an extensive dry-goods house in St. Louis, died of paralysis in Boston, Sunday, leaving a large estate.

Edward Clark, president of the Singer Sewing Machine company, died of malarial fever at Cooperstown, New York, leaving a large fortune.

At the dedication of a soldiers' monument at Beverly, Mass., a platform fell with a large number of spectators, five of whom were seriously injured.

Hon. W. M. Springer figures out a probable democratic majority of thirty-nine in the next house of representatives.

The registration of voters in Utah covers 34,000 names, four out of nine being women and three out of four Mormons.

Ingestre hall, the seat of Earl Shrewsbury, near Stafford, England, was completely gutted by fire Thursday, the loss being £500,000.

The butchering business of New York is being revolutionized by the arrival of dressed beef, in refrigerator-cars, from Chicago.

The Mexican National railroad bridge across the Rio Grande at Laredo was recently swept away by a flood, but a new one is ready for trains.

At a Baptismal ceremony near Canton, Ga., a rotten bridge carried two hundred persons into the water, many of them having arms or legs broken.

It has been decided to disinter the body of Fanny Parnell at Bordentown, New Jersey, and send it to Boston, for shipment to Ireland.

P. T. Langville, a prominent lawyer of Galveston, accompanied a yachting party on the gulf; but fell overboard and was drowned.

The stockholders of the Texas and St. Louis narrow-gauge road have resolved to increase the capital to $15,000,000.

The garrison at Salt Lake is to be increased by four companies of the 6th infantry, but officers in the war department deny any fears of trouble with the Mormons.

Seventeen members of a gang of counterfeiters were gobbled by the United States marshal at Tipton, Indiana, after mountains of evidence had been secured by detectives.

Sixty-one head of polled Angus and Galloway cattle were sold at the Kansas City fair grounds Thursday, bringing $26,720. The Angus cows averaged $74s and the Galloway cows $467.

Anthony Comstock made a raid on the pool-rooms at Long Island City, breaking in the doors at each place, and captured property valued at $15,000.

The Mexican government, having declared forfeited the concession to the Tehuantepec Interoceanic railroad, has made a contract with Delfin Sanchez to complete the work.

Oscar Wilde was arrested at St. John, New Brunswick, for breach of contract with the Young Men's Christian association, and paid $100 to settle the case.

The grand jury at Evansville, Indiana, indicted for conspiracy the three ringleaders in the lynchers from Posey county, and bail of $1,000 each was furnished by men who represent over $2,000,000.

Strong is the increase of pauperism in the south of Ireland that the Dublin union proposes to expend £7,000 in sending one thousand able-bodied men and women to Canada.

Dr. John W. Parker, of Columbia, South Carolina, whose humane and skillful management of the insane asylum gave him a national reputation, died Wednesday in his 80th year.

Daniel Camp, the most cunning planter in Arkansas, busied himself one night in poisoning watermelons in his yard, and then ate the wrong one himself.

Henry Keneme, a carpenter, who was at work on the tower of St. Xavier's church at Cincinnati, was instantly killed by falling sixty feet to the stone floor.

Dr. J. W. Wheeler, of Decatur, Illinois, formerly president of the State Medical society, has been placed in jail on charge of producing an abortion on Miss Estelle Risley.

Captain Webb, the English swimmer, completed at midnight Saturday his feat of remaining 128¼ hours in water. He was rather unstrung from loss of sleep.

The Hebrew Immigration Aid society of New York has resolved to notify the committees in London, Paris, and Berlin to forward no more refugees to this country.

The Pennsylvania road Thursday evening ran a car from New York to Newark, lighted by electric lamps fed by Faure accumulators the experiment proving a thorough success.

COMING!

THE GREATEST OF THEM ALL

Callender's Genuine Colored Minstrels!

COMPLETE IN ITS COLOSSAL MAGNITUDE, AND EMBRACING

30 Genuine Ethiopian Artists 30

EVERYTHING NEW, FULL BRASS BAND---25 PIECES

Under the direction of Prof. W. H. Henderson.

GRAND STREET PARADE ON ARRIVAL.

6 Genuine Jubilee Shouters
10 Irrepressible End Men
8 Artistic Clog Dancers

6 Genuine Jubilee Shouters
10 Irrepressible End Men
8 Artistic Clog Dancers

The Celebrated Callender Quartette!

—AND NEW—

FARCES, SKETCHES, SONGS, JOKES, SETTINGS, MUSIC, OLIO.

REMEMBER—Thirty artists traveling in their own palace car, made expressly for them by the Pullman Palace Car company, now on their tour of the United States after their trip to England. They appear in Tecumseh on THURSDAY, OCT. 26, ONE NIGHT ONLY.

Tickets now on sale at Keil's. Admission 50 cents. No extra charge for reserved seats.

6,048 Feet of Band Instruments Sold by the Detroit Music Co.

68 Bands averaging 16 members each, each horn averaging 6 feet—Total 6,048 ft.

We refer you to any of the following bands, who have full sets of our Instruments:

Owosso, Lapeer, Otisville, Mt. Morris, Chester, Groveland, Capac, Frankfort, St. Louis, Carleton, Memphis, New Haven, Richmond, Grand Trunk Junction, Springwells, Tuscola, Mayville, Big Rapids, Reed City, Chase, Golden Theatre Co. (2)—at the close of the season 1880 each member bought his own instrument, in the spring of 1881 Prof. Rodi bought another full set—Williams Theatre Co. Whitney family, Imlay City Washington, Flat Rock, Columbiaville, Otter Lake, Merrill, Wis.; Alma, Goodrich, Keil's band, (City); Wyandotte, Jackson, K. P.; Linden, Waltz, Denison, Texas; Port Sanilac, Ludington, Mecosta, Seneca, Kansas; Weston, Marine City, Edmore, Stony Point, Ont; Fenton, (3); Flushing, Carollton, Mo.; C.R. Mabley, Petoskey, Howard City, Harbor Springs, Wayne, Belleville, Harrison, St. John's, (ladies); St. Clair, Clarkton. Also one or more of our instruments are used in nearly every band in the country.

CUBBERDAN. 224 Woodward Ave., Detroit Mich. HARRY R. WILLIAMS.

LETTER LISTS.

Tecumseh.

Remaining uncalled for in the Post-Office at Tecumseh, Oct. 18, 1882.

Cooley, Miss Ida	Mark, Mr. Kit.
Esthess, Mrs. Julia	Niles, Miss A. (2)
Graves, Miss Mertie	Sancrant, Mr. Geo.
Hollister, Mr. Ann M.	Wilson, Mr. E. A.

Persons calling for letters in the above list will please say "Advertised."

FRED ROSACRANS, P.M.

GENERAL MARKETS.

CHICAGO.

WHEAT.—Lower; October, 94⅛@94⅝c; November, 96⅛@96⅝c; the year, 94⅝@94⅞c. CORN.—Higher; October, 68⅝@69c; November, 67⅛@67⅝c; the year, 60@60⅛c. OATS.—Higher; October, 33⅞@34c; November, 33⅝@33⅞c; the year, 32⅝@33c. RYE.—Firm; October, 58@58⅛c; the year, 59c. PROVISIONS.—Mess Pork higher; Oct., $23.50@24.00; Nov., $21.20@21.22½; the year, $19.80@19.33½. Lard—Steady; October sold at $12.70@12.77½; Nov., $12.17½@12.20; the year, $11.42½@11.50. CATTLE.—Market firm. We quote:

Fancy heavy export steers	$6.50@6.75
Choice fat steers	6.00@6.60
Good do.	5.40@5.90
Medium grade steers	4.25@5.35
Fair to medium steers	3.75@4.50

Hogs.—Market firm. Sales ranged from $7.25@7.85 for light packing and shipping; $7.60@8.55 for heavy packing, and from $8.10@8.90 for fair to choice smooth heavy shipping lots.

BUTTER.—Steady and firm. We quote: Choice to Fancy Creamery at 31a33c ₱ lb; ordinary to good do. 26a29c; good to fancy Dairy at 25a29c; common to fair do. 16a20c; Ladle-packed, 15a18c; packing stock at 13 14c; Grease, 8a10c.

NEW YORK.

WHEAT.—Higher; No. 2 Oct., $1.08 1.08⅛; November, $1.09@1.09⅛; Dec., $1.10⅝@1.11. CORN.—Quiet; Mixed Western Spot, 76@79½c.

CINCINNATI.

FLOUR.—Market quiet; Family, $4.60@4.80. WHEAT—Firm; No. 2 Red Winter, $1.01@1.02. CORN.—Higher; No. 2 Mixed, 77c. OATS.—Higher; No. 2 Mixed, 39c.—RYE. Quiet; No. 2 Full, 64c. PROVISIONS—Pork dull at $24.00. Lard quiet at $12.62½. Bulk Meats firm; Clear sides $10.25@15.00.—Bacon dull; Clear sides $17.25.

MILWAUKEE.

WHEAT.—Higher; October, 94½c; November, 95½c; December, 96c; No. 3, 83c.—CORN.—Higher at 68c for No. 2. OATS.—Firm; No. 2 White, 34½c. RYE.—Higher; 60c No. 1. BARLEY.—Higher at 93c for No. 2.

ST. LOUIS.

WHEAT.—Higher; No. 2 Red Oct., 93@93⅜c; November, 93@93⅜c; December, 95⅛. CORN.—Higher; Oct., 64⅞@65c; November, 57⅝@58½c; December, 50⅝@51½c. OATS—Lower; Oct., 32⅝@32¾c; Nov., 31⅝@31¾c; the year 31@31⅜c. RYE—Lower at 56½c.—BARLEY.—Steady at 65@90c. PROVISIONS.—Pork higher at $24.00. Dry Salt Meats quiet at $10.37½, 15.00, 15.50. Bacon steady at $11.25, 16.25, 17.12½. Lard higher; $12.50. HOGS—Higher; Yorkers, $7.00@7.45; butchers' to best heavy, $7.90@8.40.

BALTIMORE.

FLOUR.—Quiet: Western Superfine, $3.00@3.62; do. extra, $3.75@4.00; Family, $4.75@5.00. WHEAT—Western higher; No. 2 Winter Red Spot and Oct., $1.07 1.07¼; Nov., $1.08⅛@1.08⅜; December, $1.09⅜@1.09⅝. CORN.—Western higher; Mixed Spot and October, 72⅝@73c; November, 72@73c.

TECUMSEH MARKET.

Corrected Every Thursday Morning.

Apples, ₱ barrel	2 00 @	2 25
Apples, dried, ₱ lb	@	6
Butter ₱ lb	20 @	24
Barley, ₱ bushel	60 @	75
Beans, ₱ bushel	1 75 @	2 25
Buckwheat, ₱ bushel	@	1 50
Buckwheat Flour, ₱ hundred	@	4 50
Beef—dressed, ₱ hundred	8 00 @	9 00
Beef Hides	5 @	6
Calf Skins, ₱ lb	8 @	10
Corn in ear	30 @	40
Corn—shelled, ₱ bushel	70 @	75
Clover Seed	4 50 @	5 00
Chickens—dressed	10 @	12
Eggs, ₱ doz	@	20
Flour, ₱ barrel	5 50 @	6 25
Hogs—dressed, ₱ cwt	7 50 @	7 00
Hogs—live, ₱ cwt	4 75 @	5 50
Hay, ₱ ton	7 00 @	9 00
Honey ₱ lb	@	15
Ham, ₱ lb	@	14
Lard, ₱ lb	@	12
Oats, ₱ bushel	33 @	40
Onions, ₱ bushel	@	60
Potatoes, ₱ bushel	40 @	45
Salt, ₱ barrel	@	1 25
Sheep Pelts	50 @	1 00
Timothy Seed, ₱ bushel	@	2 50
Turkeys—dressed, ₱ lb	@	10
Wood, ₱ cord	3 00 @	4 00
Wheat, White, ₱ bushel	95 @	1 00
Wheat, Red, ₱ bushel	95 @	1 00
Wool	30 @	33

OUR NEW

FALL STOCK

—OF—

HEAVY DRAPERIES

Is rapidly coming in, and is well worthy of your attention. We make up

Long Curtains,
Portieres,
Valances,

—AND—

MANTLE LAMBREQUINS,

All in the Latest Styles and of the Newest materials.

We give special attention to Interior Decorations and ask the favor of a call from those thinking of such improvements.

STERLING & CO,

196 & 198 Summit Street,

TOLEDO, OHIO.

ESTATE OF SUSAN GILMORE.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, s.s

At a session of the Probate Court, for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office, in the City of Adrian, on Monday, the 16th day of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Susan Gilmore, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Elizabeth Davidson, praying that administration of said estate may be granted to Francisco Davidson, or some other suitable person.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the 13th day of November next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of said Petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate

(A True Copy.)

A. H. BRIGGS, Probate Register. oct19

CANCER

CAN BE CURED.

LOOSE'S EXTRACT RED CLOVER,

Has, by its merits alone, acquired a great reputation as a cure for cancer.

Many cancers have been cured by its use, but we do not claim that every cancer can be cured; but even in those cases where cures cannot be effected, its cost is as nothing, when compared with the

RELIEF OBTAINED

And its power for prolonging life.

LOOSE'S RED CLOVER PILLS

Cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation, and all kindred diseases. They act on the Liver and Kidneys, and purify the blood. In boxes of 25 Pills, 25c.; 5 boxes for $1.00. Send for circular. Cut this out and send to your friends suffering with cancer.

J. M. LOOSE & CO., MONROE, MICH

ONLY $20

for this style of PHILADELPHIA SINGER. Equal to any Singer in the market. Remember, we send it to be examined before you pay for it. This is the same style other companies retail for $50. All Machines warranted for 5 years. Send for Illustrated Circular and Testimonials. Address

CHARLES A. WOOD & CO.,
17 S. Tenth St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Great Average Off Sale at

Clark's Block, Clinton,

COMMENCING TUESDAY, OCT. 24th, 1882.

$5,000 worth Dry Goods

All purchased within a year, including a full line of Fall and Winter Goods bought before deciding to go out of business.

$2,000 Worth of GROCERIES

$1,000 worth of Crockery, Glass, Stone and China Ware. Good assortment of Knives, Forks, Spoons and Pocket Cutlery, Tobacco, Etc.

We have decided to go out of business

And our stock must be closed out before Jan. 1, '83, as our lease expires at that time.

Remember our stock is new and fresh.

N. B.---All accounts must be settled at once. Goods will be sold for cash or satisfactory notes.

John H. Miller & Co.

Clinton, Oct. 19th, 1882.

1882. 1883.

FOR DURABILITY,

BUY THE

ANDERSON GREGG

AT MARSDEN'S.

Cheapest FURNITURE House

IN MICHIGAN.

Cut this out for Reference!

PARLOR SUITS from	$35 00	to	$360 00
MARBLE-TOP Chamber Sets from	38 00	to	300 00
SPRING BEDS from	1 50	to	9 00
MARBLE-TOP TABLES from	4 50	to	25 00
LOUNGES from	6 00	to	50 00
WOOD-CHAMBER SETS from	20 00	to	45 00
MATTRESSES OF ALL KINDS from	1 75	to	24 00
CAMP CHAIRS from	2 00	to	10 00

Our prices are from 10 to 25 per cent. cheaper than any other Furniture House in Michigan. DON'T buy a dollar's worth of Furniture till you visit our Mammoth Warerooms, see our goods and get our prices.

ALL GOODS PACKED AND DELIVERED AT THE DEPOTS FREE OF CHARGE.

WE WILL SAVE YOU MONEY.

DUDLEY & FOWLE,

125, 127 & 129 Jefferson Avenue, DETROIT.

WANTED!

All who intend buying a SEWING MACHINE to know that they can save money by buying at the

TECUMSEH SEWING MACHINE ROOMS.

The largest stock and best assortment in the State.

SOLD ON TERMS TO SUIT ALL.

Good Machines from

$10.00 and UPWARDS.

Use none but LANDGRAF'S

CACHALOT OIL.

Trade established since 1868.

The Tecumseh Herald.

VOL. XXXIII.—NO. 24. TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 26, 1882. WHOLE NO. 1662

CROWN JEWEL, King of Base Burners. JEWEL OAK, Handsomest round stove in the world.

CALL AND SEE THE LARGEST AND BEST ASSORTED

LINE OF STOVES

Ever shown in Southern Michigan, and at prices

TOO LOW TO MENTION.

Whitenack, Bordine & Co.

The Newest Designs

CLOAKS, PALETOTS AND DOLMANS.

Perfect Fitting,

Tastefully Trimmed

and Carefully Made.

Ready Made and to Measure.

A. B. COTTON,

New Clothing,

New Cloths,

New Hats & Caps.

We are in daily receipt of new and seasonable goods, and can now show the most complete line in every department to be found in the market.

Our facilities for furnishing anything needed by boy or man are unequaled, and our prices are acknowledged on all hands to be the lowest. We invite an early inspection.

STRONG & McNAIR.

MRS. CHARLES LAWRENCE

—Has opened her—

Dress-making Rooms!

In Connection With

A. B. COTTON'S STORE,

And is prepared to do cutting, fitting and manufacturing in the most approved styles promptly and for reasonable Prices.

AROUND THE COUNTY.

FRANKLIN.

Bert Crittenden has been appointed moderator in Dist. No. 1.

Mrs. John Pawson has moved into the store at the Center.

Dr. Perkins received an appointment of Notary last Friday.

Married, In Clinton, Monday, Oct. 23, by Rev. J. A. McIlwain, John H. Billington and Lottie L. Simmons.—Both of Franklin.

Thos. Conlin will teach in Wolfburg, Adrian township, this winter, and E. T. DeLapp in the union district Cambridge, for a compensation of $50 per month.

There is a prospect of securing the services of Prof. Henry Gordon, of Flat Rock, to give instruction in music early in November. This will be a treat that the singers have never had before.

The newest thing at Henry Wiseman's is a boy. The event occurred last Monday evening.

Ezra Simonds has rented his farm to Geo. Warner with the intention of going to Nebraska to spend the winter.

James Hunter boasts of a squash seed that took root in his cucumber patch last summer and reared a family of fifteen squashes.

Dist. No. 9 have secured the services of Miss Lulu Monaghan to teach their school this winter.

EAST TECUMSEH.

The East Tecumseh Literary Society met pursuant to adjournment, Saturday evening, Oct 21. It being the first program of the season it was well carried out with the exception of a few who failed to respond to the parts assigned them. The society was entertained with several pieces of music by Miss Lillie Goheen, which were well rendered.

Recitations by Miss Effie Hendershot and Miss Alice Garlinghouse, also select reading by Miss Lillie Goheen was well applauded. Then followed the discussion of the question

Resolved, That President Arthur was justified in vetoing the River and Harbor bill.

Affirmative—A. G. Hall, Andrew Murphy.

Negative—R. R. Hall, Phillip Kehoe.

The subject was ably and earnestly discussed, each speaker occupying the full time assigned him, which resulted in a victory for the affirmative. The meeting closed with the best of feeling confident that the society would loose none of its former reputation the coming season. A full house is anticipated at the next meeting. The following program will be carried out Saturday evening, Nov. 4, 1882:

Inst. Music—F. H. Benedict.
Dec.—Sam Boyce.
Rec.—Florence Merritt.
Select Reading—A. G. Hall.
Vocal Music—Miranda Robertson.
Dec.—Tom Cleveland.
Rec.—Flora Hendershott.
Inst. Music—Rhoda Benedict.
Question—Resolved, That the elective franchise should be extended to women.
Affirmative—A. G. Hall, Philip Kehoe, J. T. Boyce.
Negative—R. R. Hall, B. F. DePuy, B. A. Garlinghouse.

MACON CENTER.

G. V. Osgood has had a tilt at house repairing, by way of closing up a stoop and adding the same to his sitting room, also putting in folding doors between sitting room and parlor, and replastering a portion of his house, all of which adds much to tone and capacity.

David Coryell is plastering the new addition to his house.

Hank Pocklington has just commenced house repairing, by way of grafting and reinclosing his upright and adding a new wing 15 by 24 feet.

The Red Ribbon club resumed its meetings, after the summer vacation, last Saturday evening with a short literary program and an address by Mr. C. B. Vescelius, of Lodi, N. Y.

Col. Chas. Roberts delivered a Greenback speech at the hall Monday night, which was the first of the campaign.

Lenawee county Grange held a special session at Macon Grange hall last Thursday.

The Sons of Temperance will elect officers for ensuing quarter next Saturday evening.

There will be a citizens' meeting at the hall Monday evening, Oct. 30th, for the purpose of perfecting a lecture course for the coming winter. Let there be a good house.

Billy Gordon has sold a bird dog for $90; he has also taken the job of breaking a dog for which he gets $50.

Leroy Mead's family is again sadly afflicted from the death of their daughter Nellie, aged about 15 years.

John C. Mills has been quite indisposed for several weeks. They have suspended work on their house, and he lies in a critical condition, so that his friends have serious apprehensions of his recovery.

Mrs. Henry Sones, formerly of this township, but now of Jonesville, died last Sabbath, aged 63 years.

Mrs. Wm. Gregg was able to be removed to her home last Friday.

A. E.

WEST TECUMSEH.

By Local Telegraph Line:

G. W. Kinnecut, of Oakland county, is making a flying visit in this vicinity.

W. A. Welch and son have purchased the Ira Ladd farm in Adrian.

Mrs. Henrietta Keyser has returned from an extended visit in Oakland county.

The local telegraph makes it very handy for parties to do business with Bills & Co's bank, considerable business already having been done over our line with said bank.

THE W. C. T. U.

Their Annual County Convention Held at Macon Last Week.

The annual convention of the W. C. T. U. of Lenawee Co., was held at the M. E. church in Macon, Oct. 19 & 20, 1882.

Convention was called to order at 3 P.M., by Miss Vevia Wadsworth, of Adrian. First half hour was occupied in devotional exercises conducted by Mary C. Wood, of Rollin. Remainder of afternoon session devoted to organization.

On motion all women present, belonging to the temperance organization were declared members of the convention.

Committee on program appointed as follows:

Mrs. N. M. Sutton, Tecumseh.
Mary C. Wood, Rollin.
Zoe Pennington, Macon.

Committee on enrollment of delegates:

Mrs. N. R. Merritt, Tecumseh.
Mrs. J. Green, Raisin.

Committee on resolutions:

Mrs. Geddes, Adrian.
Mrs. E. Clegg, Adrian.
Mrs. H. M. Cole, Adrian.
Mrs. Carter, Macon.
Miss Franc Richart, Macon.

Report of committee on enrollment of delegates as follows:

Mrs. E. R. Wadsworth, Adrian; Mrs. E. Clegg, Adrian; Mrs. H. M. Cole Adrian; Mrs. Geddes, Adrian; Mary C. Wood, Rollin; Mrs. E. L. Street, Lenawee Junction; Mrs. Tenant, Lenawee Junction; Mrs. N. R. Merritt, Tecumseh; Mrs. N. M. Sutton, Tecumseh; Mrs. J. Green, Raisin; Mrs. Bailey, Raisin.

On motion convention adjourned until 7:30 P.M.

THURSDAY EVENING.

Meeting called to order at appointed time. Singing by the choir, "We are the Reapers." Reading of scripture and prayer by Mary C. Wood. Music.

Address of welcome by Mrs. Rachel. Howell.

The response written by Mrs. Pardington of Tecumseh, was read by Mrs. N. R. Merritt. Singing, "Tempt Me Not."

Miss Ida Tenant, a wee maiden from Lenawee Junction, recited the poem, "Only Once in a While."

Reading by Mrs. H. M. Cole, "A Night in a Police Station."

Song by the choir. Address by J. Edmunds, of Adrian. Reading, "How Jamie came home," by Mrs. Cole. Singing, "Yield not to Temptation."

Adjournment by singing of Doxology.

FRIDAY MORNING.

Devotional exercises commencing at 9 A.M., were conducted by Mrs. N. R. Merritt.

At 9:30 President took the chair.

Mary C. Wood appointed treasurer pro tem. Further enrollment of delegates as follows:

Mrs Pardington, Tecumseh; Mrs. Brownell, Tecumseh; Mrs J. Cook, Raisin; Mrs. J. Moshier, Raisin; Mrs. McIlwain, Clinton; Mrs. Haywood, Clinton; Mrs. McClure, Clinton.

Reports of Unions:

Macon by Mrs. Harmon.
Adrian " " E. Clegg.
Rollin " " M. C. Wood.
Tecumseh by " N. R. Merritt.
Lenawee Junction by Mrs. E. L. Street.
Raisin by Mrs. J. Green.

Report of township vice presidents:

Mrs. Haywood—Clinton.
" Harmon—Macon.
" Merritt—Tecumseh.
" E. L. Street—Palmyra.

Report of Blue Ribbon Club, Clinton—Mrs. McIlwain.

Report of Red Ribbon Club, Clinton—Mrs. McClure.

Mrs. Geddes, President of 2d Congresional District, read a report from state treasurer.

Singing, "Work for the Night is Coming." Essay by Mary C. Wood, Rollin. Subject, Temperance and the Children. A discussion of this subject followed in which Revs. De Spelder, Pardington, McIlwain and members of convention participated.

On motion convention adjourned for dinner.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON.

Exercises of afternoon opened at 2 o'clock by singing Coronation.

Mrs. McIlwain of Clinton, read the 11 chap. Hebrews, which was followed by a season of prayer, after which the president took the chair.

Report of previous meetings read and approved.

Report of committee on resolutions by Mrs. Geddes, chairman, as follows:

This convention is a delegation of women from the county of Lenawee, for the purpose of consulting upon ways and means and methods of protecting our homes against our common foe, intemperance; and to this end to organize more thoroughly that we may more effectually combine our influence and efforts with those of our sister Christian Temperance Unions: that in local, county and state organizations, have united in a National Union, comprising twenty-four states. At a cursory glance the moral force and influence of all these women is trivial indeed, and an insignificant unit compared with that of the liquor interest, barricaded and protected as it is by law, and intrenched by political power, so that it can revolutionize elections as it has done in Ohio, together with its tremendous financial power, and in its hold upon the appetite of men which is its most potent ally. It is good generalship to understand the power with which we have to cope. Knowing this all too well, what can we women hope to accomplish by our puny efforts?

We affirm our conviction that the present political agitation upon temperance legislation is due largely to the work done by our Woman's Christian Temperance Unions, since the crusade, and believing this, we pledge ourselves to a renewed consecration to this work.

1st—Resolved, That we believe that our efficiency and success in the future, as in the past, will be commensurate with our reliance upon Divine guidance and assistance.

2d—Resolved, That we believe that the only cure for the curse of intemperance is the legal suppression and extinction of the liquor traffic.

3d—Resolved, That as the future of our country depends largely on what the children of to-day shall make it; that it is our duty as mothers and sisters to use our endeavors to educate the children in a strong temperance sentiment, either in our Sabbath schools, day schools or in temperance schools or organizations.

4th—Resolved, That as the press is an acknowledged power for good or ill, that we recognize the necessity of patronizing and disseminating temperance literature.

5th—Resolved, That it is our duty to patronize the organ of our national and state organizations.

6th—Resolved, That it is our duty to pay our dues promptly to our unions.

7th—Resolved, That we employ in our county such agencies as shall revive our unions where it is necessary, and carry the work of temperance organizations into every township and school district.

8th—Resolved, That we will work for the introduction of temperance text books into our public schools.

9th—Resolved, That we will pray and work for this cause while we live, or till success crowns our efforts.

Resolutions adopted.

Election of officers for ensuing year resulted as follows:

Pres.—Mary C. Wood, Rollin.
Sec.—Zoe Pennington, Macon.
Treas.—Vevia Wadsworth, Adrian.

A vote of thanks was extended to the retiring president for the able manner in which she has performed the duties of her office.

Miss Wadsworth responded in a few fitting words thanking the members for their support and sympathy during her two years of office.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended by the convention to the ladies of Macon for their kind reception and entertainment of its members.

On motion convention adjourned to meet at Raisin Valley, Oct., 1883.

Friday evening Prof. Olney, of Ann Arbor favored a large audience assembled, with an eloquent address. At the close of the lecture the temperance pledge was presented and signed by fifty-two persons.

The church was tastefully decorated with baskets and vases of choice flowers and greenhouse plants. A bountiful repast was served in the church both at noon and night, to which a large company did ample justice. We think the ladies of Macon have every reason to feel gratified at the result of their undertaking in inviting the convention to this place, as it was declared a success by all present.

ZOE PENNINGTON, Rec. Sec.

Dr. Pengelly, Kalamazoo, Mich., will send to any applicant full information and testimonials concerning Zoa Phora, the Health-bringer for Women.

Ernst Fiege, of East Saginaw, has received the contract for making the furniture, book cases, etc., for the new court house at Colorado. Fiege is an artist in furniture.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS.

Below is a list of transfers of Real Estate in Lenawee County for the week ending Oct. 21, 1882:

ADRIAN.

Tobias Wise to Clara E. Steele; land in city. $2,000.

BLISSFIELD.

Fitch Dewey to S. Z. Foster; land on sec. 27. $2,500.

Phebe Perra to Mary Elwood; land on sec. 30. $700.

DEERFIELD.

Paul Weidmann and S. C. Blinn to Geo. Edgecombe; land in village.

FAIRFIELD.

Job Scott to Wm. Weatherby and Salina A. Wyman; land on sec. 13.—$3,000.

Henry Ferguson to Job Scott; land in Jasper village. $1,300.

Wm. H. Abbott to Eulilia Abbott; land on sec. 19. $700

HUDSON.

Oscar Youst to Julia Patterson; land in village. $500.

Eliza M. Chapman to Martha J. Upton; land in village. $1,400.

CLAYTON.

A. B. DeDell to J. W. and P. W. Thompson; land in village. $1,000.

MACON.

Robert Culley to George Frost; land on sec. 5. $150.

RAISIN.

Ira Haviland to F. H. Frink; land on sec. 28. $248.

Heirs of James Boyd to Archie R. Boyd; land on secs 10 and 15. $11,100.

ROME.

Thomas Knowlan to B. F. Wilcox; land on sec 35 $2,550.

L. Cole to Geo. W. Hunt; land on secs. 13 and 14. $5,000.

TECUMSEH.

Mary J. Bigelow to Susan L. Matterson; land in village. $1,000.

Happy Mother! Happy Children!

Nursing mothers should keep their infants quiet while teething. Both mother and child should enjoy sweet repose. The best thing to assist nature in bringing about this happy state of good health is Brown's Iron Bitters. It is very soothing and refreshing in its effect. A trial proves this to be true. Mother and child should use it freely. If you want your children to be healthy and strong, give them Brown's Iron Bitters.

A Reproductive Comet.

The present comet in the eastern sky, which can be distinctly seen by everyone at early morning, is certainly the most remarkable one of all modern comets. Prof. Lewis Swift, director of the Warner Observatory, Rochester, N. Y., states that the comet grazed the sun so closely as to cause great disturbance, so much so that it has divided into no less than eight separate parts, all of which can be distinctly seen by a good telescope. There is only one other instance on record where a comet has divided, that one being Biella's comet of 1846, which separated into two parts. Applications have been made on Mr. H. H. Warner by parties who have noted these cometary off-shoots, claiming the $ prize for each one of them. Wh the great comet will continue duce a brood of smaller co mains to be seen.

Washington, D.C., M Gentlemen—Having for a long time from tion and general vised to try Hop taken one bottle idly getting be think it the be
I am now ga tite, which despair un am now my own complet

Jo erich form lum ma wa
and

Ev
is. It the go physicia known properly p other medi forms Dr. J which is good torpid liver, co ache. Sure cu
Baker & Hall, dr
fifty cts. a bottle.

The police force tracts to wake pe want to see the co
left at a designated p

Henry and Estel been arrested in Detroit for ing to play a game of false which was successfully them in the east.

English Rowing Song.

[A La "London Amateur Association."]

St. Gawge who fought the dwagon, Chawles, have mercy on our ears!
Those bold and wicked Hillsdale men have landed on our shores;
Those freebooting pirates of the shell, by love of glory moved,
Who take their viewwies to strokes entirely unapproved!
We must sweep from our waters, with a bold stroke of the oar,
These free-handed, free-drinking Hillsdale men!
'Tis vewwy well established that Britannia rules the sea,
Also the lakes and rivers—so why shouldn't they (ess) be?
Why will those fellahs bother us and worry out our life,
And come here to invewse us in unpleasantry strife?
We'll sweep from out our waters by pronouncing emphatic than,
[illegible]
deck;
When we've got drinked by the pattwy tost of speed!
When birth, and social pwominence, and like ness, you know,
Are all forgotten, just because the dressed crews can row;
The winning fowr, I fancy, must come from the upper leg,
Tell those unpatwiotic, Yankee-headed Hillsdale
men!
Those—those—we persons in the West, who say they know this crew,
And vouch for them from early youth as being s'weight and true,
Are well enough—aw—in their way, but, taken first and faust,
No crew should rank as amateurs who row so dressed faust!
There isn't any comfort in first-class regattas when We're bothered by the bold and wicked Hillsdale
men.

Those o'nah English cowards, Chawles, that wish to save their ass,
And claim that they consider this is not the fairest pass,
Must know that we're the judges in such matters,
hear and far,
And chief of all, you know, because, you know,
we are wwy.
So we decide decisively to handle home again
Those rugged-rowing, free-drinking Hillsdale men!

* * * * * * * *

They will not down—these fellahs, Chawles—
The championship they claim,
And all the wwld seems backing them, and calling us to blame!
So now they're worried out and gone, it's best for us to say,
We'll rank them as amateurs, provided they will stay (Since we cannot get around it we will meet with pleasant face),
Those vewwy proper gentlemen, the Hillsdale
men.

—WILL CARLETON, in Harper's Weekly.

TWO WEDDING DAYS.

A Marriage Without Bridesmaids.

Everything had been duly and properly arranged for our wedding. The engagement of Miss Nell Bartley to Bertram Langley had been duly announced in the fashion columns of a leading society journal, and the wedding day had arrived.

I am Bertram Langley—commonly called Bert—and, while I confess to be most sincerely and entirely in love with my little Nell, I must add I had been quite annoyed about our marriage, first at the persistence with which she insisted upon a grand wedding.

I hate fuss and parade, and have an old-time notion that a marriage rehearsal quietly and eventually solemnized before a crowd of gossiping, gaping people is robbed of all its sweet purity. Then, too, the trousseau! The whole business is a nuisance! Excuse the big word, but my feelings are strong on that point. What on earth a woman wants of clothes enough to last five years, and gewgaws more than she can ever hope to use, I never could see; unless, indeed, she entertains a horrible suspicion that the new firm may refuse to furnish a fresh supply.

It's all right, I suppose, since they all do it (no slang intended), but it was a trying time for me, I can tell you. I could scarcely get a glimpse of Nell, she was so busy with dressmakers milliners, etc., and when I did see her she was in such a rattling hurry to be off to keep an appointment with some workwoman or other that I actually grew a little savage.

For a month before we were to be married I believe I never entered the house once but Kate, Nell's sister, rushed into the room with an—"Excuse me, Bert, but Nell is wanted a moment." Or, "Don't look cross, Bert, but Nellie must see Mme. This or that," till I lost all patience.

There was another cause of annoyance, too. Nell's father was a rich man, and as able and as willing to furnish his daughter with as much finery as she might desire, while I, on the contrary, a man who had his way to still make in the world.

I had a fair income and fair prospects, but I could not hope to give her such a home or as elaborate a wedding as her papa provided, at least for years, but I could afford to wait, and I loved Nell with

Mr. Bartley's consent was at first just a [illegible] fault with my financial [illegible] older man with a [illegible] could have suited
[illegible] most unwholesome [illegible] waters, and even [illegible] mild suspicion
[illegible] interested in [illegible] off in time
[illegible] terms
[illegible] ow, how a [illegible] return
[illegible] time came [illegible] entertained
[illegible] ly hugged
[illegible] and grew [illegible] toward [illegible] innocent
[illegible]
[illegible] ed for our [illegible] first tiff. I
[illegible] smallest pos-
[illegible] machinery,
[illegible] obliged to leave
[illegible] the services of [illegible] af and stupid man
[illegible] ossibly, she might [illegible] ns to give him.
[illegible] an hour in the re-
[illegible] oling my heels and [illegible] ath, before Nell rush-
[illegible]
[illegible] ert?" she asked breath-
[illegible] awful busy!"
[illegible] ough to ignite a whole
[illegible] falls upon highly inflam-
[illegible] al, and a word is quite [illegible] ise a furious temper in a [illegible] aching to get mad; so I an-[illegible] ly:
[illegible] re in such a hurry, it is no matter what I wished to say."
Nell opened her brown eyes in surprise.

"I've got to select some lace," she exclaimed, "and Kate can't wait."

"Neither can I," I retorted shortly, pulling on my gloves. Then after a moment I added: "You think a great deal of furbelows, don't you?"

"Indeed I do!"

"I am afraid you will have to do with vastly less when you are married."

Nell tossed her head saucily.

"All the more reason I should be allowed to enjoy those papa gives me."

That shot went home. I bit my lips, but managed to keep cool outside, though inwardly I was boiling.

"It is not too late to beat retreat," I said coolly. "If you support your charge, there is time to escape."

Nell's eyes grew big with horror at the idea.

"[illegible]
tried out [illegible] every [illegible]
All our set have cards—I should die of mortification to put it off now! We must go on anyway! I have no fancy for being a laughing stock for every one."

"Better be laughed at a week than miserable for a life time," I retorted.

Nell opened her lips to answer, but just at that moment Kate put her head in at the door.

"Nell! Nell! Excuse me, Bert—"

I stayed to hear no more, but turned on my heel and strode away.

No sooner had I reached my hotel when I was heartily ashamed of myself; and when Tom, my elder brother and only living relative, rushed in and told me that he had left his wife ill at home, so anxious was he to see me married, the last bit of crossness departed, and a great wave of tenderness stole over my heart for the brown eyed girl whom I knew loved me far better than the elegance of her father's home or the costly trifles he could give her.

Tom was ill at ease and worried, and I knew nothing but my marriage or funeral could have induced him to leave home when Lettie was ill.

Next morning I saw Nellie for a moment only, but the kiss I pressed on her dear little mouth was a silent plea for pardon, and a promise for better control over my temper next time.

Evening came—the church was packed—and I, feeling most uncommonly stiff and awkward in a span new suit and speckled gloves, was waiting in the vestry.

Nellie was to enter on her father's arm, followed by her bridesmaids and groomsmen—six in number—while I was to enter in the nick of time from the vestry, the minister from his study, and meet before the altar.

It was all very pretty, but I almost knew I should make a mess of it—and I did with a vengeance.

I had requested to be allowed to be alone, so as to keep my part in mind, and for the same reason went early to the church, not to be stared at and confused, for this show affair was not one bit to my mind.

Just at the last moment Tom came rushing in, followed by the regular sexton.

"I've got a telegram from "Lettie," said Tom, his voice quivering. "She is worse, and I must start at once. Just time to catch the train. Good-bye, old boy! God bless you!"

"I'm going, too; just came to wish you joy. Mr. Bert," said the sexton, who had known me since I was a lad, "sorry I can't see you married. My road's the same as your brother's, so I'll go with him," and off they both hurried, the door shutting with a sharp click behind them.

The time for the arrival of the wedding party drew near; I advanced to the door that opened into the church, designing to open it and peep through. It resisted my efforts. I struggled with it sharply, no use! the door was locked.

Muttering a curse on the stupidity of the sexton, I strode to the other door. In shutting the door, it too had become locked and was as fast as fate.

Great drops of perspiration stood out on my forehead. What was to be done? I asked myself the question, and mopped my face with an immaculate handkerchief, but failed to find the answer.

Then I flew back to the inner door and listened. The organ was playing gaily, and a subdued hush told me that Nellie was entering on her father's arm, and here I was standing like a caged rat.

Oh, how I tried to open that door! My gloves split, and the perspiration in rivers ran down my face and dropped off the end of my nose, but not one inch could I budge it.

I have wondered since how should I have looked if I had succeeded in bursting open the door and been suddenly projected before the crème de la crème, with harp collar, torn gloves and distended eyes. I can smile now, but I assure you I saw no fun in it then.

I tried the door till positively no hope remained in that direction. Then I flew again to the outer door and pounded, and even spotted, but to no purpose.

Utterly hopeless, I returned to the inner door once more. All was silent. Should I thunder on its panels and proclaim my presence and demand to be "let out?" Nobody likes to look like a fool if he can help it—and I hesitated.

I glanced around. The windows caught my eye—why had I not thought of them? I could at least make my escape, and the ceremony might be delayed, and consequently awkward; still Nellie would not be utterly put to shame. Like a madman I was I seized the table, dragged it to the window, sprang upon it and climbed on to the high and narrow window sill, throwing up the sash I prepared to leap out, but I had reckoned without my host; the cord that held the weight was broken, consequently the moment my hand left the sash the window descended with startling rapidity, striking me full upon the head and knocking me off the narrow sill, dashing my head against the sharp corner of the table, and at last landing me full length on the floor.

I tried to rise; something warm rushed over my face; I put up my hand to clear my eyes—my hand was covered with blood.

I felt giddy and weak, still I staggered to my feet; then a black mist arose around me and I knew no more.

This was Thursday eve. Sunday afternoon the sexton, returning to his duties, found me lying on the bed half dead, wholly delirious, my face covered with blood, and a hole in my head large enough to let the life out of any man. That mine was spared was because I had fallen with the wound down, and the soft pile of carpet acted like lint to stanch the blood.

As soon as I could control my thoughts I begged to know of Nellie. Poor little girl! she had been quite overwhelmed. When I failed to appear Kate's husband rushed out to inquire of the sexton if he had seen me. He was positive that I had been there, and equally positive that I had left again in company with his brother—said he could not be mistaken—both seemed in a great hurry, and had jumped into a carriage and been driven rapidly away.

Messengers were sent to my hotel, but without gaining a clew to my whereabouts; so after a mortifying wait Nellie had been taken home, and the very morning of the day I was discovered the whole family sailed for Europe.

As soon as I was able to stand I sail[illegible] search [illegible] I had so in[illegible] whereabouts [illegible] I was two months before I found her. At last one evening, wandering on the seashore of a quiet little English town, I espied her—and alone.

That she believed me a most blackened villain was plain, for the look she gave me when she recognized my presence was one of unutterable contempt. Now that I had found her I was determined that she should hear the truth.

"Nellie," I cried, hurrying to her and grasping both her little hands before she had time to escape.

"Well, sir," she replied haughtily, trying, but trying in vain, to release her hands.

"My darling," I pleaded, "you will at least hear a man before you condemn him?"

Her face flushed angrily.

"What can you say," she burst out hotly, "that will make your conduct less dastardly? Have you not made me the object of everyone's ridicule and contemptous pity? Offering me public insult no woman could ever forgive? Have you not made me hate everybody, myself most of all? What more do you wish? Bertram Langley, you villain!"

I winced a little at the word, as I thought of my broken head, though God knows I did not blame her, believing as she did.

"Why are you here? And why did you run away?" she demanded with a whole world of scorn on the words, "run away."

"I did not run away; I was locked up."

"Locked up! For what? Where?" cried Nell, starting back, a look of horror creeping up into the brown eyes.

I verily believe that she thought for an instant I had added murder to other crimes.

"Way, in the vestry," I explained a little foolishly. "Come and sit down and let me tell you."

This was a master stroke. Nell seated herself without a murmur, and I half sitting, half lying at her feet, related to her the chapter of my misfortunes.

Dear little girl! Her face brightened before I was half through—indeed, I am sorry to say, she laughed quite heartily; but she became quite sober when I told her about the window coming down, and leaned over and kissed the scar on my head tenderly, and I knew that peace and confidence were restored.

After a while we fell to talking over it in a general way.

"It was a dreadful blow to me," said Nell, pensively; "I thought that my heart was broken."

"I thought it was a pretty tough blow myself," I laughed. "By Jove, I thought my head was broken! When that window came down it knocked me higher than Gilderoy's kite! The next time we are married, Nell, I won't be left to dig out of any such ridiculous hole as a vestry; if there are any windows that have got to be jumped out of, we'll hop out together."

Great was the family wonder to see us walk in together, but everything was all right as soon as explained, and Mr. and Mrs. Bartley consented that Nell and I might be married next day in the quaint little church in the place.

And so we were. I led my bride in myself, and Papa and Mamma Bartley followed soberly behind, and Kate and her husband were all the crowd we had.

A curate, who had a bad cold officiated, and the time-honored and world-renowned Dickens' woman pew opener, shabby and snuffy, was on hand to make everything romantic and proper.

So this is why we were married without bridesmaids, and had two wedding days.

A Horrible Death.

No novelist ever devised a more intensely dramatic and pitiful situation than was witnessed last week beside the track of the Southern Pacific Coast railroad near Alameda, Cal. There was an accident on the road, owing to the sinking of a part of the track. The engine was overturned, and the fireman, Dan Driscoll, was caught by two iron bars, one of which crossed his breast and the other one of his feet. He was not severely injured by this, but the bars held him inextricably fast, and meantime, on both sides of the track, which at this point lies on a low trestle bridge built across a long stretch of marsh land, the salt tide pouring in from the Bay of San Francisco was rapidly rising. It was evident that unless speedily removed he would be drowned. Six men labored with desperate energy to save him. They wrapped sheets about his body, and exerted their combined strength to pull him from beneath the bars that pinned him to the track. He cried piteously that they were killing him. They tried again and again, but without avail. A levee was built around his head to keep the water from reaching him. Buckets were brought, and as the water oozed in it was bailed out. Then they raised his head and held it as high as possible above the water. For two hours these labors were ceaselessly continued, but at the end of that time the levee broke, and the friends of the doomed man found that they could do no more for him. The water rose rapidly about his body and reached his chin. Then all caught hold of him and tugged desperately, but in vain. A friend held his hand over the unfortunate man's mouth, but the water rose to his nostrils, and he was drowned in the presence of the helpless crowd.

Mary Callahan, a Texas widow, owns 50,000 sheep, and the male members of the community apply to a man willing to be "Mary's little lamb."

Pie.

BY A SMALL BOY.

A pie as a part of speech is a pronoun, as it stands in place of a noun, not very objective, most always neuter, unless too old, and agrees with any person who is not sick.

They are generally round one way and very flat the other. When they are cut they assume a triangular shape, until they are eaten, and then we don't know what shape they have. They are about the only three cornered articles of food that we have except hecknuts.

A three cornered piece of pie is about as convenient a thing to eat as one ever closed teeth on, and licked one's lips afterwards. That is sharp end foremost. The only trouble is you don't know when to bite it off, for the mouth natural[illegible] [illegible] The composition of pie is mince, and something else—what that something else is or should be has never been definitely settled.

You can make them out of most anything that grows in the garden, except thistles and hurdocks. A boy told me that his aunty made a thistle pie, but the boy said a lie one day before and I cannot trust him since.

"Punkin" pies had a great run. Probably at one time they were the most popular pie afloat. It is said—and we can't doubt the veracity of the statement—that Robinson Crusoe made the first punkin pies. Don't know what he made them of, but will write and ask him." It is taken for granted that Friday made them out of cocoanuts and eelgrass, as that was quite a favorite dish with his forefathers; but they have given it up since they took to eating the missionaries.

I have seen punkin pies made out of apples that I liked very much. I remember one I saw once; it was not a very large pie, but it was got up in great style. It was made on a white plate with a blue edge. The under-crust was made of dough and was very thin; the inwards were just lovely. They were made of what they call mincemeat and a little sugar sprinkled over it. The top or upper crust was made out of dough rope yarn, laid across like the slats of a bed. Oh, it looked lovely. Around the edge was a hoop of dough laid partly over the edge of the plate, and about an inch on the fragmentary meat. It was ornamented on the outer part of the hoop with an impression made by pressing all over with a set of false teeth before it was baked. It was a great appetizer, you better believe! They sacrificed it at a tea shine, and it sold readily at four cents a triangle, cash on delivery.

There are a great many people who like pies, but seldom eat them, unless 'tis because they can't get them. I don't think the common apple pie is very hard to make; for I made one once out of cranberries, and all who tasted it said it was very nice. I tasted the most of it myself. I knew one boy who was very fond of pies, in fact rather than do without them he would hook them from his mother-in-law, if he had one, but he hadn't. Anyway he was awful fond of them; he was very apt to take a bite out of one if it was in his way. One day there was a pie made on purpose for him and put in his way, and he put if out of his own way and everybody else's. I never liked cayenne pepper since; its too warm.

Tarts are pies' children, and I'm fond of children, that is tart children. I can eat tarts with my eyes shut, and never wink half an eye full. It is said that mince pies made out of rhubarb will give you the night mare, but if anybody will prove the minces, I will willingly risk the mares.

Once I read of a pie that had two dozen dark colored birds in it, and after it was baked and opened the birds were not dead hardly a little bit, for they began to sing melodiously. It was set before the king. History does not say whether he ate the pie or not, after the birds flew away into the next yard; but I suppose he did, if he was hungry. I would have eaten it.

How They Lived "Befoah de War.

There is a colored couple in Austin, old Uncle Nace and Aunt Sukey, his wife, who have been married more than forty years, and who have quarreled steadily all the time. They are not in as flourishing circumstances financially, as they used to be before the war, and this was the subject under discussion a few nights ago in their shanty on Austin avenue.

"We is getting poorer ebery yeah," remarked Nance, mournfully.

"Dat's so, for a fas'. Doesn't you remember dem good old days befoah de wah, when we was fixed up so cumfable, wid all de convenience?" replied Aunt Sukey, as she heaved a sigh.

"Dem good ole days am neber, neber gwine ter come back," responded the old darky, wiping away a tear.

"Dey am neber gwineter come back," repeated Aunt Sukey, dismally, "now we has got nuffin' but tin ware on de table; but in dose days, don't you remember, ole man, how we used ter frow chiney; reah chiney cups, wuff 50 cents apiece, across de table at each ودر?"

The old man's face lighted up with the memory of happier days, and he looked jarenty years younger as he talked about a new $10 pair of boots he wore out on her person, and the expensive silk dress he tore up for her because she sold his razor strop to a peddler for some "fishat flowers and fedders, and rich truck."—Texas Siftings.

A Neat Denial.

A facetious journalist, wishing to "take a rise" out of Leon Gozlan, inserted the following paragraph among the odds and ends of his paper: "M. Leon Gozlan was at one time a sailor, and while serving on board a brig not only caused the crew to mutiny, but also killed the captain." In the very next number of the journal appeared a letter, addressed to the editor by the author of the "Notaire de Chantilly." It ran thus: "Monsieur: You say that I have been a sailor, which is quite true; that I caused the crew of a brig to mutiny, and then killed the captain, which is also perfectly correct. But you forgot to add a detail which may particularly interest your readers: after killing the captain I ate him! Leon Gozlan."—From the London Society.

The Sexton Writes Us.

Fountaintown, Shelby Co., Ind.

Mr. A. Kiefer—Sir: For some years past I have been afflicted with Liver Complaint. I have had several physicians treating my case, but they all failed to reach the seat of disease. During the past year I got much worse, and became so weak and feeble as to be unable to do any work. I had a great deal of headache, and at times became so dizzy that I had to lay down. About six weeks ago I commenced using your Taraxine, and after taking the third dose I felt that dizziness and headache were leaving me. I continued the use of it till I had taken three bottles, and I am now a well man, and am able to do a day's work. [illegible]

DAVID SEXTON.

For sale by all druggists. Taraxine Memorandum Books free.

The Greatest Medicine of the Age.

Kellogg's Columbian Oil is a powerful remedy, which can be taken internally as well as externally by the tenderest infant. It cures almost instantly, is pleasant, acting directly upon the nervous system, causing a sudden buoyancy of the mind. In short, the wonderful effects of this wonderful remedy cannot be explained in written language. A single dose inhaled and taken according to directions will convince any one that it is all that is claimed for it. Warranted to cure the following diseases: Rheumatism or Kidney disease in any form, headache, toothache, earache, neuralgia, sprains, bruises, flesh wounds, bunions, burns, spinal affections, colic, cramping pains, cholera morbus, flux, diarrhœa, colds, bronchial affections, catarrh, and all aches and pains, external or internal. Full directions with each bottle. For sale by C. A. Wright & Co.

Good News.

No more Chills and Ague in this section. Our Druggist is selling an article called "Ague Conqueror." It is about the only satisfactory preparation sold for the cure of Fever and Ague, Dumb Chills, Intermittent or Billious Fevers. The proprietor of the Ague Conqueror has used but little energy to make this medicine known, and yet its sales are immense in Ague Districts. It purifies the blood, Liver and other Secretory organs so effectually that the Chills do not return even when persons have had them for years. Entirely vegetable preparation. Price 50 cents and $1.00 per Bottle. Two doses will stop the chills.

Jealousy.

Some poet has said that "All torments of the damned we find is only thee, Oh, Jealousy, thou tyrant of the mind." This is grandly sweeping and magnificently inaccurate. Any sufferer from Indigestion knows to the contrary. Indigestion, the villian of the tragedy played upon the gastric juices of the stomach can, and does double discount the horrors of jealousy. Jealousy is often an attendant upon the later, and when Indigestion is removed, this jaundiced companion of a deranged liver flies. Taraxine is the best known remedy extant for impaired digestion, deranged liver, and diseases of the bowels and kidneys.

For sale by all druggists.

Free to Everyone.

A 10c sample of Hill's Peerless Cough Syrup. We also sell the large bottles on an absolute guarantee. If not satisfied after using, return the empty bottle and we will refund your money. We also sell the Peerless Worm Specific on the same terms. No cure, no pay. Cobbs' Little Podophyllin Pills will cure headache, billiousness and constipation. No pay. One pill a dose.

C. A. Wright & Co.

The New Discovery.

Dr. Deming's Pile Ointment, the discovery of a physician of wide reputation, who has achieved the greatest success, the most conspicuous distinction, and the highest honors in his profession, is a sure cure for blind, bleeding, itching and ulcerated piles. A single box has frequently been known to cure the most obstinate case, and thousands who have used this great remedy attest its efficacy.—For sale by all druggists.

Griggs' Glycerine Salve.

The best on earth can truly be said of Griggs' Glycerine Salve, which is a sure cure for cuts, bruises, scalds, burns, wounds and all other sores. Will positively cure piles, letter and all skin eruptions. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Only 25 cents. For sale by Baker & Hall.

Catarrh of the Bladder.

Stinging, smarting, irritation of the urinary passages, diseased discharges, cured by Buchupaiba. $1, at druggists. Mich. Depot, J. E. Davis & Co., Detroit, Mich.

Skinny Men

Wells' Health Renewer. Absolute cure for nervous debility and weakness of the generative functions. $1, at druggists. Mich. Depot, J. E. Davis & Co., Detroit, Mich.

Why Welcome.

What makes Floresline Cologne welcome on every lady's toilet table is its lasting fragrance and rich, flowery odor.

Parker's Hair Balsam

Satisfies the most fastidious as a perfect Hair Restorer and Dressing. Admired for its cleanliness and elegant perfume. Never Fails to Restore Grey or Faded Hair to the youthful color. 50 cts. and $1 sizes at all druggists.

PARKER'S GINGER TONIC

Ginger, Buchu, Mandrake, St. Illegis and many of the best medicines known, are here combined with the purest and most delicious of stimulants. Best Health and Strength Restorer Ever Used. Heals Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, all diseases of the Stomach, Bowels, Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, and all Female Complaints. If you are wasting away with Consumption or any disease, use the Tonic to-day. It will surely help you. Remember it is far superior to Bitters, Essences of Ginger and other Tonics, as it tones up the system without intoxicating. Sold by druggists everywhere in drugs. None genuine without signature of Hostetter & Co., N.Y. Read for circular. LARGE SAVING IN BUYING THE DOLLAR SIZE.

GET THE BEST!

LEAD ALL OTHERS!

Every Style & Price.

Guaranteed Unequaled FOR OPERATION, ECONOMY, DURABILITY and WORKMANSHIP.

Improvements and Conveniences found in no others.

Always Reliable.

POPULAR EVERYWHERE.

For Sale in Every City and Town in the United States.

For Sale by SUTTON & SWAN.

The price of the following organ has been advanced to $125 since inserting this electrotype.

BEATTY ORGANS

27 Stops, 10 Sets Reeds, $90

The Famous Beethoven Organ contains 27 Stops, 10 Sets Reeds.

PRICE ONLY $90

Order now. Remit by Bank Draft, Post Office Money Order, or Registered Letter. Every instrument warranted six years. Factory running day and night. Organs built on old plan. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Catalogue Free. Address DANIEL F. BEATTY, Washington, N.J.

CATARRH

DIRECTIONS.

Insert with little finger a particle of the Balm into the nostrils; draw strong breaths through the nose. It will be absorbed.

Ely's Cream Balm effectually cleanses the nasal passages of Catarrhal virus, restoring healthy secretions, allays inflammation, protects the membrane from additional colds, completely heals the sores and restores the sense of taste and smell. Beneficial results are realized by a few applications. A thorough treatment as directed will cure Catarrh, Hay Fever, &c.

Agreeable to Use.

eu for Cold in the Head.

The Balm has gained an enviable reputation wherever known, displacing all other preparations.

RECOGNIZED AS A WONDERFUL REMEDY.

Sold by all druggists at 50 cents. On receipt of price will mail a package. Send for circular containing full information and reliable testimonials.

ELY CREAM BALM CO., Owego, N. Y.

KANSAS FARMS.

Choice improved farms for sale in [illegible] Kansas. A rare chance for some one [illegible] to buy a home cheap. [illegible] location, location, terms, price, etc., call at [illegible]

Back Ache

POSITIVELY CURED BY

Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters.

Reasons Why they are Preferred to All Other Porous Plasters or External Remedies:

First.

Because they possess all the merit of the strengthening porous plaster, and contain in addition thereto the newly discovered powerful and active vegetable combination which acts with increased rubefacient, stimulating, sedative and counter irritant effects.

Second.

Because they are a genuine pharmaceutical preparation, and so recognized by the profession.

Third.

Because they are the only plasters that relieve pain at once.

Fourth.

Because they will positively cure diseases which other remedies will not even relieve.

Fifth.

Because over 5000 physicians and druggists have voluntarily testified that they are superior to all other plasters or medicines for external use.

Sixth.

Because the manufacturers have received the only medals ever given for porous plasters.

Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster!

SEABURY & JOHNSON,
Manufacturing Chemists, New York.

A SURE REMEDY AT LAST. Price 25cts. MEAD'S Medicated CORN and BUNION PLASTER.

EVANS' BUSINESS COLLEGE

—AND—

INSTITUTE OF RAPID WRITING.

Having severed my connection with the High School of Adrian, my time will be given exclusively to my college, affording a rare chance to young men wishing to fit themselves as

CLERKS AND BOOK-KEEPERS,

And furnishing them positions at good salaries.

My College has No Vacation during the year.

Send for Circulars.

Adrian, Sept. 18, 1881. W. R. EVANS, PRINCIPAL & TEACHER.

K. B

KING OF THE BLOOD.

The Most Thorough Purifier of the Blood Yet Discovered.

Cures all Humors, from a Common Eruption to the Worst Scrofula.

It purifies the Blood.
It invigorates the Liver.
It regulates the Bowels.
It strengthens the Stomach.
It gives vivacity in place of lassitude; cheerfulness in place of gloom, and robust vigor in place of debility.

Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Disordered Liver, Constipation, Nervous Affections, General Debility, in short all the numerous diseases and discomforts caused by impure blood are speedily conquered by this powerful corrector, the chief and sovereign of all ancient or modern medical discoveries—KING OF THE BLOOD.

ITS NAME IS ITS BEST DESCRIPTION as it is a royal dispenser of the blessings of health and vanquishes the foes that lurk in the blood.

It banishes PIMPLES, SALT RHEUM, SCALY ERUPTIONS, ULCERS, SCALD HEAD, FEVER SORES, and all SCROFULOUS DISORDERS.

It checks CONSUMPTION in its early stages. It has frequently cured it when advanced.

It disperses TUMORS and CANCERS without the Surgeon's knife.

It cures DROPSY, general or partial.

It cures FEMALE WEAKNESS and DISEASE.

It reduces in a safe and effectual manner all swellings, external or internal.

It eradicates the effects of Venerial Disease and Mineral Poisons, and establishes a sound constitution.

Many certificates, much further information and full directions for using, will be found in the pamphlet, "Treatise on Diseases of the Blood," in which each bottle is enclosed.

Price $1 per bottle containing 12 ounces, or 40 to 50 doses. Sold by dealers in medicine.

If your druggist does not happen to have it on hand, request him to order a supply of it for you, as it will be cheaper than for you to order direct of us, and less trouble.

D. RANSOM, SON & CO., Proprietors, Buffalo, N. Y.

HOP BITTERS.

(A Medicine, not a Drink.)

CONTAINS

HOPS, BUCHU, MANDRAKE, DANDELION,

AND THE PUREST AND BEST MEDICAL QUALITIES OF ALL OTHER BITTERS.

THEY CURE

All Diseases of the Stomach, Bowels, Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Urinary Organs, Nervousness, Sleeplessness and especially Female Complaints.

$1000 IN GOLD.

Will be paid for a case they will not cure or help, or for anything impure or injurious found in them.

Ask your druggist for Hop Bitters and try them before you sleep. Take no other.

D. I. C. is an absolute and irresistible cure for Drunkenness, use of opium, tobacco and narcotics.

SEND FOR CIRCULAR.

All above sold by druggists.
Hop Bitters Mfg. Co., Rochester, N. Y., & Toronto, Ont.

HALL'S Catarrh Cure

Is Recommended by Physicians!

$100 REWARD FOR A CASE IT FAILS TO CURE!

We manufacture and sell it with a positive guarantee that it will cure any case, and we will forfeit the above amount if it fails in a single instance.

It is unlike any other Catarrh remedy, as it is taken internally, acting upon the blood. If you are troubled with this distressing disease, ask your Druggist for it, and ACCEPT NO IMITATION OR SUBSTITUTE. If he has not got it, send to us and we will forward immediately. Price, 75 cents per bottle.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

WIT AND HUMOR.

Many a hair is caught in the invisible net.

The fruit of labor grows on the industree.

To call a laundress a bosom friend is flat irony.

When a man "changes his mind" does he do it to get sense?

Every body gives advice gratis, except doctors and lawyers.

A South side man calls his wife Crystal, because she is always on the watch.

The young skipper who takes a party of girls out sailing should content himself with hugging the shore.

The mosquito is little, but his brave example is contagious. He makes the most cowardly come to the scratch.

A Dutch judge, on conviction of a culprit for having four wives decided: "He has punishment plenty; I lifes mit one!"

The New Orleans Picayune states that point lace stockings are both fashionable and expensive, but doesn't tell just how high they come.

A Nevada paper tells of a man who was eaten up by a bear while asleep. He will be a much-astonished citizen when he wakes up and finds where he is.

At a recent sale of relics in London a medal struck off in 1565 brought $840. Our readers missed a bonanza by not having a few medals struck off that year.

A north country fish-wife went to buy a dress. "None of your gaudy colors for me," she said at once to the man at the counter; "give me plain red and yaller."

No, "Arabella," the captains and lieutenants in the army are not all minors, though it is true that a soldier never reaches his majority until he becomes a field officer.

"The will is as good as the deed," may all be true, but we will take the deed. Lawyers may at all time upset the will and there's no telling then what you will get.

"No, Peter, the aphorism "Silence is golden," is not based on error. There is many a professor in a deaf mute asylum who earns a good salary without ever saying a word.

"Does moonlight soothe," asks the New York Herald. Well, no. It doesn't soothe the concert of cats that furnish the mid-night mew-sic under our window. It takes old shoes, blacking-brushes, ink bottles, and everything else in the category, to soothe them.

In boring a well at Cloverdale, Cal., the auger, at a depth of thirty feet, passed through a white pine log, and six inches further struck a tree standing on end, and had to cease operations. It was about time to stop. If they had bored a few feet deeper they might have struck a party of campers-out playing seven-up under the tree, and created a panic.

A Philadelphian stole a ton of coal that had been dumped on the sidewalk. When the man who owned the coal came home he swept up the dust and two or three lumps left on the sidewalk, toted it into the cellar, and remarked: "I've stood the short-weight swindling of that coal dealer for some years, and haven't complained, but by the fleas that bothered Cerberus, this is just a little too much of a shortage. I'm done dealing with him from this time out."

"What Ails This Heart of Mine?" is the heading of a story that is going the rounds of the papers. We suppose he saw his girl out riding with another fellow. There is nothing that makes the heart get up and pound ribs and carom on the other vital parts and jump up and down like a churn-dasher, and then get tired and keep so still you think it has stopped beating forever, as to see your girl out riding with another fellow, we are told.

A Denver newspaper man went fishing; caught a fish; eagle spied fish; eagle swooped; fish and hook too were swallowed; eagle started; hook caught; man pulled hard; eagle stopped; hook broke; eagle flew away. This being the experience of a journalist and related by the journalist himself, is entitled to respectful consideration. But it does indeed seem like the Colorado version of the story of the bad boy with bent pins baited with corn catching his father's pet chickens in the back yard.

An amusing and yet embarrassing mistake happened a few nights ago to a prominent Philadelphia gentleman whose near-sightedness is his greatest affliction. He attended a fashionable entertainment, paid his respects to the hostess and then approached an individual whose face struck him as familiar. Grasping the gentleman by the hand, the near-sighted man said: "Excuse me, sir; your face is familiar, but I can't place you, somehow. I am sure I've seen you before, sir." "Very likely, sir; I am one of Augustine's waiters," was the deferential reply.

"I tell you what it is, fellahs," yawned Adolphus. "I'm making an awful commotion among the girls. Only wanted a little fun, yer know, but deuced if they arn't all falling in love with me. 'Pon honor, I believe I'm getting into hot water, yer know." "Do you?" said one of the girls who chanced to overhear; "well, perhaps it will have the same effect upon you as it does upon the lobster." "I say, Martha," exclaimed Adolphus, turning about, "you're deucedly sharp, yer know, but blamed if I know what you're driving at now." "Oh, nothing," replied Martha; "only lobsters, you know, are green till they get into hot water."

Mr. Burgess, of Hartwell, Ohio, had a boy. Mr. Zerbe, of the same place, had a similar boy. Mr. Burgess' boy played with young Zerbe, and one day painted one of the wheels of old Zerbe's buggy a bright red. The rest of the buggy was black. Old Zerbe got mad and painted young Burgess a bright red. The paint filled the lad's ears, matted his hair and closed his pores. He nearly died. Old Burgess tried to administer a physical castigation to the perpetrator of the outrage, but old Zerbe proved to be the better man and old Burgess came out second best. The neighbors took an interest in the affair and were going to paint old Zerbe with tar and adorn him with feathers, but they didn't. They want old Burgess to shoot him, and perhaps old Burgess will do it.

Jenny Lind's Courtship.

"I am a Quaker, as you know," a Philadelphian recently said to me, "and it is reported that, shortly before Jenny Lind's visit to our city, an aged lady arose in one of our meetings and said that she had heard that 'Jane Lyon, a very wicked woman, was on her way to this country to sing,' and she hoped that none of the young people would be drawn away to hear her. Nevertheless, an uncle took me and my mother to the Saturday matinee. We had seats in the balcony and so near the stage that we could in a way see behind the scenes. Early in the entertainment Jenny Lind sang 'Home Sweet Home,' and the audience was beside itself. Among the members of her company was her future husband, Otto Goldschmidt. He was to the audience simply an unknown pianist and to be obliged to listen to anything but the voice of Jenny Lind was provoking. Well, the man played, and from where we sat we could see Jenny Lind behind the curtain listening most intently. When he had finished, the audience seemed in nowise disposed to applaud; but Jenny Lind began to clap her hands vigorously, observing which, we boys re-enforced her, and observing her face light up—I can see the love-light on it yet—we clapped furiously until the applause spread throughout the audience. When he had finished playing the second time, my brother and I set the ball in motion, and the applause was great enough to satisfy even the fiance of Goldschmidt."—"Home and Society," in the October Century.

Snatched From the Grave.

Mrs. Helen Pharviz, No. 331 Dayton St., Chicago, Ill., is now in her sixty-eighth year, and states that she has suffered with Consumption for about ten years, was treated by nine physicians, all of them pronouncing her case hopeless. She had given up all hopes of ever recovering. Seven bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption completely cured her. Doubting ones please drop her a postal and satisfy yourselves.

Sold by C. A. Wright & Co.

Behind the Times.

A gentleman was driving about Lancaster, Pa., the other day, with a friend from Altoona, showing him the places of interest, and, among others, pointed out Wheatland, saying it was the home of James Buchanan. "Who's James Buchanan?" queried the Altoona gentleman. Shocked beyond measure at the question, the other replied: "Why, is it possible you never heard that he was at one time president of the United States?" "Oh, yes; I had forgotten," responded the gentleman from the mountain district, "what's he doing now?"

There was once a gentleman who became known to a limited fame because, after living in Boston for eight years and occupying an office within five minutes' walk of Faneuil hall during most of that period, he pleaded ignorance when a stranger asked him where the immortal edifice was, and confessed that he had never seen it.

Hand in hand with him down the flowery paths of local tradition, should go the well-to-do citizen of the American Athens who recently looked upon the picture of Warren in the Old South church, now on exhibition at the Mechanics' fair, and asked a by-stander what it represented. "That is Warren addressing the people of Boston from the pulpit of the Old South church during the British occupation." "Oh, is it?" replied the well-to-do citizen, evidently somewhat puzzled; "happened some time ago, hey?"

Relief Found at Last.

Carmel, Ind.

A. Kiefer—Dear Sir: I was afflicted with derangement of the Liver, which caused a general derangement of my whole system. Had three-day ague for two years, from which I found no relief until induced to try your Taraxine, which I am happy to say affected a cure. I am enjoying fine health and have had no ague for over one year. Yours, etc., John Jeffries.

For sale by all druggists.

Mormonism.

The Tithing House is still in active use in Salt Lake City, Utah, and through it half a million a year is collected by the Mormon officials. This comes mostly from the poor, according to a correspondent of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, and nobody knows to what use it is put, although many had their surmises when they found that Brigham Young, although not entitled to any salary, died worth several millions.

The rich evade their tithes in a variety of ways; the poor must pay them, or they are subjected to trouble and annoyance. When they have paid their tithes they are not out of debt to the church. They must contribute when called upon to the erection of new buildings, or do any thing else which the priesthood may demand. "Better starve your body than your soul," and away goes the last bushel of corn, or the last sheep, or the last steer.

Always Do.

Special Telegram.

Union Pier, Mich.—Your agent was here last winter and sold us some Dr. Baxter's Mandrake Bitters. We sold them and they gave extraordinary satisfaction. Would like more of them, therefore please write us the price by the quantity.

R. M. GOODWIN & CO.

As a sure remedy for Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation, Torpid Liver, Biliousness, etc., no medicine is equal to Dr. Baxter's Mandrake Bitters.

How She Saved Her Darling.

"I shall not feel so nervous again about baby's teething," writes a grateful mother. "We almost lost our darling from cholera infantum, but happily heard of Parker's Ginger Tonic in time. A few spoonfuls soon cured baby, and an occasional dose keeps us in good health."—Brooklyn Mother.

There is no excuse for suffering from CONSTIPATION and other diseases that follow a disordered state of the Stomach and Bowels, when the use of

DR. HENRY BAXTER'S MANDRAKE BITTERS

Will give immediate relief.

After constipation follows

Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Diseases of the Kidneys, Torpid Liver Rheumatism, Dizziness, Sick Headache, Loss of Appetite, Jaundice, Apoplexy, Palpitations, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, etc., all of which these Bitters will speedily cure by removing the cause. Keep the Stomach, Bowels, and Digestive Organs in good working order, and perfect Health will be the result. Ladies and others subject to Sick Headache will find relief and permanent cure by the use of these Bitters. Being tonic and mildly purgative they

PURIFY THE BLOOD.

Price 25 cts. per bottle.

For sale by all dealers in medicine. Send address for pamphlet, free, giving full directions.

HENRY, JOHNSON & LORD, Props., Burlington, Vt.

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED

STOMACH BITTERS

The true antidote to the effects of miasma is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This medicine is one of the most popular remedies of an age of successful proprietary specifics, and is in immense demand wherever on this Continent fever and ague exists. A wineglassful three times a day is the best possible preparative for encountering a malarious atmosphere, regulating the liver, and invigorating the stomach.

For sale by all Druggists and Dealers generally.

THE MOST POPULAR OF ALL SEWING MACHINES is the LIGHT-RUNNING

NEW HOME

HAS NO EQUAL — IS ALWAYS IN ORDER AND WILL LAST A LIFETIME. SURPASSES ALL OTHERS

New Home Sewing Machine Co.
30 UNION SQ. NEW YORK
CHICAGO ILL. ORANGE MASS.

FOR SALE BY

B. J. COLLER, Adrian, Mich.

C. E'S TEMPERANCE HOTEL

Cor. Congress and Bates Sts., DETROIT, MICH.

RATES—$1 to $1.25 per day. Single Meals 30c, Lodgings 35 to 50 cents.

We make a specialty of Dinner, and it is ALWAY ready at 11:30 sharp. Come early and be served promptly.

Dr LINDSEYS' BLOOD SEARCHER

Nothing in the world equal to it for the cure of Scrofula, Pimples, Boils, Tetter, Old Sores, Sore Eyes, Mercurial Diseases, Catarrh, Loss of Appetite, Female Complaints, and all Blood disease. It never fails. All druggists and country store keepers sell it. R. E. Sellers & Co., Prop's, Pittsburgh, on every bottle.

P. B. SWICK,

Manufacturer of

Light & Heavy Harness

And Dealer in

Trunks, Whips, Robes, Blankets,

And all articles kept for sale in a first-class Horse Furniture Store.

GOOD WORK! LOW PRICES

Call and see him, one door east of Nyland's shoe store on Chicago street.

TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN

GO TO

WILLIAM McCOWEN'S.

Tecumseh Furniture Parlors

To buy your furniture, for by so doing you

Will Save Fifty Per Cent.

WM. McCOWEN

Is the only experienced and popular

Funeral Director

in this city.

In this branch he also takes the lead.

D. W. CLARK,

GENERAL DEALER IN

Groceries & Provisions,

Confectionery, Etc.

A full line of Choice GREEN & JAPAN TEAS always on hand and sold at the lowest possible figure.

GOODS DELIVERED FREE WITHIN THE CORPORATION

Richard's Block, North Side Chicago Street,

Tecumseh, Michigan.

FUNERAL DIRECTORS.

Conklin and Foster!

13 EAST MAUMEE STREET, ADRIAN.

We have the largest Stock of Coffins and Caskets kept by any firm in Lenawee County. Customers have the largest stock to select from, they make a great saving in price and they get the best goods. These are advantages possessed by no other house. We have in stock robes for men, women and children, white slippers, caps for old ladies, black and white crape, black and white gloves etc.

MR. CONKLIN superintends all funerals in person, and with

NO EXTRA CHARGE FOR TECUMSEH AND VICINITY.

I. C. WOLCOTT, JOHN S. TEMPLE, S. McCLURE.

WOLCOTT, TEMPLE & CO.,

Wholesale and Retail Dealers in

LUMBER, LATH, SHINGLES, SASH & DOORS

AND ALL KINDS OF BUILDING MATERIAL.

Planing, Sawing, Matching to Order.

Mill and Yard North of Railroad Depot,

TECUMSEH, - MICHIGAN.

JAMES LOWRY,

GENERAL DEALER IN

Groceries and Provisions

CROCKERY & GLASS WARE.

Agent for Model Clothes Wringer.

Highest Cash Price Paid for Butter, Eggs, Lard, &c.

THE BEST AND CHEAPEST TEAS IN TOWN.

No. 3, Merchants' Block, TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

S. W. TEMPLE,

Wholesale and Retail Dealer in

Lumber, Lath, Shingles

And all kinds of

BUILDING MATERIAL,

SASH, DOORS AND BLINDS, COAL AND LIME.

Office and Yard: near Depot, TECUMSEH, MICH.

SEE THE NEW

Birthday Cards

AT THE HERALD OFFICE.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD,

Issued Every Thursday Evening

BY STACY BROTHERS.

Office in the New Herald Building, One Door

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:

One year, Cash in Advance,	$1.50
Six Months, "	75
Four Months, "	.50

Twenty-five cents will be added to the subscription price for every three months that payment may be delayed.

ADVERTISING RATES:

Business Locals five cents per line for each insertion.

Special notices 50 per cent in advance for each insertion.

Marriages, Births and Death Notices free.

Rates on General Advertising or for long contracts made known at the Counting Room.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Correspondents' names are invariably required, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Anonymous communications will be rejected.

ENTERED AT THE POST OFFICE AT TECUMSEH, MICH., AS SECOND CLASS MATTER

TECUMSEH, MICH., OCT. 26, 1882.

The tangle in the third district has finally been unravelled. The two committees met at Clayton last week and compelled Mr. Rorick to retire, leaving the field to Charles H. Dewey, of Cambridge. This is exactly what should have been done in the first place. Men never accomplish anything in the long run by making fools of themselves.

The first regular train over the Nickel Plate road left Chicago at 8 o'clock Sunday morning for Cleveland, and the road was declared formally opened for business. It will be run for a week or two merely for local traffic, in order that the train men and agents may become acquainted with the route and working. For the present one passenger train per day each way between Chicago and Cleveland will be run, together with such freight trains as may be necessary.

The Detroit Evening News in answering an inquiry about the tariff on wool says:

Wool from any part of the world is admitted free in England. The whole English tariff list is as follows: Beer, playing cards, chicory, chocolate, cocoa, coffee, dried fruit, gold and silver plate, spirits, essence of spruce, tea, tobacco, vinegar and wine. From these few articles of luxury Great Britain obtains a custom revenue of $100,000,000 a year. Everything else is admitted free. Our tariff list contains over 2,000 articles and fills a book of 186 pages of small type.

The Buffalo Express of last Saturday contains a list of nearly 1400 Republican voters, living in the city of Buffalo, who pledge themselves to vote for Cleveland for Governor. In commenting upon the list the Express says:

But the list, as now printed, does not, in our judgment, represent more than one in five if so many of the Republicans in this city who will vote against the Machine. It is not a list of the Independent Republicans of the city. It is merely a sample of them, merely a delegation, merely an advance guard. The main body will not be heard from till November 7th.

In his speech at the Columbus jollification Senator Thurman called attention, as follows, to one of the most striking and significant features of the situation in New York:

The mention of New York leads me to call your attention to a most striking and significant fact. In the convention that framed our Federal Constitution there were a few men who thought that the Governors of the States should be appointed by the President of the United States, and clothed with an absolute veto power. The idea was condemned by a great majority of the members. But now in this year of grace 1882, after a lapse of nearly a century, the President of the United States, if he is not misrepresented by his own political friends, has, by the use of his patronage and influence, nominated a candidate for Governor of the great State of New York, who, if elected, will be in effect as much the appointee of the President as if the Constitution authorized his appointment by the President. In view of this startling fact, is it wonderful that there is a revolt in the Republican party in that State?

The political doctors have been making a post mortem over the Ohio election, and they disagree somewhat as to the cause of the Republican collapse. The Cleveland Herald, which is the leading Republican paper of northern Ohio, probably gives the most accurate diagnosis of the disease which took the patient off. It says:

The principal cause of our defeat was apathy. It is easy to account for this indifference. The full Republican vote of Ohio is never polled unless the hearts of the masses are enlisted in the work and their enthusiasm is aroused. They find nothing in the present situation of the party to encourage them. They have been disgusted and demoralized by the scramble for spoils in Washington, the dictatorial insolence and selfishness of leaders who should have set the example of conciliation and patriotic concession, and the ruinous party quarrels in New York and Pennsylvania. The shadow of impending defeat in those States through the insane obstinacy of men who are determined either to rule or ruin threw a chill over Ohio Republicans. They are sick at heart of the miserable wrangle that sacrificed the life of the President they loved and of whose ability, purity and unselfish patriotism they anticipated so much for the country, and which now threatens to destroy the party as it slaughtered its chosen leader.

THE SALARY AMENDMENT.

An amendment to the constitution to raise the salary of Circuit Judges will be submitted to the people at the coming election. This amendment certainly should be adopted. The salaries of our circuit judges are far below what they should be. The salary of $1500 was established over thirty years ago when that sum was worth twice as much to live on as now. A salary of $3,000 to-day would be fairly equal to that of $1,500 when the latter was fixed upon. The present salary fails to bring the best lawyers upon the bench.

Inexperienced lawyers, physicians, mechanics or farmers, are not the most successful. The same is true of judges. The interests of the public are best subserved by having business promptly and safely done. Experienced judges are more likely to dispatch business, and less likely to have cases reversed and sent back for new trials. They command more respect, and the people have more confidence in their courts and abide by their decisions, and do not appeal so often from them, and the expense and delay of appeal do not so often occur. It costs about $65.00 a day to run court with a jury. Two days saved each term will save more than the additional salary will amount to. Cases sent back for a new trial cost the county from $100 to $300 extra, besides extra expense to the parties to the suit. Every delay in the transaction of business costs something.

Every time a new judge is appointed or elected, it costs the county many dollars and causes additional expense and delay to all concerned. There must be frequent exchanges and adjournments for some time in order to dispose of business which the judge just taken out of practice can not try. In the last nine years there have been twenty-five resignations of judges in this state; only four have served a full term; eighteen have been on the bench less than a year, and within the last two years forty-four different judges have presided over the circuit courts of Michigan. The same thing is likely to continue if the salary is not raised.

The county pays the extra expenses of courts by direct tax; the state pays the salaries of the judges.

The equalized assessed valuation of the state in 1881, was $810,000,000; 1-27 of a mill direct tax would raise more than will be required. Such a tax would cost each man who pays tax on $1,000, about three cents; on $300, one cent; but the money of the state is not all raised in that way, and it will not cost anything extra in the end.

It is the people who understand the question who want this change. The legislature of the state, before which the subject has been discussed and the facts made known, has recognized the importance to the public of this matter and submitted an amendment three times, not for the benefit of the judges, but of the public. It has only been defeated because so many voters did not know the facts and thought it would greatly increase taxes, yet it only failed the last time by about 600 votes. The salary is not enough.

MICHIGAN PAYS $1,500.

Maine	$500.	New Hampshire,	2400 & fees.
Virginia	2500.	Massachusetts -	6000 to $6500
Vermont	2500.	Rhode Island	4000 to 4500
New York	7200.	New Jersey	7000
Florida	2500.	Maryland	2800 to 3500
Alabama	3000.	Pennsylvania	5000 to 7000
Mississippi	2500.	Texas	2500
Arkansas	2500	Tennessee	2500
Nebraska	2500.	Kentucky	2400 to 3400
Ohio . .	2500.	Kansas	2500
Minnesota	2500.	California	3000 to 4000
Colorado	3200.	Wisconsin	3000
Delaware	2200.

None so small as Michigan. The above statements show what the people of other states and the members of their legislatures and nearly half of the voters of this state have thought.

Our state officers can attend to other business. They have secretaries and assistants that draw considerable salary and attend to the business of the office, and in that way can get along. The judge has no fees or perquisites, and he is prohibited by law from holding any other office and from practicing his profession. The time he is not engaged with the court business is of little avail to him, except as it is used in study, and so used the public receives the benefit.

Hudson Gazette: Another accident in Addison. On the evening of the 17th Mr. Raymond Hathaway and wife went to carry some articles to Mr. Myron Clark who lives in Mrs. Morley's house, and after delivering them started for home, but instead of keeping in the track as they drove out of the lane they run upon the bank, tipping over the buggy throwing them both out. Mrs. Hathaway in attempting to save herself put out her hands, and had both of her arms broken between the wrists and elbows, also receiving severe bruises on her left side and the side of her face and head. Mr. Hathaway received a severe bruise over the left lung. They are both quite aged and it is hard to tell how it will terminate with them.

In chronic disorders resulting from fixed bad habits of mind and body, the removal of the evil, to be permanent, must necessarily be gradual. Although in some instances it is slow, Brown's Iron Bitters are always sure and never fail to restore perfect health to the physical organization. It is a complete strengthener.

EFFECTS OF WHEAT SPECULATION.

Mr. Orange Judd presents valuable notes on Grain Speculation, in the November American Agriculturist:

"Very great harm has been done to this country by the gambling speculators in the grain crop of 1881, and the evil effects are likely to continue during many future years. We were fast coming to be the constant and chief feeder of Great Britain, and at frequent intervals, of other parts of Western Europe. England, with her limited home territory, and her teeming manufacturing population, never produces anywhere near as much breadstuffs as her people consume, notwithstanding the fact that by thorough tillage, high cultivation, and the use of abundant fertilizers, her wheat crop averages 28 to 29 bushels per acre, or more than double the average yield of this country. The great improvements in transportation facilities from our grain regions to and across the Atlantic, enables us to successfully compete with the producers of Southeastern Europe, and other more distant points formerly largely relied upon.—This would doubtless have continued had prices been governed by the relative supply and demand.

By taking advantage of the short crops of 1881, a class of speculators here bought and controlled our surplus, and put up prices so high that English dealers could not take our wheat. They therefore began canvassing every other available source. The high rates enabled foreign dealers to gather many million bushels in India, and not only to glean large quantities from localities hitherto considered inaccessible, but also to make drafts upon the "reserves" usually stored there against temporary drouths, or occasional short crops from other causes. These supplies were brought from remote points, not only in India, but in Australia, and elsewhere, and laid down in Great Britain at lower rates than they could be taken from the grasp of the speculators who held our American exportable stocks, even when ocean freights amounted to only a few cents per bushel.

The result is, that all these foreign lands have been stimulated to very greatly enlarge their wheat production, and with cheaper labor to effect the longer carriage, they will hereafter supply a very large percentage of the breadstuffs which would otherwise be taken from this country. So our wheat growers cannot indulge any reasonable hope of realizing high prices hereafter, except now and then, in years likely to be far apart, when there may be a chance general failure of crops throughout all the rest of the world. It would have been an immense gain to our farmers in the long run, if they had subscribed ten, twenty, or fifty million dollars, presented the sum to the speculators, and sent them into retirement. But the evil has been done and there is no help for it. It will be worth while for the next legislature of the various States to try to devise some laws that will effectually squelch all gambling in breadstuffs carried on by dealing in "margins."

THE COUNTY TREASURERSHIP.

In the scramble for the offices of sheriff, prosecuting attorney and congressman, people are too apt to overlook the office of county treasurer. And yet no county office on the list demands better qualifications and more sterling personal honesty than this one. The Union ticket this fall contains a row of good names, from top to bottom, but none of them are better fitted for the place they are striving for than Franklin D. Teachout, the candidate for county treasurer.

Mr. Teachout spent his boyhood and youth in the township of Adrian, and for the past ten years has lived in the town of Rome. He was a proficient scholar at an early age, and began teaching school before he was a voter. He has taught school for twelve winters in Adrian and Rome townships, and has the reputation, well earned, of being one of the best [illegible] teachers in the county. He has also served as a school district officer for one term to good acceptance. Mr. Teachout is now managing a farm in the town of Rome, and belongs to that class of farmers who study their business, who are not ashamed to mingle theory with practice, and who, as a consequence, stand at the head in their chosen avocation. Mr. Teachout therefore possesses the frugality and industry which every successful farmer must have, the business methods and education of a good teacher, and the personal probity which every public officer should enjoy. He fully comes up to the Jeffersonian standard of fitness for office; faithfulness, capacity and honesty. We shall be surprised if Mr. Teachout does not run considerably ahead of his ticket throughout the county.

New post offices have been established at Episcolon, Emmet county, and Strongville, Chippewa county.

Talk of lowering Stone lake, Jackson county, three feet by means of a new outlet into the Raisin river.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

They are still having basket picnics at Fremont Center.

A Saginaw Indian stole a $500 trotter and nearly drove him to death.

Good winter apples bring $2.50 per barrel in Jackson county.

Camp No. 2, ex-prisoners of war, was organized at Lyons on the 18th.

James A. Walker, of Marshall, was found dead in bed on the morning of the 19th.

There is diphtheria at 23 places in Michigan, small pox at four and scarlatina in 14.

The M. E. church, of Grand Ledge, last week, paid its long-standing debt of $2,600.

The cooper shop of Rust, Ring & Co., at Saginaw, burned last Friday. Loss, $3,000.

The death of Noah Hart, of Grand Rapids, occurred on the 59th anniversary of his wedding day.

The most obstinate cases of catarrh and hay fever are cured by the use of Elys' Cream Balm, the only agreeable remedy. Price 50 cents. Apply into nostrils with little finger.

A company of Grand Rapids capitalists have formed a company known as the Pascagonia Lumber company, for the purpose of dealing in southern pine.

One Watson, a seven-years man in the state prison, suddenly and mysteriously melted away out of sight one night and is believed to be hidden under the floor.

Flint people are talking about building a union depot, a railway from that place to Flushing, telephone line to Detroit, a new opera house and they have contracted for new water works.

An old school house at Sault St. Mary serves as a court-room, a church, a temperance hall, a floral and vegetable hall for fairs, a dancing hall, a concert hall, and a polling booth for election purposes.

Elys' Cream Balm cured me of catarrh of many years standing—restored my sense of smell. For colds in the head it works like magic. E. H. Sherwood, National State Bank, Elizabeth, N. J.

Miss Ida Graves, a respectable young lady of Port Huron, was shot and killed by an unknown assassin while sitting near the window on the night of the 18th. A rejected suitor named Sullivan is suspected of the crime.

Quincy, Mich., Sept. 15, 1881.

I have often read in newspapers of instant cures, but never believed in them. I have been troubled at times with a severe pain in my stomach for years, and being in great distress one day, I tried your Columbian Oil, and the cure was instantaneous, and has so far been permanent.

Yours truly, Mrs. J. Weaver.

F. O. Williams, of Cohocton, N. Y., who was offered $10,000 bonus some time ago to start an agricultural implement factory at Marshall, is in that city, and will commence operations at once. The factory will employ fifty men.

A Gentle Voice.

Our enterprising druggists have secured the agency for the sale of Dr. Bigelow's Positive Cure, which has no superior for coughs, colds, consumption, whooping cough and all throat and lung diseases. To prove to you it has no equal, call at Baker & Hall's drug store and get a bottle free.

Some months ago a curious freak of nature occurred on the farm of Robt. Jackson, about six miles west of Middleville, Barry county. In a corner of one of his fields, where there had never been any appearance of water and where the land was high and dry, a stream of water about the size of a man's body suddenly burst forth.

We recommend Ely's Cream Balm in every case where a cure for catarrh is called for, and in no instance have we heard of disappointment. We consider that we are doing the public a service by making its virtues known to those afflicted with this loathsome disease, for which it is in most instances a perfect cure. Peck Bros., Druggists, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Last Thursday night a man applied at the house of a citizen of Jackson asking for the privilege of staying in the barn over night, but was refused. He only wanted a place to die in, but neglected to state that fact and made his way in despite the refusal. An officer was sent for, and when he arrived the man was found to be dead, having hung himself in the loft. He was a foreigner and about 35 years of age.

If you are a frequenter or a resident of a miasmatic district, barricade your system against the scourge of all new countries—ague, billious and intermittent fevers—by the use of Hop Bitters.

Ludington, Mich., Feb. 2, 1880.

I have sold Hop Bitters for four years and there is no medicine that surpasses them for billious attacks, kidney complaints, and many diseases incident to this malarial climate.

H. T. Alexander.

Make No Mistake!

If you are about to purchase for yourself or your boys anything in the line of

BOOTS & SHOES

Be sure and call at

LEE'S

Where you will find an entire

NEW STOCK

Which will be sold at bottom prices. We ask you to call and examine these goods as we will make it an object for you to purchase of us.

REMEMBER THE PLACE!!

HEWITT'S BLOCK.

KIES BROTHERS!

Call special attention to their

MAMMOTH AND ATTRACTIVE

FALL STOCK

OF

CLOTHING,

OVERCOATS, HATS & CAPS

and Gents' Furnishing Goods.

FOR MEN, BOYS & CHILDREN.

Every inch of Counter and Shelf room in our store is filled with

New Goods!

and the largest and most complete stock ever brought to Tecumseh.

EVERY GARMENT GUARANTEED AS REPRESENTED.

PRICES LOW.

KIES BROS.,

ONE PRICE CLOTHIERS,

Mills Block, TECUMSEH, MICH.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

FOR SALE.

56 good ewes and 1 fine wool buck. A new platform wagon for sale or exchange toward a good horse. E. C. CORYELL.
WM. F. HARDING.

HOUSE TO RENT

A good house on Pottawatamie st. Enquire of Z. S. Taylor or at the HERALD OFFICE.

WANTED.

We want to buy 500 tons of good timothy hay not far from Britton station. Apply to Slayton & Nelson at A. W. Slayton's furniture store.

POULTRY AND CLOVER SEED.

Take your poultry and clover seed to L. D. Dewey of Raisin Valley, as he pays a dollar a hundred more than any shipper in town, and will do it all winter. Take in every day.

SHEEP FOR SALE.

17 fine wool bucks.
BURT MORLEY.

FOR SALE.

Two choice yearling bucks; also two extra fine Jersey heifers, to come in Feb. 1st.
R. W. HILLMAN.

FOR SALE.

Business calling me to another direction, I offer my place for sale cheap. Said premises consist of two acres of land, a good house, new barn, well, cistern, etc. Just outside of corporation.
S. H. SMITH,
Chicago street west.

FOR SALE.

A new parlor suit for sale very cheap. Enquire at the Exchange hotel. J. H. EMERY.

FOR SALE CHEAP.

A good small farm situated within a half an hours ride of the village of Tecumseh, for sale at a bargain. Fine buildings, a nice young orchard and in all one of the finest small farms in Lenawee co. For full particulars enquire at the HERALD OFFICE.

FOR SALE.

A good house and lot within five minutes walk of the post office, for sale at a bargain. Reasons for selling, business out of town. For full particulars and terms enquire at the HERALD OFFICE.

TO RENT.

A good house to rent in a desirable location.
JAMES MONTAGUE.

CHOICE VILLAGE LOTS.

The Trustees of the Universalist Parish offer for sale two building lots taken from their church property. One lot on corner of Union and Logan streets, opposite E. B. Wood's corner, and one lot fronting on Logan street. A plot of the lots, showing the size, price, etc., can be seen at the HERALD OFFICE.

FOR SALE.

80 acres of good land situated 3 miles Southeast Tecumseh on section 1 in Raisin. For particulars enquire of C. D. BILLS.

Mrs. C. K. Spafford, who has conducted an excellent bakery in Clinton for nearly a year, has given up the business. Many people who have relied upon Mrs. S. for their supplies of bread and pastry, will regret to hear this. Mr. Spafford has rented a part of Alonzo Clark's house and will board Mr. Clark's family.

Deerfield Record: A strange freak of nature was exhibited at the Record office, Thursday, by Wm. Lawson, one of the prosperous farmers of the township. The curiosity was in the shape of full grown and well-proportioned peas grown from seed of the first crop, which when ripe had shelled and falling in the rich soil had taken root, blossomed and brought forth a second crop in one season. Thus it is that the productiveness of our land is again demonstrated.

TO THE PUBLIC

I have sold to Mr. F. S. Marstellar all my granite work on hand in Tecumseh. Any person wanting any kind of cemetery work should give him a call. They can save money by doing so, and have the credit of buying at home. It will be a satisfaction to know that you have done your duty in patronizing home manufactories. In taking my leave I thank the people of Tecumseh for their kind patronage in the past.

Yours truly,
L. A. DAVIS.

Auction Sale.

Reynolds & Silvers wishing to retire from the livery business will sell at their stables in Tecumseh, on Thursday, Nov. 2d, 1882, at 10 A. M., their entire livery stock; consisting of 12 horses, 6 new Brewster side bar buggies, 6 single carriages, 3 double carriages, road wagon, skeleton wagon, platform wagon, 11 set single harness, 3 set double harness, 4 Portland, 6 swell box and 3 double cutters, pair light cobs, building, lot and fixtures; also their stallions Banker, Rothchilds and Cassius M. Clay, Jr., and their trotting colt Hunter. Usual terms.—Ben Reynolds, auctioneer.

Joseph Lanning, administrator of the Reuben Shurtt's estate, will sell at auction on the premises one mile north of Tecumseh four corners, on Saturday, Oct. 28th, 1882, at 12 o'cl'k, noon, the following property: Span horses, lumber wagon, 2 set double harness, single harness, bob-sleighs, South Bend plow, corn plow, wheel cultivator, Scotch harrow, single buggy, set of wall tools, saddle, barley fork, Baker drill and scoop, caldron kettle, building stone, etc. Usual terms. Ben Reynolds, auc.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

TECUMSEH, MICH. OCT. 26, 1882.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

TOM ADAMSON started for California yesterday.

COUNTY Clerk Hunter gave us a friendly call last Tuesday.

Two hundred and sixteen Jackson wagons are made every week.

SAM JAMES, L. M. Ide, and H. H. Snell were home over Sunday.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES HOUGH returned to Minnesota Monday morning.

GRAND TRAVERSE apples are used in England as models for painting fruit pictures.

SOME of our young people will engage in a social hop at Bidwell's hall to-morrow evening.

REV. R. S. PARDINGTON will preach on "The power of meditative thought," next Sabbath evening.

WE are indebted to Miss Zoe Pennington for the report of the W. C. T. U. convention in this issue.

THE new Friends' meeting house in Raisin is completed, and the dedication will take place on Sunday next.

GAINSLEY & Co. improve this beautiful weather by making their fall announcement to the people in this week's HERALD.

C. H. MCCONNELL was in town last week to attend the celebration of the golden wedding of his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John McConnell.

REV. MR. BABBITT will speak on temperance at Reform Club hall on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 5th, at 3 o'c'k and we hope to see the hall full on that occasion.

REV. DR. J. H. VINCENT of New York, will deliver two lectures in Tecumseh, December 27th and 28th.—Subjects, "That Boy," and "That Boy's Sister."

IT makes no difference how long you have lived in the county or how many times you have registered and voted, unless you re-register this fall you will lose your vote.

LAST evening, and in fact all day yesterday, Sink's hotel was crowded to overflowing with guests, mostly traveling men. Who says our little town of Tecumseh is dead?

A Napoleon man who got tired of throwing grass at the boys who were stealing his hickory nuts tried the virtue of a revolver. Whereat the citizens of Napoleon are excited.

R. E. FRAZER, of Jackson, favored the HERALD with a friendly call last Tuesday. Although we do not exactly "hitch" on politics we can sympathize with each other fully on the temperance question. Bob is sound on temperance anyhow.

A GOOD audience assembled at the Opera House last Tuesday evening to hear R. E. Frazer on the political issues of the day from a Republican standpoint. His remarks were well received. "Bob" is a ready talker and the people always enjoy one of his speeches.

Adrian Times: The telephone some times makes strange mistakes. County Clerk Hunter yesterday responded to four calls, and each time received an order for several pounds of sugar, some eggs and a pound of black currants. He contemplates putting in a stock of groceries.

JOHN R. CLARK'S appointments are as follows: Sunday next, on temperance, at Christian church, Britton, at 3 P. M., Grange hall, Macon, 7 P. M.—He delivers his attractive lectures on "Blunders, big and little," with songs, at Brittons, Monday evening, 30th, and before the Literary Society, East Tecumseh, Tuesday, Oct. 31st.

ON last Friday evening the third of a series of dances to be given at Sage & Cary's hall, Pennington's Corners, was celebrated. There was upwards of one hundred couple present and a most delightful evening was spent by all. Dancing was kept up till a late hour when all returned home with blissful visions for Joe and John.

THE Tecumseh Lumber Co. have this day purchased the entire interest of S. W. Temple in the sash, door, blind and planing mill, and in fact all that Mr. Temple owns and controls in the sash, blind and planing mill in Tecumseh. The cash has been paid for this property, and the Tecumseh Lumber Co., is now prepared to furnish all kinds of lumber and building material on short notice, and to the best possible advantage to customers.

WILLIE PENNINGTON, of Macon, after a struggle of six years for life, passed on to the Unknown land last Tuesday morning. He has tried the climate of several states and countries in his search for health, having visited Florida, Colorado, Brazil and Northern Michigan, but the poison of pneumonia had settled upon him and he has finally sunk beneath the hand of the destroyer. He was a young man of splendid promise, and a host of sympathetic friends will mourn his demise. The funeral services took place at his father's residence in Macon this forenoon.

Have you registered?

THE Minstrels this evening.

WE are having beautiful October weather.

THE buyers report the apples nearly all gathered in this vicinity.

The Clinton Woolen company are putting a new boiler in their mill.

THE Brooklyn band is taking lessons from Prof. Louis Boos, of Jackson.

Morris Williams, of Deerfield, is attending the medical department at Ann Arbor.

THANKS to John R. Clark, for late copies of the Bradford Era and Buffalo Express.

The Lenawee County S. S. Union and L. F. Wheeler have both struck Hudson this week.

DON'T forget the big auction sale of Reynolds & Silvers, which comes off on Thursday, Nov. 2.

L. A. DAVIS left Tecumseh yesterday and intends to spend the winter in Kansas and Texas.

THE paper mill, having been thoroughly overhauled, commenced operations again last Monday.

It is possible that Hon. Frank Hurd, of Toledo, will address the citizens of Tecumseh before the election.

DR. S. J. DEWEY, of Kansas City, is spending a few days among his friends in Cambridge and Tecumseh.

CHARLIE SPAFFORD, of the Clinton News, called on us a few days since. He reports everything lovely.

JOHN R. CLARK has returned from his campaign in New York and will remain at home for a few days.

VENNOR is making amends this month for his erratic management of the weather during the summer.

Evening News: The mayor of London gets $50,000 a year—but the mayor of Adrian did better than that one year.

MARVIN A. LADD, the candidate for county clerk on the Union ticket, favored the HERALD with a call last Saturday.

THERE will be a special meeting of Tecumseh lodge, No. 59, F. & A. M., on Friday evening, Nov. 3. Work in the third degree.

THERE was a regular old fashioned crowd in town last Saturday. The streets were full and hitching posts were at a premium.

The train dispatcher's offices of the Ft. Wayne & Jackson road and Lansing and Ypsilanti branches have been transferred from Lansing and Jackson to Hillsdale.

BENJ. VERNOR, of Detroit, was presented with a gold-headed cane the other day by the Underwriters of that city, it being the sixty-second anniversary of his birthday. Our old friend, John F. Murray, made the presentation speech and it is needless to say that it was well done.

REV. R. S. PARDINGTON will speak this evening at Clinton before the Adrian District Women's Foreign Mission Society, on "Woman's Work in Mission Fields." He also spoke at Hudson on Wednesday before the Lenawee Co. S. S. convention on "Children at Public Worship."

LAST evening at the residence of the bride's father, occurred the marriage, by Rev. R. S. Pardington, of Mr. E. C. Kennedy and Miss Mary Usborn. Only immediate friends were invited. The many friends of the couple wish them the utmost success and happiness, and that their pathway in life may be as calm as a summer's sky.

At a meeting of the Chautauqua Scientific and Literary Circle held on Friday evening, Oct. 13th, 1882, the following officers were elected:

President—Rev. R. S. Pardington.
Vice Pres.—Miss L. Kahler.
Sec.—Dr. R. B. House.
Treas.—Mrs. V. G. Sherrard.
Ex. Com.—J. S. Temple, Miss A. Hall and Miss E. Davidson.

The Circle is fully organized and will hold regular meetings the 1st Friday in each month. Social circle auxiliary to the general circle will meet monthly, thus bringing the results of the work of the members together semi-monthly. The regular monthly meeting will be held on Friday evening, Oct. 27th, in room No. 1, in the M. E. church.

For sheriff we know of no better man in the county than Alf. James.—Adrian Press.

This is another indication of the ignorance of our contemporary. I doesn't know Charlie Bidwell, an infinitely better man for sheriff than the gentleman it names, and the people will say so by a large majority on election day.—Adrian Times.

Charley Bidwell had better put a muzzle on the young man who manages the local columns of the Times.—Mr. Bidwell is a gentleman and a good public officer and he certainly cannot sanction such puerile belittling of an honorable opponent. "For sheriff we know of no better man in the county than Alf. James." Every word is literally true, and we can make this statement without any disparagement of Mr. Bidwell. The fact is the people of Lenawee county are very fortunate in having two such unexceptionable candidates from which to choose a sheriff this fall.

THERE will be a public examination of teachers to-morrow at Adrian.

The next annual session of the grand lodge of good templars will be held at Grand Rapids.

There is a political organization of colored men at Grand Rapids known as the "United Sons of Ham."

MR. CHARLES R. BACON, gentlemanly manager of Callender's minstrels, gave us a call this afternoon.

The roller skating season at Stanton has opened auspiciously, and one young lady has already broken an arm.

At the village of Fowler, there are four churches situated on the sides of a square with a base ball ground in the square.

THE Universalist sociable will be held at Mrs. William Smallidge's next week Friday, Nov. 3. All are cordially invited.

THE state and county tax to be raised by Lenawee county, the ensuing year, will be, in round numbers, $91,000.

JOHN MCILVOY husked 101 bushels of corn for A. G. Hall on Tuesday, Oct. 17th, and no night work about it either. Next.

The venison market opens at twenty cents per pound in the interior cities of the state. It is deer meat even at that price.

J. C. Benedict, one of the oldest business men in Clayton, is closing out his stock, preparatory to investing in a Texas cattle ranch.

Ezra Huber fell against a circular saw in his mill in Eaton township, same county, on the 18th and had his arm slit from the shoulder joint to the elbow.

The Blissfield Advance says: Joel Carpenter wants a monument erected to the idiot who introduced the bill in the last legislature requiring a new registration.

REV. MR. SHEPARD being obliged to be absent from his pulpit for two weeks there will be no service in the Universalist church until the second Sunday in November. Sunday school as usual.

OUR enterprising egg and butter dealer, Frank Bumann, has invested in a grocery store at Adrian. He does not intend leaving Tecumseh but will have a branch establishment at the county seat.

THE Farmer's Daughter company will appear at the Opera House in Adrian, on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, Nov. 1st and 2nd. The company are well recommended and and are well known here, and many of our people will go over to see them.

A Good Offer.

The Chicago, Burlington, & Quincy Railroad Company has just issued an illustrated treatise, "The Heart of the Continent," describing the wonderful growth of the Six Great States. The book is beautifully printed, and numerous engravings of high merit adorn its pages. Any one sending their name and address with two three cent postage stamps will receive a copy by return mail, by applying to Perceval Lowell, General Passenger Agent, Chicago, Illinois.

FARMERS' CLUB.

The first meeting of the Farmers' Social Club for the winter will be held at Jacob Everhart's Friday evening, Nov. 3. The following program will be carried out:

Singing:
Select reading—Ellen Fisher.
Instr. Music—Anna Everhart.
Statistical reports of their wheat crops for 1882 will be given by John Fisher, R. B. Gillespie, and E. L. Russell.
Questions and discussions upon these reports.
All interested in farming and wheat culture are invited.

MRS. V. C. RECTOR, Sec.

THE Detroit Free Press describes how a worthy German citizen of that city is troubled with his telephone:

"I doan' know vhat I shall do mit dat telephone of mine," observed a citizen as he entered the headquarters of the company yesterday and sat down in a discouraged way.

"Out of order, is it?"

"Sometimes it vhas, und sometimes it vhas all right. If I go to speak mit der coal man, or der City Hall or der butcher it vas all right, und I can hear every word. Is somebody vhants to order my beer? I get der name shust as plain as daylight."

"And when does it fail?"

"Vhell, shust like two hours ago. A saloon man he owes me $18, und I rings him up und calls out, 'Hello! hello! I likes dot monish to-day!' Den he vhants to know who I am, und den he says he can't catch der name. I tell him oafer und oafer, und by and by he calls out dot he doan' deal in watermelons, und dot he goes in to pave Gratiot street, und dot he is sorry he can't sign my petition to der Council. Den I haf to go all eaver again, und he tells me to stand back, und to come closer, und to speak louder, and at last he gits mad and tells me dot if I call him a dandy again he'll proke my head. It's no use—I can't make oue of my customers hear me. If sometings doan' ail my telephone, it may be ash my voice is giving out. I vhish you would examine me and see if I had better let my son Shon do der talking vhile I keep der pooks."

THE TOLEDO & MILWAUKEE.

NOTES AND NEWS CONCERNING THE NEW RAILROAD LINE.

What has Already Been Done and the Program for the Future.

The Seney syndicate, which has taken hold of the Michigan branch of the "Nickle Plate" line is rapidly getting down to business. The time has come when all doubt in regard to the building of the T. & M. road has been dispelled. The preliminary surveys from Marshall to Tecumseh have been completed, and east as far as the Monroe county line, and most of the contracts for grading have been let. We give herewith a few items clipped from some of our state exchanges showing the progress of the work at different points on the line.

The Detroit Free Press says: "The 'Nickle Plate' syndicate apparently mean an active fall campaign on the Toledo & Milwaukee railroad. The contract for grading the line has been let; a large force of men and teams arrived at Marshall on Wednesday, and will commence operations on the new line on Thursday, October 19th, a short distance west of the city. Another force of men with grading equipments will arrive at Marshall on the 19th, and commence grading through Marshall and eastward. The contractors expect the line to be in running order from Toledo to Marshall early January next."

The Battle Creek Tribune says:—Work between Marshall and this city has commenced, and the old Mansfield and Coldwater road-bed is to be placed in condition at once.

The Toledo Blade says: "Nearly the whole work on the 140 miles of the Michigan & Ohio railway from Toledo to Allegan, Mich., was let last week by the engineer, J. A. Latcha, of Cleveland. The construction company is Brown, Howard & Co., the same who built the Nickle Plate."

The Marshall Statesman of last week says:

We believe that a more reticent lot of civil engineers or railroad contractors than the T & M. employes can not be found, which fact of course interferes sadly with the local's efforts to secure news concerning the subject very dear to the heart of the Marshallite. Yesterday a representative of the road started west to procure the right of way from Messrs. Bender, Godfrey, Brewer, Shea and Avery, through whose farms the new road will pass. The above is item No. 1. Item No. 2: J. H. McLane & Son, of Coldwater, the gentlemen that constructed the road bed of the Nickle Plate from Ft. Wayne to Chicago are domiciled at the Tremont house, and expect to commence throwing dirt on Monday next, possibly sooner. Mr. McLane has a contract for building the road from a point a few miles east of this city to a point east of Battle Creek, where the Mansfield, Coldwater & Lake Michigan road bed is reached. After finishing the new road bed they will proceed at once to put the old road bed in shape for iron etc. Two car loads of tools were expected in Battle Creek yesterday, from South Chicago, and several teams arrived in town yesterday from Coldwater with tents, tools etc., and more are expected. Item No. 3—The maps of the road will be finished during the coming week, and as soon as the right of way is secured east of Marshall, contracts will be immediately let.

The Kalamazoo Telegraph says:—Judge Ingersoll, of Marshall, states to the Telegraph that the building of the Toledo & Michigan road is a settled fact and that the company behind it will also complete the north and south project running through Marshall, on which the communities at interest graded 94 miles out of their own resources. This will make Marshall an important center. The distance to which the north and south line will be carried northward is yet to be determined.

The surveying party whose headquarters are in Tecumseh, consists of five men under the charge of Engineer Baird, of Dayton, Ohio. The party completed the preliminary work from the town line between Franklin and Cambridge to a point about one mile east of the Monroe county line, last week and forwarded the maps there of to headquarters. Tuesday Mr. Baird received instructions to begin the permanent location of the line and yesterday morning this party began work on their permanent field notes. They started on the Matthews farm on the Keeler town line and are coming east. They will pass through the village to-day, and will reach the Adrian furniture factory on the river Raisin to-night. Mr. Baird has rented the room over the postoffice formerly occupied by Worden's law office, which is fitting up with tables, maps, etc., as headquarters.

The Toledo Journal has the following: The Toledo and Ann Arbor road has become valuable property, and the hand of Governor Austin is in it. It is this made him a rich man. On Thursday the Governor returned from New York, having completed negotiations with both the Grand Trunk and the Toledo, Grand Haven and Milwaukee for the use of the road and terminal facilities to reach Toledo. The Toledo and Milwaukee are now at work all along the line. They propose to run cars between Toledo and Marshall early in 1883. This road taps the Toledo and Ann Arbor at Dundee, 22 miles north of Toledo, and will use the track of that road to this city.

The emigrant, tourist, or traveller bound for the productive mines and fertile prairies of the Great Southwest is unanimous in selecting the route via. Chicago. Implicit confidence is placed in the Kansas City pioneer line composed of the C. B. & Q. and Old Reliable Hannibal and St. Joseph Railroads. Through fast trains are run by this Line and the equipment is unsurpassed.

Mr. Earnest Sylverton, a rich Wall street broker, living in Hoboken, N. J., opposite N. Y. City writes: "The excessive strain of nervous excitement resulting from stock speculation and too high living made quite an invalid of me. Brown's Iron Bitters restored me to perfect health and strength."

CALLENDER'S minstrels came to our town well recommended. They played in Adrian last evening to a good house and our Adrian friends say the entertainment is a good one in every respect. We telephoned to Mr. Chas. Humphrey this morning and he says we can recommend the party as a first class minstrel company, and that their performance is chaste and select in every particular.

Satisfactory Evidence.

J. W. Graham, Wholesale Druggist, of Austin, Tex., writes:—I have been handling Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs for the past year, and I have found it one of the most salable medicines I have ever had in my house for coughs, colds, and even consumption, always giving entire satisfaction. Please send me one gross by Saturday's steamer.

Dr. Green's Oxygenated Bitters.

is the oldest and best remedy for dyspepsia, billiousness, malaria, indigestion, all disorders of the stomach, and all diseases indicating an impure condition of the blood, kidneys and liver.

Durno's Catarrh snuff cures catarrh and all affections of the mucous membrane.

Dr. Roger's Vegetable Worm Syrup instantly destroys worms and removes the secretions which cause them.

From Pain to Happiness.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 26, '81.
H. H. Warner & Co.:—Sirs—Your Safe Kidney and Liver Cure has relieved me of a chronic disease of the kidneys. Chas. Henry, 102 Central Ave.

—Why send away for Bulbs, Plants, Shrubs, etc., when you can get everything in that line at Spaulding's Green House.

—Now for Drills. Slayton & Son have the following first-class ones:—Buckeye, Baker Screw Feed, Farmers' Friend, Monarch, Monitor and Union. Prices low. Call on us before you buy.

—The Tecumseh Lumber Company has bought out the yard formerly owned by S. W. Temple. They are putting in a fine assortment of lumber, and any body wanting anything in their line would do well to call on them.

—Jackson wagons and carriages at Kennedy & Co.'s.

—S. W. Temple keeps for sale the "Standard" two horse farm wagon.—Call and see it.

—Dowagiac Wheel Harrow in three sections, and Reed Spring Tooth Harrows, at Slayton's.

—James Lowry has the Excelsior Shirt Polish for sale. It is the best of any preparation in use and will do the work easier than any other polish in the market. Prepared by
E. W. Auger, Detroit, Mich.

—Granite Monuments and Head stones for sale cheap at the Tecumseh Steam Granite and marble works.

—Parties wishing floral decorations for weddings, funerals or other uses, will be promptly supplied by leaving orders with J. J. Orr, at Wright's drug store. Elmer D. Smith.

—S. F. Marstellar makes a specialty of Curbing, Flaging &c., at his Monumental Works.

—One of the best blood purifiers ever made is "King of the Blood." Sold by Druggists generally. Manufactured by D. Ransom, Son & Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

—Slayton & Son have just received a large stock of South Bend plows and points. If you want a plow call on them sure.

—Side bar buggies and platform spring wagons at S. W. Temple's.

—See the "Little Giant" one and two horse farm wagons at S. W. Temple's.

—The Tecumseh Lumber Company (successors to S. W. Temple) are stocking up their yards with the largest and best assortment of lumber ever brought into this market. Purchasers would do well to call on them before buying.

—My business is such I can't afford to leave Tecumseh. Clinton patrons please call on me at home.
Brown, the Photographer.

—The Tecumseh Lumber Company, corner Shawnee and R. R. Streets, are receiving daily large lots of lumber and are able to compete with any yard in Southern Michigan in scale of prices. Call and see them.

The Safest Way.

The safest and surest way to restore the youthful color of the hair is furnished by Parker's Hair Balsam, which is deservedly popular from its superior cleanliness.

LODGES AND SOCIETIS

TECUMSEH LODGE, NO. 14, I. O. O. F

Meets every Thursday Evening at their Lodge Room over Brewer's Store, Chicago Street.

J. W. WOODEN, N. G.
EUGENE HODGES, Sec.

Railroad Time Tables.

and M. S. RAILROAD.

TRAINS GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS	No. 15. Mail.	No. 17. Express.	No. 19. Accom.
Jackson	6 50 a.m.	2 40 p.m.	5 40 p.m.
Napoleon	7 10 "	3 05 "	2 50 "
Norvell	7 18 "	3 15 "	.....
Manchester	7 36 "	3 30 "	3 15 "
Clinton	7 42 "	3 43 "	4 25 "
Tecumseh	7 53 "	3 50 "	4 30 "
Adrian	8 30 "	4 30 "	5 25 "
Detroit	10 30 "	7 10 "	.....
Toledo	9 30 "	5 25 "	.....

TRAINS GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	No. 16. Mail.	No. 18. Express.	No. 20. Accom.
Detroit	9 20 am	6 40 pm	.....
Toledo	10 50 "	8 25 "	.....
Adrian	11 49 am	9 20 "	5 19 am
Tecumseh	12 14 p.m.	9 57 "	6 25 "
Clinton	12 22 "	10 07 "	7 30 "
Manchester	12 40 "	10 26 "	8 25 "
Norvell	12 56 "	10 45 "	9 05 "
Napoleon	1 05 "	10 55 "	9 25 "
Jackson	1 30 "	11 20 "	10 20 "

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Coupon tickets can now be procured at this station over best routes, to all principal cities in the U. S.

N. S. SATTERTHWAITE, Ticket Agent.

Post Office, Tecumseh, Michigan,

MAILS CLOSE.

Eastern and Detroit—morning mail ..... 7 30 A. M.
Northern and Detroit, via Jackson ..... 11 40 A. M.
Eastern and Detroit ..... 3 30 P. M.

OVERLAND.

Tipton, Springville, Cambridge & Brooklyn, Mondays, Wednesdays, Fridays 1 30 "
Ridgeway—daily ..... 1 30 "
Cable Ridge, daily ..... 1 30 "
Macon, daily ..... 12 00 M.

ARRIVALS.

Northern Mail ..... 7 35 A. M.
Eastern Mail ..... 12 10 P. M. 9 57 P. M.

Office hours from 7 A. M. to 30 P. M., Sundays from 10 to 10 30 A. M.

FRED ROSACRANS, P. M.

For the Latest Styles of

Buggies, Carriages

SLEIGHS AND HARNESS,

GO TO THE

LENAWEE CARRIAGE FACTORY

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

J. R. HAYLEY

ABE HANFORD,

General Auctioneer.

All Auction business entrusted to his care will receive prompt attention.

TECUMSEH, - MICHIGAN

BEN REYNOLDS,

Licensed Auctioneer.

ALL AUCTION BUSINESS,

Either in village or country will be promptly

TECUMSEH, MICH.

B. F. STEINHOFF'S

Dental Rooms.

OVER BAKER & HALL'S

GAS FOR EXTRACTING.

THE LOWEST PRICES for THE BEST WORK

LOOSE'S EXTRACT

RED CLOVER BLOSSOM,

The Great Blood Purifier.

PURE AND HARMLESS

Cures Scrofula in all its forms, Cancer, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Rheumatism and all other blood and skin diseases, and regulates the bowels. $1 per pint bottle.

Loose's Red Clover Pills remedy certain, speedy, cheap.

Loose's Red Clover Pills cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Constipation. They act on the liver and kidneys. In boxes of 25 pill, 25c., 5 boxes $1. For sale by all druggists, or address J. M. Loose, & Co., Monroe, Mich. Send for circular.

I have removed my

BLACKSMITH SHOP,

To the old stand of J. H. Mills, On Logan Street,

Opposite Hayden's Warehouse, where I have better facilities than ever for doing good work.

Horse Shoeing a specialty

ED. ROWLAND.

The Harvest of Hair.

About the month of May the gatherers of the lower order of trade, peddlers, etc., commence harvesting; they come to the villages at regular intervals. The largest cut is made in Auvernia department (western France) during the annual fair, about St. John's day, when the gatherer, with his wares and shining coin, most successfully tempts the unsophisticated country girls and becomes owner of the choicest of their hair at the lowest possible price. The provincial girl, as she is called, will make her choice of merchandise or give orders for something else. The scissors may at once come into use, and accounts settled, or she may take advance payments for her silken coils, to be cut at some future time, the hair to grow until a time stipulated. Advances may be made on the next four or five years' crops, the executioner with his scissors will rather be later than too soon to uncoil his hair debtor, for such debts are always honored. These gatherings (one of the curiosities of Parisian industry) last from spring to fall; when the gatherers make their last delivery of hair, balance merchandise or contracts taken, square their own accounts, and return to their various trades, by which they strive to accumulate small sums of money or merchandise to assist them in their luring traffic next spring. Large quantities of beautiful hair, soft, clean, and delightfully perfumed, come into the market. One can almost imagine that he can yet see the hand of the virgin's lover on its waving brilliancy. A considerable quantity of hair is derived from chapels or shrines in Brittany, where, according to an old custom, a great number of devotees make offerings of their hair to poor Mother Virgin Mary, and as those donations accumulate they are scattered among all nations, creeds, virtues, or otherwise—such as heavenly accommodation. In Venetia, Lombardy, and Piedmont two thousand gatherers are employed, who send their cuttings to the French market.—Hair Dresser.

A Child Worth Her Weight in Gold.

A few years ago a steamer was coming from California. The cry of "Fire! fire!" suddenly thrilled every heart. Every effort was made to stay the flames, but in vain. It soon became evident that the ship must be lost. The burning mass was headed for shore, which was not far off.

A passenger was seen buckling his belt of gold around his waist, ready to plunge into the waves. Just then a pleading voice arrested him—

"Please, sir, can you swim?"

A child's blue eyes were piercing into his deepest soul as he looked down upon her.

"Yes, child, I can swim."

"Well, sir, won't you please save me?"

"I cannot do both," he thought. "I must save the child and lose the gold. But a moment ago I was anxious for this whole ship's company; now I am doubting whether I shall exchange human life for paltry gold."

Unbuckling the belt he cast it from him and said, "Yes, little girl, I will try to save you." Stooping down he bade her clasp her hands around his neck. "Thus, child; not so tight as to choke me. There, hang on now, and I will try to make land."

The child bowed herself on his broad shoulders, and clung to her deliverer. With a heart thrice strengthened and an arm thrice nerved, he struck out for shore. Wave after wave washed over them. Still the brave man held out, and the dear child on, until a mighty mountain billow swept the sweet treasure from his embrace, and cast him senseless on the bleak rocks. Kind hands ministered to him. Recovering his consciousness, the form of the dear child met his earth-staggered gaze, bending over him with more than angel ministrations, and blessing him with more than eloquent benedictions.

A Family of Monkeys.

Hindoos do not hurry themselves in anything they do, but the monkeys have lots of time to spare and plenty of patience, and in the end, after the crow has eaten a little, and the dog had its share, and the children are all satisfied, the scraps and fragments of the meal are thrown down upon the ground for the blundering, the monkey people, and it is soon dispatched—the mother feeding the baby before she eats herself. When every house has, in turn, been visited, and no chance of further "contributions" remains, the monkeys go off to the well. The women are all here again, drawing the water for the day, and the monkeys sit and wait, the old ones in front, sententious and serious, and the youngsters rolling about in the dust to find them, till at last some girls see the monkeys waiting, and, "in the name of rain," spill a pitch full of water in a hollow of the ground, and the monkeys come round it in a circle and sit down and drink, with their tails all curled up over their backs like notes of interrogation. There is no contention or jostling. A forward child gets a box over the ear, perhaps, but each one, as it has satisfied its thirst, steps quietly out of the circle and wipes its mouth. The day thus fairly commenced, they go off to see what luck may bring them. The grainkeeper's shop tempts them to loiter, but the experience of previous attempts makes theft hopeless; for the baunya, with all his years, is very nimble on his legs and an astonishing good shot with a pipkin. So the monkeys make their salaams to him and pass on to the fields. If the corn is ripe they can soon eat enough for the day, but if not they go wandering about picking up morsels, here an insect and there a berry, until the sun gets too hot, and then they creep up into the dark shade of the mango and snooze through the afternoon. In the evening they are back in the village again to share its comforts and entertainments. They assist at the convocation of the elders and the romps of the children, looking on when the faquir comes up to collect his little dues of salt, corn and oil, and from him in their turn exacting a pious toll. They listen gravely to the village musician until they get sleepy, and then one by one they clamber up into the peepul. And the men sitting round the fire with their pipes can see, if they look up, the whole colony of the blunder-logue asleep in rows in the tree above them.

The Paris Gamin.

Ever since Victor Hugo told the story of Little Gavroche in "Les Miserables," there has been great interest in the "gamins" of Paris. These little fellows often have good homes and wander in the streets in poverty, in order to gain what they call "liberty." But their adventures are often amusing. An urchin of this class was brought into court in Paris the other day, charged with being a vagrant. His mother appeared to make an appeal for him, and the following dialogue ensued:

"Your boy was found sleeping in one of the parks last night," said the justice. "This will never do."

"You hear," said the mother to the boy. "That will never do! You are a bad boy." (To the judge.) "But excuse him this time, your honor, he is a very good boy."

"So you want to see if you can keep the boy at home in future?" said the justice.

"Yes, your honor; he is my only boy. (To the boy.) Remember, this is the last time, you serpent, whom I have warmed in my breast!"

"How did he happen to run away?"

"I had sent him out in the morning to buy a loaf of bread and a jug of milk. After he bought them, I saw him going down the street after a band of soldiers. I waited an hour, two hours,—all day. You can imagine my feelings. At last, in the evening, he came in with the milk and bread and put them on the table, and only said, 'Here they are!'"

"So I caught up the long roll of bread to chastise him,—as he deserved,—but just as I brought it down he fled through the door, and the bread flew out of my hand and knocked over the milk and then rolled into the street. So he did not dare to come back. But he always means well, poor boy! (To the boy:) You little rascallion! Just you wait!"

"Well, you may try to keep him in order. He is given up to you during good behavior."

"Yes, your honor; I will care for the little lamb! (seizing the boy by the coat collar.) Now, villian, come home. We will see who is master!"

The spectators laughed. The woman's "bark" was evidently worse than her "bite."

Odd Wedding Rings.

The Jewels Placed by Young Lovers Upon the Fingers of Their Sweethearts.

"There is no jewelry about which women always show so much interest as the betrothal and wedding rings," replied a dealer to a reporter's question. "The first has altered noticeably in shape and setting. A pure white diamond, the only suitable gem, is underset in short claws so that the stone hides the setting completely. Polished gold is preferred to Roman gold. The shank is oval and tapers from the gem. There is neither enamel nor engraving on its surface, and inscriptions are cut inside as the purchaser may order. It is but an old fashion revived, and one which will be liked. In the last 30 years wedding rings have changed twice in style, from the narrow, double circlet to the polished oval; and lastly the plain, wide, flat band, which is now also preferable in polished gold. A fourth style, and one eminently in harmony with the present temper of romantic sentiment, might well revive the ornament which decorated a ring discovered long ago in Egyptian ruins. It represented two cats, sitting back to back, and between them the goddess of love, who smiles sweetly on vacancy while they glare around at each other in genuine Kilkenny fashion."

"Would you make it to order?"

"Certainly."

"I will bear that in mind. But meantime can you tell me who invented the finger ring?"

"It is older than history. The ancients account for its origin by ascribing to Jupiter a sharp practice, which would be no credit to a Four Courts shyster. They say that, prompted by revenge, he had Prometheus chained to a frosty Caucasus, where a vulture banqueted the live-long day on the captive's liver. Jupiter eventually relented, and, to avoid breaking his oath, commanded his enemy when free to wear perpetually on his finger an iron ring to which was fastened a small piece of Mt. Caucasus, so that in effect he remained bound to the rock. I don't take much stock in that story. The ancients were, some of them, scaly fellows."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

An Infernal Machine.

A rather sad affair took place in one of our streets the other day, remarks the Belfast (Me.) Journal. A young lady with her arms full of bundles emerged from a dry goods store, when one of them fell to the sidewalk without her noticing it. Just behind her was a young man, and a Belfast young man who is not polite is not anything, and he quickly stepped forward and picked it up. Now a bundle done up in a piece of paper with a dry goods advertisement on it is apparently as harmless as a mother's spanking, and there it lay as guileless as an angle worm on a sidewalk after a rain. Just as he stooped to pick it up there was a rustling of the paper, the twist began to come out of the ends, and in another instant a bright red thing, a sort of a cross between a balloon and a devil-fish, flew into the air before his eyes, and a number ten, thirty-six inch, double-jointed duplex, elliptic, steel-bowed, bustle attachment, dollar-and-a-half, red-headed hoopskirt waltzed around and gyrated and opened and shut up and fell on the walk as flat and thin as a restaurant pie; and the young man straightened himself up, looking as if he wished the tail of comet No. 2 would sweep him from this fair land; and the young lady came back with a face that resembled a sunset on a fifty-cent chromo; and she picked up the wire contrivance, and then she went toward the east and he went toward the west, and the sun ducked his head behind a cloud to hide a smile, and three or four looked on, laid down and laughed, and doubled themselves up in a manner that would have made a mess of green apples hang their heads in shame.

Nashville boasts of a "Natal Twin association" which will pay $2,000 to each member producing a certificate of the paternity of twin babies.

The Lime-Kiln Club.

"If I had a chance to lib my life over agin," said the President as a solemn hush fell on the meeting, "I should chalk down sartin fings dat I should speef to come to passing. I should chalk down some odder sartin fings dat I should reckon on unless a cyclone got loose an' tore down de fences. I should look fur—

"De man who eats onions to stop an' argy wid ebery man he meets gwin down town.

"I should 'spect men who owed de moas' an' war de least able to pay to w'ar de best clothes an' have de moas' change when a circus comes along.

"I should 'spect my naybur to empty his ashes on de spot mos' convenient to himself widout any reference as to wheder de spot was on my land or his.

"I should 'spect dat broadcloth an' silk would be worn on de street by people who till up on cold taters at home.

"I should 'spect de equity of men whom I did not lend to, an' be beat by nine outer ten of sich as I favored.

"I should 'spect to be looked upon as a fanatic by men belongin' to a different church from mine, an' to be abused an' called a fool by men votin' de opposite political ticket.

"I should 'spect about so much bad weather—about so much sickness—about so many pains and aches, an' hungry days an' lonely nights, an' knowin' de world as well as I know it now, I should 'spect de boats to run, an' de trains to go out, an' de stores to open whedder I was in bed wid be ager or ober in de cabbage lot in de bes' of health.

"As fur de fings I shouldn't look fur, dey am almoas' too numerous to menshun.

"I shouldn't look fur a laborin' man workin' fur ten shillin's a day to permit his whisky to cost mo' dan his flour.

"I shouldn't look fur a girl airnin' fo' dollars a week to dress like a banker's wife nor put on de fagony of a princess.

"I shouldn't look fur my naybur to sweat his collar drivin' cows outer my garden, any mo' dan he would expect me to bust my suspenders keepin' de boys away from his harvest apples.

"I shouldn't look fur my chil'en to come up widout faults, nor my fam'ly to lib widout bein' hit by malice or wounded by gossip.

"I shouldn't look fur any mo' room in de street kyar dan I paid fur, nor a better suit of clothes dan my sarcumstances permitted.

"I shouldn't look fur any man's word or promise to stan' good onless he was sartin dat he would be de gainer by makin' em so. It am now time to proceed wid de bizness which has reinstated us togeder, an' de triangle will be stricken in due form an' a colleckshun taken up to defray the expenses of obsarvin de transit of Venus from de northwest co'ner of de City Hall Market."

Good Advice.

You will prevent and cure the greater part of the ills that afflict mankind in this or any section, if you keep your stomach, liver and kidneys in perfect working order. There is no medicine known that does this as surely as Parker's Ginger Tonic. It will keep your blood rich and pure; and give you good health at little cost. See other column.

Well Rid of Him.

Mars, formerly of Germany, now vegetates in the little Town of L——, S. C. Here he has engaged in the mercantile business and has a fine house and home of his own. Soon after setting up for himself Mars took great delight in gardening, devoting a good deal of attention to his English peas, a favorite vegetable with him. To his great delight they grew up finely, and Mars was in raptures; but, presto! change! something took to destroying them and his exuberant spirits fizzled down to zero. Mars could not stand it. He put on his studying cap, and, sure that it was some animal, took the sifter, and setting it—with triggers well baited—near the peas, quietly waiting the result. This he did in the even—his enemy making nocturnal raids—and next morning, to his inexpressible delight, he had him securely sitting, reared back, under the sifter, being no less than an old field rabbit. Mars attended to him, and then hastily running into the house to report to his well-beloved, with flushed countenance exclaimed:

"Shane! Shane! I've cotched dat letul raskul dat has bin e'tin' our peas. It vos von letul rabbit!"

"Oh! I'm so glad," said Jane, smacking her lips at the thoughts of pie for dinner. "What did you do with him, Mr. Mars?"

"Do mit him—mit the letul raskul? Vy, I takes him oop, und lookin' him in de hyes, I smax his jaws an' tells him not to koom back, no mo', soomtimes!"

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all kinds of Skin Eruptions. This Salve is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction in every case or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by All Druggists.

Important to Travelers.

Special Inducements are offered you by the BURLINGTON ROUTE. It will pay you to read their advertisement to be found elsewhere in this issue.

"Buchupaiba."

New, quick, complete cure four days, urinary affections, smarting, frequent or difficult urination, kidney diseases. $1, at druggists. Michigan Depot, J. E. Davies & Co., Detroit, Mich.

The Safest Way.

The safest and surest way to restore the youthful color of the hair is furnished by Parker's Hair Balsam, which is deservedly popular from its superior cleanliness.

Disease is an effect, not a cause. Its origin is within; its manifestations without. Hence, to cure the disease the cause must be removed, and in no other way can a cure ever be effected. WARNER'S SAFE KIDNEY AND LIVER CURE is established on just this principal. It realizes that of all diseases arise from deranged kidneys and liver, and it strikes at once at the root of the difficulty. The elements of which it is composed act directly upon these great organs, both as a food and a restorer, and by placing them in a healthy condition, drive disease and pain from the system.

95 Per Cent.

For the innumerable troubles caused by unhealthy Kidneys, Liver and Urinary Organs; for the distressing Disorders of Women; for Malaria, and for physical derangements generally, this great remedy has no equal. Beware of impostors, imitations and concoctions said to be just as good.

For Diabetes, ask for WARNER'S SAFE DIABETES CURE.

For Sale, by all dealers.

H. H. WARNER & CO., Rochester, N. Y.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENT DEPOT.

Grain, Flour, Feed and Coal.

SLAYTON & SON

Are still at the old stand with a complete line of

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.

PLOWS The Wiard Chilled. Mohawk Valley Clipper (steel.)

"Leader" Spring Tooth Harrow. Elwood, Robbins and Buckeye

CULTIVATORS.

"Springer" Spring Tooth Harrow, (on wheels.)

GRAIN DRILLS. {Buckeye, Farmer's Fr Triumph.

THRESHERS, {The "Vibrator," and The "Buffalo Pitts."

Portable and Traction Thresher Engines.

Rare Bargains in

Carriages, Platform, Spring and Lumber Wagons,

Lime, Water Lime, Salt, Cal. Plaster and Plastering Hair.

If you want anything in our line call and get prices before you buy.

The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.

It is constantly effecting the most wonderful cures while the unparalleled demand and which it receives, stands it at once as the greatest medicine in use for outward application. The most incredulous are convinced, and the most skeptical are compelled to believe in the power of this great remedy.

WHAT IT CURES.

ALL SORES, CUTS, BRUISES, SPRAINS, BURNS, SORE THROAT, LAMENESS, RHEUMATISM, ALL INFLAMMATION of LUNGS and BOWELS, BRONCHITIS, CROUP, SALT RHEUM, CHILBLAINS AFFECTIONS of the SPINE, SCIATICA, NERVOUS IRRITATION, and all diseases attendant with INFLAMMATION.

It never fails to restore the natural functions of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates every portion of the human frame; every bone, muscle, vein, nerve, and ligament is searched and made sensible to its soothing and healing influence. Hence it cures readily with internal as well as external disease.

Over 40 Years

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that as we have no space here, we omit any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, and simply ask these readers of this notice who have never used this Ointment, to frankly state their experience with it to inquiring friends. If but one in a hundred would do this we should feel perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle. Price 25 and 40 cents per bottle. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

D. RANSOM SON & CO., Prop'rs, Buffalo, New York.

TO ADVERTISERS.

GEO. P. ROWELL & CO'S

SELECT LIST OF LOCAL NEWSPAPERS.

An advertiser who spends upwards of $5,000 a year, and who invested less than $350 of it in this List, writes: "Your Select Local List paid me better last year THAN ALL THE OTHER ADVERTISING I DID."

IT IS NOT A CO-OPERATIVE LIST.
IT IS NOT A CHEAP LIST.
IT IS AN HONEST LIST.

The catalogue states exactly what the papers are: When the name of a paper is printed in FULL FACE TYPE it is in every instance the BEST.—When printed in CAPITALS it is the ONLY paper in the place. The list gives the population of every town and the circulation of every paper.

The rates charged for advertising are barely one-fifth the publishers' schedule. The price for single States ranges from $2 to $80. The price for one inch one month in the entire list is $625. The regular rates of the papers for the same space and time are $2,980.14. The list includes 952 newspapers of which 187 are issued DAILY and 765 WEEKLY. They are located in 788 different cities and towns, of which 26 are State Capitals, 363 places of over 5,000 population, and 468 County Seats. For copy of List and other information, address GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., 10 Spruce St., New York.

$30 per week can be made in any locality. Something entirely new for agents. $5 outfit free. G. W. INGRAHAM & CO., Boston, Mass.

THE GREAT BURLINGTON ROUTE.

CHICAGO BURLINGTON & QUINCY R.R.

PRINCIPAL LINE

THE SHORTEST, QUICKEST and BEST line to St. Joseph, Atchison, Topeka, Denver, Leadville, Dallas, Galveston and Houston.

And all points in Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri, Kansas, New Mexico, Arizona, Montana, Dakotas and Texas.

THE OLD FAVORITE FROM

CHICAGO or PEORIA to KANSAS CITY

This Route has no superior for Albert Lea, Minneapolis and St. Paul. Universally conceded to be the best equipped Railroad in the World for all classes of travel. Nationally reputed as being the finest Through Car Line.

All connections made in Union Depots.

Through Tickets via this Celebrated Line for sale at all offices in the U. S. and Canada.

Try it, and you will find traveling a luxury, instead of a fatiguing comfort.

All information about Rates of Fare, Sleeping Cars, etc., cheerfully given by

T. J. POTTER, 2d Vice Pres't & Gen'l Manager, Chicago, Ill.

PERCEVAL LOWELL, Gen. Pass. Agt., Chicago, Ill.

OMAHA DENVER LINCOLN CALIFORNIA

GUNS

OF EVERY KIND CHEAPER THAN EVER.

Rifles, Shot Guns, Revolvers, Ammunition, Fishing Tackle, Seines, Nets, Knives, Razors, Skates, Hammocks, etc.

Large Illustrated Catalogue FREE.

GREAT WESTERN GUN WORKS. PITTSBURGH, PA.

AGENTS

WANTED! Ladies and Gentlemen, to engage with us to sell several Useful Household Articles. Profits large. Labor is light. Exclusive territory given. No competition. Terms liberal. Circulars FREE. Address, Hewitt Manufact'g Co., Box 808, Pittsburgh, Pa.

A NEW CURE FOR

POTATO BUGS

AND ALL TROUBLESOME VERMIN.

Safe, sure, cleanly and cheap. Sample Package, Post Paid, 30 cts. AGENTS WANTED. Address, J. H. Johnston, Pittsburgh, Pa.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS of all kinds for sale very cheap. Catalogues free. Address, RICHARD HULL & CO., Box 868, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Grand Central.

You can always find at the Grand Central Supply

—OF—

HENRY McCLURE,

the largest and best selected STOCK OF

Groceries, Crockery,

Glassware, Lamps

IN TECUMSEH

as a Specialty!

Canned Fruit of all Kinds.

The fact, anything in the line can be bought at lowest figures.

HENRY McCLURE, Chicago Street, TECUMSEH, Mich.

ADRIAN BUSINESS CARDS.

IT WILL PAY YOU

To call and see the splendid assortment of

Carpets, Furniture, Crockery, Glassware and Lamps.

French China, and English Decorated Tea Sets at

STEBBINS' FURNITURE ROOMS.

Decorated Chamber Toilet Sets at Low Prices.

F. R. STEBBINS, ADRIAN, MICHIGAN.

FOR SALE.

SEVEN PURE BRED

POLAND CHINA SOW PIGS.

Bred from the herd of C. W. Jones, Richland, Kalamazoo Co., and A. C. Moir of Canton, Ill. Terms reasonable.

HENRY WILSON,

Residence 2½ miles west of Tecumseh.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

ATTORNEYS.

WILLIS MERRITT, ATTORNEY AT LAW, ADRIAN, MICH.

EDWIN B. WOOD, ATTORNEY AT LAW. Collections and Conveyancing. Office over W. & S. W. Anderson's Store, Tecumseh, Mich.

WILLIS MERRITT. W. W. FRAZER. Merritt & Frazer, Attorneys at Law Insurance Agents, Tecumseh, Mich.

C. A. & S. C. STACY, ATTORNEYS AT LAW. Office in HERALD Building.

W. R. WOODEN, Attorney and Counsellor at Law, Tecumseh, Mich.

P. S. McKINNON, Attorney at Law and Justice of the Peace. All business promptly attended to. Office over W. & S. W. Anderson's Store.

C. A. & J. A. STACY, Attorneys at Law and Solicitors in Chancery. Office in Underwood Block Adrian, Mich.

MILLARD, WEAVER & WEAVER, Attorneys at Law, Adrian, Mich. Office in Masonic Temple, (Rooms lately occupied by Michigan State Ins. Co.) Alfred L. Millard, Clement E. Weaver, Charles M. Weaver.

PHYSICIANS.

H. PETERS, M. D. Office and residence at Pottawattamie st. Special attention given to diseases of the Ear, Nose and Throat. All calls for the sick promptly attended to day and night.

T. M. WOODWARD, M. D., PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON. Office at Residence, Chicago street.

E. M. CONKLIN, M. D., PHYSICIAN & SURGEON. Office in Mills Block, Chicago St.

J. F. JENKINS, M. D., Office and residence second door west of Presbyterian Church, Chicago st. Professional calls promptly attended to, day or night.

R. B. HOUSE, M.D. O. Q. JONES, M.D. Drs. House and Jones, Physicians and Surgeons. Office over Lillley, Bidwell & Co's Bank Office hours. Dr. House, 1 to 3 P. M., and 7 to 8 P. M. Dr. Jones, 9 to 12 A. M., and 3 to 6 P. M. Prompt attention given to all calls in village or country, day or night.

HOTELS.

SINK'S HOTEL, (Formerly the Merchants) W. H. SINK, PROPRIETOR. RECENTLY REFITTED AND REFURNISHED. Corner Chicago and R. R. Sts.

MISCELLANEOUS.

TECUMSEH FOUNDRY & STEAM ENGINE WORKS. H. BREWER & CO., PROPRIETORS. Manufacturers of Steam Engines, Mill Gearing and General Machinery also manufacturers of the Tiffany Improved Patent Drain Tile Machine, Sword's Brick Machine, etc.

WM. DeMOTT, Tecumseh, Mich. Agent for The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co., of Milwaukee, Wis. Paid to policy holders since organization and held for them $46,138,353.20. Total premiums received, $39,631,785.47. Excess of interest receipts over all expenses of management, $536,567.73. Dividends to policy holders in each of the past nine years unequaled by those of any other company on similar policies. Assets, January 1, 1882, over $18,550,000. Surplus, over four per cent. reserve, $3,022,611.61.

A. W. SLAYTON, Undertaker and Embalmer; store on Chicago St.; residence on Pearl St. Night calls will receive prompt attention. No charge for use of hearse.

CENTRAL MEAT MARKET. J. W. COLE, PROPRIETOR. Dealer in Fresh and Salt Meats, Fish, Poultry, etc. Chicago Street.

RAILROAD STREET MARKET. JOSEPH W. WOODEN, PROPRIETOR. Dealer in all kinds of Fresh and Salt Meats, Fresh Fish, etc.

DAVE MACHAM, Fashionable Barber and Hair Dresser. Shop on Railroad Street.

CURRY & BOSTWICK, Fashionable Barbers and Hair Dressers, shop in Richard's block, Chicago street.

A. D. BROWN, Practical Piano Tuner, and agent for Hopkins Bros., Calder, Wheelock and Haines & Sons' Pianos. Also, American Organs Adrian, Mich. Orders left at Adamson's Bookstore in Tecumseh, will receive prompt attention.

J. D. SHOLES, Manufacturer and dealer in Saddles, Harness, Whips, Collars, Bridles, Halters, Brushes and Combs. Tecumseh, Mich.

CHAS. A. WALDRON, VETERINARY SURGEON. All orders promptly executed either by mail or in person. Office at the residence of A. K. Walldron, Tecumseh, Michigan.

SILVERS HOUSE, CLINTON, MICH., S. S. Erskine, Proprietor. Good sample rooms for commercial men. Rates reasonable.

CLOCK REPAIRING. I will call at your house and repair your Clock. Drop a postal in the office to my address. C. F. MORLEY, Tecumseh, Mich.

N. B.—All work warranted.

O. P. Bills, N. Church, Mrs. C. Bills, Mrs. M. H. Church.

O. P. BILLS & CO.,

BANKERS.

J. N. Satterlhwaite, Cashier.

Tecumseh, Mich.

Do a general Banking business. Receive deposits. Exchange bought on all points and our own drafts issued, available in all parts of the United States and Canada, and the principal cities of Europe.

Acme Creamer & Butter Cooler.

A combination by which every farmer can make Creamery Butter and keep it in a nice condition until marketed. Saves two-thirds the labor. No ice required. A strictly cold water Creamer. The Self Skimming Cans draw the cream from the top. The most complete arrangement for the Farmer and Dairyman in existence. Send for circular and price list.

McCALL & DUNCAN, Schoolcraft, Mich.

Call on SLAYTON & SON, local agents at Tecumseh Mich, and examine the ACME CREAMER.

N. W. AYER & SON

ADVERTISING AGENTS

TIMES BUILDING PHILADELPHIA

Cor. Chestnut and Eighth Sts.

Receive Advertisements for this Paper.

ESTIMATES at Lowest Cash Rates free for Newspaper Advertising.

Send 25c. for AYER & SON'S MANUAL.

MR. WM. WESTFALL,

Of Duchess Co., N. Y., 80 Years of Age. Suffered Continually for Many Years From Stone in the Bladder.

Great age and painful disease are a sad combination. Yet Mr. William Westfall, formerly of Rock City, Duchess Co., N. Y., now of Washington Hollow, in the same county, came to the office of Dr. David Kennedy, the eminent Physician and Surgeon of Rondout, N. Y., some time since, in a condition to excite the sympathy of the most cold-blooded and hard-hearted person in the world. We say he came—he was, rather, carried to the Doctor's office, for he was totally helpless, and bore the weight of 80 years besides. He had suffered long from Retention of Urine, and had all the symptoms of an aggravated case of calculus formations in the bladder. The usual instrumental examination revealed the presence in the bladder of a urinary calculus of uncommon size. Dr. Kennedy frankly told Mr. Westfall that, owing to his age and debility, an operation was out of the question, but that he could, by the prescription of "Kennedy's Favorite Remedy," together with local treatment, make him comfortable, and leave him to live out all his days. The outcome of this was that the patient enjoys good health to this day.

The Reasons Why

Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" is being extensively used by our people are as follows: It is a combination of vegetable alteratives. It is pleasant to the taste, adapted to both sexes and all ages, is effective in affording immediate relief in all cases of Kidney troubles, Liver Complaints, Constipation of the Bowels, and derangements peculiar to women. At the same time purifies the blood, thus giving tone and strength to the system debilitated by disease or age. "Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy," for sale by all druggists.

A DAILY EVENT!

The Receipt of Letters Like the Following:

COMMONWEALTH, Wis., July 20, '82.

DR. PENGELLY:—Please send me one more of your Zoa-Phora. The one bottle I have used has done wonders. I have been under doctors' care more or less for five years. Have suffered from Inflammation, Ulceration and Prolapsus Uteri, weakness and heavy head, in fact felt worn out, not able to sit up. I am feeling just splendid now, and shall continue Zoa-Phora until cured. MRS. N. W. HAMAR.

From Mrs. John Smith, No. 28 Wilt St., Fort Wayne, Ind.:

I have been suffering for over 16 years with spasmodic pain in my head, and general nervous debility. I had a severe attack of pain in my head two weeks ago, caused by weakness and nervous exhaustion. I really thought I should die. We had Zoa-Phora in the house, and my husband said we would test it to the uttermost. He gave it to me, according to directions, for several cases, and in less than two hours, to his great satisfaction, I had what he called immediate relief, and felt like going to sleep. I advise all ladies who suffer with nervous or sick headache, or any form of female weakness, to use your Zoa-Phora, for there is no medicine to compare with it.

May 15th, 1882.

JERSEYVILLE, Ill., April 25, '82.

DR. PENGELLY—Dear Sir:—I am more than pleased with the effects of your Zoa-Phora in our daughter's case. I am surprised to see how she has improved. She is gaining in weight and color; her nerves are steady, and the distress she suffered in her chest is entirely all gone. I firmly believe that Zoa-Phora is all that saved her. I am willing you should use my letter, for I am not afraid to tell what a wonderful cure your medicine is, and I would like all who suffer to try it.

Yours Respectfully,
MRS. SARAH RANDOLPH.

I shall always remember gratefully the good health your medicine has brought my daughter.
LEWIS RANDOLPH.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS

TRADE MARK. PURITY NOT QUANTITY. REGD. MAR. 21, 1882.

A TRUE TONIC.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS are a certain cure for all diseases requiring a complete tonic; especially Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Intermittent Fevers, Want of Appetite, Loss of Strength, Lack of Energy, etc. Enriches the blood, strengthens the muscles, and gives new life to the nerves. Acts like a charm on the digestive organs, removing all dyspeptic symptoms, such as tasting the food, Belching, Heat in the Stomach, Heartburn, etc. The only Iron Preparation that will not blacken the teeth or give headache. Sold by all Druggists at $1.00 a bottle.

BROWN CHEMICAL CO. Baltimore, Md.

See that all Iron Bitters are made by Brown Chemical Co. and have crossed red lines and trade mark on wrapper.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

DO Not Fail to send for our FALL Price-List for 1882. Free to any address upon application. Contains descriptions of everything required for Personal or Family use, with over 2,200 illustrations. We sell all goods at wholesale prices, in quantities to suit the purchaser. The only institution in America who make this their special business. Address

MONTGOMERY WARD & CO., 227 and 229 Wabash Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

The Absurdities of Fashion.

Old Mr. Thistlepod [illegible] broad stairway of marble and rosewood leading to the high-backed, Queen-Anne editorial rooms of the Hawkeye, the best advertising medium west of the Mississippi and the most popular paper in the world, now is the time to make up clubs, yesterday morning. His heavy tread fell noiselessly upon the Pompadour velvet carpets, and as he sank into a costly escritoire the perfumed light fell through the stained glass tint mieux at the facade of the managing editor's ebranlement de cuir touched the old man's face with a softened overmouldin, that seemed like an echo from the stately renaissance that looked down upon the walls. Carefully moving the elegant Louis Quinze poule-partout where the old man could not tip it over with his feet, if after his usual habit he should choose to rest them on the carved manvis sujet, the editor asked the honest tiller of the soil how was crops in the Flint river country.

"Crops?" echoed the man. "Well now I want to tell you about crops. Corn's all right, an' oats was better'n usual an' wheat just boomed, but you've got a crop of fools in Burlington that'll just lay over any other green thing that ever drawed the cows in the state of Iowa."

The managing editor was surprised, and said he had not heard such intemperate talk since the prohibition canvass. He added that there were some fools in Burlington, he had heard, but as they were not subscribers to the Hawkeye he didn't know much about them and felt very little interest in them.

"Why, the town's full of 'em," shouted Mr. Thistlepool, who labors under the impression that he can't be heard unless he talks very loud.

"How can you tell they're fools?" asked the society editor.

"By their clothes," waved the old man, and the society editor slid as far as he could under the table and then laid his face flat on his arm in order to write more easily. "By their clothes," repeated the sturdy old agriculturist. "'Y gaul, if a boy of mine 'uz to dress like young fellers I see in this town, I'd beat some sense into him with a neck yoke. Why it's redik'lus, I tell ye it's redik'lus. I see a young chap down in the countin' room with a pair o' trousers on him tighter'n candle moulds—I hope to die 'f I didn't think he'd stuck his laigs into a couple o' snake skins. 'N' his coat—by jockies, it wasn't hardly long enough to cover his suspenders; it wasn't. I swanny. 'N' it fit him closer than his undershirt and his shirt collar sawed his ears every time he turned his head, 'n' he wore his watch chain outside his coat. An' he wore a flat hat with a round top, about as big as a cooky. An' his shoes? P'inched, do ye know, p'inched like toothpicks, 'n' they was long as pickaxes. To see him skippin' around in that git up, lookin' more like a monkey nor a white man, 'y gaul it made me mad 'n' I swan I wanted to lick him. I declare I did. There's no sense in a Christian man makin' such an outlandish spectacle of himself, an' if I ever ketch my boy dressed up in any such a dog goned redik'lus, absurd, disgustin' fashion, I'll be gaul swizzled if I—hello, Jasper, are ye waitin' fur me?"

And saying good bye, Mr. Thistlepod accompanied his son down stairs to the wagon. As the old man turned to go, he did not in the least degree resemble the "young feller" down in the counting room. The big felt hat he wore had originally been of some color, but that was years ago. The blue merino band sewed on with black thread was too loose and a twine string tied tightly around it, caused the hat to bulge out above the band like the dome of a mosque.

The hickory skirt, fashioned at the collar in severe complicity with a big horn button, scorned a collar of any kind. The roomy brown vest had four white bone buttons and a black shawl pin and through the irregular reticulations of its much abraded back the solitary suspender showed through, resolutely clinging to a button aft and a nail forward. The baggy blue trousers swelled out below the flapping vest into an ample dome, strongly creased and fearfully wrinkled, breaking, as the old man walked, into awful billowy bulges and humps, while one long, deep, diagonal crease showed where the trusty suspender, hauled taut from port to starboard, held everything fast on the quarter. Further down they bagged in great curving billows at the knees and wrinkled behind; they were brief, and came to an untimely end about four inches before they reached the top of the shoe, and they ended abruptly; same size all the way down and sawed square off across the ends. The shoes were not exactly pointed at the toes, and when the old man's feet were not in them you couldn't bet which way the shoes were pointed. Jasper was attired in like manner as his father, only being a much taller man his trousers were correspondingly shorter. As they passed through the aesthetic decorations of the counting room, the man in the lean pants laughed sneeringly, and Mr. Thistlepod laughed tauntingly. The managing editor sank back in his ermine cushioned fleur de terre.

"I am afraid," he sighed wearily, "those two people are laughing at each others clothes."—Burdette.

Sidney Smith says "life is made up of trifles." We believe our friend Sidney is correct. The lives of some of our modern belles appear to be made up in this way—they are always trifling with some poor fellow's feelings.

When Hood wrote "There is a happiness that makes the heart afraid," he was probably thinking of one evening when he sat up very late with his girl, and did not know what minute the old man might come thumping down stairs.

A poor philosopher put blacking on that portion of his stocking which showed through the hole in his boot, and then said: "It is the care of a very great part of mankind to conceal their indigence from the rest."

It has become the fashion for some foolish young men to tattoo the name of their sweetheart on the right arm. It don't hurt the sweethearts any, but if one of those foolish youths should ever marry some other girl, would not there be fun?

Georgia Hospitality.

As I got beyond Rossville, in riding [illegible] it began to rain, and the way the thunder roared and lightning flashed and the flood-gates opened was appalling.

A farmer just over the Georgia line beckoned me in out of the wet, and there I stuck from 1 o'clock until dark. It was a steady storm, without a break for a minute, and as there were no signs of its clearing up before midnight the man said I had better stay all night. It looked that way to me, too, but it was a log house with only one room, and only two beds for the twelve of us. There were six children, some half-grown, the farmer and his wife, an old woman, a son-in-law, a young woman and myself. It looked as if some of us would have to stand up to sleep, and along about 9 o'clock I began to get nervous. Perhaps the man noticed it, for soon after that hour he said:

"Stranger, we'll step out and look at the weather."

We went to the barn, and after a look at the horse returned and found all the women in one bed and the light out.

"Shake, off and jump into t'other bed," whispered the man, and I followed directions. I was no sooner in than he followed. Then came the young man, then the old one, and then three boys lay across our feet, the upper one resting across my knees. It was impossible to move or turn, but in ten minutes all were snoring away as if that was their usual way of going to bed. I heard the old clock strike 11, 12, 1 and 2, and was finally dozing off when some one opened the door, walked in, and began to undress. The noise aroused the farmer, who carefully called out:

"Who's that?"

"Me!"

"Who's me?"

"Jim Baker."

"Oh, Jim, eh! Want to stay all night?"

"I reckon."

"Well, strip off and pile in between the fust two on the front—there's only four of us lying len'thwise!"

Jim piled in without another word being said, and was soon asleep, and as I was sliding silently out to finish the night on the floor, the farmer sleepily queried:

"That you, Tom? Pull off yer butes and slip in here—lots of room left!"—Detroit Free Press.

Telegraphic Secrets.

In Mr. Plum's interesting work on the military telegraph as used in the late rebellion are many interesting stories. Tapping the wires to steal the secrets of the enemy, as well as to send misleading dispatches, was a frequent performance on both sides, but the results of this kind of enterprise do not seem to have been often very large, the military commanders being too cautious. The success of Stoneman's raid into West Virginia, however, in September, 1862, is attributed to the information which that General's operator obtained while holding a Confederate telegraph office. Mr. Plum tells a droll story of a raw colonel, who set a guard over the operator at Smithland, on the Cumberland River, to prevent his "talking" by the wire, not aware that while apparently sending an authorized message the man could "talk" as much as he pleased with any office on that line and the guard would not know it. A superior officer at Paducah, informed of the state of affairs, was about to order the telegrapher's release, but Gen. Sherman interfered, declaring the precaution a very proper one. Presently Sherman, anxious to know if a division under Gen. Nelson had passed up the river, went to the Paducah office and the following conversation was opened at Smithland:

"Has the steamer Tarascon passed yet?"

"I'm under arrest and can't answer you."

"Gen. Sherman wants to know."

"I don't care if it's Halleck himself. I'm under arrest and can't talk about such things"

"Sherman asks. Do you know?"

"Of course I know."

"Sherman wants to know if General Nelson has passed up?"

"Tell Sherman to send a message, then."

"Do you know?"

"Certainly I do?"

"How far is the Col's. headquarters?"

"A mile and a-half."

Here Gen. Sherman interrupted the dialogue by asking the Paducah man: "What kind of a fellow is that operator?" "He seems to be good at obeying orders," was the answer. Sherman revoked the order of arrest and got the information he wanted.

Stimulants for Children.

Only the simplest and most nourishing edibles and drinks should be given to children. Even the mild stimulus of tea and coffee can hardly be wholesome for them, and the regular use of them while their glandular system is developing and forming may lay the foundation for dangerous hankerings, and more than one destructive appetite.

A Brooklyn teacher told of a little fellow who was killing himself with tobacco, and cried piteously when the doctor said he must give it up.

A minister applied to Dr. Gray for relief.

"I can cure you if you will give up tobacco."

Said the man of God, "Do the best you can for me, doctor; save me if you can, but I can't stop smoking."

Every day we meet smokers and chewers with the mark of death upon their faces. The late Siro Delmonico was warned by the best physician of New York that he must die or quit smoking. He quit when he died.

Those who use soothing syrups, feed children on confectionery and rich pastry, are little wiser. When we see how much tobacco, patent medicines and alcoholic drinks are used, we cannot but think of Carlyle's remark about most of the population being of the sort that Solomon says may be brayed in a mortar with a pestle without undergoing any change. Carlyle, writing in a greater hurry, perhaps, said we were twenty millions of people, mostly fools. Christian Advocate.

When are thieves like leopards? When they are "spotted."

The Sign Language.

Rev. Job Turner, a mute pastor from Staunton, Va., is entertaining the people of St. Louis with pantomime descriptions of Mexico and the Mexicans, and is said to be very successful in talking intelligibly with his whole body so as to convey a clear idea of the facts he observed and of his impressions in regard to them, humorous and otherwise. To do this by means of poses and gestures, unaided by conventional signs previously understood between him and those whom he is addressing, is a remarkable feat, and suggests the possibility of establishing a system of universal sign language, which could be read the world over through the eloquence of its motions. The crude sign language, which is the lingua franca of the plains from Alaska to Guatemala, is flagrantly inexpressive, but readily understood by those who have to interpret it for the first time, and might be developed into a much more satisfactory means of communication for all who have lost an arm or developed a game leg or a crick in the neck.

Do Not Be Deceived.

In these times of quack medicine advertisements everywhere, it is truly gratifying to find one remedy that is worthy of praise, and which really does as recommended. Electric Bitters we can vouch for as being a true and reliable remedy, and one that will do as recommended. They invariably cure Stomach and Liver Complaints, Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary difficulties. We know whereof we speak, and can readily say, give them a trial. Price fifty cents.

Sold by C. A. Wright & Co.

SENT FREE. HANOVER'S SPECIFIC. A Positive Cure for NERVOUS DEBILITY and SEMINAL WEAKNESS. Over FORTY THOUSAND PERFECT CURES. $1.00 per box, 6 boxes for $5.00, with cure guaranteed or money refunded. Send 15c postage for sealed box 100 pills. All PRIVATE DISEASES skillfully treated; CONSULTATION FREE. Send for question list. Am a regular graduate. 12 years successful practice. Address DR. M. W. HANOVER, cor. Clark St. and Calhoun Place, Chicago, Ills.

TRIAL.

FLOWERS.

At Mrs. Spaulding's green house may be found a large variety of plants and flowers for the decoration of churches, dinner and supper tables, and sick rooms. Especial attention given to floral designs, for weddings, funerals etc. We are prepared to execute orders for every kind of floral decorations with the choicest and freshest of flowers, in the most artistic manner on short notice, and at very reasonable prices. The green house is open daily to visitors.

Orders left at D. W. Clark's grocery will receive prompt attention.

MASON & HAMLIN ORGANS

are certainly best, having been so decreed at every Great World's Industrial Competition for Sixteen Years; no other American organs having been found equal at any. Also cheapest. Style 100; 3¾ octaves; sufficient compass and power, with best quality, for popular sacred and secular music in schools or families at only $22. One hundred and other styles at $30, $37, $66, $72, $78, $93, $108, $114 to $500 and up. The larger styles are wholly unrivaled by any other organs. Also for easy payments. New illustrated catalogue free.

PIANOS This Company have commenced the manufacture of Upright Grand Pianos, introducing important improvements; adding to power and beauty of tone and durability. Will not require tuning one-quarter as much as other pianos. Illustrated circulars free.

The MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN AND PIANO CO., 154 Tremont St., Boston; 46 E. 14th St., New York; 149 Wabash Ave., Chicago.

ESTATE OF MARY OWEN.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, s.s. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate Office in the City of Adrian, on Monday, the 9th day of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Mary Owen, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Henry Owen, executor of the last will and testament of said deceased, alleging that he has paid all the debts of deceased, and the legacies provided for in said last will, other than those to himself, and also the expenses of administration of said estate, and is ready to file his final account as such executor, and asks that said account may be allowed, and the residue of the assets of said estate, also the real estate of said deceased may be assigned to petitioner according to the provisions of said will and for his discharge.

Thereupon it is ordered, that Monday, the 6th day of November next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.

(A True Copy.)
NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate. oct12-w3

COMMISSIONERS' NOTICE.

IN the matter of the estate of Ira Stewart, deceased.

The undersigned having been appointed by the Judge of Probate for the County of Lenawee, Michigan, commissioners to receive, examine and adjust all claims and demands against the estate of Ira Stewart, late of the township of Macon, Lenawee county, Michigan, deceased, hereby give notice that we will meet for that purpose at the office of Charles Burridge, in the village of Tecumseh, Lenawee county, Michigan, on the 10th day of November 1882, and on the 8th day of April 1883, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of each of said days, and that six months from the 4th day of October, 1882, are allowed by the said court for the creditors of said estate to present their said claims for examination and adjustment.

Dated Oct. 10th, 1882.

CHARLES BURRIDGE,
PETER S. McKINNON,
Commissioners.

oct12

ESTATE OF SUSAN GILMORE.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office, in the City of Adrian, on Monday, the 16th day of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Susan Gilmore, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified of Elizabeth Davidson, praying that administration of said estate may be granted to Francisco Davidson, or some other suitable person.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the 13th day of November next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of said Petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.

(A True Copy.)
A. H. BRIGGS, Probate Register. oct19

ESTATE OF ABNER STANLEY.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, s.s. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, on Tuesday, the 3d day of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present, Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Abner Stanley, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified of Gideon D. Perry, administrator of said estate praying for license to sell the real estate of said deceased in said petition described, for reasons therein set forth.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the 6th day of November next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said petition and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.

(A True Copy.)
NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate. oct5

ESTATE OF ASA GILMORE.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, s.s. At a session of the Probate Court for the county of Lenawee, holden at the Probate Office in the city of Adrian, on Monday, the 2d day of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present, Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Asa Gilmore, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Edwin S. Wood, administrator De Bonis non with the will annexed of the estate of said deceased alleging, among other things, that all the debts of deceased and expenses of administration have been paid, and that he is ready to file his final account as such administrator and asks that the same may be allowed, and for an assignment and distribution of the residue of said estate to the persons entitled thereto and for his discharge.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the 30th day of October A.D., 1882, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.

(A True Copy.)
NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate. Oct5

ESTATE OF IRA STEWART.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, s.s. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate Office in the city of Adrian on Monday, the 2nd day of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Ira Stewart, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, of Homer L. Stewart and Charles D. Stewart, executors of the last will and testament of said deceased, and Susan Stewart, widow of said deceased, praying for the yearly allowance of one hundred and fifty dollars for the support of said widow during her natural life.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the 6th day of November next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing. (A True Copy.)

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.
A. H. BRIGGS, Probate Register. oct12-w3

ELECTION NOTICE.

To the qualified electors of the County of Lenawee, State of Michigan:

You are hereby notified that at the General Election to be held in said county and State aforesaid, on Tuesday, the seventh day of November, A. D. 1882, the matter contained and specified in the subjoined resolutions, adopted by the Board of Supervisors of said county, at a session held in the City of Adrian, in said county, on the 23d day of March, A. D. 1882, will be submitted to the electors of said township, in accordance with the requirements of said resolutions:

RESOLVED, That the question of raising a tax upon the taxable property of Lenawee County, for the sum not to exceed fifty thousand dollars (unless by individual enterprise), the said sum to be raised in three annual installments, as follows: $16,667 to be raised in the year 1883; $16,667 to be raised in the year 1884; $16 667 to be raised in the year 1885, for the purpose of building a Court House in this county, be submitted to the electors of the several wards and townships of the county, at the next general election, to be held on Tuesday, the seventh day of November, 1882; and that those voting on such question shall vote by ballot, and those voting in favor of raising said tax, shall have written or printed, or partly written and partly printed on the ballot, "For the tax." and those voting against said tax, shall in like manner, have written or printed, or partly written and partly printed the words, "Against the tax." And be it further RESOLVED, That the County Clerk shall transmit to each Township Clerk and City Recorde of the City of Adrian, a copy of these resolutions, on or before the first day of September next, who, upon receipt of said notice, shall give at least thirty days notice to the electors of their township and city of the pendency of said vote, by posting up copies of these resolutions in at least three of the most public places in their respective wards and townships. And the county clerk shall cause the same to be published in at least one newspaper published in said county, for at least three successive weeks previous to such vote, and stating the day when the proposition will be submitted to the electors of the county, in their respective townships and wards, and stating therein that the submission of this proposition has been designated by at least a two-thirds vote of this Board.

RESOLVED, That the contract for the removal of the building now used for county offices, the erection and completion of said Court House, ready for occupancy, and the grading of the grounds after the erection and completion of the same, shall in no case be let for any sum exceeding the above mentioned $50,000. And be it further

RESOLVED, That the vote upon this question shall be taken as required by law, at the general election on Tuesday, the seventh day of November A. D. 1882, and that the votes shall be canvassed by the same officers and in the same manner as required by such general election, and the votes shall be certified by them and transmitted to the county clerk, and by him to the Board of Supervisors at their next meeting, as required by law, and if it shall appear by such vote that a majority of such electors, voting on such resolution, voted in favor of raising said tax, then the same shall be levied in the manner above stated for the use above mentioned, and subject to the look of of the Board of Supervisors of Lenawee County.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, } ss.
COUNTY OF LENAWEE, }

I, Thomas M. Hunter, clerk of said County of Lenawee, do hereby certify that the above and foregoing is a true and compared copy of certain resolutions adopted by the Board of Supervisors of said county, which said resolutions were adopted by the following vote of said Board: Yeas 18; nays 6; two-thirds of all the Supervisors elect voting in the affirmative. Done at a session of said board of Supervisors held in the City of Adrian, on the 23d day of March, A. D. 1882.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of said county, at the City of Adrian, this first day of August, A. D. 1882.

[SEAL.] THOMAS M. HUNTER, County Clerk.

Dated, October 10, A. D. 1882.

[Signed] THOMAS M. HUNTER, County Clerk.
oct12-w4

WORTH SENDING FOR

Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, has just published a book on "Diseases of the Lungs and how they can be cured," which is offered Free, postpaid, to all applicants. It contains valuable information for all who suppose themselves afflicted with, or liable to, any disease of the throat and lungs. Address Dr. J. H. SCHENCK & SON, 600 Arch St., Phila., Pa. P. O. Box 2353.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

October 16th.

Mr. Dewey presented a petition asking authority to change assessment on drain No.7, in township of Cambridge. Referred.

The report of a special committee, recommending the taking up of about sixty rods of unused highway in sections 11 and 12, Cambridge, was accepted and adopted.

The report of the county superintendents of the poor was read by H. B. Combs and referred to committee.

A committee was appointed to consider the report of the prosecuting attorney, and to ascertain the disposition of fines imposed.

Adjourned.

October 17th.

The committee on drains made two reports.

Mr. Bixby, from the committee on equalization, presented a report of the equalized value of the townships and wards. The report was made the special order for Wednesday afternoon.

Took a recess until 1:30 p. m.

Afternoon Session.—No business being before the board it adjourned until Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock.

October 18th.

On motion of Mr. Luke the claim of James Holloway was taken from the table, and the clerk authorized to draw his order in favor of Holloway on Bay drain for $8.87, and Clark Mills for $4.37.

The judiciary committee made a report submitting the opinion of the prosecuting attorney, that where the county drain commissioner has commenced and partly constructed a drain the town commissioner has not authority to levy a tax and complete it.

Accepted and adopted.

Mr. Cogswell, from the committee on county poor, insane accounts and county farm, reported the poor house records, etc., in good order, and recommended that the board instruct the superintendents of the poor to construct a horse barn.

Accepted and adopted.

The committee on claims made a report which was adopted.

The committee on sheriff's accounts reported them correct and recommended payment.

Adopted.

The committee on ways and means reported the amount necessary to be raised for state and county tax for the ensuing year to be $51,946 68.

Adopted.

By resolution the county treasurer was authorized to borrow $5,000 for 30 days, at the lowest possible rate of interest.

The drain committee recommended the spreading of drain taxes on sundry drains laid out by special drain commissioners.

The board proceeded to the election of a superintendent of the poor for the term of three years. Henry C. Conkling, the present incumbent, was re-elected. Mr. Conkling received 15 votes, J. W. Judson 4, Z. Cook 4, A. Richard and Wm. T. Lawrence one each.

The matter of the appointment of a county drain commissioner was made the special order for tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Board adjourned until afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Afternoon Session.—The hour having arrived for the special order, viz., the consideration of the report of the committee on equalization, Mr. Shepherd moved that the report be adopted.

The report added 2 per cent. to each of the four wards of the city, and to the towns of Cambridge and Fairfield, added 12 per cent. to Ogden, 5 per cent. to Ridgeway, 8 per cent. to Riga, 5 per cent. to Rome, and 13 per cent. to Woodstock. It reduced Blissfield 2 per cent., Clinton 10, Deerfield 12, Dover 2, Franklin 2, Hudson 4, Macon 2, Madison 6, Medina 2, Palmyra 2, Rasin 5, Ridgeway 1, Rollin 2, Seneca 2, and Tecumseh 8 per cent. The total of real and personal as equalized is $27,593,982.

Mr. Dreher moved as an amendment, that the equalized value of the real estate of Riga be reduced five per cent., leaving it raised three per cent. Carried. Yeas 14, nays 12, as follows:

Yeas — Messrs. Wagner, Burger, Cogswell, Dewey, Bradner, Swaney, Colegrove, Lake, Hill, Lowe, Dreher, Harkness, Stoddard, Parsons—14.

Nays—Messrs Bixby, Warren, Baker, Manning, Shepherd, Pratt, Love, Harrington, Bradish, Holdridge, Wilson, James.—12

Mr. Harkness moved that the equalized valuation of the real estate of Rollin be reduced five per cent. Lost—yeas, 1; nays, 25.

Mr. Parsons moved that three per cent. be deducted from the equalized valuation of Woodstock. Lost—yeas, 11; nays, 15.

Yeas — Messrs. Baker, Cogswell, Dewey, Bradner, Manning, Swaney, Hill, Dreher, Stoddard, Wilson, Parsons—11.

Nays — Messrs. Wagener, Barger, Bixby, Warren, Shepherd, Pratt, Love, Harrington, Bradish, Colegrove, Luke, Holdridge, Lowe, Harkness, James—15.

A special committee to examine the report of the prosecuting attorney reported in regard to the fines imposed. Accepted and adopted.

Adjourned until to morrow morning at nine o'clock.

October 20th.

The board met this morning for the last time during the session. The judiciary committee asked further time to consider the question of allowing the judge of probate extra pay for clerk hire, and accordingly a motion to adopt a resolution allowing such extra pay was lost, the vote standing 12 to 12.

The report of the committee on printing was accepted and adopted.—It recommends letting the contract to the Press, which was the only bidder.

The committee on claims reported back the claim of Dr. C. E. Howland for $8, which was allowed.

The report of the committee on apportionment and assessment rolls was adopted.

Adjourned until Tuesday, Dec. 26.

Important to Travelers.

Special Inducements are offered you by the BURLINGTON ROUTE. It will pay you to read their advertisement to be found elsewhere in this issue.

LETTER LIST.

Tecumseh.

Remaining uncalled for in the Post-Office at Tecumseh, Oct. 26, 1882.

Bachtold, Miss Kath	Southard Frank
Cook, Miss Susie	Southard, Mr. C. F.
Calvin, Miss Malissa	Ward, Miss Annie
Roberts, Lewis N.	Washburn, Mr. Charley

Persons calling for letters in the above list will please say "Advertised."

FRED ROSACRANS, P.M.

MARRIED.

KEMP—LANGHORN—In Tecumseh, Oct. 18, '82, by Rev. G. Pyles, Mr. John H. Kemp and Miss Harriet Langhorn, both of Macon.

GENERAL MARKETS.

CHICAGO.

WHEAT.—Higher: October, 95¾@96c; Nov., 97⅝@98c; the year, 85⅞@86c. CORN.—Higher; October, 71⅛@71¼c; November, 70⅝@70⅞c; the year, 64⅛@64½c. OATS.—Higher; October, 34½@35c; November, 34⅛@34¼c; the year, 31½@32½c. RYE.—Firm; October, 59½@60c; the year, 58½c.

PROVISIONS.—Mess Pork higher: Oct., $20.20@20.25; Nov., $20.47½@20.60; the year, $19.10@19.12½. Lard—Steady; October sold at $12.67½@12.75; Nov., $12.10@12.15; the year, $11.30@11.42½.

CATTLE.—Market firm. We quote:

Fancy heavy export steers	$6.50@6.75
Choice fat steers	6.00@6.40
Good do.	5.40@5.90
Medium grade steers	4.25@5.35
Fair to medium steers	3.85@4.50

HOGS.—Market firm. Sales ranged from $7.35@7.85 for light packing and shipping; $7.60@8.20 for heavy packing, and from $7.50@7.75 for fair to choice smooth heavy shipping lots.

BUTTER.—Steady and firm. We quote: Choice to Fancy Creamery at 34@36c ⅌ lb; Dairy at 24@29; common to fair do. 18@22c; Ladle-packed, 24@26c; packing stock at 13@15c; Grass

DETROIT.

WHEAT.—Opened Oct. 2 Oct., $1.10 1.10⅛; Nov. Higher 1.11½; Dec., $1.12½@1.13. Quiet: Mixed Western Spot, $1.

CINCINNATI.

FLOUR.—Market quiet: Family, $4.50@4.70. WHEAT—Firm: No. 2 Red Winter, $1.00@1.01. CORN.—Lower: No. 2 Mixed, 74c. OATS.—Higher: No. 2 Mixed, 38c. RYE.—Quiet: No. 2 Fall, 64½c. PROVISIONS—Pork dull at $25.00. Lard quiet at $12.75.—Bulk Meats firm: Clear sides $10.00@15.00.—Bacon dull: Clear sides $17.25.

MILWAUKEE.

WHEAT.—Higher: October, 95c; November, 96½c; December, 97½c; No. 3, 82c. CORN.—Higher at 59c for No. 3. OATS.—Firm: No. 2 White, 35c. RYE.—Higher: 68c No. 1. BARLEY.—Lower at 80c for No. 2.

ST. LOUIS.

WHEAT.—Higher: No. 2 Red Oct., 94⅝@95c; November, 94⅞@95c; December, 96½c. CORN.—Lower: October, 67⅞@68c; Nov., 59⅞@60c; December, 54½@55½c. OATS—Lower: Oct., 33@33½c; Nov., 32⅝@32¾c; the year 31½@32c. RYE—Higher at 56½c.—BARLEY.—Steady at 65@66c. PROVISIONS.—Pork higher at $23.50. Dry Salt Meats quiet at $10.37½, 15.00, 15.50. Bacon steady at $11.00, 16.12, 17.12½. Lard higher: $12.[illegible]. HOGS—Higher: Yorkers, $7.00@7.40; butchers' to best heavy, $7.50@7.60.

BALTIMORE.

FLOUR.—Quiet: Western Superfine, $3.50@4.00; do. extra, $4.25@4.75; Family, $4.87@6.00. WHEAT—Western lower: No. 2 Winter, Red Spot and Oct., $1.07⅞@1.08; Nov., $1.08⅛@1.08¼; December, $1.10⅛@1.10¼. CORN—Western lower: Mixed Spot and October, 75@75½c; November, 77@77½c. OATS—Lower: Western White, 45@47c; Mixed do. 42@44. RYE—Higher at 67@68c.

BOSTON.

WOOL.—Firm; fine fleeces, 41@44c; Michigan extra fleeces, 43@46c; washed wools, 17@46c; considerable western unwashed Ins 24c; for low and coarse 25@32½c; fine and medium and Missouri 28@32c; for fine medium grades combing delaine fleeces, 44@49c; pulled wools, 27@50c; extra pulled, 40@45c.

TECUMSEH MARKET.

Corrected Every Thursday Morning.

Apples, green ⅌ bushel	2 00 @	2 25
Apples, dried ⅌ lb	@	09
Butter ⅌ lb	20 @	24
Barley ⅌ bushel	60 @	75
Beans ⅌ bushel	1 75 @	2 00
Buckwheat ⅌ bushel	@	1 50
Buckwheat Flour ⅌ hundred	@	4 50
Beef—dressed ⅌ hundred	8 00 @	9 00
Beef Hides	5 @	6
Calf skins ⅌ lb	8 @	10
Corn in ear	20 @	40
Corn—shelled ⅌ bushel	50 @	55
Clover Seed	4 50 @	5 00
Chickens—dressed	10 @	12
Eggs ⅌ doz	@	20
Flour ⅌ barrel	5 50 @	6 25
Hogs—dressed, ⅌ cwt	7 50 @	7 [illegible]
Hogs—live ⅌ cwt	4 75 @	5 50
Hay ⅌ ton	7 00 @	9 00
Honey ⅌ lb	@	15
Hops ⅌ lb	@	14
Lard ⅌ lb	@	12
Oats ⅌ bushel	33 @	35
Onions ⅌ bushel	@	40
Potatoes ⅌ bushel	40 @	45
Salt ⅌ barrel	@	1 20
Sheep Pelts	50 @	1 00
Timothy seed ⅌ bushel	@	2 50
Turkeys—dressed ⅌ lb	@	10
Wood ⅌ cord	4 00 @	4 50
Wheat White ⅌ bushel	95 @	1 00
Wheat Red ⅌ bushel	95 @	1 00
Wool	30 @	33

C. L. Mainstia, one of the most talented scenic artists in the United States, died Friday in Chicago of consumption and will be buried at Stoughton, Wisconsin.

A special chest took from the residence of Thomas A. Sharpe, at Indianapolis, diamonds valued at $1,500 or more. Mr. Sharpe followed the fellow and fired at him.

W. W. Corcoran and other citizens of Washington have incorporated an association with a capital of $100,000 to erect a monument to the memory of Thomas Jefferson.

Hog cholera of a new and virulent type has broken out near Iowa City, where Jacob Seller has lost over four hundred head. The affected animals seem almost rotten from cancerous sores.

Rochester dispatches announce the death of E. Peshine Smith, recently chief law officer of the Japanese government, and of Joseph Medbery, one of the originators of the Western Union Telegraph company.

The Republicans lost seven Congressmen in Ohio and gained two in West Virginia. So the tally of members elected to the next House stands now seventeen Republicans and fifteen Democrats.

The owner of the hamlet of Montauk, on Long Island, declined an offer of $100,000 for a railroad right of way to the harbor, where it was proposed to establish a line of fast steamships to Europe.

Marie Prescott, the actress, who brought suit in New York against the president of a news company for circulating a dramatic paper containing libels upon her reputation, was awarded $12,500 damages.

During a storm Sunday night at Fairfield, Iowa, wild ducks gathered around the electric lights in the tower and put out all but one, breaking several globes. Nearly two hundred dead birds were picked up in three hours.

GREAT

DRESS GOODS SALE

—AT—

GAINSLEY & CO'S

We place on sale to-day, Oct. 28th, 1882

One case Wiltshire Suitings at 5c a yard. Make splendid School Suits, much warmer and better than Prints.

Beautiful Dress Flannels only 30c a yard.

One case Alpaca, good variety of shades, a Big Bargain at 10c a yard.

Extra Heavy Reversible Suitings at 12c a yard.

Elegant Brocades at 20 and 22c a yard. In all the fashionable shades.

Extraordinary Bargains in Black and Colored Cashmers 23, 45, 50, 60, 75 and 95c a yard.

Don't fail to see those Ottoman Cords and Suitings, splendid All Wool soft finish Fabrics.

Special Drives Black and Colorored Silks, Satins, Rhademas, Moir Silks. Satin Brocades, and Ottoman Cords.

Ladies Cloth, Cloakings, Waterproofs, Jeans, Cassimere and Flannels. Very Cheap.

Comforters and Blankets Extremely low in price.

Shawls in Wool, Beaver, Paisley, Cashimere and Indias.

Cloaks, Dolmans and Circulars from 3.50 to $25.

Gloves, Hosiery, Lace Goods, Fichues, Ties and and Hdkf's. A Beautiful Variety.

Ladies' Misses, Children's and Gent's Underwear in Merino and all Wool. A large assortment.

Sheetings, Prints, Ginghams, Bleeched Muslins, Crashes, Table Damasks, Tickings, Denims and Shirtings. Remarkable Cheap.

This day we open One Hundred dozen Ladies and Children's all Wool, Home Knit Hose at actual cost. Don't fail to see them as we sell them much cheaper than you can buy the yarn in them 50 Pieces Splendid Ginghams, would be good value at 10c. Only 7 1-2c a yard.

We have given only a few of the many Bargains to be found throughout our entire Stock. Not Bargains on Paper, BUT REAL GENUINE BARGAINS, such as will Satisfy the closest Buyers, that we mean what we say.

Inspection is most Respectfully Solicited.

GAINSLEY & CO.

ESTATE OF JERUSHA MITCHELL.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee—ss.

At a session of the Probate Court for the county of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office in the city of Adrian, on Monday, the 23d day of October in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present, Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Jerusha Mitchell deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Frederick B. Wood, administrator of said estate, alleging that he has paid the debts of said deceased and the expenses of administration thus far incurred, and praying for the allowance of his final account, for an assignment and distribution of the residue of said estate to and among the persons entitled thereto and for his discharge.

Thereupon it is ordered That Monday, the 20th day of November next at ten o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.

(A True Copy.)

A. H. BRIGGS, Probate Register. oct26

ESTATE OF ESTHER JONES.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.

At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian on Monday, the 23d day of October in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present, Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Esther Jones, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Benjamin L. Baxter, and Edwin B. Wood, executors of the last will and testament of said deceased, praying for license to sell real estate of said deceased in said petition described for reasons therein set forth.

Thereupon it is ordered, that Monday, the 27th day of November next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing. (A True Copy.)

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.

A. H. BRIGGS, Probate Register. oct26

ESTATE OF EVELINA M. DOTY.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.

At a session of the Probate Court for the county of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office in the city of Adrian, on Monday, the 23d day of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present, Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Evelina M. Doty, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Edwin B. Wood, administrator de bonis non with the will annexed, praying for the allowance of his final account, for an assignment and distribution of the residue of said estate and for his discharge.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the 20th day of November next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing. (A True Copy.)

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.

A. H. BRIGGS, Probate Register. oct26

The Purest and Best Medicine ever Made.

A combination of Hops, Buchu, Mandrake and Dandelion, with all the best and most active curative properties of all other Bitters, makes the greatest Blood Purifier, Liver Regulator, and Life and Health Restoring Agent on earth.

No disease can possibly long exist where Hop Bitters are used, so varied and perfect are their operations.

They give new life and vigor to the aged and infirm.

To all whose employments cause irregularity of the bowels or urinary organs, or who require an Appetizer, Tonic and mild Stimulant, Hop Bitters are invaluable, without intoxicating.

No matter what your feelings or symptoms are what the disease or ailment is use Hop Bitters. Don't wait until you are sick but if you only feel bad or miserable, use them at once. It may save your life. It has saved hundreds.

$500 will be paid for a case they will not cure or help. Do not suffer. Urge others to suffer, but use and urge them to use Hop Bitters.

Remember, Hop Bitters is not a vile, drugged drinken nostrum, but the Purest and Best Medicine ever Made; the "INVALIDS FRIEND and HOPE" and no person or family should be without them.

D.T.C. is an absolute and irresistible cure for drunkenness, use of opium, tobacco and narcotics. All sold by druggists. Send for Circular. Hop Bitters Mfg. Co., Rochester, N.Y. and Toronto, Ont.

Great Average Off Sale at

Clark's Block, Clinton,

COMMENCING TUESDAY, OCT. 24th, 1882.

$5,000 worth Dry Goods

All purchased within a year, including a full line of Fall and Winter Goods bought before deciding to go out of business.

$2,000 Worth of GROCERIES.

$1,000 worth of Crockery, Glass, Stone and China Ware. Good assortment of Knives, Forks, Spoons and Pocket Cutlery, Tobacco, Etc.

We have decided to go out of business

And our stock must be closed out before Jan. 1, '83, as our lease expires at that time.

Remember our stock is new and fresh.

N. B.—All accounts must be settled at once. Goods will be sold for cash or satisfactory notes.

John H. Miller & Co.

Clinton, Oct. 19th, 1882.

1882. 1883

FOR DURABILITY,

BUY THE

ANDERSON GREGG

AT MARSDEN'S

WANTED!

All who intend buying a SEWING MACHINE to know that they can save money by buying at the

TECUMSEH SEWING MACHINE ROOMS

The largest stock and best assortment in the State.

SOLD ON TERMS TO SUIT ALL.

Good Machines from

$10.00 and UPWARDS

Use none but LANDGRAF'S

CACHALOT OIL.

Trade established since 1868.

CINCINNATI WEEKLY TIMES

Eight large pages—56 columns—and Only Cost One Dollar a Year, and the choice of a beautiful picture or useful book to every subscriber. The oldest, brightest, largest, cheapest, and best weekly paper published. It is more generally taken the country over because it is the best, and it is made the best because it has the largest circulation, and therefore the income to justify the necessary outlay. It uses no coaxed paper to get subscribers for, and is not given to agents at of extraordinary liberality. We want Agents. Specimen copy free. Address, THE WEEKLY TIMES, 230 Walnut St., Cincinnati.

THE CINCINNATI TIMES-STAR

Is the best and cheapest daily paper published in the West. Eight pages—48 columns—and retails for dollars a year, or 12 cents a week. The Daily Times-Star is the only eight page paper in the city published at this price. It is independent in politics, but aims to be fair in everything, and just to all parties, individuals, sections, and nationalities. If you want all the news attractively and honestly presented subscribe for it. The largest circulation of any paper published in Cincinnati. The postmaster will receive your subscription if there is no agent in your place.

SEE THE NEW

Birthday Cards

AT THE HERALD OFFICE.

A BARGAIN.

Contemplating a change in business, I now offer for sale my MEAT MARKET, complete, lease of location, machinery, consisting of Steam Sausage Cutter, Engine, Meat Blocks, Refrigerator, Slaughter Houses, etc., in all one of the most complete markets in Southern Michigan. Also my HOUSE AND LOT on Kilbuck street, ice house and ice business, horses, wagons, sleighs, etc. For terms and particulars inquire of J. W. COLE.

ONLY $20

for this style of PHILADELPHIA SINGER. Equal to any Singer in the market. Remember, we send it to be examined before you pay for it. This is the same style other companies retail for $50. All Machines warranted for 5 years. Send for Illustrated Circular and Testimonials. Address CHARLES A. WOOD & CO., 17 N. Tenth St., Philadelphia, Pa.

THIS PAPER may be found on file at GEO. P. ROWELL & CO'S NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING BUREAU (10 Spruce Street), where advertising contracts may be made for it in NEW YORK.

The Tecumseh Herald.

VOL. XXXIII. NO. 25 — TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 2, 1882. — WHOLE NO. 1663

500 Men and Teams

The men are wanted by A. W. Slayton to buy some of his large stock of Bureaus, Bedsteads, Tables, Stands, Washstands, Safes, and in fact all kinds of furniture.

W A N T E D

Yes, we want to buy hay, but not less than 8 or 10 tons at a place and not more than 4 miles from Britton station. I also want to buy 60,000 feet of 3 inch Ash plank, at Tecumseh or Britton. The

Toledo and Milwaukee R. R.

Is going to be built at once, and people from all sections of the country can come by rail and buy their furniture and undertaking of me

TECUMSEH, MICH.

Is where my store and storehouses are located. I carry the largest stock of furniture and sell the cheapest. A. W. SLAYTON.

CROWN JEWEL, King of Base Burners. | JEWEL OAK, Handsomest round stove in the world.

CALL AND SEE THE LARGEST AND BEST ASSORTED

LINE OF STOVES

Ever shown in Southern Michigan, and at prices TOO LOW TO MENTION.

Whitenack, Bordine & Co.

The Newest Designs

CLOAKS, PALETOTS AND DOLMANS.

Perfect Fitting,
Tastefully Trimmed
and Carefully Made.

Ready Made & to Measure

A. B. COTTON,

New Clothing,
New Cloths,
New Hats & Caps.

We are in daily receipt of new and seasonable goods, and can now show the most complete line in every department to be found in the market.

Our facilities for furnishing anything needed by boy or man are unequaled, and our prices are acknowledged on all hands to be the lowest. We invite an early inspection.

STRONG & McNAIR.

AROUND THE COUNTY.

FRANKLIN.

The Ladies' Foreign Missionary Society met this week Wednesday at the residence of Mrs. Moses Dibble.

The proprietor at Putnam's landing, Sand lake, has just completed the foundation for a three story hotel to be erected next season. Two sides of the building, each 60 feet long will face the lake.

At the present writing, Mrs. Cyrus Cole, who for a long time has been a victim to consumption, is reported dying.

W. J. Hampton has taken the contract for constructing three town bridges near J. Bixby's, Robt. Kerr's and J. B. Fried's respectively. Workmen were engaged on the one near Mr. Fried's, and that road was impassable last Tuesday and Wednesday.

Viola B. Sheffield will close a successful term of school in the Paragon district next Saturday. She has been employed in Dist. No. 15, Adrian, for next winter's term.

Bert Smith moves this week into the house vacated by Andrew Wilson, Jr., and Frank Mangus into that by D. F. Learnard.

The Congregational social will be held this, Thursday, afternoon and evening, at the residence of James Hunter.

Mr. and Mrs. Fremont Hunter, of Chesterton, Ind., are visiting friends here. Mr. H. is telegraph operator at Chesterton.

We neglected to announce last week that at a special meeting held in Dist. No. 1, Oct. 20, $1,000 was voted to be raised, in two equal annual installments, for the purpose of building a school house in said district next summer. The meeting was adjourned until Friday evening, Nov. 3, at which time a building committee will be appointed.

The following pupils in Dist. No. 1, have neither been absent nor tardy for the month ending Oct. 27: Rena and Leon Allen, Josephine Crittenden, Charles, Blanche, and Grace D. Morseman, Alma and Alton F. Whelan, Alta Dibble, Carl, Lewell and Clarence Wisner.

RIDGEWAY.

Mr. Miller's brother Nelson left Tuesday for his home in California.

Mrs. G. W. Clark has been visiting a daughter at Constantine, a son at Elkhart, and other relatives at Hillsdale, returning from the latter place with her husband on Tuesday.

Charles Underwood raised a barn Wednesday. He will have a very attractive and convenient home when he has finished building.

Politics here are very quiet on account of the great interest taken in the new railroad line.

Everybody's faith was very strong until the Detroit papers stated that Vanderbilt had secured a controlling interest in the Nickel Plate. We don't know that this has anything to do with building the T. & M. line, but the chances are that it will; at least it is probable that if the line is built Vanderbilt will control it. As far as this locality, and east of here, are concerned even this result would only make the road more profitable to us as it would then be a rank competitor with the Wabash.

Some remarks made last Sabbath morning need explanation or apology.

Perhaps the worst mud holes between Lake Erie and Chicago are along P. R. Adams' land, on the turnpike. Who is to blame for such a state of affairs?

We appreciate the way the mail is now carried from Tecumseh, this way around instead of the way it was first carried.

The old mare, "Old Kate," which has been Joshua Waring's family pet for thirty-three years died last week. On account of which we beg leave to add:

Old Kate is dead, that good old nag,
We ne'er shall see her more;
She's been with us since '49,
And never died before.

When in her prime, she'd make good time,
In every race she'd be,
So kind and true to pull us through,
And make her mile in three.

Before the drag she'd never lag,
Before the plow the same;
Of honest pull, she was chuck full,
She ne'er was sick or lame.

A mound shall mark her resting place,
Where verdant grasses shoot,
And in the day of Gabriel's trump,
We hope she'll hear the toot.

BRITTON.

Ed. Pilbeam laid off Monday. Too rich to work—perhaps a new baby.

Jack, the section boss, has been promoted to a position in the yards at Detroit.

The track master says he has orders to move the tank to the other side of the well. The T. & M. line strikes it where it is.

Chas. DuBois seems very unfortunate. A short time since he had two cattle killed by the cars, and last week his horses got into the road and were driven down the track into the wire fence and were badly cut by it—one nearly killed.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS.

Below is a list of transfers of Real Estate in Lenawee County for the week ending Oct. 28, 1882:

FRANKLIN.

Sylvester Kemp to Charlie Kemp; land on sec. 33. $2,200.

FAIRFIELD.

W G Eddy to Charity D Robb; land in Jasper village. $350.

DEERFIELD.

Isabella T. Spicer to Jacob Seiser; land on sec 35. $900.

HUDSON.

Sam Baskerville to Valentine Wenzel; land on sec. 19. $595.

H. H. Rawson to Mary A. Stroud; land in village. $800.

MEDINA.

John Coleman to Harvey Upton; land on sec. 8. $1,600.

MADISON.

W. J. Ford to J W Thompson and Daniel Frost; land on sec. 26. $1,800.

PALMYRA.

W. Bowerman to John Thompson; land on sec 24. $150.

OGDEN.

James Robertson to C. P. Case; land on sec. 17. $2,800.

Robert G. Bailey to Geo. L. Bailey; land on secs. 4 and 5. $500.

John C. Luke to Elisha B. Luke; land on sec. 3. $250.

C. M. Croswell to Elmer Crockett; land on sec. 26. $250.

C. M. Croswell to John Crockett; land on sec. 26. $250

RIGA

Mary A. Mason et. al. to Nelson Mallory; land on sec. 17. $1,200.

Geo. Hahn to Mary Padlosaik; land on sec. 22. $1,000.

Laura A. Berringer to Mary J. Baer; land on sec. 11. $1,200

TECUMSEH.

A. L. Brewer to Chas. J. Brewer; land in village. $1,000.

Valuable Testimony

To the efficacy of Dr. Roger's Liverwort, Tar and Canchalagua. Some time since Mr. Geo. G. W. Morgan, a well-known journalist of San Francisco, Cal., wrote us a letter, in which he related his miraculous escape from death by using the Liverwort and Tar. Afterwards he wrote again as follows: I wish to re-affirm and confirm all I have said as to the remedial virtues of Dr. Roger's Syrup of Liverwort, Tar and Canchalagua, and will be pleased to bear testimony personally, or by letter as to the truth of my assertions, to any who may desire to know more of my case.

DR. TANNER'S GERMAN OINTMENT.

D. A. Chandler, of Patoka, Ill., Mar. 16, 1877, says: "One of my neighbor's little boys smashed his thumb about one year ago, and it was supposed by everybody that it would have to be taken off. I got him to try one box of Tanner's German Ointment. It cured him sound and well. He had tried good doctors on it, to no effect. The boy's father's name is Noble Cruse, of Lester, Marion Co., Ill.

Louisa Vanderpool, all the way from California, has obtained a verdict of $1,600 damages against one Richardson, of Vicksburgh, Kalamazoo county, for breach of promise, he having married another girl.

Seek No Further.

It is said an old philosopher sought an honest man with a lighted lantern, and humanity has since been seeking an honest medicine by the light of knowledge. It has at length found it in Dr. Jones' Red Clover Tonic which cures all diseases of the blood, removes pimples, and acts promptly upon the liver and urinary organs. Only 50 cents a bottle, to be had at Baker & Hall's.

James Barrett, a Jackson tinner, will get off buildings by means of a ladder when he gets well. He jumped off a building and broke his left leg in two places.

Former and Present Excellence.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., May 30, '81.

H. H. Warner & Co.:—Sirs—I was sick with diabetes and could get no help from the doctors. Your Safe Diabetes Cure restored me to my former excellent health.

Philo Sherwood.

T. B. Woodworth, of Caseville, threshed 53 bushels of Indiana red wheat raised from two bushels of seed.

The Wilmington (Del.) News says: J. E. Shaw, Esq., proprietor Grand Union Hotel, New York, indorses St. Jacobs Oil for rheumatism and neuralgia.

THE PROBATE COURT.

Following is the record of business transacted at the probate court for the week ending Oct. 28, 1882:

Estate of George W. Showerman, deceased; executor's bond filed; letters issued; appointment of appraisers.

Estate of Adelaide Smith, deceased; petition for license to sell real estate; hearing November 13, 1882.

Estate of Thomas Day, deceased; affidavits of publishing and posting commissioners' notice; commissioners' warrant and report.

Estate of Thomas Wilson, deceased; petition for the appointment of administrator; hearing November 13, 1882.

Estate of Levi Goss, deceased; affidavit of publication, executor's second annual account allowed.

Estate of Marcus M. Goss, an insane person; affidavit of publication; guardian's second annual account allowed.

In the matter of the appointment of three special drain commissioners for the township of Cambridge; order of appointment.

Estate of Stephen L. White, deceased; affidavit of publication; administrator's final account allowed; assignment and distribution.

Estate of James Boyd, deceased; order of continuance until October 30, 1882, at ten o'clock a. m.

Estate of Joseph Slater, deceased; appraiser's warrant and inventory.

Estate of Susan Gilmore, deceased; petition for the appointment of administrator; hearing, November 13, 1882.

Estate of Mary Bayles, deceased; appraiser's warrant and inventory.

Estate of Esther Matthews, et al., minors; petition for discharge of guardian; order of discharge.

Estate of Martin B. Perkins, deceased; affidavit of publication; executor's final account allowed; assignment; distribution; discharge.

Estate of Edward J. Farley, et al., minors; nomination and petition for the appointment of guardian; order of appointment; bond, $2,500.

Estate of Russel B. Packard, deceased; administrator's final account allowed; discharge.

Estate of Amos Babcock, deceased; executor's bond filed; letters issued; appointment of appraisers.

Estate of Franklin Pratt, deceased; receipts filed; discharge.

Estate of Irving R. Barkway, minor; release of guardian; order of discharge.

In the matter of the application for the appointment of three special drain commissioners for the township of Riga; application filed; order for citation; hearing November 13, 1882.

Estate of Timothy Mitchell, deceased; petition for the allowance of administrator's final account; hearing November 20, 1882.

Estate of Jerusha Mitchell, deceased; petition for the allowance of administrator's final account; hearing November 20, 1882.

Estate of Evelina M. Doty, deceased; affidavit of publishing and posting commissioners' notice commissioners' warrant and report; petition for the allowance of administrator's final account; hearing, November 20, 1882.

Estate of Ebenezer Davis, deceased; petition for the allowance of executor's final account; hearing November 20, 1882.

Estate of Esther Jones, deceased; appraiser' warrant and inventory; affidavits of publishing and posting commissioners' notice; commissioners' warrant and report; petition for license to sell real estate; hearing November 27, 1882.

Estate of Alvah Coddington, deceased; application for the appointment of commissioners; order of appointment.

Estate of Sarah Reed, deceased; affidavit of publication; order of continuance until October 26, 1882, at ten o'clock, A.M.

Estate of John Pawson, deceased; commissioners' warrant and report in dower; order of confirmation; administratrix' final account allowed; assignment; distribution; discharge.

Estate of Stephen L. White, deceased; receipts filed; discharge.

Estate of Edward J. Farley, et. al., minors; guardian's bond filed; letters of guardianship issued.

Estate of Harriet Stafford, deceased; appraisers' warrant and inventory.

Estate of Delilah Hazen, deceased; petition for the appointment of administrator; hearing November, 20, 1882.

Estate of Elisha F. Burlingame, deceased; petition for probate of will; hearing November 20, 1882.

Estate of Hugh McConnell, deceased; application for the appointment of commissioners; order of appointment.

Good health is maintained and nourished by proper attention to the requirements of the body, and the avoidance of excesses. It is wasted or destroyed by over-taxing the mind with study, anxiety, evil habits, intemperance, or vicious indulgences. Keep the body and brain well balanced by freely using that friend of temperance and good health, Brown's Iron Bitters; thus will you live to a good old age, free from all disease and suffering.

John Martin, an old merchant of St. Joseph, died last week.

Sing, Oh Sing, that Song Again.

How can you when you cough at every breath? Why, get a trial bottle of Dr. Bigelow's Positive Cure, and you will be answered. It cures colds, coughs, consumption, whooping cough and all diseases of the lungs, and it will cost you nothing to test it if you call at Baker & Hall's.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

Diptheria at 22 places in the state and scarlet fever at 11.

A Spring Arbor man has raised 9,700 heads of cabbages this year.

Reunion of the 20th Michigan infantry at Mason, November 15.

Manistique wants a $2,000 town hall and should have it.

They have candy pulling matches at Muskegon for the benefit of the churches.

Jackson county has about 200 paupers of the class known as 'permanent charges.'

A Marcellus school teacher raised 60 bushels of onions this year, doing the work out of school hours "just for fun."

Clarence Thompson, an employe of John C. Brown on his lumber contract on the Au Gres river, was accidentally killed last week.

Petoskey is striding along grandly in the march of progress. Fire limits have been decreed and the sidewalk cow abolished.

During a law case at Muskegon, a few days ago the lawyers became so disgustingly personal that the judge had to adjourn court for decency's sake.

Since two of Petoskey's saloon keepers went to Grand Rapids and settled with Uncle Sam to the tune of $400 apiece, that village has fewer drunken Indians.

A Morman apostle is at work up in and about Maple Grove, and has already converted about 30 or 40 to mormonism, and shipped some of them to Utah. He is as useful to the state as the traditional fool-killer.

Four men have been shot and killed in the Michigan woods this fall, by men who thought they were deer.—Those near-sighted idiots should either be kept out of the woods, or be allowed to carry nothing but elder popguns.

The Michigan hotel keepers' association held its annual session at the Bancroft house, East Saginaw, last week. One of the objects of the meeting was to devise means to circumvent the wily hotel beat—and his name is Legion.

Wm. Miller, a Petoskey greenhouse man, was out hunting on the 23d ult., and by mistake shot at a companion, whom he thought was a deer, inflicting a wound which proved fatal the next day. The victim was a young Swede from Bruce, Ont., named Ned Stetelbauer, and he was 21 years old. After the unfortunate shot, Miller carried the wounded man a mile in his arms to the nearest house.

A year old child of Chas. Schmidt, of Niles, was lost about noon, Friday, and after an unsuccessful search thro' the neighborhood the mother found it at the bottom of the rain water cistern. By aid of the telephone a physician was summoned, who succeeded in restoring animation, although the child must have been in the water 10 to 15 minutes and was rigid when taken out.

It was not consumption. Her family thought it was, but I knew she had diseases which Zoa-Phora could cure. She tried it, and soon was decidedly better. A little later dismissed her help, and has done her housework ever since.

Mrs. Geo. Corey,
Feb. 5, 1872. Jackson, Mich.

The "Boston mill" property at Saranac, which has been idle since the freshets in the spring, has been bought by Messrs. Goodell and Harvey, and will be well refitted and put in operation.

Burlington, Vt., Jan. 25, 1882.

I have used Downs' Elixir exclusively for myself and in my family for a score or more of years, and always keep it with me. Warren Gibbs,
President Vermont Life Ins. Co.

Fairhaven, Vt., Jan. 1, 1882.

I prefer Downs' Elixir to any other cough remedy for children, simply on account of its tonic and expectorant qualities. Respectfully,

Geo. H. Harris.

Probably no one circumstance or chain of circumstances better illustrates the peculiarities of the boom in pine lands than the facts which have lately come under our notice in regard to a tract of pine on the Au Gres.—About two years ago it was purchased by a Saginaw party for $26,000. Last spring the same tract was sold to another Saginaw party for $35,000. A few months later that party sold it to a Lapeer concern for $50,000, and not long ago this firm sold it to outside parties for $90,000.

The First Kiss.

BY GUY THANSOM.

I sat by my darling's side one night,
And the moon shone down with a mellow light;
And as I sat there I wondered how
She could have one so rude and rough as I;
For she was young and fair as could be,
And strong and kind and gentle to me.
While I was as rude as the storm-tossed sea—
As rude as the storm-tossed, troubled life,
Except when I sat at my darling's side.
And as I sat there I thought and thought
Of the wondrous spell that her presence wrought,
And my lips were sealed when I tried to tell
My sweet young love of this magic spell.
There were flowers wreathed in her dark-brown hair—
In that dark-brown hair which I never dare
To even touch with my finger-tips!

And n'ywise where was—oh, how to describe!—
Snow rose and full in the soft moon light,
That flower's intense so pure and white—
As pure and white as its fair wreath
As the gentle spirit that dwelt beneath.
And I thought if some Genie would come to me,
And say, "Ok mak'," I'm a dozen for thee—
Flower ye this night what ell ye'll take,
And I'll grant it now for my true love's sake"
I would dare to ask for a gift more fair
Than the rose that gleamed in my darling's hair:
For I was ungentle and rude and rough,
And surely that flower was born in sleigh,
But my thoughts were clear, and I thought it so
Would grant such a precious boon to me,
I would ask a more precious one than this—
I would ask for a lover's first sweet kiss—
For a kiss I gave her from my darling's lips.

I kept those flowers for many a day,
But they have withered and passed away—
Have withered and gone like a fleeting breath,
And I've wept at only a flower's death;
But the mind that came with my darling's kiss
Will live when the heat from the sun's bright ray
That the orbs of day's sinking at night's birth away,
Has awoke to summer a winter's day.
To this first, sweet kiss from her richest's poms
Shall thine be a thorn to the end of time?
Shall fair [illegible] the sweetness
And wi[illegible] show,
That kiss [illegible]
W[illegible]

IN THE OLD HOME.

Yes, I was really engaged to be married, and a marriage was quite an event in our family, since Rico and Sopay and Prudence were settled into old maids, and mamma was a widow of twenty years' standing. Neli had been engaged once, but her lover, poor soul, was wrecked in the Arctic, and Sophy was plain, and had never received a proposal in her life, but Prudence had always been too busy in caring for the motherless and nursing mamma to think of such a thing. So that we had lived like a sisterhood of nuns in the old Hall since I could remember.

It was a monkish, musty sort of an old place, although in bygone years it must have been stupendously grand. There was a conservatory where no flowers ever grew, a dining-hall with arched and panelled ceilings, which, instead of being sacred to the rites of hospitality, was crowded with old packing-boxes and broken furniture, a great musty-smelling picture gallery, where a solitary portrait of a high-shouldered Veuville ancestor hung by a broken red cord, a sad relic of all the departed girt-treasures.

There were deserted lawns where bigeyed cows and flocks of sheep grazed up to the very door; there were dilapidated fountains, whose water-ducts were choked up with dry leaves and dust; paths grown over with weeds, box-monsters distorted out of all shape, roses grown to tangled wildernesses. And we, the Widow Veuville and her four daughters, lived in one wing, keeping as comfortable as we could, and trying to be ladies on an income which would have pinched a chair woman.

Until Helge Devereaux, who had married a young lawyer, invited me to come and visit her, I, Tilly Veuville, a cherry-cheeked girl of eighteen, with round blue eyes and a deal of inexperience, and I became acquainted with Mr. Lillume.

He was a lawyer, too. He used to come home with Mr. Devereaux to tea sometimes, and he took us to drive in the Park, and I liked him, and before I knew it the thing changed to love.

"My little lady," he said to me one day, "you deserve a prince. Do you think you could be happy with a poor young lawyer?"

"I am used to poverty," I said brightly. "We have been poor all our lives—mamma, and the girls and me. And," suddenly raising my face in the window curtain, "I think I could be happy anywhere with you, Lillume."

"We might," he said carelessly, "what is the hurry?"

"Mamma, and Prue, and Sophie, and Nell. I could not leave them."

"And you need not, Pilly," he said. "They shall all come and live with us. My home may not be a splendid place, but it will shelter all who are dear to you."

So I came home with the good news, and we were so happy together, until Prudence remonstrated.

"The heir-at-law," she exclaimed suddenly, with a lengthening face. "We haven't told Tilly about the heir-at-law."

"What of him?" said I. "He is off in Switzerland. He mesn't trouble us."

"But he has come back," said mamma. "He is going to be married. And intends to live at the Hall himself, and there are a lot of upholsterers, and decorators, and carpenters coming up from the city, and Miss Octavia Fuller, the squire's daughter, drove up yesterday to look at the place, and do you know, Tilly, we suspect we suspected she is to be the lady of Heart Hall."

"Well, she's welcome to it," said I. "Let Mr. Hart have the old place, John and I am going to make a home for you and the girls. It may not be an old palace of a place like this, but I am quite sure it will be a happy home, mamma, dear."

But still, after I had laid my head on the pillow at night, the tears kept coming into my eyes at the idea of the old home passing into the hands of strangers. For although the blood of the Hearts might run in his veins, this distant relative of my mother had spent all his life in foreign countries, but could have no sweet associations connected with the old Hall.

He could not know, as we did, where the trout darted swiftest in the pool, nor where the earliest violets opened their blue eyes. He could not gather the blood-red jacqueminot roses out of the tangled briars, nor tell on which of the rained espaliers the juicy peppers ripened the sweetest. He did not know in which of the angles of the picture gallery the nobs lingered like a disembodied ghost, nor from what window in the haunted chamber a face stared itself out, a living impression. He might own the place, but he had not grown up in it as we had.

[illegible] the next day, in [illegible] reaction and rustling silks [illegible] was tall and handsome, and [illegible] with the least [illegible] upper lip and a perfume of "West End," which surrounded her like an atmosphere. She nodded to me in a patronizing fashion as she came in.

"So you are back again, Matilda," said she. "And shipwrecked, they tell me, by wooing young man. I'm sure I hope you will be happy. Yes, I do imagine, dear, we must have a wedding. Perhaps just before the season. The bride must have her comfortable share of entertainments—it's all the style now. The engagement will be extended, and she will be by La Sylphide. The frocks are in charge of Madame Duprese. The furniture will be supplied by Varnish and Sattinley, and Mr. Heart has purchased some valuable paintings in France and Italy which will set off the old picture to good advantage. We are expecting the decorations to be quite complete in Sept[illegible]ber." And of course," with that inefffable patronizing air again, "Mr. Heart will be charmed to have you visit the Hall, and see the improvements at any time you choose."

Prudence and Nell were silent. Sophy never looked up from her sewing. My cheeks crimsoned, but I did not speak, and mamma broke the awkward silence by saying:

"It is very kind of Mr. Heart, but we shall be with my daughter Tilly by that time."

"Indeed!" And Miss Octavia, laughing [illegible] "I never marries the whole family, does [illegible]. Well, really, I suppose [illegible] arrangements that can be made."

And when she swept away, leaving the "West End" perfume behind her, we looked at each other.

"[illegible] think much of my cousin, Matilda," said I, "if he is to marry a [illegible] like that."

"As we too rather jumping at conclusions," said Nell, in her [illegible] "Perhaps he may not be engaged to Miss Fuller after all."

"If he isn't," said Sophy, "she is taking a great deal upon herself. And after all, what does it matter to us whom he marries?"

"Nothing in the world," said I, [illegible] to talk of something else."

We made haste to pack up and go to town as soon as possible, and I was quietly married to John in a dingy old church, where the red and blue lights glamoured faintly through the Gothic windows, and the curgyman's voice sounded as if it came through a whispering gallery.

This was in the morning, and when we came out, there were two carriages waiting at the church gates.

"Dear John," said I, "what are those for?"

"To take us all to the railway station," he said. "Yes, don't look so amazed, little Tilly. We are all going on our wedding trip together, the mother, the sisters, and all."

"But where, John?"

"To our home, Tilly."

"We are to live in Bethlan-terrace, John," said I, with eyes of exceeding wonder.

"Oh," said he, "that is all very well for a temporary home. But I have got a temporary nest to take my little wild bird to, just for the present."

So we all got into the carriages and were whirled away to the train. And marvel of marvels, where should we alight but at Heartshill station.

"John, John!" I cried, "you have taken a cottage here on purpose to please me. Oh, mamma, wasn't it kind of him to think of such a thing?"

"Is not my whole life hereafter to be devoted to pleasing you, sweetheart?" he asked tenderly.

A low, open barouche, with purple satin cushions, a pair of richly caparisoned black horses, and two coachman in plain black livery, were waiting for mamma and the girls. John himself helped me into a light buggy, and we drove off—to Heart Hall.

Not the old Heart Hall that we used to know, all decay and ruin, but a new Heart Hall, with broad gravelled drives, playing fountains, neatly trimmed rose-gardens, and wide halls paved with colored mosiacs.

"Oh, John," I cried, turning pink and white by turns, "it's—home."

"Your home, dearest," he said tenderly. "Our home."

"Have you—bought it, John?"

"Well, it has somehow drifted into my possession," he said laughing.

"But Mr. Heart—and his bride?"

"They are here now, Tilly."

"Here?"

I started violently and looked around. John led me laughing to the long mirror framed in crimson plush which filled the panel opposite.

"Look at them, Tilly," said he. "Tell me what you think of them. Yes, it's quite true, you are neither asleep nor dreaming. I am John Heart. The name of Lillume is mine only by courtesy. It was my mother's maiden appellation. It is true that I am a young lawyer without much practice, but I believe that I have enough money to live on if I never enter a law-court. I met you by accident, I fell in love with you by accident, and you cannot blame me for wishing it appear that I have placed you in your rightful position by accident."

"Oh, John," I cried, and Miss Octavia Fuller?"

"She will be the most surprised of anyone," said he laughing. "Indeed I am not sure but that she half believes that I am going to marry her."

We were so happy that golden sunset in our new-old home. We have been so happy since! But all the pens and ink ever manufactured could not describe the expression of Miss Octavia Fuller's face when she was first introduced to the bride!

A Los Angeles man claims that the juice from eucalyptus leaves has induced the hair to grow on his bald head. He was in the habit of pounding to a pulp the leaves which he applied to his head for the cure of headache. He was surprised to have a new and abundant crop of hair commence to grow.

Aphorisms.

If thou wouldst be borne with, bear with others.—Fuller.

To be proud of learning is the greatest ignorance.—Bishop Taylor.

To give pain is the tyranny, to make happy the true empire of beauty.—Steele.

If you want enemies, excel others; if you want friends, let others excel you.—Confon.

No man ever offended his own conscience, but first or last it was revenged upon him for it.—South.

Our happiness in this world depends on the affections we are enabled to inspire.—Duchesse de Praslin.

Better to be despised for too anxious apprehensions, than ruined by too confident a security.—Burke.

There is no use of money equal to that of beneficence; here the enjoyment grows on reflection.—Mackenzie.

Conceit is to nature what paint is to beauty; it is not only needless, but it impairs what it would improve.—Pope.

We do not always like people the better for paying us all the court which we ourselves think our due.—Greville.

Nothing is more dangerous than a friend without discretion; even a prudent enemy is preferable.—La Fontaine.

Good is no good but if it be spread;
Foul gweth foul for none other end.
—Spenser.

The truly generous is the truly wise;
And he who loves not others, lives unblest.
—Hare.

It many times falls out that we deem ourselves much deceived in others, because we first deceived ourselves.—Sir Philip Sidney.

There is nothing more universally commended than a fine day, the reason is, that people can commend it without envy.—Sneustone.

People who are always taking care of their health are like misers, who are hoarding up a treasure which they have never spirit enough to enjoy.—Sterne.

Associate with men of good judgment; for judgment is found in conversation. And we make another man's judgment ours by frequenting his company.—Fuller.

Ing scutcled than marble-headed fiend,
More hideous, when thou show'st thee in a cloud,
Than the fell monster!
—Shakspeare.

A vulgar man is captious and jealous; eager and industrious about trifles. He suspends himself to be slighted, and thinks everything that is said meant at him.—Chesterfield.

He who thinks he can find in himself the means of doing without others is much mistaken; but he who thinks that others cannot do without him is still more mistaken.—La Rochefoucauld.

It may be remarked, for the comfort of honest poverty, that avarice reigns most in those who have but few good qualities to recommend them. This is a weed that will grow in a barren soil.—Hughes.

Be not over exquisite
To cast the fashion of uncertain evils;
For grant they be so, while they are unknown,
What need a man forestall his date of grief,
And run to meet what he would most avoid.
—Milton.

As long as you are engaged in the world, you must comply with its maxims; because nothing is more unprofitable than the wisdom of those persons who set up for reformers of the age. 'Tis a part a man cannot act long without offending his friends and rendering himself ridiculous.—St. Evremond.

About Being a Guest.

All my life I have been accustomed to a great many guests. It often puzzles me that some people, who in many respects were not as agreeable as others, were so much easier and pleasanter to entertain. It has only lately dawned upon me that there is a talent in being entertained just as in entertaining.

If one and all of us would cultivate this gift, we would have more and heartier invitations. In watching one of the most successful of visitors, I learned these simple rules:

1. Be always ready for everything. If you must fail in any one particular, never let it be breakfast. When you are late for this meal you keep back the whole household's plans for the day.

2. Always look interested and, if possible, say often how agreeable you think things. It is much easier to work for a friend's pleasure if one thinks she really is getting it and appreciating the trouble taken. Remember that often what is a great delight to you is excessively stupid and tiresome to your hostess. The show building that to you is new and beautiful has been seen by her many times and has lost its charm. If you seemed pleased, then she feels paid for her trouble; but if you look as if it was an honor for you to even glance at anything, then she is disgusted and disappointed and goes out with much less zest the following day to show you the next "thing" on her list. Girls have a great way of laughing at "the beaux." When we stay with people we naturally chime in with their ridicule. Never do this. We can abuse our own friends like pickpockets, but let anybody else suggest that they are perfection, then we are up in arms.

3. If any plan is proposed, always try to find out what the hostess thinks before you enter into it. If in any way she seems to demur, then let it drop immediately, however much you may want it. She has some reason for her decision which she may not care to give. The etiquette, for instance, of different places are so different that what in one town may be very harmless, in another may not be so well. Be always assured that she desires you to do what you want. She on her side is as anxious to be considered to entertain well as you can be to be well entertained. Socially we all want to be as near the top of the ladder in every department as possible.

If you follow these few suggestions it will go far towards making you a charming guest—a delight to everybody you visit.—Home Journal.

On the banks of the Kennebec river, a few miles below Bath, lives an old lady. Years ago she cried so violently when about to be married that it was with difficulty she could be pacified. On being interrogated as to the cause of her great grief, she replied that it made her sad to think she was to live so near the steep bank of the river, where her children would daily be in danger of falling over and being drowned. The lady has now lived there about fifty years, and has never had a child.

The Pennsylvania Oil Fields.

Following everybody else, I got a buggy, after some difficulty, and started for the scene of excitement. It was almost opposite the town over the river, but it was a roundabout way of six miles to reach it. The livery man admonished me to keep the horse out of the oil in the road, as it would take the hair off. This road was a wild, rocky, cracked, wicked road, and was marked by greasy pipes here and, there, which seemed to creep down from the mountain like endless, slimy blacksnakes—through the bushes, under the slender maiden-hair ferns, beneath blackberry briar and the tangled wire-grass, among the gnarled scrub oaks and the rich golden rod—finally plunging under the road and disappearing over the bluff on the other side. Far below they connected with the great iron tanks beside the railroad track. These iron pipes have been connected with the seaboard recently, and the pump stations, at convenient distances, force the oil to grease its own way to the eastern refinery and places of shipment. When I reached the top of the bluff I saw the tall derricks dotting the fields on either side, and the smoke and steam, and walking-beam told of activity. It was where the road beyond was blocked up by horses and vehicles that the attention was directed. There was a small farmhouse on the left. In the family garden-patch a gang of men were busily at work putting up an immense derrick. In the family barnyard one had just been erected, and workingmen were getting in the machinery. In the corn-field beyond the garden stood a derrick about ninety feet high. There was another one just like it this side, in the oats, and this derrick was black with oil from bottom to top. This was the big well, where the strike was made yesterday, and the blackened derrick was the mark of the oil-spout that shot eighty feet into the air so unexpectedly.

My horse in a fence corner, I plunged through the oat-stubble to join the lookers-on, and suddenly found myself over my shoe tops in oil-mud. The flow had flooded the whole neighborhood and left it sticky and disagreeable. There was a curious scene here. The corn was trampled in the mud, the oat shocks thrown down, the fences well half destroyed. On the ground were strewn ends of worn-out ropes, joints of iron pipe, rails, and odds and ends of rude machinery. There was a furnace and steam boiler mounted between the corn rows, and the stalks wilted with the heat or were trampled under foot. No one noticed so small a thing. The place looked like a battle-field where a battery had been worked. The machinery was still. There is no need of machinery. The oil is glad enough to come up and be run in. The pipes simply connect with the casing of the well and run off there through the corn, where they empty into two great tanks. You can hear the roar of the escaping gas as it blows off the dark oil into the tanks, now ceasing, now gurgling, now making a rushing noise like the escaping steam of a locomotive. You can climb up the little ladder and look over the top of the half-filled tank into the dark, creamy, sickening oil within.—Franklin Letter to Philadelphia Times.

A Chapter of Accidents.

The circumstances were these: A large firm on a prominent business street proposed to have its store thoroughly washed, and so sent its janitor to get some soap. Something induced him to invest in a keg of soft soap, and he started to roll it to the office. The keg was something larger than a beer-keg and not half so substantial, but the old man got along very well with it until he came to a crossing. He was rolling it along and got to the horse-car track, when a dray wheel hit the cask, and in a minute the soap was flowing in every direction. The old janitor gave a whoop of despair, and, while he gazed at the scene of ruin, along came a nattily-dressed drummer. He didn't observe the soft soap till he stepped in it. You know how slippery soft soap is. The drummer's feet shot from under him and he never slid two rods so quickly before in his life. He scooped up about a pint of soap with each trouser's leg and each sleeve. When he tried to get up he went down again, and a policeman who ran to his assistance went down, too. When they finally got on their feet each was a sight, and the drummer said he expected to throw away every rag he had on and take two Turkish baths to get clean. The officer was mad, and said somebody ought to be run in, and for want of a better person he was going to take the drummer, but was distracted by seeing a fat man coming along and let his feet fly into the air while his head hit a paving stone so hard it was driven an inch into the earth. Then a man with a basket of peanuts struck the flood and a scene of wild excitement ensued, the boys who jumped in to get the nuts being piled up in all ways. Finally a horse-car came along, and when it struck the soap-besmeared spot the horses went down so quick it made the driver's head swim. He frantically leaped off the car and at once went down himself, face first, and, gasping, got so much of the soap and filth in his mouth that it produced nausea and all the money he could afford for beer didn't get the taste out of his mouth for a week. The horses, in their attempts to rise, broke the harness, and there was particular peculiation to pay till the street-cleaning brigade came along and cleaned up the soap. The janitor, seeing trouble ahead, had fled during the early part of the proceedings, but the officer says if he catches the man the case'll be heard from in court.—Chicago News.

Brewster's Hats.

A gentleman who recently traveled in the same car with the Hon. Benjamin Harris Brewster, Attorney-General of the United States, says that he was much puzzled by the fact that Mr. Brewster carried six hats with him, one on his head and five piled up on the seat by his side. One's hat was a century out to style, being of high brown felt, [illegible] brim. For it Mr. Brewster [illegible] a strong partiality, always [illegible] it when he left the car.

An aesthetic farmer in Allegan County, Mich., is building a barn of black walnut, butter-nut and white wood.

The Sexton Writes Us.

Fountaintown, Shelby Co., Ind.

Mr. A. Kiefer—Sir: For some years past I have been afflicted with Liver Complaint. I have had several physicians treating my case, but they all failed to reach the seat of disease. During the past year I got much worse, and became so weak and feeble as to be unable to do any work. I had a great deal of headache, and at times became so dizzy that I had to lay down. About six weeks ago I commenced using your Taraxine, and after taking the third dose I felt that dizziness and headache were leaving me. I continued the use of it till I had taken three bottles, and I am now a well man, and am able to do a day's work on the farm. Yours truly,

David Sexton.

For sale by all druggists. Taraxine Memorandum Books free.

The Greatest Medicine of the Age.

Kellogg's Columbian Oil is a powerful remedy, which can be taken internally as well as externally by the tenderest infant. It cures almost instantly, is pleasant, acting directly upon the nervous system, causing a sudden buoyancy of the mind. In short, the wonderful effects of this wonderful remedy cannot be explained in written language. A single dose inhaled and taken according to directions will convince any one that it is all that is claimed for it. Warranted to cure the following diseases: Rheumatism or Kidney disease in any form, headache, toothache, earache, neuralgia, sprains, bruises, flesh wounds, bunions, burns, spinal affections, colic, cramping pains, cholera morbus, flux, diarrhœa, colds, bronchial affections, catarrh, and all aches and pains, external or internal. Full directions with each bottle. For sale by C. A. Wright & Co.

Good News.

No more Chills and Ague in this section. Our Druggist is selling an article called "Ague Conqueror." It is about the only satisfactory preparation sold for the cure of Fever and Ague, Dumb Chills, Intermittent or Bilious Fevers. The proprietor of the Ague Conqueror has used but little energy to make this medicine known, and yet its sales are immense in Ague Districts. It purifies the blood, Liver and other Secretory organs so effectually that the Chills do not return even when persons have had them for years. Entirely vegetable preparation. Price 50 cents and $1,00 per Bottle. Two doses will stop the chills.

Jealousy.

Some poet has said that "All torments of the damned we find is only thee, Oh, Jealousy, thou tyrant of the mind." This is grandly sweeping and magnificently inaccurate. Any sufferer from Indigestion knows to the contrary. Indigestion, the villian of the tragedy played upon the gastric juices of the stomach can, and does double discount the horrors of jealousy. Jealousy is often an attendant upon the later, and when indigestion is removed, this jaundiced companion of a deranged liver flies. Taraxine is the best known remedy extant for impaired digestion, deranged liver, and diseases of the bowels and kidneys.

For sale by all druggists.

Free to Everyone.

A 10c sample of Hill's Peerless Cough Syrup. We also sell the large bottles on an absolute guarantee. If not satisfied after using, return the empty bottle and we will refund your money. We also sell the Peerless Worm Specific on the same terms. No cure, no pay. Cobbs' Little Podophyllin Pills will cure headache, billiousness and constipation. No pay. One pill a dose.

C. A. Wright & Co.

The New Discovery.

Dr. Deming's Pile Ointment, the discovery of a physician of wide reputation, who has achieved the greatest success, the most conspicuous distinction, and the highest honors in his profession, is a sure cure for blind, bleeding, itching and ulcerated piles. A single box has frequently been known to cure the most obstinate case, and thousands who have used this great remedy attest its efficacy.—For sale by all druggists.

Griggs' Glycerine Salve.

The best on earth can truly be said of Griggs' Glycerine Salve, which is a sure cure for cuts, bruises, scalds, burns, wounds and all other sores. Will positively cure piles, tetter and all skin eruptions. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Only 25 cents. For sale by Baker & Hall.

Catarrh of the Bladder.

Stinging, smarting, irritation of the urinary passages, diseased discharges, cured by Buchupaiba. $1, at druggists. Mich. Depot, J. E. Davis & Co., Detroit, Mich.

Skinny Men

Wells' Health Renewer. Absolute cure for nervous debility and weakness of the generative functions. $1, at druggists. Mich. Depot, J. E. Davis & Co., Detroit, Mich.

Why Welcome.

What makes Floristine Cologne welcome on every lady's toilet table is its lasting fragrance and rich, flowery odor.

Parker's Hair Balsam

Removes the most fastidious as a perfect Hair Restorer and Dressing. Admired for its cleanliness and elegant fragrance. Never Fails to Restore Grey or Faded Hair to the youthful color. 50 cts. and $1 sizes at all druggists.

PARKER'S GINGER TONIC

Ginger, Buchu, Mandrake, Stillingia and many of the best medicines known are here combined into a medicine of such varied and effective powers, as to make the Greatest Blood Purifier & the Best Health and Strength Restorer Ever Used.

It cures Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Sleeplessness, all diseases of the Stomach, Bowels, Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, and all Female Complaints.

If you are wasting away with Consumption or any disease, use the Tonic to-day. It will surely help you. Remember! It is far superior to Bitters, Essences of Ginger and other Tonics, as it builds up the system without intoxicating. 50c. and $1 sizes, at all dealers in drugs. None genuine without signature of Hostetter & Co., N. Y. Send for circular.

LARGE SAVING IN BUYING THE DOLLAR SIZE.

GET THE BEST!

RAYBONE, SYARD & CO. ACORN STOVES & RANGES

LEAD ALL OTHERS!

Every Style & Price.

Guaranteed Unequaled FOR OPERATION, ECONOMY, DURABILITY and WORKMANSHIP.

Improvements and Conveniences found in no others.

Always Reliable.

POPULAR EVERYWHERE.

For Sale in Every City and Town in the United States.

For Sale by SUTTON & SWAN.

The price of the following organ has been advanced to $125 since inserting this electrotype

BEATTY ORGANS

27 Stops, 10 Sets Reeds, $90

The Famous Beethoven Organ 27 Stops, 10 Sets Reeds.

PRICE ONLY [illegible]

Order now. Sent by Bank Draft, Postal Order, or Registered Letter. Instruments shipped without a Moment's Delay. Factory running day and night. Organs built on old plan, 3 to 11 stops. Catalogue Free. Address

DANIEL F. BEATTY, Washington, N. J.

CATARRH

HAY-FEVER

DIRECTIONS.

Insert with little finger a particle of the Balm into the nostrils; draw strong breaths through the nose. It will be absorbed.

Ely's Cream Balm

Affectually cleanses the nasal passages of Catarrhal virus, causing healthy secretions, allays inflammation, protects the membrane from additional colds, completely heals the sores and restores the sense of taste and smell. Beneficial results are realized by a few applications. A thorough treatment as directed will cure Catarrh, Hay Fever, &c.

Agreeable to Use.

Unequaled for Cold in the Head.

The Balm has gained an enviable reputation wherever known, displacing all other preparations.

RECOGNIZED AS A WONDERFUL REMEDY.

Sold by all druggists at 50 cents. On receipt of price will mail a package. Send for circular containing full information and reliable testimonials.

ELY CREAM BALM CO., Owego, N. Y.

KANSAS FARMS.

Choice improved farms for sale in Southeastern Kansas. A rare chance for some one who wishes to buy a home cheap. For situation, location, terms, price, etc., call at the

HERALD OFFICE.

Back Ache

POSITIVELY CURED BY

Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters.

Reasons Why they are Preferred to All Other Porous Plasters or External Remedies:

First.

Because they possess all the merit of the strengthening porous plaster, and contain in addition thereto the newly discovered powerful and active vegetable combination which acts with increased rubefacient, stimulating, sedative and counter irritant effects.

Second.

Because they are a genuine pharmaceutical preparation, and so recognized by the profession.

Third.

Because they are the only plasters that relieve pain at once.

Fourth.

Because they will positively cure diseases which other remedies will not even relieve.

Fifth.

Because over 5000 physicians and druggists have voluntarily testified that they are superior to all other plasters or medicines for external use.

Sixth.

Because the manufacturers have received the only medals ever given for porous plasters.

Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster!

SEABURY & JOHNSON,
Manufacturing Chemists, New York.

A SURE REMEDY AT LAST. Price 25cts. MEAD'S Medicated CORN and BUNION PLASTER.

EVANS' BUSINESS COLLEGE
—AND—
INSTITUTE OF RAPID WRITING.

Having severed my connection with the High School of Adrian, my time will be given exclusively to my college, affording a rare chance to young men wishing to fit themselves as

CLERKS AND BOOK-KEEPERS,

And furnishing them positions at good salaries.

My College has No Vacation during the year.

Send for Circulars.

Adrian, Sept. 18, 1881.

W. R. EVANS,
PRINCIPAL & TEACHER.

KING OF THE BLOOD.

The Most Thorough Purifier of the Blood Yet Discovered.

Cures all Humors, from a Common Eruption to the Worst Scrofula.

It purifies the Blood.
It invigorates the Liver.
It regulates the Bowels.
It strengthens the Stomach.
It gives vivacity in place of lassitude; cheerfulness in place of gloom, and robust vigor in place of debility.
Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Disordered Liver, Constipation, Nervous Affections, General Debility, in short all the numerous diseases and discomforts caused by impure blood are speedily conquered by this powerful corrector, the chief and sovereign of all ancient or modern medical discoveries—KING OF THE BLOOD.
ITS NAME IS ITS BEST DESCRIPTION as it is a total dispenser of the blessings of health and vanquishes the foes that lurk in the blood.
It banishes PIMPLES, SALT RHEUM, SCALY ERUPTIONS, ULCERS, SCALD HEAD, FEVER SORES, and all SCROFULOUS DISORDERS.
It checks CONSUMPTION in its early stages. It has frequently cured it when advanced.
It disposes TUMORS and CANCERS without the Surgeon's knife.
It cures DROPSY, general or partial.
It cures FEMALE WEAKNESS and DISEASE.
It reduces in a safe and effectual manner all swellings, external or internal.
It eradicates the effects of Venerial Disease and Mineral Poisons, and establishes a sound constitution.
Many certificates, much further information and all directions for using, will be found in the pamphlet, "Treatise on Diseases of the Blood," in which each bottle is enclosed.
Price $1 per bottle, containing 12 ounces, or 10 to 50 doses. Sold by dealers in medicine.
If your druggist does not happen to have it on hand, request him to order a supply of it for you, as it will be cheaper than for you to order direct of us, and less trouble.

D. RANSOM, SON & CO., Proprietors,
Buffalo, N. Y.

HALL'S Catarrh Cure

Is Recommended by Physicians!

$100 REWARD FOR A CASE IT FAILS TO CURE.

We manufacture and sell it with a positive guarantee that it will cure any case, and we will forfeit the above amount if it fails in a single instance.

It is unlike any other Catarrh remedy, as it is taken internally, acting upon the blood. If you are troubled with this distressing disease, ask your Druggist for it, and ACCEPT NO IMITATION OR SUBSTITUTE. If he has not got it, send to us and we will forward immediately. Price, 75 cents per bottle.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

Sea-Sickness.

Hon. George A. Stearn, of Chicopee, who, with his neighbor, Emerson Gaylord, is now traveling in Europe, writes to the Springfield Republican an account of their voyage. He thus tells part of their experience:

Any person who has ever been sea-sick will agree with me that its horrors are unutterable. No one under its influence believes that it is only sea-sickness. He is sure some other malignant and mortal malady has seized him. He is positive he will die. He talks solemnly and seriously about his certain death, desires to be taken home and buried where his friends can visit his grave and composes as best he can his affairs above.

As we sailed out of the harbor at New York everybody was jolly, ladies waved their handkerchiefs, men cheered and all laughed and talked in great glee. Soon one after another turned white and green and blue, looked dull and haggard and woeful, and dropped away from sight. Some did not reappear during the voyage, others came up at times, wan and sad and mournful. On the morning of the second day I sat on the upper deck—my nearest companion a bucket—strapping my knife on my boot, internally resolved to give the fellow who wrote "A life on the ocean wave" the benefit of its keenness, when I saw G. coming up the companionway, a codfish tail, which he was chewing vigorously, sticking out of his mouth (codfish having been recommended as a sovereign remedy for seasickness among a thousand others) and his countenance resembling a pan of skimmed milk, through which lightning had played. I knew by my feelings I could "raise him out" on looks—had no heart to smile. He sat down near me, and about this dialogue occurred:

S.—"How are you, ugh! hoo, oo!"

G.—"Beautiful, ugh! oo! give us a chance at that, ugh! oo, oo!"

S.—"Big thing."

G.—"Immense; ugh! oo, oh, Israel!"

S.—"Happy, are you? ugh! oo, oo, Holy Moses?"

G.—"Never so happy in my life; ugh, oo!"

S.—"Glad you came?"

G.—"Wouldn't have missed it—ugh—for a gold mine—ugh, oo—my heart bleeds—ugh, oo—for the poor fellows at home—ugh, oo, oo. Great Caesar! How is your wife?"

S.—"She is some sick ugh—can't conquer it like me—ugh, oo, oo. Oh, Christmas and the calves! How is yours?"

G.—"Don't know. Can't catch breath—ugh—long enough to inquire—ugh, oo." (Exeunt omnes).

In utter wretchedness I went down to my little stateroom, snatched up a pencil and for the first time in my life attempted poetry as the only alternative to suicide.

Texas Siftings.

MUSICAL NOTES.

"What makes you ask such a high price for this little room?" asked Kosciusco Murphy of an Austin landlord.

"Well, there is a young man next door who plays on the accordeon. You don't expect to have your innermost soul stirred up from the bottom every evening, and not pay for it do you? He sings, too."

NOT HER FUNERAL.

"Are you not alarmed at your children playing on that cistern with the trap door open? Are you not afraid they will drop in some day and get drowned when you are not looking on," said one Austin lady of another whom she was visiting.

"No," was the complacent reply; "we get our drinking water from another cistern they can't fall into."

AN EXACTING LANDLORD.

An Austin man, who had been living in a rented house, notified his landlord that he was going to move.

"I hope," said the landlord, "that I will find the house in the same condition it was when you took it."

"No, I do not expect to leave it in the same condition that I found it."

"Well, you will have to do it."

"All right, then. I'll drop a cat in the cistern, and advertise for bed bugs."

ABOUT IMPORTED CIGARS.

"I like your imported Havana cigars very much, but you must let me have them a little cheaper," said an Austin tobacconist to a drummer for a New York tobacco firm.

"We can't do it. I am offering you these imported Havana cigars at the very same figures we have to pay the New York firm that manufactures them, and they bought their Connecticut tobacco when it was cheaper than it is now."

AN AMUSING COURT SCENE.

A young Austin lawyer was appointed to defend a negro who was too poor to hire counsel of his own. After the jury was in the box the young lawyer challenged several jurymen whom his client said had a prejudice against him.

"Are there any more jurymen who have a prejudice against you?" whispered the young lawyer.

"No, boss, de jury am all right, but now I wants you to challenge de jedge. I has been convicted under him seberal times already, and maybe he is beginin' to have prejudice agin me."

The young lawyer, this being his first case, took the advice of his client, and, addressing the court, told the judge he could step aside.

The Middle Course Advised.

A lady once asked St. Francis de Sales whether she might use paint to improve her complexion. His reply was:

"Some holy men object to its use, while others see nothing wrong in it. I would adopt a middle course, and grant you a dispensation to paint one side of your face only."

"Remember," said the venerable Brother Gardner, as he brought the proceedings of the Lime Kiln club to a close, the other evening, "remember, as we percolate homewards, dat while a pusson may have a voice like a tornady an' a mouth like a woodshed, de man who winks wid his left eye allus gets de bes' glass of sody water."

Get Out.

Many people have missed fame or riches either through ignorance or not knowing when their opportunity came. The countryman described below lost one of the opportunities of his life from the same cause. He was visited by an amateur photographer, who levelled his camera at the man's picturesque shanty in the mountains of Giles, Va. A very pretty and striking picture would have been the result.

Just as the instrument had been nicely adjusted the door of the shanty was flung wide open, and a fierce-looking, dirty little man stepped out with an old horse-pistol in his hand. He was followed by a tall, wiry woman, grasping a dangerous-looking axe, while a multitude of children brought up the rear.

"Take that 'ere thing away! take it away!" the man howled. "Blast yer hide, what d'yer mean, anyhow—makin' my house a target for that newfangled shootin' thing? Get out!"

A brief and excited colloquy ensued. The man flourished his ancient pistol and the woman made threatening gestures with the axe. The artist tried in vain to explain his purpose and the nature of his instrument. It was of no use. He was obliged to bundle up his apparatus and hurry off, hardly daring to raise his head, lest the fiery little man should pepper him with shots from his rusty pistol.

Relief Found at Last.

Carmel, Ind.

A. Kiefer—Dear Sir: I was afflicted with derangement of the Liver, which caused a general derangement of my whole system. Had three-day ague for two years, from which I found no relief until induced to try your Taraxine, which I am happy to say affected a cure. I am enjoying fine health and have had no ague for over one year. Yours, etc., John Jeffries.

For sale by all druggists.

A Good Offer.

The Chicago, Burlington, & Quincy Railroad Company has just issued an illustrated treatise, "The Heart of the Continent," describing the wonderful growth of the Six Great States. The book is beautifully printed, and numerous engravings of high merit adorn its pages. Any one sending their name and address with two three cent postage stamps will receive a copy by return mail, by applying to Perceval Lowell, General Passenger Agent, Chicago, Illinois.

Good Advice.

You will prevent and cure the greater part of the ills that afflict mankind in this or any section, if you keep your stomach, liver and kidneys in perfect working order. There is no medicine known that does this as surely as Parker's Ginger Tonic. It will keep your blood rich and pure, and give you good health at little cost. See other column.

In the Yellowstone.

A member of a party in Yellowstone Park fell down the crater of a geyser while trying to secure a beautiful specimen of mineral formation. His companions shrieked as they saw him fall. They lowered a light into the crater as far as they could. Nothing could be seen. By dropping pebbles they discovered that at a depth of about fifty feet the crater was filled with water. They gave him up as lost, and, with sad hearts, left the scene. The next noon he came into camp with another party of gentlemen, alive and well. He fell into the water, but came again to the surface, and hung to a rock. He heard his friends' voices, but could not make them hear him. He stayed there until 5 o'clock in the afternoon, when he heard a sound like distant thunder. Suddenly the water was rising, and continued to rise more rapidly. At last he found himself at the point from which he had fallen. Although exhausted he exerted his remaining strength in climbing to the surface. This reached, he managed to crawl some distance away from the mouth of the crater, where he lost consciousness. When he recovered he was being cared for by strangers—the men who conducted him to his comrades. The water was warm, but a few moments before he left it began to be hot and to boil furiously.

Quincy, Mich., Sept. 15, 1881.

I have often read in newspapers of instant cures, but never believe a them. I have been troubled at times with a severe pain in my stomach for years, and being in great distress one day, I tried your Columbian Oil, and the cure was instantaneous, and has so far been permanent.

Yours truly, Mrs. J. Weaver

Important to Travelers.

Special Inducements are offered you by the BURLINGTON ROUTE. It will pay you to read their advertisement to be found elsewhere in this issue.

We recommend Ely's Cream Balm in every case where a cure for catarrh is called for, and in no instance have we heard of disappointment. We consider that we are doing the public a service by making its virtues known to those afflicted with this loathsome disease, for which it is in most instances a perfect cure. Peck Bros., Druggists, Grand Rapids, Mich.

"Buchupaiba."

New, quick, complete cure four days, urinary affections, smarting, frequent or difficult urination, kidney diseases, $1, at druggists. Michigan Depot, J. E. Davies & Co., Detroit, Mich.

Elys' Cream Balm cured me of catarrh of many years standing—restored my sense of smell. For colds in the head it works like magic. E. H. Sherwood, National State Bank, Elizabeth, N. J.

There is no excuse for suffering from CONSTIPATION and other diseases that follow a disordered state of the Stomach and Bowels, when the use of

DR. HENRY BAXTER'S MANDRAKE BITTERS

Will give immediate relief.

After constipation follows Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Diseases of the Kidneys, Torpid Liver, Rheumatism, Dizziness, Sick Headache, Loss of Appetite, Jaundice, Apoplexy, Palpitations, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, etc., all of which these Bitters will speedily cure by removing the cause. Keep the Stomach, Bowels, and Digestive Organs in good working order, and perfect health will be the result. Ladies and others subject to Sick Headache will find relief and permanent cure by the use of these Bitters. Being tonic and mildly purgative they

PURIFY THE BLOOD.

Price 25 cts. per bottle.

For sale by all dealers in medicine. Send address for pamphlet, free, giving full directions.

HENRY, JOHNSON & LORD, Props., Burlington, Vt.

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED

STOMACH BITTERS

The true antidote to the effects of miasma is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This medicine is one of the most popular remedies of an age of successful proprietary specifics, and is in immense demand wherever on this Continent fever and ague exists. A wineglassful three times a day is the best possible preparative for encountering a malarious atmosphere, regulating the liver, and invigorating the stomach.

For sale by all Druggists and Dealers generally.

B. J. COLLER, Adrian, Mich.

COE'S TEMPERANCE HOTEL

Cor. Congress and Bates Sts., DETROIT, MICH.

RATES, $1 to $1.25 per day. Single Meals 30c, Lodgings 35 to 50 cents.

We make a specialty of Dinner, and it is ALWAYS ready at 11:30 sharp. Come early and be served promptly.

PENNYROYAL BLOOD SCANGER

Nothing in the world equal to it for the cure of Scrofula, Pimples, Boils, Tetter, Old Sores, Sore Legs, Mercurial Diseases, Catarrh, Loss of Appetite, Trouble Complaints, and all Blood diseases. It never fails. All druggists and country store keepers sell it. R. E. Sellers & Co., Props, Pittsburgh, on every bottle.

P. B. SWICK,
Manufacturer of
Light & Heavy Harness
And Dealer in
Trunks, Whips, Robes, Blankets,

And all articles kept for sale in a first-class Horse Furniture Store.

GOOD WORK! LOW PRICES

Call and see him, one door east of Nyland's shoe store on Chicago street.

TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN

GO TO

WILLIAM McCOWEN'S,

Tecumseh Furniture Parlors

To buy your furniture, for by so doing you

Will Save Fifty Per Cent.

WM. McCOWEN

Is the only experienced and popular

Funeral Director

in this city.

In this branch he also takes the lead.

D. W. CLARK,
GENERAL DEALER IN
Groceries & Provisions,
Confectionery, Etc.

A full line of Choice GREEN & JAPAN TEAS always on hand and sold at the lowest possible figure.

GOODS DELIVERED FREE WITHIN THE CORPORATION

Richard's Block, North Side Chicago Street,

Tecumseh. Michigan.

FUNERAL DIRECTORS.

Conklin and Foster!

13 EAST MAUMEE STREET, ADRIAN.

We have the largest Stock of Coffins and Caskets kept by any firm in Lenawee County. Customers have the largest stock to select from, they make a great saving in price and they get the best goods. These are advantages possessed by no other house. We have in stock robes for men, women and children, white slippers, caps for old ladies, black and white crape, black and white gloves etc.

MR. CONKLIN superintends all funerals in person, and with

NO EXTRA CHARGE FOR TECUMSEH AND VICINITY.

I. C. WOLCOTT, JOHN S. TEMPLE, S. McCLURE

WOLCOTT, TEMPLE & CO.,

Wholesale and Retail Dealers in

LUMBER, LATH, SHINGLES, SASH & DOORS

AND ALL KINDS OF BUILDING MATERIAL.

Planing, Sawing, Matching to Order.

Mill and Yard North of Railroad Depot,

TECUMSEH, - MICHIGAN.

JAMES LOWRY,
GENERAL DEALER IN
Groceries and Provisions

CROCKERY & GLASS WARE.

Agent for Model Clothes Wringer.

Highest Cash Price Paid for Butter, Eggs, Lard, &c.

THE BEST AND CHEAPEST TEAS IN TOWN.

No. 3, Merchants' Block, TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

S. W. TEMPLE.

Wholesale and Retail Dealer in

Lumber, Lath, Shingles

And all kinds of

BUILDING MATERIAL,

SASH, DOORS AND BLINDS, COAL AND LIME.

Mill and Yards near Depot, TECUMSEH, MICH.

SEE THE NEW

Birthday Cards

AT THE HERALD OFFICE.

THE TECUMSER HERALD.

Issued Every Thursday Evening.

BY STACY BROTHERS.

Office in the New Herald Building, One Door East of the Opera House, Tecumseh, Mich.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:

One year, Cash in Advance, ... $1.50
Six Months, " ..... .75
Four Months, ... .50

Twenty-five cents will be added to the subscription price for every three months that payment may be delayed.

ADVERTISING RATES:

Business Locals, five cents per line for each insertion.

Special notices, fifteen cents an inch for each insertion.

Marriages, Births and Death Notices free.

Rates on General Advertising, on terms contracted, made known at the Counting Room.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Correspondents' names are invariably required, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Anonymous communications will be rejected.

ENTERED AT THE POST OFFICE AT TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, AS SECOND CLASS MATTER.

TECUMSEH, MICH., NOV. 2, 1882.

Nickle Plate stock ought to sell well—it has been pretty well advertised.

David Davis is no longer on the fence. He has got down on the matrimonial side.

Sam. Randall has been nominated for Congress for his eleventh term, and he will be elected too.

Col. Eldredge will receive the solid soldier vote in this district, and that vote will go a long ways toward electing him.

The manufacturer makes a living by selling his goods. The laborer makes a living by selling his labor.—Congress protects the manufacturer by keeping out cheap foreign goods but does not protect the laborer by keeping out cheap foreign labor.

The New York Times justly observes that the important questions before the country at present are these three: The reduction of national taxation, the revision of the tariff, and the reform in the civil service. On these questions parties and candidates need to define their position.

President Arthur has gone to New York to direct the political machine until election day. The spectacle of a President deserting his official post and bumming around among the slums of New York city is not only disgraceful but pitiable. No wonder there is a Republican revolt in New York.

What is Free Trade?

It is the right to use God's highways without restriction.

It is the right to sell your produce in the dearest market.

It is the right to buy your goods in the cheapest market.

It is the right to exchange or sell whatever you have to the best advantage.

This representative district in 1880 cast 1,842 votes for Jerome, and 1,657 votes for Holloway. There were 182 greenback and prohibition votes cast, leaving Jerome, over all, a majority of three. Jerome's vote in the county was 6,352 to 5,325 for Holloway. There were 587 votes cast for other candidates, leaving Jerome over all a majority of 440. The vote in this congressional district in 1880 stood, Willets 18,945; Waldby 16,596; Chester, g. b., 1,674; prohibition and scattering, 191. Willits over Waldby, 2,349; over all, 384.

The farmers and laborers are the only men who are not protected. Can Congress protect wheat? Can it protect oats? Every farmer knows that the price of his wheat is regulated by the English market. What he raises he has to sell abroad in competition with the whole world. The American farmer has to compete with the pauper labor of Europe. Why should not the American manufacturer? The rich manufacturer of Massachusetts can buy his bread at pauper labor prices, but the western farmer cannot buy his clothes at pauper labor prices. Is this justice?

The best indication of what a man is, is what his own townsmen think of him. The following extract is from the Flint Globe, the leading Republican paper of Genesee Co., of Aug. 31:

So far, however, as Mr. Begole, the head of the ticket, is concerned, there is nothing detrimental to his character that can be alleged against him.—He has sometimes changed his mind in politics, but of the sincerity of his belief and the earnestness of his purposes no body who knows him entertains a doubt. He is incapable of bearing malice, even against his bitterest political enemies. He has a warm, generous nature, and a larger, kinder heart does not beat in the bosom of any man in Michigan. He is not much given to making speeches, but then deeds are more significant of a man's character than words. There are scores of men in all parts of the state where Mr. Begole is acquainted, who have had practical demonstration of these facts, and who are liable to step outside of party lines to show that they do not forget the kindness, and who no doubt wish that he was a leader in what would not necessarily prove a forlorn hope. But the Republican party in Michigan is too strong to be beaten by a combination of Democrats and Greenbackers, even if it is marshalled by so good a man as Mr. Begole.

THE NICKEL PLATE LINE.

THE RECENT SALE OF THE MAIN ROAD AND WHAT THE PAPERS SAY.

The Michigan Branch will be Pushed to Early Completion—Progress of the Work.

A sale of the controlling stock in the new Nickel Plate road was effected last week, which created quite a stir in Wall street circles. The directness of the route, the splendid character of the road, and the small amount of the capital invested—compared with the capital represented in the other trunk lines between Chicago and the seaboard—were destined to place it in the very front rank among the railroads leading to the Atlantic coast. Hence its sale created considerable fluttering among the bulls and bears of Wall street. Many conflicting reports have appeared in the newspapers in relation thereto, a few of which are herewith given to our readers:

New York, Oct. 27.—J. H. Devereaux, President of the Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati & Indianapolis Railway Company, and Judge Stevenson Burke, Vice President of the Columbus, Hocking Valley & Toledo Railway Company, as representatives of the syndicate that is represented in both roads, have acquired control of the New York, Chicago & St. Louis Railway, more familiarly known as the "Nickel Plate." The capitalists they represent are not known. The Tribune says: "In the opinion of many the purchase of the Nickel Plate will be regarded as removing it from the list of active rivals to Vanderbilt's Railroads. Devereaux, however, has been prominently connected heretofore with the Erie Railway interests, both in the East and West, and he was the receiver of the old Atlantic & Great Western, which is the adjunct of Jewett's road."

The Evening Post's financial article says: "The transfer of the controlling interest in the New York, Chicago & St. Louis Railway continues to be the discussion in Wall street. It appears that the nominal purchasers were J. H. Devereaux, President of the Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati & Indianapolis Railway, the controlling interest in which belongs to Wm. H. Vanderbilt and Judge Stevenson Burke, who is Vice President of the Columbus, but the real purchasers are Vanderbilt and the controlling owners of the Hocking Valley, who are friends of Vanderbilt. While, according to information we are bound to regard as trustworthy, these are the facts as to the real purchasers, it is very likely the affair has been so managed that Vanderbilt, speaking in a literal way, says he was not the purchaser. The main advantage of the purchase to Vanderbilt is that he and his friends now control a road which might have given serious trouble to his entire system of roads from New York to Chicago. The effect of the transaction on the Stock Exchange was to cause a decided change in its tone and in that it clears up the speculative situation. The change may become even more marked."

Chicago, October 27.—A gentleman here, who is in a position to know whereof he speaks, says the purchase of the Nickel Plate road, instead of being in the interest of Vanderbilt is in opposition to him. His statement is to the effect that some time since Devereaux and Burke, in whose name the Nickel Plate was purchased, together with Vanderbilt and some English capitalists, purchased the Cleaveland, Columbus, Cincinnati & Indianapolis, Vanderbilt, it is said, promising with his lines to the extent of making it dividend paying; that after the directory was reclassified to suit Vanderbilt, the other members of the syndicate discovered Vanderbilt had sold his interest and quietly withdrawn; that this occasioned their ill-will; that, in order to retaliate on him, Devereaux and Burke induced English capitalists to buy the Nickel Plate, which, with the "three C's & I," created an independent system, enabling them to inflict retaliatry punishment on Vanderbilt. There is a suspicion that Gould, far in the back ground, is the retaliating party.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—Evidence is accumulating of an approaching bitter contest between the Vanderbilt-Canada Southern and the Gould-Nickel Plate lines. Gould will use the latter in connection with the Wabash as a direct outlet from Chicago to Detroit, where, by, connecting with the Great Western, it will become a direct competitor of the Vanderbilt lines.

It is announced that the Nickel Plate Road has completed arrangements by which its trains will run from Buffalo over the Erie to Elmira, N. Y., thence over the Lehigh Valley into New York City, and when the Lehigh is completed to Buffalo trains will run direct over its track from the Nickel Plate terminus.

The following version of the sale is taken from the N. Y. Sun:

J. H. Devereaux, President of the Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati and Indianapolis Railway Company, and Judge Stevenson Burke, Vice President of that company, and also Vice President of the Columbus, Hocking, and Valley and Toledo Railway as representatives of a syndicate that is represented in both roads, have acquired control of the New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railway, more familiarly known as the Nickel Plate road.

A year and a half ago George I. Seney, President of the Metropolitan Bank of this city; Gen. Samuel Thomas, C. S. Brice, and Gov. Charles Foster, of Ohio; Walston H. Brown and Nelson Robinson, prominent bankers of this city; C. R. Cummings, of Chicago, and their friends, undertook to build about 521 miles of railroad between Buffalo and Chicago, practically parallel to Vanderbilt's Lake Shore and Michigan Southern road.

The object of the road was to compete directly with the Lake Shore. Mr. Vanderbilt, however, has always decried the road, said that he had no use for it, and that it was built to sell. On Wednesday the entire road was open for business. The company has issued $28,000,000 of common stock and $22,000,000 of preferred stock, and bonded the road for $15,000,000, and has the right to issue $4,000,000 equipment bonds—a total of $69,000,000. The stock and bonds representing construction, $65,000,000, have been dealt in in the Stock Exchange for some time, and the projectors of the road have sold a large part of their securities in the open market. Yesterday C. S. Brice, First Vice President, and Gen. Thomas, one of the leading directors, acting on behalf of the projectors, sold for them all the stock they had left to Messrs. Devereaux and Burke. It is understood that Mr. Seney turned into the selling pool about 30,000 shares of stock, some of which he has bought in the market during the last two days; Walston H. Brown & Co. about 20,000 shares, and the others enough to make a total of about 125,000 shares. The price paid was $37 per share for the preferred and $17 per share for the common, about the present market price. Other stock has been acquired by the purchasers, sufficient to give them the control, if they do not own a majority of the stock. The people who sold yesterday give their proxy will with their stock, and will make no effort to be represented in a new Board. This was necessary because the directors are elected in classes, and without the wholesale retirement of the present Board it would require several years before an entire new Board could be elected. It was at first generally believed that the purchase was made in the interest of or for Mr. Vanderbilt. He denied last evening that such was the case. Judge Burke said the deal was made in the interests of the two roads mentioned above, in one of which, the C., C., C. and I., Mr. Vanderbilt is interested. It would be, he said, a connection of value to both roads. The report of the sale brought an unusual number of railroad and Wall street men to the Windsor Hotel last evening, and the opinion was expressed that the change of ownership would result in the removal of the Nickel Plate as a formidable factor in the trunk line pool. Judge Burke said that there was no intention to entirely supersede the present management either immediately or more rapidly than the classification of directors admits. It is stated that the purchasers may divide their acquisition with persons interested in other roads.

THE MICHIGAN BRANCH.

The following items are clipped from our Battle Creek and Marshall exchanges, which show the progress of the work at the west end of the line.

"At the stockholders' meeting of the Toledo and Milwaukee railway, held in Marshall on the 25th, a Board of Directors was chosen as follows: C. R. Cummings, of Chicago; C. S. Brice, of Lima, Ohio; Samuel Thomson, of Columbus, Ohio; J. A. Latcha, of Cleveland, Ohio; James E. Neal, of Hamilton, Ohio. Of these, Mr. Cummings is the President of the Nickel Plate road, Mr. Brice the Vice President, and Mr. Neal the General Attorney. In a letter received by Judge Ingersoll Mr. Neal says that the construction of the road will be pushed right along."

"The Nickel Plate Company have purchased the Allegan branch of the G. R. and I. R. R., it being a portion of the Mansfield and Coldwater grade, extending from Monteith to Allegan, and has been in use for a number of years."

"Two car loads of scrapers and plows, for use on the T. and M. grade, arrived in this city on Tuesday, and were taken to the Battle Creek Machinery Company, to be placed in good order."

"Work on the T. and M. road is now under way from Beadle lake east. At the lake they connect with the old Mansfield grade, which will be used from that point west."

The Toledo Telegram says:

Cleveland, Oct. 30.—Judge Burke, having returned home, was asked today concerning the recent purchase of the control of the Nickel Plate. He declines to tell who compose the purchasing syndicate, but says the road will be operated as an independent road, and to some extent, at least, will be a competitor of the Lake Shore. He said he purchased 135,000 of preferred stock, at 37, and 130,000 common at 17, making 265,000 of the 500,000 shares of the road's stock. He has stopped further purchase until he ascertains whether the syndicate wish more. There Judge Burke denies the report that the purchasers assumed to take care of the bonds and interest for one year without recourse to the earnings of the road. He says the transaction was simply a purchase of stock and no obligation was assumed beyond what naturally goes with the ownership of the controlling amount of shares. The syndicate has no defined plan and has not consulted with reference to officers. Judge Burke thinks no sweeping change of employes will be made. A conference of the syndicate will soon be called. At present Judge Burke says it is not known precisely how many will be in it. The belief is gaining ground here that the syndicate is substantially the same as owns the Hocking Valley road, and to a large extent the coal fields in this State. It is made up of English, Ohio and New York capitalists.

The Cincinnati Enquirer says:

There is a hitch in the transfer of the controlling interest in the Nickel Plate road, and up to 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon it had not been made. The probabilities are that Mr. Cal. Brice and one or two others sold their interests at the figures heretofore given, and agreed to sell enough more at the same price to give the control of the road to the purchasers, but so far they have been unable to get control of the goods, and consequently could not make the delivery. Whether they will be able to do so remains to be seen.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 30.—Judge Burke stated in an interview this afternoon with reference to the Nickle-

Concluded on next page.

From the Danvers (Mass.) Mirror: Mr. Geo. H. Day of this town, was cured of rheumatism by St. Jacobs Oil.

OUR NEW

FALL STOCK

—OF—

HEAVY DRAPERIES

is rapidly coming in, and is well worthy of your attention. We make up

Long Curtains,
Portieres,
Valances,

—AND—

MANTLE LAMBREQUINS,

All in the Latest Styles and of the Newest materials.

We give special attention to Interior Decorations and ask the favor of a call from those thinking of such improvements.

STERLING & CO.,

196 & 198 Summit Street,

TOLEDO, OHIO.

1831 THE CULTIVATOR 1883

AND

Country Gentleman.

THE BEST OF THE AGRICULTURAL WEEKLIES.

The Country Gentleman is the Leading Journal of American Agriculture. In amount and practical value of contents, in extent and ability of correspondence, in quality of paper and style of publication, it occupies the FIRST RANK. It is believed to have no superior in either of the three chief divisions of

Farm Crops and Processes,
Horticultural and Fruit Growing,
Live Stock and Dairying,

while it also includes all minor departments of rural interest, such as the Poultry Yard, Entomology, Bee-Keeping, Greenhouse and Grapery, Veterinary Replies, Farm Questions and Answers, Fireside Reading, Domestic Economy, and a Summary of the News of the Week. Its Market Reports are usually complete, and much attention is paid to the Prospects of the Crops, as throwing light upon one of the most important of all questions—When to Buy and When to Sell. It is liberally illustrated, and is intended to supply, in a continually increasing degree and in the best sense of the term a

Live Agricultural Newspaper,

The Volume of the Country Gentleman for 1882 was GREATLY ENLARGED by increasing its size from 16 to 20 pages weekly, but the terms still continue as follow, when paid strictly in advance, One copy, one year, $2,50; Four Copies, $10, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club; Ten Copies $20, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club.

All New Subscribers for 1883, paying in advance now, will receive the paper weekly, from receipt of remittance to January 1st, 1884, without charge.

Specimen Copies Free. Address

LUTHER TUCKER & SON, Publishers,
ALBANY, N. Y.

FARMERS' FRIEND,

South Bend, Indiana.

ONLY FIFTY CENTS A YEAR.

Circulation 33,000.

The largest and best agricultural paper in the country. Eight large pages, 48 columns, few advertisements and almost double the reading matter given by the $1.50 and $2 agricultural papers, but we send it to you for 50 cents a year. Premiums to every subscriber, premiums to club raisers and 232 splendid presents given them in addition, consisting of a $170 New Bristol Clover Huller, complete, including re-cleaning attachment, which cleans the seed as threshed; a $60 Cassady Sulky Plow; a $65 Studebaker Farm Wagon; Oliver Chilled Plows, Sewing Machine, Silverware, etc. Some of the departments of the Farmers' Friend are Farm Topics, The Orchard, Live Stock, The Poultry Yard, Home and Health, Domestic Economy, Young Folks, The Puzzler, The Story Teller, The Funny Place, Sunday Reading, The Clover Leaf, The Apiary, Letter Basket, Various Topics, Correspondence, Hints for the Season, World's Record, etc. Practical farmers and the best writers contribute to it. Agents make money canvassing for it. Any subscriber authorized to act as agent. Send 50 cents for a year's subscription, or write your name and those of your neighbors on a postal card for free sample copies and our Illustrated Premium List.

Address,

FARMERS' FRIEND PUB. CO.,
South Bend, Ind.

Gray's Specific Medicine.

The Great English Remedy. An unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhea Impotency, and all Diseases that follow as a sequence of Self-Abuse; as loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the Back, Dimness of Vision, Premature Old Age, and many other diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a Premature Grave.

BEFORE TAKING. AFTER TAKING.

Full particulars in our pamphlet, which we desire to send free by mail to every one. The Specific Medicine is sold by all druggists at $1 per package, or six packages for $5, or will be sent free by mail on the receipt of the money, by addressing

THE GRAY MEDICINE CO., Buffalo, N. Y.

On account of counterfeits, we have adopted the Yellow Wrapper, the only genuine. Guarantees of cure issued by

FARRAND WILLIAMS & CO.,
Wholesale Agents, Detroit.

ONLY $20

for this style of PHILADELPHIA SINGER. Equal to any Singer in the market. Remember, we send it to be examined before you pay for it. This is the same style other companies retail for $50. All Machines warranted for 5 years. Send for Illustrated Circular and Testimonials. Address

CHARLES A. WOOD & CO.,
17 N. Tenth St., Philadelphia, Pa.

CHOICE VILLAGE LOTS.

The Trustees of the Universalist Parish offer for sale two building lots taken from their church property. One lot on corner of Union and Logan streets, opposite E. B. Wood's corner, and one lot fronting on Logan street. A plot of the lots, showing the size, price, etc., can be seen at the

HERALD OFFICE.

DRUNKENNESS & OPIUM EATING.

C. C. Beers, M. D. & Son, 438 Fourth avenue New York, have painless remedies for these evils. Thousands cured. Call or send stamp for evidence.

KIES BROTHERS!

Call special attention to their

MAMMOTH AND ATTRACTIVE

FALL STOCK

OF

CLOTHING,

OVERCOATS, HATS & CAPS

and Gents' Furnishing Goods,

FOR MEN, BOYS & CHILDREN.

Every inch of Counter and Shelf room in our store is filled with

New Goods!

and the largest and most complete stock ever brought to Tecumseh.

EVERY GARMENT GUARANTEED AS REPRESENTED.

PRICES LOW.

KIES BROS.,

ONE PRICE CLOTHIERS,

Mills Block. TECUMSEH, MICH.

Make No Mistake!

If you are about to purchase for yourself or your boys anything in the line of

BOOTS & SHOES

Be sure and call at

LEE'S

Where you will find an entire

NEW STOCK

Which will be sold at bottom prices. We ask you to call and examine these goods as we will make it an object for you to purchase of us.

REMEMBER THE PLACE!!

HEWITT'S BLOCK.

RS!
IVE OCK
NG,
CAPS
Goods.
LDREN.
ur store is ods! brought to
PRESENTED.
DS.,
ERS,
CH. cake!
self or your f
OES
e
We ask you
s we will se of us.
ACE!!

AMUSEMENTS.

OPERA HOUSE, TECUMSEH.

SATURDAY EVENING, NOV. 4th.

EIGHTH SEASON.

Previous to the Departure for and Opening at the Alexandria Palace, London, England.

The New Version of America's Standard Play,

Which the people are flocking en masse to see. Standing room at a premium, and people turned away five nights out of the six.

ANTHONY & ELLIS'
WORLD FAMOUS IDEAL
DOUBLE MAMMOTH
UNCLE TOM'S CABIN

Everything new. Costly attractions which no other managers with big enormous expense care to offer.

POWERFUL DOUBLE COMPANY, MAGNIFICENT SCENERY BY GETZ THE TWO GREAT DOUBLE TOPSY'S,

THE MEMPHIS UNIVERSITY STUDENTS,

The Grandest Harmony of Colored Voices in the Country.

The Great Spectacular and Mechanical Waterfall Scene.

A Magnificent Fall of Real Running Water. The largest ever produced on any Stage. Constructed for never at a greater outlay than those built by him for Booth's and Haverly's Theatres, New York.

LITTLE GENEVIEVE ANDERSON,

The Wonderful Child Actress, will appear at each performance with her

BEAUTIFUL PET PONY.

The Only Genuine Pack of Imported

SIBERIAN BLOODHOUNDS.

THE COMICAL TRAINED DONKEY TONY.

With many other New and Original Features.

You have never seen Uncle Tom's Cabin until you witness this Grand Spectacular Production of the New Version.

Reserved Seats now on sale at Kell's Jewelry Store.

ADMISSION, - - - - 35 Cents
CHILDREN, - - - - - 25 "
RESERVED SEATS, - - - - 50 "

No Extra. No Higher. Secure Seats Early and avoid the Jam at Night.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

NOTICE.

All persons indebted to the late firm of KENNEDY & Co. are requested to call on W. N. Snedicor & Co., immediately, and settle, as the books must be balanced. W. N. SNEDICOR & CO.

DISSOLUTION NOTICE.

The firm of KENNEDY & Co., heretofore transacting an Agricultural Implement business in the village of Tecumseh, is this day dissolved by mutual consent, A. A. Kennedy retiring. The books and accounts will be left with W. N. Snedicor & Co., for settlement, who will continue the business at the old stand. KENNEDY & CO.

Tecumseh, Nov. 1st, 1882.

NOTICE.

I hereby notify and warn all persons from purchasing farm rights to use the Covell Patent Portable Fence from other persons than the undersigned or E. N. Vescelius in the North half of Lenawee County, as I own the right for this territory, and will prosecute all infringements to the full extent of the law. SYLVESTER MILLER.

WANTED.

Ten Good Heavy Work Horses, for the pine woods. Apply at once, to A. W. SLAYTON.

NOTICE.

Dr. Stewart's dental rooms will be closed until the 12th of the present month.

FOR SALE.

A good work horse for sale, also a spring wagon. Apply to L. MARTIN.

NOTICE.

I have this day bought out the interest of A. A. Kennedy in the Agricultural Implement business, and shall continue to do business at the old stand, in Lee's Block. Thanking my patrons for the trade in the past, I hope, by square and honorable dealing, to merit a continuance of the same.

W. N. SNEDICOR & CO.

TECUMSEH, Michigan, Nov. 1st, 1882.

FOR SALE.

58 good ewes and 1 fine wool buck. A new platform wagon for sale or exchange toward a good horse. E. C. CORYELL. WM. F. HARDING.

A BARGAIN.

Contemplating a change in business, I now offer for sale my MEAT MARKET, complete, lease of location, machinery, consisting of Steam Sausage Cutter, Engine, Meat Blocks Refrigerator, Slaughter Houses, etc., in all one of the most complete markets in Southern Michigan. Also my HOUSE AND LOT on Kilbuck street, ice house and ice business, horses, wagons, sleighs, etc. For terms and particulars inquire of J. W. COLE.

WANTED.

We want to buy 500 tons of good timothy hay not far from Britton station. Apply to Slayton & Nelson at A. W. Slayton's furniture store.

POULTRY AND CLOVER SEED.

Take your poultry and clover seed to L. D. Dewey of Raisin Valley, as he pays a dollar a hundred more than any shipper in town, and will do it all winter. Take in every day.

SHEEP FOR SALE.

Twenty wool bucks.

BURT MORLEY.

FOR SALE.

Business calling me in another direction, I offer my place for sale cheap. Said premises consist of two acres of land, a good house, new barn, well, cistern, etc. Just outside of corporation.

S. H. SMITH,
Chicago street west.

FOR SALE.

A new parlor suit for sale very cheap. Enquire at the Exchange hotel. J. H. EMERY.

TO RENT.

A good house to rent in a desirable location.

JAMES MONTAGUE.

FOR SALE.

80 acres of good land situated 3 miles Southeast of Tecumseh on section 1 in Raisin. For particulars enquire of C. D. BILLS.

FOR SALE CHEAP.

A good small farm situated within a half an hours ride of the village of Tecumseh, for sale at a bargain. Fine buildings, a nice young orchard and in all one of the finest small farms in Lenawee co. For full particulars enquire at the

HERALD OFFICE.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

TECUMSEH, MICH. NOV. 2, 1882.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

NEXT Saturday is the last day for registration.

ALBERT HYDE, SR., and family, arrived home from a visit to Branch county last Monday.

A man named Thomson was killed at Au Gres last week by a falling tree. His home was at Grand Blanc.

MISS LOU REYNOLDS, of Niles, is spending a few days in Tecumseh, the guest of Mrs. C. M. Burlingame.

THERE has been threshed in Lenawee county, this season, 154,890 bushels of oats; average acreage, 34.15.

FIVE meat markets in Hudson. Her good people ought not to starve, whatever may become of the butchers.

A TEMPERANCE meeting will be held in Heesen's hall on Sunday next, at 3 P. M. Address by Rev. Mr. Babbitt.

The Register says P. M. Osgood of Ann Arbor township, raised 240 bush. of potatoes on one acre of ground this season.

A Jackson merchant nearly 90 yrs. old was married a few days ago to a lady of nearly 70 years—the giddy young things.

L. A. CHAPMAN started yesterday to make a visit to his old home in Connecticut. We wish him a pleasant journey and a good time.

A. W. SLAYTON has a new ad. in this week's paper about men and teams wanted on the new railroad. It would pay all to read it.

William Torrent, who shot young Philabaum at Muskegon a few days ago, has been declared insane, and will be sent to an asylum.

H. BREWER & Co. have been making more improvements, having recovered their pattern house and built a new coal shed and store house.

ARRANGEMENTS have been made by which the telephone office will be kept open next Tuesday evening to receive election returns. The Clinton office will be kept open also.

THE 109 lock boxes in the post-office have all been taken, and Postmaster Rosecrans has ordered another section of fifty boxes. They will be placed in position the last of the week.

THE Junior class in the Chautauqua College of Reading will hold its next regular meeting at the Baptist parsonage next Monday evening. Recitations to begin promptly at 7 o'clock.

JAMES B. COLVIN, of Raisin, had one field of corn this season from which he has husked one hundred and twenty bushels to the acre. He has left a few sample ears at our office.

THE new Friends' meeting house at Holloway was dedicated last Sunday. There was a very large attendance, and the debt on the building amounting to $530 was entirely wiped out. It was a highly successful and interesting meeting.

THE Baptist state convention recently held at Niles requested every Baptist pastor in the state to preach on the Prohibitory Amendment before the 7th of November. Accordingly Rev. C. E. Conley will preach on the Amendment in his church next Sunday evening.

THE regular quarterly meeting of Lenawee Co. Grange will be held with Canandaigua Grange, at Masonic hall in the village of Medina, on Thursday, Nov. 9, at 10 A. M. Good speakers, a good program, and a general good time. All Patrons are invited. The fifth degree will be conferred in the evening.

Jackson Patriot: We are informed that the new telephone wire from this point east reached Ann Arbor yesterday, in which case Jackson may be considered as telephonically connected with the City of the Straits. However, until the opening of a public office here no messages will be allowed either way over the line.

Deerfield Record: Mrs. Clarkson's three year old boy came near causing a conflagration the other day. He ignited a match and threw it upon a bed, which was nearly destroyed by the flames before the fire was discovered and extinguished. A moment more and it would have been impossible to have saved the house.

NEXT Sabbath will be the anniversary of Rev. R. S. Pardington's pastorate in the ministry of the M. E. church. In the evening he will deliver an address on "Sunshine and Shadow during a Pastorate of 25 years.—The morning service will consist of an address on "Church Membership," to be followed by the reception of several into the church.

LOUIS HERNING, at the new meat market, one door west of McCowen's furniture rooms, wishes to announce to the good people of Tecumseh and vicinity that he is now prepared to furnish them with the best of meats, at the very lowest possible figures. He is now selling beef steaks at from 10 to 12½ cents; pork steak, 12½; sausage, 12½; bologna, 15. Call and give him an order.

SPECIAL Masonic meeting to-morrow evening. Work in the third degree.

A NEW daily paper at Battle Creek has made its appearance. It is called the Republican.

COUNTY Clerk T. M. Hunter has made a most faithful and competent officer, and his friends in these parts, regardless of party, will remember it on election day too.

L'T. SALSBURY, of Hudson, has hosts of friends in northeastern Lenawee who will bear in mind next Tuesday that he is running for Prosecuting attorney. He will get the soldier's vote solid, all the Democrats, every one of the Greenbackers, and lots of Republicans.

MR. HANNIBAL OSBORN returned to-day from an extended trip to the east, having visited the old home of his boyhood in Farmer village, Seneca county, N. Y. He reports having had a splendid time and returns in the best of health, and is ready to help push the completion of our new railroad.

Deerfield Record: Fred Weidmann started Thursday, on a trip to Brooklyn, N. Y. He has formed a company with a brother and another gentleman under the firm name of Weidmann Bros. & Misener, for the manufacture of staves and heading at a place in Canada, where they have bought a mill and a large tract of land.

Deerfield Record: S. C. Blinn is loading his mill machinery and household goods on the cars for shipment to Ridgetown, Canada, where he has finally decided to locate. We understand that as an inducement for him to erect his stave factory in that town, the inhabitants agreed to pay the custom duties on his machinery, etc., amounting to $1,500.

WE are turning out at the HERALD Job rooms this week a large amount of work for the National Relief and Accident Association. The business of this company is rapidly increasing, and the Asecoiation stands well in the records of legitimate life insurance.

THE following names were added to the list of Clinton telephone subscribers last week:

John Smith & Son, store.
B. O. Randall & Co., "
S. Erskine, hotel.
E. Van De Mark, residence.
E. R. Smith, residence.
Smith & Schreder, farm residence.

Former subscribers:

E. W. Freeze & Son, store.
J. S. Kies, residence.

The instruments at Clinton are a part of the Tecumseh local exchange, and calls on these parties will be promptly attended to.

FRANKLIN D. TEACHOUT, the candidate for County Treasurer on the Union ticket, is making a close canvass and a gallant run. His opponent is not personally popular, while his narrow views on the question of secret societies will naturally take many votes from him. The best test of a man's worth is what his neighbor's say about him. Judged by this standard, Mr. Teachout is certainly a most worthy candidate. In the towns of Adrian and Rome, where he has always resided, he will poll a vote largely in excess of his party strength, and we have no doubt that the same thing will hold good throughout the county at large. Wherever he has gone he has made new friends and added to the prospects for his election. We shall not be at all surprised if Franklin D. Teachout is the next Treasurer of this county.

To the Public.

Being desirous of closing out my finished Monuments and Headstones, to make room for winter stock, I will offer at greatly reduced prices, at my works in Tecumseh and Clinton, over one hundred Headstones and sixteen Monuments. The public in general, whether they intend purchasing or not, are invited to pay us a visit and examine the work, which is all new and of superior finish, and be convinced of the extreme low prices which will be offered.

S. F. MARSTELLER.

How to Get Registered.

EDITOR HERALD:—As there seems to be some misunderstanding in regard to the manner of registration, will you kindly allow me to publish in your columns the following extract from the Compiled Laws of Michigan, sec. 169: "It shall be the right of any such qualified elector residing in the township, and entitled to vote at the next election therein, and whose name has not been registered, on any day except Sunday, the days of the session of the Board of Registration, and the days intervening between them and the next approaching election, to apply to the township clerk in person for the registration of his name." From which it will be seen that names cannot be sent in by employers, neighbors or friends. I will further state that the names taken by the clerk must be reviewed by the board of registration before they are registered, as is directed by the section from which the above extract is taken.

FREDERICK B. WOOD,
Township Clerk.

WHO bought the Nickel Plate? is the absorbing question in these parts.

A young man named Albert Beckwith, of Flint, has been arrested on a charge of horse stealing.

VANDERBILT is not likely to buy a railroad, pay full market price for it and assume its debts besides. Vanderbilt doesn't buy railroads in that way.

Mr. B. F. Porter, a rich banker in Utica, N. Y., says: "I have used Brown's Iron Bitters the past year, much to the chagrin of our family physician, for neither myself, wife nor little girls have since suffered from a single day's illness. It is making us all robust and strong."

THE firm of Kennedy & Co., heretofore doing a general agricultural and produce trade, have dissolved, Mr. Kennedy retiring. The farm implement part of the trade will be conducted by Mr. Snedicor alone, but the fruit and produce business will be carried on, as before, under the firm name of Kennedy & Co.

Adrian Times: Mr. C. E. Weaver returned yesterday from trying a somewhat peculiar case for the Lake Shore railroad company at Ann Arbor. In March, 1881, a family of German emigrants were on the night train on the Jackson branch, bound for Manchester. When the train stopped at that station they failed to get off, and the train was stopped for them to get off some fifty rods past the depot. The night was dark and rainy, and they were considerably exposed before shelter was found. They accordingly brought suit against the railroad company, claiming, among other things, that the mother of the family, who died shortly after the arrival at Manchester, that night contracted the cold which caused her death, and that a little son fell in the darkness and sustained permanent injury. The plaintiff claimed at least $2,000 damages, and by the verdict obtained $325.

Uncle Tom's Cabin.

The famous double mammoth ideal Uncle Tom's Cabin Company of Anthony & Ellis, which appear in Tecumseh, on Saturday evening, Nov. 4, has at great expense the present season started out with superb scenery, stage appointments, etc., giving all an opportunity to witness a truly metropolitan representation of this great drama. Humor and pathos follow each other so closely that one is crying and laughing at once, and indeed no other play so sways the emotions of the audience as Uncle Tom's Cabin. This company has not one Topsy but two, and these two Topseys, with their songs and dances, call forth roars of laughter.

Auction Sale.

Geo. K. Getty having rented his farm will sell at auction on the premises 3 miles north-east of Britton station, on Wednesday, Nov. 8th, 1882, at 12 o'clock, M., the following property: 2 milch cows, 2 year old steer, 2 year old heifer, sow and pigs, 2000 bundles corn fodder, lumber wagon, grain drill, sulky spring tooth hay rake, double buggy, single buggy, 22 sheep, new mowing machine, set double harness, &c. Usual terms. Ben. Reynolds, auctioneer.

Mary A. Barrett having sold her farm will sell at auction ½ mile south of Ridgeway corners, on Friday, Nov. 10th, at 12 M., the following property: Span mares, cow, 3 head young cattle, yearling, 22 ewes, 14 lambs, wagon, double harness, 5 tons hay, corn stalks, hay rake, &c. Usual terms. Abe Hanford, auctioneer.

RESOLUTIONS

On the Death of Wilmot S. Pennington.

Wilmot S. Pennington, only son of Isaac Pennington, died at his father's residence, near Pennington's Corners, on the 23d inst. Entering Michigan University in the fall of 1875, he had been compelled by failing health to abandon his studies in the early part of his course. During his brief stay, he however, formed many warm friendships, and became a member of the Delta Upsilon fraternity, in which he maintained a lively interest, even until the time of his death. At a recent meeting of the Michigan Chapter of this fraternity, the following memorial resolutions were passed:

WHEREAS, God in His providence has by the hand of death removed from our fraternity our beloved brother, Wilmot S. Pennington, and

WHEREAS, Our brother was known among us by his excellent scholarship, his zealous care for the principles of our fraternity, and his genuine Christian life and character, therefore

Resolved, That in him we lose one whom natural abilities, scholarly habits and admirable qualities of heart had endeared as a brother to all who met him during the short time he was permitted to remain among us, and which have left a fragrant memory with those who are familiar with his reputation, and

Resolved, That we herein express our deep sorrow at the loss of an honored and loved associate, and extend our tender sympathy to the family and friends of our departed brother in their great sorrow, and commend them to the consolation of Him who chasteneth whom He loveth.

Resolved, That these resolutions be engrossed upon the records of the society, and that a copy be sent to the friends of the deceased.

F. C. BAILEY,
JOB TUTHILL,
C. W. CARMAN, } Committee.

THE RAILROAD.

Concluded from 4th page.

Plate deal: "Have purchased 265,000 shares of the 500,090, but have stopped further purchases until I hear from other members of the syndicate." He refused to give names, but said several capitalists were in the deal, and it may be set down as certain that the names in yesterday's Enquirer are correct. He said 135,000 preferred and 130,000 common had been purchased, and the price paid $7,295,000. Regarding the report that the purchasers assumed the payment of a year's interest on the 17,800,000 worth of bonds outstanding without recourse to the earnings of the road. Burke said the report was not true; the transaction was a purchase pure and simple of a controlling interest, and we assumed nothing more than the responsibility which a controlling amount of stock naturally carries with it. Our relation is the same as other stockholders, except in the amount of stock we own. The road will be an independent one, and a competitor of the Lake Shore. No change will be made until the January election. Of course, changes will be made to some extent." Judge Burke leaves to-morrow for New York to make a payment on the purchased stock.

The following version of the sale is taken from the Cleveland Leader:

It was said yesterday on good authority to the Leader that the Nickel Plate stock was bought neither for Gould nor Vanderbilt, but for a syndicate composed of English capitalists. It will be remembered that a large block of the Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati & Indianapolis Railway's stock is in English hands, and the same persons are building the West Shore & Buffalo, and are also largely interested in the Hocking Valley.

Vanderbilt would not have been able to control the election of the C., C., C. & I. directors, at the last annual meeting, had not some $3,000,000 worth of the stock of the road been thrown out on account of litigation, and it is thought that he will not be able to influence the next election to any extent. This being the fact, it is safe to presume that the Vanderbilt interest has not been consulted by the Bee Railway line managers in the recent Nickel Plate negotiations. With the C., C., C. & I., the Hocking Valley, the Nickel Plate, and West Shore & Buffalo, all pulling together, a powerful organization is effected. New York, Buffalo, Cleveland, Chicago, St. Louis, Columbus and Cincinnati are connected by practically one line of road. The Leader's informant further stated that in his opinion the 1st of January would see President Devereux out of the Vanderbilt control, and placed at the head of one of the most powerful systems of railway in the country. Many different opinions have been put forth relative to the sale of the Nickel Plate stock, but they all agree in one particular—that the C., C., C. & I. Railway is to be a gainer by the transaction.

The Chicago Tribune has the following version of the transaction, and we are inclined to regard this as the true theory:

It has been the opinion of many men versed in railroad affairs that the true inwardness of the recent visit to Chicago of a number of the most prominent Eastern railroad magnates had not yet been divulged, notwithstanding numerous apparently frank and open interviews on matters of general interest. It can now be stated on authority of parties interested that their recent visit to this city substantially concluded the arrangements for one of the greatest enterprises of the year.

The project, as stated by the officials of the Lehigh Valley road, includes the purchase of the Nickel Plate by that road, instead of by Vanderbilt, and the establishment of an immense anthracite coal depot near South Chicago, and probably also the location of new stock yards in the same vicinity.

A Tribune reporter boarded the special train of the Lehigh Valley officials just as it was leaving the Michigan Central depot yesterday afternoon, and rode with the party as far as Kensington. "Mr. Byington," said the reporter to the general passenger agent of the Lehigh Valley road, "there is a report afloat to the effect that your road is the real purchaser of the Nickel Plate, and that Vanderbilt has not bought it after all. What truth is there in the report?"

"Well, what would there be surprising about it if we had," smilingly answered Mr. Byington. "Anybody can see at a glance that such a road would be of great value to us. You see we have next to the largest anthracite coal lands in the United States, and the Western demand has so steadily and rapidly increased that we find it necessary for our interests to establish a coal depot at Chicago which will be the largest in the West. Now, such a company as ours, with the capital we have, must of course have the best facilities for transporting and handling our products, and we have long seen that to have these advantages we must have a line of our own to Chicago. In short, the gist of the matter is that the time is close at hand when we shall have one."

"Then you mean to say, do you, that the Lehigh Valley Road has purchased the Nickel Plate?"

"I can say that it would not surprise me at all if it had, because it would be very reasonable. Of course I don't want to say what we have or have not done until we have returned to the East, but I can say that I feel sure that it is not Vanderbilt who has bought a a controlling interest in the Nickel Plate."

Another of the officials in the party said to the reporter: "The Lehigh Valley has long had its mind made up to push on to Chicago, and when the Nickel Plate was built there was a tacit understanding that upon its completion it would be sold to us. I feel sure that Devereaux and Burke, who are very friendly to the Lehigh Valley people, purchased it in our interest. One thing is certain, our people fully intended to buy the Nickel Plate, and if it has not already been purchased in our interest it will be eventually. If it be true that we are mistaken, a new road to Chicago will be built by our people."

"Do you think a new road will be built?"

"No, I do not. The chances are ninety-nine out of a hundred that the Nickel Plate will soon be a part of a new trunk line between New York and Chicago, independent of Vanderbilt, and under the management of the Lehigh Valley Company."

"We certainly propose to have a road of our own into Chicago. Our interests are increasing in immensity every year. We have millions of dollars invested all along our line, and at Buffalo improvements to cost over three millions are under way. At or near South Chicago we have purchased a large amount of land, and are identified with a company which has the capital and the purpose to develop that portion of the country beyond the most sanguine expectations of the people interested at that point."

"To what company do you refer?"

"To the East Chicago Improvement Company. It has a capital of $16,000,000 I believe. We were among the original subscribers, and we propose to see it carried out as originally planned. Our particular purpose is to get a location for a large coal depot. Other interests have joined us, and a powerful organization has been effected, which I anticipate will begin operations in the near future."

"Who are the parties interested in this enterprise?"

"I can't give the names of them all, being but one of the syndicate, but among them are Jay Gould, Samuel J. Tilden, C. N. Jourdan, the Lehigh Valley Company, Alexander, and Green. There are other capitalists, but I do not remember their names."

"This project has been in progress for some time, has it not?"

"Yes, for a year or more. When it was proposed it was understood that English capitalists were to subscribe largely, but they have not been as active as was expected, and the stock will now be taken up here in America, and the enterprise carried through with American capital."

"Will this company construct a harbor at the mouth of Wolf River?"

"Yes, that is one of the first things to be done. The government should do it; but we do not propose to wait to get an appropriation for that purpose. We shall go right to work and build our harbor, and when I return to Chicago, in the course of a few weeks, I will be able to tell you more about the project."

"Do you know where Jay Gould proposes to build his new stock yards?"

"I think very likely that they will be in the immediate vicinity of East Chicago, on the Belt Line system."

Mr. Packer said further that at present no more could be stated, but hinted that the near future would see some astonishing developments of interest to Chicago people.

The first payment on the alleged purchase was to have been made yesterday in New York, and hence the public will soon know more about the nature of the transaction.

THE MICHIGAN BRANCH.

Tecumseh people have more than a passing interest in the sale of the Nickel Plate, on account of the intimate relation between that line and the Toledo & Milwaukee enterprise. But whatever the true theory may be in regard to the sale of the Nickel Plate, it will not retard the work on this line a single day. We can assure our readers that the following intelligence about the T. & M. road can be relied upon.

1st. This road has bought the track, road-bed and good will of the plug from Allegan to Monteith, and paid for it. Col. Neal closed the purchase early in October.

2d. The T. & M. has bought the old Mansfield grade west of Battle Creek to a junction with the Allegan plug above mentioned, and gangs of men are now at work putting this grade in shape for the ties and iron.

3d. Right of way conveyances are being taken this week between Battle Creek and Marshall, and active work in grading will be commenced on that section next week, if it has not already begun.

4th. The contracts for grading have been let between Marshal and Britton station, in twelve mile sections, and just as soon as the right of way conveyances can be completed work will be begun by separate gangs of men on every section.

5th. Agents to close the right of way will be in Tecumseh very soon to push that work in this county. Mr. Scovill, who is to assist in that business, arrived in town yesterday, and another man is expected the latter part of the week.

6th. That the T. & M. road will be pushed to an early completion there is no doubt whatever. The only points about its construction yet undecided are these: whether it will take in Albion or Homer, and whether it will run from Britton to Dundee, or from Britton direct to Toledo.

Engineer Baird and Mr. Scovill were at Ridgeway yesterday, picking up some right of way which had not been completed, and they are at work in Ridgeway to-day.

Chief Engineer Boch arrived in town from Marshall this morning, and started for Franklin and Cambridge. The surveying parties in those towns will proceed at once to permanently locate the line from the Tecumseh town line to Addison.

A straw of significance has appeared at Britton. The T. & M. line, as located, passes directly through the Wabash water-tank at Britton. The track-master has received orders to move the tank. This little incident shows that the T. & M. officials mean business, and also that they are on friendly relations with the Wabash road.

—Everybody call at W. Comfort's cabbage patch and get their winter supply of cabbages. 40,000 for sale cheap, and going by the wagon load.

LODGES AND SOCIETIS

TECUMSEH LODGE, NO. 14, I. O. O. F

REGULAR MEETINGS every Tuesday Evening [illegible] Lodge Room over Brewer's store. Ch. [illegible] J. W. WOODIN, N. G.

[illegible] Hawks, Sec

Railroad Time Tables.

[illegible] and M. S. RAILROAD

[illegible]

SPECIAL NOTICE

[illegible]

J. S. SATTERTHWAITE, Ticket Agent

Post Office, Tecumseh, Michigan.

[illegible]

OVERLAND

[illegible]

ARRIVALS

[illegible]

For the Latest Styles of

Buggies, Carriages

SLEIGHS AND HARNESS,

[illegible] CARRIAGE FACTORY

[illegible] SATISFACTION GUARANTEED

J. R. [illegible] VALLEY

ABE HANFORD

General Auctioneer.

All Auction business entrusted to his care will receive prompt attention.

TECUMSEH - MICHIGAN

BEN REYNOLDS,

Licensed Auctioneer.

ALL AUCTION BUSINESS [illegible]

[illegible]

TECUMSEH, MICH.

B. F. STEINHOFF'S

Dental Rooms.

[illegible] GAS FOR EXTRACTING.

THE LOWEST PRICES OF THE BEST WORK

LOOSER'S EXTRACT

RED CLOVER BLOSSOM.

The Great Blood Purifier

PURE AND HARMLESS

[illegible] Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation. They act on the liver and kidneys. [illegible] For Sale by all druggists. [illegible] A. H. Foote & Co., Monroe, Mich. Send for circular.

I have removed my

BLACKSMITH SHOP

To the old stand of J. H. Mills, On Logan Street,

Opposite Hayden's Warehouse where I have better facilities than ever for doing good work.

Horse Shoeing a specialty

ED. ROWLAND.

Flash.

THE OLD MAN'S STORY

Flash was a white-footed sorrel, an' runs on N. [illegible]
Not much in stable manners—and average [illegible] horse;
Now and then his methods—strong in love an' [illegible] knives;
Not very much respected, or popular mostest [illegible] his mates;
Dull, an' moody an' sleepy—on "off" an' quiet [illegible] days;
Full of turbulent, sour looks, an' spiteful caresses [illegible] the ways;
Scowled an' bit at the partner, an' banged the [illegible] stable door—
Jest other tricks intended to designate life a [illegible] bore.
But when, the day or night time, he heard the [illegible] yellow bull dog
He'd rock up his ears, prance at the harness with a [illegible]
[illegible] with horrible shivers the guest of [illegible] bed;
[illegible] long he did this to lend a [illegible]
[illegible] I'd say, given, away he would [illegible] year.
As a thoroughbred witches has a rumpkin for life [illegible]
An' make his mate go crazy with its peculiarities [illegible]
For every hoof-beat sounded a regiment fire [illegible]
Never a horse a jockey would worship an' [illegible]
Like Flash in front of his enemy, a racin' with a fire;
Never a horse so lazy, so dawdlin', an' so slack
As Flash upon his return trip, a drawin' the [illegible] back.
Now, when the different horses gets tender [illegible] food at an out
They aren't much use in our business, so Flash was pretty sold
To quite a respectable miskinnin' who found it not so fine
A-possin' of feels creatures outside of their regular line.
Seems as if I could see Flash a-mopin' along here now,
A-dreamin' that he was simply assistant to a cow;
But sometimes I'd imagine he heard the alarm Lem's dog
An' jump an' tear for a minute before they could hold him in.
An' once, in spite of his master, he strolled in amongst us chaps,
To talk with other horses, of former pictures, perhaps
When at the milkman kicked him; wherefor, his boys to please,
He begged that horse's pardon upon his bended knees.
But one day, for a big fire as we was makin' a dash
Both of the horses we had on some what resembling Flash,
Yellin' an' a-goin' an' rushin', with excellent voice an' heart,
We passed the poor old fellow, a-lingerin' away at his part.
If ever I see an old horse grow upwards into a new If ever I see a driver whose traps behind him flew,
'Twas that old horse, a-rompin' an' rushin' down the track,
An' that purty-labbe milkman, a-tryin' to hold him back.
Away he dashed like a cyclone for the head of [illegible]
Cleared the [illegible] an' kept it, an' steered his journey free;
Dodgin' the wheels an' horses, an' still on the [illegible]
An' finishin' all that district with good results [illegible]
Crowd is never in an' rushin' and vainly hollerin' in "Whoa!"
Milkman he's off an' sawin' with never a bit of show
For men to gain, an' chuckin', and hollerin', "[illegible]"
Hoss a-puttin' down to it, an' sweepin' along like sin.
Finally stops where the fire was, halted with a [illegible]
Sent the respectable milkman heels over head in mud;
Watched till he saw the engine properly working in the [illegible]
After which he resigned, had all interest in the affair;
Moped an' wilted an' dawdled—faded away [illegible] time more;
Took up his old occupation of voin' life a [illegible]
Laid down in his harness, and—sorry I am to say
The milkman, he had drawn there, drew his [illegible] finally away.
That's the Whoopee mix story: I've seen, more'n [illegible]
That prize [illegible] actions are full of [illegible]
An' if Flash, a-[illegible] Flash to-night, I simply [illegible] swear to, then,
That poor old horse was a symbol of some [illegible] belonged men.

—W. [illegible] in Harper's Magazine for October.

A Shepherd's Dog.

A San Antonio (Tex.) correspondent [illegible] the accompaniments of a collie [illegible] today: I have seen him, at a word from the shepherd, round up and put between sixteen and seventeen hundred sheep in a pen (many of them wild Mexicans, and not chase nor crowd any of them. The little chap would mass this large flock of scattered sheep and direct them toward the pen in half the time that several men could do it. When penning the sheep he had to work from down a long hill that sloped to a flat that the pen was built upon. When close in upon any portion of the flock he could not see over them, and would scamper back up the hill and [illegible] the pen, and [illegible] the sheep. [illegible] When the last sheep and [illegible] was inside, he would sit down in the gate and chase the dust with his tail, until the shepherd commenced putting up the poles that formed the gate, and he was seen [illegible] attempts to assist in that work. In trying to drag the poles to the gate. At night he would lie in the sheep in the pen, which consisted of brush, or if they broke out would promptly put them back. I have [illegible] the sheep myself, and slept in a shed [illegible] from the pen. From [illegible] he would jump up at sunrise and would break out. The first time it occurred during Dick's absence Carolan Dick put his paws upon my breast and licked my face and whines me. I said, "Go for 'em, Dick," and he did it and put the lost sheep back into the pen, and then came back and tried to tell me that all was right. After that night he needed no further hints, but took the business into his own hands, or paws. He had no instruction, but he guarded that sheep as well as though he was 5 years of age instead of five months. If he had been guilty of any misbehavior for which he knew he deserved punishment, he would rush off and round up his flock of sheep as though he wished to show some work to atone for his misconduct. He had a nose like a bloodhound, and could follow a person's footsteps as well. I have left him sleep on the prairie more than once, stolen away and hidden myself, and watched him follow my footsteps. He would trace every step until he found me, and then would quiver for joy. Forest and Stream.

A Michigan cow got mixed in a clothes-line, and paraded the streets clad in underwear that no man could make any use of, and yet it just ought to have heard the boys whoop.

The Spoopendykes.

"This," said Mr. Spoopendyke, as he gazed around on his new acquisition of six acres, "this, my dear, is what I have always wanted. A farm and a farmer's life are the highways to happiness. Mrs. Spoopendyke, don't you think so?"

"It's perfectly lovely," rejoined Mrs. Spoopendyke. "I was born on a farm, and I was always healthy, though I had to go a good ways for water."

"I'll fix that, my dear," returned Mr. Spoopendyke. "I'll bring the water. Now where are my agricultural reports? I must plant right off if we are going to have crops, and when they're ripe we'll take them to market."

"I see the reports say you must give your hen chopped turnip once in a while," said Mrs. Spoopendyke, putting her thumb on the paragraph.

"Either that or cabbages," returned her husband. "I don't know whether we'll have cabbages enough," he continued musingly.

"You must have less buckwheat," suggested Mrs. Spoopendyke. "I would think, though, that two acres would be enough for one hen, and if it isn't you can buy a load now and then from the neighbors."

"I'll think that over," replied Mr. Spoopendyke, "there's one thing I don't understand. It says we should test a few seeds before planting, to make sure to germinate, but it don't say how to do it."

"May be it means to boil them," suggested Mrs. Spoopendyke, "or perhaps you—"

"Or, perhaps you think it means to crack 'em with an axe to see if they are hard! I s'pose you've got an idea you stick straws into 'em to see if they're all right. I think we ought to have some weevil for the pig."

"I don't know where you're going to plantit," said Mrs. Spoopendyke, "unless it will grow with buckwheat or onions. You can't put it in with the cabbage because the pig and hen would fight."

"Do you know what weevil is?" demanded Mr. Spoopendyke, glaring at his wife. "Got a notion it's some kind of weed for the pig to smoke, haven't you? Imagine it's gilt edged note paper for him to write on, don't you? Well, it isn't swallow tail coat or a plug hat for him to go to church in, neither! You don't plan't weevil, Mrs. Spoopendyke, any more than you do soap, or clothes-pins, or stair rods. You buy it in barrels, and I'll order some."

"I think we ought to have some lace curtains for the front windows," said Mrs. Spoopendyke, anxious to change conversation.

"Yes, and we want a folding bedstead for the cow, and we've got to have a new arm chair for the pig, and I'm afraid those cabbage won't do without a wet nurse," squealed Mr. Spoopendyke. "I suppose I've got to hire a man to see that the meadow don't go fishing on Sunday and upset your religious notions. Oh! you're a farmer's wife, you are! If I had time to write an index to you and get some dod gasted binder to fix you up with a fly leaf, you'd make a whole agricultural report!"

And Mr. Spoopendyke shot into the house and to bed while his wife, having put all the oil lamps into buckets of water so they couldn't explode during the night, fell asleep dreaming that the cabbage patch had eloped with the onions, while the cow and pig died of weevil, and the windmill had abandoned agricultural pursuits and started off through Ohio preaching the gospel.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Wanted Him to Feel at Home.

The managing editor of the Eagle has been spending a few weeks in the country, and now he writes with one hand while he lifts himself up by the waistband with the other, so as to keep his nails in trim. During the first day of his visit around he dropped into the local grocery store to order some New England molasses, or some thing of that sort.

"From Boston?" inquired the proprietor. "Here, Pike, you get off that bag of beans."

"No, not from Boston," replied the managing editor.

"Never mind, Pike, sit still; from New York, I suppose. Folger, you drop off that pile of burglars' tools, sudden!"

"Not New York either," smiled the managing editor.

"Keep your seat, Folger. Maybe you're from Poughkeepsie. Look here, Adams, you'd better fix off that barrel of rum before I go around there!"

"Mistaken again," said the managing editor. "I'm not from Philadelphia."

"Don't move, Adams. Sit right where you are. Perhaps you've come from Washington, sir. Philips, if you don't close off that case of wooden bustles I wish you had swapped places with Guiteau!"

"Wrong once more," observed the managing editor. "I don't come from Washington."

"That's all right, Philips, keep your seat. May I ask where you are from, sir?"

"Certainly," replied the managing editor. "I'm from Brooklyn."

"Here, John! Quick! Run over and get a stack of poker chips for the gentleman to sit on! Lively now! We always try to make a man feel at home in this section, and when he comes back, I'll see if I can't find something strong enough for you to drink, sir."—Brooklyn Eagle.

Her Position.

Rev. Edwin Thompson has raised a roar of laughter probably a thousand times with the story of a countryman's wife and children who thought they were all constables because the husband and father had been elected to the office of constable. A visitor was complimenting the wife of a prominent public functionary on the high social position she held.

"Yes, and you are very kind, sir, to say it," said she, "but what little social distinction I may have acquired is entirely due to my husband's office. If he were to die now, what would I be? I leave it to you."

Visitor (after mature reflection)—You would, madam, be a widow!

It is said that 90,000,000 of postage-stamps are annually sold in this country, and all of them have to be licked before they will do their duty.

Never Give Up.

If you are suffering with low and depressed spirits, loss of appetite, general debility, disordered blood, weak constitution, headache, or any disease of a bilious nature, by all means procure a bottle of Electric Bitters. You will be surprised to see the rapid improvement that will follow; you will be inspired with new life; strength and activity will return; pain and misery will cease, and henceforth you will join in the praise of Electric Bitters. Fifty cents a bottle.

Sold by C. A. Wright & Co.

Mormonism.

The Tithing House is still in active use in Salt Lake City, Utah, and through it half a million a year is collected by the Mormon officials. This comes mostly from the poor, according to a correspondent of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, and nobody knows to what use it is put, although many had their surmises when they found that Brigham Young, although not entitled to any salary, died worth several millions.

The rich evade their tithes in a variety of ways; the poor must pay them, or they are subjected to trouble and annoyance. When they have paid their tithes they are not out of debt to the church. They must contribute when called upon to the erection of new buildings, or do any thing else which the priesthood may demand. "Better starve your body than your soul," and away goes the last bushel of corn, or the last sheep, or the last steer.

Washington, D.C., May 15, 1880.

Gentlemen—Having been a sufferer for a long time from nervous prostration and general debility, I was advised to try Hop Bitters. I have taken one bottle and I have been rapidly getting better ever since, and I think it the best medicine I ever used. I am now gaining strength and appetite, which was all gone, and I was in despair until I tried your Bitters. I am now well, able to go about and do my own work. Before taking it I was completely prostrated.

Mrs. Mary Stuart.

A Little Idyl from a Resort.

One of the marvels of Saratoga is a couple from the South, who have been regular visitors for fourteen seasons. These two have been married twenty-four years, but the wife still addresses the husband as "dear," and he still calls her "darling," and is quite as attentive and deferential to her as he is to the wives of other men. They are both affable and sociable, fond of company, but they always are together, and alway enjoy everything in common. The weary husbands who are always inventing some excuse to avoid attendance on their families look at him with unbounded curiosity and surprise, while she is gazed upon with unconcealed envy by her less fortunate sisters. I must not omit to add, however, that this lady is wonderfully preserved both as to face and figure, dresses richly and in good taste, and her husband can take as much pride in her charms as when she was a coy maiden, twenty-five years ago. Perhaps if she had lost her beauty and freshness—but I will not spoil this little idyl.—Saratoga Letter in Baltimore Sun.

If you are a frequenter or a resident of a miasmatic district, barricade your system against the scourge of all new comers—ague, bilious and intermittent fevers—by the use of Hop Bitters.

Lansingburgh, Mich., Feb. 2, 1880.

I have used Hop Bitters for four years and I think there is no medicine that equals them for bilious attacks, kidney complaints, and many diseases incident to this malarial climate.

H. T. Alexander.

Toilets of Circus People.

If circuses would but permit the public entrance behind the scenes, they would double their half dollars. It is a curious sight. The actors come from the ring, heated and tired with their last performance; the lady bare-back rider, seated on a chest, in a loose wrapper; the clown's now sober face a mixture of red and white powder and perspiration; the actors who go on next, all putting on the last touches of their toilet. Circus actors take more pains with their toilets than most people imagine. We watched one tall young man in tights as he dressed his hair before going out in the tumbling act. He oiled it and patted it down, he oiled it and patted it up, he slicked it back on the sides and carved it down in the middle, and he waxed his mustache into a most beautiful curl. It took him no less than ten minutes, and he stood, meanwhile, before an old, battered piece of looking-glass, supported on a stick, in the center of the dressing tent.

Senator W. B. Roberts, whose best title to fame in Pennsylvania arises from his nitro-glycerine torpedoes, which have done so much to enlarge the production of petroleum wells, has found a new sphere of usefulness for the destructive compound. He is now manufacturing torpedoes at Titusville to be used in clearing farming land of stumps, rocks, and bowlders. The torpedoes weigh a pound and three-quarters, and are ignited by a fuse and a fulminate of mercury cap.

How She Saved Her Darling.

"I shall not feel so nervous again about baby's teething," writes a grateful mother. "We almost lost our darling from cholera infantum, but happily heard of Parker's Ginger Tonic in time. A few spoonfuls soon cured baby, and an occasional dose keeps us in good health."—Brooklyn Mother.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all kinds of Skin Eruptions. This Salve is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction in every case or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by

All Druggists.

Disease is an effect, not a cause. Its origin is within; its manifestations without. Hence, to cure the disease the cause must be removed, and in no other way can a cure ever be effected. WARNER'S SAFE KIDNEY AND LIVER CURE is established on just this principal. It realizes that of all diseases arise from deranged kidneys and liver, and it strikes at once at the root of the difficulty. The elements of which it is composed act directly upon these great organs, both as a food and a restorer, and by placing them in a healthy condition, drive disease and pain from the system.

95 Per Cent.

For the innumerable troubles caused by unhealthy Kidneys, Liver and Urinary Organs; for the distressing Disorders of Women; for Malaria, and for physical derangements generally, this great remedy has no equal. Beware of impostors, imitations and concoctions said to be just as good.

For Diabetes, ask for WARNER'S SAFE DIABETES CURE.

For Sale by all dealers.

H. H. WARNER & CO., Rochester, N. Y.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENT DEPOT.

Grain, Flour, Feed and Coal.

SLAYTON & SON

Are still at the old stand with a complete line o

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.

PLOWS The Wiard Chilled. Mohawk Valley Clipper (steel.)

"Leader" Spring Tooth Harrow. Elwood, Robbins and Buckeye

CULTIVATORS.

"Springer" Spring Tooth Harrow, (on wheels.)

GRAIN DRILLS. {Buckeye. Farmer's Fr Triumph.

THRESHERS, {The "Vibrator," and The "Buffalo Pitts."

Portable and Traction Thresher Engines.

Rare Bargains in

Carriages, Platform, Spring and Lumber Wagons,

Lime, Water Lime, Salt, Cal. Plaster and Plastering Hair.

If you want anything in our line call and get prices before you buy.

The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.

Is constantly effecting the most wonderful cures, while the unparalleled demand with which it is met at once as the greatest medicine for outward application.

Even the most incredulous are convinced, and physicians are compelled to believe in the virtues of this great remedy.

WHAT IT CURES.

ALL SORES, CUTS, BRUISES, SPRAINS, BITES OF INSECTS, LAMENESS, RHEUMATISM, INFLAMMATION of LUNGS and BRONCHITIS, CROUP, SALT RHEUM, PAINS, AFFECTIONS of the SPINE and ALL NERVOUS IRRITATION and PAIN accompanied with INFLAMMATION.

It never fails to restore the natural function, to equalize the circulation of the blood, means a controlling power is gained over all the most fatal forms of disease. It penetrates every portion of the human frame; every muscle, nerve, and ligament is searched and subdued. Its soothing and healing influence it imparts readily with internal as well as external disease.

Over 40 Years

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States and our confidence in its virtues is such that as we have no space here to copy any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, we simply ask those readers of this notice who have ever used it a moment to frankly state their experience with it to suffering friends. If but one hundred would do this we should feel perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use in 10 languages are found around each bottle. Price 25 and 40 cents per bottle. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

D. RANSOM SON & CO., Prop'rs, Buffalo, New York.

TO ADVERTISERS.

GEO. P. ROWELL & CO'S

SELECT LIST OF LOCAL NEWSPAPERS

An advertiser who spends upwards of $5,000 a year, and who invested less than $350 of it in this list, writes: "Your Select Local List paid me better last year THAN ALL THE OTHER ADVERTISING I DID."

IT IS NOT A CO-OPERATIVE LIST.

IT IS NOT A CHEAP LIST.

IT IS AN HONEST LIST.

The catalogue states exactly what the papers are: When the name of a paper is printed in FULL FACE TYPE it is, in every instance, the BEST.—When printed in CAPITALS it is the ONLY paper in the place. The list gives the population of every town and the circulation of every paper.

The rates charged for advertising are barely one-fifth the publishers' schedule. The price for single States ranges from $2 to $80. The price for one inch one month in the entire list is $625. The regular rates of the papers for the same space and time are $2,980.14. The list includes 952 newspapers of which 187 are issued DAILY and 765 WEEKLY. They are located in 788 different cities and towns, of which 26 are State Capitals, 363 places of over 5,000 population, and 408 County Seats. For copy of List and other information, address GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., 10 Spruce St., New York.

$30 per week can be made in any locality. Something entirely new for agents. $5 outfit free. G. W. INGRAHAM & CO., Boston, Mass.

THE GREAT GERMAN REMEDY.

FOR

RHEUMATISM,

Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings and Sprains, Burns and Scalds, General Bodily Pains, Tooth, Ear and Headache, Frosted Feet and Ears, and all other Pains and Aches.

No Preparation on earth equals ST. JACOBS OIL as a safe, sure, simple and cheap External Remedy. A trial entails but the comparatively trifling outlay of 50 Cents, and every one suffering with pain can have cheap and positive proof of its claims.

Directions in Eleven Languages.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS IN MEDICINE.

A. VOGELER & CO., Baltimore, Md., U. S. A.

THE GREAT BURLINGTON ROUTE.

CHICAGO, BURLINGTON & QUINCY R.R.

PRINCIPAL LINE

AND OLD FAVORITE FROM CHICAGO

OR PEORIA

TO

KANSAS CITY

OMAHA DENVER LINCOLN CALIFORNIA

All connections made in Union Depots.

Through Tickets via this Celebrated Line for sale at all offices in the U. S. and Canada.

All information about Rates of Fare, Sleeping Cars, etc., cheerfully given by

T. J. POTTER, 2d Vice Pres't & Gen'l Manager, Chicago, Ill.

PERCEVAL LOWELL, Gen. Pass. Agt. Chicago, Ill.

The SHORTEST, QUICKEST and BEST line to St. Joseph, points in Iowa, Atchison, Topeka, Denver, Nebraska, Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, Dallas, Galveston, New Mexico, Arizona, Montana and Texas.

This Route has no superior for Albert Lea, Minneapolis and St. Paul.

Universally conceded to be the Great Nationally reported as being the best equipped Through Car Line Railroad in the World for all classes of travel.

Grand Central.

You can always find at the Grand Central Surely

HENRY McCLURE

The Largest and Best Selected STOCK OF

Groceries, Crockery,

Glassware, Lamps, &c.

IN TECUMSEH

as a Specialty!

Canned Fruit, of all Kinds

Fast selling in [illegible] Due (ah so tongue) [illegible] Street

HENRY McCLURE, Tecumseh, Mich.

Infallible in curing Epilepsy, Fits, Spasms, Convulsions, St. Vitus Dance, Alcoholism, Opium Eating, Spermatorrhœa, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, Syphilis, Scrofula and all Nervous and Blood Diseases. To Clergymen, Lawyers, Literary Men, Merchants, Bankers, Ladies and all whose sedentary employment causes Nervous Prostration, Irritability of the Bladder or stomach, bowels or Kidneys, or who require a nerve tonic, or stimulant, this SAMARITAN NERVINE is invaluable. Thousands testify to its wonderful invigorant that never fails to tone the shaking system. For sale by all Druggists.

THE DR. S. A. RICHMOND MEDICAL CO., Sole Proprietors, St. Joseph, Mo.

DBS OIL OR MARK.
GREAT REMEDY.
FOR MATISM, sciatica, Lumbago,
eness of the Chest,
Sore Throat, Swell-rains, Burns and
General Bodily Pains,
Headache, Frosted rs, and all other and Aches. earth equals St. JACOBS OIL mple and cheap External ntidote but the comparatively Cents, and every one suffer-ave cheap and positive proof n Languages.
UGGISTS AND DEALERS MEDICINE.
ELER & CO.,
Baltimore, Md., U. S. A.
REAT LINGTON
OUTE.
NGTON & QUINCY R.R.
PAL LINE
SHORTEST, QUICKEST and BEST line to St. Joseph,
Atchison, Topeka, Den-FAVORITE FROM CAGO route has no superior for Albert
Lea, Minneapolis and St. Paul.
Nationally reported as being the Great
ORIA to Through Car Line
for
AS CITY
DENVER
CALIFORNIA
PERCEVAL LOWELL,
Manager. Gen. Pass. Agt.
Chicago, Ill.
Central.
McCLURE
Specialty!
HENRY McCLURE
Recumseh, Mich.
Infallible in curing Epilepsy Fits, Spasms, Convulsions, St. Vitus Dance,
Alcoholism, Opium Ed-
ing, Spermatorrhœa,
Seminal Weakness, Impotency, Syphilis, Strych-nia and all Nervous and Blood Diseases. To Clergymen, Lawyers, Literary Men, Merchants,
Bankers, Ladies and all whose sedentary employment causes Nervous Prostration, Irritability of the Blood,
Stomach, Bowels or Kidneys, or who require a nerve tonic or stimulant
SAMARITAN NERVINE is invaluable. Thousands testify to its most wonderful invigorating and restoring effect. Sold by all Druggists. For sale by all Druggists.
RICHMOND MEDICAL CO.
Proprietors, St. Joseph, Mo.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

ATTORNEYS.

WILLIS MERRITT, ATTORNEY AT LAW, Adrian, Mich.

EDWIN B. WOOD, ATTORNEY AT LAW. Collections and Conveyancing. Office over W. & W. Anderson's Store, Tecumseh, Mich.

WILLIS MERRITT, W. W. FRAZER. Merritt & Frazer, Attorneys at Law. Insurance Agents, Tecumseh, Mich.

C. A. & S. C. STACY, ATTORNEYS AT LAW. Office in HERALD Building.

W. E. WOODEN, Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Tecumseh, Mich.

D. S. McKINNON, Attorney at Law and Justice of the Peace. All business promptly attended to. Office over W. & S. W. Anderson's Store.

C. A. & J. A. STACY, Attorneys at Law and Solicitors in Chancery. Office in Underwood Block, Adrian, Mich.

MILLARD, WEAVER & WEAVER, Attorneys at Law, Adrian, Mich. Office in Masonic Temple, Rooms lately occupied by Michigan State Ins. Co. Alfred L. Millard. Clement Weaver. Charles M. Weaver.

PHYSICIANS.

H. PETERS, M. D. Office and residence at corner Curtis house, corner Maiden Lane and Intercontinental Special attention given to diseases of the Ear, Nose and Throat. All calls for the sick promptly attended to day and night.

J. H. WOODWARD, M. D., PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON. Office in Mills Block, Chicago St.

J. H. COLGROVE, M. D., PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON. Office in Mills Block, Chicago St.

J. E. JENKINS, M. D., Office and residence second door west of Presbyterian Church, Chicago st. Professional calls promptly attended to day or night.

R. R. HOUSE, M. D., O. O. JONES, M. D. Rice House and Jones, Physicians and Surgeons. Office over Lilley, Bidwell & Co's. Bank Block. Hours: Dr. House, 1 to 3 P. M. and 7 to 8 P. M. Dr. Jones, 9 to 12 A. M., and 3 to 6 P. M. Prompt attention given to all calls in village or country, day or night.

HOTELS.

[illegible] (Formerly the Merchants') [illegible] PROPRIETOR. [illegible] Depot, Chicago st. [illegible] R. Sts.

MISCELLANEOUS.

[illegible] & STEAM ENGINE CO. Proprietors. [illegible] Mill Gearing and Shafting, Iron Pulleys, Hangers, Gearing, Any improved Patent Drain Tile Machine, Sawdust and Shavings Machine, etc.

WM. DeMOTT, Tecumseh, Mich. Agent for the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co. of Milwaukee, Wis. Paid to policy holders since organization and held for them $36,138,353.20. Total premiums received, $39,651,585.47. Excess of interest receipts over all expenses of management, $6,566,967.76. Dividends to policy holders in each of the past nine years unequaled by those of any other company on similar policies. Assets, January 1, 1882, over $18,850,000. Surplus, over four per cent. reserve, $3,022,614.61.

A. W. SLAYTON, Undertaker and Embalmer, store on Chicago St., residence on Pearl St. Night calls will receive prompt attention. No charge for use of hearse.

[illegible] Proprietor. [illegible] Fish Poultry, etc.

[illegible] MARKET. [illegible] PROPRIETOR, [illegible] Fresh and Salt Meats, Fresh [illegible].

DAVE MACHEN, Fashionable Barber and Hair Dresser. Shop on Railroad Street.

CURRY & BOSTWICK, Fashionable Barbers and Hair Dressers, shop in Richard's block, Chicago street.

A. D. BROWN, [illegible] Piano Tuner and [illegible] of Pianos. [illegible] Address, [illegible] Mich.

HAS. A. WALL, [illegible] Cutter and Fitter. [illegible] Michigan.

SILVERS HOUSE, CLINTON, MICH., [illegible] Proprietor. Good sample rooms for [illegible]. Rates reasonable.

CLOCK REPAIRING.

I will repair your Clock and repair your Clock. Drop a postal in the office to my address.

C. F. MORLEY, Tecumseh, Mich.

N. B.—All work warranted.

[illegible] Mrs. C. Bills. [illegible] March. Mrs. M. R. Church.

O. P. BILLS & CO.,
BANKERS.
J. N. Satterthwaite, Cashier.
Tecumseh, Mich.
General Banking business. Receive deposits. Exchange bought and sold on all points and our own drafts issued available in all parts of the United States and Canada, and the principal cities of Europe.

ADRIAN BUSINESS CARDS.

IT WILL PAY YOU
To call and see the splendid assortment of Carpets, Furniture, Crockery, Glassware and Lamps.
French China, and English Decorated Tea Sets at
STEBBINS' FURNITURE ROOMS.
Decorated Chamber Toilet Sets at Low Prices.
F. R. STEBBINS, ADRIAN, MICHIGAN.

FOR SALE,
SEVEN PURE BRED
POLAND CHINA SOW PIGS,
Sired from the Lord Av. C. W. Jones, Richland, Kalamazoo Co., and A. C. Moore of Canton, Ill. Being regularly
HENRY WILSON,
Residence 2½ miles west of Tecumseh.

MR. WM. WESTFALL,

Of Duchess Co., N. Y., 80 Years of Age Suffered Continually for Many Years From Stone in the Bladder.

Great age and painful disease are a sad combination. Yet Mr. William Westfall, formerly of Rock City, Duchess Co., N. Y., now of Washington Hollow, in the same county, came to the office of Dr. David Kennedy, the eminent Physician and Surgeon of Rondout, N. Y., some time since, in a condition to excite the sympathy of the most cold-blooded and hard-hearted person in the world. We say he came—he was, rather, carried to the Doctor's office, for he was totally helpless, and bore the weight of 80 years besides. He had suffered long from Retention of Urine, and had all the symptoms of an aggravated case of calculus formations in the bladder. The usual instrumental examination revealed the presence in the bladder of a urinary calculus of uncommon size. Dr. Kennedy frankly told Mr. Westfall that, owing to his age and debility, an operation was out of the question, but that he could, by the prescription of "Kennedy's Favorite Remedy," together with local treatment, make him comfortable and leave him to live out all his days. The outcome of this was that the patient enjoys good health to this day.

The Reasons Why

Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" is being extensively used by our people are as follows: It is a combination of vegetable alteratives. It is pleasant to the taste, adapted to both sexes and all ages, is effective in affording immediate relief in all cases of Kidney troubles, Liver Complaints, Constipation of the Bowels, and derangements peculiar to women. At the same time purifies the blood, thus giving tone and strength to the system debilitated by disease or age. "Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy," for sale by all druggists.

ZOA-PHORA

(THE HEALTH BRINGER.)
LONG KNOWN AS
PENGELLY'S WOMAN'S FRIEND

Every mother of daughters should know about it because it brings health

TO GIRLS

When at the age of Puberty, begin to droop owing to Painful, Scanty, or Profuse Periods.

TO YOUNG LADIES

Threatened with any of the complaints and weaknesses, to which, even the healthiest, are subject.

TO OVER-WORKED WOMEN

Suffering from or Threatened With Prolapsus Uteri or Bearing Down, with its attendant Ulceration pains in various parts of the body, headaches backaches and exhaustion.

To Women Advanced in Life

Who suffer from Hot Flushes, either before or after change, or from any of the irregularities attending the Critical Period, Bloating, Nervousness, Wakefulness, Palpitation, Etc.

All these, and many other distressing complaints, usually attributed to other causes, and really peculiar to the sex, WILL CERTAINLY BE RELIEVED by Zoa-Phora.

LEUCORRHŒA RUINS THE FINEST COMPLEXION. Zoa-Phora cures the disease and restores the latter.

Abundant testimonials I have, from the best society, which, with other information on the subject, will furnish privately to persons sending. Address,

R. PENGELLY, M. D.,
(Sold by Druggists.) KALAMAZOO, MICH.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS
TRADE MARK
QUALITY PURITY STRENGTH
A TRUE TONIC.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS are a certain cure for all diseases requiring a complete tonic; especially Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Intermittent Fevers, Want of Appetite, Loss of Strength, Lack of Energy, etc. Enriches the blood, strengthens the muscles, and gives new life to the nerves. Acts like a charm on the digestive organs, removing all dyspeptic symptoms, such as tasting the food, Belching, Heat in the Stomach, Heartburn, etc. The only Iron Preparation that will not blacken the teeth or give headache. Sold by all Druggists at $1.00 a bottle.

BROWN CHEMICAL CO.
Baltimore, Md.

See that all Iron Bitters are made by Brown Chemical Co. and have cross-red lines and trade mark on wrapper.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

DO Not Fail to send for FALL Price-List for 1882. Free to any address upon application. Contains descriptions of everything required for Personal or Family use, with over 2,200 illustrations. We sell all goods at wholesale prices, in quantities to suit the purchaser. The only institution in America who make this their special business. Address
MONTGOMERY WARD & CO.,
227 and 229 Wabash Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

FOR SALE OR RENT.

A good house and lot in a good location. Enquire of I. E. Hall or at the HERALD OFFICE.

GLEANINGS.

From the annual report of the British Postal Department it appears that nearly 10,000,000 American newspapers entered England last year.

The skin of a Florida rattlesnake, eight feet two inches long, has been forwarded to the National museum at Washington, D. C.

It is estimated that the "lamb" of this country annually risk $879,000,000 through the New York stock exchange. No wonder the brokers get rich.

The negro milkman in Washington who advertises his dairy as the "Reservoir Dairy" is given credit for honesty of expression, at least.

It has been estimated that during "the season" not less than fifty hogsheads of mineral waters are drunk daily directly from the springs at Saratoga.

Let the patient, careworn toiler plod on in hope. Mr. Sailer, the veteran financial editor of the Philadelphia Ledger, has retired from work upon an honorary pension of full salary for life.

The Tecumseh, Ala., iron furnace lately blew out, after continuing in blast more than seven years—the longest continuous blast ever made in the United States.

It is claimed that North Carolina has 178 varieties of minerals, 25 more than any other state possesses, and 112 varieties of wood, also more than can be recorded by any other state.

A recent advertisement in a Paris paper runs: "Princes, dukes, counts, viscounts, and others who wish to marry rich American young ladies, write in the first instance in all confidence," and so on.

Lord Salisbury once made a speech which may now well be recalled. In it he reminded his audience that "wherever there was a disturbance the English were always to the front and got something substantial."

Joseph White, of Bake Oven, Wasco county, Ore., began as a sheep-herder in that region without funds five years ago. He recently sold out his band of sheep for $6,300. From his this year's shearing he sold from 678 ewes $1,458 worth of wool and raised 478 lambs.

A peal of five bells, given Yale college by Robins Battell and sister, will be hung in Battell chapel. The peal is founded on the major triad of G and comes from the Van Aerschot foundry at Louraine, Belgium, the first bells that have ever come to this country from that foundry. The heaviest bell weighs 1,175 pounds and is nearly 41 inches diameter.

In Mr. Spurgeon's inexhaustible fund of illustrative stories is one of a man who used to say to his wife, "Mary, go to church and pray for us both." But the man dreamed one night when he and his wife got to the gate of Heaven, Peter said: "Mary, go in for both." He awoke and made up his mind that it was time for him to become a Christian on his own account.

The New York Times dyspeptically observes that "when a person steps out of the ranks of comfortable and commonplace humanity and gets off somewhere by the side of the road and labels himself Positivist, Freethinker, Atheist, etc., the world speedily sets him down as an ass, and, in nineteen cases out of twenty, the world is right; the twentieth case is usually one of simple lunacy."

Some interesting objects were brought to light a few weeks ago at Pompeii. Among them were these: A beautiful inlaid marble table, with reclining bed ornamented with paintings; a bronze vessel with revolving handle; two Egyptian statues, covered with a patina of green glass; a tortoise and frog in marble; a Bacchus in terra cotta; two marble busts, and a skeleton with bronze hair-pins beside it.

The great cattle range of Wyoming, under the military protection of Fort McKinney, is about three hundred miles square. In this area there are now grazing 500,000 head of cattle worth $27 a head, amounting to $13,500,000, to which can be added the value of the horses and ranches of the cattle-men and the farmers and the stock of the grangers, making at least $15,000,000 worth of property under the protection of Fort McKinney.

Lizzie Hammond, a chambermaid in a San Francisco hotel, being detected in a fourth-story room where she had no business to be, attempted to avoid exposure by climbing out of the window and sliding to the ground by means of a telegraph wire that passed by just within reach. Before she had descended many yards the wire burned her hands as though it was red-hot, and she was compelled to let go. In falling her body bounded back and forth between two parallel walls. This lessened the momentum of her descent, which was still further diminished by striking on a telephone wire. She thus escaped being killed by the fall, but the physicians found that her neck was disjointed as it would have been by hanging. They chloroformed her, set her neck back in its proper place, and now have hopes that her youth and strong constitution may carry her through.

Oscar Wilde was complaining at Cape May the other day of the high prices of things in this country. "My gloves, for example," he said, "which I might have bought for $1 in London, cost $2.50 here." "So they ought," exclaimed ex-Mayor Stokeley, of Philadelphia, who was in the room, "they are luxuries." "Luxuries, sir?" echoed the esthetic, in wide-eyed amazement: "do you call gloves luxuries? How would you go on the street, how could you travel in the railroad cars, without gloves?" "Do you see these hands?" returned Mr. Stokeley, warmly, "before I became Mayor of Philadelphia I worked so hard at my shop that my hands became all covered with corns that you might have cut with a knife; and those hands, sir, have never had a pair of gloves on them. And you talk about work! Why, it's good for you! I've worked nearly all my life, and I weigh 220 pounds." "I will take your word for it, Mr. Mayor; I will take your word for it," gasped the horrified esthete, and he let the subject drop; but afterward he made some minute inquiries about Mr. Stokeley's career, with a view of basing thereon a chapter in his forthcoming book on America.

Written Remains of the Egyptians.

Most of the written remains of ancient Egypt are religious. Many consist of hymns to the gods, and have a pathos of their own. Others are lists of oblations or spoils taken in war. These have no more literary pretentions than an auctioneer's catalogue or an inventory of furniture. They give us, however, a vivid idea of Egyptian belongings. The manifold productions and riches of ancient Egypt are nowhere set forth in more detail than in what is known as the "Great Harris Papyrus," which contains divers of these summaries. It was found in a tomb, and measures 133 feet long by 16½ inches broad. Here we read of the barge of cedar with rivets of gold-plated brass and cabins adorned with precious stones; of houses with doors and lintels of gold, surrounded by gardens planted with all kinds of fruit, and tanks for water-fowl and fish. Besides these are granaries of corn and treasuries filled, or temples presented, with a surprising amount of miscellaneous property, paint, spirits of wine, honey, oil, linen overcoats, embroidered caps, incense, silver dishes and ladles, rings, onions, cedar harps, bundles of writing-reeds, wax, leather sandals, turquoises, perfumes, images, necklaces, wine, colored bed-clothes, etc. The most careful inventory was made of the several items, and in every case the exact amount of the articles in store seems to be set down. For instance, in one place we find a record of 825,840 crystal beads; in another of 23,008 pots of frankincense, while one "cedar rule" figures by itself. Besides these dead or dry goods we have astonishing lists of cattle and birds, especially pigeons, ducks and geese. Here we are struck by evidence of much that was evidently business-like and prosaic among the old Egyptians. It is true that their religion especially, at least so far as the offerings made by the King represented the generosity of the people, was marked by marvelous and abundant devotion; the adornments of the temples not being brought to a focus in some inner shrine, but shown in the capping of sacred obelisks with solid gold, and the covering of huge holy walls inside and out with costly sculpture. But though this indicates a certain profuseness of expenditure, nothing is more striking than the minute economy and attention to details exhibited in what may be called the sacred rent rolls, summaries of oblations and the like. The chronicler carefully distinguished between the "ducks" and the "ducklings" offered to Ra, the sliced, salted and prepared fish, the crowns, nosegays, chains and handfuls of flowers, and the exact amounts of these several items are set down. In the "Great Harris Papyrus," now in the British Museum, and translated in the "Records of the Past," there are many of these entries, and in every case the totals of the goods in question are precisely recorded. There are, e. g., 1,975,800 nosegays of vegetables—it does not say what proportion of these were onions—as against 11,000 nosegays of corn, and 3,410 of lotus. Thus, in these chronicles we have evidence of both extreme profusion, and precise economy, of the nicest reckoning and the most liberal abundance.—Good Words.

A Sum in Arithmetic.

"How are you coming on, Uncle Mose?"

"Poorly, poorly, thank God."

"What's the matter?"

"I has seben gals to support, boss. Hit costs a power of money to fill up seben moufs free times a day."

"Yes, but I heard one of your daughters was going to get married, so that will only leave you six to support."

"Dat's whar you am foolin' yerself, boss. Dat ar gal am gwine ter marry one ob dese Austin cuffed politicianers, so instead of habin' only six to support, when she marries, I'll hab eight moufs to feed, for mighty few ob dese politicianers, white or black, is wuff de powder hit would take to shoot 'em. No, boss, it will be eight instead of six ter feed when dat gal marries, not countin' de nateral increase."

Beware of Them.

A good article that has achieved success, and attained a world wide reputation by its true merits and wonderful results, is always imitated. Such is the case with Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. Already unprincipled parties are endeavoring to delude an unsuspecting public by offering imitations of this most outstanding discovery. Do not be deceived, but insist on having the true remedy and take no other. Trial bottles free. Large size $1.

Sold by C. A. Wright & Co.

Women as Poultry Raisers.

The custom practiced in France of allowing the wife so many francs a month or year as "pin money" to use as she pleases, is one that should be generally adopted, especially in the United States. On the farm the care and profits of some, if not all the poultry, could be very properly transferred to the women of the household. The care of poultry is a business naturally adapted to woman, as it requires patience and attention, and, at the same time, kindness and gentleness, traits too often lacking in the sterner sex. There is no event in connection with poultry raising, during the whole year, which has not its interest for those who care for the innocent creatures of the farm yard. Whether it be feeding grateful biped, gathering eggs, hatching the chickens or reducing the flocks in the fall to suit winter quarters—all have their charm, and excite the interest and sympathy of their faithful attendants. There is much complaint among physiologists that American ladies lose health and beauty earlier than they ought for want of sufficient out-of-door air and exercise, and this occupation has, among its other benefits, that of sending them daily abroad into the pure, outer air, and inciting a love for rural, natural beauty not found among those whom no such beauty tempts from the fireside.

The Safest Way.

The safest and surest way to restore the youthful color of the hair is furnished by Parker's Hair Balsam, which is deservedly popular from its superior cleanliness.

ESTATE OF MARY OWEN.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.

At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate Office in the City of Adrian, on Monday, the 9th day of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Mary Owen, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Henry Owen, executor of the last will and testament of said deceased, alleging that he has paid all the debts of deceased, and the legacies provided for in said last will, other than those to himself, and also the expenses of administration of said estate, and is ready to file his final account as such executor, and asks that said account may be allowed, and the residue of the assets of said estate, also the real estate of said deceased may be assigned to petitioner according to the provisions of said will and for his discharge.

Thereupon it is ordered, that Monday, the 6th day of November next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

(A True Copy.)
NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.
NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate. oct2-wd

ESTATE OF EVELINA M. DOTY.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.

At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate Office in the city of Adrian, on Monday, the 23d day of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present, Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Evelina M. Doty, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Edwin B. Wood, administrator of said estate, alleging that he has paid the debts of said deceased and all the expenses of administration of said estate thus far incurred, and praying for the allowance of his final account, for an assignment and distribution of the residue of said estate according to the statute in such case made and provided, and for his discharge.

Thereupon it is ordered, that Monday, the 20th day of November next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.
A True Copy.
A. H. Briggs, Probate Register. oct26

ESTATE OF TIMOTHY MITCHELL.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.

At a session of the Probate Court for the county of Lenawee, holden at the Probate Office in the city of Adrian, on Monday, the 23d day of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present, Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Timothy Mitchell, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Edwin B. Wood, administrator de bonis non with the will annexed, alleging, among other things, that the debts of deceased and the expenses of administration thus far incurred have not been paid, and praying for the allowance of his final account, for an assignment and distribution of the residue of said estate according to the provisions of said will and for his discharge.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the 20th day of November next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.
A True Copy.
A. H. Briggs, Probate Register. oct26

ESTATE OF ESTHER JONES.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.

At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, held at the Probate office in the city of Adrian, on Monday, the 23d day of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present, Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Esther Jones, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Sylvester J. Bennett, L. Baxter and Edwin C. Wood, executors of the last will and testament of said deceased, praying for license to sell real estate of said deceased, in said petition described, for reasons therein set forth.

Thereupon it is ordered, that Monday, the 20th day of November next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

(A True Copy.)
NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.
A. H. Briggs, Probate Register. oct26

FLOWERS.

At Mrs. Spaulding's greenhouse may be found a large variety of plants and flowers for the tea table, for churches, for use and supply bouquets for sick rooms. Especial attention given to floral designs, for weddings, funerals, etc. We are prepared to execute orders for every kind of floral decorations with the choicest and freshest of flowers, in the most artistic manner, and at very reasonable prices. The green house is open daily to visitors.

Orders left at D. W. Clark's grocery will receive prompt attention.

ASTHMA CURED
Riermann Asthma Cure never fails to give immediate relief in the worst cases, insures comfortable sleep; effects cures where others fail. A trial convinces the most skeptical. Price 50c. and $1.00, of Druggists or by mail. Sample FREE for stamp. Dr. R. SCHIFFMAN, St. Paul, Minn.

ESTATE OF ABNER STANLEY.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.

At a session of the Probate Court, for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, on Tuesday, the 3d day of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present, Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Abner Stanley, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Gideon D. Perry, administrator of said estate, praying for license to sell the real estate of said deceased in said petition described, for reasons therein set forth.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the 6th day of November next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing. (A True Copy.)

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.
Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate. oct5

ESTATE OF IRA STEWART.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.

At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate Office in the city of Adrian on Monday, the 2nd day of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present, Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Ira Stewart, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Homer L. Stewart and Charles D. Stewart, executors of the last will and testament of said deceased, and Susan Stewart, widow of said deceased, praying for the yearly allowance of one hundred and fifty dollars for the support of said widow during her natural life.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the 6th day of November next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate office in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing. (A True Copy.)

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.
A. H. Briggs, Probate Register. oct12-w3

ELECTION NOTICE.

To the qualified electors of the County of Lenawee, State of Michigan:

You are hereby notified that at the General Election to be held in said county and State aforesaid on Tuesday, the seventh day of November, A. D. 1882, the matter contained and specified in the subjoined resolutions, adopted by the Board of Supervisors of said county, at a session held in the city of Adrian in said county, on the 2nd day of March, A. D. 1882, will be submitted to the electors of said township in accordance with the requirements of said resolutions.

RESOLVED, That the question of raising a tax upon the taxable property of Lenawee County, for the sum not to exceed fifty thousand dollars (unless by individual enterprise the sum shall be raised in three annual installments, as follows, $16,667 to be raised in the year 1883, $16,667 to be raised in the year 1884, $16,667 to be raised in the year 1885), for the purpose of building a Court House in this county, be submitted to the electors of the several wards and townships of the county, at the next general election, to be held on Tuesday the seventh day of November, 1882; and that those voting on such question shall vote by ballot, and those voting in favor of raising said tax shall have written or printed, or partly written and partly printed on the ballot, "For the tax," and those voting against said tax, shall in like manner have written or printed, or partly written and partly printed the words, "Against the tax." And be it further RESOLVED, That the County Clerk shall transmit to each Township Clerk and City Recorder of the City of Adrian, a copy of these resolutions, on or before the first day of September next, who, upon receipt of said notice, shall give at least thirty days notice to the electors of their township and city of the pendency of said vote, by posting up copies of these resolutions in at least three of the most public places in their respective wards and townships. And the county clerk shall cause the same to be published in at least one newspaper published in said county, for at least three successive weeks previous to such vote, and stating the day when the propositions will be submitted to the electors of the county, in their respective townships and wards, and stating therein that the submission of this proposition has been designated by at least a two-thirds vote of this Board.

RESOLVED, That the contract for the removal of the building now used for county offices, the erection and completion of said Court House, ready for occupancy, and the grading of the grounds as per the erection and completion on the same, shall in no case be let for any sum exceeding the above mentioned $70,000. And be it further

RESOLVED, That the vote upon this question shall be taken as required by law, at the general election on Tuesday, the Seventh day of November A. D. 1882 and that the votes shall be canvassed by the same officers and in the same manner as required by such general election, and the votes shall be certified by them and transmitted to the county clerk and by him to the Board of Supervisors at their next meeting, as required by law, and if it shall appear by such vote that a majority of such electors, voting on such resolution, voted in favor of raising said tax, then the same shall be levied in the manner above stated, for the use above mentioned, and subject to the control of the Board of Supervisors of Lenawee County.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, }
COUNTY OF LENAWEE, } ss.

I, Thomas M. Hunter, Clerk of said County of Lenawee, do hereby certify that the above and foregoing is a true and compared copy of certain resolutions adopted by the Board of Supervisors of said county, which said resolutions were adopted by the following vote of said Board, Yeas [illegible] Nays [illegible] and the Supervisors elect voting in the affirmative. Done at a session of said Board of Supervisors held in the City of Adrian, on the 2d day of March, A. D. 1882.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of said County, at the City of Adrian, this first day of August, A. D. 1882.

THOMAS M. HUNTER,
County Clerk.

Dated August 1, A. D. 1882.
Signed THOMAS M. HUNTER,
County Clerk.

ESTATE OF SUSAN GILMORE.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.

At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, held at the Probate office, in the City of Adrian, on Monday, the [illegible] day of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present, Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

[illegible] Gilmore, deceased, [illegible] Adrian, the petition [illegible] verified, of Lucius D. Davis, [illegible] praying that administration of said estate may be granted to Lucius D. Davis, or some other suitable person.

[illegible] Monday, the 13th day of November next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of said Petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.
A True Copy.
A. H. Briggs, Probate Register. oct12

COMMISSIONERS' NOTICE.

In the matter of the estate of Ira Stewart, deceased.

The undersigned, having been appointed by the Judge of Probate of the County of Lenawee, Michigan, commissioners to receive, examine, and adjust all claims and demands against the estate of Ira Stewart, late of the township of Macon, Lenawee county, Michigan, deceased, hereby give notice that we will meet for the purpose at the office of [illegible] in the village of Tecumseh, in said county, on the 10th day of November next, and on the 10th day of April next, at ten o'clock A. M. of each of said days, and that six months from the 1st day of August, 1882, was allowed by the said court for the creditors of said estate to present their claims for examination and adjustment.

Dated August 1st, 1882.

CHARLES PURDY GREELE,
S. M. KINNO,
COMMISSIONERS.
oct12

Brown's Iron Bitters

Without exception there is no remedy so strengthening in its effect as Brown's Iron Bitters.

If you wish to be strong and to enjoy the full exurberance of perfect robust health put your trust in Brown's Iron Bitters. It will not disappoint you.

A friend writes: "For years I suffered from physical exhaustion and declining health. Now I am as strong as iron. I used Brown's Iron Bitters."

Depend on Brown's Iron Bitters for strength of mind and body.

The most obstinate cases of catarrh and hay fever are cured by the use of Ely's Cream Balm, the only agreeable remedy. Price 50 cents. Apply into nostrils with little finger.

Now for Drills. Slayton & Son have the following first-class ones:—Buckeye, Baker Screw Feed, Farmers' Friend, Monarch, Monitor and Union. Prices low. Call on us before you buy.

The Tecumseh Lumber Company has bought out the yard formerly owned by S. W. Temple. They are putting in a fine assortment of lumber, and any body wanting anything in their line would do well to call on them.

—Jackson wagons and carriages at Kennedy & Co.'s.

—Dowagiac Wheel Harrow in three sections, and Reed Spring Tooth Harrows, at Slayton's.

—James Lowry has the Excelsior Shirt Polish for sale. It is the best of any preparation in use and will do the work easier than any other polish in the market. Prepared by

E. W. Auger, Detroit, Mich.

—Parties wishing floral decorations for weddings, funerals or other uses, will be promptly supplied by leaving orders with J. J. Orr, at Wright's drug store. Elmer D. Smith.

—One of the best blood purifiers ever made is "King of the Blood." Sold by Druggists generally. Manufactured by D. Ransom Son & Co. Buffalo, N. Y.

—Slayton & Son have just received a large stock of South Bend plows and points. If you want a plow call on them sure.

—The Tecumseh Lumber Company (successors to S. W. Temple) are stocking up their yards with the largest and best assortment of lumber ever brought into this market. Purchasers would do well to call on them before buying.

—My business is such I am unable to leave Tecumseh. Clinton patrons please call on me at home.

Brown, the Photographer.

—The Tecumseh Lumber Company, corner Shawnee and R. R. Streets, are receiving daily large lots of lumber and are able to compete with any yard in Southern Michigan in scale of prices. Call and see them.

LETTER LISTS.

Tecumseh.

Remaining uncalled for in the Post-Office at Tecumseh, Nov. 2, 1882.

Spencer Mrs. Wm. F. — Cairnduff W. H.
Dresser Miss Mary — Liddle Miss Milo
Mandeville Mr. A. B. — Rowley Geo. B
Wilson Mrs. Eliza

Persons calling for letters in the above list will please say "Advertised."

FRED ROSACRANS, P.M.

Ridgeway.

Remaining unclaimed in the Post Office at Ridgeway, Lenawee County, Mich., Nov. 1, 1882.

Ayers John (2) — Parks Oren A.
Burch Mrs. Catharine — Prelep August
Canfield Lester — Patterson Theron
Collins Mary — Snyder Mrs. Bell
Cledgit Stephen — Southworth William
Kludt H. — Snyder W. D.
Lusk Miss Ella — Upleger John
McCay William

Persons calling for the above letters will please say "advertised."

PETER SHARP, P.M.

MARRIED.

AMBROSE—LOWNSCURY—On Sunday, Oct. 29, in connection with the evening services in the Baptist church at Mooreville, by Rev. J. A. De Spelder of Macon, A. L. Ambrose, M.D., of Hanover, Mich., and Miss Grace J. Lowns Cury, of Mooreville.

TECUMSEH MARKET.

Corrected Every Thursday Morning.

Apples, ₱ barrel	2 00 @	2 25
Apples dried, ₱ lb.	@	06
Butter ₱ lb.	20 @	24
Barley, ₱ bushel	60 @	72
Beans, ₱ bushel	1 75 @	2 25
Buckwheat, ₱ bushel	@	1 35
Buckwheat Flour, ₱ hundred	@	4 50
Beef—dressed, ₱ hundred	8 00 @	9 00
Beef Hides	5 @	6
Calf Skins, ₱ lb.	8 @	10
Corn in ear	30 @	40
Corn—shelled, ₱ bushel	70 @	75
Clover Seed	4 50 @	5 00
Chickens—dressed	10 @	12
Eggs, ₱ doz.	@	20
Flour, ₱ barrel	5 50 @	6 25
Hogs—dressed, ₱ cwt	7 50 @	7 00
Hogs—live, ₱ cwt	4 75 @	5 25
Hay, ₱ ton	7 00 @	9 00
Honey, ₱ lb.	@	13
Ham, ₱ lb.	@	14
Lard, ₱ lb.	@	12
Oats, ₱ bushel	27 @	35
Onions, ₱ bushel	@	50
Potatoes, ₱ bushel	40 @	45
Salt, ₱ barrel	@	1 20
Sheep Pelts	50 @	1 00
Timothy Seed, ₱ bushel	@	2 00
Turkeys—dressed, ₱ lb.	@	10
Wood, ₱ cord	@	4 00
Wheat, White, ₱ bushel	95 @	1 00
Wheat, Red, ₱ bushel	95 @	1 00
Wool	30 @	35

CONSUMPTION.

I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed, so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE, together with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease, to any sufferer. Give Express and P. O. address.

DR. T. A. SLOCUM, 181 Pearl St., New York.

FOR SALE.

A good house and lot within five minutes walk of the post office, for sale at a bargain. Reasons for selling, business out of town. For full particulars and terms enquire at the

HERALD OFFICE.

A BRAVE LADY.

She Endures the Pain of a Severe Surgical Operation Without Taking Chloroform.

[From the Courier.]

Mrs. Schoonmaker, of Creek Locks, Ulster Co., N. Y., had the misfortune to entirely lose the sight of one of her eyes, through an accident, and endured painful inflammatory action therein for two long years; the other eye finally becoming sympathetically affected, her general health seriously suffering; indeed, she was a mere wreck, a walking skeleton. In this terrible strait she consulted Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y., who told her at once that the injured eye must be removed. She quietly but firmly said: "All right, Doctor, but don't give me chloroform. Let my husband sit by my side during the operation, and I will neither cry out or stir." The work was done, and the poor woman kept her word. Talk of soldierly courage! This showed greater pluck than it takes to face a hundred guns. To restore her general health and give tone and strength to the system, Dr. Kennedy then gave the "Favorite Remedy," which cleansed the blood and imparted new life to the long suffering woman. She rapidly gained health and strength, and is now well. The Favorite Remedy is a priceless blessing to women. No family should be without it. Your druggist has it. If not send to Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, New York.

Perhaps the most judiciously edited magazine in the World.—THE NATION, N. Y., Sept. 1882.

THE CENTURY

For 1882-83.

The twelfth year of this magazine—the first under the new name, and the most successful in its history, closed with the October number. The circulation has shown a large gain over that of the preceding season, and THE CENTURY begins its thirteenth year with an edition of 140,000 Copies.

The following are the leading features:

A NEW NOVEL BY W. D. HOWELLS, to succeed this author's Modern Instance. It will be an international story, entitled A Sea Change.

LIFE IN THE THIRTEEN COLONIES, by Edward Eggleston—the leading historical feature of the year.

A NOVELETTE OF MINING LIFE, by Mary Hallock Foote, entitled The Led-Horse Claim, to be illustrated by the author.

THE POINT OF VIEW, by Henry James, Jr., a series of eight letters from imaginary persons of various nationalities, criticising America, its people, society, manners, railroads, etc.

THE CHRISTIAN LEAGUE OF CONNECTICUT, by the Rev. Washington Gladden. An account of practical co-operation in Christian work.

RUDDER GRANGE ABROAD, by Frank R. Stockton, a continuation of the droll Rudder Grange Stories, the scene being now in Europe.

THE NEW ERA IN AMERICAN HOUSE-BUILDING, a series of four papers, fully illustrated.

THE CREOLES OF LOUISIANA, by Geo. W. Cable, richly illustrated.

MY ADVENTURES IN ZUNI, by Frank H. Cushing, government ethnologist, an adopted member of the Zuni tribe of Indians. Illustrated.

ILLUSTRATED PAPERS ON THE NATIONAL CAPITOL, including The Capitol, The Supreme Court, The White House, etc.

MISSIONS OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA, by H. H.; three or four pages of an exceedingly interesting character, richly illustrated.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Entertaining short stories and novelettes will be among the leading features of THE CENTURY, as heretofore; and the magazine will continue its advance in general excellence.

The subscription price is $4.00 a year; 35 cents a number. Subscriptions should begin with the November number, and to enable new subscribers to commence with the new series under THE CENTURY name, we make the following

SPECIAL OFFER.

A year's subscription from Nov., 1882, and the twelve numbers of the past year, unbound, $6.00. A subscription and the twelve back numbers bound in two elegant volumes with gilt top, $7.50.

THE CENTURY CO., New York, N. Y.

COMMISSIONERS' NOTICE.

IN THE MATTER of the estate of Alyah Coddington, deceased.

The undersigned, having been appointed by the Judge of Probate for the County of Lenawee, Michigan, Commissioners to receive, examine and adjust all claims and demands against the estate of Alyah Coddington, late of said county deceased, hereby give notice that we will meet for that purpose at the office of Edwin B. Wood, in the village of Tecumseh, Lenawee county, Michigan on the 20th day of December 1882, and on the 20th day of April, 1883, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of each of said days, and that six months from the 20th day of October, 1882, have been allowed by the said court for the creditors of said estate to present said claims for examination and adjustment.

Dated October 31st, 1882.

ORRAN B. FINCH,
JOHN MARGESON,
Commissioners.

nov2

ESTATE OF JAMES EAST.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.

At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate Office in the City of Adrian, on Tuesday, the 31st day of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate James East, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Albert Kennedy, William Snedicor and B. Yakeley alleging among other things, that the time limited by said court for the presentation of claims against said estate has expired, that said estate has not been closed, that they respectively have claims against said estate which they failed to present to the commissioners on said estate for their allowance, for reasons in said petition set forth, and praying for the revival of the commission heretofore issued from this court, according to the statute in such case made and provided.

Thereupon it is ordered, that Monday, the 27th day of November next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.

(A True Copy.)
A. H. Brunson, Probate Register. nov2

ESTATE OF FLORENCE ESTHER SMITH

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee—ss.

At a session of the Probate Court, for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, on Thursday, the 31st day of November in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present, Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Florence Esther Smith deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of John B. Smith praying that administration of the estate of said deceased may be granted to Jerome P. S. Bowen or to some other suitable person.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the 27th day of November, A.D. 1882, at ten o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said petition and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.

(A true copy.)
NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate. nov2

GREAT

DRESS GOODS SALE

---AT---

GAINSLEY & CO'S

We place on sale to-day, Oct. 28th, 1882

One case Wiltshire Suitings at 5c a yard. Make splendid School Suits, much warmer and better than Prints.

Beautiful Dress Flannels only 30c a yard.

One case Alpaca, good variety of shades, a Big Bargain at 10c a yard.

Extra Heavy Reversible Suitings at 12c a yard.

Elegant Brocades at 20 and 22c a yard. In all the fashionable shades.

Extraordinary Bargains in Black and Colored Cashmers 28, 45, 50, 60, 75 and 95c a yard.

Don't fail to see those Ottoman Cords and Suitings, splendid All Wool soft finish Fabrics.

Special Drives Black and Colorored Silks, Satins, Rhademas, Moir Silks, Satin Brocades, and Ottoman Cords.

Ladies Cloth, Cloakings, Waterproofs, Jeans, Cassimere and Flannels. Very Cheap.

Comforters and Blankets Extremely low in price.

Shawls in Wool, Beaver, Paisley, Cashimere and Indias.

Cloaks, Dolmans and Circulars from 3.50 to $25.

Gloves, Hosiery, Lace Goods, Fichues, Ties and and Hdkf's. A Beautiful Variety.

Ladies' Misses, Children's and Gent's Underwear in Merino and all Wool. A large assortment.

Sheetings, Prints, Ginghams, Bleeched Muslins, Crashes, Table Damasks, Tickings, Denims and Shirtings. Remarkable Cheap.

This day we open One Hundred dozen Ladies and Children's all Wool, Home Knit Hose at actual cost. Don't fail to see them as we sell them much cheaper than you can buy the yarn in them 50 Pieces Splendid Ginghams, would be good value at 10c. Only 7½-2c a yard.

We have given only a few of the many Bargains to be found throughout our entire Stock. Not Bargains on Paper, BUT REAL GENUINE BARGAINS, such as will Satisfy the closest Buyers, that we mean what we say.

Inspection is most Respectfully Solicited.

GAINSLEY & CO.

Cheapest FURNITURE House

IN MICHIGAN.

Cut this out for Reference!

PARLOR SUITS from	$35 00 to $300 00
MARBLE-TOP Chamber Sets from	38 00 to 300 00
SPRING BEDS from	1 50 to 9 00
MARBLE-TOP TABLES from	4 50 to 25 00
LOUNGES from	6 00 to 50 00
WOOD-CHAMBER SETS from	20 00 to 45 00
MATTRESSES OF ALL KINDS from	1 75 to 24 00
CAMP CHAIRS from	2 00 to 10 00

Our prices are from 10 to 25 per cent. cheaper than any other Furniture House in Michigan. DON'T buy a dollar's worth of Furniture till you visit our Mammoth Warerooms, see our goods and get our prices.

ALL GOODS PACKED AND DELIVERED AT THE DEPOTS FREE OF CHARGE.

WE WILL SAVE YOU MONEY.

DUDLEY & FOWLE,

125, 127 & 129 Jefferson Avenue, DETROIT.

6,048 Feet of Band Instruments Sold by the Detroit Music Co.

63 Bands averaging 15 members each, each horn averaging 6 feet—Total 6,048 ft.

We refer you to any of the following bands, who have full sets of our Instruments:

Owosso Lapeer, Otisville, Mt. Morris Chester, Groveland, Capac, Frankfort, St. Louis, Carleton, Memphis, New Haven, Richmond, Grand Trunk Junction; Springwells, Tuscola, Mayville, Big Rapids, Reed City, Chase, Golden Theatre Co. (2)—at the close of the season 1880 each member bought his own instrument, in the spring of 1881 Prof. Rodl bought another full set—Williams Theatre Co. Whitney family, Indiay City Washington, Flat Rock, Columbiaville, Otter Lake, Merrill, Wis.; Alma, Goodrich, Kell's band, (City); Wyandotte, Jackson, K. P.; Linden, Waltz, Denison, Texas; Port Sanilac, Ludington, Mecosta, Seneca, Kansas; Weston, Marine City, Edmore, Stony Point, Ont; Fenton, (3); Flushing, Carollton, Mo.; C.R.Mabley, Petoskey, Howard City, Harbor Springs, Wayne, Belleville, Harrison, St. John's, (ladies); St. Clair, Clarkton. Also one or more of our instruments are used in nearly every band in the country.

CUBBERDAN. 224 Woodward Ave., Detroit Mich. HARRY R. WILLIAMS.

CINCINNATI WEEKLY TIMES.

Eight large pages, 48 columns, and Only Cost One Dollar a Year, and the choice of a beautiful picture of useful book to every subscriber. The oldest, boldest, largest, cheapest, and best weekly paper published. It is more generally taken throughout the country over because it is the best, and it is made the best because it has the largest circulation, and therefore the income to justify the necessary outlay. It is the cheapest paper to advertisers for, and our terms to agents are of extraordinary liberality. We want Agents. Specimen copy free. Address THE WEEKLY TIMES, 30 Walnut St., Cincinnati, O.

THE CINCINNATI TIMES-STAR

is the best and cheapest daily paper published in the West. Eight pages—48 columns—and only six dollars a year, or 12 cents a week. The Daily Times-Star is the only eight page paper in the country published at this price. It is independent in politics, but aims to be fair in everything, and just to all parties, individuals, sections, and nationalities. If you want all the news attractively and honestly presented subscribe for it. The largest circulation of any paper published in Cincinnati. The postmaster will receive your subscription if there is no agent in your place.

Rupture

Its Relief and Cure as certain as day follows day, by Dr. J. A. Sherman's Method.

With safety from the dangers of strangulation and without the injury trusses inflict. Those wishing proof should send 10 cents for his book, containing likenesses of bad cases before and after cure, also endorsements of professional gentlemen, Ministers, Merchants, Farmers, and others who have been cured. Trusses and Rupture sooner or later affect the nervous and mental system, being on organic diseases, Impotency, destroy energy and social desires, making the young old and the old useless. Principal office 251 Broadway, New York. For the convenience of Western patients, Dr. Sherman will be at his office, cor. 4th and Market streets, St. Louis, Mo., from November 1st to December 20th

Great Average Off Sale at

Clark's Block, Clinton,

COMMENCING TUESDAY, OCT. 24th, 1882.

$5,000 worth Dry Goods

All purchased within a year, including a full line of Fall and Winter Goods bought before deciding to go out of business.

$2,000 Worth of GROCERIES,

$1,000 worth of Crockery, Glass, Stone and China Ware. Good assortment of Knives, Forks, Spoons and Pocket Cutlery, Tobacco, Etc.

We have decided to go out of business

And our stock must be closed out before Jan. 1, '83, as our lease expires at that time.

Remember our stock is new and fresh.

N. B.—All accounts must be settled at once. Goods will be sold for cash or satisfactory notes.

John H. Miller & Co.

Clinton, Oct. 19th, 1882.

1882. 1883.

FOR DURABILITY,

BUY THE

ANDERSON GREGG

AT MARSDEN'S.

WANTED!

All who intend buying a SEWING MACHINE to know that they can save money by buying at the

TECUMSEH SEWING MACHINE ROOMS.

The largest stock and best assortment in the State.

SOLD ON TERMS TO SUIT ALL.

Good Machines from

$10.00 and UPWARDS.

Use none but LANDGRAF'S

CACHALOT OIL.

Trade established since 1868.

MRS. CHARLES LAWRENCE

—Has opened her—

Dress-making Rooms!

In Connection With

A. B. COTTON'S STORE.

And is prepared to do cutting, fitting and manufacturing in the most approved styles promptly and for reasonable Prices.

The Tecumseh Herald.

VOL. XXXIII.—NO 26 TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 9, 1882. WHOLE NO. 1664

500 Men and Teams

The men are wanted by A. W. Slayton to buy some of his large stock of Bureaus, Bedsteads, Tables, Stands, Washstands, Safes, and in fact all kinds of furniture.

WANTED

Yes, we want to buy hay, but not less than 8 or 10 tons at a place and not more than 4 miles from Britton station. I also want to buy 50,000 feet of 3 inch Ash plank, at Tecumseh or Britton. The

Toledo and Milwaukee R. R.

Is going to be built at once, and people from all sections of the country can come by rail and buy their furniture and undertaking of me.

TECUMSEH, MICH.

Is where my store and storehouses are located. I carry the largest stock of furniture and sell the cheapest. A. W. SLAYTON.

CROWN JEWEL, King of Base Burners. | JEWEL OAK, Handsomest round stove in the world.

CALL AND SEE THE LARGEST AND BEST ASSORTED

LINE OF STOVES

Ever shown in Southern Michigan, and at prices

TOO LOW TO MENTION.

Whitenack, Bordine & Co.

The Newest Designs

CLOAKS, PALETOTS AND DOLMANS.

Perfect Fitting,
Tastefully Trimmed
and Carefully Made.

Ready Made & to Measure
A. B. COTTON,

New Clothing,
New Cloths,
New Hats & Caps.

We are in daily receipt of new and seasonable goods, and can now show the most complete line in every department to be found in the market.

Our facilities for furnishing anything needed by boy or man are unequaled, and our prices are acknowledged on all hands to be the lowest. We invite an early inspection.

STRONG & McNAIR.

AROUND THE COUNTY.

EAST TECUMSEH.

Mr. David L. Rogers has the boss patch of flat turnips. It takes only 14 of them to fill a bushel basket.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Culbertson have just returned home from a visit to their daughter Fannie, in Calhoun county.

John R. Clark's failure to lecture as per announcement gave some dissatisfaction, but at the Literary a vote was taken to extend an invitation to him to lecture in the near future.

We understand that the winter term of school will commence Nov. 20.

Corn husking is about through in this neighborhood, and there are some very poor pieces.

The East Tecumseh literary society met Saturday eve., Nov. 3. A very interesting program was carried out. The question, Resolved, That the elective franchise should be extended to the ladies, was warmly discussed by A. G. Hall, affirmative, and B. F. DePuy, negative. B. F. carried off the banner. At the next meeting, Nov. 18th, the following program is to be carried out:

Inst. Music—Miranda Robertson.
Dec.—Artie Hall.
Select Reading—Mrs. J. T. Boyce.
Rec.—Rhoda Benedict.
Dec.—Harry Hendershot.
Select Reading—Miranda Robertson.
Dec.—Albert Boyce.
Music by the choir.
Question,—Resolved, That foreign emigration should be prohibited.
Affirmative—R. R. Hall, B. F. De Puy, Fred Goheen.
Negative—Philip Kehoe, Andrew Murphy, John Thurlby.

SPRINGVILLE.

Mr. Nelson Kinney and daughter, also Mrs. Wm. Queal, returned from York State last week, where they have been making quite a long visit with relatives and friends.

Uncle George Sheeler was out at our election (which passed off very pleasantly, with the fusionists ahead), and dropped in his 57th vote.

Mr. E. H. Burrows, our picture man, is about to leave us. He has done a splendid work here, and we can cheerfully recommend him to the people of Rome, where he intends making his next stopping point.

EAST RIDGEWAY.

There will be Thanksgiving services in the First Christian Church of Ridgway, Michigan, on Thanksgiving day, at 10½ a. m. and 7 p. m. Meeting of the forenoon will be a praise and thanksgiving service. In the evening service the pastor, Elder Rapp, will preach a thanksgiving sermon. All persons who can do so are cordially invited to attend said services.

Rev. B. F. Rapp, of Defiance, Ohio, and a member of the Miami, Ohio, Christian Conference, has been called to the pastorship of the First Christian Church of Ridgeway, Michigan, and entered upon his work as such on the 5th inst. Public services of the church are as follows: Preaching every Sunday at 10½ a. m. and 7 p. m. Sunday School every Sunday, at 12 m. Prayer meeting every Thursday, at 2 p. m. All persons within reach of the church and having no regular place of attending church, are cordially invited to meet and worship with us. By order of the church, this 6th day of November, 1882.

MARY OLIVER, Church Clerk.

Why Continue

The use of remedies that only relieve, when Elys' Cream Balm, pleasant of application and a sure cure for Catarrh, Hay Fever and Cold in head, can be had for 50 cents?

Apply into Nostrils with Little Finger.

I was troubled with Chronic Catarrh and gathering in my head, was very deaf at times and had discharges from my ears, besides being unable to breathe through my nose. Before the second bottle of Elys' Cream Balm was exhausted I was cured, and to-day enjoy sound health. C. J. Corbin, 923 Chestnut street, Field Manager, Philadelphia Pub. House, Pa.

Elys' Cream Balm.

For Catarrh, Cold in the Head, &c., gives the best of satisfaction. Have yet to hear of a single case where it has not given relief or permanent cure. Chas. L. Brundage, Druggist, Muskegon, Mich.

"No; she lingered and suffered along, pining away all the time, for years, the doctors doing her no good; and at last was cured by this Hop Bitters the papers say so much about. Indeed! indeed! how thankful we should be for that medicine."

Horace S. Beach, a useful and honored citizen of Tittabawassee, died one day last week, aged 76 years.

VENNOR'S PREDICTIONS.

NOVEMBER.

1 to 5—A good amount of rain probable, with a frosty snap about the 3d or 4th, and scattering snow flurries through western and northern sections.

6 to 13—The neighborhood of the 7th probably stormy, with rain, sleet or snow; also 11th and 12th wet and dreary.

12 to 19—Probably fair in most sections up to the 14th or 15th. After these dates very stormy weather, with heavy snow falls, will prevail over a large portion of the United States and Canada. Snow probably in Arkansas and Missouri, storms at St. Louis. Cold in northwest, cold and stormy in Scotland and England. 18th and 19th very stormy weather and snowfalls general.

19 to 26—A wintry week generally. Cold snaps due about 20th and 21st. Frosts far to the southward, neighborhood of 24th and 25th snow storms, and in Newfoundland gulf gales.

26 to 30—High winds in northern sections entry of week. Storms on Scotch coast and generally on Atlantic. Cold weather in the northwest, winter in Canada. Stormy up to the end of month on Atlantic. Prevalent winds, northwesterly and westerly.

DECEMBER.

1 to 3—Snow falls and cold weather. Storms on lakes and Atlantic.

3 to 10—Steady winter weather probable, with cold weather in northwest and west.

10 to 17—Much of week mild weather. Colder, with snow storms 16th and 17th. Heavy cold rain to southward. Stormy weather Chicago and westward.

17 to 24—Moderate weather after 17th, with heavy rain south.

24 to 31—General week of storm and cold weather in all sections, with heavy snow falls. Stormy on Atlantic and English coasts.

Probably a stormy entry of the New Year.

SEND for a sample copy of the Detroit Commercial Advertiser. Judging from the number before us, it is the best general weekly published in the Northwest. It was founded in 1861, and may therefore be considered one of the "old reliables" in the ranks of family journals. Its form of eight pages (six columns each), printed and cut, renders its contents easily accessible to the reader, and the type is clear and distinct. The first page is devoted to miscellaneous matter. On the second page appears a very interesting story. Page three is devoted to agricultural matters, under the head of "Farmstead." Pages four and five are exclusively for news and editorials. The Young People are alloted page six, and this department is one of more than usual interest. Page seven has very concise and reliable market quotations. Page eight is the "Familiary" or household department, and is of special interest to housekeepers. Having now given our readers a brief idea of this valuable journal, we advise them to address the publisher, Wm. H. Burk, Detroit, Michigan, and a copy will be cheerfully forwarded to any applicant. Rare inducements are offered both agents and subscribers.

Messrs. Cassell, Petter, Galpin & Co. 739 and 741 Broadway, New York, have in press for immediate publication, EVANGELINE—The Place, The Story and The Poem. By Prof. Noah Porter, President of Yale College. To be issued in an elegant large folio volume, limited to 500 copies, numbered and signed by Prof. Porter, containing nineteen magnificent original illustrations by Frank Dicksee, A.R.A. fifteen of which are elegantly reproduced in photogravure by Messrs. Goupil & Co., of Paris, and four are proof impressions on India paper from the original blocks, beautifully illustrating Longfellow's poem of Evangeline. The publishers claim that this will prove the handsomest artistic gift book of the season.

Rub It In.

Jacob Loeckman, 274 Clinton St., Buffalo, N. Y., says he has been using Thomas' Eclectric Oil for rheumatism. He had such a lame back that he could do nothing; but one bottle entirely cured him.

Some papers are of the opinion that if the toy pistol continue in use, in a few years the race of small boys will be nearly extinct.

A Hive of Bees.

Burdock Blood Bitters Bring Back health, when the Body is Badly disordered By impure Blood. Biliousness, indigestion, constipation, dyspepsia and other Bad disorders cured by Burdock Blood Bitters. Price $1.

A drunken man arrested in St. Louis the other day was found to have $5,304 in his pockets.

Trouble Saved.

It is a remarkable fact that Thomas' Eclectric Oil is as good for internal as external use. For diseases of the lungs and throat, and for rheumatism, neuralgia, crick in the back, wounds, and sores, it is the best known remedy, and much trouble is saved by having it always on hand.

Marshall Statesman: Will some railroad man in the city (and the woods are full of them) inform the public how the ownership of the Nickel Plate or the Pan Handle roads will conflict with the building of the road from Allegan to Tecumseh via Marshall?

THE PROBATE COURT.

Following is the record of business transacted at the probate court for the week ending Nov. 4, 1882:

Estate of David O'Reilly et al., minors; release of guardian; order of discharge.

Estate of John Pawson, deceased; petition for partition; order appointing commissioners.

Estate of Thomas Schoonover, deceased; petition for allowance of executrix's final account; hearing November 27, 1882.

Estate of Henry Tibbits, deceased; petition for the allowance of administrator's final account; hearing November 27, 1882.

Estate of Ancy R. Mills, minor; release of guardian; order of discharge.

Estate of Sarah Reed, deceased; will, proof and probate; bond $600.

Estate of Asa Gilmore, deceased; affidavit of publication; order of continuance until November 13, 1882, at ten o'clock a. m.

Estate of Nancy Robertson, deceased; affidavit of publication; account allowed; discharge.

Estate of Charles Vance, deceased; appointment of guardian ad litem; affidavit of publication; account allowed; assignment; distribution.

Estate of James McKinney, deceased; warrant and inventory.

Estate of Lorenzo Ames, deceased, affidavit of publication; account allowed; assignment; distribution.

Estate of Ira Clark, deceased; affidavit of publication; appointment of administrator with the will annexed; bond filed; letters issued; order appointing commissioners.

Estate of Angeline Clark, deceased; affidavit of publication; will, proof and probate; bond filed; letters issued; order appointing appraisers in Lenawee county and in Monroe county.

Estate of Fernando C. Beamen, deceased; affidavit of publication; will, proof and probate; bond, $5,000.

Estate of Charles W. Sutton; minor; release of guardian; order of discharge.

Estate of Pluma C. Fox, deceased; affidavit of publication; license to sell real estate; oath before sale; bond on sale.

Estate of Joseph Hagaman; deceased; affidavit of publication; order of continuance until November 2, 1882, at ten o'clock a. m.

Estate of James Boyd, deceased; order of continuance until November 27, 1882, at ten o'clock a. m.

Estate of James East, deceased; petition for reviving commission on claims; hearing November 27, 1882.

Estate of Hugh McConnell, deceased; petition for the allowance of administrator's account; hearing November 27, 1882.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS.

Below is a list of transfers of Real Estate in Lenawee County for the week ending Nov. 4, 1882:

ADRIAN.

Chas. R. Miller, to W. H. Root; land in city. $1,000.

Mary J. Landon to Wm. Critchell; land in city. $820.

O. Webster to Jewett Williams, Jr.; land in city. $1,450.

J. F. Baker to J. E. Baker; land on sec. 32. $100.

Ayesha A. Ladd to Alonzo Welch; land on sec. 11. $4,500.

Ira Ladd to William Welch; land on sec. 11. $5,270.

BLISSFIELD.

Phillip Karner to George Kerner; land on sec 34. $1,100.

CLINTON.

A. W. Alvord to Caroline S. Burchard; land in village. $1,800.

DEERFIELD.

Josephine M. Robertson to Margaret Strong; land on sec. 26. $600.

J. M. Robertson to Henry Sherwood; land on sec. 26. $740.

FAIRFIELD.

L. J. Arnold to G. L. Livesay; land in village.

James Livesay to S. W. Thompson; in Jasper village. $550.

HUDSON.

Ira Swaney to James B. Andrews; land on sec. 5. $2,800.

MADISON.

Seymour Allen to Deborah Clark; land on sec 28. $9,600.

ROME.

Nancy Newell to E. P. Newell; land on sec. 15. $4,000.

SENECA.

Sarah M. Bennett to John S. Hale; land in Morenci village. $900.

TECUMSEH.

Burdick Burtch to Geo. S. Wilson; steam flouring mill property. $5,000.

Geo. S. Wilson to Burdick Burtch; land in village. $2,526.25.

A. W. Mills to Margaritha Beckley; land in village. $1,800.

Rescued from Death.

William J. Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., says: In the fall of 1876 I was taken with bleeding of lungs, followed by a severe cough. I lost my appetite and flesh, and was confined to my bed. In 1877 I was admitted to the Hospital. The doctors said I had a hole in my lung as big as a half dollar. At one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of DR. WILLIAM HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS. I got a bottle, when, to my surprise, I commenced to feel better, and to-day I feel better than for three years past.

The new methodist church at Mt. Clemens was dedicated last Sunday.—It is a handsome and well arranged structure and a credit to the city.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

A milk condensing factory is talked of at Grand Rapids.

A bank has been opened at Kalkaska by Wylie, Blessby & Co.

The Mackinac telegraph cable has been successfully laid.

F. D. Nichols has been duly installed as postmaster at Berrian Springs.

Joseph Desalia, drowned himself at Brown's camp, near Tawas, a few days ago.

A Kalamazoo windmill company received an order for mills from Africa last week.

A house at Milford, owned by Mrs. Price and occupied by J. W. Boss, was burned last week. No insurance.

Kalamazoo manufacturers were the only Michigan people exhibiting goods at the Arkansas state fair.

A tri-weekly mail has been ordered between Ontonagon and the Nonesuch mine.

A Manchester man raised 13 tons of Hubbard squashes from four acres of land, and sold them for $25 per ton.

The land sales of the Grand Rapids & Indiana railroad company have averaged over $35,000 per month so far this year.

There is a man in Blackman township, Jackson county, named Henry Daniels, whose weight is given at 406 pounds.

Twelve cars and 100 tons of rails have been received at East Tawas for the extension of the Tawas & Bay County railroad.

There have been over 9000 bushels of potatoes shipped from Chesaning in the last two weeks, at from 30 to 50 cents.

Scarlet fever of a serious type at Oakley and several deaths have occurred. One of the victims was the postmaster's son.

The running of regular trains on the Ontonagon & Brule river railroad will cease as soon as it gets a little colder up there.

Our choicest household adornments are healthy mothers and daughters.—Zoa-Phora will restore and preserve their health.

It is said there is not a vacant house in Ovid and 50 families are standing around waiting for houses they can rent or buy.

There is a man in the northeast corner of Cadillac county who lives the life of a hermit, and claims to be St. Paul. He isn't though.

Wm. Maynard, of Lakeport, is supposed to be lost in the woods near Tawas. He started on a deer hunt last Sunday morning and has not been heard from since.

Monroe county farmers are now hunting the hunters who raid their farms in quest of game and in defiance of the game laws and common decency.

People at Grand Rapids have raised a sum of money with which to prosecute the board of health for alleged violence in removing a small-pox patient to the hospital.

On Tuesday Mrs. Green, wife of a farmer near Kalamazoo, found her 18-months-old son and heir heels up in the swill barrel. He was hauled out and resuscitated.

Last week Michael Kissone, living near Emmett, St. Clair county, was almost instantly killed while felling a tree. He held the office of township treasurer for several years.

A chap has been selling the "ozone" or "meat preserving" fraud at Battle Creek, and is now seeking greener pastures. Beware of him and keep your dog loaded.

The charitable ladies of BattleCreek have figured out that it is not going to be a hard winter in Hindustan, and that there will be some very cold snaps in Battle Creek. They will therefore act accordingly.

Mrs. Desire Twiss, an old resident of Union City, died Nov. 1st. She was the wife of Rev. John Twiss, a baptist, and they were among the early pioneers. She had lived to the ripe age of 90 years.

Holly has succeeded in raising an amount sufficient to secure connection with the state telephone line, and the polemen are closing up the gap in the line. From Holly the line will go to Flint.

The Keystone of Health.

How can you expect to feel well, or even enjoy life, when you go about with a hacking cough? The fool, in his wisdom, says there is no cure for it, but the wise man hies him to Baker & Hall's drug store and gets a bottle of Dr. Bigelow's Positive Cure, and at once gets well. A trial bottle costs nothing.

Two Women.

A grandma sits in her great arm-chair
Balmy sweet is the soft spring air.

Through the latticed, lilac-shadowed pane
She looks out the corner half beyond the lane;

And she catches the gleam of a woman's dress;
As it flutters about in the wind's caress.

"That child is glad as the day is long—
Her lover's coming, her life's a song!"

Up from the orchard's dowery bloom
Floats fragrance faint to the darkening room

Where grandma dreams, till a tender grace
And a softer light steal into her face.

For once again she is young and fair,
And twining roses in her hair.

Once again, blithe as the lark above,
She is only a girl, and a girl in love!

The years drop from their weary pain;
She is clasped in her lover's arms again!

The last faint glimmers of the daylight die;
Stars tremble out of the purple sky.

Ere Dora lifts up the garden path,
Sadly afraid of grandma's wrath.

With rose-red cheeks and flying hair
She nestles down by the old arm-chair.

"Grandma, Dick says, may we—my—I—"
The faltering voice grows strangely shy.

But grandma presses the little hand:
"Yes, my dearie, I understand!

"He may have you, darling!" Not all in vain
Did grandma dream she was young again!

She gently twists a shining curl:
"Ah, me! the philosophy of a girl!

"Take the world's treasures—its noblest, best—
And love will outweigh all the rest!"

And through the casement the moonlight cold
Streams on two heads—one gray, one gold.

AN UNPLEASANT RECEPTION.

A broiling hot August day, with the thermometer at ninety-six in the shade at five o'clock in the afternoon, and a heat-laden wind just barely stirring the dust-laden leaves on the one ancient tree in front of Mr. Golding's office in one of the dingiest courts between Old Broad Street and Bishopsgate, made a combination of conditions which certainly warranted Mr. Gilbert Golding in irritably slamming the safe door, viciously locking it, and venemously jamming his hat on the back of his head, determine upon leaving off work for the day.

"London's worse than the Black Hole to-day, and I'll get out of it as fast as the train can take me—somewhere—anywhere where there's a breath of fresh air. I'll go to Tom Dyson's place. Tom's been inviting me for the last three months to spend a few days with them—riverside villa—cool place. Simmons, I'll go."

His clerk looked up from the will he was copying.

"All right, sir. Shall I get you a time-table? Will you go at once?"

"At once, if I intend to arrive there in any form more desirable than an animated grease-pot. But you needn't get the time-table—a train leaves Paddington at seven-thirty for Maidenhead, and I'll take it."

He was a stout little gentleman, pompous and communicative. He had a bald head, and wore mutton-chop whiskers, and a diamond collar-button and studs, and low-cut shoes, and he was a bachelor on the shady side of forty, with a good income and a resolve that it was just about time for him to look over his lady acquaintances and honor one favored one with his choice.

"I understand Tom's meaning—the sly dog—when he keeps hinting in his letters that his wife's sister is spending the Summer with them. He wants me to marry her; and why shouldn't I, if she is young, and pretty, and agreeable?"

And Mr. Golding stroked his whiskers as he reflected on the matter, while the Great-Western train went flying towards its destination.

It was between eight and nine o'clock of the breathless Summer night that Mr. Golding alighted at Maidenhead—a scorching night, with not a vestige of breeze blowing, and not a star shining in the sky.

"Yes, you may drive me over—you don't suppose I'm fool enough to foot it, do you?" he growled at the Jehu who solicited his patronage, and Mr. Golding climbed up in the comfortable open fly, and took off his hat and began to grow quite comfortable by the time the lights of the Dyson's cottage twinkled in sight.

"You needn't drive any further," he said to his coachman—"put me out here; I want to surprise 'em—that is, if you're sure that is the place."

There was no mistake, the man assured him; and so Mr. Golding counted out the fare and dismissed him, and went slowly and comfortably along, determined to visit a delightful surprise on the friends who had so often insisted on his visiting them.

Reaching the house, Mr. Golding tiptoed round to the lawn behind, and peeped cautiously in the window, where a pretty home-scene greeted him—a bright, yet subdued, light burning on the table, beside which two lovely white-robed ladies sat reading, while a chubby little youngster and its white-aproned and white-capped nurse were occupying a corner, busy with dolls and toys.

"The dark one is Tom's wife, so the other one must be Ione Dyson—romantic name, too, and just fits her pretty yellow hair and big blue eyes. 'Ione'—Ione Golding 'twouldn't sound amiss. I guess I'll slip round and go in by the French windows on the other——"

Mr. Golding's intentions, however, were not carried out, for a sudden, sharp flash of lightning, and an instantaneous peal of thunder that seemed to split open the very sky above their heads, brought the ladies and the child to their feet with affrighted faces, while the nurse's voice shrieked loud and shrill.

"The man, the man, ma'am! I see him peerin' in at you, ma'am—with the villainist eyes—hark, ma'am!"

The sound of the barking of dogs, and Mr. Golding's exclamations of dismay, exasperation and terror sounded frightful indeed—for at the moment of the thunder crash, two huge brutes suddenly sprang upon him, as though they had fallen from the clouds, and a second later a grip like death was felt on his shirt collar.

"Archie's come! Oh, thank goodness," Mrs. Dyson cried, and then the fair little golden-haired girl called out as she came nearer the window through which Mr. Golding had taken his stolen view.

"Is it you, Archie? How providential! And you've brought the dogs, too."

"So I've got you, have I?" a voice yelled, in Mr. Golding's ears, and he felt himself shaken as if in the gripe of a giant, while the relentless hold on his collar made him feel that the next would cause a stroke of apoplexy. "I've got you, have I? Hold him, Royal! Keep him down, Duke, good dog. So you are the rogue that's been making so free with the jewelery of the guests at the Manor House, are you? and the plate down at the rectory. And you imagined you'd get a haul here, did you? Well, we've stopped you this time—eh?"

With each successive query, Mr. Golding's captor gave him a shake like a cat gives a mouse.

"It's a mistake—all a mistake," he croaked, vainly trying to unloose the strangling pressure on his windpipe. "It's a——"

"Of course it is!" his captor responded. "It always is a mistake when you light-fingered gentlemen get come up with! Ione! Louise! There's no need of your shrieking any longer—I've got him, safe and sound?"

"But I tell you—I tell you—" Mr. Golding gurgled, frantically—"I am no burglar. I tell you I am——"

"Spare your ancestral tree, my genealogical friend," "Archie" responded, "and just come along with me. Peters;" to the coachman, "go open the room over the coach-house. I'll warrant our 'mistaken' guest will keep there until morning, with the assistance of a chain and padlock, if he doesn't roast to death! Come Duke! Come, Royal!"

Then Ione's sweet, pitying voice came floating out from the hall—

"Oh, Archie! It is so awfully hot and close in the corn-loft!"

"Just the place for such a cool rascal as this? I'll risk it? Come on!"

"But will you hear me?" Mr. Golding gasped: "I am——"

"Of course you are! Come on!"

"But I only came to——"

"No more of your nonsense? We can guess what you came for, but you did not get it, did you? And any further explanations you desire to make can be presented before the bench of magistrates to-morrow."

And so it transpired that Mr. Gilbert Golding, a respectable City solicitor, was ignominiously huddled into the hot, suffocating loft over the coach-house that breathless August night.

"The scoundrels!—the dastardly louts, not to know a gentleman when they see him!"

And then all at once he remembered that not one of his enemies had really seen him.

"My turn will come to-morrow," he thought, as he endeavored to lean out the little narrow window for a breath of air.

But it was so long before morning would come, and the misery and distress of that dreadful night Mr. Golding was sure he would never forget to the latest hour of his life.

"If I had only gone up and knocked at the front door like a Christian!" he lamented, when lamentations and indignation were all that was left him. "This comes of trying to give idiots an agreeable surprise."

Somehow, toward morning he drifted off into a light, restless sleep, from which he was aroused by the grating of the key in the lock, and the next minute a familiar face beamed upon him.

"Tom! Halloa, old fellow, it's high time somebody let me out of this hole."

And the look on Mr. Dyson's face was worth a fortune to see.

"By Jove, Golding, old fellow! What the d—ickens are you doing here?"

And then Mr. Golding told his story, while his friend almost exploded at the ridiculous side he could not but see.

"I beg your pardon, old boy, but—but—it is too funny! Arch and his dogs and Peters all escorting you here! And the women howling—but, by Jove, Golding, you may thank little Ione that you're to be liberated so early this morning. She would have me come and find out about it—said she was sure you'd be overcome with the heat up here—and it is deuced hot and close up here, isn't it?"

"Well, now, isn't it? Suppose you give it a try? And Miss Ione—bless her kind heart—sent you here? Tom, I'll marry that girl out of pure gratitude!"

Mr. Dyson laughed.

"Well, let's go back to the house, and we'll try to make it up to you for our reception. After a bath and fresh toilet, you'll be ready for breakfast and the ladies. But why didn't you tell 'em who you were?"

"Tell 'em!" and the disgust in Golding's face was unutterable. "Tell 'em! Tell 'em! Tell 'em. I'd like to have seen you try to tell 'em!"

A couple of hours afterwards Mr. Golding was ushered into the sitting-room, and "Archie," otherwise Mr. Archibald Richmond, rushed forward with an apology that savored disagreeably of his enthusiasm of the night before.

"A jolly good fellow, you know," Tom Dyson found occasion to whisper, "and engaged to Ione, you know—quite in the family, you might say."

And somehow, after that, Mr. Golding lost all interest in pretty Ione's sympathetic commiserations, and was so unendurably stiff and disagreeable that when, during the day, he announced his intention of returning to town, no one did more than faintly urge him to stay.

And in his dingy den in the very heart of London, with the relentless mercury marking eighty-six at midnight, Mr. Gilbert Golding was cool and comfortable, and ecstatically happy—when he compared the present with twenty-four hours earlier.

Nor did he ever again attempt to surprise the Dyson's or anyone else.

"I hope you are a better boy, Willie," said a Kalamazoo Sunday school teacher to one of her young hopefuls. "Gosh, I haint been sick," was the reply.

The prodigal son was content to live on husks, and anybody who has slept upon a country hotel bed will realize that he had a pretty hard "lay."

Two Montana men, while sinking a mine, broke into a subterranean cavern filled with skeletons. From the number of deadheads in the pit it must have been an old theater.

Webster and Mason.

Among Mr. Webster's reminiscences of his professional career in Portsmouth, N. H., and of Jeremiah Mason's connection with it, was one relating to a case in which a man named Bramble was implicated. Mathew Bramble was a wealthy resident of Portsmouth, and, as the sequel proved, an unscrupulous man. His social position was good, but a feeling of distrust towards him existed in the community. It seems that Bramble had given to a man named Brown an annuity bond, agreeing to pay him one hundred dollars a year as long as he lived. This was to keep dormant a title to some real estate. Bramble had more than once tried to persuade Brown to take a "lump" sum of money and cancel the bond; but this Brown persistently declined to do, and in this he was supported by the advice of his friends.

After in vain offering one thousand dollars, Bramble resorted to the following method of getting rid of his obligations. He was accustomed when he paid the hundred dollars to endorse it on the bond. The next chance he got he endorsed, not one hundred dollars, but one thousand dollars, adding, "in full consideration of and cancelling this bond." Brown, who could not read or write, unsuspectingly signed his mark to this endorsement. Bramble then coolly handed him back his bond, and of course said nothing of the matter.

When the year come round an altercation took place between them. Bramble said: "I owe you nothing; I paid you a thousand dollars, and it is certified on your bond."

Brown was a poor shoemaker—simple minded, truthful, weak, not capable of coping with this scamp. He was friendless, while Bramble was a rich man.—Poor Brown did not know what to do. He had convinced his neighbors that he was right. He went to Jeremiah Mason, who told him he was Mathew Bramble's lawyer. Mr. Mason had asked Bramble about the matter, and the latter had showed the bond; and Mr. Mason probably believed him. A friend then advised Brown to go to Mr. Webster; and, after hearing his story, Mr. Webster, was quite convinced of the truth of Brown's statement. He had no confidence in Bramble.

In relating the story, he said to me: "I knew nothing positively against Bramble, but something impressed me that he was not a man of honor. I was at once satisfied that he had committed this fraud upon Brown, and told the latter I would sue Bramble for the annuity. He said he had nothing to give me in payment. I said I wanted nothing. I sent Bramble a letter, and he made his appearance in my office. 'I should like to know,' said he, sharply, 'if you are going to take up a case of this kind in Portsmouth. It seems to me that you don't know on which side your bread is buttered.' 'This man has come to me,' I replied, 'without friends, and has told a plain, straightforward story; and it sounds as if it were true. It is not a made-up story. I shall pursue this thing and sue you, unless you settle it.'"

Bramble went to Mr. Mason, who afterwards said to Mr. Webster: "I think you have made a mistake. Bramble is a man of influence. If can't be that the fellow tells the truth. Bramble wouldn't do such a thing as that." Mr. Webster replied: "He has done such a thing as that, and I shall try the suit." So the preliminary steps were taken, and the suit was brought.

The case came on at Exeter in the Supreme Court, Judge Smith on the bench. It created great excitement.—Bramble's friends were incensed at the charge of forgery; but Brown, too, in his humble way, had his friends. Mr. Webster said: "I never in my life was more badly prepared for a case. There was no evidence for Brown, and what to do I did not know. But I had begun the suit, and was going to run for luck, perfectly satisfied that I was right.—There was Bramble and his friends with Mason; and poor Brown had only his counsel. And Mason began to sneer a little, saying, 'That is a foolish case.' Well, a person named Lovejoy was living in Portsmouth, and then, where there is a great deal of litigation, as there is in Portsmouth and many towns in New Hampshire, there will always be some person of a kind not easily described, a shrewd man who is mixed up in all sorts of affairs.—Lovejoy was a man of this kind, and was a witness in nearly all the cases ever tried in that section. He was an imperturbable witness, and never could be shaken in his testimony. Call Lovejoy, and he would swear that he was present on such an occasion; and he seemed to live by giving evidence in this way. I was getting a little anxious about the case. I was going to attempt to prove that Brown had been appealed to by Bramble for years to give up his bond, and take a sum of money, and that he had always stoutly refused; that he had no uses for money, and had never been in receipt of money; and that he could not write and was easily imposed upon. But although I felt that I was right, I began to fear that I should lose the case.

"A Portsmouth man, who believed in Brown's story, came to me just before the case was called, and whispered in my ear, 'I saw Lovejoy talking with Bramble just now in the entry, and he took a paper from him.' I thanked the man, told him that was a pretty important thing to know, and asked him to say nothing about it. In the course of the trial Mr. Mason called Lovejoy, and he took the oath. He went upon the stand and testified that some eight or ten months before he was in Brown's shop, and that Brown mended his shoes for him. As he was sitting in the shop he naturally fell into conversation about the bond, and said to Brown, 'Bramble wants to get back the bond; why don't you sell to him?' 'O,' said Brown, 'I have; he wanted me to do it, and, as life is uncertain, I thought I might as well take the one thousand dollars.'—He went on to testify that the 'said Brown' told him so and so; and when he expressed himself in that way I knew he was being prompted from a written paper. The expression was an unnatural one for a man to use in ordinary conversation. It occurred to me in an instant that Bramble had given Lovejoy a paper on which was set down what he wanted him to testify. There sat Mason, full of assurance, and for a moment I hesitated. Now, I thought, 'I will make a spoon or spoil a horn.' I took the pen from behind my ear, drew myself up and marched outside of the bar to the witness stand. 'Sir,' I exclaimed to Lovejoy, 'give me the paper from which you are testifying!' In an instant he pulled it out of his pocket, but before he had it quite out he hesitated and attempted to put it back. I seized it in triumph. There was his testimony in Bramble's handwriting.—Mr. Mason got up and claimed the protection of the court. Judge Smith inquired the meaning of this proceeding. I said: 'Providence protects the innocent when they are friendless. I think I can satisfy the court and my learned brother, who, of course, is ignorant of this man's conduct, that I hold in Mr. Bramble's handwriting the testimony of the very respectable witness who is on the stand.' The court adjourned, and I had nothing further to do.

"Mason told his client that he had better settle the affair as quickly as possible. Bramble came to my office, and as he entered I said, 'Don't you come in here. I don't want any thieves in my office.' 'Do whatever you please with me, Mr. Webster,' he replied: 'I will do whatever you say.' 'I will do nothing without witnesses. We must arrange this matter.' I consulted Mr. Mason, and he said he didn't care how I settled it. So I told Bramble in the first place there must be a new life bond for one hundred dollars a year, and ample security for its payment; and that he must also pay Brown five hundred dollars, and my fees, which I should charge pretty roundly. To all this he assented, and thus the case ended."

A good many years after that, when Mr. Webster was again at Exeter, several old men called on him, and asked him how he knew that Lovejoy had that paper in his pocket. After a hearty laugh, Mr. Webster satisfied their curiosity.—From Peter Harvey's Reminiscences.

Finish in Natural Wood.

Richness of effect may be gained in decorative woodwork by using woods of different tone, such as amaranth and amboyne, by inlaying and veneering. The Hungarian ash and French walnut afford excellent veneers, especially the burls or gnarls. A few useful notes on the subject are given by a recent American authority. In varnishing, the varnishes used can be toned down to match the wood, or be made to darken it, by the addition of coloring matters. The patented preparations known as "wood-fillers" are prepared in different colors for the purpose of preparing the surface of wood previous to the varnishing. They fill up the pores of the wood, rendering the surface hard and smooth. For polishing mahogany, walnut, etc., the following is recommended: Dissolve beeswax by heat in spirits of turpentine until the mixture becomes viscid; then apply by a clean cloth, and rub thoroughly with a flannel or cloth. A common mode of polishing mahogany is by rubbing it first with linseed oil, and then by a cloth dipped in very fine brickdust; a good gloss may also be produced by rubbing with linseed oil and then holding trimmings or shavings of the same material against the work in the heat. Glass paper, followed by rubbing, also gives a good luster.

There are various means of toning or darkening woods for decorative effect—logwood, lime, brown soft soap, dyed oil, sulphate of iron, nitrate of silver exposed to the sun's rays, carbonate of soda, bichromate and permanganate of potash, and other alkaline preparations are used for darkening the wood; the last three are specially recommended. The solution is applied by dissolving one ounce of the alkali in two gills of boiling water, diluted to the required tone. The surface is saturated with a soft sponge or flannel, and immediately dried with soft rags. The carbonate is used for dark woods. Oil tinged with rose madder may be applied to hard woods like birch, and a red oil is prepared from soaking alkanet root in linseed oil. The grain of yellow pine can be brought out by two or three coats of japan much diluted with turpentine, and afterward oiled and rubbed. To give mahogany the appearance of age, lime water used before oiling is a good plan. In staining wood the best and most transparent effect is obtained by repeated light coats of the same. For oak stain, a strong solution of oxalic acid is employed; for mahogany, dilute nitrous acid. A primary coat or a coat of wood fillers is advantageous. For mahogany stains the following are given: Two ounces of dragon's blood dissolved in one quart of rectified spirits of wine, well shaken; or raw sienna in beer, with burnt sienna to give the required tone; for darker stains boil a half-pound of madder and two ounces of log-wood chips in one gallon of water and brush the decoction while hot over the wood. When dry paint with a solution of two ounces of potash in one quart of water. A solution of permanganate of potash forms a rapid and excellent brown stain.—Building News.

Coleridge's Notes.

Mr. A. Brandl, who is to write something—we forget what, but probably a monograph—about Coleridge, notes, for the benefit of Coleridge students, that the poet's commonplace book of about 1795–98 is preserved in the British Museum, and that it gives some insight into his political views and literary studies. He indicates its contents in a hazy way, and quotes a few isolated extracts which he admires. Here they are:

"Of how many pleasures, of what lasting happiness, is Pain the parent and Wise the womb!

"What we must do, let us love to do. It is a noble chemistry that turns necessity into pleasure.

"Bad means for a good end—I cannot conceive that there be any good road to heaven through hell.

"Equality—Pity and Envy her bandmaids.

"The poor and the rich in this resemble each other—they are usually unloving of their children.

"Poetry excites us to artificial feelings—makes us curious to real ones.

"Men anxious for this world—owls that watch all night to catch mice."

Punched coins are more frequently passed off for beer than for the gospel. A comparison of saloon money drawers and church contribution boxes will prove this.

The Sexton Writes Us.

Fountaintown, Shelby Co., Ind.

Mr. A. Kiefer—Sir: For some years past I have been afflicted with Liver Complaint. I have had several physicians treating my case, but they all failed to reach the seat of disease. During the past year I got much worse, and became so weak and feeble as to be unable to do any work. I had a great deal of headache, and at times became so dizzy that I had to lay down. About six weeks ago I commenced using your Taraxine, and after taking the third dose I felt that dizziness and headache were leaving me; I continued the use of it till I had taken three bottles, and I am now a well man, and am able to do a day's work on the farm. Yours truly, etc.,

David Sexton.

For sale by all druggists. Taraxine, Memorandum Books free.

The Greatest Medicine of the Age.

Kellogg's Columbian Oil is a powerful remedy, which can be taken internally as well as externally by the tenderest infant. It cures almost instantly, is pleasant, acting directly upon the nervous system, causing a sudden buoyancy of the mind. In short, the wonderful effects of this wonderful remedy cannot be explained in written language. A single dose inhaled and taken according to directions will convince any one that it is all that is claimed for it. Warranted to cure the following diseases: Rheumatism or Kidney disease in any form, headache, toothache, earache, neuralgia, sprains, bruises, flesh wounds, bunions, burns, spinal affections, colic, cramping pains, cholera morbus, flux, diarrhœa, colds, bronchial affections, catarrh, and all aches and pains, external or internal. Full directions with each bottle. For sale by C. A. Wright & Co.

Good News.

No more Chills and Ague in this section. Our Druggist is selling an article called "Ague Conqueror." It is about the only satisfactory preparation sold for the cure of Fever and Ague, Dumb Chills, Intermittent or Billious Fevers. The proprietor of the Ague Conqueror has used but little energy to make this medicine known, and yet its sales are immense in Ague Districts. It purifies the blood, Liver and other Secretory organs so effectually that the Chills do not return even when persons have had them for years. Entirely vegetable preparation. Price 50 cents and $1,00 per Bottle. Two doses will stop the chills.

Jealousy.

Some poet has said that "All torments of the damned we find is only thee, Oh, Jealousy, thou tyrant of the mind." This is grandly sweeping and magnificently inaccurate. Any sufferer from Indigestion knows to the contrary. Indigestion, the villian of the tragedy played upon the gastric juices of the stomach can, and does double discount the horrors of jealousy. Jealousy is often an attendant upon the later, and when indigestion is removed, this jaundiced companion of a deranged liver flies. Taraxine is the best known remedy extant for impaired digestion, deranged liver, and diseases of the bowels and kidneys.

For sale by all druggists.

Free to Everyone.

A 10c sample of Hill's Peerless Cough Syrup. We also sell the large bottles on an absolute guarantee. If not satisfied after using, return the empty bottle and we will refund your money. We also sell the Peerless Worm Specific on the same terms. No cure, no pay. Cobbs' Little Podophyllin Pills will cure headache, billiousness and constipation. No pay. One pill a dose.

C. A. Wright & Co.

The New Discovery.

Dr. Deming's Pile Ointment, the discovery of a physician of wide reputation, who has achieved the greatest success, the most conspicuous distinction, and the highest honors in his profession, is a sure cure for blind, bleeding, itching and ulcerated piles. A single box has frequently been known to cure the most obstinate case, and thousands who have used this great remedy attest its efficacy.—For sale by all druggists.

Griggs' Glycerine Salve.

The best on earth can truly be said of Griggs' Glycerine Salve, which is a sure cure for cuts, bruises, scalds, burns, wounds and all other sores. Will positively cure piles, tetter and all skin eruptions. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Only 25 cents. For sale by Baker & Hall.

Catarrh of the Bladder.

Stinging, smarting, irritation of the urinary passages, diseased discharges, cured by Buchupaiba. $1, at druggists. Mich. Depot, J. E. Davis & Co., Detroit, Mich.

Skinny Men

Wells' Health Renewer. Absolute cure for nervous debility and weakness of the generative functions. $1, at druggists. Mich. Depot, J. E. Davies & Co., Detroit, Mich.

Why Welcome.

What makes Florestine Cologne welcome on every lady's toilet table is its lasting fragrance and rich, flowery odor.

Grand Central.

You can always find at the

Grand Central Supply STORE

—OF—

HENRY McCLURE,

The Largest and Best Selected STOCK OF

Groceries, Crockery,

Glassware, Lamps, &c.

IN TECUMSEH.

Fruits a Specialty!

Canned Fruits of all Kinds.

In fact, anything in this line can be bought at figures.

Main Street HENRY McCLURE, TECUMSEH, Mich.

GET THE BEST!

RATHBONE, SARD & CO. ACORN STOVES & RANGES

LEAD ALL OTHERS!

Every Style & Price.

Guaranteed Unequaled FOR

OPERATION, ECONOMY, DURABILITY and WORKMANSHIP.

Improvements and Conveniences found in no others.

Always Reliable.

POPULAR EVERYWHERE.

For Sale in Every City and Town in the United States.

For Sale by SUTTON & SWAN.

The price of the following organ has been advanced to $125 since inserting this electrotype.

BEATTY ORGANS

27 Stops, 10 Sets Reeds, $90

The Famous Beethoven Organ contains 27 Stops, 10 Sets Reeds,

PRICE ONLY $90

Order now. Remit by Bank Draft, Post Office Money Order, or Registered Letter. Based and shipped without a Moment's Delay. Factory running day and night. Organs built on old plan, $30 to $125 to 11 stops. Catalogue Free. Address or call on DANIEL F. BEATTY, Washington, New Jersey.

CATARRH

HAY-FEVER

DIRECTIONS.

Insert with the finger a particle of the Balm into the nostrils; draw strong breaths through the nose. It will be absorbed.

Ely's Cream Balm effectually cleanses the nasal passages of catarrhal virus, causing healthy secretions, allays inflammation, protects the membrane from additional cold, completely heals the sores and restores the sense of taste and smell. Beneficial results are realized by a few applications. A thorough treatment as directed will cure Catarrh, Hay Fever, &c.

Agreeable to Use.

Unequaled for Cold in the Head.

The Balm has gained an enviable reputation wherever known, displacing all other preparations.

RECOGNIZED AS A WONDERFUL REMEDY.

Sold by all druggists at 50 cents. On receipt of price will mail a package. Send for circular containing full information and reliable testimonials.

ELY CREAM BALM CO., Owego, N. Y.

Back Ache

POSITIVELY CURED BY

Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters.

Reasons Why they are Preferred to All Other Porous Plasters or External Remedies;

First.
Because they possess all the merit of the strengthening porous plaster, and contain in addition thereto the newly discovered powerful and active vegetable combination which acts with increased rubefacient, stimulating, sedative and counter irritant effects.

Second.
Because they are a genuine pharmaceutical preparation, and so recognized by the profession.

Third.
Because they are the only plasters that relieve pain at once.

Fourth.
Because they will positively cure diseases which other remedies will not even relieve.

Fifth.
Because over 5000 physicians and druggists have voluntarily testified that they are superior to all other plasters or medicines for external use.

Sixth.
Because the manufacturers have received the only medals ever given for porous plasters.

Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster!
SEABURY & JOHNSON,
Manufacturing Chemists, New York.

A SURE REMEDY AT LAST. Price 25cts. MEAD'S Medicated CORN and BUNION PLASTER.

EVANS' BUSINESS COLLEGE
—AND—
INSTITUTE OF RAPID WRITING.

Having severed my connection with the High School of Adrian, my time will be given exclusively to my college, affording a rare chance to young men wishing to fit themselves as

CLERKS AND BOOK-KEEPERS,

And furnishing them positions at good salaries.

My College has No Vacation during the year.

Send for Circulars.

Adrian, Sept. 18, 1881.
W. R. EVANS,
PRINCIPAL & TEACHER.

K. B.

KING OF THE BLOOD.

The Most Thorough Purifier of the Blood Yet Discovered.

Curesall Humors, from a Common Eruption to the Worst Scrofula.

It purifies the Blood.
It invigorates the Liver.
It regulates the Bowels.
It strengthens the Stomach.
It gives vivacity in place of lassitude; cheerfulness in place of gloom, and robust vigor in place of debility.
Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Disordered Liver, Constipation, Nervous Affections, General Debility, in short all the numerous diseases and discomforts caused by impure blood are speedily conquered by this powerful corrector, the chief and sovereign of all ancient or modern medical discoveries—KING OF THE BLOOD.
ITS NAME IS ITS BEST DESCRIPTION as it is a royal dispenser of the blessings of health and vanquishes the foes that lurk in the blood.
It banishes PIMPLES, SALT RHEUM, SCALY ERUPTIONS, ULCERS, SCALD HEAD, FEVER SORES, and all SCROFULOUS DISORDERS.
It checks CONSUMPTION in its early stages. It has frequently cured it when advanced.
It disperses TUMORS and CANCERS without the Surgeon's knife.
It cures DROPSY, general or partial.
It cures FEMALE WEAKNESS and DISEASE.
It reduces in a safe and effectual manner all swellings, external or internal.
It eradicates the effects of Venerial Disease and Mineral Poisons, and establishes a sound constitution.
Many certificates, much further information and all directions for using, will be found in the pamphlet, "Treatise on Diseases of the Blood," in which each bottle is enclosed.
Price $1 per bottle containing 12 ounces, or 40 to 50 doses. Sold by dealers in medicine.
If your druggist does not happen to have it on hand, request him to order a supply of it for you, as it will be cheaper than for you to order direct of us, and least trouble.

D. RANSOM, SON & CO., Proprietors,
Buffalo, N. Y.

If you are a man of business, weakened by the strain of your duties avoid stimulants and use Hop Bitters.

If you are young and discretion or dissipated or single, old or poor health or languishing, rely on Hop Bitters.

Whoever you are, whenever you feel that your system needs cleansing, toning or stimulating, without intoxicating, take Hop Bitters.

Have you dyspepsia, kidney or urinary complaint, disease of the stomach, bowels, blood, liver or nerves? You will be cured if you use Hop Bitters.

If you are simply weak and low spirited, try it! It may save your life. It has saved hundreds.

If you are a man of letters toiling over midnight work, to restore brain nerve and waste, use Hop Bitters.

If suffering from any infection; if you are married or young suffering from being on a bed of sickness, use Hop Bitters.

Thousands die annually from some form of Kidney disease that might have been prevented by a timely use of Hop Bitters.

D. I. C. is an absolute and irresistible cure for drunkenness, use of opium, tobacco, or narcotics.

Sold by druggists. Send for Circular.

HOP BITTERS MFG CO., Rochester, N. Y. & Toronto, Ont.

HOP BITTERS NEVER FAIL

HALL'S Catarrh Cure

Is Recommended by Physicians!

$100 REWARD FOR A CASE IT FAILS TO CURE

We manufacture and sell it with a positive guarantee that it will cure any case, and we will forfeit the above amount if it fails in a single instance.

It is unlike any other Catarrh remedy, as it is taken internally, acting upon the blood. If you are troubled with this distressing disease, ask your Druggist for it, and ACCEPT NO IMITATION OR SUBSTITUTE. If he has not got it, send to us and we will forward immediately. Price 75 cents per bottle.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

What the Physicians of the Future Must Study.

Physiology especially has developed during the last fifty years, so that it has almost become a science by itself, but it still remains a part of the wider science of biology. Here again we see a difference between the studies of the ancient and modern physician. To-day, and still more in the near future, the physician must extend his studies beyond man, and the reason is plain. Man, with whom alone the physician formerly supposed himself concerned, is but an isolated being disconnected from the rest of nature. Nature tolerates no such isolation. No living being, even the simplest, exists, or can exist, independently of other things. It affects them and is affected by them, and what is true of the simplest is yet more true of the more complex, and most of all of man. Nature is one, and all her creatures are parts of the whole. For this reason man cannot be fully known merely as man, he must also be known as a part of the animal kingdom. No one can well understand human anatomy or physiology who knows nothing of that of the lower animals. Comparative anatomy and physiology have thrown light upon many obscure problems to which the study of man gave rise. Therefore, I would most earnestly urge upon all medical men the study of biology. It may be replied that the courses are now crowded, but it is certain that the successful physician of the future must know something of nature as a whole. Already many of our most important theories as to disease—the structure of organs, cell-growth, cell-life, and many more—have come to medicine from biology. In an address before the International Medical Congress held in London in August, 1881, Professor Huxley remarks that "the search for the explanation of diseased states in modified cell-life, the discovery of the important part played by parasitic organisms in the etiology of disease, the elucidation of the action of medicaments by the methods of experimental physiology, appear to me to be the greatest steps which have ever been made toward the establishment of medicine on a scientific basis. I need hardly say, they could not have been made except for the advance of normal biology. There can be no doubt that the future of pathology, of therapeutics, and therefore of practical medicine, depends on the extent to which those who occupy themselves with these subjects are trained in the methods and impregnated with the fundamental truths of biology. And I venture to suggest that the collective sagacity of this congress could occupy itself with no more important question than this: "How is medical education to be arranged, so that, without entangling the student in those details of the systematist which are valueless to him, he may be enabled to obtain a first grasp of the great truths respecting animal and vegetable life without which, notwithstanding all the process of scientific medicine, he will still find himself an empiric?"—Professor George H. Perkins, in Popular Science Monthly for September.

Death in a Bunko-Room.

A sad occurrence during race week last year was the death of an aged and respected citizen who had been inveigled into a den of bunko men on Asylum street. His death was from heart disease, due probably to the excitement and fright when he found himself alone in a room with a party of roughs and all strangers to him. The police made diligent search for the rascals, and although two or three arrests were made the right parties were never discovered. At least one of them was here again last week, and, under the belief that the affair had blown over and had been forgotten, revealed to one or two persons the secret of the last moments of the victim. He was induced to enter the room by a man who pretended acquaintance with him. Then the usual practices of bunko men in defrauding their victims were attempted. He became suspicious, and finally frightened. It was noticed that a strange expression appeared upon his features, and a moment later he fell back in his chair. All of the men, with the exception of the one who tells the story, fled the room at once. He regarded the affair as nothing more than a simple fainting fit, and used such means as he was conversant with, to revive the old gentleman. They were of no avail. Then he slipped his hand beneath the vest and found that the heart had ceased to beat. Rough as he is, and accustomed to scenes of strife, he relates that he was staggered for a moment, and stood, staring dumbfounded at the body. Then he turned away, locked the door, and went quietly but quickly down the stairs. He made no attempt to find his companions, but fled town on the first train leaving the Asylum street depot.—Hartford Courant.

The Widow Closser's Husband.

The widow Closser was 56 when she married Chrisman, and he was exactly half that age. It is hardly necessary, therefore, to add that the fine farm on which they went to live at Anderson, Ind., belonged to her, and that her young husband hadn't a dollar that was not provided by her. During four years she gave him money freely, and he spent it so riotously that, when she finally decided to be rid of him, there were plenty of grounds on which to obtain a divorce. Only a few months elapsed before he returned to her, professing love and repentance, and they were married anew. This time he meant to make a quick, clean sweep of her property. He induced her to sell the farm for $8,000. Then he stole the money from under her pillow and ran away.

Not Acquainted.

A Maine backwoodsman who came into town during an interval when the community was very much excited by a church scandal, overheard a man in the store where he was making some purchases express his sorrow that any Christian should become involved in such a disgrace. The backwoodsman, addressing the clerk who was busy behind the counter, said:

"Young man, kin you tell me what a 'Christian' mout be?"

"No," returned the clerk, snappishly, "I ain't much acquainted among foreigners."—Brooklyn Eagle.

WIT AND HUMOR.

My sole, be on thy guard!
Banana peels abound;
The sidewalk's very hard,
And very hard the ground.

'Twas good King Boreo Bungles Boo,
Said to his cook: "Where's my menu?
I'm cavernously faint; I'll dine,
Produce the bill and bring the wine."
Cook answers: "Sire, the fat menu
Have ordered cooked are in the stew."

When a pretty Irish girl is stolen away they suspect some boycotter.

Queen Victoria says she is proud of her soldiers. The ladies always did love the military.

If Jonah had been a modern fisherman he would have said that he was caught by a dozen whales.

An optimist is a man who would swear that hades was a new name for a refrigerator.

The most marked difference between a rogue and an honest man is that the former wears the best clothes.

Having interred his four wives together, a disconsolate widower embalmed their memory:

Stranger, pause and drop a tear,
For Mary Jane lies buried here;
Mingled in a most surprising manner
With Susan, Maria, and portions of Hannan.

A summer hotel keeper, who had a large St. Louis custom, found himself at the end of the season with no end of abandoned trunks on his hands, but he will not lose much. He has opened the trunks and started a brick yard.

A chap in Canada wanted to explode two pounds of powder in the water to kill fish, but after coming down from a trip over the nearest trees, followed by the splinters of his skiff, he decided that the old fish-pole way was the safest.

She admitted to her mother that the young man had made a very strong impression on her. "Yes," remarked the old lady, "I can see where the impression mashed the lace flat as a clean napkin. Don't let it happen again."

Spinks went home the other night afflicted with double vision. He sat for some time with his sleepy gaze riveted on Mrs. S., and then complacently remarked: "Well, I declare, 'f you two gals don't look 'nough like to be twins."

A Georgia man, who has been married seven times, says he has had awful hard luck. He'd scarcely get a wife before she'd die and he'd have to go to the expense of courting and marrying another. The thing got to be ruinous.

"If you are not careful somebody will have your pocketbook," said a well dressed young man to a stranger in New York. A few minutes later he felt for his pocketbook. It was gone. So was the young man.

Wife—"Can't you take me to the Yahoo restaurant some evening, my dear?" Husband—"No, darling, it is disreputable." Wife—"Then, dear, why do you bring home its marked napkins in your pockets?"

A lady who had company to tea reproved her little son several times, speaking, however, very gently. At last out of patience with him, she said, sharply: "Jimmy, if you don't keep still I'll send you away from the table." Looking at her in surprise he asked: "Don't you forget to use your company voice then, mother?"

An Indiana woman bought some poison for rats, wrote the word "poison" on it four times, hid it on the top shelf in the pantry, and yet the hired girl used it for baking powder within a week.

No more touching compliment could be paid than that of the child who had overheard a conversation at the table on the qualities of a wife. As he stooped over to kiss his mother he remarked, "Mamma, when I get big I'm going to marry a lady just 'xactly like you."

Ohio comes forward with a "feat of strength" on the part of a man who carried a barrel of pork three miles for a wager of $100. A Broad street man recently carried 250 bales of cotton all day and paid nearly $250 for the privilege.

"Yes," said the burlesque actress, "I think that editor is the meanest, most contemptible wretch in existence. He doesn't want me to succeed." "What has he done?" "Done!" You know that scandal about me in Chicago?" "Yes; did he print it?" "Print it? No; he wouldn't; that's it."

A fashion item states that birds heads, wings, tails and breasts of various sizes and sorts, will be seen this Winter on dresses as well as bonnets. Nothing is said about another part of the bird, i. e., the bill, but no doubt that will continue to be the most prominent feature of both dress and bonnet.

"You know I am a member of the fire department," said Biggs," and if I find your young spark in the house, it will be my duty to put him out." "But, father," replied his daughter, "if you do, like as not I shall have a new flame within a week." Biggs limbered up immediately.

"I believe you are a fool, John," testily exclaimed Mrs. Miggs as her husband unwittingly presented her the hot end of a potatoe dish, which she promptly dropped and broke. "Yes," he added resignedly, "that's what the clerk told me when I went to take out my marriage license."

"Oh, what a fool I am!" yelled Farmer John, as he crumpled up the country paper and threw it from him. "Last week I paid up my five years' back subscription to this paper and the result is a big editorial on 'Bountiful Crops and the Return of Prosperity.' Now, wheat will go down to fifty cents a bushel."

A colored blacksmith was shoeing a mule not long ago, when the animal disengaged itself and drove one of its hind feet against the negro's head with the force of a battering ram. A few days afterward someone asked the owner if the blacksmith sustained severe injuries. "I can't say he did," responded the man, dejectedly; "but the mule goes on three legs."

Two West county peasants in Ireland were the other day discussing the amount of the fortune of their landlord, a well-known Irish judge. "The judge is main rich, Paddy, alannah?" "He is, Micky, true for you. He has a hundred a quarther, maybe." "Aye, and a hundred a week," was the reply. "Murther alive! do you tell me so? And I never saw him drunk yet, long as he is coming here!"

DOWNS' ELIXIR.

N. H. DOWNS' Vegetable Balsamic ELIXIR

This valuable medicine is purely vegetable; the discovery of which was the result of many years' close study, in order to discover the cause, the symptoms, and the cure—viz: Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Croup, Asthma, Pleurisy, Hoarseness, Influenza, Spitting Blood, Bronchitis, and every species of oppression of the Chest and Lungs. In all cases where this Elixir has been duly administered its efficacy has been invariably manifested, convincing the most incredulous that is not incurable, if properly attended to.—Consumption, at its commencement, is but a slight irritation of the membrane which covers the Lungs; then an inflamation, when the cough is more observable, but rather dry; then becomes local fever and the pulse more frequent, the cheeks flushed and chills more common. This Elixir in curing the above complaints, operates so as to remove all morbid irritations and inflamation from the lungs to the surface, and finally expel them from the system. It facilitates expectoration.

CONSUMPTION

It heals the ulcerated surfaces and relieves the cough and makes the breathing easy. It supports the strength and at the same time reduces the fever. It is free from strong opiate and astringent articles, which are of so drying a nature as to bring great danger of destroying the patient; whereas this medicine never dries or stops the cough, but, by removing the cause, generally destroys the hectic before the cough is entirely gone. Consequently, when the cough is cured the patient is well. Send address for pamphlet giving full directions for cure of pulmonary diseases.

Price 35 cts., 50 cts., and $1.00 per bottle.
SOLD EVERYWHERE.
HENRY, JOHNSON & LORD, Props., Burlington, Vt.

DOWNS' ELIXIR.

SAMARITAN NERVINE

CURES AND NEVER FAILS.

Is unfailing and infallible in curing Epileptic Fits, Spasms, Convulsions, St. Vitus Dance, Alcoholism, Opium Eating, Spermatorrhœa, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, Syphilis, Scrofula and all Nervous and Blood Diseases. To Clergymen, Lawyers, Literary Men, Merchants, Bankers, Ladies and all whose sedentary employment causes Nervous Prostration, Irregularities of the blood, stomach, bowels or Kidneys, or who require a nerve tonic, appetiser or stimulant, SAMARITAN NERVINE is invaluable. Thousands proclaim it the most wonderful invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system. For sale by all Druggists.

THE DR. S. A. RICHMOND MEDICAL CO., Sole Proprietors, St. Joseph, Mo.

PRINCIPAL LINE

The SHORTEST, QUICKEST and BEST line to St. Joseph, Atchison, Topeka, Denver, Dallas, Galveston, And all points in Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri, Kansas, New Mexico, Arizona, Montana and Texas.

AND OLD FAVORITE FROM

CHICAGO

This Route has no superior for Albert Lea, Minneapolis and St. Paul. Nationally reputed as being the Great Through Car Line to

Or PEORIA

Universally conceded to be the best equipped Railroad in the World for all classes of travel.

KANSAS CITY

All connections made In Union Depots.

OMAHA DENVER LINCOLN CALIFORNIA

Through Tickets via this Celebrated Line for sale at all offices in the U. S. and Canada.

Try it, and you will find traveling a luxury, instead of a discomfort.

All information about Rates of Fare, Sleeping Cars, etc., cheerfully given by

T. J. POTTER, 2d Vice Pres't & Gen'l Manager, Chicago, Ill.
PERCEVAL LOWELL, Gen. Pass. Agt., Chicago, Ill.

FOR SALE.

SEVEN PURE BRED
POLAND CHINA SOW PIGS.
Bred from the herd of C. W. Jones, Richland Kalamazoo Co., and A. C. Moir of Canton, Ill.
Terms reasonable.
HENRY WILSON.
Residence 2½ miles west of Tecumseh.

CHOICE VILLAGE LOTS.

The Trustees of the Universalist Parish offer for sale two building lots taken from their church property. One lot on corner of Union and Logan streets, opposite E. B. Wood's corner, and one lot fronting on Logan street. A plot of the lots, showing the size, price, etc., can be seen at the HERALD OFFICE.

ONLY $20

for this style of PHILADELPHIA SINGER. Equal to any Singer in the market. Remember, we send it to be examined before you pay for it. This is the same style other companies retail for $50. All Machines warranted for 5 years. Send for Illustrated Circular and Testimonials. Address

CHARLES A. WOOD & CO.,
17 S. Tenth St., Philadelphia, Pa.

FOR SALE.

A good house and lot within five minutes walk of the post office, for sale at a bargain. Reasons for selling, business out of town. For full particulars and terms enquire at the HERALD OFFICE.

FOR SALE OR RENT.

A good house and lot in a good location. Enquire of J. E. Hall or at the HERALD OFFICE

DRUNKENNESS & OPIUM EATING.

C. C. Beers, M. D. & Son, 434 Fourth avenue New York, have painless remedies for these evils. Thousands cured. Call or send stamp for evidence.

KANSAS FARMS.

Choice improved farms for sale in Southeastern Kansas. A rare chance for some one who wishes to buy a home cheap. For situation, location terms, price, etc., call at the HERALD OFFICE.

GO TO
WILLIAM McCOWEN'S,
Tecumseh Furniture Parlors

To buy your furniture, for by so doing you
Will Save Fifty Per Cent.

WM. McCOWEN

Is the only experienced and popular

Funeral Director

in this city.

In this branch he also takes the lead.

D. W. CLARK,
GENERAL DEALER IN
Groceries & Provisions,
Confectionery, Etc.

A full line of Choice GREEN & JAPAN TEAS always on hand and sold at the lowest possible figure.

GOODS DELIVERED FREE WITHIN THE CORPORATION

Richard's Block, North Side Chicago Street,
Tecumseh. Michigan.

I. C. WOLCOTT, JOHN S. TEMPLE, S. McCLURE.
WOLCOTT, TEMPLE & CO.,
Wholesale and Retail Dealers in
LUMBER, LATH, SHINGLES, SASH & DOORS
AND ALL KINDS OF BUILDING MATERIAL.
Planing, Sawing, Matching to Order.
Mill and Yard North of Railroad Depot,
TECUMSEH, - MICHIGAN.

JAMES LOWRY,
GENERAL DEALER IN
Groceries and Provisions
CROCKERY & GLASS WARE.
Agent for Model Clothes Wringer.
Highest Cash Price Paid for Butter, Eggs, Lard, &c.
THE BEST AND CHEAPEST TEAS IN TOWN.
No. 3, Merchants' Block, TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

S. W. TEMPLE,
Wholesale and Retail Dealer in
Lumber, Lath, Shingles
And all kinds of
BUILDING MATERIAL.
SASH, DOORS AND BLINDS, COAL AND LIME.
Mill and Yards near Depot, TECUMSEH, MICH.

WEEKLY CINCINNATI TIMES.

Eight large pages—56 columns—and Only Costs One Dollar a Year, and the choice of a beautiful picture or useful book to every subscriber. The oldest, brightest, largest, cheapest, and best weekly paper published. It is more generally taken the country over because it is the best, and it is made the best because it has the largest circulation, and therefore the income to justify the necessary outlay. It is the easiest paper to get subscribers for, and our terms to agents are of extraordinary liberality. We want Agents. Specimen copy free. Address THE WEEKLY TIMES, 230 Walnut St., Cincinnati, O.

THE CINCINNATI TIMES-STAR

Is the best and cheapest daily paper published in the West. Eight pages—48 columns—and only six dollars a year, or 12 cents a week. The Daily Times-Star is the only eight page paper in the country published at this price. It is independent in politics, but aims to be fair in everything, and just to all parties, individuals, sections, and nationalities. If you want all the news attractively and honestly presented subscribe for it. The largest circulation of any paper published in Cincinnati. The postmaster will receive your subscription if there is no agent in your place.

SEE THE NEW
Birthday Cards
AT THE HERALD OFFICE.

Rupture

Its Relief and Cure as certain as day follows day, by Dr. J. A. Sherman's Method. With safety from the dangers of strangulation and without the injury trusses inflict. Those wishing proof should send 10 cents for his book, containing likenesses of bad cases before and after cure, also endorsements of professional gentlemen, Ministers, Merchants, Farmers, and others who have been cured. Trusses and Rupture sooner or later affect the nervous and mental system, bring on organic diseases, impotency, destroy energy and social desires, making the young old and the old useless. Principal office 291 Broadway, New York. For the convenience of Western patients, Dr. Sherman will be at his office, cor. 4th and Market streets, St. Louis, Mo., from November 1st to December 30th.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

Issued Every Thursday Evening.

BY STACY BROTHERS.

Office in the New Herald Building, One Door East of the Opera House, Tecumseh, Mich.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:

One year, Cash in Advance, ... $1.50
Six Months, " 75
Four Months, " 50

Twenty-five cents will be added to the subscription price for every three months that payment may be delayed.

ADVERTISING RATES.

Business Locals, five cents per line for each insertion.

Special notices, fifty cents an inch for each insertion.

Marriages, Births, and Death Notices free.

Rates on General Advertising, on terms to contracts, made known at the Counting Room.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Correspondents must always be invariably required, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Anonymous communications will be rejected.

ENTERED AT THE POST OFFICE AT TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, AS SECOND CLASS MATTER.

TECUMSEH, MICH., NOV. 9, 1882.

Thanksgiving Proclamation.

The President of the United States having by proclamation set apart Thursday, November 30th, 1882, as a day of public thanksgiving throughout the land:

Now Therefore, I, David H. Jerome, Governor of the State of Michigan, in conformity with said proclamation and with time-honored custom, do recommend that the people of this State, on that day, laying aside their avocations, do assemble and meet together, and render thanks to Almighty God for the benefits received at His hands, for the abundant harvests, for peace, happiness and security, and for the prosperity of the commonwealth.

And I further recommend that the day be observed as a time for kindly deeds of charity for the suffering and unfortunate, that all within the commonwealth may remember the Great Giver of every good and perfect gift.

In Testimony Whereof, I have hereto set my hand, and caused the seal of the State to be affixed, at the city of Lansing, this [SEAL.] day of November, A. D. 1882.

DAVID H. JEROME.

By the Governor:

WM. JENNEY, Sec. of State.

The Adrian Times has hauled its poultry in out of the wet.

Where is Vennor now? He never predicted such a deluge as this.

Sheriff Bidwell is the lion of the hour in Lenawee county just now.

Dr. Howell, of Macon, "got there" by a good majority. And he didn't solicit votes in beer saloons either.

We are in no mood to make comments on the election news to-day.—Wait a week till we get cooled off.

Lieut. Salsbury did nobly, and he owes the prohibitionists of Tecumseh a vote of thanks for a friendly lift.

Col. Eldridge spent no money in the canvass, for he had none to spend, but he got the votes of the soldier boys just the same.

The Union movement in Michigan is not to be sneezed at after all. It has elected a governor and six out of eleven congressmen.

The soldiers evidently pulled together last Tuesday. This is proven by the vote given to Eldredge, Bidwell and Salsbury.

John K. must feel rather proud over the result in his own town. He received only 114 majority against 157 majority for the state ticket as a whole.

Some mighty good men "got left" in this county last Tuesday. But they can console themselves with the reflection that they have got lots of good company.

John K. placed his "boodle" among the Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti saloon-keepers and the Monroe Frenchmen to no purpose. The honest farmers of Lenawee and Hillsdale came to the rescue and put Eldridge in.

The political revolution in New York is overwhelming. The city gives Cleveland a majority of 77,607 and Brooklyn 28,103. Total in both 105,710; and his majority in the State outside of these two cities will be at least 35,000.

THE Washington Post has this to say on the rapid increase of millionaires in this country during the past twenty years: "There are fifty millionaires to-day where there was one in 1860. There are 100 owners of vast tracts of western lands to-day where there was one in 1860. There are $1,000,000 of untaxed capital to-day where there was $1 in 1860. But the chances for poor men in this country will continue to grow small by degrees and gloomily less until the power that produced these results is disarmed and broken."

Although Sheriff Bidwell's re-election was a foregone conclusion, still his vote was phenomenal. In the first place he was an extra strong candidate. In the next place, Mr. James took the nomination under protest and considered his election hopeless from the start, therefore he spent neither time nor money in the canvass. In the third place, Mr. Bidwell had trusty men at work for him in every voting precinct, while Mr. James literally did nothing. Hence the result. Among persons who know both men, no one will begrudge Mr. Bidwell his success, and no one will think the less of Mr. James by reason of his defeat.

THE NOVEMBER ELECTIONS.

A TIDAL WAVE WHICH UPSETS AND REVERSES THINGS GENERALLY.

A Bad Day for Machines and Bosses—The "Independent Scratcher Abroad.

Below we present the full returns from the elections, as they have been received up to noon to-day, when our forms were closed to go to press. The actual official count will not vary the figures herein given but little, not enough to reverse the result in any State or to change the complexion of the next Congress.

The Result by States.

ARKANSAS.

Everything democratic. No change in congressional delegation.

ALABAMA.

Same as Arkansas.

CALIFORNIA.

Gen. Stoneman chosen governor by 4,000. Democrats elect five out of six congressmen, gaining one old member and two new ones—a net gain of three.

COLORADO.

Still in doubt. Both parties claim the state. Probably Republican.

CONNECTICUT.

The Democrats elect their governor by 4,000 and choose three out of four congressmen. A gain of two.

DELAWARE.

Democrats carry the state. No change.

GEORGIA.

Democrats sweep everything. Congressional delegation unchanged.

INDIANA.

Democratic state ticket chosen by 5,000 majority. Democrats gain three congressmen and claim a fourth.

ILLINOIS.

Republican state ticket elected by 15,000 and the same party controls the legislature. Both parties claim a gain of one congressman.

IOWA.

Everything Republican by heavy majorities but one congressman which the Democrats claim. Weaver's election also claimed by the Greenbackers. Both claims doubtful.

KANSAS.

The Democrats defeat Gov. St. John and gain one congressman. Balance of the ticket largely Republican.

KENTUCKY.

Only congressmen voted for. Republicans gain one.

LOUISIANA.

Congressional delegation five Democrats and one Republican. No change.

MASSACHUSETTS.

Ben. Butler is elected governor by 20,000. Balance of state ticket Republican by 15,000. Democrats elect four congressmen, a gain of three.

MARYLAND.

Democratic judicial ticket defeated. Republicans gain two congressmen.

MISSOURI.

The Democrats sweep everything and elect a solid delegation to congress. A gain of four members.

MICHIGAN.

This State elects Begole, the Union candidate for Governor, by a majority of 2,000 to 5,000. Balance of State ticket Republican. Legislature also Republican, but by a reduced majority. Democrats gain three Congressmen, with two districts in doubt. Since the above was in type, a dispatch from Detroit claims a gain of six Congressmen. Below is the full list, with the majority in each:

1st—Maybury, Dem.	5,067
2d—Eldridge, Dem.	480
3d—Lacey, Rep.	2,034
4th—Yaple, Gb.	266
5th—Houseman, Dem.	160
6th—Winans, Gb.	81
7th—Carleton, Dem.	118
8th—Horr, Rep.	984
9th—Cutcheon, Rep.	363
10th—Hatch, Rep.	863
11th—Breitung, Rep.	5,000

MISSISSIPPI.

Only congressmen chosen. The Republicans score a gain of two.

MINNESOTA.

Heavily Republican. No change.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Vote on governor so close as to require the official count to decide. Legislature and both congressmen Republican.

NEW YORK.

Grover Cleveland, Democrat, chosen Governor, by 140,000 majority. Legislature Democratic by forty majority. Democrats gain at least four Congressmen. They claim a gain of eight, but probably have about five.

NEBRASKA.

State ticket Republican. Three Republican Congressmen chosen, a gain of two; both under the new apportionment.

NEVADA.

Democrats carry the State and gain one Congressman.

NORTH CAROLINA.

State ticket Democratic. Congressional delegation unchanged.

NEW JERSEY.

The Democrats gain two Congressmen and the Legislature.

PENNSYLVANIA.

The Democrats elect their Governor, Pattison, by 20,000 plurality, and gain three Congressmen. Balance of the ticket Republican.

RHODE ISLAND.

Everything heavily Republican. No change.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

Democrats elect State ticket. Republicans elect three Congressmen, a gain of three, one old member and both new ones.

TEXAS.

The Democrats sweep the State by 50,000 and elect a solid Congressional delegation of eleven, being a gain of six members, one old member and five new members.

TENNESSEE.

Democrats elect Governor and Legislature by a small majority. Republicans gain one Congressman.

VIRGINIA.

The Mahone coalition party carry the State by 15,000 majority and choose six out of eleven Congressmen, gaining one old member and two new ones, a net gain of three.

WISCONSIN.

State Republican by reduced majorities. Democrats choose four out of nine Congressmen, a gain of two.

There is no doubt about a good working Democratic majority of at least twenty in the next House of Representatives. The full returns will change these figures somewhat, but not enough to make any substantial difference in the result.

The Result in Lenawee County.

We present the figures in detail from Tecumseh, taken from the Clerk's tally sheet, and in the other towns give the figures on the principal candidates, to show the drift of the contest.

TECUMSEH.

Governor—
Jerome	314
Begole	282
Sagendorph	50
Lieut. Governor—
Crosby	329
Pringle	276
Brown	43
Secretary of State—
Conant	325
Shakespeare	278
Rork	45
State Treasurer—
Butler	325
Coman	278
Brewer	45
Auditor General—
Stevens	317
Blair	274
Osborn	58
Attorney General—
Van Riper	324
Tarsney	277
Tatum	45
Commissioner of Land Office—
Newell, M. S.	325
Van DeVanter	278
Newell, E. C.	45
Supt. Public Instruction—
Cochran	327
Parsons	278
Walbridge	44
Member Board of Education—
Jenks	325
Hall	278
McKeever	45
Congressman—
Boies	319
Eldridge	288
Dewey	42
State Senator—
Shaw	329
Hall	281
Cook	40
Representative, 1st Dist.—
Howell	361
Bradner	272
Moore	15
Sheriff—
Bidwell	381
James	245
Kimball	22
County Clerk—
Hunter	361
Ladd	247
Beal	42
County Treasurer—
Hoag	330
Teachout	279
Day	40
Register of Deeds—
Delbear	324
Wagener	282
Luke	44
Prosecuting Attorney—
Salsbury	329
Watts	320
Circuit Ct. Com'rs—
Whitbeck	326
Payne	364
Helme	277
Pierson	278
County Surveyor—
Blair	326
Richard	279
Payne	44
Coroners—
Seaver	326
Parker	325
Wooden	277
Heath	277
Kedsie	44
Taylor	44

In this town the Republican party vote was 325, Union vote 278, Prohibition vote 44. The majorities are confined to the Republican ticket, except on Prosecuting Attorney, Salsbury having 9 majority on the Union ticket. The Prohibition vote went for him in a body.

The vote on the amendments and court house tax was very light, but they all received a majority of affirmative votes except the general revision amendment.

Judges Salary—
Yes	155
No	51
Court House tax—
Yes	168
No	130
County Auditors Amend't—
Yes	43
No	33
Constitutional Revision—
Yes	36
No	66

RAISIN.

Governor—
Jerome	176
Begole	155
Sagendorph	29
Congress—
Boies	168
Eldridge	167
Dewey	26
Sheriff—
Bidwell	234
James	102
Kimball	31
Prosecuting Attorney—
Watts	163
Salsbury	173
Coroners—
Republican	179
Democratic	155
Prohibition	26

RIDGEWAY.

Governor—
Jerome	99
Begole	136
Entire Union State ticket	136
Entire Republican State ticket except Governor	109
Congress—
Boies	111
Eldridge	185
State Senator—
Shaw	110
Hall	136
Representative—
Howell	116
Bradner	131
Sheriff—
Bidwell	121
James	124
Coroners—
Republican	110
Democratic	136
Court House Tax—
Yes	49
No	143
Revision—
Yes	13
No	119
County Auditors—
Yes	5
No	147
Judges' Salary—
Yes	27
No	141
Special town vote on changing the polling place—
Yes	83
No	145

CLINTON.

Governor—
Jerome	105
Begole	193
Sagendorph	50
Congress—
Boies	142
Eldridge	198
Representative—
Howell	176
Bradner	168
Sheriff—
Bidwell	174
James	172
Clerk—
Hunter	160
Ladd	187
Prosecuting Attorney—
Watts	124
Salsbury	222
Coroners—
Republican	160
Democratic	188
Court House Tax—
Yes	145
No	56
Judge's Salary—
Yes	81
No	41
Revision—
Yes	13
No	86
County Auditor—
Yes	1
No	39

FRANKLIN.

Governor—
Jerome	168
Begole	145
Sagendorph	4
Congress—
Boies	171
Eldridge	143
Dewey	1
Sheriff—
Bidwell	188
James	125
Kimball	3
Prosecuting Attorney—
Watts	172
Salsbury	145

RESULT ON CONGRESS.

A dispatch received at two o'clock this afternoon places Col. Eldridge's majority at 795.

Tables of Majorities.

The following tables give the majorities on some of the leading candidates, by towns and wards:

GOVERNOR AND CONGRESS.

	Governor.		Congress.
	Jerome.	Begole.	Boies	Eldridge
Adrian City:
First Ward		85		193
Second "		75		205
Third "	125		91
Fourth "	81		15
Adrian		20		33
Blissfield	55		16
Cambridge		79		77
Clinton		88		56
Deerfield		27		85
Dover		38		36
Fairfield		2		48
Franklin	28		28
Hudson	157		114
Macon	53		59
Madison		11		41
Medina	14			3
Ogden	97		44
Palmyra	58			12
Raisin	21		1
Ridgeway		37		23
Riga		50		92
Rollin	91		28
Rome	14		16
Seneca		102		132
Tecumseh	32		33
Woodstock		111		128
	821	725	445	1114

Jerome's majority 96.
Eldridge's majority 669.

SHERIFF & PROSECUTING ATTORNEY.

	Sheriff.		Attorney.
	Bidwell.	James	Watts	Salsbury.
Adrian City:
First Ward	97		43
Second "	109		18
Third "	198		140
Fourth "	115		87
Adrian	19			2
Blissfield	81		49
Cambridge		57		94
Clinton	2			98
Deerfield		17		85
Dover		18		69
Fairfield	36			20
Franklin	63		27
Hudson	145			234
Macon	126		56
Madison	31		18
Medina	10			12
Ogden	112		111
Palmyra	98		79
Raisin	132			10
Ridgeway		2		20
Riga				72
Rollin	91			13
Rome	24		6
Seneca		53		191
Tecumseh	136			9
Woodstock		84		119
	1625	231	634	1047

Bidwell's majority 1394.
Salsbury's majority 413.

KIES BROTHERS!

Call special attention to their

MAMMOTH AND ATTRACTIVE

FALL STOCK

OF

CLOTHING,

OVERCOATS, HATS & CAPS

and Gents' Furnishing Goods,

FOR MEN, BOYS & CHILDREN.

Every inch of Counter and Shelf room in our store is filled with

New Goods!

and the largest and most complete stock ever brought to Tecumseh.

EVERY GARMENT GUARANTEED AS REPRESENTED.

PRICES LOW.

KIES BROS.,

ONE PRICE CLOTHIERS,

Mills Block. TECUMSEH, MICH.

Make No Mistake!

If you are about to purchase for yourself or your boys anything in the line of

BOOTS & SHOES

Be sure and call at

LEE'S

Where you will find an entire

NEW STOCK

Which will be sold at bottom prices. We ask you to call and examine these goods as we will make it an object for you to purchase of us.

REMEMBER THE PLACE!!

HEWITT'S BLOCK.

AMUSEMENTS.

OPERA HOUSE, TECUMSEH.

ONE NIGHT AND SATURDAY MATINEE.

SATURDAY, NOV. 11th, 1882.

Bell's Famous

BRILLIANTS!

—AND—

BOSTON IDEAL INSTRUMENTALISTS.

Silver Cornet Band

AND ORCHESTRA.

20 IN NUMBER 20

—THE—

Great Lucier Family,

Mon's Joseph R. Lucier,
M'lle Rosalie Lucier,
Charles N. Lucier,
Alfred D. Lucier,

In their Wonderful Musical Performance.

LITTLE DOT,

The wonderful Musical Queen and Rolling Globe Performer.

MR. HARRY CLARK,

The refined German Commedian.

DON HADWAY

in his Eccentricities.

BELL'S SILVER CORNET BAND AND ORCHESTRA.

Admission to floor,	35 cents.
Gallery,	25 "
Reserved Seats,	50 "

MATINEE, LADIES AND CHILDREN.
Saturday Afternoon, 2:30

MATINEE PRICES:

Adults	25 cts.
Children	15 "

Reserved Seats on sale at Kiel's Jewelry Store.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

WANTED.

A Forty Acre Farm, with fair buildings, within four miles of Tecumseh. Address P. O. Box 215, Tecumseh, Mich.

DISSOLUTION NOTICE.

The firm of KENNEDY & Co., heretofore transacting an Agricultural Implement business in the village of Tecumseh, is this day dissolved by mutual consent, A. A. Kennedy retiring. The books and accounts will be left with W. N. Snedicor & Co., for settlement, who will continue the business at the old stand. KENNEDY & CO.

Tecumseh, Nov. 1st, 1882.

NOTICE.

I hereby notify and warn all persons from purchasing farm rights to use the Covell Patent Portable Fence from other persons than the undersigned or E. N. Vescelius in the North half of Lenawee County, as I own the right for this territory, and will prosecute all infringements to the full extent of the law.

SYLVESTER MILLER.

WANTED.

Ten Good Heavy Work Horses, for the pine woods. Apply at once, to

A. W. SLAYTON.

NOTICE.

I have this day bought out the interest of A. A. Kennedy in the Agricultural Implement business, and shall continue to do business at the old stand, in Lee's Block. Thanking my patrons for the trade in the past, I hope, by square and honorable dealing, to merit a continuance of the same.

W. N. SNEDICOR & CO.

TECUMSEH, Michigan, Nov. 1st, 1882.

FOR SALE.

38 good ewes and 1 fine wool buck. A new platform wagon for sale or exchange toward a good horse. E. C. CORYELL.
WM. F. HARDING.

A BARGAIN.

Contemplating a change in business, I now offer for sale my MEAT MARKET, complete, lease of location, machinery, consisting of Steam Sausage Cutter, Engine, Meat Blocks, Refrigerator, Slaughter Houses, etc., in all one of the most complete markets in Southern Michigan. Also my HOUSE AND LOT on Kilbuck street, ice house and ice business, horses, wagons, sleighs, etc. For terms and particulars inquire of J. W. COLE.

WANTED.

We want to buy 500 tons of good timothy hay not far from Britton station. Apply to Slayton & Nelson at A. W. Slayton's furniture store.

POULTRY AND CLOVER SEED.

Take your poultry and clover seed to L. D. Dewey of Raisin Valley, as he pays a dollar a hundred more than any shipper in town, and will do it all winter. Take in every day.

SHEEP FOR SALE.

17 fine wool bucks.

BURT MORLEY.

FOR SALE.

Business calling me in another direction, I offer my place for sale cheap. Said premises consist of two acres of land, a good house, new barn, well, cistern, etc. Just outside of corporation.

S. H. SMITH,
Chicago street west.

FOR SALE.

A new parlor suit for sale very cheap. Enquire at the Exchange hotel. J. H. EMERY.

TO RENT.

A good house to rent in a desirable location.

JAMES MONTAGUE.

FOR SALE.

80 acres of good land situated 3 miles Southeast Tecumseh on section 1 in Raisin. For particulars enquire of C. D. BILLS

NOTICE.

All persons indebted to the late firm of KENNEDY & Co. are requested to call on W. N. Snedicor & Co. immediately, and settle, as the books must be balanced. W. N. SNEDICOR & CO.

EYE AND EAR SURGERY.

Dr. R. D. Tipple, Eye and Ear Surgeon, 367 Superior street, Toledo, treats all diseases of the eye, ear, throat and nose both medically and surgically, upon scientific principles, inserts artificial eyes, adjusts spectacles, &c. Special attention given to straightening cross-eyes and removing cataracts. Consultations free.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

TECUMSEH, MICH. NOV. 9, 1882.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

BLISSFIELD has a violin class.

THURSDAY, Nov. 30, has been selected as Thanksgiving day.

THERE are 420 children of school age in the township of Franklin.

ONE thousand people gain a livelihood in Kalamazoo by raising celery.

THE railroad will be built, and don't you let it escape your memories, either.

THE Uncle Tom's Cabin company played to a good house last Saturday evening.

THE lemonade and soda-water season having closed, the cider business is booming.

A FINER fall than the one now about to draw to a close would be hard to imagine.

AN exchange says: Now pull down your screen doors and let the flies get out and freeze to death.

MRS. FRANK JOHNSON, of Toledo, is in town, on a brief visit. She will return home to-morrow.

FRANK SNEDECOR has gone to La Grange, Ind., to take the position of advance agent for L. F. Wheeler.

BE sure and attend the entertainments to be given at the Opera House next Saturday, afternoon and evening.

THERE has been a lively tussle between the squirrel and the small boy to see which could gather the most nuts.

JUD DEPUY is ahead on corn. He had a field of seven acres from which he husked 125 bushels of corn per acre. Next.

FRED H. BURLINGAME, who has been at home, on the sick list, for the past four weeks, returned to his business at Coldwater last Monday morning.

NOVEMBER came in like a sensible, well behaved lamb, but will probably tear out like the proverbial roaring lion, when twenty-two days have passed.

THE Saline Observer says that its friends need not be bashful about handing in their marriage notices, as its for the good of the public that such calamities are reported.

THE following pupils of Saline Dist. No. 10, have neither been absent tardy nor whispered during the month ending Oct. 27: Percy Morgan, Sarah Heim, Hannah Morton, Katie Heim.

Monroe Democrat: Tuesday night some of J. K. Boies' friends mistook the door lock on Triquet's barber shop for a ballot box, and stuffed it so full that it required half an hour's work to open it.

THERE is a lively demand for good teachers for the coming winter, and many districts are not yet supplied.—Wages are good, and teachers are in no great hurry about making engagements.

EXCHANGES are warning people to beware of the man who wants to sell you a certain "novelty harness attachment" for $8 for which he takes your note and which afterwards turns up as a note for $80.

THE average yield per acre of wheat in the state is 18.41 bushels, as compared with 11.03 bushels in 1881, and 16.79 bushels, the average for the four years 1878, 1879, 1880 and 1881. The average for Lenawee county is 21.09.

TURKEYS are already beginning to be suspicious concerning their extra good fare, and are probably looking about for a retired place of solitude to which they can abscond till after people have got over being thankful.

Adrian Record: The Detroit democrats have placed in nomination for the legislature Wm. B. Mumford, a colored man. Adrian has a Wm. B. Mumford, but he is a little "off color." He is white, and he is not running for the legislature. Herein lieth the difference.

CHET BROWNSON, who lives on the Service farm in Clinton, has been rather unfortunate of late. About a month ago he lost a horse by a broken leg, and last Saturday another horse got drowned. It strayed into a marsh and got mired, and was found dead.—Both horses were valuable, being worth over $100 each.

WE are in receipt of the last report of the Superintendent of Public Instruction from Varnum B. Cochrane, Supt. It contains a vast amount of valuable statistics pertaining to the schools of the state, recent decisions of the Supreme Court, and the proceedings of the last session of the State Teachers' Association. It is a very valuable number.

GEORGE HOADLEY, who resides about 14 miles south of Adrian, is about as much scattered about as any man well can be. His farm lies in four townships, two counties and two states. He pays taxes at three places, does road work in three different bailiwicks and school taxes in three districts. He lives in Ohio and feeds his stock, carries his pigs and drives his geese to water in Michigan.

IT was an unusually pleasant day for election.

THE season approacheth for buckwheat cakes and molasses.

WHO bought the Nickel Plate? This is what "no feller" can find out.

MISS LOU REYNOLDS, of Niles, who has been visiting in Tecumseh for the past few days returned to her home last Monday.

A GERMAN tailor in Coldwater persists in calling Sunday Saturday, and works right along week after week in that belief. He claims that he knows it because of the way his work comes out. He is evidently a little off his "goose."

THE Democrats and Greenbackers will celebrate the grand Union victories, in this village, next Saturday evening. Col. Eldridge and Lieut. Salsbury will both be present to address the meeting.

LAST Saturday, a citizen of Gorham paid to Frank Cawley a note of $20, given to Frank's father in settlement of an account in 1849. The interest at 10 per cent. had been promptly kept up during all these years.—Morenci Observer.

MR. FRED. J. LANDGRAF has sold out his sewing machine business to C. P. Sparks, who will continue the same as heretofore at the old stand, keeping on hand nine different machines, a general assortment of needles, and all attachments. Mr. Landgraf will remain here for some time to settle up his business before going to Detroit.

ON account of the dry weather this fall, the wheat has in some instances turned slightly yellow about the lower leaves. A report has been quite current that this change of color was caused by the fly. Upon investigation it has been found that the yellowness has been caused wholly by the dry season, and no fly has in any way disturbed the wheat. So says one of our best farmers.

The latest figures on County ticket, got this forenoon and after our tables were compiled, give the following majorities in round numbers:

Senator—Shaw, Rep.	50
Sheriff—Bidwell, Rep.	1,350
Clerk—Hunter, Rep.,	1,100
Treasurer—Hoag, Rep.	30
Register—Dolbear, Rep.	125
Prosecuting Att'y, Salsbury, Dem.	500
Circuit Court Com., Payne, Rep.	500
" " " Helme, Dem.	40

Morenci Observer: Elder Maynard, of this village, has accepted a call from a Baptist church in Salem, Washtenaw county, this state, and will at once proceed to his new field of labor. The society there is reported to be a good one, having an effective membership of about one hundred, with a pleasant church edifice and parsonage. The salary is fixed at $600 per annum and a donation. The "Elder" carries with him the kind regards of the people here.

THE next meeting of the Lenawee County Teachers' Association will be held in the High school room in Adrian, Dec. 9th. Papers will be presented for discussion upon the following subjects: Analysis of English Sentences, and Teaching Science in the Public Schools. It is hoped that members of the Association will bear these subjects in mind and come to the meeting prepared to take part in the discussion. Prof. W. H. Payne, of Ann Arbor, has promised to be present, and to read a paper entitled, Modern Doctrines from an Ancient Book.

THE Educational News gives the names of the teachers and the salaries each receives for the winter term of school in the township of Franklin.

No. 1, Wm. E. Wisner, $40 per month, with board.
No. 2, George Hopkins, $30 per month, with board.
No. 3, David Haggart, $30 per month, without board.
No. 4, George J. Tripp, $46 per month, without board.
No. 5, Allison Loomis, $35 per month, with board.
No. 6, Nellie Slater, $30 per month, without board.
No. 7, vacant.
No. 8, Lulu Monaghan, $40 per month, with board.
No. 9 Lelia Van Valkenburgh, $25 per month, with board.
No. 10, probably Mary Cummins.

STEPHEN WHEELER, of near Adrian, recently received a note saying a certain sum of money was at his disposal at the express office in Detroit. Investigation showed that the money had been sent him through the hands of a catholic priest, and came from a conscience stricken individual who had confessed to his ghostly advisor that he had in years gone by wronged Mr. Wheeler. The Adrian Times from which the above is taken also says that one day last week a lady about 30 years of age entered Mr. A. Sigler's jewelry store, and with tears in her eyes, related how, 25 years ago, she had stolen a ring from him. Her conscience had during that time depressed her more and more, until she could stand it no longer, and she had determined to atone as far as possible for the foolish act of her childhood.—She returned the ring and paid its full cash value when new. No amount of persuasion on the part of Mr. Sigler could induce her to accept the ring. She did not look at it in that way and could not bear the sight of the little circlet any longer.

JOHN R. CLARK speaks four nights in Lockport, New York, commencing the 12th, on Temperance, Blunders, Irish Life, and To and Fro in London.

REV. R. S. PARDINGTON will deliver a lecture on "Superstition," in the M. E. Church, on Friday, Nov. 17th, 1882, for the benefit of the "Rosario Home," in South America.

REV. R. S. PARDINGTON will begin next Sabbath evening a course of lectures on "The Eminent Men of the Bible." The first will be on "Cain and Abel as representative religionists."

THE first meeting of the Lenawee County S. S. Association, which was held in Hudson a few days ago, while not very largely attended, was a pronounced success. Those present were greatly profitted. Arrangements were made for holding the spring meeting in Deerfield. These gatherings of Sabbath School workers will be useful.

LOUIS HERNING, at the new meat market, one door west of McCowen's furniture rooms, wishes to announce to the good people of Tecumseh and vicinity that he is now prepared to furnish them with the best of meats, at the very lowest possible figures. He is now selling beef steaks at from 10 to 12½ cents; pork steak, 12½; sausage, 12½; bologna, 15. Call and give him an order.

THE Executive Committee of the Michigan Sunday School Association, of which Rev. R. S. Pardington is chairman, will meet in Adrian on Friday, November 10, 1882, at 2 p. m., in the Baptist Church. Rev. A. H. Gillett, State Secretary, and B. F. Jacobs, of Chicago, will meet the Committee. A grand Sabbath School meeting will be held in the evening, to be addressed by several prominent workers.

IN speaking of Bell's Brilliants which are to give two entertainments at the Opera House on Saturday next, afternoon and evening, the Toledo Blade says: "A rare treat! Something new and entertaining was the performance of Bell's Brilliants at the Opera House last evening. We did not suppose that any cultured Company could introduce so much music, mirth and sentiment in two hours performance and the audience seemed to appreciate it."

A TECUMSEH correspont writing to the Clinton News has the following to say about us: "The HERALD has in press the proceedings of the State Sunday school convention held here last June. The editor's sanctum has been converted into a paste room, while the entire interior of the establishment has assumed the appearance of a first-class publishing house. In addition to its various enterprises the HERALD now prints four weekly newspapers exclusive of its own, and it is safe to anticipate that Tecumseh will at no distant day, boast of a publishing house second to none in Southern Michigan."

Morenci Observer: For several years the old woolen mills building was without an occupant, save the bats and owls who build their nests there undisturbed, except only when the boy of the period hurled a stone through one of its many windows. Now, however, all is changed and the place is a regular hive of industry. The first floor is occupied by extensive stave and hoop machinery, and the second floor by Baker & Flint's step ladder works; the latter being a new industry, which promises to be a bonanza for its owners. On our visit there this week, we found the proprietors and eight men busy as bees, trying to keep up with the numerous orders which are already coming in.

Peterson's Magazine

The Premium Engraving for "Peterson's Magazine" for 1883, beyond all question, is the most valuable ever issued. It is a copy, in line and stipple of the extraordinary painting by the great Hungarian artist, Muncasky, "Christ Before Pilate," which is creating such a sensation in Europe, sixty thousand persons having visited it when on exhibition at Vienna, and as many at Prague. The picture is so real that the spectator seems to be actually present. The prominent object is the patient, forgiving, divine face of Christ. Then there is Pilate, with his puzzled, hesitating air; the angry hate, the scowling brows of the High Priests and Scribes; the wild, almost insane, rage of some of the crowd; and more than all, the unspeakable pathos in the countenance of the pitying young mother, who, with her babe in her arms, stands looking on from one corner. Never before was that ever memorable scene so vividly conceived, much less so successfully and powerfully depicted. The picture should be had in every family. It can be had, gratis, by getting up a club for "Peterson." Only the enormous circulation of the Magazine can explain why the proprietors can afford to give such premiums. Peterson is the best and cheapest of the lady's books, the price being but two dollars a year, with great deductions to clubs. Specimens of the Magazine, to assist in getting up clubs, are sent, gratis, if written for. Now is the time to get up clubs for 1883. Address, Charles J. Peterson, 306 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

THE T. & M. RAILROAD.

There are no new developments in regard to the sale of the Nickel Plate road. As the facts come out it seems evident that the road has been bought by a syndicate composed of men who control the Hocking Valley, the C., C., C. & I. and the Lehigh Valley roads, and that the Nickel Plate will be operated for the joint benefit of those three lines. It is possible that Vanderbilt has bought some stock, but evidently he has not got a controlling interest. The following despatch from Cleveland, of Nov. 6th, gives the latest news about the transfer:

CLEVELAND, Nov. 6.—Judge Stevenson Burke and Gen. J. H. Devereaux have returned from New York, where they made a second payment on the Nickel Plate stock and purchased 15,000 shares, in addition to a large block. Judge Burke said to a Western Associated Press reporter that temporary arrangements for terminal facilities at Chicago and Buffalo will be made to-day, and that he and Gen. Devereaux will go into the Board of Directors within a few days, vacancies to be made for them. He said last week the general officers of the road tendered their resignations; but were requested to remain for the present. He thinks few, if any, changes will be made in officers and employes. Being asked if Vanderbilt is behind or interested, he replied that he dislikes to appear mysterious, but business reasons made it necessary not to answer that question now, as other changes are about to be made. "You may say," he remarked, "that the Nickel Plate will be operated in close harmony with the C., C., C. & I. and the Hocking Valley."

"Is the syndicate the same as the Hocking Valley syndicate?" asked the reporter.

Judge Burke replied that the list is not fully made up yet, but the inference may be drawn that some of the same parties are in both, as he took thirty-five per cent. of the Hocking Valley interest himself. He expects the Nickel Plate to be in the pool, and get its share of the business; the policy being to maintain and not cut rates. Eastern relations will be close with the Lehigh Valley and Delaware, Lackawanna & Western; but Judge Burke expects also to co-operate with the Erie, New York Central, and West Shore & Buffalo. He illustrated the attitude of the Nickel Plate to the Lake Shore by saying it would be like two men going into any business side by side, each seeking to make what he can in a business like way. The whole tenor of his conversation implied that the Nickel Plate will be operated independently of the Lake Shore. Being inquired of as to the future payment on stock, he said that $1,000,000 will be paid the first of every month hereafter until all is paid for, as the last payment will not be made prior to the annual meeting of the road, January 17. He was asked if the syndicate will be allowed to vote the stock. He stated it was part of the contract of the purchase that the syndicate shall vote the stock of the next meeting and assume control. Judge Burke incidentally said he has private information he believes to be correct that the Grand Trunk will buy the West Shore & Buffalo, negotiations for the purpose being now in progress.

Reading, Mich., Sept. 1, 1881.

Mr. J. D. Kellogg:—I have been afflicted with Kidney Complaint for eighteen years, and used and done everything I could think of, to get relief. I spent two seasons at mineral springs, but received no benefit, and steadily grew worse, so that my mind was made up to die. But I was finally induced to try a bottle of Columbian Oil, and before I had used half of the first bottle, I felt much better, and I am now entirely cured. My wife was troubled with rheumatism, and the Oil made an entire cure on her.

Yours truly, Lorenzo Abbott.

ABOUT as good an example of industry in children as we ever heard of is that of a little four-year-old boy living in Sharon, named Archie Pickley, who has picked up one hundred bushels of potatoes this season, in a four quart pail. The same boy dropped the seed for those potatoes last spring.—Clinton News.

This reminds us of one of our family traditions. A paternal ancestor about three generations back, who was known by the name of "Uncle Robert Ransom," raised a family of nine children, eight of whom were boys. He lived on a farm, and it was said that he always set his boys to work as soon as two of them working together could pick up a potato.

To the Public.

Being desirous of closing out my finished Monuments and Headstones, to make room for winter stock, I will offer at greatly reduced prices, at my works in Tecumseh and Clinton, over one hundred Headstones and sixteen Monuments. The public in general, whether they intend purchasing or not, are invited to pay us a visit and examine the work, which is all new and of superior finish, and be convinced of the extreme low prices which will be offered.

S. F. MARSTELLER.

Blissfield Advance: Mr. James Doyle, who lives on the town line between Ogden and Riga, met with a very serious accident while going home from the village on Monday evening, caused by his horses running away, and throwing him out of the wagon, one of the hind wheels passing over his chest. He was picked up and conveyed to his home, when it was ascertained he was quite badly hurt.—Dr. Parker was summoned, and found the base of the right lung ruptured, and several contusions about the head.

A SHORT letter from one of the officials of the T. & M. road to the editor of this paper, received last Tuesday, conveys the intelligence that the work on this road will be pushed right along as rapidly as possible. There seems to be a hitch in the sale of the Nickel Plate, and it is more than likely that the recent sale will drop through; at all events, the T. & M. road will be built, and will be run in connection with the Ohio Central, according to the original plan. It has already secured depot accommodations at Toledo, at the North depot, now used by the Ohio Central, Wheeling & Lake Erie, and Toledo & Ann Arbor roads. Tecumseh people need feel no uneasiness in regard to the building of our new road within a reasonable time. Engineer Baird, with his gang of surveyors, is still at work along the line, having his headquarters at Tecumseh. He and Mr. Scovill have been engaged for the last week in picking up a few right of way contracts—mostly in Ridgeway—which had not been completed. They are now awaiting further instructions.

The Prohibition Vote.

Considerable has been said on the streets about that one straight Prohibition ticket. The Prohibition party in this county, when they met in their County Convention, found themselves without material for Prosecuting Attorney and Circuit Court Commissioners, so left those places on the ticket blank, but authorized the County Committee to fill the places with such names as they thought worthy to be there. Those names were not decided upon until the tickets were printed, so that our tickets all came from the hands of the County Committee, split. The one ticket polled as straight was placed in the hands of the voter by mistake. J. H. OSBORN.

Tecumseh, Nov. 9.

Auction Sale.

Robt. L. Glenn will sell at auction, 3 miles east of Springville, on Tuesday, Nov. 14th, 1882, at 12 o'clock, M., the following property: 3 work horses, 3 two year olds, 2 yearling colts, two milch cows, 4 head young cattle, drill, 2 lumber wagons, 100 sheep, Buckeye reaper and mower, Gale hay rake, bob-sleighs, drags, plows, harrows, cultivators, corn in the ear, corn fodder, 30 acres wheat on the ground, &c. Usual terms. Ben. Reynolds, auc.

THE Boys' Guild, of St. Peter's Church, will have for sale at the Opera House, on Thanksgiving day, domestic canned fruits, jellies, and many other goodies. Likewise in their booth will be presented various novelties. Save your money, patronize us, and we will give you bargains. Don't forget the Ladies' Fair and entertainment at the same time and place. B. G., ST. P.

THE December number of the North American Review is to contain two symposiums, one on the Health of American Women, by Drs. James R. Chadwick, Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Dr. Dio Lewis; and the other on Success on the Stage, by John McCullough, Madame Modjeska, Joseph Jefferson, Lawrence Barrett, Maggie Mitchell and William Warren.

—Go quick to Comfort's cabbage patch and get your winter supply of cabbage. Splendid, large, solid heads for sale cheap.

—Good assortment left yet. Come early in the morning in order to get waited on.

J. H. Miller & Co., Clinton.

—The Tecumseh Lumber Company has bought out the yard formerly owned by S. W. Temple. They are putting in a fine assortment of lumber, and any body wanting anything in their line would do well to call on them.

—Big Trade at J. H. Miller & Co's Clinton.

—James Lowry has the Excelsior Shirt Polish for sale. It is the best of any preparation in use and will do the work easier than any other polish in the market. Prepared by

E. W. Auger, Detroit, Mich.

—Parties wishing floral decorations for weddings, funerals or other uses, will be promptly supplied by leaving orders with J. J. Orr, at Wright's drug store. Elmer D. Smith.

—One of the best blood purifiers ever made is "King of the Blood." Sold by Druggists generally. Manufactured by D. Ransom Son & Co. Buffalo, N. Y.

—The Tecumseh Lumber Company (successors to S. W. Temple) are stocking up their yards with the largest and best assortment of lumber ever brought into this market. Purchasers would do well to call on them before buying.

—My business is such I am unable to leave Tecumseh. Clinton patrons please call on me at home.

Brown, the Photographer.

—The Tecumseh Lumber Company, corner Shawnee and R. R. Streets, are receiving daily large lots of lumber and are able to compete with any yard in Southern Michigan in scale of prices. Call and see them.

LODGES AND SOCIETIS

TECUMSEH LODGE, NO. 14, I. O. O. F

Regular meetings every Tuesday evening at their Lodge Room over Brewer's Store, Chicago Street.

J. W. WOODEN, N. G.

Lewis Homass, Sec.

Railroad Time Tables.

L. S. and M. S. RAILROAD.

TRAINS GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS	No. 35 Mail.	No. 17 Express	No. 49 Accom.
Jackson	9 30 a m	2 40 p m	1 40 p m
Napoleon	7 10 "	3 09 "	2 53 "
Tecumseh	7 16 "	3 15 "	3 00 "
Manchester	7 30 "	3 30 "	3 30 "
Clinton	7 43 "	3 46 "	3 15 "
Tecumseh	7 55 "	4 00 "	2 30 "
Adrian	8 30 "	4 32 "	2 00 "
Detroit	10 50 "	7 10 "	.....
Toledo	9 50 "	5 25 "	.....

TRAINS GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	No. 16 Mail.	No. 18 Express	No. 48 Accom
Detroit	9 20 am	6 40 pm	.....
Toledo	10 50 "	8 25 "	.....
Adrian	11 40 am	9 20 "	5 10 am
Tecumseh	12 14 p m	9 57 "	6 25 "
Clinton	12 22 "	10 07 "	7 30 "
Manchester	12 40 "	10 30 "	8 25 "
Norvell	12 56 "	10 45 "	9 05 "
Napoleon	1 05 "	10 55 "	9 25 "
Jackson	1 30 "	11 20 "	10 20 "

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Coupon tickets can now be procured at this station over best routes, to all principal cities in the U. S.

N. S. SATTERTHWAITE, Ticket Agent.

Post Office, Tecumseh, Michigan,

MAILS CLOSE.

Eastern and Detroit—morning mail ..... 7 30 A. M.
Southern and Detroit, via Jackson ..... 11 40 A. M.
Eastern and Detroit ..... 3 30 P. M.

OVERLAND.

Tipton, Springville, Cambridge & Brooklyn, Mondays, Wednesdays, Fridays ..... 1 30 "
Sidoway—daily ..... 1 30 "
Lake Ridge, daily ..... 1 30 "
Macon, daily ..... 12 00 M.

ARRIVALS.

Southern Mail ..... 7 55 A. M.
Eastern Mail ..... 12 10 P. M. 9 57 P. M.

Office hours from 7 A. M. to 8 P. M., Sundays from 10 to 10 30 A. M.

FRED ROSACRANS, P. M.

For the Latest Styles of

Buggies, Carriages

SLEIGHS AND HARNESS,

GO TO

LENAWEE CARRIAGE FACTORY

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

J. R. HOLLEY.

ABE HANFORD

General Auctioneer.

All Auction business entrusted to his care will receive prompt attention.

TECUMSEH, - MICHIGAN

BEN REYNOLDS,

Licensed Auctioneer.

ALL AUCTION BUSINESS,

within village or country, will be attended to promptly.

TECUMSEH, MICH.

B. F STEINHOFF'S

Dental Rooms.

OVER BAKER & HALL'S.

GAS FOR EXTRACTING.

THE LOWEST PRICES for THE BEST WORK

LOOSE'S EXTRACT

RED CLOVER BLOSSOM,

The Great Blood Purifier.

PURE AND HARMLESS

Cures Scrofula in all its forms, Cancer, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Rheumatism and all other blood and skin diseases, and regulates the bowels. $1 per pint bottle.

Loose's Red Clover Pills remedy certain, speedy, cheap.

Loose's Red Clover Pills cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Constipation. They act on the liver and kidneys. In boxes of 25 pill, 25c; 5 boxes $1.

For sale by all druggists, or address J. M. Loose, & Co., Monroe, Mich. Send for circular.

I have removed my

BLACKSMITH SHOP

To the old stand of J. H. Mills, On Logan Street,

Opposite Hayden's Warehouse where I have better facilities than ever for doing good work.

Horse Shoeing a specialty

ED. ROWLAND.

Spoopendyke Steps Smoking.

"My dear," said Mr. Spoopendyke, rumpling his hair around his head and gazing at himself in the glass; "my much? It doesn't agree with me at all."

"Just what I have always thought!" chimed Mrs. Spoopendyke, "and besides, it makes the room smell so. You know this room—"

"I'm not talking about the room," retorted Mr. Spoopendyke, with a snort. "I'm not aware that it affects the health of the room. I'm talking about my health this trip, and I think I'll break off short. You don't catch me smoking any more," and Mr. Spoopendyke yawned and stretched himself, and plumped down in his easy chair and glared out the window at the rain.

"How are you going to break off?" inquired Mrs. Spoopendyke, drawing up her sewing chair, and gazing up into her husband's face admiringly. "I suppose the best way is not to think of it at all."

"The best way is for you to sit there and cackle about it!" growled Mr. Spoopendyke. "If anything will distract my attention from it that will. Can't ye think of something else to talk about? Don't ye know some subjects that don't smell like a tobacco plantation?"

"Certainly," cooed Mrs. Spoopendyke, rather nonplussed. "We might talk about the rain. I suppose this is really the equinox. How long will it last, dear?"

"Gast the equinox!" sputtered Mr. Spoopendyke. "Don't you know that when a man quits smoking it depresses him? What d'ye want to talk about depressing things for? Now's the time to make me cheerful. If ye don't know any cheerful things, keep quiet."

"Of course," assented Mrs. Spoopendyke, "you want subjects that will draw your mind away from the habit of smoking like you used to. Won't it be nice when the long winter evenings come, and the fire is lighted and you have your slippers and paper—"

"That's just the time I want a cigar!" roared Mr. Spoopendyke, bounding around in his chair and scowling at his wife. "Ain't ye got sense enough to shingle your tongue for a minute? The way you're keeping it up you'll drive me back to my habit in less'n an hour," he continued solemnly, "and then my blood will be on your head!"

"Oh, dear!" sighed Mrs. Spoopendyke. "I didn't mean to. Did you notice about the comet? They say it is going to drop into the sun and burn up—"

"There ye go again!" yelled Mr. Spoopendyke. "You can't open your mouth without suggesting something that breaks me down! What d'ye want to talk about fire for? Who wants fire when he's stopped smoking? Two minutes more and I'll have a pipe in my mouth!" and Mr. Spoopendyke groaned dismally in contemplation of the prospect.

"I'm glad you're going to stay at home to-day," continued Mrs. Spoopendyke, soothingly. "You'd be sure to catch cold if you went out; and by and by we'll have a piping hot dinner—"

"That's it!" squealed Mr. Spoopendyke, bounding out of his chair and plunging around the room. "You'd got to say something about a pipe! I knew how it would be! You want me to smoke myself into an early grave! You'll fetch it! Don't give yourself any uneasiness! You're on the track!" and Mr. Spoopendyke buried his face in his hands and shook convulsively.

"I meant it for the best, my dear," murmured Mrs. Spoopendyke. "I thought I was drawing—!"

"That's it!" ripped Mr. Spoopendyke. "Drawing! You've driven me to it instead of keeping me from it. You know how it's done! All you need now is a lightning rod and a dish of milk toast to be an inebriates' home! Where's that cigar I left here on the mantel? Gimme my death warrant! Show me my imported dose! Drag forth my miniature coffin!" and Mr. Spoopendyke swept the contents of the shelf upon the floor and howled dismally.

"Isn't that it?" asked Mrs. Spoopendyke, pointing to a small pile of snuff on the chair in which Mr. Spoopendyke had been sitting. "That looks like it."

"Wah!" yelled Mr. Spoopendyke, grasping his hat and making for the door. "Another time I swear off you go into the country, you hear?" and Mr. Spoopendyke dashed out of the house and steered for the nearest tobacco shop.

"I don't care," muttered Mrs. Spoopendyke; "when he swears off again I'm willing to leave, and in the meantime I suppose he'll be healthier without his pipe, so I'll hang it up on the wall where he'll never think of looking for it," and having consigned the tobacco to the flames, Mrs. Spoopendyke gathered her sewing materials around her and double clinched an old resolution never to lose her temper, no matter what happened.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Misfit.

Who is doing all this misfit work on carpets? They are advertised all over the country. Not only misfit carpet, but we have stores in this city which pretend to sell misfit clothing. What does it all mean? Who believes that a business equal to hundreds of thousands of dollars a year can be carried on solely through the mistakes of incompetent workmen? As near as we can figure it out there are two or three million men in the United States just now doing nothing else but manufacturing misfit carpets, coats, vests and pantaloons. It looks very much as though an army of blind men had got to work somewhere making up job lots of misfits. If this thing keeps on there is no knowing just where it will stop. The first thing we know there will be misfit boots and shoes, hats and caps, gauze undershirts, suspenders, garters, lace curtains, wall paper, kid gloves, hoop-skirts, striped corsets and Balbriggan hose. Somebody will be out on the road with a red wagon and patent leather dashboard peddling misfit coffins. It has got so in this world that a man can't tell exactly whether the next thing that turns up will be something else or entirely different.—Check.

A large proportion of the 5,000,000 of beer glasses used annually in Berlin come from this country.

A Rocky Mountain Wife.

How She Went for a Divorce—A Trout Trapper Highly Served.

[illegible] a "morning glory." She rushed in upon him, while he was deeply immersed in the problematic rights of landlord against tenant. He is a very prominent political lawyer; she is a beautiful young child of nature from the Platte Canon.

She blushed, he bowed; she chased to the right and subsided into a convenient seat; he closed his calf-covered volume of Illinois reports and arose with his hands under his coat tail and the other one extended, ready for a fee.

"Good morning madam."

"Are you Mr. L———, the lawyer?"

"That is my name, madam. What can I do for you?"

"Well, sir, I am the wife of the old N———, up the Platte. I married the old man two weeks ago last Friday and I don't like it. I want a divorce. How much is it?"

The excited young lady here pulled out an odd looking tobacco pouch round which a buckskin was coiled, and proceeded to untie it. The young limb of the law, whose eyes had been wandering in a wandering way over the strange apparition, stammeringly replied:

"Why, really, my dear misses—beg pardon, but I forgot your name?"

"I ain't no misses no longer. I am Miss Bella Ann P———, of Littleton, and am willing to pay for it."

"Be patient, my dear Miss P———, and I will advise with you."

"I don't want no advice. I want a divorce against old man N———. He ain't the sort of a man I thought he was. He ain't rich and is stingier than a Texan cow, and he won't leave me be. So I left him and went over to Bar Creek to Arthur Bench's mother. Arthur used to like me before I married old Jacob N———, and now I want a divorce."

The lawyer reasoned with the excited young lady and assured her that he would be only too happy to file her application for a divorce were there grounds for the application. The angry young daughter of the mountain listened impatiently to the counsel of the young lawyer with the fury of a young lioness.

At last she burst forth:

"Can't get no divorce 'unless more cause, can't I? Then I'll just tell you, Mr. Lawyer, I'll get it anyhow. Arthur told me how to get it. I can send him to Canon City penitentiary, and get a divorce on it. He traps trout, he does, and I can prove it on him, for I got him to make the trap and help him do it, and I can prove it. "Now," said this brilliant young mountain amazon, "can't I have a divorce and let the old man go to Canon City?"

The young lawyer thought she could and at one wrote a letter to the 'old man' advising him to let the young girl go.

The Express Business.

About forty-four years ago there was a news room in Wall street, New York, which was a famous resort for the merchants and ship owners of those days. It was managed by Mr. James W. Hale, who afterwards started a postal system in opposition to the government.

Mr. Hale's customers often wanted to send small parcels to Boston and Providence, and he suggested to a young man who was out of employment that the latter should travel between New York and those cities, carrying letters and parcels and doing errands for business men. Mr. Hale suggested that the new enterprise should be called the Express, a name which gave an idea of speed and promptitude.

After some hesitation the young man, whose name was William F. Harden, adopted the suggestion and bought a cheap carpet bag.

That carpet bag proved to be the beginning of the express business of the United States, and it is represented today by a system which has made millionaires of a score of men, and which is next in importance to the postoffice and railways.

The Adams Express company often carries merchandise, etc., worth twenty million dollars in a single day. The United States Treasury intrusts to it the carriage of all bank notes and specie; and with the American Express company it transacts a greater exchange and banking business in the transfer of money than all the private bankers put together.

The two great companies which have monopolized nearly all the small concerns employ nearly 8,000 men, 1,500 horses, 1,200 wagons and 3,000 safes. They travel over 100,000 miles daily, and scarcely a railway train runs on any road that has not a special car attached devoted to the business of the express.

Tortured by Indians.

A letter from Arizona tells the following sad story of an Indian massacre: "Stanislaus Metas, nine years old, has just arrived from Stevens' sheep camp with the following story of the Indian massacre on the 18th of April: Before daylight the Indians attacked the camp while we were all asleep. My father and five other men attempted to get their guns, but were too late. The Indians rushed in from all sides and overpowered them before a shot could be fired. An Indian put the muzzle of his gun against the head of one than and fired, blowing his brains against the door and walls. I saw them kill my mother and two brothers by beating their brains out with stones. They killed five persons, and tied my father and tortured him most dreadfully. He begged them to spare him, but they only tortured him the more. Finally they split his skull with an axe. An Indian squaw, the wife of one of four friendly Apache sheep holders who worked with us, saved my life by holding me behind her and begging them to spare me. When all the Mexicans were dead except me, the Indians left."

Emma Voller, of Red Bluff, Cal., was so mortified by her sweetheart's appearance as an esthete at an entertainment, that her mind became disordered, and she died after suffering intense mental agony. The sweetheart will sue Oscar Wilde for damages.

The Erie Canal.

A few figures given below will show the importance of the Erie canal. The principal lines of transportation from the west to the east include ten thousand miles of railway, seven hundred miles of river, sixteen hundred miles of lake and sixteen hundred miles of canal. Of the freight brought over them nearly one-fourth of the whole quantity comes through the Erie canal alone, though it is only open six months of the year.

Exclusive of its branches the canal is three hundred and fifty-two miles long from Albany to Buffalo, and it has nearly eight thousand boats upon it, which travel nine million five hundred thousand miles in a season. The number of men and boys employed on the boats is twenty-eight thousand, and the number of horses and mules used in towing is about sixteen thousand.

In the busy seasons about one hundred and fifty boats reach tide water through the Erie canal daily, and bring more cargo than twenty miles of railway trains could carry.

The time of transit between Buffalo and Albany is about eleven days, and the cost of carrying a barrel of flour between those two points varies from forty to fifty cents.

The railway train attracts attention in every village through which it passes, but the canal boat glides through the narrow inland water way unnoticed, so unobstructive is it; and yet should a delay occur at one of the locks, in twenty-four hours hundreds of boats would accumulate, with as much grain on board as would feed a nation for at least one day.

The Bishop of Melbourne.

The Bishop of Melbourne, Australia, was lately asked by some zealous teetotallers in the diocese to denounce publicly the moderate use of spirituous liquors and tobacco. Without any hesitation he avowed his liberty of action on these points, even though a prelate. "I walk," said he, my twenty miles a day, for the good of others, and when tired out I take my glass of wine and smoke my pipe of peace." Similarly he refused to denounce the theatre indiscriminately; and when recently a deputation requested him to use the prayer for rain, he told them plainly that it would be not only absurd but useless to use such a prayer.

Burlington, Vt., Jan. 25, 1882.

I have used Downs' Elixir exclusively for myself and in my family for a score or more of years, and always keep it with me. Warren Gibbs,

President Vermont Life Ins. Co.

Fairhaven, Vt., Jan. 1, 1882.

I prefer Downs' Elixir to any other cough remedy for children, simply on account of its tonic and expectorant qualities. Respectfully,

Geo. H. Harris.

Adrian Record: Let there be no more cavil about the river and harbor bill. The East Tecumseh literary society has just decided, after careful debate, that the president was justified in vetoing it. If the society will kindly permit we will suggest another subject for debate: Resolved, That President Arthur in abandoning the duties of president and repairing to New York to run a campaign for a red-nosed politician, has stamped himself the supreme executive ass of the nation.

The Doctor's Secret.

Probably no new development will more surprise the public, than to learn the secret of success of leading physicians. When they have a difficult case of throat or lung disease that baffles their scientific skill, they prescribe Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, having it disguised in a prescription bottle, with their own directions and name attached. The patient is cured and they get the credit.—Tribune.

Sold by C. A. Wright & Co.

Adrian Record: Billy Gordon, of Macon, has just sold a bird dog for $90. Dog-goned good price. Gordon has also taken a dog to break for the sum of $50. The owner of the dog wanted him so that he would remove the bosom of a lightning-rod peddler's pantaloons the first grab. Billy said that to get the dog so he would do it he would have to let the animal practice on him awhile, and he couldn't afford it for less than $50 on account of the wear and tear.

"Buchupaiba."

New, quick, complete cure four days, urinary affections, smarting, frequent or difficult urination, kidney diseases. $1, at druggists. Michigan Depot, J. E. Davies & Co., Detroit, Mich.

The emigrant, tourist, or traveller bound for the productive mines and fertile prairies of the Great Southwest is unanimous in selecting the route via. Chicago. Implicit confidence is placed in the Kansas City pioneer line composed of the C. B. & Q. and Old Reliable Hannibal and St. Joseph Railroads. Through fast trains are run by this Line and the equipment is unsurpassed.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all kinds of Skin Eruptions. This Salve is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction in every case or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by

All Druggists.

Important to Travelers.

Special Inducements are offered you by the BURLINGTON ROUTE. It will pay you to read their advertisement to be found elsewhere in this issue.

WARNER'S SAFE KIDNEY & LIVER CURE

Disease is an effect, not a cause. Its origin is within; its manifestations without. Hence, to cure the disease the cause must be removed, and in no other way can a cure ever be effected. WARNER'S SAFE KIDNEY AND LIVER CURE is established on just this principal. It realizes that of all diseases arise from deranged kidneys and liver, and it strikes at once at the root of the difficulty. The elements of which it is composed act directly upon these great organs, both as a food and a restorer, and by placing them in a healthy condition, drive disease and pain from the system.

95 Per Cent.

For the innumerable troubles caused by unhealthy Kidneys, Liver and Urinary Organs; for the distressing Disorders of Women; for Malaria, and for physical derangements generally, this great remedy has no equal. Beware of impostors, imitations and concoctions said to be just as good.

For Diabetes, ask for WARNER'S SAFE DIABETES CURE.

For Sale by all dealers.

H. H. WARNER & CO., Rochester, N. Y.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENT DEPOT.

Grain, Flour, Feed and Coal.

SLAYTON & SON

Are still at the old stand with a complete line o

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.

PLOWS The Wiard Chilled. Mohawk Valley Clipper (steel.)

"Leader" Spring Tooth Harrow. Elwood, Robbins and Buckeye

CULTIVATORS.

"Springer" Spring Tooth Harrow, (on wheels.)

GRAIN DRILLS. Buckeye. Farmer's Fr Triumph.

THRESHERS, The "Vibrator," and the "Buffalo Pitts."

Portable and Traction Thresher Engines.

Rare Bargains in

Carriages, Platform, Spring and Lumber Wagons,

Lime, Water Lime, Salt, Cal. Plaster and Plastering Hair.

If you want anything in our line call and get prices before you buy.

DR. A. FRASER'S MAGNETIC OINTMENT.

The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.

It is constantly effecting the most wonderful cures, while the unparalleled demand with which it meets, stamps it at once as the greatest medicine of the age for outward application.

The most incredulous are convinced, and the most skeptical are compelled to believe in the power of this great remedy.

WHAT IT CURES.

All SORES, CUTS, BRUISES, SPRAINS, BURNS, SORE THROAT, LAMENESS, RHEUMATISM, ALL INFLAMMATION of LUNGS and BOWELS, BROKEN BREAST, CROUP, SALT RHEUM, CHILBLAINS, AFFECTIONS of the SPINE, ERYSIPELAS, NERVOUS IRRITATION, and all diseases attendant with INFLAMMATION.

It never fails to restore the natural functions of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates to every portion of the human frame; every bone, muscle, vein, nerve, and ligament is searched and made sensible to its soothing and healing influences. Hence it copes readily with internal as well as external diseases.

Over 40 Years

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that as we have no space here to insert any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, we simply ask those readers of this notice who have never used this Ointment, to frankly state their experience with it to inquiring friends. If but one in a hundred would do this we should feel perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle.

Price 25 and 40 cents per bottle. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

D. RANSOM SON & CO., Prop'rs, Buffalo, New York.

TO ADVERTISERS.

GEO. P. ROWELL & CO'S

SELECT LIST OF LOCAL NEWSPAPERS.

An advertiser who spends upwards of $5,000 a year, and who invested less than $350 of it in this List, writes: "Your Select Local List paid me better last year THAN ALL THE OTHER ADVERTISING I DID."

IT IS NOT A CO-OPERATIVE LIST.

IT IS NOT A CHEAP LIST.

IT IS AN HONEST LIST.

The catalogue states exactly what the papers are: When the name of a paper is printed in FULL FACE TYPE it is in every instance the BEST.—When printed in CAPITALS it is the ONLY paper in the place. The list gives the population of every town and the circulation of every paper.

The rates charged for advertising are barely one-fifth the publishers' schedule. The price for single States ranges from $2 to $80. The price for one inch one month in the entire list is $625. The regular rates of the papers for the same space and time are $2,980.14. The list includes 952 newspapers of which 187 are issued DAILY and 765 WEEKLY. They are located in 788 different cities and towns, of which 26 are State Capitals, 363 places of over 5,000 population, and 468 County Seats. For copy of List and other information address GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., 10 Spruce St., New York.

$30 per week can be made in any locality. Something entirely new for agents. $5 outfit free. G. W. INGRAHAM & Co., Boston, Mass.

Perhaps the most judiciously edited magazine in the World.—THE NATION, N. Y., Sept. 1882.

THE CENTURY

FOR 1882-83.

The twelfth year of this magazine—the first under the new name, and the most successful in its history, closed with the October number. The circulation has shown a large gain over that of the preceding season, and THE CENTURY begins its thirteenth year with an edition of 140,000 Copies.

The following are the leading features:

A NEW NOVEL, BY W. D. HOWELLS, to succeed this author's Modern Instances. It will be an international story, entitled A Sea Change.

LIFE IN THE THIRTEEN COLONIES, by Edward Eggleston—the leading historical feature of the year.

A NOVELETTE OF MINING LIFE, by Mary Hallock Foote, entitled The Red-Horse Claim, to be illustrated by the author.

THE POINT OF VIEW, by Henry James, Jr., a series of eight letters from imaginary persons of various nationalities, criticising America, its people, society, manners, railroads, etc.

THE CHRISTIAN LEAGUE OF CONNECTICUT, by the Rev. Washington Gladden. An account of practical co-operation in Christian work.

BUDDER GRANGE ABROAD, by Frank R. Stockton, a continuation of the droll Budder Grange Stories, the scene being now in Europe.

THE NEW ERA IN AMERICAN HOUSE-BUILDING, a series of four papers, fully illustrated.

THE CREOLES OF LOUISIANA, by Geo. W. Cable, richly illustrated.

MY ADVENTURES IN ZUNI, by Frank H. Cushing, government ethnologist, an adopted member of the Zuni tribe of Indians. Illustrated.

ILLUSTRATED PAPERS ON THE NATIONAL CAPITOL, including The Capitol, The Supreme Court, The White House, etc.

MISSIONS OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA, by H. H.; three or four pages of an exceedingly interesting character, richly illustrated.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Entertaining short stories and novelettes will be among the leading features of THE CENTURY, as heretofore; and the magazine will continue its advance in general excellence.

The subscription price is $4.00 a year; 35 cents a number. Subscriptions should begin with the November number, and to enable new subscribers to commence with the new series under THE CENTURY name, we make the following

SPECIAL OFFER.

A year's subscription from Nov., 1882, and the twelve numbers of the past year, unbound, $6.00. A subscription and the twelve back numbers bound in two elegant volumes with gilt top, $7.50.

THE CENTURY CO., New York, N. Y.

1831 THE CULTIVATOR 1883

AND

Country Gentleman.

THE BEST OF THE AGRICULTURAL WEEKLIES.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is the Leading Journal of American Agriculture. In amount and practical value of contents, in extent and ability of correspondence, in quality of paper and style of publication, it occupies the FIRST RANK. It is believed to have no superior in either of the three chief divisions of

Farm Crops and Processes,

Horticultural and Fruit Growing,

Live Stock and Dairying,

while it also includes all minor departments of rural interest, such as the Poultry Yard, Entomology, Bee-Keeping, Greenhouse and Grapery, Veterinary Replies, Farm Questions and Answers, Fireside Reading, Domestic Economy, and a Summary of the News of the Week. Its MARKET REPORTS are usually complete, and much attention is paid to the Prospects of the Crops, as throwing light upon one of the most important of all questions—WHEN TO BUY AND WHEN TO SELL. It is liberally illustrated, and is intended to supply, in a continually increasing degree and in the best sense of the term a Live Agricultural Newspaper.

The Volume of the COUNTRY GENTLEMAN for 1882 was GREATLY ENLARGED by increasing its size from 16 to 20 pages weekly, but the terms still continue as follow, when paid strictly in advance. One copy, one year, $2.50; Four Copies, $10, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club; Ten Copies $20, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club.

All New Subscribers for 1883, paying in advance now, will receive the paper weekly, from receipt of remittance to January 1st, 1884, without charge.

SPECIMEN COPIES FREE. Address

LUTHER TUCKER & SON, Publishers, ALBANY, N. Y.

FARMERS' FRIEND,

South Bend, Indiana.

ONLY FIFTY CENTS A YEAR.

Circulation 33,000.

The largest and best agricultural paper in the country. Eight large pages, 48 columns, few advertisements and almost double the reading matter given by the $1.50 and $2 agricultural papers, but we send it to you for 50 cents a year. Premiums to every subscriber, premiums to club raisers and 232 splendid presents given them in addition, consisting of a $470 New Bristol Clover Huller, complete, including re-cleaning attachment, which cleans the seed as threshed; a $60 Cassady Sulky Plow; a $65 Studebaker Farm Wagon; Oliver Chilled Plows, Sewing Machine, Silverware, etc. Some of the departments of the FARMERS' FRIEND are Farm Topics, The Orchard, Live Stock, The Poultry Yard, Home and Health, Domestic Economy, Young Folks, The Puzzler, The Story Teller, The Funny Place, Sunday Reading, The Literary Leaf, The Apiary, Letter Basket, Various Topics, Correspondence, Hints for the Season, World's Record, etc. Practical farmers and the best writers contribute to it. Agents make money canvassing for it. Any subscriber authorized to act as agent. Send 50 cents for a year's subscription, or write your name and those of your neighbors on a postal card for free sample copies and our Illustrated Premium List.

Address,

FARMERS' FRIEND PUB. CO., South Bend, Ind.

ESTABLISHED 1846 MUNN & Co. PATENTS NEW YORK

We continue to act as solicitors for patents, caveats, trade-marks, copyrights, etc., for the United States, and to obtain patents in Canada, England, France, Germany, and all other countries.

Thirty-six years' practice. No charge for examination of models or drawings. Advice by mail free.

Patents obtained through us are noticed in the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN, which has the largest circulation, and is the most influential newspaper of its kind published in the world. The advantages of such a notice every patentee understands.

This large and splendidly illustrated newspaper is published WEEKLY at $3.20 a year, and is admitted to be the best paper devoted to science, mechanics, inventions, engineering works, and other departments of industrial progress, published in any country. Single copies by mail, 10 cents. Sold by all newsdealers.

Address, Munn & Co., publishers of Scientific American, 261 Broadway, New York.

Handbook about patents mailed free.

TEMPERANCE HOTEL

Cor. Congress and Bates Sts., DETROIT, MICH.

RATES—$1 to $1.25 per day; Single Meals 30c, Lodgings 25 to 50 cents.

We make a specialty of Dinner, and it is always ready at 12 to 1 sharp. Come early and be served promptly.

...most judiciously edited ...World.—THE NATION.

CENTURY

...this magazine—the first ... the most successful in ... the October number ... a large gain over that of ... THE CENTURY begins ... with an edition of ... 100 Copies. ... the leading features: ... W. D. HOWELLS, in ... Modern Instance. It will be ... entitled a Sor Change. ... FIFTEEN DOLOGUES, by ... leading historical features ...

...F MINING LIFE, by Mark ... Tom Lord-Horse Gabe, ... author. ... VIEW, by Henry James, Jr., ... from imaginary persons ... criticising America. ... articles, etc. ... LEAGUE OF CONNECTICUT, ... Washington Gladden. An ... operation in Christian work ... GE ABROAD, by Frank R. ... ation of the droll incidents ... scene being now in Europe. ... A IN AMERICAN HOUSES, ... of four papers, fully illus ...

...OF LOUISIANA, by Geo. W. ... ted. ...ES IN ZUNI, by Frank H. ... ethnologist, an account ... tribe of Indians. Illustrated. ...PAPERS ON THE NATIONAL ... The Capitol, The Supreme ... house, etc. ...NORTHERN CALIFORNIA, ... pages of an exceedingly ... richly illustrated. ...ELLANEOUS. ... stories and novelettes will be ... features of THE CENTURY, ... magazine will continue its ... cellence. ... price is $4.00 a year; 35 cents ... tions should begin with the ... and to enable new subscribers ... new series under THE CENTURY ... the following ...CIAL OFFER. ...tion from Nov., 1882, and the ... the past year, unbound, $4.00 ... the twelve back numbers bound ... nes with gilt top, $7.50. ...Y CO., New York, N. Y.

...OULTIVATOR AND Gentleman. 1883

...BEST OF THE ...URAL WEEKLIES.

...GENTLEMAN is the Leading Journal ... Agriculture. In amount and ... contents, in extent and ability ... in quality of paper and style ... occupies the FIRST RANK. It ... no superior in either of the ... s of ... Processes, ...tural and Fruit Growing, ... Live Stock and Dairying. ...udes all minor departments of ... as the Poultry Yard, Entomology, Greenhouse and Grapery, ... Farm Questions and Answers, ... Domestic Economy, and a Summary of the Week. Its MARKET REPORT ... complete, and much attention is ... ects of the Crops, as throwing ... the most important of all questions. ...UY AND WHEN TO SELL. It ... d, and is intended to supply, ... reasing degree and in the best ...

...ultural Newspaper, ...the COUNTRY GENTLEMAN for ...Y ENLARGED by increasing ... 20 pages weekly, but the terms ... low, when paid strictly in advance, ... one year, $2,50; Four Copies ... ional copy for the year free to ... club; Ten Copies $20, and a ... the year free to the sender of ... ubscribers for 1883, paying in ... receive the paper weekly, from ... ce to January 1st, 1884, without ...OPIES FREE. Address ...KER & SON, Publishers, ...LBANY, N. Y.

...RS' FRIEND, ...Bend, Indiana. ...TY CENTS A YEAR. ...lation 33,000. ... best agricultural paper in the ...rge pages, 48 columns, few ... almost double the reading matter ... 1.50 and $2 agricultural papers ...ou for 50 cents a year. Premiums ... premiums to club raisers and ...nts given them in addition, ...ew Bristol Clover Huller, ...re-cleaning attachment, which ... threshed; a $60 Cassady Schuyler ...debaker Farm Wagon; Gold ...ewing Machine, Silverware, ...tuments of the FARMERS' FRIEND. ... The Orchard, Live Stock, The ...one and Health, Domestic Economy, ...s, The Puzzler, The Story Teller, ... Sunday Reading, The Clover ... Letter Basket, Various Topics, ... Hints for the Season, World's ...tical farmers and the best writers ... Agents make money canvassing ...riber authorized to act as agent ... a year's subscription, or write ...ose of Your neighbors on a postal ...ple copies and our Illustrated ...S' FRIEND PUB. CO., South Bend, Ind.

MUNN & Co. PATENTS NEW YORK

We continue to act as solicitors for patents, caveats, trade-marks, copyrights, etc., for United States, and to obtain patents in Canada, England, France, Germany, and all other countries. Thirty-six years' practice. Examination of models or designs. Advice by mail free. ...nd through us are noticed in the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN, which has ...culation, and is the most ... of its kind published in the world. Advantages of such a notice every ... stands. ...d splendidly illustrated paper, ...hed WEEKLY at $3.20 a year. ... to be the best paper devoted ...hanics, inventions, engineering, ...ner departments of industry ...ished in any country. Single ... 10 cents. Sold by all newsdealers. ...n & Co., publishers of Scientific ...261 Broadway, New York. ...out patents mailed free.

...CE'S ...RANCE HOTEL ...and Bates Sts., DETROIT, Mich. ...$1.25 per day; single meals ...ightings 35 to 50 cents. ...ality of Dinner, and it is ready ...o sharp. Come early and be ...served promptly.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

ATTORNEYS.

WILLIS MERRITT, ATTORNEY AT LAW, ADRIAN, MICH.

EDWIN B. WOOD, ATTORNEY AT LAW. Collections and Conveyancing. Office over W. & S. W. Anderson's Store, Tecumseh, Mich.

WILLIS MERRITT. W. W. FRAZER. Merritt & Fraser, Attorneys at Law. Insurance Agents, Tecumseh, Mich.

C. A. & S. C. STACY, ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Office in HERALD Building.

W. R. WOODEN, Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Tecumseh, Mich.

P. S. McKINNON, Attorney at Law and Justice of the Peace. All business promptly attended to. Office over W. & S. W. Anderson's store.

C. A. & J. A. STACY, Attorneys at Law and Solicitors in Chancery. Office in Underwood Block Adrian, Mich.

MILLARD, WEAVER & WEAVER, Attorneys at Law, Adrian, Mich. Office in Masonic Temple, (Rooms lately occupied by Michigan State Ins. Co.) Alfred L. Millard, Clement E. Weaver, Charles M. Weaver.

PHYSICIANS.

H. PETERS, M. D. Office and residence at Geo. Curtis' house, corner Maiden Lane and Pottawatomie st. Special attention given to diseases of the Ear, Nose and Throat. All calls for the sick promptly attended to day and night.

C. M. WOODWARD, M. D., PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON. Office at Residence, Chicago street.

E. M. CONKLIN, M. D., PHYSICIAN & SURGEON. Office in Mills Block, Chicago St.

J. F. JENKINS, M. D., Office and residence second door west of Presbyterian Church, Chicago st. Professional calls promptly attended to, day or night.

R. R. HOUSE, M.D. O. Q. JONES, M.D. Drs. House and Jones, Physicians and Surgeons. Office over Lilley, Bidwell & Co's. Bank. Office hours. Dr. House, 1 to 3 P. M., and 7 to 8 P. M. Dr. Jones, 9 to 12 A. M., and 3 to 6 P. M. Prompt attention given to all calls in village or country, day or night.

HOTELS.

SINK'S HOTEL, (Formerly the Merchants') W. H. SINK, PROPRIETOR. RECENTLY REFITTED AND REFURNISHED. Corner Chicago and R. R. Sts.

MISCELLANEOUS.

TECUMSEH FOUNDRY & STEAM ENGINE WORKS. H. BREWER & CO., PROPRIETORS, Manufacturers of Steam Engines, Mill Gearing and General Machinery, also manufacturers of the Tiffany Improved Patent Drain Tile Machine, Sword's Brick Machine, etc.

WM. DeMOTT, Tecumseh, Mich. Agent for The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co., of Milwaukee, Wis. Paid to policy holders since organization and held for them, $46,188,353.20. Total premiums received, $39,631,785.47. Excess of interest receipts over all expenses of management, $6,306,867.73. Dividends to policy holders in each of the past nine years unequaled by those of any other company on similar policies. Assets, January 1, 1882, over $18,850,000. Surplus, over four per cent. reserve, $3,022,611.61.

A. W. SLAYTON, Undertaker and Embalmer; store on Chicago St.; residence on Pearl St. Night calls will receive prompt attention. No charge for use of hearse.

CENTRAL MEAT MARKET. J. W. COLE, PROPRIETOR. Dealer in Fresh and Salt Meats, Fish, Poultry, etc. Chicago Street.

RAILROAD STREET MARKET. JOSEPH W. WOODEN, PROPRIETOR. Dealer in all kinds of Fresh and Salt Meats, Fresh Fish, etc.

DAVE MACHAM, Fashionable Barber and Hair Dresser. Shop on Railroad Street.

CURRY & BOSTWICK, Fashionable Barbers and Hair Dressers, shop in Richard's block, Chicago street.

A. D. BROWN, Practical Piano Tuner, and agent for Hazelton Bros., Gabler, Wheelock and Hallett & Sons' Pianos. Also, American Organs. Adrian, Mich. Orders left at Adamson's Bookstore, Tecumseh, will receive prompt attention.

J. D. SHOLES, Manufacturer and dealer in Saddles, Harness, Whips, Collars, Bridles, Halters, Brushes and Combs, Tecumseh, Mich.

CHAS. A. WALDRON, VETERINARY SURGEON. All orders promptly attended to either by mail or in person. Office at the residence of A. K. Waldron, Tecumseh, Michigan.

SILVERS HOUSE, CLINTON, MICH., S. Erskine, Proprietor. Good sample rooms for commercial men. Rates reasonable.

CLOCK REPAIRING. I will call at your house and repair your Clock. Drop a postal in the office to my address. C. F. MORLEY, Tecumseh, Mich.

N. B.—All work warranted.

O. P. Bills, N. Church, Mrs. C. Bills, Mrs. M. H. Church.

O. P. BILLS & CO., BANKERS. J. W. Satterthwaite, Cashier. Tecumseh, Mich. Do a general Banking business. Receive deposits, Exchange bought on all points and our own drafts issued, available in all parts of the United States and Canada, and the principal cities of Europe.

P. B. SWICK, Manufacturer of Light & Heavy Harness. And Dealer in Trunks, Whips, Robes, Blankets, And all articles kept for sale in a first-class Horse Furniture Store. GOOD WORK! LOW PRICES. Call and see him, one door east of Nyland's shoe store on Chicago street. TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN

FLOWERS. At Mrs. Spaulding's green house may be found a large variety of plants and flowers for the decoration of churches, dinner and supper tables, and sick rooms. Especial attention given to floral designs, for weddings, funerals etc. We are prepared to execute orders for every kind of floral decorations with the choicest and freshest of flowers, in the most artistic manner on short notice, and at very reasonable prices. The green house is open daily to visitors. Orders left at D. W. Clark's grocery will receive prompt attention.

ST. JACOBS OIL TRADE MARK.

THE GREAT GERMAN REMEDY. FOR RHEUMATISM, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings and Sprains, Burns and Scalds, General Bodily Pains, Tooth, Ear and Headache, Frosted Feet and Ears, and all other Pains and Aches.

No Preparation on earth equals ST. JACOBS OIL as a safe, sure, simple and cheap External Remedy. A trial entails but the comparatively trifling outlay of 50 Cents, and every one suffering with pain can have cheap and positive proof of its claims. Directions in Eleven Languages. SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS IN MEDICINE.

A. VOGELER & CO., Baltimore, Md., U. S. A.

ZOA-PHORA (THE HEALTH BRINGER.) LONG KNOWN AS PENGELLY'S WOMAN'S FRIEND.

FOR WOMEN, TEACHERS, LADY CLERKS, HOUSEWIVES,

Breaking down under close confinement and being continually on their feet, will find Zoa Phora A Prevention and Cure. For ALL Diseases peculiar to Women. WOMEN know what these diseases are, but do not always give proper attention to their symptoms, viz: Headaches, Lassitude, Pale or Mothy Complexion, Sleeplessness, Palpitation, Numbness, Nausea, Dizziness, Dry Cough, Nervous Irritation, Weak and Lame Back, and pains in various parts of the body. Zoa-Phora is not a Cure-all. It applies to this special class of diseases. Here it is almost perfect. Not a temporary Stimulant, but a permanent Cure. TESTIMONIALS I have in abundance from persons in the best society, who prefer that their evidence be given privately to those asking it. MOTHERS, are your DAUGHTERS ailing? Look well to the cause. Send for my advice to mothers. Requests for testimonials and advice will receive my careful attention. R. PENGELLY, M. D., Sold by Druggists. Kalamazoo, Mich.

THORNDIKE NOURSE, (Successor to E. B. Smith & Co.) DETROIT, MICH. MANUFACTURED EXPRESSLY FOR Steel Pen Company. Ask your stationer for these pens.

Gray's Specific Medicine. TRADE MARK. THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY. An unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhœa, Impotency and all Diseases that follow as a sequence of Self-Abuse; as loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the Back, Dimness of Vision, Premature Old Age, and many other diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a Premature Grave. BEFORE TAKING. AFTER TAKING. Full particulars in our pamphlet, which we desire to send free by mail to every one. The Specific Medicine is sold by all druggists at $1 per package, or six packages for $5, or will be sent free by mail on the receipt of the money, by addressing THE GRAY MEDICINE CO., Buffalo, N. Y. On account of counterfeits, we have adopted the Yellow Wrapper, the only genuine. Guarantees of cure issued by FARRAND, WILLIAMS & CO., Wholesale Agents, Detroit.

Not Worth a Dollar.

A Georgian's Estimate of the Value of His Missing Wife.

Yesterday morning a gentleman, apparently about 65 years of age, entered printin' offis?"

Being answered in the affirmative, he proceeded with, "Well, yer see, my wife left me Tuesday, and I don't know where to find 'er. She eats opium, yer know, and when she gets on a big amount she ain't responsible for her actions. She's been a threatnin' and a threatnin' to do this thing fur sometime and now, show 'nough, she's gone and done it, and I want to find 'er."

We expressed our sorrow at his bereavement and told him we were sorry we could not soothe his sorrows.

"But yer see I wants to advertise fur 'er. You can do that, can't yer?"

Just here our devil emitted his broadest grin and his face beamed, for he was sure he would get a small advertisement for "a wife wanted." Telling him we could advertise for his wife and find her if anybody could, we seized our quill and soon had a short squib written and read it to him.

"That'll do, that's all right. Just put that in and I guess I'll hear frum 'er," and he said "Good morning," and started out.

"Hold! my good Christian friend," cried our reporter; "who must I charge this ad to?"

"Charge! the deuce and Tom Walker! You don't charge for a thing like unto that do yer?"

"Well, I should say so," replied the man of quills. "This is a very important ad. and we don't work for accommodation. Our regular rates are 16 cents per line for first insertion, 8 cents every subsequent insertion. These rates are for ordinary purposes, and we really ought to ask 20 cents per line for such important matter as this. Let me put you in a square for $1. Best I can do for you; only wish I could do it for you free of charge, but can't."

"One dollar a square. What do you mean by a square? A square paper, a square yard, a square foot, or a square what?" inquired our friend.

"A square? Well, a square is about an inch space in one column, we replied.

"A dollar a square, the deuce you say! A dollar a square! An inch space? One dollar fur that little bit? You must be a doggoned gump to think I'll give a dollar away in any sich style. I wouldn't give a dollar fur a ole opium-eaten 'oman."

He said he didn't act square, so he squared himself and left, and the last time we saw him he was about a square away, going square to Bale's wagon yard, saying he will be square with us yet.

It is a fact, however, about his wife having left him last Tuesday, and has not yet been heard from. He says his wife eats opium and left while under its influence. He is a citizen of Chattooga county and resides on Sand mountain. It is now supposed that his wife has gone to her father's. So far her whereabouts is unknown and her disappearance a mystery.—Rome (Ga.) Courier.

Rapid Transit on the Rocky Mountains.

On Saturday evening we had the pleasure of riding down the dizzy grade from Hancock a distance of eighteen miles, in which time we descended a mile perpendicularly in a push car, with Superintendent Wilbur as conductor and engineer. A push car is a plain flat car about as big as a dining-table, with four wheels and nothing to propel it but gravity and nothing to stop it but a sharpened piece of pine two-by-four scanting. Hancock is near the Alpine tunnel, at the summit of the mountains, about 11,000 feet high. Secretary Morgan, Mrs. Morgan, with their little daughter Gertrude, E. A. Slack, of the Sun; Frank Clark, of the Leader; Superintendent Wilbur and ourself constituted the party.

At first everybody was a little nervous with the accumulating velocity of the car and the yawning abyss below us; but later we got more accustomed to it, and the solemn grandeur of the green pine-covered canons, the lofty snow-covered peaks, apparently so near us, and the rushing foaming torrent far below us, were all we saw. Like lightning we rounded the sharp curves where the road seemed to hang over instant destruction, and we held our breath as we thought that only a piece of two-by-four scantling stood between us and death.

Again and again the abrupt curve loomed up ahead and below us, while we flew along the narrow gauge at such a pace that we were almost sure the car would leave the track before it would round such a point, and each time the two-by-four went down on the drive wheel with a pressure that sent up a volume of blue smoke.

It was a wild, grand ride—so wild an grand in fact that even yet we wake up at night with a start from a dream in which the same party is riding down that cannon at lightning speed and Mr. Wilbur, in a thoughtless moment, has dropped his pine brake overboard!—Wyoming Journal.

A Numbskull.

Numbskull is a young man who inherited ignorance, and has been gradually adding to his patrimony. He read, among some proverbs, the other day, that "a wise man never apologizes." He wanted above all things to be considered wise, and here was an attribute of wisdom that could be easily copied, so he thought. He had, on several occasions, apologized, but he would do so no more. It was unwise. So the next day, when he ran against a lady turning a corner, he didn't stop to apologize, but walked right on, though not so rapidly as not to hear the remark of a man who observed his conduct:

"Who is that fool scudding away there?"

Since then Numbskull doubts about proverbs being just the things to go by.

There has been discovered near Lebanon, Ohio, a sycamore upon which were cut the letters W. S. and E. S. and the date 1718. Since the first settlement of that part of the country was made in 1796, the people are at a loss to know who this [illegible] was. The question of the [illegible] the date does not seem [illegible] all into disc[illegible]

A Curious Decision.

A Man Who is to be Hung on Account of One Word.

Some time ago, Nathan Jones, a colored man in whose general character was arraigned before a Little Rock justice and fined. Jones went down in the country, became a leader among the negroes and was elected justice of the peace. The other day, 'Squire Gilwig, before whom Jones had been arraigned, and whom the waves of politics had submerged, went down into Jones' neighborhood, drank bad whisky and killed a man. He was arrested and taken before Judge Jones for examination.

"Prisoner at de bar," said the colored justice, "de las' time I feasted dese judicial optics on yer face, I was in hock an' yerself was de musical director ob de festiva occasion. I recognize my lack ob larnin', sah, an' went ter a night school. My frien's seein' in me de stuff outen what big men is made, put me on dis bench, while yer own frien's, failin' ter see dem features in yerself, took yer offen de bench. Yer is charged wid killin' a man. De charge am pretty well sustained, an' blamed ef I see how yer's gwinter git outen dis fix."

"Judge," said the prisoner, "I am aware that I am seriously situated. I fined you heavily when you were drawn up before me, and now, especially as my crime is great, I do not expect mercy."

"Yas, sah, yas. Now, my mode ob precedement is a little different from dat put down in de statuary books. When a man what is guilty ob two crimes is arrested an' fotch afore me, I discharges him on de little crime but holes him on de big one. Now, yerself is guilty ob two crimes, de littiest one ob what is killing a man."

"I can't be charged with but one crime," exclaimed the white man.

"I'll show yer in a minute. When I was afore you, arter I had paid my fine, what was it yer said?"

"I don't remember."

"See of yer can't ricolleck."

"I believe that I told you to keep your feet in the path of rectitude."

"Yas, dat's it, and when I axed yer to say dat word agin, yer turned away an' commenced talkin' wid a lawyer. Dat word struck me, an' I wanted it. Arter I was elected I needed it, but couldn't ricolleck it. On dis account justice was cheated, an' I is certain dat de higher courts hab dat word. Now, sah, I'll discharge yer fur killin' dat man."

"Thank you, Judge."

"But I'll put yer in jail an' see dat yer's hung for keepin' me outen dat word. Mr. Constable, put de han' cuffs on de larned gen'leman."—Arkansaw Traveler.

Virginia Women.

The fair Virginians, though fond of admiration—as all true women are—have always been true to their loves. A thousand cases illustrate this, in the past and in the present. The greatest coquette, the most brilliant belle, the most consummate flirt, when united to the man of her choice, becomes a peerless Virginia dame, fit wife for the mother of heroes, statesmen and presidents. The annals of the Old Dominion are full of such women. In the rooms of the Virginia Historical Society at Richmond are several pictures of Pocahontas. They are not claimed to be authentic likenesses of the "fawn of the forest," and they do not recall the traditional beauty of the gentle Indian girl:

"Our own dear Pocahontas,
The Virgin Queen of the West,
With the heart of a Christian hero
In a timid maiden's breast."

Who, marrying Master John Rolfe, became the high born mother of a high born race, whose princely Indian blood, after coursing through a dozen generations, is still quite visible in some of the best ladies of Virginia.

The Virginia girl was carefully protected from all rudeness; her native modesty was never shocked by anything coarse; her gentle dignity was never ruffled by contact with the rough and unrefined—in that the divinity that doth hedge a king was hers. Hence, that exquisite delicacy, which is the greatest charm of woman, has always been a distinguishing characteristic of the fair Virginian, past and present. Daring, indeed, the man who attempted any familiarity with the aristocratic cordial, but dignified ladies of the Old Dominion. Their manners, however, have not that cold, deadly repose

"Which stamps the cast of Vere de Vere."

Bulwer said he "never met a real woman—never met a woman who was not a sham, a sham from the moment she is told to behave prettily, conceal her sentiments, and look libs, if she does not speak them." Had the dandy novelist followed the example of his greatest contemporary, Thackeray, and visited Virginia, he might have met among the descendants of old Virginia society more than one real woman. There are in Richmond to-day, real, true, genuine women—women whose loveliness merits the praise of DeQuincy, that "life owes half its attractions and all its graces to female companionship."

Deceitful Horses.

Horses are very much like men, in their ideas about style. Let a man who has been brought up on a farm, live in the city a few years, and he will not admit that he knew a field of oats from a turnip patch. Take a horse from a farm and drive him in the city a few years, and though he may have hauled hundreds of loads of hay, and worked on a threshing machine half his life, let a load of hay or a threshing machine loom up on the street near him, and he will be so scared he will want to jump over a house. You know just as well as can be that the old fool is putting it all on, but the horse thinks he is fooling you into the idea that he has always been a city horse, and you pull up on him, and try to soothe his fears, when you know you could drive him up to the load of hay and he would go to eating it. It is fun to let a horse think he is fooling you.—Peck's Sun.

Boston has unearthed a "Cheap John" chromo dealer, who tried to foster a love for art by offering real oil paintings by eminent Boston artists for twenty-seven cents—a fine gilt frame for a dollar extra. Of course the Beacon Hill girls had to get rid of their Oscar Wilde plaques somehow.

Who's the Best Physician.

The one that does most to relieve suffering humanity of the thousand and one ills that befall them, bringing joy to sorrowing thousands, is Electric Bitters are daily doing this, curing hundreds that have tried all other remedies and found no relief.—As a Spring tonic and blood purifier they are a perfect specific, and for liver and kidney complaints have no equal. In the strongest sense of the term, they are positively the best and cheapest physician known.—Daily Times. Price 50 cts. Sold by C. A. Wright & Co.

A Good Offer.

The Chicago, Burlington, & Quincy Railroad Company has just issued an illustrated treatise, "The Heart of the Continent," describing the wonderful growth of the Six Great States. The book is beautifully printed, and numerous engravings of high merit adorn its pages. Any one sending their name and address with two three cent postage stamps will receive a copy by return mail, by applying to Perceval Lowell, General Passenger Agent, Chicago, Illinois.

Relief Found at Last.

Carmel, Ind.

A. Kiefer—Dear Sir: I was afflicted with derangement of the Liver, which caused a general derangement of my whole system. Had three-day ague for two years, from which I found no relief until induced to try your Taraxine, which I am happy to say affected a cure. I am enjoying fine health and have had no ague for over one year. Yours, etc., John Jeffries. For sale by all druggists.

A BRAVE LADY.

She Endures the Pain of a Severe Surgical Operation Without Taking Chloroform.

[From the Courier.]

Mrs. Schoonmaker, of Creek Locks, Ulster Co., N. Y., had the misfortune to entirely lose the sight of one of her eyes, through an accident, and endured painful inflammatory action therein for two long years; the other eye finally becoming sympathetically affected, her general health seriously suffering; indeed, she was a mere wreck, a walking skeleton. In this terrible strait she consulted Dr. David Kennedy, of Roundout, N. Y., who told her at once that the injured eye must be removed. She quietly but firmly said: "All right, Doctor, but don't give me chloroform. Let my husband sit by my side during the operation, and I will neither cry out or stir." The work was done, and the poor woman kept her word. Talk of soldierly courage! This showed greater pluck than it takes to face a hundred guns. To restore her general health and give tone and strength to the system, Dr. Kennedy then gave the "Favorite Remedy," which cleansed the blood and imparted new life to the long suffering woman. She rapidly gained health and strength, and is now well. The Favorite Remedy is a priceless blessing to women. No family should be without it. You druggist has it. If not send to Dr. David Kennedy, Roundout, New York.

ESTATE OF JAMES EAST.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, s.s

At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate Office in the City of Adrian, on Tuesday, the 31st day of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate James East, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Albert Kennedy, William Snedicor and B. Yakeley, alleging among other things, that the time limited by said court for the presentation of claims against said estate has expired, that said estate has not been closed, that they respectively have claims against said estate which they failed to present to the commissioners on said estate for their allowance, for reasons in said petition set forth, and praying for the revival of the commission heretofore issued from this court, according to the statute, in such case made and provided.

Thereupon it is ordered, that Monday, the 27th day of November next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing. (A True Copy.)

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.

A. H. BRIGGS, Probate Register. oct26

ESTATE OF JERUSHA MITCHELL.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee—s.s

At a session of the Probate Court for the county of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office in the city of Adrian, on Monday, the 23d day of October in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Jerusha Mitchell deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Frederick B. Wood, administrator of said estate, alleging that he has paid the debts of said deceased and all the expenses of administration thus far incurred, and praying for the allowance of his final account, for an assignment and distribution of the residue of said estate to and amongst the persons entitled thereto and for his discharge.

Thereupon it is ordered, that Monday, the 20th day of November next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate. (A True Copy.) A. H. BRIGGS Probate Register oct26

ESTATE OF TIMOTHY MITCHELL.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, s.s

At a session of the Probate Court for the county of Lenawee, holden at the Probate Office in the city of Adrian, on Monday, the 23d day of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present, Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Timothy Mitchell, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Edwin B. Wood, administrator de bonis non with the will annexed, alleging, among other things, that the heirs of deceased are the expenses of administration thus far incurred have been paid, and praying for the allowance of his final account, for an assignment and distribution of the residue of said estate according to the provisions of said will and for his discharge.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the 20th day of November next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate. (A True Copy.) A. H. BRIGGS Probate Register. oct26

ESTATE OF ESTHER JONES.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.

At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian on Monday, the 23d day of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present, Norman Geddes Judge of Probate

In the matter of the estate of Esther Jones, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Benjamin L. Baxter and Edwin B. Wood, executors of the last will and testament of said deceased, praying for license to sell real estate of said deceased in said petition described for reasons therein set forth.

Thereupon it is ordered, that Monday, the 27th day of November next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing. (A True Copy.)

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate. A. H. BRIGGS, Probate Register. oct28

ESTATE OF SUSAN GILMORE.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, s.s

At a session of the Probate Court, for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office, in the City of Adrian, on Monday, the 16th day of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Susan Gilmore, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Elizabeth Davidson, praying that administration of said estate may be granted to Francisco Davidson, or some other suitable person.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the 13th day of November next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of said Petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate. (A True Copy.) A. H. BRIGGS, Probate Register oct19

COMMISSIONERS' NOTICE.

IN the matter of the estate of Ira Stewart, deceased.

The undersigned having been appointed by the Judge of Probate for the County of Lenawee, Michigan, commissioners to receive, examine and adjust all claims and demands against the estate of Ira Stewart, late of the township of Macon, Lenawee county, Michigan, deceased, hereby give notice that we will meet for that purpose at the office of Charles Burridge, in the village of Tecumseh, Lenawee county, Michigan, on the 19th day of November 1882, and on the 4th day of April 1883, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of each of said days, and that six months from the 4th day of October, 1882, are allowed by the said court for the creditors of said estate to present their said claims for examination and adjustment. Dated Oct. 19th, 1882.

CHARLES BURRIDGE, PETER S. McKINNON, Commissioners. oct12

CONSUMPTION. I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed, so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE, together with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease, to any sufferer. Give Express and P. O. address. DR. T. A. SLOCUM, 181 Pearl St., New York.

ESTATE OF FLORENCE ESTHER SMITH

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee—s.s

At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, on Thursday, the 2d day of November in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present, Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Florence Esther Smith, deceased

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of John B. Smith praying that administration of the estate of said deceased may be granted to Jerome F. N. Bowen or to some other suitable person.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the 27th day of November, A D 1882, at ten o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said petition and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate. (A true copy.) NORMAN GEDDES Judge of Probate. nov2

COMMISSIONERS' NOTICE.

IN THE MATTER of the estate of Alvah Coddington, deceased.

The undersigned, having been appointed by the Judge of Probate for the County of Lenawee, Michigan, Commissioners to receive, examine and adjust all claims and demands against the estate of Alvah Coddington, late of said county deceased, hereby give notice that we will meet for that purpose at the office of Edwin B. Wood, in the village of Tecumseh, Lenawee county, Michigan on the 20th day of December 1882, and on the 20th day of April, 1883, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of each of said days, and that six months from the 23d day of October, 1882, have been allowed by the said court for the creditors of said estate to present said claims for examination and adjustment. Dated October 21st, 1882.

ORRAN B. FINCH, JOHN MARGESON, Commissioners. nov2

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

Rumors are again current that military preparations in Russia are directed.

Four of the victims of the Hoosac tunnel disaster have died and two others can not long survive.

Bishop Talbot, of the Episcopal diocese of Indiana, has decided, in view of his poor health, to resign his office.

An ordinance is before the German bundesrath prohibiting the importation of American pork or sausage.

The British government will not interfere with the details of the trial of Arabi Pasha.

An English officer will command the expedition against the false prophet in the Soudan.

England was on Wednesday visited by destructive floods, many houses and bridges being carried away.

The coal chutes of T. Longstreth at Carbon Hill, Ohio, valued at $20,000, were burned Sunday.

Five business places at Shreveport, Louisiana, valued at $102,000, were swept away by fire Sunday.

R. D. C. Robbins, professor of Hebrew at Andover Theological seminary, is dead.

Dr. M. P. Brainard, of Cleveland, was found dead in a chair in his office, Sunday evening, under circumstances which strongly indicate suicide.

Luke McCray, a prominent young politician was run over and killed by a train near Indianapolis, his remains being scattered along the track for a mile.

John B. Stickney, district attorney for northern Florida, died of pneumonia in Providence hospital at Washington.

The death by apoplexy of Rear Admiral Charles H. Poor is announced in a dispatch from Washington. He entered the navy in 1827.

Henry George disclaims any intention of urging a claim for damages against the government on account of his recent arrest in Ireland.

The Mexican government is considering the advisability of adopting leading features of the United States postal system.

A. C. Soteldo has been acquitted of the murder of his brother, A. M. Soteldo, in the editorial rooms of The Washington Republican.

Mr. J. W. Simonton, well known from his recent connection with the Associated Press and with journalism in San Francisco, is dead.

The crop reports for Tennessee are now received in the extreme. All farm products have yielded more generously than ever before.

Certain railroads in Texas refuse to receive through freight from the Gould roads. This action is not likely to lead to a war of rates.

Cocapieler, the agitator elected to the Italian chamber of deputies was until recently a circus-rider, and bears a bad character.

Citizens of Texas, having walked into the nets set by swindling marriage insurance associations, are holding indignation meetings to denounce those who have profited by the frauds.

The Virginia state-debt case has been advanced on the docket of the United States supreme court, and will be called for argument January 9, 1883.

While three brothers named Grizzle, of Lamotte, Iowa, were repairing a gun, the weapon was discharged, killing one of them outright and fatally wounded another.

Locations have been already secured at San Antonio, Tex., by astronomers of the United States and Belgium, for observation of the transit of Venus, the 6th of December.

The neglect of the czar of Russia to officially congratulate the king of Servia upon his recent escape from assassination indicates a lack of cordiality between the two governments.

On account of the failure of the city of New Orleans to pay for gas consumed, the gas company has given notice that it will cease lighting the city November 8.

Frank James does not bear up well in confinement, and is looking pale and ill. There are three indictments standing against him, but it is uncertain when he will be brought to trial.

Special measures are being adopted by the German government to prevent the socialists from organizing anarchy, as was attempted by their ilk in France last week.

A wine and spirit board of trade has been organized at Baltimore, in the hope of attracting to that city a portion of the liquor business that has hitherto been transacted in the west.

Reports from the states of Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, and Iowa indicate that the corn and hog crops of the present year will be materially larger than those of 1880.

The Mexicans are considering the subject of a reciprocity treaty with the United States, the scheme being received with little favor, as the revenues came mostly from import duties.

Herr Bebel, the German socialist, has commenced to serve a term of three months in prison at Leipsic, for using the press to express his sentiments in regard to the government.

Another Physician's Testimony.

BOSTON, Mass., May 9, 1881.

I know parties who have tried all kinds of medicines for Lung Diseases, who say that DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS is a complete success. Dr. Chas. H. Wood.

There were 640 prisoners at the state prison at the end of last month—a gain of 25 during the month. Berrien county sent five; Saginaw four; Bay three; Wayne, Cass and Hillsdale each two; Allegan, Lapeer, Isabella and Kalamazoo each one, and there were two recaptures.

A Family Blessing.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 19, 1881.

H. H. Warner & Co.: Sirs—I have used your Safe Kidney and Liver Cure in my family, and shall never be without it. Henry F. Brentel.

Last week lightning struck the barn and sheds of J. H Hydorn, near Valley Centre, and they were burned together with all his crops, a span of horses, his buggy and farming implements. Loss, $2,500. The buildings were insured for $600, but the contents were uninsured.

Joy, Joy to the World.

If you meet a man who looks as if he had lost all his frends, had his house burned down and business destroyed, just when he was doing a good business, you can tell at a glance he has dyspepsia or his liver is out of order. The best thing you can do for such a woebegone individual is to advise him to go to Baker & Hall's drug store and get a bottle of Dr. Jones' Red Clover Tonic, which will cure him without fail. Also an infallible remedy for pimples and blotches on the face. Only 50 cents a bottle.

LETTER LISTS.

Tecumseh.

Remaining uncalled for in the Post-Office at Tecumseh, Nov. 8, 1882.

Cross Mr. E. E.	Michael John
Conner Mr. Lint	Petrch, John
Cook Mrs. L. N.	Smith Mary A.
Long Mr. Henry	Wilkins Miss Cory

Persons calling for letters in the above list will please say "Advertised."

FRED ROSACRANS, P.M.

MARRIED.

HAYNES—BINGHAM—At the M. E. parsonage in Ridgeway, Oct. 27, by the Rev. Jesse Kilpatrick, Washington B. Haynes, of Dundee, and Lucy M. Bingham of same place.

GENERAL MARKETS.

CHICAGO.

WHEAT.—Lower: Nov., 92¾@92⅞c; Dec., 94⅛@94¼c; the year, 92⅝@92⅞c.

CORN.—Higher; November, 68¾@69c; the year, 62⅝@63c; Jan., 54⅜@55c.

OATS.—Higher: November, 33½@34c; Dec., 33⅝@33⅞c; the year, 33⅝@33⅞c.

RYE.—Firm: November 56@56½c; the year, 57c.

PROVISIONS.—Mess Pork lower; Nov., $19.15@19.17½; Dec., $18.50@18.55; the year, $18.47½@18.50. Lard—Steady; November sold at $11.30@11.32½; Dec., $11.10@11.12½; the year, $11.12½@11.15.

CATTLE.—Market firm. We quote:

Fancy heavy export steers	$6.25@6.50
Choice fat steers	5.50@6.00
Good do.	5.00@5.25
Medium grade steers	4.25@4.75
Fair to medium steers	3.85@4.40

Hogs.—Market firm. Sales ranged from $6.50@7.10 for light packing and shipping; $6.85@7.50 for heavy packing, and from $6.85@7.65 for fair to choice smooth heavy shipping lots.

BUTTER.—Steady and firm. We quote: Choice to Fancy Creamery at 36@37c ⅌ lb; ordinary to good do. 25@32c; good to fancy Dairy at 25@28c; common to fair do. 20@25c; Ladle-packed, 15@16c; packing stock at 13@13½c; Grease, 9@11c.

NEW YORK.

WHEAT.—Higher: No. 2 Nov., $1.08¾@1.08⅞; December, $1.10⅝@1.10⅞; January, $1.12⅝@1.12¾. CORN.—Quiet; Mixed Western Spot, 82@85½c.

CINCINNATI.

FLOUR.—Market quiet; Family, $4.40@4.65. WHEAT—Firm; No. 2 Red Winter, 96@96½c. CORN.—Lower; No. 2 Mixed, 71c. OATS.—Higher; No. 2 Mixed, 37½c. RYE.—Quiet; No. 2 Fall, 62c. PROVISIONS—Pork dull at $21.25. Lard quiet at $11.62½. Bulk Meats firm: Clear sides $9.25@12.50.—Bacon dull: Clear sides $10.75.

MILWAUKEE.

WHEAT.—Lower: November, 94c; December, 94½c; January, 95c; No. 3, 81c.—CORN.—Higher at 67½c for No. 2. OATS.—Firm; No. 2 White, 34½c. RYE.—Higher; 56c No. 1. BARLEY.—Lower at 72c for No. 2.

ST. LOUIS.

WHEAT.—Higher; No. 2 Red Nov., 93@93⅛c; December, 94⅞@95⅛c; Jan., 98.—CORN.—Lower: November, 61⅞@62⅜c; the year, 54⅝@55c; Jan., 50⅝@50⅞c. OATS—Higher: Nov., 32@32⅜c; Dec., 32@32½c; the year 32@32½c. RYE—Lower at 56c.—BARLEY.—Steady at 65@90c. PROVISIONS.—Pork lower at $22.00. Dry Salt Meats quiet at $10.37½, 15.00, 15.50. Bacon steady at $11.00, 16.12, 17.12½. Lard lower; $11.45. HOGS—Higher; Yorkers, $6.20@6.50; butchers' to best heavy, $6.80@7.50.

TECUMSEH MARKET.

Corrected Every Thursday Morning.

Apples, ⅌ barrel	2 00 @ 2 25
Apples, dried, ⅌ lb	@ 06
Butter ⅌ lb	20 @ 25
Barley ⅌ bushel	60 @ 72
Beans, ⅌ bushel	1 75 @ 2 25
Buckwheat ⅌ bushel	@ 1 65
Buckwheat Flour ⅌ hundred	@ 4 50
Beef—dressed, ⅌ hundred	8 00 @ 9 00
Beef Hides	8 @ 6
Calf Skins ⅌ lb	8 @ 10
Cornmeal	30 @ 40
Corn—shelled, ⅌ bushel	70 @ 75
Clover seed	4 50 @ 5 00
Chickens—dressed	10 @ 12
Eggs ⅌ doz	@ 22
Flour ⅌ barrel	5 50 @ 6 25
Hogs—dressed, ⅌ cwt	7 50 @ 7 00
Hogs—live, ⅌ cwt	4 75 @ 5 50
Hay ⅌ ton	8 00 @ 9 00
Honey ⅌ lb	@ 15
Ham ⅌ lb	@ 14
Lard ⅌ lb	@ 17
Oats, ⅌ bushel	33 @ 35
Onions, ⅌ bushel	@ 60
Potatoes, ⅌ bushel	45 @ 50
Salt ⅌ barrel	@ 1 25
Sheep Pelts	50 @ 1 00
Timothy seed, ⅌ bushel	@ 2 50
Turkeys—dressed, ⅌ lb	@ 10
Wood, ⅌ cord	6 00 @ 7 00
Wheat, White, ⅌ bushel	95 @ 1 00
Wheat, Red, ⅌ bushel	95 @ 1 00
Wool	30 @ 32

OUR NEW

FALL STOCK

—OF—

HEAVY DRAPERIES

Is rapidly coming in, and is well worthy of your attention. We make up

Long Curtains,

Portieres,

Valances,

—AND—

MANTLE LAMBREQUINS,

All in the Latest Styles and of the Newest materials.

We give special attention to Interior Decorations and ask the favor of a call from those thinking of such improvements.

STERLING & CO,

196 & 198 Summit Street.

TOLEDO, OHIO.

Cheapest FURNITURE House

IN MICHIGAN.

Cut this out for Reference!

PARLOR SUITS from	$35 00 to $300 00
MARBLE-TOP Chamber Sets from	38 00 to 300 00
SPRING BEDS from	1 50 to 9 00
MARBLE-TOP TABLES from	4 50 to 25 00
LOUNGES from	6 00 to 50 00
WOOD-CHAMBER SETS from	20 00 to 45 00
MATTRESSES OF ALL KINDS from	1 75 to 24 00
CAMP CHAIRS from	2 00 to 10 00

Our prices are from 10 to 25 per cent. cheaper than any other Furniture House in Michigan. DON'T buy a dollar's worth of Furniture till you visit our Mammoth Warerooms, see our goods and get our prices.

ALL GOODS PACKED AND DELIVERED AT THE DEPOTS FREE OF CHARGE.

WE WILL SAVE YOU MONEY.

DUDLEY & FOWLE,

125, 127 & 129 Jefferson Avenue, DETROIT.

6,048 Feet of Band Instruments Sold by the Detroit Music Co.

63 Bands averaging 16 members each, each horn averaging 6 feet—Total 6,048 ft.

We refer you to any of the following bands, who have full sets of our Instruments:

Owosso, Lapeer, Otisville, Mt. Morris, Chester, Groveland, Capac, Frankfort, St. Louis, Carleton, Memphis, New Haven, Richmond, Grand Trunk Junction, Springwells, Tuscola, Mayville, Big Rapids, Reed City, Chase, Golden Theatre Co. (2)—at the close of the season 1880 each member bought his own instrument, in the spring of 1881 Prof. Rodi bought another full set—Williams Theatre Co. Whitney family, Imlay City, Washington, Flat Rock, Columbiaville, Otter Lake, Merrill, Wis.; Alma, Goodrich, Keil's band, (City); Wyandotte, Jackson, E. P., Linden, Waltz, Denison, Texas; Port Sanilac, Ludington, Mecosta, Seneca, Kansas; Weston, Marine City, Edmore, Stony Point, Oak; Fenton, (3); Flushing, Caroliton, Mo.; C.R. Mabley, Petoskey, Howard City, Harbor Springs, Wayne, Belleville, Harrison, St. John's, (ladies); St. Clair, Clarkston. Also one or more of our instruments are used in nearly every band in the country.

CURBERDAN, 934 Woodward Ave., Detroit Mich. HARRY R. WILLIAMS.

"YELLOW PETE."

A gentleman well known in Pittsburgh, Pa., had business relations in the West Indies, and went over to give the matter his personal supervision and attention. He there contracted a bilious affection, and his liver was in such a state of torpidity that it was utterly incapable of performing its functions. He tried many means to bring it back to a healthy condition and restore the system to a state of activity, but without success, until one day he was fortunate enough to have Burdock Blood Bitters recommended, and now his health is entirely restored. Read what was his experience. It speaks for itself: "After spending a few years in Jamaica I returned to this country about played out physically. My complexion was so changed that they used to call me Yellow Pete." I traveled much and tried everything I could think of to act upon the liver, but nothing seemed to do me any good, until one day I happened to hear of Burdock Blood Bitters. I tried it, and consider there is nothing like it. My sallow complexion is gone, and it has cured up the weak spots in my system generally."

PETER L. COLLINS, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Such is Mr. Collins' experience, which is corroborated by hundreds of other unsolicited testimonials equally as reliable, proving that Burdock Blood Bitters now supplies a want long needed and that as a remedy for acting upon the blood, the liver, and the kidneys, it is simply peerless.

Sold by all druggists.

Farrand, Williams & Co., wholesale druggists, Detroit, Mich.

Pensions.

Old claims completed, new claims filed. Claims for additional and increase pension; for bounty and back pay, for removal of charges of desertion under act August 7, 1882 and all other classes of soldiers' claims prosecuted promptly. Send stamp for circulars and questioning blanks.

LOUIS K. GILLSON,

War Claim and Pension Attorney,

85-99 Metropolitan Block, Chicago, Ill.

890 F, St Washington, D. C.

N. B.—I will be at No. 12 Kanter Block, Detroit, Mich., December 5, 6, and 7, and will be glad to meet any soldiers having unsettled claims.

LOUIS K. GILLSON, Pension Attorney.

Great Combination!

THE TECUMSEH HERALD

—AND—

Demorest's Illustrated Monthly Magazine.

BOTH PUBLICATIONS, ONE YEAR

—FOR—

$3.00

DEMOREST'S MONTHLY is justly entitled the World's Model Magazine. The largest in Form, the largest in Circulation, and the best TWO Dollar Magazine issued. 1883 will be the nineteenth year of its publication; it is now improved so extensively as to place it in the front rank of Family Periodicals, and equal to any magazine. It contains 64 pages, large quarto, 8½ x 11½ inches, elegantly printed on tinted paper, fully illustrated, each number having steel engravings, oil pictures, or art subjects, published by W. Jennings Demorest, New York, and by special agreement combined with the

HERALD at $3 00.

ESTATE OF JAY J. LOWE.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, s.s.

At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee holden at the Probate Office in the city of Adrian on Monday, the 6th day of November, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Jay J. Lowe, deceased.

Upon reading and filing the petition, of Conrod L. Lowe, administrator of said estate, alleging that he has paid the debts of said deceased and the expenses of administration of said estate, and praying for the allowance of his final account, for an assignment and distribution of the residue of said estate to the persons entitled thereto and for his discharge.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the 4th day of December next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing. (A True Copy.)

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.

A. H. Bridge, Probate Register. nov12

ST. NICHOLAS is above anything we produce in the same line.—LONDON TIMES.

ST. NICHOLAS,

FOR

YOUNG FOLKS.

PARENTS who desire entertaining and wholesome reading for their children, and young folks who enjoy accounts of travel and adventure, historical incidents, stories, pictures, household amusement, and harmless fun, will find these in ST. NICHOLAS, which is recognized by the press and public of both England and America, as The Best and Finest Magazine for children ever printed. The new volume, which begins with the November number, and opens with a colored frontispiece, will be much the finest ever issued, and the attention of all parents and all reading young folks is invited to the following partial list of attractions:

The Tinkham Brothers' Tide Mill.

A new serial story, by J. T. Trowbridge, formerly editor of "Our Young Folks," and author of the Jack Hazard stories, etc.

The Story of Viteau.

An historical novelette of girl and boy life in the 15th Century.

The Story of Robin Hood.

An account of the famous yeoman, by Maurice Thompson, author of The Witchery of Archery.

The Story of the Field of the Cloth-of-Gold.

By E. S. Brooks. To be illustrated with many remarkable pictures.

A Brand New Notion.

A capital and novel play.

Swept Away.

A serial story of the Mississippi floods of 1882.

Elizabeth Thompson.

A biographical paper regarding this celebrated painter of battle-scenes.

Where was Villiers?

A thrilling story of the Russo-Turkish war.

The Boy at the White House.

An account of the life of "Tad" Lincoln. By Noah Brooks, author of The Boy Emigrants.

Comedies for Children.

A fine series of juvenile plays, and including A CHRISTMAS MASQUE; "THE FALSE SIR SANTA CLAUS." Prepared expressly for holiday times.

Price $4.00 a year; 25 cents a number. Subscriptions should begin with the November number. The succeeding issue, The Wonderful Christmas Number, will have, also, a colored frontispiece and many unusual attractions.

THE CENTURY CO., New York, N. Y.

ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE.

By virtue of an order of sale granted by the Judge of Probate for the County of Lenawee, I, Gideon D. Perry, administrator of the estate of Abner Stanley, deceased, will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, on Saturday, the 23d day of December, A. D. 1882, at 11 o'clock a. m., at the late residence of said deceased, on the premises hereinafter described, to wit: All those tracts or parcels of land situate in the township of Franklin, in the county of Lenawee and state of Michigan, and described as the east half of the east half of the southwest quarter and the west half of the northwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section thirty-four in town five south of range three east, containing sixty acres of land, more or less. Subject to the right of dower and homestead rights of Emeline Stanley, widow of said deceased, therein.

Dated Nov. 9th, 1882.

GIDEON D. PERRY

$100.00

—IN—

Gold Given Away.

To all subscribers to the PEOPLE'S WEEKLY or any person who will subscribe for the paper at the regular price of $2.00 per year, we will make this offer. We will give to the party who will send us by mail, before the 15th of December next, the largest list of words used in the English language that can be framed from any or all of the letters composing the name of

"THE PEOPLE'S WEEKLY,"

The sum of FIFTY DOLLARS IN GOLD; to the party sending the second largest list, FIFTY DOLLARS IN GOLD; and to the party sending the third largest list, TWENTY DOLLARS IN GOLD.

THE PEOPLE'S WEEKLY is the cheapest and best illustrated paper in the country. It is printed by the well known house of Rand, McNally & Co., Chicago, Ill., and contains every week elegant illustrations of current events, American and Foreign scenery, views, portraits of eminent men of the day, &c.; also choice stories by the best writers; sketches, anecdotes, &c., to amuse, please and instruct, and is only Two Dollars per year—just half the price charged for other illustrated papers.

Send in your subscription for THE PEOPLE'S WEEKLY at once—for your name must be on our subscription list to enable you to compete for the above prizes.

The prizes will be paid in GOLD COIN, and the successful lists, together with the names of the fortunate competitors, will be published in full in the issue of December 23d, 1882.

Address all letters and make Postoffice Orders Payable to the Manager

THE PEOPLE'S WEEKLY, Chicago, Ill.

We guarantee the above to be carried out in every particular.

RAND, McNALLY & CO.

FOR SALE CHEAP.

A good small farm situated within a half an hours ride of the village of Tecumseh, for sale at a bargain. Fine buildings, a nice young orchard and in all one of the finest small farms in Lenawee co. For full particulars enquire at the

HERALD OFFICE.

Great Average Off Sale at

Clark's Block, Clinton,

COMMENCING TUESDAY, OCT. 24th, 1882.

$5,000 worth Dry Goods

All purchased within a year, including a full line of Fall and Winter Goods bought before deciding to go out of business.

$2,000 Worth of GROCERIES,

$1,000 worth of Crockery, Glass, Stone and China Ware. Good assortment of Knives, Forks, Spoons and Pocket Cutlery, Tobacco, Etc.

We have decided to go out of business

And our stock must be closed out before Jan. 1, '83, as our lease expires at that time.

Remember our stock is new and fresh.

N. B.—All accounts must be settled at once. Goods will be sold for cash or satisfactory notes.

John H. Miller & Co.

Clinton, Oct. 19th, 1882.

1882. 1883.

FOR DURABILITY,

BUY THE

ANDERSON GREGG

AT MARSDEN'S.

WANTED!

All who intend buying a SEWING MACHINE to know that they can save money by buying at the

TECUMSEH SEWING MACHINE ROOMS.

The largest stock and best assortment in the State.

SOLD ON TERMS TO SUIT ALL.

Good Machines from

$10.00 and UPWARDS.

Use none but LANDGRAF'S

CACHALOT OIL.

Trade established since 1868.

MRS. CHARLES LAWRENCE

—Has opened her—

Dress-making Rooms!

In Connection With

A. B. COTTON'S STORE,

And is prepared to do cutting, fitting and manufacturing in the most approved styles promptly and for reasonable Prices.

The Tecumseh Herald.

VOL. XXXIII.—NO. 27 TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 16, 1882. WHOLE NO. 1665

Team Ran Away!

some time ago, but the folks did not get hurt, yet A. W. Slayton's sales last week in furniture were simply enormous.

Small Boy Run Over

to your neighbors and tell them that they can buy a spring bed, feather pillows, wool mattresses, looking glasses, sewing machines, chairs, tables, and beds cheaper than any place in the county.

BIG BOY HURT!

Yes his feelings are hurt because he did not buy his furniture at A. W. Slayton's. He found out he could have saved $4.80. He will go to Slayton's next time.

Wagon Badly Smashed!

but our Furniture is all new and fresh, and for 60 days will be sold lower than any other house can sell. A. W. SLAYTON.

CROWN JEWEL, King of Base Burners. | JEWEL OAK, Handsomest round stove in the world.

CALL AND SEE THE LARGEST AND BEST ASSORTED

LINE OF STOVES

Ever shown in Southern Michigan, and at prices

TOO LOW TO MENTION.

Whitenack, Bordine & Co.

The Newest Designs

CLOAKS, PALETOTS AND DOLMANS.

Perfect Fitting,

Tastefully Trimmed

and Carefully Made.

Ready Made & to Measure

A. B. COTTON,

New Clothing,

New Cloths,

New Hats & Caps.

We are in daily receipt of new and seasonable goods, and can now show the most complete line in every department to be found in the market.

Our facilities for furnishing anything needed by boy or man are unequaled, and our prices are acknowledged on all hands to be the lowest. We invite an early inspection.

STRONG & McNAIR.

AROUND THE COUNTY.

RIDGEWAY.

Roads are getting bad.

The Democrats are feeling good.

Many Republicans here rather have Begole for Governor than Jerome.

Scovill and Baird are busy working up right of way in this township for the T. & M.

S. H. Linn and Mr. Ransom are building additions to their dwellings.

Church social will be held Friday evening, this week, at the residence of Joshua Waring.

The long looked for death of Mrs. Alex. Pattison, daughter of Cornelius Hoagland, occurred Sunday night. She had been a great sufferer for nearly two years, most of the time being under the doctor's care. The funeral services were held Wednesday and the remains were placed in the vault at Tecumseh.

Uncle John Underwood is prostrated from a stroke of paralysis.

Milo Osterhout moves north with team and wagon this week. He has one of the best draught teams in this section of the country.

Griffith Adams, brother of Richard Adams, died suddenly Sunday night, with heart disease. The funeral and burial took place Tuesday.

COMMON COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

VILLAGE OF TECUMSEH, MICH., Council Room, Oct. 15, 1882.

Special session. Present, the entire Council except Messrs. Burridge and Stout.

The special Cemetery Vault Committee reported as follows, viz: The vault contract to the Hardwick Granite Co., for building in the Tecumseh Cemetery, is now complete, as per contract, and has been accepted by the architect; the contract price therefor being $1,470.00, and additional expenses of $10.00 for door lock, and $9.20 expense of architect's inspection, making a total of $1,489.20, which your committee recommends be paid.

GEO. HESSEN,
J. ROOT,
Committee.

On motion, the Council passed the following resolution:

Resolved, That a loan of $1,489.20, with interest from this date, be made from the contingent fund to the cemetery fund, and that an appropriation of 1,489.20 be made from the cemetery fund for the payment of the cemetery vault.

The bill of M. E. Chittenden & Co., for oil, amounting to $27.28, was presented and referred to the finance committee.

The Finance Committee reported favorably upon said bill of M. E. Chittenden & Co., and recommended that the same be paid. Report accepted and order directed drawn.

The Council then adjourned.

FREDERICK B. WOOD, Recorder.

VILLAGE OF TECUMSEH, MICH., Council Room, Nov. 6, 1882.

Regular session. Present, the entire Council, except Messrs. Burridge, Steinhoff and Stout.

The minutes of the preceding meeting read and approved.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

On streets:

The committee submitted to the council a proposition from Dr. J. F. Jenkins that he would purchase and erect in front of his residence on Chicago st., a street lamp similar to those now in use by the village, upon condition that the village should light and supply the same with oil; and recommended that the proposition be accepted.

REPORTS OF OFFICERS.

The marshall's annual report upon the collection of taxes for 1882 was submitted and referred to the finance committee.

The St. Commissioner's annual report upon poll taxes and street work was submitted and referred to the street committee.

PETITIONS AND APPLICATIONS.

The petition of David Brengan and Jas. Montague asking that a sidewalk be required to be constructed along the south line of Cummins St., adjoining the north line of lots one, two and three of block three of McCowen's addition to the village of Tecumseh was presented and referred to the street committee.

NEW BUSINESS.

The following bills were presented and referred to finance committee.

Wolcott, Temple & Co, cemetery bill readered,	$42 50
" " " village " "	42 77
P. J. Welling, for saw filing	3 35
Walter Osborn, for hay	8 10
J. D. Sholes, bill readered	2 85
W. C. Jordan, St. Com. services for October	35 60
Wm. Brown, street work	9 75
A. Packard, " "	2 25
George Payne, binding 5 sets cemetery plats	12 00
H. W. Stevens, Marshal's services for October	9 15

A request was made by P. J. Van Vleet to have two evergreens removed from border of his cemetery lot and referred to cemetery committee.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

The finance committee reported favorably upon the following claims:

Thos. Elliott, $27 28; Slayton & Son, $42.15; W. C. Jordan, $38; Wm. Brown, $9.75; A. Packard, $2.25; Geo. Payne, $12; J. D. Sholes, $2.25; Walter Osborne, $8.10; H. W. Stevens, $9.15.

Report accepted and adopted and orders directed drawn.

On motion Council then adjourned.

FREDERICK B. WOOD, Recorder.

The soldier's monument has arrived and will soon be in position.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

A moon-eyed celestial has camped down at St. Clair and bought him a washtub.

Otsego has a cornet band of 15 young men all strictly temperate in their habits.

Some Brockway women smashed the windows of a local saloon a few nights ago.

Mrs. Sarah Johnson, of Howell, died very suddenly of heart disease Thursday night.

The prosecuting attorney of a northern county elected last week first saw that county less than a month before.

A rich Grand Rapids lumberman is credited with losing $2,500 by bets at heavy odds on Jerome and Webster.

They say the first regular message which went over the telephone wire from Jackson to Detroit was an order for lager.

Hoag & Norton, of the Empire flouring mills, Otsego, have put in machinery for making flour by the roller process.

An exchange says: "Moonshiners have been spotted in the northern peninsula." There is no reason why they should not have been spotted long ago.

Sheriff elect Winney, of Jackson county, was formerly janitor of the public school building at Coldwater and the sheriff-elect in Muskegon county is a lumber mill hand.

A year ago Jeremiah Stockhouse was convicted and sentenced to state prison for 10 years, for having burned a mill in Calhoun county. He is now to be given a new trial.

Cass county husbandmen have been buying grapevines on the representation that they would bear fruit like a sample the agent showed. The sample was a bunch of grapes in a glass case.

My neighbor, a great sufferer from extreme Prolapsus, who had taken almost everything to no good, has used one bottle of your Zoa-Phora, and has not been so well in years.

Mrs. M. D. Fuller,
March 3, 1880. Benton Harbor.

People in Branch county are all roiled up about the alleged discovery that James Macklem, deputy U. S. marshal, who has held various local offices and had a terrible hankering to be sheriff, is after all, an alien.

Sterling Powers.

CYRUS, O., Aug. 2, 1881.

H. H. Warner & Co.: Sirs—Your wonderful Safe Kidney and Liver Cure has done all that it claims to do in my case, and I believe I owe my life to its sterling powers.

JOHN GIBSON.

Hudson Post: The Cleveland Herald of the 9th contains the sorrowful announcement of the terrible bereavement of the family of our former townsman, D. L. Jaques. First, early in the fall, came death and took the babe; then the grand-child followed quickly across the valley of shadows. Last the dreaded scourge, diphtheria, snatched away two more, the youngest son, Ralph, and the little girl; and now again comes the intelligence that "Ferd," the youngest remaining son, has died, and that Mrs. Jaques is prostrated with the same malady and overwhelming grief. The family will have the sympathy of a multitude of friends and acquaintances in Michigan, and especially in Hudson, where they lived many years and whence they removed to Cleveland.

The following decidedly humorous election incident is narrated by the Hudson Post: "One of our citizens, not satisfied to vote the tax, went further and voted his pro rata." He had a town order in his pocket, and after folding his ticket put it in the same pocket, went to the polls, and deposited what he supposed to be the ballot. Having occasion to use the order, he went down for it, but found only a useless ballot, and returned to the polls and asked for re-permission to vote, claiming he had not voted his ticket, but had merely made a deposit with the board of a town order. The board, of course, couldn't be intimidated, and refused to allow him to stuff 'em or repeat. So this man had to return to the bosom of his family without a voice or vote for the country's salvation.

The Collier's Lights O'London Co. at Adrian to-morrow and Saturday night is the same company that played Celebrated Case here the season our opera house was opened.

MRS. G. P. SPAULDING received a new green-house furnace, from New York, this week.

THE PROBATE COURT.

Following is the record of business transacted at the probate court for the week ending Nov. 8, 1882:

Estate of Florence C. Smith, deceased; petition for the appointment of administrator, hearing Nov. 27, 1882.

Estate of Abigail D. Hathaway, deceased; application for appeal from the decision of the commissioners on claims; bond on appeal; order of allowance of appeal.

Estate of Abner J. Stanley, minor; petition for the appointment of guardian; order of appointment; bond filed; letters issued.

Estate of Claude Whaley, et al., minors; nomination of guardian; order of appointment; bond, $800.

Estate of Sarah Reed, deceased; executrix's bond filed; letters issued; order of appointment of appraisers and commissioners.

Estate of Joseph Driggs, an alleged incompetent person; petition for appointment of guardian; hearing, November 18, 1882.

Estate of George Osborn, deceased; order of continuance until November 4, 1882, at ten o'clock a. m.

Estate of Joseph Hagaman, deceased; executor's first account allowed; assignment; distribution.

Estate of Mary E. Dibble, deceased; warrant and inventory.

Estate of Orila Car, an incompetent person; application for the allowance of guardian's account; hearing December 4, 1882.

Estate of John Pawson, deceased; commissioner's warrant and report in partition; order of confirmation.

Estate of Warner Comstock, deceased; petition for proof of will; hearing December 4, 1882.

Estate of George Osborn, deceased; continued after taking testimony until November 13, 1882, at 2 o'clock p. m.

Estate of Abner Stanley, deceased; affidavit of publication; license to sell real estate; oath before sale.

Estate of Thomas Coulson, deceased; affidavit of publication; appointment of administrator; bond filed; letters issued; appointment of appraisers.

Estate of Sarah M. Knapp, deceased; affidavit of publication; administrator's final account allowed; discharge.

Estate of Joseph Ely, deceased; order of continuance until February 4, 1882, at ten o'clock a. m.

Estate of Ira Stewart, deceased; affidavit of publication; order of an allowance for support of widow.

Estate of Mary Owen, deceased; affidavit of publication; executor's final account allowed; assignment; distribution; discharge.

Estate of Jay J. Lowe, deceased; petition for the allowance of administrator's final account, hearing December 4, 1882.

Estate of John I. Fulton, deceased; order of continuance until February 5, 1883, at ten o'clock a. m.

Estate of John Collins, deceased; order of an additional allowance for the support of widow and children.

Estate of Fernando C. Beaman, deceased; executrix's bond filed; letters issued; appointment of commissioners.

Estate of Margaret Collins, et al., minors; petition for guardian; order of appointment of guardian; bond, $2,200.

Estate of Robert M. Drake, deceased; petition for the allowance of administrator's final account; hearing December 4, 1882.

Estate of William Taylor, an insane person; petition for license to sell real estate; hearing December 11, 1882.

Estate of Betsey Westcott, deceased; petition for the allowance of executor's final account; hearing December 11, 1882.

Estate of Aaron S. Page, minor; release of guardian; order of discharge.

Reading, Mich., Sept. 1, 1881.

Mr. J. D. Kellogg:—I have been afflicted with Kidney Complaint for eighteen years, and used and done everything I could think of, to get relief. I spent two seasons at mineral springs, but received no benefit, and steadily grew worse, so that my mind was made up to die. But I was finally induced to try a bottle of Columbian Oil, and before I had used half of the first bottle, I felt much better and I am now entirely cured. My wife was troubled with rheumatism, and the Oil made an entire cure on her.

Yours truly, Lorenzo Abbott.

Master Harry Knapp, son of the late A. S. Knapp, of South Lyon, has been ill for some time with inflammation and suppuration of the right lung. A few days ago Drs. Brucker, of South Lyon, and Ellis, of Detroit, opened his chest and removed about a pint of matter. The boy is recovering from the operation and doing well.

Always Effectual.

Dr. Roger's Syrup of Liverwort, Tar and Canchalagua, or Liverwort and Tar, as it is most commonly called, is a splendid medicine. The effect of tar, as medicated in this preparation, is soothing and grateful to the diseased lungs, as well as healing, and the other ingredients, which are powerful expectorants, assist in effecting cures when all other medicines fail. For coughs, colds and all diseases of the lungs and chest it has no equal.

John McCurley drowned at Bay City last Friday.

Dr. DeWitt C. Kellinger's Liniment is an infallible cure for Rheumatism, Sprains, Lameness and Diseases of the Scalp, and for promoting the growth of the hair.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS.

Below is a list of transfers of Real Estate in Lenawee County for the week ending Nov. 11, 1882:

ADRIAN.

John Tilley to S. H. Smith; land in city. $1,110.

J. S. Hale to Mathew M. Bennett; land in city. $1,600.

Wm. Kirby to John and Maggie Mulligan; land in city. $92.62.

Wm. Benson to H. C. and N. G. Deininger; mill property. $6,000.

DEERFIELD.

S M Satterthwaite to M. Bowerman, Jr.; land on sec 28. $400.

FAIRFIELD.

R. B. Sager to Henry J. Slater; land in village. $400.

FRANKLIN.

A. Wilson to H H and E Learnard; land on secs 23 and 26. $6,500.

J. B. Dowling to D. F. Learnard; land on sec. 30. $2,800.

Wm. Welch to Henry A. Welch; land on sec 6. $6,000.

RAISIN.

Heirs of Wm. Gidley to W. A. Lowe; land on secs 20 and 29. $2,250.

ROME.

Chas. Adams to Elias E. Grattan; land on sec. 31. $3,000.

SENECA.

Charles L. Keefer to J. A. Baker; land in Morenci village. $150.

C. W. Keefer to Amos N Metcalf; land on sec. 2. $1,350.

D. S. Salisbury to Wm. W. Cole; land in village. $350.

TECUMSEH.

S. W. Temple to J. R. McClone et al.; sash and blind factory. $1,500.

Irene J. Haskins to Hannah A. Werner; land in village. $70.

WOODSTOCK.

E. M Sanford to L. A. Sanford; land on sec 15. $800.

Price Reduced.

Anticipating the removal of the Stamp Tax at no distant day, the Magnetic Medicine Co., of Detroit, as will be seen by their new advertisement that appears in to-days paper, have reduced the price of their medicine from one dollar per package to fifty cents, and when twelve packages are ordered at one time, and five dollars paid for the same, they issue a written guarantee agreeing to refund the money if the full course of treatment fails to effect a cure. We have no doubt the Magnetic Medicine will have a large sale in every section of the country, as few medicines are sold at as low a price, and what is especially in its favor is the guarantee of its effecting a cure. The medicine is sold at all Drug Stores, everywhere. Guarantees are issued in Tecumseh by Waldo & Doty.

Last Friday night when the turnkey at the Jackson county jail went to lock up his prisoners he counted noses and found eight of his charge had escaped. Two of them were darkies in for petty offenses and the other six were men bound over on various charges. These six were Wm. Chandler, Theo. Pixley, Chas. Eddy and Wm. Chapman, alleged burglars and Charles Dale and John Lacey, alleged larcenists. They had sawed off a lock leading to the slush room and removed the ventilator grating.

Twenty-four Hours to Live.

From John Kuhn, Lafayette, Ind., who announces that he is now in perfect health, we have the following: "One year ago I was to all appearance, in the last stages of Consumption. Our best physicians gave my case up. I finally got so low that our doctor said I could not live twenty four hours. My friends then purchased a bottle of Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs, which considerably benefitted me. I continued until I took nine bottles. I am now in perfect health, having used no other medicine."

Ex-Mayor J. E. Warner, of Lansing, whom Barnum sent to St. Petersburg to lease from the imperial zoological gardens the alleged white elephant given Alexander II. by the king of Burmah, was not satisfied with the looks of the elephant when he got there and would not take him. The beast was a little off color, being a kind of dirty grey with flesh-colored ears, neck, trunk and legs. When Warner goes elephant hunting he only wants pure white ones. The other kind are too common.

Read this Letter.

E. C. Chapin, 32 John St., New York, Sept. 4, 1855, says: "Two years and a half since I had an attack of Influenza, and it left me with a severe cough, which lasted several months. Dr. Ford's Pectoral Syrup gave me immediate relief, and effected a permanent cure in a short time. I have known other persons greatly relieved of coughs and asthmatic complaints by the use of the same medicine.

The Mt. Clemens Monitor alleges that "poker" is demoralizing, and that it is creeping into the bon ton society of that town.

A Modern Millionaire.

Come, listen to a tale of woe
One of the hundred-million kind, and such are rather rare.
His father left him hoards of wealth, and bade him hold the fort—
This very solid millionaire, one of the modern sort.

So very rich this man became, so very fat he waxed,
That everybody everywhere for his behoof was taxed;
And stocks went up and stocks went down to swell his monstrous pile—
This very solid millionaire, one of the modern style.

He built himself a lordly house, and there he lived in state,
And thought of his wealth had made of him the greatest of the great;
Forgetting that the Scripture said to such a man, "Thou fool!"
This very solid millionaire, one of the modern school.

And paid no taxes on the bonds with which his safe was crammed;
And of the people he remarked, "The public—they be damned!"
For he would use his property to please himself alone—
This very solid millionaire, one of the highest tone.

At last the people saw 'twas time his license to restrain,
And exercised the ancient right of eminent domain;
And so they quickly reined him in, and spoiled his selfish sport—
This very solid millionaire, one of the modern sort.

"The property you claim," said they, "for us you hold in trust,
And you must serve the people well; indeed, sir, that you must!"
The laws with which they curbed him in made all the people smile;
But not that solid millionaire, one of the modern style.

They made him pay his taxes like the other business men,
And never did he coarsely dare to damn the public then;
Instead of master, he became the people's useful too.—
This very solid millionaire, one of the modern school.

—(New York Sun.

LOVE'S DEADLIEST FOE.

"I cannot understand jealousy. It seems to me that confidence is the very foundation of love. Uproot that and the whole structure falls. To make a woman jealous is to kill the love which causes it."

The girl who uttered the above words was young and very beautiful. She addresses a little group of three, but as she finished speaking, her eyes sought but one face, and rested there with a glance which betspoke all the love and all the trust that an instant before had been her portion.

The face was that of the man to whom she was introduced. Her engagement to Gerald Hillier had caused a little flutter of surprise among their dear two hundred friends.

In the first place, he had passed unscathed through so many seasons, had eluded so many traps set for his entrance into the rank of Benedicts, had managed so adroitly to avoid the land of compromise, that he had finally been accepted as wedded only to the hand of bachelors; but just when designing mammas and wishing daughters had reconciled themselves to this condition of affairs, they were startled by the announcement of his sudden engagement to a girl possessing no fortune, save her beauty, her wit, and the blue blood in her veins.

He graciously now met hers and answered it. It gave his silent approval of her words. It assured her of his sympathy with her feeling on this as on all other subjects. The perfect sympathy in taste and interests which made the bond between them so strong and lasting.

But there was another listener to Sybil Carstone's speech. Olive Ormsby who was her friend and senior by several years.

Two summers before our story opens, she and Gerald had met. He had fascinated her as few men had the power to do, and for a few brief weeks a wild, sweet hope had sprung up in her heart that the friendship between them might ripen into a warmer sentiment.

All too soon she learned that this hope was fruitless, and she had crushed it down beneath the bitterest disappointment of her life. She had even smiled and offered him a hand grown suddenly cold, in congratulation, when he made her his first confidant concerning his happiness.

She had met Sybil Carstone. She determined to made her her friend. She knew her to be young and inexperienced, a very child in fact.

Who knew what opportunities the future might hold, where she sat but near at hand to grasp them? For six months she had waited and watched, and at last both waiting and watching had met with their reward—at last the weapon which hitherto she had vainly sought had been furnished her by the enemy against whom she so mercilessly would direct its force. The girl thought she could not be made jealous. Yet, make her jealous, and her love would die! It would be to her, then, that Gerald would turn for comfort. Well, his was not the first heart that had been caught in the rebound.

A sudden gleam of triumph had flashed in her gray eyes, but she turned abruptly away, and walked quickly to the other end of the long terrace of Sonning Grange, where the little party were spending a portion of the hot summer months.

The other member of the group, Bertie Grandison, of the —th Hussars, slowly followed her. Sybil and Gerald were alone.

"Why did she say that, Gerald?" asked Miss Carstone.

For it was a remark of Olive's which had called forth her own.

The man laughed.

"Perhaps she had some experience, my darling," he replied.

"But even if you could, you would not make me jealous, Gerald," she persisted.

"In four months, Sybil, you are to be my wife. Do you think your happiness would be dearer or closer to me then than now?"

He spoke with a tenderness akin to reverence. A bright flush mantled the fair young cheeks, as once more the blue eyes upraised themselves to his, and as he took her hand to place it within his arm, she met its pressure with an answering warmth.

"Gerald," said Miss Ormsby the following day, "do you think Sybil would object if you drove me to Englemere? Mamma insists she will trust me with no one else, as part of the road lies over the sands, and I am most anxious to make some purchases."

"Sybil object!" replied the man. "Of course she will not. What made you imagine such a thing?"

"Oh, only that we are such old friends and I thought possible she might think I was intruding upon a privilege no longer mine. Do you know, Gerald, I sometimes miss it?"

The latter sentence was spoken in a lower key. Miss Ormsby's voice was always musical—it was one of her most potent attractions—but when she threw into it just what entered into it now, there were few men who could have heard it unmoved, and of these few Gerald Hillier was not one.

"You must not feel you miss it, Olive. There is no reason why our friendship should not always continue in the future, as in the past. You heard what Sybil said yesterday regarding jealousy? She thinks as highly of your friendship as I can do. No, you must not do my little girl such injustice even in your thought! Call upon me as frankly and as freely as in olden days, and you will find me no less ready to respond."

"Well, I shall tell Sybil, then, of our programme for the afternoon."

"Certainly, and send her down to me."

Five minutes later, and Miss Ormsby's soft, white hand gently rapped at her friend's door.

"Come in!" called a sweet, girlish voice.

And Sybil, as the door opened, glanced up from the letter she was busily writing.

"Do I interrupt you?" questioned Olive, pausing at the door, and then continued with a well assumed air of embarrassment, "I only came to tell you that I am going to run off with your lover this afternoon. I must go to Englemere, and Gerald and I had so many drives in the old days that mamma feels she can trust me with no one else. You have no objections, ma chere?"

"None," answered the girl frankly; "only I shall miss you both. How long will you be gone?"

"We start at three. We shall be home by six. We must in fact, else we could not cross the sands until the tide went down?"

"Where is Gerald now?"

"Smoking on the terrace. He said something about your joining him, unless you were busy."

"My letter can wait," she answered; and rising, she walked slowly and thoughtfully from the room, and down the stairs.

"Gerald and I have had so many drives together that mamma feels that she can trust me with no one else."

Somehow this sentence kept ringing in her ears. It seemed to her it was quite time the someone else should be found; but she crushed back the thought as ungenerous and disloyal, and met her lover with a smiling face.

The afternoon seemed very long during his absence. She finished her letter, and two more, and then tried to read; but her thoughts wandered, and the train of her story was sadly broken. It was a relief when the clock struck five, and making her prettiest toilet, she wandered down the terrace, to catch the first glimpse of the truants.

It so happened that two old dowagers, seated within the long drawing-room, and close beside one of the windows opened which she had found a seat, were refreshing themselves with a little gossip. Their words were borne distinctly to her ear.

"I'm surprised," said one, "that Gerald Hillier would drive with one of his old loves, when he has to neglect his fiancee to do so. Such a young, pretty girl too! It's a crying shame!"

Sybil did not wait the answer. She rose quickly, and moved out of hearing; but the words had left their sting.

It deepened as six o'clock came, but brought no sign of Gerald's return. Seven struck, then eight, then nine. An awful weight, a terrible anxiety, was pressing on her heart. All the people were talking of the absent now. Of course they knew that, after six, the sands were impassable. What could have detained them?

At last Sybil could no longer bear the pitying glances directed toward her, and hastening to her own room, she shut them all out.

"How could he make me suffer like this?" she thought, as another hour passed on. "Where is he? Oh, Gerald, did time with her pass so quickly that you were forgetful of your danger?"

Face downward on the bed, she heard nothing of the wheels which grated at last on the gravelled road, nor the exclamations which greeted the belated ones.

As they approached the Grange, Miss Ormsby laid her hand upon her companion's arm.

"Don't tell them it was my fault, Gerald—my stupid fault, in setting my watch an hour behind. None of these horrid women would believe it. You can simply say we were detained. Promise me, Gerald, not even to Sybil."

"The explanation's simple enough, Olive, but I ought to have known a woman's watch never was right, and not trusted it. However, we'll keep our own counsel. Poor little Sybil! I hope she's not worried."

"But 'poor little Sybil' was nowhere in sight. The rest all gathered about them, but Gerald's eyes wandered beyond. Why was not Sybil there to meet and welcome them?

"Find her for me, Olive," he whispered. "Go to her room and tell her to come down a minute."

Miss Ormsby sped on her errand, but a smile was on her lips and in her eyes. Her plan was working well.

"Sybil," she called softly, as she opened the door of the darkened room.

"You have come, thank Heaven!" she exclaimed. "What happened. Tell me."

"Happened? Nothing, cherie; only when Gerald and I are together we are [illegible] and I had no idea [illegible] flown until we found [illegible] vanished our return. I [illegible] to us both almost like a return of the old days, when we kept no account of the hours. Gerald is down stairs. You'll go down and say good night to him, Sybil?"

"I will make you my messenger," replied the girl with chilling scorn. "Tell him only that I congratulate him on your mutual safety."

"Sybil, surely you are not jealous of an old friendship like ours?"

"I am jealous of my self respect, Miss Ormsby. Good night."

But the door had closed and the child's calm gave way.

So what the gossips had said was true. Olive Ormsby was an old love of Gerald's, and in her society even yet the hours passed so swiftly that he could forget how full of slow, torturing anxiety for his bodily safety they would be to her. And only yesterday she had said she never could be jealous and love on. Yet when had she loved so wildly, so passionately, as in this hour when her lover had shown himself all unworthy? Doubtless he had mistaken his own heart—it had awakened to its old allegiance; and yet he once had told her no other woman save herself had ever filled it, and sweet, sweet had been his words—as sweet as she now knew them to be false. But he should not know she suffered.

Striking a light, she drew toward her pen, ink and paper.

"I did not expect to prove so soon my idle words of yesterday," she wrote, "nor dream that within little more than twenty-four hours you would chill the love then so warm, yet so you have decreed. I told you I could not be jealous. I was right. Therefore I release you from your promise, even as I hold myself released. I shall return home to-morrow, and I must make of you but one request—that you will make no effort to see me."

Having written this—poor child!—she fancied that all irrevocably was ended.

The little note was put, early next morning, into Gerald Hillier's hands. He grew very pale as he read it carefully through.

"It's all absurd," he muttered, under his breath. "Poor little girl! she's jealous after all. Olive must go and tell her the truth."

"I'll go, Gerald," replied Miss Ormsby, when he had explained the dilemma; "but I'm afraid it is of no use. I really think—though I hate to hurt you by the suspicion—that she was scarcely sorry of the excuse. What other woman would have given you up like that?"

"Ask her to see me," groaned the man. "She cannot refuse me that."

But ten minutes later, Miss Ormsby returned to him, shaking her head.

"She is cold as ice, Gerald," she declared. "She told me to tell you that ashes could not warm. Oh, Gerald, how I hate to repeat her cruel words, and to feel that I am the unhappy cause."

He tried to answer with a laugh, but it proved a miserable failure.

"Don't distress yourself, Olive," he said kindly. "If she had so little love, so little trust, I'm glad I found it out in time."

"But you loved her, Gerald. Oh! how could she? I—I—"

She stopped, and turned abruptly away.

But for once Gerald Hillier was deaf to all the implication of her words. Yet his heart was bitter as he strode along the hall in the direction of his own room.

It was mere chance which led him past Sybil's door—mere chance which brought to his hearing that trembling, quavering sob which told him that she was within and suffering.

An hour later they might have been irrevocably parted. Now he only remembered that in four months she was to have been his wife.

What need to heed conventionalities? At any cost he must see her.

Impulsively he opened and closed the door behind him. She rose up, white and indignant, but not before he had seen the lines that one night had brought on the young, lovely face.

"My darling," he said, "listen."

And without further preface he told the story through.

"Shall I go or stay now, Sybil?" he ended. "Is it for you or me to ask forgiveness?"

Meanwhile, down stairs, Miss Ormsby waited long for his return, her heart beating high with hope and triumph; but when at last he came, Sybil—lovely, smiling Sybil—was on his arm.

"You promised, Olive, to tell Sybil the truth. Why did you not do it?" he sternly asked.

"I wished you both to find out you were human," she replied. "Six months without a lovers' quarrel! It was absurd."

"So we think," he answered; "but rather than risk another, Sybil has consented to become my wife at once."

Yet of their dear five hundred friends, Miss Ormsby alone was not bidden to the feast; but Sybil was jealous never again.

A Human Beanstalk.

Jean Condoist has been brought to Paris as a medical curiosity from the Haute Caone. According to a medical contributor to a Parisian cotemporary, this youth, aged 19, took a start on the 17th of May, 1881, being then six feet three inches high, and found one morning that he had grown an inch. Every week since then he has registered himself, and on the 14th of September this human beanstalk had gained nearly five inches; he grew five inches more before the 20th of January, 1882, and seven more before March 16, and he now stands seven feet ten inches. All this has been accompanied by great pains in the back, and he stoops considerably; but since last June it is his legs only that have grown, and his feet are already twenty-four inches long.

A southern paper says the alligator destroys millions of mosquitoes by letting them settle on his jaws and then swallowing them. Ladies who are annoyed by the pests might rid themselves of the nuisance by keeping an alligator in the bed-room during the night, but there are some women who would prefer the mosquitoes. They would as soon have a mouse loose in their chamber as an alligator.

"I'm afraid Brother Boochee has fallen from grace," sadly said the deacon to his pastor. "Dear me!" exclaimed the good old dominie; "how did it happen?" "Well, the other day while I was at his house," explained the deacon, "he lost his collar button, and ——." "Yes, yes," interrupted the minister, "I understand; but we can't blame the poor fellow, for we've been there ourselves, deacon, eh?" And the two old dignitaries chuckled over the disaster for all it was worth.

A Grand Spectacle.

Tidal Waves and Waterspouts at Lake Tahoe, in the Nevada Range.

Although Lake Tahoe is not a very large body of water, yet at times it "boileth like a pot." Tremendous gusts of wind rush down the surrounding gorges from the summit of the Sierra Nevada mountains most unexpectedly, and those who navigate the waters of the lake in sail-boats must at all times, even in what seems the best of weather, keep a bright lookout for squalls, and be ready to "let go the mainsheet." At this season the lake is very dangerous for small crafts, and there are frequently times when the steamers dare not venture out. A few days ago, at the time when the recent general snow and rain storm was brewing, some gentlemen of the Comstock, who were at Tahoe City, witnessed a grand and remarkable spectacle.

The day was windy and the lake rather rough, but a number of persons stopping at the hotel—our Comstockers among the number—concluded to go to the end of the long wooden pier and try try their luck at fishing. They had not been long at the end of the pier before their attention was attracted by a great roaring. Looking across the lake in the direction of Glenbrook they saw a regular cyclone approaching. Before the hurricane came a long unbroken wave, at least fifteen feet in height. Knowing that this would sweep the whole line of the pier, all present beat a rapid retreat to the shore. When at a safe distance the party turned to gaze upon the incoming wall of water. While thus employed they were startled by a tremendous roaring to the northward, and a moment after a cyclone from that direction struck the lake. This sent before it a huge wave which had soon attained the height of that coming from the southward. In a few minutes the two waves came together. When they struck a column of water and spray was sent into the air to the height of at least one hundred feet. The collision of the two waves was followed by a report that sounded like a heavy clap of thunder.—A moment after this grand shock of the waters five or six huge waterspouts made their appearance, all within an area of three or four miles, and carried great columns of water and spray to the height of several hundred feet. These circled to and fro over the lake for some ten or fifteen minutes, and then one after the other subsided, and for a time thereafter there was almost a dead calm.

Waterspouts are very frequently seen on the lake at this season. This is owing to the peculiar situation of the lake, under the crest of the main ridge of the Sierra Nevada range of mountains.—When a fierce gale from the west crosses the ridge it plunges down the great canyons and thus are brought to bear on the lake conflicting currents of air. When a hurricane is blowing from the west immense volumes of air appear to be dammed up and compressed behind the ridge of the Sierras, which at times escape and come over and down the gorges in tremendous puffs. No navigator of the ocean sees half as many waterspouts in a three years' voyage as are seen by persons residing at Lake Tahoe in a single season.—Virginia City (Nev.) Enterprise.

The Successful Man.

The man who succeeds is the popular man—the person who has hosts of acquaintances, and who does not hesitate to ask a favor, any more than he does to do one. He cultivates his acquaintances and blossoms out before each one. He is always glad to see them, and always has a smile and a pleasant word. Beyond a certain point he is intimate with none, knowing that a man with strong friendships is sure to have some decided enemies, and an enmity often is most inconvenient. The popular man knows all the prominent members of the club; but he never neglects those who fill the ranks of mediocrity. He is especially thoughtful of his elders. Everything that comes to his mill is grist.

There is nothing hypocritical in all this. The popular man is what he seems to be. He wishes well to every one, himself included, and he would do no one an ill-turn. He wishes no one to do him harm. His desire is to make things pleasant to others that others may make things pleasant unto him. He does not neglect the harder work of life. If he is in a profession, he studies diligently for some hours each day, when there is no opportunity to cultivate the social part of his nature, or to render his relations with others more friendly. If he is in trade, he does not neglect to learn his business thoroughly from the bottom up. What he does he does well, no matter how small it is.

Such a man is sure to command success. He is thorough and can be depended upon in purely business relations, and in his social life he charms and attracts his acquaintances, so that every one wants to help him. If he is a young lawyer, the elderly men, to whom he is always deferential in manner, think of him first when a little legal business comes in their way that will pay him well but is too small for them. He gets the job. If he is a young broker, speculators remember that he is a good fellow, and knowing that he is honest and capable, give him their commission, even in preference, perhaps, to a more repellant acquaintance who is more conveniently at hand. If a social gathering is lacking in one member, he is always thought of as the one to fill the vacant place. Women smile on him, and his chances of marrying well are tenfold better, even if he is poor, than a more sedate and quiet man of possibly much greater force of character.—The Hour.

A waiter at a seaside hotel spilled a cup of tea upon an unhealthy female guest, and so disturbed her equanimity that she was obliged to retire from the dining room. In her exit she, because of her flurry, ran into a waiter bearing a tray of dishes. She came out of the contest covered with soup, lobster claws and almond shells, and immediately relapsed into a "conniption" fit that lasted six weeks, and almost caused her death. She will hereafter recruit her health at home.

Eight ladies have clerkships in the Georgia legislature.

A Gentle Voice.

Our enterprising druggists have secured the agency for the sale of Dr. Bigelow's Positive Cure, which has no superior for coughs, colds, consumption, whooping cough and all throat and lung diseases. To prove to you it has no equal, call at Baker & Hall's drug store and get a bottle free.

Everybody Knows It.

Everybody knows what red clover is. It has been used many years by the good old German women and physicians for the blood, and is known as the best blood purifier when properly prepared. Combined with other medicinal herbs and roots, it forms Dr. Jones' Red Clover Tonic, which is good for all blood disorders, torpid liver, costiveness and sick headache. Sure cure for pimples. Ask Baker & Hall, druggists, for it. Only fifty cts. a bottle.

The Keystone of Health.

How can you expect to feel well, or even enjoy life, when you go about with a hacking cough? The fool, in his wisdom, says there is no cure for it, but the wise man hies him to Baker & Hall's drug store and gets a bottle of Dr. Bigelow's Positive Cure, and at once gets well. A trial bottle costs nothing.

The World Still Moves.

Notwithstanding Mother Shipton's dire prediction, the world still exists. The people will live longer if they use Dr. Bigelow's Positive Cure, which subdues and conquers coughs, colds, consumption, whooping cough, and all diseases of the lungs. For proof call at Baker & Hall's drug store, and get a bottle free.

The Greatest Medicine of the Age.

Kellogg's Columbian Oil is a powerful remedy, which can be taken internally as well as externally by the tenderest infant. It cures almost instantly, is pleasant, acting directly upon the nervous system, causing a sudden buoyancy of the mind. In short, the wonderful effects of this wonderful remedy cannot be explained in written language. A single dose inhaled and taken according to directions will convince any one that it is all that is claimed for it. Warranted to cure the following diseases: Rheumatism or Kidney disease in any form, headache, toothache, earache, neuralgia, sprains, bruises, flesh wounds, bunions, burns, spinal affections, colic, cramping pains, cholera morbus, flux, diarrhœa, colds, bronchial affections, catarrh, and all aches and pains, external or internal. Full directions with each bottle. For sale by C. A. Wright & Co.

Jealousy.

Some poet has said that "All torments of the damned we find is only thee, Oh, Jealousy, thou tyrant of the mind." This is grandly sweeping and magnificently inaccurate. Any sufferer from Indigestion knows to the contrary. Indigestion, the villian of the tragedy played upon the gastric juices of the stomach can, and does double discount the horrors of jealousy. Jealousy is often an attendant upon the later, and when indigestion is removed, this jaundiced companion of a deranged liver flies. Taraxine is the best known remedy extant for impaired digestion, deranged liver, and diseases of the bowels and kidneys.

For sale by all druggists.

Free to Everyone.

A 10c sample of Hill's Peerless Cough Syrup. We also sell the large bottles on an absolute guarantee. If not satisfied after using, return the empty bottle and we will refund your money. We also sell the Peerless Worm Specific on the same terms. No cure, no pay. Cobbs' Little Podophyllin Pills will cure headache, billiousness and constipation. No pay. One pill a dose.

C. A. Wright & Co.

The New Discovery.

Dr. Deming's Pile Ointment, the discovery of a physician of wide reputation, who has achieved the greatest success, the most conspicuous distinction, and the highest honors in his profession, is a sure cure for blind, bleeding, itching and ulcerated piles. A single box has frequently been known to cure the most obstinate case, and thousands who have used this great remedy attest its efficacy.—For sale by all druggists.

Griggs' Glycerine Salve.

The best on earth can truly be said of Griggs' Glycerine Salve, which is a sure cure for cuts, bruises, scalds, burns, wounds and all other sores. Will positively cure piles, tetter and all skin eruptions. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Only 25 cents. For sale by Baker & Hall.

Catarrh of the Bladder.

Stinging, smarting, irritation of the urinary passages, diseased discharges, cured by Buchupaiba. $1, at druggists. Mich. Depot, J. E. Davis & Co., Detroit, Mich.

"Buchupaiba."

New, quick, complete cure four days, urinary affections, smarting, frequent or difficult urination, kidney diseases. $1, at druggists. Michigan Depot, J. E. Davies & Co., Detroit, Mich.

Grand Central.

You can always find at the

Grand Central Supply STORE

—OF—

HENRY McCLURE,

The Largest and Best Selected STOCK OF

Groceries, Crockery,

Glassware, Lamps, &c.

IN TECUMSEH.

Teas a Specialty!

Canned Fruits of all Kinds.

In fact, anything in this line can be bought at figures.

Clinton Street. HENRY McCLURE. Tecumseh, Mich.

GET THE BEST!

LEAD ALL OTHERS!

Every Style & Price.

Guaranteed Unequaled FOR OPERATION, ECONOMY, DURABILITY and WORKMANSHIP.

Improvements and Conveniences found in no others.

Always Reliable.

POPULAR EVERYWHERE.

For Sale in Every City and Town in the United States.

For Sale by SUTTON & SWAN.

The price of the following organ has been advanced to $125 since inserting this electrotype.

BEATTY ORGANS

27 Stops, 10 Sets Reeds, $90

The Famous Beethoven Organ contains 27 Stops, 10 Sets Reeds.

PRICE ONLY $90

Order now. Remit by Bank Draft, Post Office Money Order, or Registered Letter. Boxed and Shipped without a Moment's Delay. Factory running day and night. Organs built on old plan, 3 stops to 11 stops. Catalogue Free. Address DANIEL F. BEATTY, Washington, N. J.

CATARRH

HAY-FEVER

DIRECTIONS.

Insert with little finger a particle of the Balm into the nostrils; draw strongly the breaths through the nose. It will be absorbed.

Ely's Cream Balm effectually cleanses the nasal passages of Catarrhal virus, combining health with vaccination, allays inflammation, protects the membrane from additional colds, completely heals the sores and restores the sense of taste and smell. Beneficial results are realized by a few applications. A thorough treatment as directed will cure Catarrh, Hay Fever, &c.

Agreeable to Use.

Unequaled for Cold in the Head.

The Balm has gained an enviable reputation wherever known, displacing all other preparations.

RECOGNIZED AS A WONDERFUL REMEDY.

Sold by all druggists at 50 cents. On receipt of price will mail a package. Send for circular containing full information and reliable testimonials.

ELY CREAM BALM CO., Owego, N. Y.

Central.

ays find at the tral Supply

ORE,

OF—

McCLURE,

nd Best Selected

CK OF

, Crockery,

, Lamps, &c.

AUMSEH.

Specialty!

ts of all Kinds.

this line can be bought

HENRY McCLURE,
TECUMSEH, MICH.

HE BEST!

L OTHERS!

yle & Price.

ed Unequaled
FOR

ON,

ECONOMY,

ITY and

RKMANSHIP.

d Conveniences found in o others.

Reliable.

EVERYWHERE.

very City and Town
United States.

SUTTON & SWAN.

following organ has been al-
be inserting this electrotype.

ATTY
RGANS!
0 Sets Reeds, $90

Beethoven Organ contains
Reeds.

E ONLY $90

by Bank Draft, Post Office Money
ed Letter. Boxed & Shipped
's Delay. Factory running built on old plan. 2000
ique Free. Address,
TY, Washington, N.J.

RRH

DIRECTIONS.

Insert with little finger a particle of the Balm into the nostrils; draw strongly the breath through the nose. It will be absorbed.

Ely's Cream Balm
CATARRH
COLD IN THE HEAD
HAY FEVER
DEAFNESS
HOARSENESS
AND COLDS
Ely's Cream Balm
Cleansing
Soothing
Healing
Protective Agreeable Effectual
Not Drying
Not Painful
Not Offensive
Not Injurious
Not Disagreeable
Not Contagious
Not Liquid
Not Snuff
Not Powder
Not Fluid
Not Nitrate
Not Mercury
Not Poisonous
Not Ether
Not Chloroform
Not Opium
Not Morphine
Not Cocaine
Not Alcohol
Not Tobacco
Not Vapor
Not Steam
Not Gas
Not Heat
Not Cold
Not Pain
Not Sickness
Not Death
Not Anything
Not Everything
Not Nothing
Not Anything
Not Everything
Not Nothing
Not Anything
Not Everything
Not Nothing

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

Issued Every Thursday Evening

Office in the NEW HERALD BUILDING, One Door East of the Opera House, Tecumseh Mich.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:

One year, Cash in Advance,	$1.50
Six Months, "	.75
Four Months, "	.50

Twenty-five cents will be added to the subscription price for every three months that payment may be delayed.

ADVERTISING RATES:

Business Locals, five cents per line for each insertion.

Special notices, fifty cents an inch for each insertion.

Marriages, Births, and Death Notices free.

Rates on General Advertising, on terms as cheap as can be known at the Counting Room.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Correspondents' names are invariably required, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Anonymous communications will be rejected.

ENTERED AT THE POST OFFICE AT TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, AS SECOND CLASS MATTER.

TECUMSEH, MICH., NOV. 16, 1882.

The Union movement in the Wolverine state has come to stay.

Good-bye, Arabi Hubbell, good-bye. Shut the door after you, please.

Twenty-four of the thirty-eight states will have Democratic governors after next January.

Candidate Begole "drew on" the honest yeomanry of Michigan, and they honored the draft.

The man who can carry New York by 200,000 majority has taken a long step toward the White House.

The latest election news indicates that they are still voting for Grover Cleveland down in New York.

Our Republican friends enjoy this consolation. They still have Mahone, butcher Chalmers and the state of Rhode Island.

Judge Folger takes his defeat like a philosopher. He was at his desk in the Treasury Department the day after election attending to his official duties.

There will be plenty of able Democratic statesmen in the next congress. The trouble is, they will all aim to be leaders, and but few are fitted for that station.

The free canal amendment in New York was carried at the election notwithstanding the opposition of the railroads. Another victory for the western farmer.

John A. Logan and Senator Windom are the only Republican leaders of prominence who held their states level last week. They will loom up now as Presidential possibilities.

But the heaviest load, after all, was Chester Accidental Arthur's administration. Many little causes, both local and general, contributed to the disaster, but this was the one great cause overtopping all others.

The slaughter of Republican governors last week was unprecedented.—Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Michigan, Kansas, Colorado, California and Tennessee elect Democratic governors in place of former Republicans.

The Grover Cleveland whirlwind has never been equalled in the political history of this country. The nearest approach to it was when John Brough, running upon a Union ticket in 1863, defeated Vallandigham for governor of Ohio by 101,000 majority. The boot was on the other foot then.

The revolution in California almost equals that in New York in proportion to the population of the state.—Governor Stoneman is elected governor by 20 000 majority; the Democrats elect a solid congressional delegation of six; the legislature is Democratic by 28 to 12 in the senate, and by 57 to 23 in the house.

The importance of one vote was illustrated last week in Brooklyn, N. Y. Official returns elect Lindsay, Republican, from the 8th assembly district, by one majority, in a total vote of nearly 8,000. On counting the votes it was found there was one short on the poll list footings, and the miss-ing ballot was found in the crack of the table.

Down in the "independent state of New Jersey," the voters laid out the river and harbor jobbers regardless of party. Robeson and Blake, the Republican jobbers are defeated in heavy Republican districts; Harris and Ross, the Democratic jobbers, are laid out in heavy Democratic districts. The lightning struck exactly right down in that state.

THE New York World, Democratic, says: The claim of the Republican party to have saved the country and paid the debt and grown the crops has finally ceased, to the average American citizen, to be a valid reason why he should vote to prolong the reign of branded thieves and perjurers because they call themselves Republicans. It is less to any presumed merit of the Democratic party than to the proved crimes and follies of the leaders whom the Republican party has accepted that the Democratic party owes this wonderful success.

THE RESULT

Comments of the New York Press Thereon.

The Times, Republican organ, says:

Another, and much simpler step, which is required of the Republicans, is a strict economy in the appropriations of next year. This is perfectly practicable, and, if properly supported by the various executive departments, will be easy. But whether easy or not, it is imperative. The appropriations should be relentlessly cut down to the lowest point consistent with reasonable efficiency. All public "improvements" not clearly national, and, at the same time, unquestionably necessary, should be rigorously excluded. Those which have been rashly commenced should be abandoned. Finally, and by far the most important, a law for the radical and permanent reform of the civil service should be passed by Congress at the next session. This is absolutely essential if the Republican party is to go into the next Presidential campaign without a desperate division in its own ranks. Every blunder and fault of the Republican party, which contributed to the defeat this fall, had its root in the spoils system. None of these measures are impossible. With the present House none of them will be easy. The men who have so blindly rushed into defeat can not readily retrace their steps. But if they have any lingering loyalty to the noble party they have so pitifully abused, or, failing that, if they have any desire to emerge from the retirement to which so many of them have been condemned, the course we have outlined is the only one open to them. They can take it or refuse it, but if they refuse it, a victory for the Republican party at the next national election will be very difficult, and a victory except at the cost of their own political banishment will be impossible.

The Tribune, the Republican and Blaine organ, of New York, says:

When Arthur inherited the Presidency, after leading a shameful warfare of faction against the Executive chosen by the people, he solemnly pledged himself to walk in the path and carry forward the policy of his murdered predecessor. That pledge he has neither kept nor tried to keep. On the contrary, he has reversed the policy of President Garfield in every important feature, defied the will of the people expressed in the nomination and election of that noble leader, uses his place and power to wreak the vengeance of a malignant faction upon the followers and friends of the dead President, outraged public opinion by rewarding men who had tried to blacken the name of the departed statesman, abused his trust and prostituted his power in order to place a large majority of Republicans in subjection to a small minority, and labored desperately to enable a small faction to dictate to the whole party and the country. The result is a political revolution. No other cause can be assigned for the events of Tuesday. Congress had behaved badly in some things, but the voters in almost every State gave a stronger report to Republican candidates for Congress than to candidates for other offices. It is a small matter that this result makes Arthur an absolute impossibility as a future candidate. There was no chance of his nomination at any time, after he decided to break from association with friends of the people's President. Tuesday has shown that the Republican party cannot live if it tolerates his leadership or submits to the dictation of the faction to which he belongs. By unloading that faction, driving it out of power everywhere and burying it out of sight, the Republican party can command public confidence, not otherwise. It now has two years in which to purge itself of the spirit which Guiteau represented. If it does so it will live and conquer.

The New York Sun, Independent, says:

Would you know the meaning of the political revolution which struck its first blow in Ohio in October, and swept through New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Colorado on Tuesday last? It means these four things: First—Reduce the expense of every branch of Federal Government to a basis of simplicity, economy and honesty. Second—Abolish the internal revenue abomination. Third, Make the tariff simple and rational and just sufficient to provide for the wants of an honest and economical administration in time of peace. Fourth—No subsidies, no jobs, and above all no stealing, either by the administration and its agents or by Congress and its employes. This is the meaning and the purpose of this mighty overturn. Is the Democracy wise enough and highminded enough to execute this peremptory mandate, with fidelity and courage? We shall see. The occasion is great, and we are happy to add, the future is hopeful.

The Star, Democratic, says:

The reason of Arthur's failure is plain. He went as a political manager into an office which requires statesmanship, patriotism and character. His partisan manipulations, his interference with State politics, his bargains with such despicable demagogues as Mahone, his abuse of the patronage of the great office he holds for partisan and personal ends, have filled the people with mortification and alarm. They have served notice on the ward politician in the White House that he is out of place and that the party which put him there will be trusted no longer.

The Herald, Independent, says:

Well, the people have spoken. Yesterday they gave their opinion about river and harbor and other jobs, about Hubbell assessments, about oppressive and needless taxation, and about federal interference and dictation in politics; Mr. Jay Hubbell and his associates in the dirty work of robbing the Government clerks of their wages; Mr. Robeson and his associates in river and harbor and other jobbery; Mr. Kasson, Senator Hoar, and their associates, who so insolently refused to relieve the people from oppressive and unnecessary taxes—all these heard from the people yesterday. President Arthur also heard from the people. Mr. Arthur dictated the nomination of Mr. Folger, contrary to the advice of his true friends, and Mr. Folger is "snowed under" so deep that a dozen "machines" could not dig him out in a dozen years.

ON THE MISSISSIPPI.

MUSCATINE, Iowa, Oct. 28, 1882.

EDITOR HERALD:—The readers of your paper are undoubtedly aware of the fact that Congress lately appropriated over $18,000,000 for the improvement of the rivers and harbors of the United States, and that of that amount more than $5,000,000 are for the Mississippi river alone. Doubtless, too, they are rightfully concerned in knowing how this money is spent; and all they have to do is to wait patiently three or four years and then send to Washington for the official report. After this they may, possibly, by dint of strong application to arithmetical problems, get some satisfactory idea. Or, if they choose, they can wait till some newspaper genius explodes his fertile intellect on the subject and paints his figures in popular colors, or assumes a new scale of enumeration so as to render his results intelligible to the average of the reading community. But as this work has not been done yet, nor the money expended, we may safely allow this question to rest for a time.

However, the work is in progress, and the banks of the Mississippi are to be the scene of many engineering enterprises for a long time to come, even a superficial account of which would require very accurate information, and would be very long and tedious. Hence you correspondent sees two reasons why he should not attempt to write such an account. First, he does not possess the accurate information; and, second, the article might crowd out of your columns some political notices or campaign notes on the "Crushing defeat in Ohio," and be otherwise a bore to the readers of the HERALD. But as the work of a survey party usually attaches to it more or less interest for everybody, he will endeavor to show what such a party is doing here on the Mississippi, between the States of Illinois and Iowa.

At the outset it may be stated with advantage that the supervision of the entire work of improving the Mississippi was placed a few years ago by Congress under the control of the Mississippi River Commission. This commission has its headquarters in St. Louis, and is composed of a corps of our army officers. They immediately commenced a thorough survey of the channel, which is still in progress. From time to time different kinds of surveying parties were sent out; some to run lines of levels, some to do triangulation, some to do sounding, and still others to make a topographical survey. With all the information thus obtained, accurate maps of the river channel are made. These maps show the course of the river, the direction and velocity of the current and rate of fall; also the character of the river-bed, as regards position of bars, islands, shoals and other obstructions. All the information useful in any degree whatever is obtained and recorded.

The work that our party is engaged on is that of a continuous line of levels from the Gulf of Mexico to Chicago and to St. Paul, and of establishing a series of permanent bench marks along the river at various points. It is a sort of preliminary work, and forms a ground-work for the more complete surveys that are to follow. The elevation of all these bench marks and all other points connected with are referred to the sea level. So, when we reach Chicago, the elevation of Lake Michigan will be ascertained. This elevation has been previously found by a line run from the sea level by way of New York and the other lakes. In this manner a very valuable check on our work will be secured.

Our party is at present located at Muscatine, Iowa; it numbers thirteen men and is under charge of Mr. J. R. Johnson, U. S. Assistant Engineer, and a graduate of our Michigan University. The party is divided into two divisions and run two instruments, each taking six men. There is the leveler who runs the instrument and reads the rods by means of his telescope; the recorder, who records the observations in the field-book and makes the computations; the two rodmen, a man to drive pins, and a man to carry umbrellas. The thirteenth man is employed in setting the permanent bench marks. The method of leveling employed is called precise levels; it is a foreign invention, devised by a joint French and Swiss commission appointed for the purpose. The elevations are all taken in the Metric system, the rods being graduated to centimeters. Many precautions are taken to prevent even the smallest errors from entering the results of the work. The foresights and backsights are kept equal to correct atmospheric refraction. To prevent settling of the rods, they are set on iron pins driven in the ground, and to keep them perfectly plumb the rodman uses a spirit level which is attached to his rod. The instrument is protected from slight disturbance by umbrellas, one to keep the wind from the tripod legs, and a second to keep the sun's rays from putting the instrument out of adjustment by the unequal expansion of its parts. Each reading on the rods is triplicated and the mean of these is used in the computations. The work is stopped as soon as the condition of sun or wind renders the air very unsteady. And besides all these precautions, the whole line is twice run, and the mean of the two results is finally taken. Then we usually begin at about sunrise, when the air is still and the sun not warm enough to cause much trouble, and run about a mile and then back again to the point of starting; and the work often closes to one-hundredth of an inch. In the afternoon, towards evening, a similar stretch is run and checked; so that on the average both parties push the line up the river at the rate of about three miles per day. We shall stop for the winter at a point about forty miles above Rock Island, and there the work will begin again next spring and be carried forward to completion.

"YELLOW PETE."

A gentleman well known in Pittsburgh, Pa., had business relations in the West Indies, and went over to give the matter his personal supervision and attention. He there contracted a bilious [illegible] and his liver was in such a state of torpidity that it was utterly incapable of performing its functions. He tried many means to bring it back to a healthy condition and restore the system to a state of activity, but without success, until one day he was fortunate enough to have Burdock Blood Bitters recommended, and now his health is entirely restored. Read what was his experience. It speaks for itself: "After spending a few years in Jamaica I returned to this country, about played out physically. My complexion was so changed that they used to call me Yellow Pete. I traveled much and tried everything I could think of to act upon the liver, but nothing seemed to do me any good, until one day I happened to hear of Burdock Blood Bitters. I tried it, and consider there is nothing like it. My sallow complexion is gone, and it has toned up the weak spots in my system generally."

PETER L. COLLINS,
Pittsburgh, Pa.

Such is Mr. Collins' experience, which is corroborated by hundreds of other unsolicited testimonials equally as reliable, proving that Burdock Blood Bitters now supplies a want long needed and that as a remedy for acting upon the blood, the liver, and the kidneys, it is simply peerless.

Sold by all druggists.

Farrand, Williams & Co., wholesale druggists, Detroit, Mich.

The Port Huron Times consoles itself by reflecting that now the city has a United States senator and a congressman and that the district was represented for seven consecutive terms by a Port Huron man before he became senator.

The democrats of Traverse City had a jollification Friday night, and during the festivities they hauled out an old home made cannon, and at the second discharge it burst. An old man named Peter Gaverick had an arm fractured by one of the fragments of the gun and will probably lose the member.

Martin S. Cole, of Battle Creek, is the champion suicider, but after all is a bungler in the business. He has tried it four times and the last attempt may prove fatal.

How often persons have been annoyed by burrs clinging to their dress or clothing, and how seldom have they, when cleaning them, given it a thought that Burdock Root is the most valuable blood cleanser and purifier known, and is sold by every druggist under the name of Burdock Blood Bitters. Price $1,00.

What maintains one vice would bring up two children.

After Eight Long Years.

C. C. Jacobs, 78 Folsom Street, Buffalo, writes that for eight long years he had tried every known remedy to cure him of piles, also had been treated by physicians without success, when he was ultimately cured by Thomas' Eclectric Oil.

A court without ladies would be a year without a spring.

Visible Improvement,

Mr. Noah Bates, Elmira, N. Y., writes: "About four years ago I had an attack of billious fever, and never fully recovered. My digestive organs were weakened and I would be completely prostrated for days. After using two bottles of your Burdock Blood Bitters the improvement was so visible that I was astonished. I can now, though 61 years of age, do a fair and reasonable day's work. Price $1.00.

A Van Buren county paper says that recently a company of six or eight ministers met at a village in that county to examine and ordain a man for the ministry. They did not ordain him however, but reported that while they acknowledged his great intellectual ability, had the utmost confidence in his religious experience, and believed he had been called of God to preach the gospel—yet his mind had such imaginative proclivities, that they thought best to defer his ordination for six months, until these tendencies took visible shape.

OUR NEW

FALL STOCK

—OF—

HEAVY DRAPERIES

is rapidly coming in, and is well worthy of your attention. We make up

Long Curtains,

Portieres,

Valances,

—AND—

MANTLE LAMBREQUINS,

All in the Latest Styles and of the Newest materials.

We give special attention to Interior Decorations and ask the favor of a call from those thinking of such improvements.

STERLING & CO.,

196 & 198 Summit Street,

TOLEDO, OHIO.

NOW

IS THE TIME TO BUY.

KIES BROTHERS!

MAMMOTH STOCK

—OF—

WINTER

CLOTHING,

Must be sold by JANUARY 1st.

NOW FOR BARGAINS.

Now is the time to Clothe your Boys.

Remember that our Stock of

FURNISHING GOODS,

HATS AND CAPS

Can not be Beat.

KIES BROS.,

ONE PRICE CLOTHIERS,

Mills Block. TECUMSEH, MICH.

LEE'S

LEE

Is going to move to BATTLE CREEK

January 1st.

ENTIRE STOCK OF

BOOTS & SHOES

TO BE SOLD AT

20 PER CENT. OFF.

SALE TO BEGIN

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 16,

And continue until the entire stock is disposed of.

STORE TO RENT.

Terms STRICTLY CASH. All goods marked in plain figures.

REMEMBER THE PLACE!!

HEWITT'S BLOCK.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

LOST.

Last Saturday, a gold anchor with loose bar, from a child's necklace. JAS. GLASGOW.

WANTED.

To Rent—a room, or suit of rooms. Must be furnished nicely. Address, at once,
BOARDER, P. O. Box 85.

DISSOLUTION NOTICE.

The firm of KENNEDY & Co., heretofore transacting an Agricultural Implement business in the village of Tecumseh, is this day dissolved by mutual consent, A. A. Kennedy retiring. The books and accounts will be left with W. N. Snedicor & Co., for settlement, who will continue the business at the old stand. KENNEDY & CO.

Tecumseh, Nov. 1st, 1882.

NOTICE.

I have this day bought out the interest of A. A. Kennedy in the Agricultural Implement business, and shall continue to do business at the old stand, in Lee's Block. Thanking my patrons for the trade in the past, I hope, by square and honorable dealing, to merit a continuance of the same.
W. N. SNEDICOR & CO.

TECUMSEH, Michigan, Nov. 1st, 1882.

A BARGAIN.

Contemplating a change in business, I now offer for sale my MEAT MARKET, complete, lease of location, machinery, consisting of Steam Sausage Cutter, Engine, Meat Blocks Refrigerator, Slaughter Houses, etc., in all one of the most complete markets in Southern Michigan. Also my HOUSE AND LOT on Kilbuck street, ice house and ice business, horses, wagons, sleighs, etc. For terms and particulars inquire of J. W. COLE.

POULTRY AND CLOVER SEED.

Take your poultry and clover seed to L. D. Dewey of Raisin Valley, as he pays a dollar a hundred more than any shipper in town, and will do it all winter. Take in every day.

SHEEP FOR SALE.

17 fine wool bucks.
BURT MORLEY.

FOR SALE.

Business calling me in another direction, I offer my place for sale cheap. Said premises consist of two acres of land, a good house, new barn, well, cistern, etc. Just outside of corporation.
S. H. SMITH,
Chicago street west.

FOR SALE.

A new parlor suit for sale very cheap. Enquire at the Exchange hotel. J. H. EMERY.

TO RENT.

A good house to rent in a desirable location.
JAMES MONTAGUE.

FOR SALE.

80 acres of good land situated 3 miles Southeast Tecumseh on section 1 in Raisin. For particulars enquire of C. D. BILLS

NOTICE.

All persons indebted to the late firm of KENNEDY & Co. are requested to call on W. N. Snedicer & Co., immediately, and settle, as the books must be balanced W. N. SNEDICOR & CO.

EYE AND EAR SURGERY.

Dr. R. D. Tipple, Eye and Ear Surgeon, 307 Superior street, Toledo, treats all diseases of the eye, ear, throat and nose both medically and surgically, upon scientific principles, inserts artificial eyes, adjusts spectacles, &c. Special attention given to straightening cross-eyes and removing cataracts. Consultations free.

Pensions.

Old claims completed; new claims filed. Claims for additional and increase pension, for bounty and back pay, for removal of charges of desertion under act August 7, 1882 and all other classes of soldiers' claims prosecuted promptly. Send stamp for circulars and questioning blanks.

LOUIS K. GILLSON,
War Claim and Pension Attorney,
97-99 Metropolitan Block, Chicago, Ill.
930 4½ St., Washington, D. C.

N. B.—I will be at No. 12 Kanter Block, Detroit, Mich., December 5, 6, and 7, and will be glad to meet any soldiers having unsettled claims.
LOUIS K. GILLSON, Pension Attorney

TELEPHONIC communication is now established between Jackson and Tecumseh via. Ann Arbor. The line works well and messages are readily sent between this place and Jackson.

"No; she lingered and suffered along, pining away all the time, for years, the doctors doing her no good; and at last was cured by this Hop Bitters the papers say so much about. Indeed! indeed! how thankful we should be for that medicine."

Card of Thanks.

We extend our heartfelt thanks to all who were so kind to us in our recent affliction.

MR. & MRS. ANDREW WUTTING.

Auction Sale.

E. Riegle will sell at auction on the Potter farm, ¾ mile south of Wooden's corners, Cambridge, on Thursday, Nov. 23, 1882, at 12 M., the following property: 2 work horses, 3 year old heifer, 2 yearling steers, 5 fat hogs, 4 pigs, cow, lumber wagon, set double harness, fanning mill, plow, cultivator, spring-tooth drag, 175 bushels of corn, 18 bush. potatoes, 3 tons of hay, cook stove, parlor stove, household furniture, farming utensils, &c., &c. Usual terms. Ben Reynolds, auc.

Notice to My Customers.

I have rented my east yard and sold my mill, and I have since erected an office and shed room east of brick residence on Shawnee street, between Railroad and Pearl streets. I shall keep a full stock of lumber, lath, shingle, coal, sash, doors, blinds and other building materials. Being nearer the railroad and having good facilities for handling lumber, I am prepared to sell cheaper than the cheapest. Hoping to receive a fair share of your patronage, I remain

Yours respectfully,
SAMUEL W. TEMPLE.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

TECUMSEH, MICH. NOV. 16, 1882.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

PREPARE for Thanksgiving.

THE dancing season is now upon us.

THE next thing of importance will be the fellow with the tax roll.

THE T. & M. railroad company now owns the road from Allegan to Monteith.

THE last day of this month will be Thanksgiving Day. Bring on our turkey.

BELL'S Brilliants played to a good house last Saturday evening, and gave satisfaction to those present.

DR. MEEKER has sold his farm just north of the village to Wm. Anderson who takes possession next spring.

THE Deerfield Record of the 10th says S. C. Blinn has finally concluded to locate his stave works at Alma, Gratiot county.

ELL HAND has traded his two houses on Brown street for a farm situated near Deerfield, and is to take possession April 1, 1883.

GOV. JEROME'S plurality in this county over Begole is 86. Begole's and Sagendorph's vote combined leaves Jerome in a minority of 534.

LEVI L. BARBOUR, ESQ., of Detroit, was in town last Friday on business. He was feeling particularly happy over Maybury's election to Congress.

BREAD and butter is what we are all most anxious about—the butter especially. It is almost out of reach now, and it is said to be going higher.

IT is growing altogether too frigid for his gooseship. Large flocks of geese are flying southward and the old inhabitant prophesies cold weather.

A DISPATCH has been received at Adrian from the sheriff of El Paso county, Texas, stating that he had captured Navin, Adrian's fugitive ex-mayor.

OUR merchants are making special efforts this year for the holiday trade. The best goods are being brought into the market, and there will be great varieties to select from.

REV. R. S. PARDINGTON will begin a series of Bible readings, in the lecture room of the M. E. Church, this evening. These meetings are open to all lovers of the Bible. Bring your Bibles.

"What station is this?" asked a lady passenger of an English tourist near by. Looking out of the window and reading a sign on the fence, he replied: "Rough on Rats, I guess, mum." —The Eye.

REMEMBER the lecture on "Superstition," at the M. E. Church, Friday evening, Nov. 17th, by Rev. R. S. Pardington, for the benefit of the "Rosario Home," in South America. Tickets 15 cents.

FULL returns on members of the legislature in this state give the following result: Senate, democrats 13, republicans 19. House, democrats 38, republicans 61, Tied 1. Republican majority on joint ballot 29.

THE GARDENER'S MONTHLY for November is on our table, and it contains its usual variety of interesting and useful matter for the horticulturist. Send to Chas. H. Marot, 814 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, for a copy.

GEO. TANSLEY, A. W. Slayton's Funeral Director, is attending a school in Philadelphia, Pa., studying anatomy and chemical embalming. During his absence, Mr. Slayton has engaged a man to take his place.

THE directors of the Nickel Plate met in New York last Tuesday. Two members of the old board retired and Genr Devereaux and Judge Burke were chosen to take their places. No change will be made in the officers of the road.

Morenci Observer: Martin Schomp, one of the pioneers of Fairfield, died of dropsy on Thursday of last week.—He was one of the industrious and respected citizens of the township. He was seventy-eight years of age at the time of his decease.

GROVER CLEVELAND'S head is still level. When asked by a Herald reporter whether the recent victory meant a victory also in 1884, he replied: "That will depend on whether the Democrats can show the country that their present success means reform of abuses and good government."

Deerfield Record: Frank Atwell, a young farmer of South Riga, was killed by a falling tree while chopping in his woods on Wednesday. The tree in falling had lodged and in trying to disengage it a large limb broke and falling to the ground struck Atwell, breaking his jaws and crushing his chest.

NORTHERN Lenawee is somewhat noted, for the frequency of auction sales within its borders, but the sale of Reynolds & Silvers' livery stock eclipsed anything of the kind ever held in these parts. Banker Rothchild was bought by Ben Reynolds and the building by Anthony & Boyd. The entire sales reached over $9,000.

REV. R. S. PARDINTON will preach on "Enoch, the incorruptible man," next Sabbath evening, in the M. E. Church.

LON CHAPMAN came home from the east Tuesday. He reports a good time and says there was an election down in Connecticut this fall as well as in Michigan.

THE annual election of the Lenawee County Farmers' Mutual Ins. Co. was held on Monday last. The old officers were all re-elected except one director, C. L. Lowe, of Ridgeway, was chosen to succeed Cyrus Mead. There are now 4621 members enrolled, an increase of 140 during the past year.

ROBERT MCCLELLAND, the last democratic governor of Michigan, was elected in 1852, and the vote stood thus: McClelland, dem., 42,798; Chandler, whig, 34,660; Christiancy, free soiler, 5,350; total vote of the state 83,308. Last year the total vote of the state aggregated 349,039; quite a perceptible increase.

CHET BROWNSON, of Clinton, is having more than his share of ill luck lately. Last Thursday he received a telegram that his brother, Clark G. Brownson, of Jackson, had burst a blood-vessel, while piling lumber, and was dead. Chet went up to attend the funeral and brought home with him Clark's son, Johnny, who will find a home hereafter at his uncle Chet's.

THE Toledo Telegram, of last Monday says: "It seems that the Ohio Central syndicate is pushing its Allegan extension as rapidly as possible to a connection with the Chicago and West Michigan system. It will be a valuable lumber feeder for the Ohio Central. They have bought the old right of way of the Toledo and Milwaukee railroad."

OUR stock of Christmas Cards is arriving from different places this week and about Dec. 1st we shall place them on sale. The stock consists of a fine collection of Prang's cards, and among them all the prize cards. In all we shall show the finest line of Holiday Cards ever on sale in Lenawee, and we invite the public generally to call and see them.

STACY BROTHERS.

THE Boys' Guild, of St. Peter's Church, will have for sale at the Opera House, on Thanksgiving day, domestic canned fruits, jellies, and many other goodies. Likewise in their booth will be presented various novelties. Save your money, patronize us, and we will give you bargains. Don't forget the Ladies' Fair and entertainment at the same time and place. B. G., ST. P.

HOLIDAY presents are annually sought for. But it is often difficult to find appropriate and inexpensive articles of real value, that will be kept, used and appreciated by a friend. Among these we would make favorable mention of the Noyes Dictionary Holders and Noyes Handy Tables. Apply to L. W. Noyes, 99 West Monroe St., Chicago, for an illustrated circular and greatly reduced prices.

IT will be seen by reference to our advertising columns that our enterprising boot and shoe dealer, Harry Lee, has decided to close out his entire stock in Tecumseh with the intention of moving to Battle Creek in January next. We are sorry to lose Harry but our loss will be Battle Creek's gain, and the citizens of that town will find him a thorough, drive-ahead, business man.

LAST Monday evening the jollification meeting was addressed by Col. Eldridge, J. L. O'Mealy and Willard Stearns, all of Adrian. A good crowd was in attendance, and the Democrats and Greenbackers seemed all to feel good, and appeared to come as naturally by the feeling as if it was not the first time in a number of years. The Springville band furnished good music, and all in all the meeting was a success.

COMPANY No. 1, playing 'The Lights o' London,' under the management of Mr. Collier, with all the magnificent scenery, properties and mechanical effects used at the Union Square Theatre, New York, will be presented at the Opera House, Adrian, on Friday and Saturday evenings, Nov. 17th and 18th. It is said to be one of the strongest sensational dramas the season has produced, and is a succession of pictures, made wonderfully real, and upon a scale of magnificence never before attempted by a travelling combination. We understand that quite a number of Tecumseh people intend witnessing the play.

A RECENT number of the Ohio State Journal, of Columbus, says: "Mr. A. W. Scott, attorney for the Ohio Central railroad, was in the city yesterday, and filed the certificate of incorporation for the Toledo & Michigan railroad, which is for the northern extension of the Ohio Central into the lumber districts of Michigan, so that the coal cars will have something to haul on their return from the northwest. This company has recently completed its extension from Corning to the Ohio and Charleston, and will soon be open for business from the northwest to the seaboard, being a trunk line between the east and the northwest."

Edey's Carbolic Troches cure colds and prevent disease.

THANKS to Theo. Lowe, of Ellicottville, for copies of western New York papers.

IT is probable that the amendment increasing the Judges' salaries is adopted, and that the other amendments are defeated.

DR. HAYSE receives fresh oysters every day; and you can depend on getting the best from him in any style, either by can or dish.

THE majorities in this county ranged from 1346 one way to 682 the other way, giving a total of at least 2028 voters who split. But many voters split on other candidates than these two.—It is probable that 3,000 split tickets were cast in this county at the last election.

To the Public.

Being desirous of closing out my finished Monuments and Headstones, to make room for winter stock, I will offer at greatly reduced prices, at my works in Tecumseh and Clinton, over one hundred Headstones and sixteen Monuments. The public in general, whether they intend purchasing or not, are invited to pay us a visit and examine the work, which is all new and of superior finish, and be convinced of the extreme low prices which will be offered.

S. F. MARSTELLER.

The First District.

We give below the result in the first representative district in this county. Jerome carried the same towns by 103 majority:

Town.	Howell.	Bradner.	Moore.
Blissfield	259	193	5
Clinton	176	168	.....
Deerfield	146	171	.....
Macon	207	72	5
Ogden	175	77	49
Palmyra	205	143	28
Raisin	181	155	21
Ridgeway	115	130	.....
Riga	100	158	.....
Tecumseh	361	272	15
	1,925	1,539	123

THE OFFICIAL VOTE.

The Board of Canvassers met at the county seat last Tuesday and counted the votes cast at the late election.

Below are the pluralities received by each successful candidate voted for in the county. The highest number of votes polled for any was 10,900 for Auditor General.

Governor—
David H. Jerome	86
Lieut. Governor—
Moreau S. Crosby	307
Secretary of State—
Harry A. Conant	278
State Treasurer—
Edward H. Butler	298
Auditor General—
William C. Stevens	292
Commiss'er of Land Office—
Minor S. Newell	304
Attorney General—
Jacob J. Van Riper	268
Supt. of Pub. Instruction—
Varnum B. Cochran	360
Member Board of Education—
Bela W. Jenks	296
Congressman—
Nathaniel B. Eldridge	682
State Senator—
Brackley Shaw	47
Rep., First District—
George Howell	381
Rep., Second District—
David A. Bixby	149
Rep., Third District—
John U. Harkness	82
Sheriff—
Charles Bidwell	1,346
County Clerk—
Thomas M. Hunter	1,084
County Treasurer—
Jay Hoag	138
Register of Deeds—
Avery A. Dolbear	403
Prosecuting Attorney—
Lester H. Salsbury	415
Circuit Court Commissioner—
Frank R. Payne	530
James W. Helme, Jr.	27
County Surveyor—
James Blair	380
Coroners—
Harlow H. Seaver	240
Dayton Parker	334
AMENDMENTS.
General Revision—Yes	899
No	1,577
Judges' Salaries—Yes	2,392
No	2,542
County Auditors—Yes	828
No	1,995

Col. Eldridge's majority in the Second Congressional district is 468. The highest Prohibition vote cast was 574 for Sagendorph for Governor, John H. Osborn following with 510 votes for Auditor General. The average Prohibition vote on State ticket was 490.

The vote on the Court House Tax is given in detail below.

Adrian City:	For.	Against.
First Ward	504	5
Second "	666	7
Third "	414	11
Fourth "	462	12
Adrian	296	174
Blissfield	102	236
Cambridge	85	72
Clinton	145	59
Deerfield	93	57
Dover	190	50
Fairfield	187	14
Franklin	101	138
Hudson	149	169
Macon	115	126
Madison	189	28
Medina	149	134
Ogden	107	38
Palmyra	159	68
Raisin	169	52
Ridgeway	49	143
Riga	107	54
Rollin	122	58
Rome	215	49
Seneca	62	440
Tecumseh	168	130
Woodstock	77	152
	5082	2473

Majority for the tax, 2,069.

FARMERS' CLUB.

The first meeting of the season of the Farmers' Social Club met at J. W. Gillespie's instead of Mr. Everhart's, as was announced.

The meeting opened very favorably, the attendance being large, and every one prepared with the part assigned.

The recitation, The Farm-yard song, by Ellen Fisher, was very finely rendered.

The reports by John Fisher, R. B. Gillespie and E. L. Russell were listened to with interest.

The next meeting of the Club will be held at Jacob Everhart's Friday evening, Nov. 17th.

PROGRAMME.

Music.
Select Reading.....Mrs. Fisher.
Instrumental Music...Anna Everhart.
Recitation.....Nellie Rogers.
Vocal and Instrumental Music.
Essay, Flowers.....Mrs. Fred. Waldron.
Charade.
Discussion upon feeding and marketing hogs, led by A. B. Gillespie.

WHEAT REPORTS.

John Fisher's wheat was of different varieties and sowed at different times. Field No. 1 was stubble, contained 26 acres, sowed the 6th and 7th of Sept., averaged 30 bushels per acre. No. 2—46 acres, sowed 8th and 9th of Sept., average 25 bushels per acre. No. 3—13 acres, sowed Sept. 14th and 15th Sept., average 27½ bushels per acre. No. 4—8 acres, sowed 22d Sept., average 24 bushels per acre. Whole number of acres, 63; whole crop, 1,731 bushels; average per acre, 272 bushels.

The last two fields were corn ground. Clawson and Egyptian were the principal varieties. He was asked if he could see any difference between fallow and corn ground in regard to yield. Could not. Was asked if he plowed summer fallow twice. Preferred to plow but once and thoroughly cultivate. Plows about 8 inches deep; uses the roller once or twice, then loosens the top with cultivator and harrow, as he wants the bottom compact and the top loose and mellow; thinks it stands the winter better with a compact bottom.

R. B. Gilespie's—plat No. 1—was a wheat stubble, plowed in August; 7 inches deep, rolled, harrowed and pulverized with spring-tooth cultivator, then drilled the 5th and 6th of Sept.; 1½ bushels seed per acre; seed, Clawson and Lothrop mixed. No 2, corn ground—strips cut and sown, then the corn shocked on the strips; went ahead of drill with spring-tooth drag; drilled at intervals from 12th to 20th of Sept.; amount of seed per acre, 1½ bushels.

These two plats contained 17 acres, yielding 1,000 bushels; average, 21 1-17 per acre.

No. 3—10 acres of sod; plowed in July and August, 8 inches deep, ground thoroughly packed, sowed with Clawson and Lothrop mixed, 44 quarts to the acre; drilled the 9th Sept.; yield 300 bushels; average, 30 bushels per acre.

Mr. Gillespie was asked what his object was in rolling twice on sandy soil. He wished to make the soil compact and wanted only about two inches of loose soil on top.

E. L. Russell: In 1882 we commenced harvesting July 13th, finished July 22d, having harvested 62 acres; 12½ acres were clover sod; 24 acres wheat stubble upon the farm at home, 9½ acres wheat stubble upon clay soil (a wood lot two miles from home), and 16 acres purchased in the spring of the Schofield estate. It was all secured in stacks and barns in good condition, within a few days after cutting. Threshed the last of August; the total yield, 1,452 bushels, machine measure; average a little less than 23½ bushels per acre. The 16 acres upon the Schofield estate was gravelly soil, and had been repeatedly stubbled in; was of the Clawson variety; average per acre, 17½ bushels. The 24 acres of stubble at home was sandy, gravelly soil, and was not plowed very long before seeding. The ground was cultivated, dragged, rolled and then drilled from the 10th to the 15th of Sept., with Missouri and Delhi wheat mixed, 1½ bushels seed per acre. This field had no manure with the exception of a small portion which was well manured with good stable manure. It was all well fertilized with salt and plaster in the spring. The field was not in a proper condition for a full crop, but was sown for the sake of seeding to clover. The yield was 19 bushels per acre.

The 13 acres of clover sod was gravelly soil, plowed in June and July, repeatedly cultivated, dragged and rolled, then drilled the 8th and 9th of Sept., with Missouri wheat, 1½ bushels per acre. The yield of this field, 40 bushels per acre. The 10 acres on clay soil was wheat stubble (the second crop on the field), was plowed as soon as the wheat was harvested, thoroughly worked with pulverizer, cultivator, drag and roller, and drilled both ways with ¾ bushels seed per acre, each way, from the 5th to the 8th of Sept., with Missouri wheat, yield 23 bushels per acre. The yield per acre is according to machine measure, which will increase the average considerably when weighed.

Mr. Russell was asked why he called his wheat "Missouri?" Because he procured it from the Missouri Agricultural College; sent for Delhi, but they sent a red wheat. Was asked if he considered it profitable? He did. Had harvested three crops, and this fall sowed his entire ground with this variety. He does not think fertilizers a paying investment.

The gentlemen considered clover plowed under the best preparation for wheat.

Mr. R. R. Hall invariably plows under clover, mows first, then lets it grow up as large as it can, keeping all stock from it, then would stubble in once. By so doing had an average of 30 bushels per acre for six successive crops.

MRS. F. C. RECTOR, Sec'y.

POST-ELECTION COMMENTS.

Some of the Observations, Wise and Otherwise, of our Michigan Exchanges.

Hillsdale Leader: The Republican Party. (Cut of a coffin.) Resurrection A. D. 1884. All are invited. The comet's tail must have struck this country last Tuesday.

Cadillac News: Complete! That was the kind of rout given the Republicans on Tuesday.

Lansing Journal: The people have smashed the machine.

Coldwater Republican: We're left.

Ann Arbor Courier: We are not advertising poultry shows at the head of our columns this week.

Battle Creek Republican: A Democratic deluge.

Owosso Press: The "Unholy Alliance" has shown that "Anybody can't carry Michigan."

Monroe Democrat: Not a tidal wave, but a perfect hurricane!

Marshall Statesman: The Ohio storm is a zephyr compared with the political tornado that swept over the country last Tuesday.

Morenci Observer: We hardly need go into details of the great Sodom and Gomorrah overthrow of the Republicans last Tuesday.

Blissfield Advance: Gone to smash.

North Branch Gazette: The Democrat candidates all made a home run in this village last Tuesday, and not a Republican got to first base.

Hillsdale Democrat: The editor of the "Organ" has packed his grip-sack and fled to the mountains of Hepsidam, where he shall gnaw a file and where the lion roareth and the whaligdoodle mourneth for its first-born.

Grand Haven Herald: Where, oh where, were the children of Israel on election day? A land-slide. In other words, the Republican majorities slide out.

Hudson Gazette: A revolution from ocean to ocean.

Adrian Press: Begolly! Here's for Michigan! Bang, bang, boom, b-a-n-g!

Livingston Republican: Bob Ingersoll has the matter about right when he says that one great cause of the general Republican defeat, just suffered, is that the party has too many politicians and too few statesmen.

Hillsdale Standard: That was only the tail of the comet that struck Ohio. The whole business gave us a rap on Tuesday last.

BROTHER ALLEN, of the Morenci Observer, asserts that some of the old democratic stayers, who have been hanging on to the party and life, waiting for a democratic victory, now feel like good old Simeon: "Now lettest thou thy servant depart in peace, for mine eyes have seen thy salvation."

—We have a five years' lease of the lumber yard on Shawnee street, near the depot, besides being the sole owners of the Planing Mill and Sash and Door factory, corner of Pearl and Shawnee streets, formerly owned by S. W. Temple. We have come to stay, to do an honest, legitimate business, and cordially invite the people to call on us and make our acquaintance. We are bound to please.

Respectfully,
TECUMSEH LUMBER CO.

—Parties wishing floral decorations for weddings, funerals or other uses, will be promptly supplied by leaving orders with J. J. Orr, at Wright's drug store. Elmer D. Smith.

—The Tecumseh Lumber Co. having purchased the entire property, real estate included, formerly known as the S. W. Temple Planing and Matching Mill, are now prepared to manufacture all kinds of Sash, Doors, Blinds and Mouldings, and do matching of any description. Come and see us

—One of the best blood purifiers ever made is "King of the Blood." Sold by Druggists generally. Manufactured by D. Ransom Son & Co. Buffalo, N. Y.

—Leave your orders for Sash, Doors, blinds, mouldings, window frames, tanks, troughs, etc., etc., with the Tecumseh Lumber Co. They will receive prompt attention.

—Those wishing ornamental Hair Jewelry, for Holiday gifts, should call on Mrs. C. M. Webster, one door north of the Presbyterian church.

—Call at the yard and mill of the Tecumseh Lumber Co., and examine their stock.

—Call at my residence, one door north of the Presbyterian church, and see samples of Ornamental Hair Jewelry. MRS. C. M. WEBSTER.

—My business is such I am unable to leave Tecumseh. Clinton patrons please call on me at home.
Brown, the Photographer.

DIED.

RAYMOND.—In Sorrento, Fla., Oct. 27th, Maria, wife of Daniel Raymond, formerly of Raisin, aged 65 years.

LODGES AND SOCIETIS

TECUMSEH LODGE, NO. 14, I. O. O. F

REGULAR MEETINGS every Tuesday Evening at their Lodge Room over Brewer's Store Chicago Street

J. W. WOODEN, N. G.

EDWIN HODGES, Sec.

Railroad Time Tables.

L. S. and M. S RAILROAD.

TRAINS GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS	No. 15. Mail.	No. 17. Express.	No. 43 Accom.
Jackson	6 50 a m	2 40 p m	1 40 p m
Napoleon	7 40 "	3 05 "	2 30 "
Morrell	7 10 "	3 34 "	3 00 "
Manchester	7 30 "	3 50 "	3 0 "
Clinton	7 45 "	3 48 "	4 10 "
Tecumseh	7 55 "	4 00 "	4 30 "
Adrian	8 30 "	4 37 "	5 20 "
Deerfield	10 30 "	7 10 "
Toledo	9 50 "	5 25 "

TRAINS GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	No. 16. Mail.	No. 18. Express	No. 44. Accom.
Toledo	9 20 a m	5 40 p m
Deerfield	10 50 "	8 25 "
Adrian	11 40 "	9 20 "	8 10 a m
Clinton	12 14 p m	9 57 "	8 25 "
Tecumseh	12 22 "	10 07 "	7 30 "
Manchester	12 40 "	10 30 "	8 25 "
Morrell	12 50 "	10 45 "	9 05 "
Napoleon	1 03 "	10 58 "	9 25 "
Jackson	1 30 "	11 20 "	10 20 "

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Coupon tickets can now be procured at this station over best Routes, to all principal cities in the U. S.

W. S. SATTERTHWAITE, Ticket Agent

Post Office, Tecumseh, Michigan

MAILS CLOSE.

Eastern and Detroit—morning mail ... 8 A M
Northern and Detroit, via Jackson ... 11 10 A M
Eastern and Detroit ... P M

OVERLAND.

Ripon, Springville Cambridge & Brook (on Mondays, Wednesdays, Fridays) ...
Ridgeway—daily ... P M
Lake Ridge, daily ...
Macon, daily ... 12 00 M

ARRIVALS.

Northern Mail ... 7 55 A M
Eastern Mail ... 12 10 P M 9 37 P M

Office hours from 7 A. M. to 7 30 P. M., Sundays from 9 to 10 A. M.

FIELD ROSACRANS P.M.

For the Latest Styles of Buggies

SLEIGHS AND ROBES

LOWEST CASH PRICES

J. H. MILLS

WM. HAYNORD

General Auctioneer.

All auction business entrusted to his care will receive prompt attention.

TECUMSEH, - MICHIGAN

BEN REYNOLDS,

Licensed Auctioneer,

ALL AUCTION BUSINESS

promptly

TECUMSEH, MICH.

B. F STEINHOFF'S

Dental Rooms.

OVERBAKER & HALLS.

GAS FOR EXTRACTING.

THE LOWEST PRICES for THE BEST WORK

LOOSE'S EXTRACT

RED CLOVER BLOSSOM,

The Great Blood Purifier

PURE AND HARMLESS

Cures Scrofula in all its forms Cancer, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Rheumatism and all other blood and skin diseases, and regulates the bowels. $1 per pint bottle.

Loose's Red Clover Pills remedy certain, speedy, cheap.

Loose's Red Clover Pills cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Constipation. They act on the liver and kidneys. In boxes of 25 pill 25c., 5 boxes $1.

For sale by all druggists, or address J. M. Loose, & Co., Monroe, Mich. Send for circular.

I have removed my

BLACKSMITH SHOP

To the old stand of J. H. Mills, On Logan Street,

Opposite Hayden's Warehouse, where I have better facilities than ever for doing good work.

Horse Shoeing a specialty

ED. ROWLAND.

Tearing Down Mountains.

How the Northern Pacific R. R. is Driving the Iron Horse Through Montana.

Mingling with the roar of the falls, a mile or so above this point, I hear the heavy boom or sharp, Parrot-gun-like crack of the blast fired by Hallett's army of railway laborers, now within a few miles of this point, and approaching with a speed heretofore unknown in the era of railroad building. Hundreds of men are scattered in the woods on this side of the river getting out timber for false work of the bridge that is to span Clark's Fork here. The river banks and barges for pile driving fairly swarm with workmen getting these timbers into position, and the "bosses" are really confident that they will have a temporary crossing ready by the time Hallett's graders can get here. I very much doubt it, for the last heavy through-rock cut has been made, five miles east of Rock Island, and when what is known here as the "big blast" tote away a mountain the chief difficulty was overcome and the force surged ahead like a released racer.

Following with the eye the small dark line on which the map represents the route of the Northern Pacific around the head waters of Pen d'Oreille, and along rugged Clark's Fork, one has no conception of what the construction of such a railway means. Going over the profiles in the chief of subordinate engineer's office there comes a better idea and realization, but one must ride over the completed track, or watch the thousands of men at work in these rock-ribbed hills, see the deep cuttings, the immense fillings, count the bridges and miles of trestle-work that carry the trains safely over streams and arms of lakes and inlets, to fairly realize the expenditure of muscle, directed by skill and executive ability, necessary for such a work as building a great railway route through this mountainous country.

At places, for instance a point near Cabinet Landing, to the men who do the labor, and even the subordinate leaders, the passage seems closed against them. The mountain towers like a prop to the sky, and from the water's edge it rises like a wall, presenting no break or crevice for a foot-hold. Discouraged the men make a halt, and word goes back to the chief that nature has raised an insurmountable barrier—"the work cannot be done." The reply is: "It must be done," and Hallett comes to see it done. By and by cable ropes holding a plank staging go down the precipitous side of the mountain. Down rope ladders to this staging clamber Chinamen armed with drills, and soon the rock sides are filled with giant powder. Then they clamber up, the blast is fired, and the foothold made by the explosive soon swarms with Celestials; the "can't be done" has been done, and man's skill, energy and perseverance have triumphed. And so this work has progressed in spite of the rigors of last winter, combined with the huge obstructions nature threw in the way.—Shannonville Cor. San Francisco Chronicle.

St Bernard Dogs

A variety is given to the little streets immediately adjoining the college and the abbey by the frequent appearance of a couple of monks, accompanied by a dozen or more splendid specimens of the St. Bernard mastiff. The race of this fine dog is kept vigorous and pure, though all throughout the canton I notice a number of these animals which evidently have strains of other blood. In fact, excepting from the monastery itself, the Valaisians say you cannot procure a thoroughbred dog, and not always even there. Their peculiar training for the assistance of wayfarers begins, of course, only on the mountains, and it was from the monastery on the St. Bernard that the Prince of Wales obtained; when passing there, the fine canine specimens which are the ornaments of his kingly kennel at Sandringham.

These dogs are fed three times a day with vegetable and animal food. The Christian dog here, contrary to some "dogs of Christians" elsewhere, observes the monastic regime, and is limited, on fast days and on days of abstinence, in his food. Next to London joint stock companies, I never saw canine creatures with so much "limited liability." There are about 200 dogs held here in training orders for the final lessons in humanitarian seeking and finding on St. Bernard's bleak top.

These dogs have most attractive names, and respond to them as intelligently as a corporal's guard on roll-call. A sort of stud-book is kept, which, for its detail and accuracy, would draw tears of envy from the racing authorities at Newmarket, and which I look over with an interest in dog pedigree that would amaze and amuse a Darwin in a Herald's College.

I may mention, on the subject of these dogs and their sense of smell, that it is keener than in dogs of the smaller and more domestic type. It is by the smell that they are guided in their chief works. A dog deprived of smelling powers ceases to be a dog. Schiff, in his treatise on dogs and their faculties, says the dog with a loss of smell loses its faculty of attachment and faithfulness toward its master, whom it "recognizes and loves simply on account of his individual perfume." He caused some young dogs to be deodorized, and forever after they forgot their cunning, and knew no master, be he ever so kind. The olfactory nerve in the Mount St. Bernard mastiff is particularly large, liberally containing sinuses for increasing the olfactory surface, and you do not discover it so developed in small dogs.—Baltimore Sun.

Mrs. Grote, the wife of the great historian of Greece, was a singular woman, to say the least. Fanny Kemble relates a visit she had at Mrs. Grote's house. Mrs. Grote, says Mrs. Kemble, "did the honors and showed the guests round the grounds with a stick in her hands, a man's hat on her head, and a coachman's drab-colored box-coat with manifold capes over her petticoats." After learning this and remembering that Mr. Grote was a quiet, modest man, one can appreciate Sir Sydney Smith's sportive remark about them. "I like them," he said; "I like him; I like him, he is so ladylike; I like her, she is such a perfect gentleman."

Vitality of the Jewish Race.

The members of the Jewish race have, up to the present period of history, presented the most remarkable of all the vitalities. Those of them who are united to the other races by ties of blood, though in no sense any profession of religious religion, are hardly less privileged. In England and Wales we compute the number of professed Jews does not exceed [illegible], some say not over 40,000; but, in addition to these, if physiological reasonings be true, and I feel sure they are, there is an enormous Christianized Jewish population which, under exceedingly broad and Protestant principles, accepts the Christian faith with a tendency to Puritanic simplicity, and all but Judaic method, and in which the names, the beliefs, the traditions of the Jewish people, as rendered in their sacred writings, and their repetitions. But, I notice now, in regard to vitality, the most truly typical of the Semitic type—those, namely, who profess and call themselves Jews—and it is they, I specially repeat, who show an exceptional tenacity to life, under circumstances which at first sight would seem to cause the utmost resistance to life. I have investigated this matter with the greatest care, and, not to trouble you by repeating in detail what I have already published, I may state in brief terms that during all ages of life, under all conditions of life to which it has been subjected, under persecutions the most painful, under suppression of liberty the most determinate, under residences in confined quarters of towns that were practically prisons, under isolation the most pitiful, under contempts the most cruel, the Jewish family has maintained a vitality and health which is at once a model to, the other families of men among which it has been destined, or I should rather have said permitted, to exist. The Jews are not free from proclivities in the direction of a serious constitutional kind. They are comparatively free from consumption; they are comparatively free from diseases, arising from a scrofulous cachexia; they are very free from those [illegible] diseases or pestilences [illegible], scarlet-fever, and [illegible] which carry off so largely [illegible] in masses; they are very [illegible] that is to say, they have been [illegible] diseases which spring from [illegible] and they are very [illegible] spring from [illegible] and poverty. The [illegible] diseases from which [illegible] suffer. According to my experience they are more disposed to [illegible] or Cecil, but [illegible] sufficiently widespread to make [illegible] the results of the tenacious life belonging to them. For the benefits they have received in the way of life and health the Jewish family has been indebted to wise sanitary laws and regulations bequeathed to them from of old, to thrift and provision for the morrow, to peacefulness of heart, to domestic virtue, and most of all to sobriety. It is hard to tell whether, when set free from every political and religious oppression, left to make their own course in open competition with other people, receiving from their fathers the wealth of their past, wealth of wisdom, wealth of simple homeliness, wealth of riches, wealth of vitality, they will retain and bank the same treasures or take out and squander all. At the present time it is as if the finger of prophecy was pointing to the last-named fate.—Dr. Richardson in Frazer's Magazine.

To Be Memorized.

Anæsthesia was discovered in 1844.

The first steel plate was made in 1830.

The first lucifer match was made in 1829.

The first iron steamship was built in 1830.

The first balloon ascent was made in 1798.

The entire Hebrew Bible was printed in 1488.

Ships were first "copper-bottomed" in 1783.

Coaches were first used in England in 1569.

Gold was first discovered in California in 1848.

The first steamboat plied the Hudson in 1807.

The first horse railroad was built in 1826-27.

The first watches were made at Nuremburg in 1477.

The first use of a locomotive in this country was in 1829.

Omnibuses were first introduced in New York in 1830.

Kerosene was first used for lighting purposes in 1826.

The first copper cent was coined in New Haven in 1687.

The first telescope was probably used in England in 1608.

The first saw maker's anvil was brought to America in 1819.

The first almanac was printed by Geo. Von Furbach in 1460.

The first printing press in the United States was introduced in 1620.

The first chimneys were introduced into Rome from Padua in 1368.

The first steam engine on this continent was brought from England in 1753.

A Place Where Woman is Supreme.

An original sect is reported to exist in Finland, the fundamental principle of which is the sovereign authority of woman in the family. The disciples of the sect, whether married or living in concubinage, take an oath to submit themselves entirely to their wife or mistress, and to confess to her once a week. On their side the women choose one of their number as sovereign, whose duty it is to see that the men remain faithful to their oath, and to punish them if they transgress. There are some villages entirely devoted to this new religion. The only analogy to this sect is to be found in Siberia, where the Purifiers recognize equally the authority of women.

Lord Dufferin comes out of the troubles incident to Arabi's rebellion with honors almost equal to Sir Garnet Wolseley's. He kept the Turks out of Egypt and prevented the execution of the commission given to the Sultan without offending the powers. In fact, Lord Dufferin is an English diplomat who succeeds in diplomacy—a thing which happens rarely enough to be worthy of comment when it does occur.—New York Tribune.

Why Continue

The use of remedies that only relieve, when Elys' Cream Balm, pleasant of application and a sure cure for Catarrh, Hay Fever and Cold in head, can be had for 50 cents?

Apply into Nostrils with Little Finger.

I was troubled with Chronic Catarrh and gathering in my head, was very deaf at times and had discharges from my ears, besides being unable to breathe through my nose. Before the second bottle of Elys' Cream Balm was exhausted I was cured, and to-day enjoy sound health.—C. J. Corbin, 9 Chestnut street, Field Manager, Philadelphia Pub. House, Pa.

Elys' Cream Balm,

For Catarrh, Cold in the Head, &c., gives the best of satisfaction. Have yet to hear of a single case where it has not given relief or permanent cure. Chas. L. Brundage, Druggist, Muskegon, Mich.

Deerfield Record: The Hungry Nine participated in two games of ball last Saturday, in both of which they came out second best. The first game was with a club from near Atkins' brick yard, and the score stood 10 to 9. The second game was with the Raisin boys, and the score resulted 9 to 6. Both games were close and exciting, and at times both clubs were in the lead.

A Remarkable Escape.

Mrs. Geo. C. Clarke, of Port Dalhousie, Ontario, states that she had been confined to her room for a long time with that dreadful disease, Consumption. The doctors said she could not escape an early grave, but fortunately she began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and in a short time was completely cured. Doubting ones, please write Mrs. Clarke, and be convinced.

Sold by C. A. Wright & Co.

Important to Travelers.

Special Inducements are offered you by the BURLINGTON ROUTE. It will pay you to read their advertisement to be found elsewhere in this issue.

Skinny Men

Wells' Health Renewer. Absolute cure for nervous debility and weakness of the generative functions. $1, at druggists. Mich. Depot, J. E. Davies & Co., Detroit, Mich.

"No: she lingered and suffered along, paying away all the time, for years, the doctors doing her no good; and at last was cured by this Hop Bitters. The papers say so much about. Indeed! indeed! how thankful we should be for that medicine."

Going to His Grave.

Then, he goes again direct to a saloon and pours down another heavy draught of strong drink, not so much because his appetite demands it, but for the artificial buoyancy it produces the after effect of which leaves him more miserable than before; it is this circle of practice that is daily sending thousands to their graves. A remedy for all this is found in the true friend of the race,—the best and purest of all medicines, Electric Bitters.

Sold by C. A. Wright & Co.

$100.00

—IN—

Gold Given Away.

To all subscribers to the PEOPLE'S WEEKLY or any person who will subscribe for the paper at the regular price of $2.00 per year, we will make this offer. We will give to the party who will send us on or before the 15th of December next, the largest list of words used in the English language that can be formed from any or all of the letters composing the name of the sum of FIFTY DOLLARS IN GOLD, to the party sending the second largest list, FIFTY DOLLARS IN GOLD; and to the party sending the third largest list, TWENTY DOLLARS IN GOLD.

"THE PEOPLE'S WEEKLY,"

THE PEOPLE'S WEEKLY is the cheapest and best illustrated paper in the country. It is printed by the well known house of Rand, McNally & Co., Chicago, Ill., and contains every week elegant illustrations of current events, American and Foreign scenery, views, portraits of eminent men of the day, &c.; also entire stories by the best writers, sketches, anecdotes, &c., to amuse, please and instruct, and is only Two Dollars per year—just half the price charged for other illustrated papers.

Send in your subscription for THE PEOPLE'S WEEKLY at once—for your name must be on our subscription list to enable you to compete for the above prizes.

The prizes will be paid in GOLD COIN, and the successful lists, together with the names of the fortunate competitors, will be published in full in the issue of December 23d, 1882.

Address all letters and make Postoffice Orders Payable to the Manager

THE PEOPLE'S WEEKLY, Chicago, Ill.

We guarantee the above to be carried out in every particular.

RAND, McNALLY & CO.

Great Combination!

THE TECUMSEH HERALD

—AND—

Demorest's Illustrated Monthly Magazine.

BOTH PUBLICATIONS, ONE YEAR

—FOR—

$3.00

DEMOREST'S MONTHLY is justly entitled the World's Model Magazine. The largest in Form, the largest in Circulation, and the best TWO Dollar Magazine issued. 1883 will be the nineteenth year of its publication; it is now improved so extensively as to place it in the front rank of Family Periodicals, and equal to any magazine. It contains 64 pages, large quarto, 8½ x 11½ inches, elegantly printed on tinted paper, fully illustrated, each number having steel engravings, oil pictures, or art subjects, published by W. Jennings Demorest, New York, and by special agreement combined with the

HERALD at $3 00.

Disease is an effect, not a cause. Its origin is within; its manifestations without. Hence, to cure the disease the cause must be removed, and in no other way can a cure ever be effected. WARNER'S SAFE KIDNEY AND LIVER CURE is established on just this principal. It realizes that

95 Per Cent.

of all diseases arise from deranged kidneys and liver, and it strikes at once at the root of the difficulty. The elements of which it is composed act directly upon these great organs, both as a food and a restorer, and by placing them in a healthy condition, drive disease and pain from the system. For the innumerable troubles caused by unhealthy Kidneys, Liver and Urinary Organs; for the distressing Disorders of Women; for Malaria, and for physical derangements generally, this great remedy has no equal. Beware of impostors, imitations and concoctions said to be just as good.

For Diabetes, ask for WARNER'S SAFE DIABETES CURE.

For sale by all dealers.

H. H. WARNER & CO., Rochester, N. Y.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENT DEPOT.

Grain, Flour, Feed and Coal.

SLAYTON & SON

Are still at the old stand with a complete line of

AGRICULTERAL IMPLEMENTS.

PLOWS The Wlard Chilled. Mohawk Valley Clipper (steel.)

"Leader" Spring Tooth Harrow. Elwood, Robbins and Buckeye

CULTIVATORS.

"Springer" Spring Tooth Harrow, (on whe...

GRAIN DRILLS. Buckeye. Farmer's Fr Triumph.

THRESHERS, The "Vibrator," and The "Buffalo Pitts."

Portable and Traction Thresher Engines.

Rare Bargains in

Carriages, Platform, Spring and Lumber Wagons,

Lime, Water Lime, Salt, Cal. Plaster and Plastering Hair.

If you want anything in our line call and get price before you buy.

The Great Healer of all Inflammations and Injuries and Disorders.

Constantly effecting the most wonderful (the unparalleled) demand with which ... Compel it at once as the greatest medicine ... for outward application.

Most incredulous are convinced, and the critical are compelled to believe that ... of this great remedy.

WHAT IT CURES.

CUTS, BRUISES, SPRAINS, BURNS, LAMENESS, RHEUMATISM, INFLAMMATION of LUNGS and ... CHILBLAINS, CROUP, SALT RHEUM, SKIN AFFECTIONS of the SPINE, NERVOUS IRRITATION ... and all with INFLAMMATION ... to restore the natural functions ... equalize the circulation of the ... a controlling power is exerted ... most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates every portion of the human frame; every nerve, and ligament is reached ... sensible to its soothing and healing ... Hence it copes readily with internal and external diseases.

Over 40 Years

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its ... is such that we have no space here for ... any of the numerous testimonials and certificates of cures we have from all parts of the country. We only ask those readers of this notice who have used this Ointment, to frankly state their experience with it to inquiring friends. If but a hundred would do this we should feel perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use ... found on pamphlet around each bottle. Price 25 and 40 cents per bottle. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

D. RANSOM SON & CO., Prop'rs, Buffalo, New York.

TO ADVERTISERS.

GEO. P. ROWELL & CO'S

SELECT LIST OF LOCAL NEWSPAPERS.

An advertiser who spends upwards of $5,000 a year, and who invested less than $350 of it in this List, writes: "Your Select Local List paid me better last year THAN ALL THE OTHER ADVERTISING I DID."

IT IS NOT CO-OPERATIVE LIST.

IT IS NOT A CHEAP LIST.

IT IS AN HONEST LIST.

The catalogue states exactly what the papers are: When the name of a paper is printed in FULL FACE TYPE it is in every instance the BEST—When printed in CAPITALS it is the ONLY paper in the place. The list gives the population of every town and the circulation of every paper.

The rates charged for advertising are barely one-fifth the publishers' schedule. The price for single States ranges from $2 to $80. The price for one inch one month in the entire list is $625. The regular rates of the papers for the same space and time are $2,980.14. The list includes 952 newspapers of which 187 are issued DAILY and 765 WEEKLY. They are located in 788 different cities and towns, of which 26 are State Capitals, 363 places of over 5,000 population, and 468 County Seats. For copy of List and other information address GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., 10 Spruce St., New York.

$30 per week can be made in any locality. Something entirely new for agents. $5 outfit free. G. W. INGRAHAM & CO. Boston, Mass

Perhaps the most judiciously edited magazine in the World.—THE NATION, N. Y., Sept. 1882.

THE CENTURY

For 1882-83.

The twenth year of this magazine—the first under the new name, and the most successful in its history, closed with the October number. The circulation has shown a large gain over that of the preceding season, and THE CENTURY begins its thirteenth year with an edition of 140,000 Copies.

The following are the leading features:

A NEW NOVEL, BY W. D. HOWELLS, to succeed this author's Modern Instance. It will be an international story, entitled A Sea Change.

LIFE IN THE THIRTEEN COLONIES, by Edward Eggleston—the leading historical feature of the year.

A NOVELETTE OF MINING LIFE, by Mary Hallock Foote, entitled The Led-Horse Claim, to be illustrated by the author.

THE POINT OF VIEW, by Henry James, Jr., a series of eight letters from imaginary persons of various nationalities, criticising America, its people, society, manners, railroads, etc.

THE CHRISTIAN LEAGUE OF CONNECTICUT, by the Rev. Washington Gladden, An account of practical co-operation in Christian work.

RUDDER GRANGE ABROAD, by Frank R. Stockton, a continuation of the droll Rudder Grange Stories, the scene being now in Europe.

THE NEW ERA IN AMERICAN HOUSE-BUILDING, a series of four papers, fully illustrated.

THE CREOLES OF LOUISIANA, by Geo. W. Cable, richly illustrated.

MY ADVENTURES IN ZUNI, by Frank H. Cushing, government ethnologist, an adopted member of the Zuni tribe of Indians. Illustrated.

ILLUSTRATED PAPERS ON THE NATIONAL CAPITOL, including The Capitol, The Supreme Court, The White House, etc.

MISSIONS OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA, by H. H.; three or four pages of an exceedingly interesting character, richly illustrated.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Entertaining short stories and novelettes will be among the leading features of THE CENTURY, as heretofore; and the magazine will continue its advance in general excellence.

The subscription price is $4.00 a year; 35 cents a number. Subscriptions should begin with the November number, and to enable new subscribers to commence with the new series under THE CENTURY name, we make the following

SPECIAL OFFER.

A year's subscription from Nov., 1882, and the twelve numbers of the past year, unbound, $6.00. A subscription and the twelve back numbers bound in two elegant volumes with gilt top, $7.50.

THE CENTURY CO., New York, N. Y.

1831 THE CULTIVATOR 1883

AND

Country Gentleman.

THE BEST OF THE AGRICULTURAL WEEKLIES.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is the Leading Journal of American Agriculture. In amount and practical value of contents, in extent and ability of correspondence, in quality of paper and style of publication, it occupies the FIRST RANK. It is believed to have no superior in either of the three chief divisions of

Farm Crops and Processes,

Horticultural and Fruit Growing,

Live Stock and Dairying,

while it also includes all minor departments of rural interest, such as the Poultry Yard, Entomology, Bee-Keeping, Greenhouse and Grapery, Veterinary Replies, Farm Questions and Answers, Fireside Reading, Domestic Economy, and a Summary of the News of the Week. Its MARKET REPORTS are usually complete, and much attention is paid to the Prospects of the Crops, as throwing light upon one of the most important of all questions—WHERE TO BUY AND WHEN TO SELL. It is liberally illustrated, and is intended to supply, in a continually increasing degree and in the best sense of the term a

Live Agricultural Newspaper,

The Volume of the COUNTRY GENTLEMAN for 1882 was GREATLY ENLARGED by increasing its size from 16 to 20 pages weekly, but the terms still continue as follow, when paid strictly in advance. One copy, one year, $2.50; Four Copies, $10, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club; Ten Copies $20, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club.

All New Subscribers for 1883, paying in advance now, will receive the paper weekly, from receipt of remittance to January 1st, 1884, without charge.

SPECIMEN COPIES FREE. Address

LUTHER TUCKER & SON, Publishers. ALBANY, N. Y.

FARMERS' FRIEND,

South Bend, Indiana.

ONLY FIFTY CENTS A YEAR.

Circulation 33,000.

The largest and best agricultural paper in the country. Eight large pages 48 columns, few advertisements and almost double the reading matter given by the $1.50 and $2 agricultural papers, but we send it to you for 50 cents a year. Premiums to every subscriber, premiums to club raisers and $2,000 in presents given them in addition, consisting of a $470 New Bristol Clover Huller, complete, including recleaning attachment, which cleans the seed as threshed; a $60 Cassady Sulky Plow; a $65 Studebaker Farm Wagon; Olive Chilled Plows, Sewing Machine, Silverware, etc. Some of the Departments of the FARMERS' FRIEND are Farm Topics, The Orchard, Live Stock, The Poultry Yard, Home and Health, Domestic Economy, Young Folks, The Puzzler, The Story Teller, The Funny Piece, Sunday Reading, The Clover Leaf, The Apiary, Letter Basket, Various Topics, Correspondence, Hints for the Season, World's Record, etc. Practical farmers and the best writers contribute to it. Agents make money canvassing for it. Any subscriber authorized to act as agent. Send 50 cents for a year's subscription, or write your name and those of your neighbors on a postal card for our sample copies and our Illustrated Premium List.

Address,

FARMERS' FRIEND PUB. CO., South Bend, Ind.

ESTABLISHED 1846 MUNN & Co. PATENTS NEW YORK

We continue to act as solicitors for patents, caveats, trade-marks, copyrights, etc., for the United States, and to obtain patents in Canada, England, France, Germany, and all other countries.

Thirty-six years' practice. No charge for examination of models or drawings. Advice by mail free.

Patents obtained through us are noticed in the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN, which has the largest circulation, and is the most influential newspaper of its kind published in the world. The advantages of such a notice every patentee understands.

This large and splendidly illustrated newspaper is published WEEKLY at $3.20 a year, and is admitted to be the best paper devoted to science, mechanics, inventions, engineering works, and other departments of industrial progress, published in any country. Single copies by mail, 10 cents. Sold by all newsdealers.

Address, Munn & Co., publishers of Scientific American, 261 Broadway, New York. Handbook about patents mailed free.

GREEN'S

TEMPERANCE HOTEL

Cor. Congress and Bates Sts., DETROIT, MICH.

RATES—$1 to $1.25 per day. Single Meals 30c, Lodgings 35 to 50 cents.

We make a specialty of Dinner, and it is always ready at 11:30 sharp. Come early and be served promptly.

judiciously edited rld.—THE NATION.

ENTURY
882-83.

s magazine—the first use he most successful in its e October number. The large gain over that of the
HE CENTURY begins
n edition of

Copies.
eading features:
. D. HOWELLS to sec-
n Instance. It will be an led A Sea Change.
EEN COLONIES, by Ed-ling historical feature of

MINING LIFE, by Mary
The Bed-Horse Claim, &c.
nor.
N, by Henry James, Jr., a em imaginary parades of ticising America its peo-ronds, etc.
LEAGUE OF CONNECTI-lington Gladden, An inection in Christian work.
ARGAD, by Frank R.
n of the droll Rodger
being now in Europe.
AMERICAN HOUSE.
four papers, fully illus-

OUISIANA, by Geo. W.

N ZUNI, by Frank H.
thnologist, an adopted of Indians. Illustrated
RS ON THE NATIONAL
e Capitol, The Supreme

ERN CALIFORNIA, by es of an exceedingly in-
Illustrated.

ANEOUS.
ce and novelettes will be gin of THE CENTURY, as ne will continue its ad
ce.
s $4.00 a year; 35 cents a should begin with the o enable new subscribers
r series under THE CEN-following
OFFER. from Nov., 1882, and the st year, unbound, $6.00.
eive back numbers bound
th gilt top, $5.00.
, New York, N. Y.

TIVATOR 1883
D
Gentleman.

T OF THE L WEEKLIES.

MAN is the Leading Jourulture. In amount and s, in extent and ability
ality of paper and style
the FIRST RANK. It perior in either of the ecesses,

and Fruit Growing,
Stock and Dairying, minor departments of
he Poultry Yard, Ento-rechouse and Grapery,
Questions and Answers, ic Economy, and a Sum-Week. Its MARKET REe, and much attention is the Crops, as throwing important of all ques-
WHEN TO SELL. It is s intended to supply, in degree and in the best al Newspaper,

UNTRY GENTLEMAN for ARGED by increasing weekly, but the terms en paid strictly in ad-
r, $2.50; Four Copies, opy for the year free to en Copies $20, and an ar free to the sender of rs for 1883, paying in the paper weekly, from nuary 1st, 1884, without

REE. Address
E SON, Publishers,
Y, N. Y.

FRIEND,
, Indiana.

ENTS A YEAR.
n 33,000.
ic ultural paper in the s 48 columns, few ad-double the reading mat-82 agricultural papers, cents a year. Premiums ms to club raisers and them in addition, con-of Clover Huller, com-attachment, which d; a $60 Cassady Sulky
Farm Wagon, Olivez
achine, Silverware, etc.
I the FARMERS' FRIEND
Health, Domestic Econ-azier, The Story Teller,
Rejoicing, The Clover
Basket, Various Topics,
r the Season, World's s and the best writers make money canvassing
thorized to act as agents subscriptions, or write ar including postage on a postal e and our illustrated

ND PUB. CO.,
South Bend, Ind.

ENTS
We continue to act as solicitors for patents, caveats,
, copyrights, etc., for tes, and to obtain pat-
ds, England, France,
all other countries.
years' practice. No of models or draw-
ge.
ough us are noticed in ERICAN, which has and is the most influ-kind published in the
of such a notice every dly illustrated news-

EKLY at $3.20 a year,
best paper devoted ventions, engineering tments of industrial any country. Single
. Sold by all news-
publishers of Scienway, New York.
ts mailed free.

E'S
CE HOTEL
Sts., DETROIT, MICH.
r day. Single Meals to 50 cents.
ner, and it is ALWAY
Come early and be myily.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

ATTORNEYS.

WILLIS MERRITT, ATTORNEY AT LAW, ADRIAN, MICH.

EDWIN B. WOOD, ATTORNEY AT LAW. Collections and Conveyancing. Office over W. & S. W. Anderson's Store, Tecumseh, Mich.

WILLIS MERRITT. W. W. FRAZER. Merritt & Frazer, Attorneys at Law. Insurance Agents, Tecumseh, Mich.

C. A. & S. C. STACY, ATTORNEYS AT LAW. Office in HERALD Building.

W. R. WOODEN, Attorney and Counsellor at Law, Tecumseh, Mich.

P. S. MCKINNON, Attorney at Law and Justice of the Peace. All business promptly attended to. Office over W. & S. W. Anderson's Store.

C. A. & J. A. STACY, Attorneys at Law and Solicitors in Chancery. Office in Underwood Block Adrian, Mich.

MILLARD, WEAVER & WEAVER, Attorneys at Law, Adrian, Mich. Office in Masonic Temple, (Rooms lately occupied by Michigan State Ins. Co.) Alfred L. Millard, Clement E. Weaver, Charles M. Weaver.

PHYSICIANS.

H. PETERS, M. D. Office and residence at Geo. Curtis' house, corner Maiden Lane and Pottawatamie st. Special attention given to diseases of the Ear, Nose and Throat. All calls for the sick promptly attended to day and night.

C. M. WOODWARD, M. D., PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON. Office at Residence, Chicago street.

F. M. CORKLIN, M. D., PHYSICIAN & SURGEON Office in Mills Block, Chicago St.

J. F. JENKINS, M. D., Office and residence second door west of Presbyterian Church, Chicago st. Professional calls promptly attended to, day or night.

R. B. HOUSE, M.D. O. Q. JONES, M.D. Drs. House and Jones, Physicians and Surgeons. Office over Lilley, Bidwell & Co's. Bank. Office hours. Dr. House, 1 to 3 P. M., and 7 to 8 P. M. Dr. Jones, 9 to 12 A. M., and 3 to 6 P. M. Prompt attention given to all calls in village or country, day or night.

HOTELS.

SINK'S HOTEL, (Formerly the Merchants') W. H. SINK, PROPRIETOR. RECENTLY REPITTED AND REFURNISHED. Corner Chicago and R. R. Sts.

MISCELLANEOUS.

TECUMSEH FOUNDRY & STEAM ENGINE WORKS. H. BREWER & CO., PROPRIETORS. Manufacturers of Steam Engines, Mill Gearing and General Machinery, also manufacturers of the Tiffany Improved Patent Drain Tile Machine, Sword's Brick Machine, etc.

WM. DEMOTT, Tecumseh, Mich. Agent for The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co., of Milwaukee, Wis. Paid to policy holders since organization and held for them, $46,138,353.20. Total premiums received, $39,631,785.47. Excess of interest receipts over all expenses of management, $6,506,567.73. Dividends to policy holders in each of the past nine years unequaled by those of any other company on similar policies. Assets, January 1, 1882, over $18,850,000. Surplus, over four per cent. reserve, $3,022,611.61.

A. W. SLAYTON, Undertaker and Embalmer; store on Chicago St.; residence on Pearl St. Night calls will receive prompt attention. No charge for use of hearse.

CENTRAL MEAT MARKET. J. W. COLE, PROPRIETOR. Dealer in Fresh and Salt Meats, Fish, Poultry, etc. Chicago Street.

RAILROAD STREET MARKET. JOSEPH W. WOODEN, PROPRIETOR. Dealer in all kinds of Fresh and Salt Meats, Fresh Fish, etc.

DAVE MACHAM, Fashionable Barber and Hair Dresser. Shop on Railroad Street.

CURRY & BOSTWICK, Fashionable Barbers and Hair Dressers, shop in Richard's block, Chicago street.

A. D. BROWN, Practical Piano Tuner, and Agent for Brambach Pianos. Also Agent for the Indiana Music Works. Orders left at Wilcox's bookstore, Tecumseh, will receive prompt attention.

J. D. SHARES, Manufacturer and dealer in Sulkies, Harness, Whips, Robes, Blankets, Horse Clothing and Combs, Tecumseh, Mich.

CHAS. A. WALDRON, VETERINARY SURGEON. All orders promptly attended to. Office, or may be met at his residence on A. K. Watson's, Tecumseh, Michigan.

SILVERS HOUSE, CLINTON, MICH., S. S. Erskine, Proprietor. Good sample rooms for commercial men. Rates reasonable.

CLOCK REPAIRING.

I will call at your house and repair your Clock. Drop a postal in the office to my address.
C. F. MORLEY,
Tecumseh, Mich.

N. B.—All work warranted.

O. P. Bills, Mrs. C. Bills.
N. Church, Mrs. M. H. Church.

O. P. BILLS & CO.,

BANKERS.

J. N. Satterlhwaite, Cashier.

Tecumseh, Mich.

Do a general Banking business. Receive deposits. Exchange bought on all points and our own drafts issued, available in all parts of the United States and Canada, and the principal cities of Europe.

P. B. SWICK,

Manufacturer of

Light & Heavy Harness

And Dealer in

Trunks, Whips, Robes, Blankets,

And all articles kept for sale in a first-class Horse Furniture Store.

GOOD WORK! LOW PRICES

Call and see him, one door east of Nyland's shoe store on Chicago street.

TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN

FLOWERS.

At Mrs. Spaulding's green house may be found a large variety of plants and flowers for the decoration of churches, dinner and supper tables, and sick rooms. Especial attention given to floral designs, for weddings, funerals etc. We are prepared to execute orders for every kind of floral decorations with the choicest and freshest of flowers, in the most artistic manner on short notice, and at very reasonable prices. The green house is open daily to visitors.

Orders left at D. W. Clark's grocery will receive prompt attention.

There is no excuse for suffering from

CONSTIPATION

and other diseases that follow a disordered state of the Stomach and Bowels, when the use of

DR. HENRY BAXTER'S

MANDRAKE BITTERS

Will give immediate relief.

After constipation follows

Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Diseases of the Kidneys, Torpid Liver Rheumatism, Dizziness, Sick Headache, Loss of Appetite, Jaundice, Apoplexy, Palpitations, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, etc., all of which these Bitters will speedily cure by removing the causes. Keep the Stomach, Bowels, and Digestive Organs in good working order, and perfect health will be the result. Ladies and others subject to Sick Headache will find relief and permanent cure by the use of these Bitters. Being tonic and mildly purgative they

PURIFY THE BLOOD.

Price 25 cts. per bottle.

For sale by all dealers in medicine. Send address for pamphlet, free, giving full directions.

HENRY JOHNSON & LORD, Props., Burlington, Vt.

ZOA-PHORA

(THE HEALTH BRINGER.)

LONG KNOWN AS PENGELLY'S WOMAN'S FRIEND.

FOR WOMEN,

TEACHERS, LADY CLERKS, HOUSEWIVES,

Breaking down under close confinement and being continually on their feet, will find Zoa Phora

A Prevention and Cure

For ALL Diseases peculiar to Women.

WOMEN know what these diseases are, but do not always give proper attention to their symptoms, viz:

Headaches, Lassitude,
Pale or Mothy Complexion,
Sleeplessness, Palpitation,
Numbness, Nausea, Dizziness,
Dry Cough, Nervous Irritation,
Weak and Lame Back,

and pains in various parts of the body.

Zoa-Phora is not a Cure-all. It applies to this special class of diseases. Here it is almost perfect.

No. 1 temporary Stimulant, but a permanent Cure.

TESTIMONIALS I have in abundance from persons in the best society, who prefer that their evidence be given privately to those asking it.

MOTHERS, are your DAUGHTERS ailing? Look well to the cause. Send for my advice to mothers.

Requests for testimonials and advice will receive my careful attention.

R. PENGELLY, M. D.,
Sold by Druggists.) Kalamazoo, Mich.

Sample card mailed on receipt of twenty-five cents.

By the Esterbrook Steel Pen Company.

Ask your stationer for these pens.

THORNDIKE NOURSE, (Successor to E. B. Smith & Co.) DETROIT, MICH. MANUFACTURED EXPRESSLY FOR

Gray's Specific Medicine.

TRADE MARK THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY. An unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhœa, Impotency, and all Diseases that follow as a sequence of Self-Abuse; as Loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the Back, Dimness of Vision, Premature Old Age, and many other diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a Premature Grave.

BEFORE TAKING. Full particulars in our pamphlet which we desire to send free by mail to everyone. The Specific Medicine is sold by all druggists at $1 per package or six packages for $5, or will be sent free by mail on the receipt of the money, by addressing THE GRAY MEDICINE CO., Buffalo, N. Y.

On account of counterfeits, we have adopted the Yellow Wrapper, the only genuine. Ask for Gray's Specific Medicine and take no other.

FARRAND, WILLIAMS & CO. Wholesale Agents, Detroit.

FOR SALE CHEAP.

A good small farm situated within a half an hours ride of the village of Tecumseh, for sale at a bargain. Has buildings, a nice young orchard and is all one of the finest small farms in Lenawee co. For full particulars enquire at the HERALD OFFICE.

The Lime-Kiln Club.

"What I am gwine to remark," observed the old man as Elder Toots quietly dropped off to dream of the canefields of the olden time, "am to de effeck dat dis club doan' keer two cents whedder a member's gran'fadder was hung for wakin' up a policeman asleep on his beat, or sat in de halls of Congress wid his hat on his ear an' his fame floatin' ober every county in de land. It am not de dead gran'fadder, but de libin' member dat we has to do wid. If Brudder Shin's great uncle was King of de Cannibal Islands dat doan' help Samuel to pay his rent or buy his taters, Whalebone Howker may trace his blood back to an emperor who owned 10,000 mules, but Whalebone will pay a fine of three dollars ebery time he spits on de stove, same as de res' of you. Boomerang Johnson could no doubt establish de fact dat he am descended from a household which could pay a milk bill widout havin' to pawn de side-board, but it am nebertheless sartin dat Brudder Johnson won't have any pancakes grow cold on his table dis winter.

"Judge a man as you find him, an' doan' forgit dat de son of a Senator kin display all de meanness expected of de son of a convict. If dar am any member in dis club who wants his lineage traced back six or seben thousan' y'ars to see whether his relashuns took fust or second cabin passage in de ark, or wants his blood strained to see if it am blue or red, let him go ahead; but at de same time I feel it my dooty to warn all sich pussons dat it am fur cheaper to buy a ten-cent gimlet an' hire a five-cent boy to bore a hole in de top of yer head an' let the wanity blow itself off. De Sekretary will now call de roll an' make out a list of sich members as want to trace deir blood back to Ham."

The roll was called, and not one member of the 164 present responded.—When the call had been finished Prof. Kussforth Parker arose and asked if there was any objection to his taking steps to find out whether his grandfather was a poet or a blacksmith.

"Dar' am!" was the prompt reply, "kase it would be a loss of time. I knowed de ole man myself, an' I kin inform you dat he was nuffin' but a werry common nigger, who wouldn't do an' hour's work a week onless kicked to it. I also remember dat he was squint-eyed an' had heels so long dat he could w'ar his butes hind side afore."

The Professor weaved to and fro for a moment and then fell back in a dead faint, and it took four members to carry him to the ante-room and steal his pocket-knife and plug tobacco and restore him to consciousness by shouting "mad dog!" down the back of his neck.—Detroit Free Press.

"Without Any Beard."

London Temple Bar has this: "The King of Spain sent an Ambassador to the Pope—a young man of high extraction—with a special mission. The Pope, informed that a special Envoy of the King of Spain demanded an audience, imagined that he would receive an aged Minister, covered with stars and venerable with white hairs, etc. Instead of which in walked, with light, elastic steps, quite a young man. Haughty and irritable, the Pope looked at him, and at last said: 'Are all the old diplomatists in Spain dead, that the King sends us a young boy without even a beard?' ('Un jeune homme imberbe?') 'Holy Father,' said the indignant Spaniard, 'if the King, my master, had thought that honor consists in a beard, he would have sent you a goat, and not a nobleman like myself.'".

To which the Cincinnati Commercial: "This anecdote reminds us of an incident in the history of early Methodism in Northern Ohio. A preacher had been appointed to a new circuit, and wore on his first round a fashionable broadcloth frock coat, which his tailor had innocently provided for him. This became a source of grievance to the homespun laity, and it was finally resolved to make it a matter of discipline. So at first quarterly conference charges were prepared in due form, and the offending minister notified to be present and make answer. Entering the room where the Presiding Elder and lesser magnates were assembled, the preacher stripped off his coat, hung it on the back of a chair, and pointing to it said: 'Since it is the coat that offends, try it. Could I preach any sounder gospel in robes or cassock? It seems to me it is not the manner of the coat, but the manner of the man in the coat that should be considered.' And there the trial ended."

O. Kall, of Heidelberg, prepares a substitute for boiled oil by mixing ten parts of whipped blood just as it is furnished from the slaughter-houses with one part of air-slacked lime sifted into it through a fine sieve. The two are well mixed and left standing for twenty-four hours. The dirty portion that collects on top is taken off, and the solid portion is broken loose from the lime at the bottom, the latter is stirred up with water, left to settle, and the water poured off after the lime has settled. The clear liquid is well mixed up with the solid substance before mentioned. This mass is left standing for ten or twelve days, after which a solution of permanganate of potash is added which decolorizes it and prevents putrefaction. Finally, the mixture is stirred up, diluted, if necessary, with more water to give it the consistence of very thin size, then filtered, a few drops of oil of lavender added, and the preparation preserved in closed vessels. It is said to keep a long time without change. A single coat of this liquid will suffice to prepare wood or paper, as well as lime or hard plaster walls, for painting with oil colors. The substance is cheaper than linseed oil, and closes the pores of the surface so perfectly that it takes much less paint to cover it than when primed with oil.

As a coincidence of the recent burning of the Mississippi river steamer Robert E. Lee, in connection with that of the Princess in 1859, says the Louisville Courier-Journal, it is related that Calhoun, of plow fame, lost his life in that disaster, and now E. H. Poynter, the successor to Calhoun in the plow business, falls a victim to the flames which consumed the Lee. As another link, it is added that but a few weeks hence would have witnessed the nuptials of poor Poynter with a niece of Alexander Calhoun.

Creation of Electric Forces.

A water-wheel, by being employed to generate electricity, may light our rooms, cook our dinner and ripen our peaches. We can have light from it by which we can work as easily at night as in the day—a light which will neither consume our fresh air, nor vitiate it with foul gases, nor smoke our ceilings and destroy our curtains; which can set fire to nothing; the globe of which can be hooked to an invalid's bed curtain without risk, or attached to flexible wires and taken into the most confined corners to give light to a workman, without danger of fire. It would fill a volume to state at length all the practical advantages which this development of electricity has opened up already and more than a volume to state all that it may be expected yet to accomplish.

Let it also be understood that while the foregoing illustrations have been stated in relation to water-power, they are equally true for any other power, such as steam-engine, gas-engine, horse-power, or human labor. The fixed engine on a farm can do the plowing hundreds of yards off. The gas engine that pumps water by day, can light the house at night. The horses that drag coal carts for many miles to work a steam engine in some outlaying place, can be used at home instead to work an electric machine, with no loss of time, and in many cases with less waste of labor. The convicts on a treadmill can be doing work by it in any part of, or outside, the prison.

In a word, the power for work can be generated by any ordinary means, and any place where the means exist, and can then be economically conveyed to the spot where it is to be usefully employed without loss of time and practically in full strength. The tide on the shore can do work inland; the stream in the mountain gorge can do work on the hilltop; the windmill on the eminence can do work in the valley; the horse in the yard or the man in the outhouse can do work inside the dwelling. And with all its power and its universality of application, this new servant which science has supplied us with is the the most docile of menials. A touch of a lady's finger will bring into action a power which a thousand men could not resist; another touch will stop its action or reverse it in a moment.

Paid to Look.

A young man stood silent on Broadway yesterday. He was good looking and neatly dressed. He appeared to be very much absorbed in contemplating some object across the street. He was so oblivious of his own personality that when he was jostled by some one of the passing throng he paid not the least attention to it. A push, a thrust in the ribs, produced, seemingly, no response in his sensibilities. He stood long and patiently, turning his eyes neither to the right nor to the left.

At length the fixity of his attention and gaze attracted the attention of a plasterer who was passing. The plasterer stopped short and followed with his eyes the gaze of the young man. A boy, observing the youth and the plasterer staring across the street, joined them. Then came a washwoman, then a bank clerk, then a man of leisure, then two negro swells, and finally a simple crowd of a promiscuous nature was collected, all looking in silent admiration at two men in an opposite window, who were engaged, one in swinging Indian clubs, one in pulling away at a patent chest-expander. Meanwhile the original gazer had shifted his position. The reporter said:

"How much do you get an hour?"

The young man started. "Well, you see," he said, "the art of drawing a crowd is a peculiar one. I get twenty-five cents an hour for the use of my eyes. I haven't read Mark Twain for nothing."

Then he resumed his twenty-five cents an hour interest in the window across the street, and looked around in the consciousness of being proficient in his art.—New York Sun.

The Draft of Chimneys.

At the closing meeting of the British association Lord Rayleigh read a paper before the mechanical section on the effect of wind on the draft of chimneys, based upon experiments made with tubes and a fan driven by hydraulic power. He stated that a horizontal wind would usually promote a draft, except in cases where the chimney opened out upon a large expanse of wall, and so was indirectly affected. The cure in this case was to carry the chimney higher. When the wind was inclined downward to the chimney at an angle of thirty degrees and upward, there was a down-draft, and the maximum up-draft was produced by wind inclined upward at about the same angle. The simplest thing to prevent wind blowing down a chimney was to erect a T-piece on the top. In that case a vertical or inclined wind favored the draft, and the effect of a wind blowing through the T tube was practically nothing. Mr. Park Harrison suggested as the only real remedy an increase of draft. If all the chimneys in a house could be made to open into a common cloaca, a down-draft would hardly ever occur.

A Kansas City Distinction.

A young man well known in business and social circles, and not unknown in the journalistic profession, invited a young lady living on the "hoss" side of the city to attend the performance of "Edgewood Folks" one evening last week. With many regrets the young lady's old father, who, by the way, is a minister, objected to her attending the theatre, but that she would be pleased to accept an invitation to the opera.

The young man had not contemplated an expenditure of the opera attitude, but his gallantry forbade a refusal and he gracefully accepted. He readily observed, however, that the moral distinction between a beautiful pastoral play and an opera with ballet accompaniment is one of those things no fellow can find out.

In the current number of The Penn Magazine of History and Biography, Mr. Townsend Ward says that the firm of Baynton, Wharton & Morgan, whose head, John Baynton, died in 1773, lost so much by Indian depredations that, it is said, they had assigned to them in compensation what now forms the state of Indiana.

A BRAVE LADY.

She Endures the Pain of a Severe Surgical Operation Without Taking Chloroform.

[From the Courier.]

Mrs. Schoonmaker, of Creek Locks, Ulster Co., N. Y., had the misfortune to entirely lose the sight of one of her eyes, through an accident, and endured painful inflammatory action therein for two long years; the other eye finally becoming sympathetically affected, her general health seriously suffering; indeed, she was a mere wreck, a walking skeleton. In this terrible strait she consulted Dr. David Kennedy, of Roundout, N. Y., who told her at once that the injured eye must be removed. She quietly but firmly said: "All right, Doctor, but don't give me chloroform. Let my husband sit by my side during the operation, and I will neither cry out or stir." The work was done, and the poor woman kept her word, talk of soldierly courage! This showed greater pluck than it takes to face a hundred guns. To restore her general health and give tone and strength to the system, Dr. Kennedy then gave the "Favorite Remedy," which cleansed the blood and imparted new life to the long suffering woman. She rapidly gained health and strength, and is now well. The Favorite Remedy is a priceless blessing to women. No family should be without it. Your druggist has it. If not send to Dr. David Kennedy, Roundout, New York.

"YELLOW PETE."

A gentleman well known in Pittsburgh, Pa., had business relations in the West Indies, and went over to give the matter his personal supervision and attention. He there contracted a bilious affection, and his liver was in such a state of torpidity that it was utterly incapable of performing its functions. He tried many means to bring it back to a healthy condition and restore the system to a state of activity, but without success, until one day he was fortunate enough to have Burdock Blood Bitters recommended, and now his health is entirely restored. Read what was his experience. It speaks for itself: "After spending a few years in Jamaica I returned to this country about played out physically. My complexion was so changed that they used to call me Yellow Pete. I traveled much and tried everything I could think of to act upon the liver, but nothing seemed to do me any good, until one day I happened to hear of Burdock Blood Bitters. I tried it, and consider there is nothing like it. My sallow complexion is gone, and it has toned up the weak spots in my system generally.

"PETER L. COLLINS,
"Pittsburgh, Pa.

Such is Mr. Collins' experience, which is corroborated by hundreds of other unsolicited testimonials equally as reliable, proving that Burdock Blood Bitters now supplies a want long needed and that as a remedy for acting upon the blood, the liver, and the kidneys, it is simply peerless.

Sold by all druggists.

Farrand, Williams & Co., wholesale druggists, Detroit, Mich.

ESTATE OF JAMES EAST.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate Office in the City of Adrian, on Tuesday, the 31st day of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate James East, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Albert Kennetty, William Snedicor and R. Yakeley, alleging among other things, that the time limited by said court for the presentation of claims against said estate has expired, that said estate has not been closed, that the respectively have claims against said estate which they failed to present to the commissioners on said estate for their allowance, for reasons in said petition set forth, and praying for the revival of the commission heretofore issued from this court, according to the statute in such case made and provided.

Thereupon it is ordered, that Monday, the 27th day of November next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioners should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.

(A True Copy.)
A. H. BRIGGS, Probate Register. nov2

ESTATE OF FLORENCE ESTHER SMITH

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee—ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, on Thursday, the 2d day of November in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present, Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Florence Esther Smith, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of John B. Smith praying that administration of the estate of said deceased may be granted to Jerome F. N. Bowen or to some other suitable person.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the 27th day of November, A. D. 1882, at ten o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said petition and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.

(A true copy.)
NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate. nov2

COMMISSIONERS' NOTICE.

IN THE MATTER of the estate of Alvah Coddington, deceased.

The undersigned, having been appointed by the Judge of Probate for the County of Lenawee, Michigan, Commissioners to receive, examine and adjust all claims and demands against the estate of Alvah Coddington, late of said county deceased, hereby give notice that we will meet for that purpose at the office of Edwin B. Wood, in the village of Tecumseh, Lenawee county, Michigan on the 20th day of December 1882, and on the 20th day of April, 1883, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of each of said days, and that six months from the 2d day of October, 1882, have been allowed by the said court for the creditors of said estate to present said claims for examination and adjustment.

Dated October 2d, 1882.

ORRAN B. FINCH,
LYON MARDEN,
Commissioners.

oct12

ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE.

By virtue of an order of sale granted by the Judge of Probate for the County of Lenawee I, Gideon D. Perry, administrator of the estate of Abner Stanley, deceased, will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, on Saturday the 2nd day of December, A. D. 1882, at 11 o'clock A. M., at the late residence of said deceased, on the premises hereinafter described, the following real estate, viz: All those tracts or parcels of land situate in the township of Franklin, in the county of Lenawee and State of Michigan, and described as the east half of the east half of the southwest quarter and the west half of the northwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section thirty-four in town five south of range two east, containing sixty acres of land, more or less. Subject to the right of dower and homestead rights of Caroline Stanley, widow of said deceased therein.

Dated Nov. 9th, 1882.

GIDEON D. PERRY.

CATARRH! When you have had Catarrh long enough and want to be cured, just write to DR. C. R. SYRES, Chicago, Ill., for full information of a sure cure. You will NEVER REGRET IT.

SURE CURE

ESTATE OF EVELINA M. DOTY.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate Office in the city of Adrian, on Monday, the 23d day of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present, Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Evelina M. Doty, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Edwin B. Wood, administrator of said estate, alleging that he has paid the debts of said deceased and all the expenses of administration of said estate thus far incurred, and praying for the allowance of his final account, for an assignment and distribution of the residue of said estate according to the statute in such case made and provided, and for his discharge.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the 20th day of November next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing. (A True Copy.)

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.
A. H. BRIGGS, Probate Register. oct26

ESTATE OF JERUSHA MITCHELL.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee—ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the county of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office in the city of Adrian, on Monday, the 23d day of October in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Jerusha Mitchell deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Frederick B. Wood, administrator of said estate, alleging that he has paid the debts of said deceased and the expenses of administration thus far incurred, and praying for the allowance of his final account, for an assignment and distribution of the residue of said estate to and amongst the persons entitled thereto and for his discharge.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the 20th day of November next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.

(A True Copy.)
A. H. BRIGGS, Probate Register. oct26

ESTATE OF TIMOTHY MITCHELL.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the county of Lenawee, holden at the Probate Office in the city of Adrian, on Monday, the 23d day of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present, Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Timothy Mitchell, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Edwin B. Wood, administrator de bonis non with the will annexed, alleging, among other things, that the debts of deceased and the expenses of administration thus far incurred have been paid, and praying for the allowance of his final account, for an assignment and distribution of the residue of said estate according to the provisions of said will and for his discharge.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the 20th day of November next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing. (A True Copy.)

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.
A. H. BRIGGS, Probate Register. oct26

ESTATE OF ESTHER JONES.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, held in at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian on Monday, the 23d day of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present, Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Esther Jones, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Benjamin L. Baxter, and Edwin B. Wood, executors of the last will and testament of said deceased, praying for license to sell real estate of said deceased in said petition described for reasons therein set forth.

Thereupon it is ordered, that Monday, the 27th day of November next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing. (A True Copy.)

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.
A. H. BRIGGS, Probate Register. oct26

ESTATE OF JAY J. LOWE.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate Office in the city of Adrian, on Monday, the 6th day of November, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present, Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Jay J. Lowe, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Conrad L. Lowe, administrator of said estate, alleging that he has paid the debts of said deceased and the expenses of administration of said estate, and praying for the allowance of his final account, for an assignment and distribution of the residue of said estate to the persons entitled thereto, and for his discharge.

Thereupon it is ordered that Monday, the 4th day of December next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing. (A True Copy.)

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.
A. H. BRIGGS, Probate Register. nov12

COMMISSIONERS' NOTICE.

IN the matter of the estate of Ira Stewart, deceased.

The undersigned having been appointed by the Judge of Probate for the County of Lenawee, Michigan, commissioners to receive, examine and adjust all claims and demands against the estate of Ira Stewart, late of the township of Macon, Lenawee county, Michigan, deceased, hereby give notice that we will meet at the office of Charles Partridge, in the village of Tecumseh, Lenawee county, Michigan, on the 19th day of November 1882, and on the 4th day of April 1883, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of each of said days, and that six months from the 4th day of October 1882, are allowed by the said court for the creditors of said estate to present their said claims for examination and adjustment.

Dated Oct. 10th, 1882.

CHARLES RURRI, Jr.,
PETER S. McKINNON,
Commissioners.

oct12

CONSUMPTION.

I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed, so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE, together with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease, to any sufferer. Give Express and P. O. address.

DR. T. A. SLOCUM, 181 Pearl St., New York.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

Treasurer Gilfillan says the largest stock of silver dollars owned by the government is in San Francisco, where the people will not use them, after demanding the passage of the Bland bill.

The Washington monument has attained the height of the goddess of liberty on the capitol dome. The latter is 287 feet above the ground, which is 90 feet above the Potomac. The monument, standing on lower ground, is now 330 feet high, and has 22 feet, including 50 feet of roof, to go.

The car of the fish commission has left Washington with sixteen thousand young carp, the largest shipment yet made. The first distribution will be made at Quincy, Illinois, the second at Des Moines, and the last at St. Paul. Twenty carp are to be given to each applicant while the supply lasts.

Rumors of the resignation of Postmaster New, assisting Secretary of the Interior, are confidentially set afloat in Washington. This time they are based upon the fact that Secretary Folger has no inclination of retiring to private life. The shrewd politicians seem to think that Justice Bradley will be persuaded to step down from the bench to be succeeded by Secretary Folger, when Mr. New's ambition can be satisfied by advancement to the treasury chieftainship.

Dispatches to the Navy Department from United States naval officers at Honolulu show a serious state of affairs. There is dissatisfaction among the sugar planters, who addressed the King protesting against the cabinet, advising a more progressive and liberal policy. The King replied that he recognized the right of all to make suggestions, and that the matter would be considered. The King will be crowned on Feb. 12, when it is feared some popular demonstration against the government will be made. The sugar planters demand better opportunities for bringing labor and the adoption of a course which will ensure a continuation of the reciprocity treaty with the United States.

FALL'S AFFIDAVIT.

Frank H. Fall, charged with attempting to influence the vote of the star-route jurors, in referring to the statement recently published over his name, says he never made such a statement for publication. He charges that Wells doctored the affidavit he had made to suit his own purposes, and says, in short, the affidavit given out by the agent of the government as mine I never swore to, and they know it. He charges further that the prosecution is bringing a pressure to bear on him, and resorting to threats to compel him to shoulder the entire responsibility for what he did.

THE LAND OFFICE.

An evil which has grown to great proportions, and for which a remedy is being earnestly sought, is now engaging the attention of Commissioner McFarland, of the general land office. It is the practice of persons who make a trade of it, known as the "dummy" entries, from dispositions of their entry without having made the slightest improvement, as the law contemplates. Under the law, one year is allowed for improvements, but speculators have been in the habit of disposing of land before that period elapses, thus complying with the letter, while they violate the spirit of the law. The practice of employing land office attorneys to perform the entering of land, which was thought at the outset, a thing of attorneys for persons having business before receivers, has grown to such an extent that Commissioner McFarland has taken the matter in hand, and Washington Orlando Fletcher, a clerk in the land office, who lives at Mitchell, Dakota, was discharged for engaging in business.

STOP THE THIEVES.

A week ago it was mentioned that the attorney general had been investigating the leaks in his department, where, in the defense in the star-route cases, had been found the abstracted papers made by the government, and had been supposed to have been made by some one who could only have entered the department through the department clerk. Details of the investigation showed that the department was safe, and the result of a further search of it Chief Clerk Brady, Messrs. and Pasko, Chief Clerk Brady would be removed. The result of investigation, however, is that Messrs. Brady and Pasko will not be disturbed next week. Mr. Mulligan was appointed from New Jersey, and Mr. Gray from Wisconsin. Both have been in the department several years.

REMOVALS.

Now that the election is over a number of removals from the civil service are anticipated in some cases this seems to be a fair, but not the statement that they are going to be a general shaking up. Postmaster Gresham is on the ragged edge of a fall, and not far from the seat of power. Several of the bureau chiefs are mentioned, and there is a probability that Whitney will retire. Folger remains, or he has, for a while, managed more than it has been known to political affairs. Secretary Lincoln's experience in the Interior may lead him more to the supervision of pensions, Indians and less to politics, of a more decident nature. Although there have been official denials of the statement that Secretary Stewart L. Woodford is to go if Folger goes, he is said to be not over-anxious to pay anything for Woodford's or Robertson's leases of official life.

LAND DECISIONS.

Acting Secretary Joslyn, of the Interior department, has rendered a decision in which he holds that land entries made for grazing purposes do not constitute residence. He also decided that where the husband and wife voluntarily divorced in order that the wife might make an entry of land under the homestead law, the woman subsequently lived with her divorced husband. The decision holds that, in consequence thereof, the women can not be considered the head of a family, in the meaning of the law, and the entry was fraudulent. An important ruling was made by Commissioner McFarland, to establish a precedent in all cases of a similar character. It is a point not before upon in the history of the interior department. It grows out the case of simultaneous applications for a timber culture contract in the same section. After the receivers are instructed to sell to the entry with the highest number of trees, in such cases.

COL. MCKENZIE'S PROMOTION.

Gen. Howard McKenzie's promotion to the brigadier general has created heads of thirteen ranking colonels in the army circles. The officers say it will have many friends and a strong effort is to be made to defeat McKenzie's confirmation by the senate. Friends claiming, described to have attorneys, and have left nothing undone to induce the president's nomination. [illegible] in New York is said to have [illegible] tant in his favor, and [illegible] the president's action in raising McKenzie over his superiors. Army officers say that quite a number of [illegible] have expressed themselves as inclined to lend their influence against the prevailing system of favoritism in army promotions. In that case a bitter fight will be made between the army officers on the one side and McKenzie's political and social backers on the other.

SWINDLING CLAIM AGENTS.

The attention of Mr. Harmon, acting second auditor, has been called to the fact that unscrupulous claim-agents in various parts of the country are advertising that a law was recently passed under which all soldiers—deserters or otherwise—can get their pay and bounty, and requesting soldiers to send in their papers and their fees. The act referred to is one passed at the last session of congress, relieving of the charge of desertion soldiers who served faithfully till the close of the war, and then went home without waiting for the formalities of mustering out, and soldiers who deserted technically, but did not intend to desert, and who voluntarily returned to their commands. The act concludes as follows:

"And provided further, That no soldier, nor the heirs or legal representatives of any soldiers who served in the army a period of less than twelve months, or who intentionally deserted, shall be entitled to the benefit of the provisions of this act."

CRIMINAL AND DEFECTIVE CLASSES.

Mr. Fred. H. Wines, of Springfield, Ill., is in town on business connected with the census office. He is the special agent for the collection of statistics of the criminal and defective classes, the blind, insane, feeble-minded, etc. The information he has collected is not yet footed up and tabulated, but that work is now going on. The compendium of the census, which will be as much of that vast work as an ordinary citizen will be able to find room for in his library, will be ready to go to press in about a week, and Mr. Wines' visit is for the purpose of seeing that his portion of the compendium is properly prepared. As in all other branches, the present census will be much more complete, as its figures of the criminal and defective classes than any preceding census, but Mr. Wines was as the phrase is, "kicking comparisons" for this year. The present census will show a much larger number of insane persons, for example, than the last one did, but this fact will be due, not so much to the increase of insanity as to the much greater thoroughness of the present enumeration. On account of this difference in the relative thoroughness of the two enumerations, it will not be safe to make any comparisons at all. It will be impossible to learn even whether insanity is increasing. There are many other deficiencies in which preceding census [illegible] no means of making comparisons.

THE ARMY.

Gen. Sherman has submitted to the secretary of war a special report upon the subject of military posts and forts, in which he says: "The time is now ripe for a radical change in the whole system of piece-meal work in quartering the troops of the United States. For a hundred years we have been sweeping across the continent with a skirmish line, building a post here and another there, to be abandoned next year for another line, and soon, and now we are across and have posts everywhere, so that the whole problem is changed; and I advise the honorable secretary of war to go to congress with a plan that will approximate permanency, instead of as heretofore meeting specific temporary wants by special appropriations, often at the interests of parties, for the enlargement and improvement of military posts." Gen. Sherman recommends that the secretary of war ask congress for $1,000,000 per year for five years, to be expended by him at the discretion of the officers of the quartermaster's department. By that process he thinks they will have an abundance of good quarters for the whole army for the next fifty years.

ANOTHER BILL.

Conner I. Jones, a hotel-proprietor at Elberon, has put in his bill before the board of audit for entertaining the Garfield suite for fifteen days, Sept. 6 to 21. It amounts to $3,162.75. Mrs. Garfield, Miss Mollie Garfield, Dr. Boynton, Col. Rockwell, Mrs. Rockwell, Miss Rockwell, O. D. Rockwell, J. Stanley Brown, Gen. Swaim and Warner Young are all down on the bill for fifteen days at four dollars a day. There is a wide difference in the amount charged for entertaining the various doctors. Drs. Baynes cost only $16.50, and Dr. Woodward and Reyburn $12 each; but Dr. Bliss cost $78. In a memorandum added by Col. Rockwell to Mr. Jones' bill it is explained that Dr. Bliss' wife was with him. As Colonel Rockwell thought it proper to take his wife to Elberon and leave the bill [illegible] charged up against the [illegible] not in a position to complain [illegible] King only his [illegible] bill upon the Garfield [illegible] as exaggerated [illegible]. As Col. Rockwell [illegible] Elberon as private friends of the president, it would have looked [illegible] well had they settled [illegible]. Members of the cabinet [illegible] same errand as [illegible] but they do not seem [illegible] to have there at his expense. No [illegible] any in Jones' bill [illegible] Drs. Agnew and Hamilton.

THE COMING POSTAGE STAMP.

Mr. Gray, in charge of the stamp division, reports that there were issued to postmasters during the past fiscal year 680,[illegible] stamps. These represent a value of $[illegible]. This does not show the whole of the postage stamps of the year, but it does show the great bulk of it. The estimates for the next fiscal year are based on the assumption that the revenues will increase 10 per cent. annually. If the sale of postage stamps in the year 1883–4 shows that amount of increase over the sales of [illegible] it will amount to $23,961,077 stamps, or $11,980,832. The immediate effect of reducing letter postage to 2 cents would be to reduce that amount by one-third, or $8,283,[illegible]. Third Assistant Postmaster Hazen's annual estimate promises a surplus of very nearly $4,000,000 for the year 1883–4, but Mr. Hazen himself is confident that the surplus will amount to $5,000,000. If congress this winter reduces letter postage to 2 cents the most serious result that could follow would be a deficit at the end of the fiscal year of $3,000,000 or $4,000,000. This is a better showing than the department could make a few years ago. During the four years before [illegible] the average annual deficit was $[illegible]. It is evident that the department is [illegible] if not quite ready to carry letters for 2 cents. No account has been made of the increase of the revenues from a larger use of the mails as a result of the reduced postage. This would in a short time wipe out the deficit, and again make the department self-sustaining. Even at 2 cents per half ounce the government would get $[illegible] for carrying letters, and the [illegible] letters by the ton, even at that rate, go a long way to offset the [illegible] pound.

THE NEXT HOUSE.

The elections to the national house of representatives appear to give the democrats a majority of 122, and the independents [illegible] of 33. Many of the members have [illegible] their congressional districts [illegible] and that the results in [illegible] will be changed on the 4th of March.

[illegible] Republic Independent [illegible] Dem. [illegible]

Alabama	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Arkansas	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
California	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Colorado	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Connecticut	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Delaware	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Georgia	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Illinois	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Indiana	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Iowa	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Kansas	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Kentucky	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Louisiana	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Maine	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Maryland	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Massachusetts	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Michigan	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Minnesota	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Mississippi	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Missouri	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Nebraska	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Nevada	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
New Hampshire	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
New Jersey	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
New York	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
North Carolina	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Ohio	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Oregon	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Pennsylvania	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Rhode Island	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
South Carolina	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Tennessee	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Texas	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Vermont	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Virginia	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
West Virginia	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Wisconsin	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

Mrs. McLachman, wife of a wealthy farmer residing near Ottawa, Ontario, killed herself with paris green because a neighbor refused her offers to purchase his lands and sold them to another.

It is said that 90,000,000 of postage-stamps are annually sold in this country, and all of them have to be licked before they will do their duty.

Lord Dufferin, after a cordial reception at Alexander by British and native officials, proceeded to Cairo by special train.

A hotel proprietor at Elberon, New Jersey, has forwarded to the auditing board a bill for $1,162.75 for entertaining the Garfield suite for fifteen days.

Sheriff Manning, of El Paso, Texas, says he knows the whereabouts of Thomas J. Navin, the Adrian bond-forger, and desires extradition papers for his capture in Mexico.

Work has begun on the fire-proof pension office at Washington, located on the square bounded by F and G and Fourth and Fifth streets, and two years will be required to erect the structure.

Vanderbilt has recently sold to savings banks in New York, in a quiet way, no less than $10,000,000 of his 4 per cent. bonds, two points below the current market price.

At Henrietta, Texas, R. M. Donley, a young lawyer, was shot dead by C. M. Burgess, the defeated candidate for county judge, for sentiments uttered in a campaign speech.

Edward Hanlon, the oarsman, has gone to Toronto to close up his business, intending to become a citizen of New York to meet the stipulations of a challenge to row next season.

Two blocks of ground in St. Louis, at Eighteenth and Poplar streets, has been transferred to Jay Gould, who has bought other large pieces in the same vicinity, to erect a union depot.

The announcement of extensive maneuvers by French cavalry in the eastern provinces is followed by a statement that German troops are being concentrated on the frontier.

MARRIED.

SELLERS—BREWSTER—At the residence of the bride's uncle, Wm. H. Mather, on the 6th inst, by Rev. C. E. Conley, Mr. Forrest Zellars and Marion L. Brewster, all of Tecumseh. No cards.

HOWLAND—PANGBURN—On the 9th inst, at the bride's residence, by Rev. C. E. Conley, Mr. N. A. Howland of Adrian, and Miss Nellie Pangburn of Tecumseh.

BAKER—PENTECOST—At Tecumseh, Wednesday evening, Nov. 15, by Rev. H. Shepard, Mr. Charlie E. Baker of Rome, and Miss Carrie E. Pentecost of Franklin.

LETTER LISTS.

Tecumseh.

Remaining unclaimed in the Post-Office at Tecumseh Nov. 15, 1882.

Craig, Miss Sarah J.	Palmer, Henry
Hall, Mr. A. B.	Smith, Lena
McKinney, Lucy B.	Vedder, John S. 2
Monck, Mr. Chas.

Persons calling for papers in the above list will please say "advertised."

FRED ROSACRANS, P.M.

GENERAL MARKETS.

CHICAGO.

WHEAT—Higher; Nov. [illegible] Dec. [illegible]. CORN—Lower; [illegible] the year [illegible]. Dec. [illegible]. Oats [illegible] 25½c. Dec. [illegible]. Pork [illegible] Nov. [illegible] Dec. $10.80. Lard [illegible]. Boxed [illegible]. We quote:

Fancy heavy steers	$6.25@6.50
Choice fat steers	5.25@5.75
Good [illegible]	5.00@5.00
Medium grade steers	4.25@5.00
Fair to medium steers	3.50@4.50

Hogs—Market firm. Sales ranged from $6.60@6.80 for light packing and shipping; $6.65@6.85 for heavy packing, and from $6.90@7.10 for fair to choice smooth heavy shipping lots.

BUTTER—Steady and firm. We quote: Choice to fancy Creamery at 32@33c ⅌ lb; ordinary to good do. 25@30c; good to fancy Dairy at 25@28c; common to fair do. 20@25c; Ladle-packed, 15@19c; packing stock at 13@16c; Grease, 9@11c.

NEW YORK.

WHEAT—Higher; No. 2 Nov., $1.06⅛@1.06¼; December, $1.09⅛@1.09⅝; January, $1.11⅝@1.11¾. CORN—Quiet; Mixed Western Spot, 82@83c.

CINCINNATI.

FLOUR—Market quiet; Family, $4.40@4.60. WHEAT—Firm; No. 2 Red Winter, 85⅞@86c. CORN—Lower; No. 2 Mixed, 52c. OATS—Higher; No. 2 Mixed, 36½c. RYE—Quiet; No. 2 Fall, 62c. PROVISIONS—Pork dull at $22.00. Lard quiet at $11.50.—Bulk Meats firm; Clear sides $9.00@11.12½. Bacon dull; Clear sides $16.50.

MILWAUKEE.

WHEAT—Lower; November, 93½c; December, 94½c; January, 94½c; No. 3, 78½c. CORN—Higher at 69c for No. 2. OATS—Firm; No. 2 White, 35c. RYE—Higher; 8c No. 1. BARLEY—Lower at 78c for No. 2.

ST. LOUIS.

WHEAT—Higher; No. 2 Red Nov., 92½@92⅝c; December, 93⅞@94¼c; Jan., 96⅝. CORN—Lower; November, 32⅞@33c; the year, 33@33¼c; Jan., 40@40½c. OATS—Higher; Nov., 32@32½c; Dec., 32@32¼c; the year 32@32½c. RYE—Lower at 56½c. BARLEY—Steady at 60@85c. PROVISIONS—Pork lower at $22.00. Dry Salt Meats quiet at $10.37½, 15.00, 15.50. Bacon steady at $11.00, 16.12, 17.12½. Lard lower; $11.45. HOGS—Higher; Yorkers, $6.20@6.40; butchers' to best heavy, $6.80@7.10.

BALTIMORE.

FLOUR—Quiet; Western Superfine, $3.50@4.00; do. extra, $4.25@4.75; Family, $4.87@6.00. WHEAT—Western lower; No. 2 Winter Red Spot and Nov., $1.04@1.04¼; December, $1.05⅛@1.06; January, $1.08⅝@1.08¾. CORN—Western higher; Mixed Spot and November, 78@80c; December, 64⅞@65c. OATS—Higher; Western White, 46@46c; Mixed do. 43@43½c. RYE—Higher at 56@65c.

BOSTON.

WOOL—Quiet; Ohio and Pennsylvania extras 46@44½c; Michigan do. 38½@39c; combing and delaine selections 42@50c; unwashed [illegible]; pulled wools, 25@50c.

TECUMSEH MARKET.

Corrected Every Thursday Morning.

Apples, ⅌ barrel	1 75 @	2 00
Apples dried, ⅌ lb	09 @	06
Butter, ⅌ lb	20 @	25
Barley, ⅌ bushel	60 @	72
Beans, ⅌ bushel	1 75 @	2 25
Buckwheat, ⅌ bushel	60 @	1 50
Buckwheat Flour, ⅌ hundred	0 @	1 50
Beef, dressed, ⅌ hundred	8 00 @	9 00
Beef Hides	5 @	6
Calf Skins, ⅌ lb	8 @	10
Corn, ⅌ ear	30 @	40
Corn—Shelled, ⅌ bushel	70 @	75
Clover Seed	5 00 @	5 25
Chickens—dressed	13 @	15
Eggs, ⅌ doz	25 @	22
Flour, ⅌ barrel	7 50 @	8 25
Hogs—dressed, ⅌ cwt	7 50 @	7 00
Hogs—live, ⅌ cwt	4 75 @	5 00
Hay, ⅌ ton	7 00 @	9 00
Honey, ⅌ lb	@	15
Ham, ⅌ lb	9 @	11
Lard, ⅌ lb	9 @	12
Oats, ⅌ bushel	33 @	34
Onions, ⅌ bushel	@	60
Potatoes, ⅌ bushel	42 @	45
Salt, ⅌ barrel	@	1 20
Sheep Pelts	50 @	1 00
Timothy Seed, ⅌ bushel	@	2 50
Turkeys—dressed, ⅌ lb	@	10
Wood, ⅌ cord	4 00 @	4 00
Wheat, White, ⅌ bushel	91 @	1 00
Wheat, Red, ⅌ bushel	91 @	1 00
Wool	30 @	33

ST. NICHOLAS is above anything we produce in the same line.—LONDON TIMES.

ST. NICHOLAS,

FOR

YOUNG FOLKS.

PARENTS who desire entertaining and wholesome reading for their children, and young folks who enjoy accounts of travel and adventure, historical incidents, stories, pictures, household amusement, and harmless fun, will find these in ST. NICHOLAS, which is recognized by the press and public of both England and America, as The Best and Finest Magazine for children ever printed. The new volume, which begins with the November number, and opens with a colored frontispiece, will be much the finest ever issued, and the attention of all parents and all reading young folks is invited to the following partial list of attractions:

The Tinkham Brothers' Tide Mill.

A new serial story, by T. T. Trowbridge, formerly editor of "Our Young Folks," and author of the Jack Hazard stories, etc.

The Story of Vitean.

An historical novelette of Garibaldi's life in the 14th century.

The Story of Robin Hood.

An account of the famous yeoman, by Maurice Thompson, author of The Witchery of Archery.

The Story of the Field of the Cloth-of-Gold.

By E. S. Brooks. To be illustrated with many remarkable pictures.

A Brand New Nation.

A capital and novel play.

Swept Away.

A serial story of the Mississippi floods of 1882.

Elizabeth Thompson.

A biographical paper regarding this celebrated painter of battle-scenes.

Where was Villiers?

A thrilling story of the Russo-Turkish war.

The Boy at the White House.

An account of the life of "Tad" Lincoln. By Noah Brooks, author of The Boy Emigrants.

Comedies for Children.

A fine series of juvenile plays, and including A CHRISTMAS MASQUE, "THE FALSE SIR SANTA CLAUS," prepared expressly for holiday times.

Price $3.00 a year; 25 cents a number. Subscriptions should begin with the November number. The succeeding issue, The Wonderful Christmas Number, will have, also, a colored frontispiece and many unusual attractions.

THE CENTURY CO., New York, N. Y.

DO

Not Fail to send for our FALL Price-List for 1882. Free to any address upon application. Contains descriptions of everything required for Personal or Family use, with over 2,200 illustrations. We sell all goods at wholesale prices, in quantities to suit the purchaser. The only institution in America who make this their special business. Address

MONTGOMERY WARD & CO.,
227 and 229 Wabash Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

ESTATE OF BETSEY WESTCOTT.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.

At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, on Wednesday, the 8th day of November, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present, Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Betsey Westcott, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Hiram Westcott, executor of the last will and testament of said deceased, alleging that he has paid the debts of said deceased and the expenses of administration, and praying for the allowance of his final account and for his discharge.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the 11th day of December next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of said Petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said Petitioner give notice to persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.

(A True Copy.)

A. H. BRIGGS, Probate Register. nov16

ESTATE OF WILLIAM TAYLOR.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.

At a session of the Probate Court for the county of Lenawee, holden at the Probate Office in the city of Adrian, on Wednesday, the 8th day of November, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present, Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of William Taylor, an insane person.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Charles C. Tuff, guardian of said insane person, praying for license to sell the real estate of said insane person in said petition described for reasons therein set forth.

It is ordered, That Monday, the 11th day of December next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the next-of-kin of said ward and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.

(A True Copy.)

A. H. BRIGGS, Probate Register. nov16

A CURE GUARANTEED IN ALL CASES

For Old and Young, Male and Female,

Magnetic Medicine; a Brain and Nerve food. Positively cures Night Losses, Spermatorrhœa, Impotency, Nervous Debility, Leucorrhœa, Barrenness, and for all (BEFORE) weaknesses of the Generative (AFTER) organs in either sex, it is an unfailing and positive cure. Tones up the debilitated system, arrests all involuntary discharges, removes mental gloom and despondency, and restores wonderful power to the weakened organs. ☞ With each order for twelve packages, accompanied with five dollars, we will send our Guarantee to refund the money if the treatment does not effect a cure. It is the Cheapest and Best Medicine in the market. Full particulars in Pamphlet, which we send free to any address. Sold by all druggists, one package $0 dollars; six for $2.50, or sent by mail on receipt of price by addressing the MAGNETIC MEDICINE CO., DETROIT, MICH. Guarantees issued in Tecumseh by Waldo & Isaac.

AN OLD FRIEND

When you took the American Agriculturist you thought it just splendid. It is now more valuable to you than ever, being specially adapted for the West. Send stamp for specimen copy and see how wonderfully the paper has improved. ☞ Price, $1.50 a year. English or German edition. ORANGE JUDD CO., 751 Broadway, New York.

PATENTS

We continue to act as Solicitors for Patents, Caveats, Trade Marks, Copyrights, etc., for the United States, Canada, Cuba, England, France, Germany, etc. We have had thirty-five years' experience.

Patents obtained through us are noticed in the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN. This large and splendid illustrated weekly paper, $3.20 a year, shows the progress of science, is very interesting, and has an enormous circulation. Address MUNN & CO., Publishers of SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN, 37 Park Row, New York. Hand-book about Patents free.

CATARRH! SURE CURE. When you have had Catarrh long enough and want to be cured, send your address to E. S. SPRAGUE, Chemist, Rochester, N. Y. Information of a vital importance will be sent you by return mail.

Cheapest FURNITURE House

IN MICHIGAN.

Cut this out for Reference!

PARLOR SUITS from	$35 00 to $300 00
MARBLE-TOP Chamber Sets from	38 00 to 300 00
SPRING BEDS from	1 50 to 8 00
MARBLE-TOP TABLES from	4 50 to 25 00
LOUNGES from	6 00 to 50 00
WOOD-CHAMBER SETS from	20 00 to 45 00
MATTRESSES OF ALL KINDS from	1 75 to 24 00
CAMP CHAIRS from	2 00 to 10 00

Our prices are from 10 to 25 per cent. cheaper than any other Furniture House in Michigan. DON'T buy a dollar's worth of Furniture till you visit our Mammoth Warerooms, see our goods and get our prices.

ALL GOODS PACKED AND DELIVERED AT THE DEPOTS FREE OF CHARGE.

WE WILL SAVE YOU MONEY.

DUDLEY & FOWLE,

125, 127 & 129 Jefferson Avenue, DETROIT.

6,048 Feet of Band Instruments Sold by the Detroit Music Co.

63 Bands averaging 16 members each, each horn averaging 6 feet—Total 6,048 ft.

We refer you to any of the following bands, who have full sets of our Instruments:

Owosso, Lapeer, Otisville, Mt. Morris, Chester, Groveland, Capac, Frankfort, St. Louis, Carleton, Memphis, New Haven, Richmond, Grand Trunk Junction, Springwells, Tuscola, Marville, Big Rapids, Reed City, Chase, Golden Theatre Co. (2)—at the close of the season 1880 each member bought his own instrument, in the spring of 1881 Prof. Rodi bought another full set—Williams Theatre Co., Whitney family, Imlay City, Washington, Flat Rock, Columbiaville, Otter Lake, Merrill, Wis.; Alma, Goodrich, Kelly's band, (City) Wyandotte, Jackson, K. P., Linden, Wallz, Denison, Texas; Port Sanilac, Lexington, Mecosta, Seneca, Kansas; Weston, Marine City, Edmore; Stony Point, Ont; Fenton, (3); Flushing, Carrollton, Mo.; C. R. Mabley, Petoskey, Howard City, Harbor Springs, Wayne, Belleville, Harrison, St. John's, (ladies); St. Clair, Clarkston. Also one or more of our instruments are used in nearly every band in the country.

CURBERDAN. 224 Woodward Ave., Detroit Mich. HARRY R. WILLIAMS.

1882. 1883.

FOR DURABILITY,

BUY THE

ANDERSON GREGG

AT MARSDEN'S.

WANTED!

All who intend buying a SEWING MACHINE to know that they can save money by buying at the

TECUMSEH SEWING MACHINE ROOMS.

The largest stock and best assortment in the State.

SOLD ON TERMS TO SUIT ALL.

Good Machines from

$10.00 and UPWARDS.

Use none but LANDGRAF'S

CACHALOT OIL.

Trade established since 1868.

MRS. CHARLES LAWRENCE

—Has opened her—

Dress-making Rooms!

In Connection With

A. B. COTTON'S STORE.

And is prepared to do cutting, fitting and manufacturing in the most approved styles promptly and for reasonable Prices.

The Tecumseh Herald.

VOL. XXXIII.--NO 28 TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 23, 1882. WHOLE NO. 1666

Team Ran Away!

some time ago, but the folks did not get hurt, yet A. W. Slayton's sales last week in furniture were simply enormous.

Small Boy Run Over

to your neighbors and tell them that they can buy a spring bed, feather pillows, wool mattresses, looking glasses, sewing machines, chairs, tables, and beds cheaper than any place in the county.

BIG BOY HURT!

Yes his feelings are hurt because he did not buy his furniture at A. W. Slayton's. He found out he could have saved $4.80. He will go to Slayton's next time.

Wagon Badly Smashed!

but our Furniture is all new and fresh, and for 60 days will be sold lower than any other house can sell. A. W. SLAYTON.

CROWN JEWEL, King of Base Burners. | JEWEL OAK, Handsomest round stove in the world.

CALL AND SEE THE LARGEST AND BEST ASSORTED

LINE OF STOVES

Ever shown in Southern Michigan, and at prices TOO LOW TO MENTION.

Whitenack, Bordine & Co.

The Newest Designs

CLOAKS, PALETOTS AND DOLMANS.

Perfect Fitting,

Tastefully Trimmed

and Carefully Made.

Ready Made & to Measure

A. B. COTTON,

New Clothing,
New Cloths,
New Hats & Caps.

We are in daily receipt of new and seasonable goods, and can now show the most complete line in every department to be found in the market.

Our facilities for furnishing anything needed by boy or man are unequaled, and our prices are acknowledged on all hands to be the lowest. We invite an early inspection.

STRONG & McNAIR.

AROUND THE COUNTY.

MACON CENTER.

The corn crop is nearly secured, and will average about 75 per cent.

Farmers are fall plowing.

Simon Linn has the new wing to his house nearly completed.

Hank Pockington is plastering the new addition to his house.

All political parties claim to have gained something in the late election.

There was a surprise social at George Stimson's last Friday evening. A big crowd and a good time.

John R. Clark writes from N. Y., engaging Grange Hall for his new lecture, to come off January 3.

L. B. Stewart, teacher in No. 4, is working up a teacher's institute, to come off at the hall. We hope the inspectors and teachers will assist at the enterprise.

The next regular meeting of Macon Center Division, No. 192, S. of T., is next Saturday evening, the 25th. A full attendance is solicited.

The citizens' lecture course, at Grange Hall, is a foregone conclusion. About eighty tickets sold and nearly all of the speakers engaged, and will consist of such talent as Geo. Bain, of Kentucky; Mrs. Bristol, of N. J.; J. J. Woodman, of Mich.; Jesse Harper, of Ill.; Whitehead, of N. Y., &c. Season tickets can be procured of the canvassing committee, at 75 cents each for two or more. The committee consists of A. Easlick, D. Bailey, C. Foot, J. W. Baker, I. S. Osborn, J. W. Osborn, J. Hunter, F. Beland and A. Russell. The course will commence about the first of December, and embrace eight lectures, each of which will be duly published. There is no such thing as fail financially, the funds having all been pledged, and it is the design of the executive committee to have it equal intellectually any course presented by the neighboring villages, and we trust the citizens will see that the house is well filled, at least in approbation of the enterprise, it being the first attempt at a lecture course in the rural districts hereabouts.

A. E.

EAST TECUMSEH.

Threshing just done for Jas. A. Aten and Vance Goheen, being the last on the list. Mr. Aten has the nicest straw stack there is in the county, we think. It was built by James Noble who is considered the boss straw stacker.

Isaac Hendershot has just got his new house enclosed.

Will Rector is making extensive repairs on his dwelling house.

School commenced last Monday with a full attendance.

Last Saturday night was the most exciting meeting of the Literary since it resumed duties this fall.

If the person who found that fur glove last spring which belonged to A. G. Hall don't want to return it he can have the mate to it by calling on Mr. Hall and paying expenses, for he thinks it hard to turn one hand out in the cold these frosty mornings.

At the next meeting of the Literary Society the following program will be carried out:

Inst. Music—F. H. Benedict.
Dec.—Grant Garlinghouse.
Rec.—Louise Nobles.
Music—Wm. Richart.
Select Reading—J. S. Boyce.
Dec.—Charles Nobles.
Vocal Duet—Nellie Boyce and Rhoda Benedict.
Rec.—Florence Merritt.
Reading—Lillie Goheen.
Music by the choir.
Lecture.

RIDGEWAY.

Pick out your Thanksgiving turkey.

John Larkin is repairing his barn.

Mrs. Susan Clark has a new windmill.

Marstellar is putting up considerable work at the cemetery this fall.—He is furnishing most of the marble this way lately.

Mrs. Benj. VanDeventer and a daughter of Geo. Smith, both from Gratiot county, are out on a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. James Campbell, of Clinton county, are spending a few weeks among friends in this locality. Last week one of their children was taken suddenly and seriously sick and was not expected to recover for several days, but is now improving.

Elbert Austin, son of Geo. Austin, was instantly killed by the cars at Cadillac last week. His remains were brought here and interred last Friday.

The readers of the HERALD are much pleased to receive their paper Thursday evening.

An oyster supper is announced for this week Friday evening in the basement of the church. It is gotten up by the church social society, the proceeds to be used in repairing the windows of the church.

BRITTON.

All ready for a freeze up.

Our mill firm want to buy 500,000 feet of logs.

James Underwood is laid up with a broken knee-cap, which will probably keep him in for a while.

Waring & Kniffin have their mill nearly ready for business. They have a planer, matcher and re-saws ready to put in, and contemplate adding a run of stone for feed grinding; also machinery for the manufacture of sash, doors, blinds, &c.

FARMERS' CLUB.

The Farmers' Club will meet Friday evening, Dec. 1st, at R. B. Gillespie's.

PROGRAMME.
Music.
Recitation.....Grace Gillespie.
Declamation.....Frank Gillespie.
Essay.....Mrs. E. L. Russell.
Instrumental Music (on mouth organ), Henry Horton.
Song.....F. V. Horton.
Select Reading.....Joe Platt.
Essay.....Mrs. Fred. Waldron.
Charade...Ellen Fisher and Lizzie Henderson.
Discussion—Care of Sheep and manner of marketing wool—led by Frank Rector.

MRS. F. C. RECTOR, Sec'y.

A $20,00 Biblical Reward.

The publishers of Rutledge's Monthly offer twelve valuable rewards in their Monthly for December, among which is the following:

We will give $20,000 in gold to the person telling us how many verses there are in the New Testament Scriptures (not the New Revision) by December 10th, 1882. Should two or more correct answers be received, the reward will be divided. The money will be forwarded to the winner December 15th, 1882. Persons trying for the reward must send 20 cents in silver (no postage stamps taken) with their answer, for which they will receive the Christmas Monthly, in which the name and address of the winner of the reward and the correct answer will be published. This may be worth $20,00 to you; cut it out.—Address Rutledge Publishing Company, Easton, Penna.

The proprietors of Ely's Cream Balm do not claim it to be a cure all, but a sure remedy for Catarrh, Colds in the head and Hay Fever. Price 50 cents. Apply into nostrils with little finger.

My daughter and myself, great sufferers from Catarrh, have been cured by Ely's Cream Balm. My sense of smell restored and health greatly improved. C. M. Stanley, Dealer in Boots and Shoes, Ithaca, N. Y.

Mr. J. Vanderveen, Druggist, Gd. Haven, Mich.—I can safely recommend Ely's Cream Balm for the cure of Catarrh, Cold in the Head, &c.—Before I have used the first bottle I purchased of you I find myself cured. At times I could scarcely smell anything and had a headache most of the time. Henry Lilly, Agent for the American Express Co., Grand Haven, Michigan.

In its article on the opening of the fat stock show at Chicago the Inter Ocean says: "Mrs. Annie Newton, of Pontiac, Mich., is the only lady exhibitor, and her show of sheep is a credit to the state of Michigan. The exhibit includes Cotswolds, Lincolnshires, Shropshires and merinos. F. Wilson, of Jackson, Mich., has a choice lot of Essex on exhibition that will not be overlooked by good judges when the ribbons are distributed."

Doing a Great Deal of Good.

Mrs. J. Berry, of Portland, Me., writes—your Henry's Carbolic Salve is doing a great deal of good. Some of my friends have been greatly benefitted by its use. I think it is the best salve I have ever used. Beware of counterfeits.

Baker's Pain Panacea cures pain in man and beast. For use externally and internally.

Dr. Roger's Vegetable Worm Syrup instantly destroys Worms and removes the Secretions which cause them.

Dr. DeWitt C. Kellinger's Liniment is an infallible cure for Rheumatism, Sprains, Lameness and Diseases of the Scalp, and for promoting the growth of the hair.

Denton's Balsam cures Colds, Coughs, Rheumatism, Kidney troubles, etc. Can be used externally as a plaster.

Frowns blight young children, as frosty nights blight young plants.

Religion is the best armor in the world, but the worst cloak.

THE PROBATE COURT.

Following is the record of business transacted at the probate court for the week ending Nov. 18, 1882:

Estate of Minnie M. Leach, minor; petition for license to sell real estate; hearing December 11, 1882.

Estate of George W. Showerman, deceased; warrant and inventory.

Estate of Thomas Halstead, deceased; petition for the appointment of administrator; hearing December 11, 1882.

Estate of Amos Babcock, deceased; warrant and inventory.

Estate of Thomas C. Pinnell, deceased; affidavits of publishing and posting commissioners' notice; commissioners' warrant and report.

Estate of Susan Gilmore, deceased; affidavit of publication; order of appointment of administrator; bond filed; letters issued; order of time to pay debts.

Estate of Asa Gilmore, deceased; administrator's final account; assignment; distribution.

Estate of James M. Patterson, deceased; petition for the allowance of administratrix's final account; hearing December 11, 1882.

In the matter of the application for the appointment of three special drain commissioners for Riga township; affidavit of service filed; order of appointment.

Estate of Thomas Wilson, deceased; affidavit of publication; order of appointment of administrator; bond, $4,000.

Estate of George Osborn, deceased; testimony taken and filed.

Estate of Myron H. Roberts, deceased; affidavits of publishing and posting commissioners' notice; commissioners' warrant and report.

Estate of Mahlon Schomp, deceased; petition for proof of will; hearing December 11, 1882.

Estate of Adelaide Smith, deceased; affidavit of publication; license to sell real estate; oath before sale.

Estate of Margaret Collins and John C. J. Collins, minors; guardians' bond filed; letters of guardianship opened.

Estate of John Collins, deceased; affidavits of publishing and posting commissioner's notice; commissioner's warrant and report.

Estate of Louisa Pechtel, deceased; petition for the appointment of administrator; hearing December 11, 1882.

Estate of Duncan J. Stewart, deceased; receipts filed; discharge.

Estate of Lorenzo Ames, deceased; receipts filed; discharge.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS.

Below is a list of transfers of Real Estate in Lenawee County for the week ending Nov. 18, 1882:

ADRIAN.

Ellen R. Seymour to David Metcalf; land in city. $4,600.

Lucy A. Cheever to Jacob Cheever; land in city. $2,500.

Margaret F. Jewell to Philo Mills; land in city. $2,900.

BLISSFIELD.

A. D. Ellis to James L. Carpenter; land in village. $550.

CLINTON.

Frances E. Conger to Anson and Ann Hulet; land in village. $450.

FAIRFIELD.

S. Jane Rogers to S. B. Baker; land in village. $550.

Dina Butler to George R. Hill; land in Jasper village. $300.

HUDSON.

Chas. E. Ames to Eugene and Geo. Hapgood; land on sec 18. $2,500.

MACON.

B. J. Bidwell to James A. Hunter; land on sec. 16. $2,000.

MADISON.

Deborah A. Clark to S. & A. Allen; land on sec. 28. $9,600.

MEDINA.

J. C. Christophers to Charles Guss; land in village. $5,200.

PALMYRA.

Stephen R. Harkness to B. I. Laing; land on sec. 2. $3,500.

RAISIN.

B. I Laing to S. R. Harkness; land on secs. 20 and 29. $8,900.

SENECA.

Jeff. Fuller to Matthew B. Mills; land in Morenci village. $300.

Mat. B. Mills to Mary L. Davision; land in Morenci village. $350.

TECUMSEH.

Ben. F. Reynolds et al., to D. P. Anthony and Jas. A. Boyd; land in village. $2,075.

Battle Creek, Mich., Sept. 25.

Dear Sir:—In my family for the past two years, your Columbian Oil has been in frequent use for a variety of complaints, for which it is recommended by you, and with the most decided success, I have used it myself for lameness in the back, and have found it to give immediate relief. I am persuaded that it is an excellent remedy in the cases for which you make special claims of its efficacy, and believe it to be an excellent medicine for every family to keep on hand.—George Willard, Editor Daily and Weekly Journal.

The Ypsilantian says: In the recent death of three pioneers—Alanson Ambrose, Mrs. Stark and Mrs. Aber—a queer coincidence is completed. They came to Michigan the same week, settled on farms adjoining each other, died the same month from the same disease—paralysis.

If slander be a snake it is a winged one; it flies as well as creeps.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

A post of the G. A. R. has been established at Union City.

Geo. Parker, of Vassar is to be sent to an asylum for the insane.

The Michigan baptists are preparing to inaugurate a revival of religion.

The Chippewa Democrat, of Sault St. Marie, has suspended operations.

The walls of the new university library building are up, and it is now being roofed.

The Lutherans of Marine City have built and dedicated a new church, which cost $4,000.

Harris Higgins, of Juniata, Tuscola county, committed suicide by cutting his throat last week.

Geo. W. Andrew, of Dowagiac, who died last week had been a resident of that place about 35 years.

Five letter carriers will handle the Bay City mail under the free delivery system.

Steps are being taken for stirring up a big revival of religion in the Saginaw valley.

A Canadian named Thompson was killed at Brown's camp on the Au Gres river last week by a falling tree.

Charles D. Pattee, the Bridgeport postmaster accused of robbing the mails, has been released on $2,000 bail.

The work of grading the Jackson extension of the Grand Trunk road will begin this week at the Jackson end.

The American lumber company, of Marquette, calls for contractors to come forward and get out 30,000,000 feet of pine logs this winter.

The Kalamazoo Gazette recklessly states that 200 votes were bought by republicans in that place at the last election. Names and prices, please.

Dr. Pengelly, Kalamazoo, Mich., will promptly answer all inquiries concerning Zoa-Phora, the Health bringer for Women.

Fred Groves, aged 10, while trying to catch on to a street car at East Saginaw fell beneath the wheels and had one hand and arm maimed for life.

On Monday Byron Cole of near Grand Ledge, took a dose of strychnine in mistake for quinine. At last report he was still alive.

The constitutional amendment relative to increasing the salaries of circuit judges is undoubtedly carried by a handsome majority.

E. S. Phillips' shingle mill, two miles north of Mecosta, burned last week; loss $3,000 or thereabouts, with $1,000 insurance.

Judge H. G. Wells, of Kalamazoo, president of the court of commissioners on the "Alabama claims," has gone to Washington and taken rooms for the winter.

Geo. C. Hopper has for nine years past been paymaster of the Michigan Central railroad, disbursing $27,000,000 and not stealing a cent. When he dies he ought to have a monument a mile high.

Ed. Percival, a well-known broom and brush manufacturer of Port Huron, has invented and will soon begin the manufacture of an improved brush for cleaning the inside of tumblers, goblets, cups, pitchers, etc.

The Tittabawassee boom company shut down for the season last Thursday. This company rafted out 619,000,000 feet of logs this season, which is alleged to have been the biggest work of the kind ever done by one company.

Two Grand Rapids people are reported as having become insane thro' the excitement attendant upon the "Boy Preacher's" meetings in that city. There has been a sad need of a revival at Grand Rapids, but no particular call for an increase of the crop of lunatics.

In 1878 Miss E. B. Truesdall, a school teacher at Hancock, Mich., applied for an increase of salary. It was refused and she packed up $1,000 she had saved and went to Fargo and invested her money in real estate; and to-day she is worth $40,000. Go west, young woman!

The intelligent voters of Waukeshma township, Kalamazoo county, voted this year in boxes that had not yet been emptied of last year's ballots. The count was made by picking out the last year's votes and then counting what was left.

Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure.

"Four On Oil."

L. F. Follett, Marion, O., states that he has used Thomas' Eclectric Oil for burns, and has found nothing to equal it in soothing the pain and giving relief.

A Regular Tomboy.

She comes! she comes! with song and glee
She leads her train o'er lawn and lea!
And fair and free her wind-blown tress,
Her sweet girl voice, that bird-like sings,
Her merry laugh, that tireless rings
High o'er those booming sounds of sport—
All hail, wild queen of madcap court!

No dainty chain will this gay girl
E'er weave to deck her dancing curl;
No wreath entwine of bud or bell,
Though both, she wots, become her well;
Not hers to guess of joy or grief
By counting of a holly leaf;
She tempts not fortune's smile or frown
By puffs of dandelion down;
No necklace frames of rowan gems,
Nor fragrant, flower-wrought diadems!

No pict she to doze and dream
Long, lazy hours by hunted stream!
If small the brook, she'll head her train,
And leap it o'er and back again!
Or if her boys will but away
She'll wade it, may be—I can't say.
Her boys—all boys—around her press
For love of her sweet winsomeness,
And dogs that bark for very glee—
A harum scarum company!

She's o'er the lea, she's won the wood,
This dainty bud of maidenhood!
Those joyous peals, I trow, bespeak
The gay, glad mirth of hide-and-seek.
As hazel dell and brackened glade
Her graceless band in turns invade
Little she recks of rents or shreds,
But boldly breasts the bramble beds!

'Tis she has bade them rig the swing,
And wood for fires unhallowed bring;
'Tis she the torch filch'd waves,
And leads her troops through murky caves;
'Tis she has crossed the pine trunk thin,
That, rocking, bridges yon dark linn—
With joyous cheer and wild hallOo
Hounds on her host so derring-do!

'Tis she has taught those nimble feet
To scatter wide the windrows sweet;
On fragrant hayricks led the foe,
And long hours' work at once laid low.
Yet Farmer Swan, who from the stile
Had watched it all, ne'er ceased to smile—
"God bless her purty face! She be A regular tomboy, sar indee!"

SILAS BARCLAY'S PREFERMENT.

The Reverend Silas Barclay had reached his five-and-sixtieth year, hale, hearty and strong and was one of the best educated men in the country, but, in all the world, he had not an influential friend.

His was but a poor parish. We may judge something of the ability of his flock when it is recorded that from his curacy and the tuition of the few students who came to him for help in their studies—he prepared young men for college, and also gave instruction to young students for the ministry—from all sources he gained an income of not more than £200 per annum, upon which he went on, living the humble, useful life, giving help and happiness to those poorer than himself whenever the opportunity was.

One chill, rainy October evening our good old curate was in trouble. He had received a letter from Scotland, where he had an only son living, informing him that dire misfortune had befallen his boy, however, married, and with a family of his own. He had a great deal of sickness; his wife had been prostrated duping the Summer, and was not yet able to be around; and altogether he was in sore distress. Oh! could not his good old father help him?

"Alas!" the old man murmured, "it is very hard for poor George. Wife, is there not some way in which we can give him help? Can you think of anything we can do?"

The wife looked at him with an ominous shake of the head.

"Help! Ah! who would help him more quickly than would I? But where are we to find it?"

The clergyman's countenance fell.—He was obliged to acknowledge that he had not the money, and further that he knew not where he was to find it.

"But, dear wife, let us not borrow trouble. Never have I seen the righteous forsaken, nor his seed begging bread! Something will come to help us."

Mrs. Barclay looked as though she would like to give him a severe lecture for his willingness to find anything hopeful in their present situation; but there was something in the warm, loving, and generous light of his really happy face that withheld her from the harsh criticism which had been evidently upon her tongue.

She had opened her lips, and was upon the point of speaking, when the tramp of a horse was heard upon the pavement at the gate, and are long thereafter, a smart rap sounded upon the door. The clergyman took up a lighted candle and answered the summons.

The caller proved to be a Frenchman, on his way to Norwich, who had been overtaken by the storm; was wet and cold and hungry, and knew not where to look for a public house. He did not feel that he could, with safety to his health—to say nothing of bodily comfort—travel any further in the storm.

He was a respectable-looking man, rather under-sized, and dark of complexion; and the good wife, when she saw him was afraid of him. As soon as she could gain an opportunity to speak with her husband apart, she urged him not, on any account, to ask the man to stop over night. The curate's answer to this was curious, and, when considered in the light of subsequent events, prophetic.

"Wife," said he, half playfully, "we've been looking for our angel all these years among our own countrymen may it not be that the Good Father has sent him from France?"

The clergyman lighted a lantern, and went out and put the stranger's horse into his barn, and gave him hay and grain, and then came back to find the dame in the act of bestowing upon him, the stranger one of his own warm dressing-gowns. The man donned the robe cheerfully; then sat down by the fire, while the hostess made ready refreshment for him. It was an humble meal which the clergyman's wife was able to prepare; but it was substantial and well-cooked, and there was enough of it.

The visitor spoke English very well—very plainly; and the good clergyman, at length, ventured upon his slight knowledge of French, as he called it, whereupon the visitor tried to be indignant.

"My faith!" he exclaimed, "you speak my language purely and with grace. If you understand the grammar——"

"O,—that is about all I have dared to think I did understand," the host put in. "I venture to assert that I can teach French grammar."

"Aye,—and you may henceforth claim that you can teach your pupils how to speak it.

In the course of the evening, after the supper-table had been cleared off, the Frenchman [illegible] board standing against the wall, and he asked his host if he played chess.

"Yes," said the clergyman, "I think myself a good player."

"I am glad! I have found a man in England who could beat me!"

The board and a box of very fine ivory pieces—a present to the curate from a former pupil—were brought forth, a small stand set out, and they went at the game. The Frenchman was an excellent chess-player; but the Rev. Silas Barclay was a better. They played from eight o'clock until almost midnight, and the guest did not win a game. One game was given up as a draw by a false move the clergyman lost his best piece—he was telling to his antagonist the story of his life, which had been drawn from him almost without his knowledge—and in a thoughtless moment, while telling of his son in Scotland, he lost his victory; the two kings were left alone in their glory on the board. And that finished the contest.

Not once had the guest lost his perfect good nature, and he was content, in the end, to acknowledge that his host was the most skillful chess-player he had ever met.

The board was set aside, after which the curate led his guest to the one nice chamber of his humble cottage and there wished him sweet sleep and pleasant dreams.

In the morning they were up early.—The storm had passed over; the sun had arisen brightly; the guest's garments were all dry, and had been brushed clean by the clergyman himself. His wife chanced to come upon him whilst he was engaged at the work, and she could not resist the impulse to scold him for his making of himself a lackey to a strolling Frenchman. And again, laughing, the old clergyman replied, in all innocence:

"I tell thee, wife, this may be our angel. When the bright visitants come, they don't make themselves known at once."

After a plain but hearty breakfast, the guest's horse was brought to the door by the old clergyman himself; a warm and fervent hand-shake, a pleasant bow, and hearty thanks to the dame and the Frenchman rode away.

Four days later a letter arrived at the curate's humble cottage bearing the postmark of the Duke of Norfolk, and the broad seal upon the letter bore an armorial crest. The wondering curate opened the missive without breaking the seal, and within found but a brief note, written upon paper bearing a crest, as follows:—

REV. SILAS BARCLAY,—I have not forgotten your generous hospitality to a wayfaring stranger a few days since, nor have I forgotten the sound drubbing you gave me at chess. I have thought much of the story you told me of your humble life, as you were pleased to call it; and since your telling that story cost you a decided victory in a single game, giving me the honor of a draw, I feel that I am your debtor. If you will kindly accept the Living of Oak'em, worth £[illegible] a year, it is open for your immediate occupancy. If you accept, you will at once inform his Grace the Duke of Norfolk, and so thank him for having given it to me for you. Trusting that you may be blessed with a long life of enjoyment in this new fold, I am your friend sincerely,

"LEWIS DUKE OF NIVERNAIS."

At first the poor clergyman could not believe it. It must be a cruel hoax.—Five hundred pounds per annum! Impossible! And then he bent his head and reflected. He remembered that the Duke of Nivernais was the French Ambassador at the English Court. It must have been he whom he had entertained. Aye—now that he came to call to mind some of the remarks that had fallen from his guest's lips, he knew he must be the man.

"Ho! wife! Now what think ye?—Said I not our angel would come from France?"

"You had better be sure that the living is to be yours, first," she retorted. But she was happy, nevertheless; and she was very, very thankful that she had not suffered the stranger-guest to witness her coldness on the occasion of his visit.

Our good curate—a rector now—found his grace of Norfolk happy to greet him, and happy to bestow upon him the promised living. He entered upon his new sphere of labor in earnest, and his parishioners very quickly learned to honor and to love him. So the evening of his life was tranquil and happy; and he lived long to bless the hour that brought the stranger-guest of that stormy October night to his door.

Plymouth Rock.

"Plymouth Rock," which has served as a text for so much spread eagle oratory, is an object of historic interest, in spite of its present prosaic surroundings. The rock, which is a large bowlder of gray granite, lies imbedded just where it was when the pilgrim band leaped from the Mayflower upon it. But the filling up of the water front for wharves has changed the whole aspect of the shore from what it was, and even at high tide the rock is nearly forty feet from the water's edge. In 1775, in the first flush of revolutionary enthusiasm, the citizens of Plymouth removed the upper part of the rock to the town square. In raising it, it split apart, and the omen was considered significant of the final separation of the colonies from the English crown. On the Fourth of July, 1834, it was carried in procession and deposited in front of Pilgrim's Hall, where it remained until September 27, 1880, when it was carried back into its original resting place by the water side, covered with an arched canopy of granite, and protected by an iron fence. The entrance to the inclosure is kept barred and locked at night, and the figures 1620, which are cut on the sloping side of the rock, serve to perpetuate the historic tradition of the spot.

The people of Loborough, Canada, believe that Magee tells the truth when he says that the virgin appeared to him and described the place in which a lost man could be found. Searching parties had been out several days without success, when Magee reported the apparition. The directions thus obtained were followed, and the missing man was found.

The registrar of Harvard university says that the new freshman class numbers 265 members, and is the largest class that has ever entered the college.

Fine Penman.

We have just received what we at first supposed was a delayed letter from [illegible] but as it bore a Carson, Nevada, postmark, we concluded that it was written by Sam Davis of the Appeal. It runs about as follows, as closely as we are able to read it.

APPLE JACK, Oct. 22.

Dear Bill:

I am home back once more nervous as hell to declare rain water finis more over incorrect. Procrastination turneth away wrath three days after sight. Vis corruption acetic eldorado high low jack in the game. Version on land needs dominion, as per exhibit hereto [illegible] Irrigation demands latitude for [illegible] we shall meet on that [illegible] shore. Monotonous level [illegible] horizon sound pre-Atlantic and vice versa. Setting hens gather no moss. Burned alum with saliva domestic, but rarely in stove-pipe or other national crises if so eastward to continental potato top greens with political economy and fig wash bills or ventriloquism with Worcester sauce.

Young Tooly,
SAM WING.

There are some words of which we are a little doubtful, and the sense conveyed would seem to indicate that these words are not exactly as we read them. We are unable to exactly construct the sentences in such a way as to make sense, and for that reason we have no hesitancy in attributing their authorship to Mr. Davis. He never writes till after dark, and then he shuts his eyes and writes like a hired man. He uses either end of his pen with equal readiness, and he don't care whether there is any ink on it or not. Sometimes he runs out over the paper and writes the last half of a line on his desk. In mailing the letter he forgets to mail the desk, and so the sentence is incomplete. His letters are full of dry pathos and tearful humor, and sometimes when he goes through here we take an armful down to the train and ask him to read them to us.

Sometimes he writes an entire letter and mails it without looking at it, and several days afterwards finds that he has mailed an unpaid bill and filed the letter with the cashier. Still he is regarded as a great man by those who have never corresponded with him.—Boomerang.

What Are the Tides?

Sir W. Thompson, in a recent address found some difficulty in explaining the tides, which he defined as the motions of water on the earth, due to the attraction of sun and moon. There were places where lunar tides vanished altogether, and where there was only a rise and fall once in the solar day, or twice in the solar day. There were places where the water rose and fell according to the sun, and not according to the moon; but such functions were modified by local causes. In the theory of tides proper, there was also a solar annual tide, and again a solar semi-annual tide. The first rough view of the theory of the tide-generating force was that the moon attracted the waters of the earth toward herself, and heaped them up on this side of the earth. That was not so; it would be so if the earth and the moon were stuck on the two ends of a strong bar and put at rest in peace, but there was no such rigid bar.

Why did not the moon fall toward the earth? According to Newton's theory, the moon is always doing so. Newton compared the fall of the moon with the fall of a stone at the earth's surface. Why did it not come down? Could it be always falling and never come down? That seemed impossible. It was always falling, but it had a motion perpendicular to the direction in which it was falling, and the result of continual falling was simply a change of direction of its motion. That was simply the dynamical theory of centrifugal force. If a stone were thrown horizontally it descended in a parabola, the stone falling away from the line in which it was thrown; so it was with the moon. It was seen always to be falling from the present direction and from the further altered line, and so it might be falling and never coming down. The parts of the moon nearest to the earth were falling most rapidly, the parts further from the earth the least rapidly. Each preserved a constant distance from the common center of gravity of the two. The earth experienced according to its mass a force depending on the average distance. The result clearly was then a tendency toward the moon and from the moon, and thus, in a necessarily imperfect manner, he had explained how it was that the waters were not heaped up on the side next to the moon, but were drawn toward the moon, and fell away from the moon, so as to tend to form an oval figure.

European Railways.

According to French official statistics the total length of working railways in Europe, which on Dec. 31, 1880, was 168,419 kilometers, amounted on Dec. 31, 1881, to 172,372 kilometers; the total increase in 1881 being thus 3,953 kilometers, or 2.35 per cent. of the extent worked in the end of 1880. France shows the greatest increase—viz., 1,411 kilometers or 38.45 per cent. in the total increase. Looking at the absolute development of the system of each country, without taking into account the proportion relatively to the surface, it appears that the European states rank as follows, with regard to importance of railway system: Germany 34,314 kilometers; Great Britain and Ireland, 29,232 kilometers; France, 27,585 kilometers; Russia and Finland, 23,529 kilometers; Austria-Hungary, 19,126 kilometers. Then follow in order, but with railway systems, the most important of which is under 10,000 kilometers—Italy, Spain, Sweden and Norway, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg, Switzerland, Denmark, Roumania, Turkey, Bulgaria and Roumelia, Portugal, and lastly Greece, which has only 10 kilometers of railway.

Two men paused before the serpent-house in a zoological garden and contemplated the boa-constrictor. "I say," said the first man, "what's that insect tied himself up in a knot for like that?" "Oh!" replied his companion, in a superior manner, "I suppose he wanted to remind himself of something when he woke up."

Egyptian Bondholders.

Vanity Fair receives the following communication from "A Fortunate Speculator," who says: "Although your paper has almost alone been independent enough to critize hostility to Mr. Gladstone's Egyptian policy, now so popular both with the jingo, and the imitation jingo parties, I think even you must admit that this policy, damaging though it has been to the liberal party in this country, and utterly ruinous though it has been to the national party in Egypt, yet has been a perfect god-send to one large and deserving class in this country and France—namely, the poor Egyptian bondholder. I will relate my own experience as a bondholder within the last three months. I have no doubt but that it is a fair sample of what others have done, and your readers will not be surprised to hear that I entertain the highest feelings of gratitude for Mr. Gladstone's spirited Egyptian policy. On the first outbreak of the Arabi rebellion I sold my Egyptian bonds at 70, never thinking it possible that a Gladstone and Bright government would force upon any nation a ruler and a form of government to which they were unanimously opposed. However, in a few weeks I changed my opinion. Alexandria was bombarded. Bright resigned, the guards were put under orders for Egypt, our one general buckled on his sword and I bought back my bonds at 46—with some trepidation, I confess. However, events marched quickly. The Indian troops were brought over again by Lord Beaconsfield's worthy successor, the much-abused Cyprus was utilized as a base, the Suez canal was seized in defiance of all international agreements, the unfortunate Egyptians were mown down by shrapnel shell from Woolwich and the sabres of the Life guards. Tel-el-Kebir was fought, Cairo was entered by our army amid the curses of its population, and my Egyptian bonds went up to 70 again, the price at which I sold originally. I have now sold again, and shall reinvest my capital in something safer than unified bonds; but by Gladstone's policy I made 24 per cent. by the fall and 24 per cent. by the rise, and I now have in cash at my bankers' £1,189 to represent every £700 I had invested in Egyptian bonds. Can you be surprised at my gratitude to Beaconsfield's worthy successor in eastern policy—William Gladstone? Something should be done to hand down to posterity a mark of the bondholders' gratitude, and I propose that a statue of the Grand Old Man should be erected at the entrance of the stock exchange. To this I will gladly subscribe, as I am sure would many Egyptian bondholders."

What Railroad Trains Are Worth.

But few persons as they see one of the fast express trains go by are aware of the value of such a train. What is known as the Royal Limited Express over the Pennsylvania road, as the train is ordinarily made up, represents over $120,000, as follows: Engine, $12,000; baggage car, $1,200; smoking car, $5,000; dining-room car, $12,000; five elegant Pullman cars, $18,000 each, $90,000. While this may seem to be an exception, the ordinary express trains represent $83,000 to $85,000. The engine and tender, which are considered together, valued $10,500; the baggage car, $1,000; the postal car, $2,000; the smoking car, $5,000; the two ordinary passenger cars, $10,000 each; and three palace cars, $15,000 each—total, $83,000. The palace cars put down at $15,000 are in many cases worth $18,000, and some Pullman cars are now run that cost in the neighborhood of $30,000. It is stated that the average value of a freight train is still greater than a passenger train when the rolling stock and value of property are included. Some of the freight of one of these through trains aggregates in value $250,000 to $300,000, and what is a little singular is the fact that the trains moving westward are more valuable than those moving eastward—a large per cent of the westbound business is merchandise of valuable machinery, while nearly 75 per cent of the eastbound business is grain, which is carried in a car costing $450, and the property carried will average $400 per car, so that the entire train of twenty-five cars, engine included, are not worth over $34,000 to $35,000, while frequently one car load of merchandise coming west will represent that value, and these palaces on wheels, carrying thousands of passengers and thousands of freight cars carrying millions of valuable property, are dependent for safety upon one man—the engineer. There are other men—the conductor, baggage-master, fireman and three or four brakemen—but the hand upon the lever and the brain directing it have an immense responsibility.—Westchester (N. Y.) Village Record.

Tissandier's Electric Balloon.

The large electric balloon projected by M. Tissandier is to have the following dimensions: The electric machine is to weigh 500 pounds, and the secondary batteries 1,700 pounds, representing about 5 horse-power. These will be carried by an elliptical balloon of a volume of 106,000 cubic feet. The balloon is to be 131 feet long, and its diameter in the center 60.7 feet. The balloon would have a lifting-power of 3½ tons, and consequently would be able to support 1-ton weight of passengers, ballast, etc., beside the batteries and machinery. With the air calm, its speed would be from 12 to 15 miles per hour, which, of course, could be maintained for only a few hours. M. Tissandier intends constructing such a balloon shortly, and undertaking voyages with it over and around Paris. The problem of aerial navigation can by no means be considered as solved with this balloon. Even if the first experiments should not give satisfactory results, some advantage will be gained by the general evidence they will supply of the practicability of the idea.—London Builder.

"No; she lingered and suffered along, pining away all the time, for years, the doctors doing her no good; and at last was cured by this Hop Bitters the papers say so much about. Indeed! indeed! how thankful we should be for that medicine."

A Gentle Voice.

Our enterprising druggists have secured the agency for the sale of Dr. Bigelow's Positive Cure, which has no superior for coughs, colds, consumption, whooping cough and all throat and lung diseases. To prove to you it has no equal, call at Baker & Hall's drug store and get a bottle free.

Everybody Knows It.

Everybody knows what red clover is. It has been used many years by the good old German women and physicians for the blood, and is known as the best blood purifier when properly prepared. Combined with other medicinal herbs and roots, it forms Dr. Jones' Red Clover Tonic, which is good for all blood disorders, torpid liver, costiveness and sick headache. Sure cure for pimples. Ask Baker & Hall, druggists, for it. Only fifty cts. a bottle.

The Keystone of Health.

How can you expect to feel well, or even enjoy life, when you go about with a hacking cough? The fool, in his wisdom, says there is no cure for it, but the wise man hies him to Baker & Hall's drug store and gets a bottle of Dr. Bigelow's Positive Cure, and at once gets well. A trial bottle costs nothing.

The World Still Moves.

Notwithstanding Mother Shipton's dire prediction, the world still exists. The people will live longer if they use Dr. Bigelow's Positive Cure, which subdues and conquers coughs, colds, consumption, whooping cough, and all diseases of the lungs. For proof call at Baker & Hall's drug store, and get a bottle free.

The Greatest Medicine of the Age.

Kellogg's Columbian Oil is a powerful remedy, which can be taken internally as well as externally by the tenderest infant. It cures almost instantly, is pleasant, acting directly upon the nervous system, causing a sudden buoyancy of the mind. In short, the wonderful effects of this wonderful remedy cannot be explained in written language. A single dose inhaled and taken according to directions will convince any one that it is all that is claimed for it. Warranted to cure the following diseases: Rheumatism or Kidney disease in any form, headache, toothache, earache, neuralgia, sprains, bruises, flesh wounds, bunions, burns, spinal affections, colic, cramping pains, cholera morbus, flux, diarrhœa, colds, bronchial affections, catarrh, and all aches and pains, external or internal. Full directions with each bottle. For sale by C. A. Wright & Co.

Jealousy.

Some poet has said that "All torments of the damned we find is only thee, Oh, Jealousy, thou tyrant of the mind." This is grandly sweeping and magnificently inaccurate. Any sufferer from Indigestion knows to the contrary. Indigestion, the villian of the tragedy played upon the gastric juices of the stomach can, and does double discount the horrors of jealousy. Jealousy is often an attendant upon the later, and when indigestion is removed, this jaundiced companion of a deranged liver flies. Taraxine is the best known remedy extant for impaired digestion, deranged liver, and diseases of the bowels and kidneys.

For sale by all druggists.

Free to Everyone.

A 10c sample of Hill's Peerless Cough Syrup. We also sell the large bottles on an absolute guarantee. If not satisfied after using, return the empty bottle and we will refund your money. We also sell the Peerless Worm Specific on the same terms. No cure, no pay. Cobbs' Little Podophyllin Pills will cure headache, billiousness and constipation. No pay. One pill a dose.

C. A. Wright & Co.

The New Discovery.

Dr. Deming's Pile Ointment, the discovery of a physician of wide reputation, who has achieved the greatest success, the most conspicuous distinction, and the highest honors in his profession, is a sure cure for blind, bleeding, itching and ulcerated piles. A single box has frequently been known to cure the most obstinate case, and thousands who have used this great remedy attest its efficacy.—For sale by all druggists.

Griggs' Glycerine Salve.

The best on earth can truly be said of Griggs' Glycerine Salve, which is a sure cure for cuts, bruises, scalds, burns, wounds and all other sores. Will positively cure piles, tetter and all skin eruptions. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Only 25 cents. For sale by Baker & Hall.

Catarrh of the Bladder.

Stinging, smarting, irritation of the urinary passages, diseased discharges, cured by Buchupaiba. $1, at druggists. Mich. Depot, J. E. Davis & Co., Detroit, Mich.

"Buchupaiba."

New, quick, complete cure four days, urinary affections, smarting, frequent or difficult urination, kidney diseases. $1, at druggists. Michigan Depot, J. E. Davies & Co., Detroit, Mich.

Grand Central.

You can always find at the

Grand Central Supply STORE

—OF—

HENRY McCLURE,

The Largest and Best Selected STOCK OF

Groceries, Crockery,

Glassware, Lamps, &c.

—IN TECUMSEH.

Specialty!

Canned Fruits of all Kinds.

In fact, anything in this line can be bought at these figures.

Chicago Street. HENRY McCLURE. TECUMSEH, MICH.

GET THE BEST!

RATHBONE, SARD & CO. ACORN STOVES & RANGES

LEAD ALL OTHERS!

Every Style & Price.

Guaranteed Unequaled FOR OPERATION, ECONOMY, DURABILITY and WORKMANSHIP.

Improvements and Conveniences found in no others.

Always Reliable.

POPULAR EVERYWHERE.

For Sale in Every City and Town in the United States.

For Sale by SUTTON & SWAN.

The price of the following organ has been advanced to $125 since inserting this electrotype.

BEATTY ORGANS

27 Stops, 10 Sets Reeds, $90

The Famous Beethoven Organ contains 27 Stops, 10 Sets Reeds.

PRICE ONLY $90

Order now. Remit by Bank Draft, Post Office Money Order, or Registered Letter. Boxed and shipped without a Moment's Delay. Factory running day and night. Organs built on old plan, $40, $50, $60 to 11 stops. Catalogue Free. Address or call on DANIEL F. BEATTY, Washington, New Jersey.

CATARRH

HAY-FEVER

DIRECTIONS.

Insert with little finger a particle of the Balm into the nostrils; draw strongly breathe through the nose. It will be absorbed.

Ely's Cream Balm effectually cleanses the nasal passages of Catarrhal virus, causing healthy secretions, allays inflammation, protects the membrane from additional colds, completely heals the sores and restores the sense of taste and smell. Beneficial results are realized by a few applications. A thorough treatment as directed will cure Catarrh, Hay Fever, &c.

Agreeable to Use.

Unequaled for Cold in the Head.

The Balm has gained an enviable reputation wherever known, displacing all other preparations.

RECOGNIZED AS A WONDERFUL REMEDY.

Sold by all druggists at 50 cents. On receipt of price will mail a package. Send for circular containing full information and reliable testimonials.

ELY CREAM BALM CO., OWEGO, N. Y.

Central.

ways find at the ntral Supply

ORE
—OF—McCLURE,
and Best Selected
OCK OF
S, Crockery,
s, Lamps, &c.
RCUMSEH.
Specialty!
aits of all Kinds.
this line can be bought
HENRY McCLURE.
TECUMSEH, MICH

HE BEST!

LL OTHERS!
tyle & Price.
ed Unequaled
FOR ION.
ECONOMY.
LITY and
RKMANSHIP.
d Conveniences found in no others.
s Reliable.
EVERYWHERE.
Every City and Town
United States.
SUTTON & SWAN.

following organ has been ad-
ce, inserting this electrotype.

ATTY
RGANS
0 Sets Reeds, 300

Beethoven Organ contains ts Reeds,
E ONLY $90
by Bank Draft, Post Office Money
ed Letter. Boxed and shipped
's Delay. Factory running built on old plan. $ to $500.
your Free. Address or call on TTY, Washington, New Jersey.

RRH
S BALM CURES
LOS IN THE HEAD
AL DEFIES CHANGES
OF CLIMATE
E. ELY'S CREAM BALM CO.

DIRECTIONS.
Insert with little finger a particle of the Balm into the nostrils; draw strong breaths through the nose. It will be absorbed.
Ely's Cream Balm effectually cleanses the nasal passages of Catarrhal virus, causing healthy secretions, allays Inflammation, protects the membrane from additional colds, completely heals the sores and restores and smell. Beneficial results are applications. A thorough treat will cure Catarrh, Hay Fever, &c.
VER
reasable to Use.
or Cold in the Head, ed an enviable reputation where placing all other preparations.
S A WONDERFUL REMEDY.
gists at 50 cents. On receipt of ckage. Send for circular con ation and reliable testimonials.
BALM CO., Oswego, N. Y.

Back Ache

POSITIVELY CURED BY

Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters.

Reasons Why they are Preferred to All Other Porous Plasters or External Remedies:

First.
Because they possess all the merit of the strengthening porous plaster, and contain in addition thereto the newly discovered powerful and active vegetable combination which acts with increased rubefacient, stimulating, sedative and counter irritant effects.

Second.
Because they are a genuine pharmaceutical preparation, and so recognized by the profession.

Third.
Because they are the only plasters that relieve pain at once.

Fourth.
Because they will positively cure diseases which other remedies will not even relieve.

Fifth.
Because over 5000 physicians and druggists have voluntarily testified that they are superior to all other plasters or medicines for external use.

Sixth.
Because the manufacturers have received the only medals ever given for porous plasters.

Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster!
SEABURY & JOHNSON,
Manufacturing Chemists, New York.

A SURE REMEDY AT LAST. Price 25cts. MEAD'S Medicated CORN and BUNION PLASTER.

EVANS' BUSINESS COLLEGE
—AND—
INSTITUTE OF RAPID WRITING.

Having severed my connection with the High School of Adrian, my time will be given exclusively to my college, affording a rare chance to young men wishing to fit themselves as

CLERKS AND BOOK-KEEPERS,

And furnishing them positions at good salaries.

My College has No Vacation during the year.

Send for Circulars.

Adrian, Sept. 18, 1881.
W. R. EVANS,
PRINCIPAL & TEACHER.

KING OF THE BLOOD.

The Most Thorough Purifier of the Blood Yet Discovered.

Cures all Humors, from a Common Eruption to the Worst Scrofula.

It purifies the Blood.
It invigorates the Liver.
It regulates the Bowels.
It strengthens the Stomach.
It gives vivacity in place of lassitude; cheerfulness in place of gloom, and robust vigor in place of debility.
Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Disordered Liver, Constipation, Nervous Affections, General Debility, in short all the numerous diseases and discomforts caused by impure blood are speedily conquered by this powerful corrector, the chief and sovereign of all ancient or modern medical discoveries—KING OF THE BLOOD.
ITS NAME IS ITS BEST DESCRIPTION as it is a royal dispenser of the blessings of health and vanquishes the foes that lurk in the blood.
It banishes PIMPLES, SALT RHEUM, SCALY ERUPTIONS, ULCERS, SCALD HEAD, FEVER SORES, and all SCROFULOUS DISORDERS.
It checks CONSUMPTION in its early stages. It has frequently cured it when advanced.
It disperses TUMORS and CANCERS without the Surgeon's knife.
It cures DROPSY, general or partial.
It cures FEMALE WEAKNESS and DISEASE.
It reduces in a safe and effectual manner all swellings, external or internal.
It eradicates the effects of Venerial Disease and Mineral Poisons, and establishes a sound constitution.
Many certificates, much further information and all directions for using, will be found in the pamphlet, "Treatise on Diseases of the Blood," in which each bottle is enclosed.
Price $1 per bottle containing 12 ounces, or 40 to 50 doses. Sold by dealers in medicine.
If your druggist does not happen to have it on hand, request him to order a supply of it for you, as it will be cheaper than for you to order direct or by mail, and less trouble.

D. RANSOM, SON & CO., Proprietors
Buffalo, N.Y.

If you are a man of business, weakened by the strain of your duties, avoid stimulants and use Hop Bitters.

If you are young and indiscretion or dissipation has left you single, old or poor, health or languishing, rely on Hop Bitters.

Whoever you are, whenever you feel that your system needs cleansing, toning or stimulating, without intoxicating, take Hop Bitters.

Have you dyspepsia, kidney or urinary complaint, disease of the stomach, bowels, blood, liver or nerves? You will be cured if you use Hop Bitters.

If you are simply weak and low spirited, try it! It may save your life. It has saved hundreds.

If you are a man of letters, stimulating overmidnight work to restore brain nerve and waste, use Hop B.

If you are suffering from any infection, if you are married, young, suffering from illness or on a bed of sickness, use Hop Bitters.

Thousands die annually from some form of Kidney disease that might have been prevented by a timely use of Hop Bitters.

D. I. C. is an absolute and irresistible cure for drunkenness, use of opium, tobacco, or narcotics.

HOP BITTERS NEVER FAIL

Sold by druggists. Send for Circular.
HOP BITTERS M'F'G CO., Rochester, N. Y. & Toronto, Ont.

HALL'S Catarrh Cure

Is Recommended by Physicians!

$100 REWARD FOR A CASE IT FAILS TO CURE!

We manufacture and sell it with a positive guarantee that it will cure any case, and we will forfeit the above amount if it fails in a single instance.

It is unlike any other Catarrh remedy, as it is taken internally, acting upon the blood. If you are troubled with this distressing disease, ask your Druggist for it, and ACCEPT NO IMITATION OR SUBSTITUTE. If he has not got it, send to us and we will forward immediately. Price, 75 cents per bottle.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

WIT AND HUMOR.

A poor man is to be avoided—he lacks principal.

Alas! that so many people use religion simply as a fire escape!

Eve was the lady who set the fashion of gathering autumn leaves.

Kind words are like bald heads; they can never dye.

"Please hang up," is the polite telephonic for "Hold your tongue."

A farce seeing man: One who believes that life is only folly.

It is not the cheese to ask: "Will you love me when I'm mold?"

The green grocer is the one who trusts the new family in the next block.

Another date fixed for the Czar's coronation. Russia is getting as plentiful in dates as Egypt in her palmy days.

There is a man in California who always has three feet in his boots. Each boot is 18 inches long.

The biggest hoop in politics is made, of course, for the man with the biggest bar'l.

Cats are musical because their insides are composed mostly of fiddle strings.

There is a man in England who gained over 50 pounds in one week. He bet on the winning horse.

One New York milkman has been fined eleven times for adulterating his goods, and yet his cry is for "more water!"

A French physician says that raw oysters and chicken soup will nourish any girl through at least six disappointments in love.

Sandusky, O., has a citizen who can cure a balky horse in eight minutes. He must be slow to take that time to break a horse's neck.

Philadelphia citizens are very well liked at home, judging from the rewards offered for their return when they leave the city.

A Cincinnati dairyman is charged with biting off the tips of his horses' ears. This is something unusual in the way of showing love for horseflesh.

The price of Circassian beauties has lately fallen to $250 each, and now is the time for a Constantinopolitan to lay in a dozen or two if he is ever going to.

"The proper study of mankind is man." Pope knew better than to say "woman." Woman is too deep a study for anybody to undertake.

"What becomes of old pianos?" asks the Yonkers Gazette. Then you have never traveled on a steamboat or visited an orphan asylum, eh?

It rains alike on the just and the unjust—and on the just mainly because the unjust have borrowed their umbrellas.

Ben Franklin said that soft words butter no parsnips, but they have helped elect many a man to office for all that.

California furnishes seventeen different ranges of climate, and it is hard to tell whether a resident will give you a red-hot welcome or a frigid reception.

Three thousand dollars had been spent to educate her in music, Latin, French and drawing, and yet she wrote: "Send six yards of played goods by the bearer."

You never know how much water an umbrella is capable of containing until you accidentally stand it against the wall and on the pearl-colored carpet that costs $5 a yard.

"How have the mighty fallen?" Well, some slip up on a banana skin, some use the money of the bank for speculation, and fail in connection, and others fall in coal shutes after dark.

A book called "Button on Partnership" is advertised. It would require more than one button to hold some partnerships together. A padlock on 'em wouldn't do it.

A boy, describing how he had a tooth drawn, said: "The doctor collared me, pulled like wild horses, and just before my head came off the tooth dropped out."

A Jersey City girl blushed and fainted the other day when she found that the name of the paper she had used for a bustle was the Christian Observer. Those Jersey City girls are too modest for anything.

An old bachelor recently gave the following toast: Woman—the morning star of infancy, the day star of manhood, the evening star of age. Bless our stars and may they always be kept at a telescopic distance.

A lady who had invited a small company to a parsimonious dinner was apologizing for the chicken and she regretted having no time to stuff it. "It's tough enough as it is I assure you," replied a guest unexpectedly.

"Yes," remarked the man with the soiled wristband. "Bill's got a powerful flow of language. You'd oughter heered him t'other day when his brindle steer got mired down in the Stiggins' swamp. I never heard a man swear so eloquently in all my born days."

Jones' wife got worked up the other day as she rehearsed the many things that should be done, but which nobody seemed ready to do. "Oh, dear!" she exclaimed, "I wish I were a man!" "You do!" exclaimed Jones, rising from his seat. "Well, I don't."

During a conference of clergymen the following dialogue was overheard between two newsboys: "I say, Jim, what's the meaning of so many ministers being together?" "Why," answered Jim scornfully, "they always meet once a year to exchange sermons with each other."

A young woman recently engaged as a domestic in one of the new houses on Beacon street left when she learned that she was expected to use the rear entrance on Charles River. "Why," she said, "I could never receive my friends or wear my brocade silk through a back door!" Fact.

A provision broker in Chicago, in conversation with a New Yorker, speaking of the stagnation in business, said: "Why, it is a positive fact that there are less than 200,000 dressed hogs in Chicago to-day." His friend replied in astonishment, "Why, I thought your population numbered something over a half a million."

He Quit the Cattle Business.

"I shall never handle cattle any more," said Patrick Healy the other day while talking with a Wyoming stock man. "I got discouraged a good many years ago. I had heard that cattle would yield all the way from seventy-five to ninety per cent. profit, so I got 500 head and let nature take her course. The following spring I started to brand my calves and count up my profits. My style of branding was laborious and unsatisfactory. I would catch a calf, throw him down, build a sage brush fire, heat my branding iron, brand him and then start after another. This consumed a half an hour to the animal, the best I could do, and it looked as though it would take till about Christmas to brand my calves. However, the number didn't hold out by one-half, and as I was just closing the branding, meanwhile, cussing my luck in the stock business, I one day noticed, with my field-glass, several miles away on the plains, a cow-boy, who acted so strangely that I resolved to get behind a little knoll and watch him. As he got nearer I discovered that he had a little charcoal stove attached to his saddle behind, and also that he had a branding iron secured to a 200-foot lariat, which he threw with wonderful accuracy. The cowboy was an employe of Mr. Tinnier, a neighbor of mine who had a very large herd of cattle and made the raising of cattle a very prosperous business.

"Instead of building a sage-brush fire and going through the tedious process of throwing down an animal to brand him, he just heated the branding-iron in the little tinner's stove as he rode along and when within 100 feet or so of a calf, just threw it with that deadly aim of his and Mr. Tinnier was ahead a $15 animal.

"I decided right there that I would not raise any more cattle. Science had the bulge on nature. Natural increase is all right where it does not have to compete with science."

"I just went to Mr. Tinnier and said: Look here, Mr. Tinnier, I want to sell you my little bunch of cattle at a fair figure. I want to see you have them because you deserve them. A man who can bring science to his aid the way you can ought to have this herd, and I believe you will ultimately have the outfit anyhow. Things seem to point that way now and I wanted to facilitate matters by selling you the bunch before it is everlastingly too late.

"My cows feel just the same as I do about it. They are willing to do everything they can that is honorable in order to forward the cattle interests of the country, but they can't compete with your statesmanship. They feel hurt and very much depressed by it, and so do I. I just want to hasten the result by letting you have the cattle before they get too much reduced.

"He saw that I was feeling very unhappy over my cattle deal, and he kindly took them off my hands. I have never owned any cattle since that. I have seen many of my neighbors accumulate large herds and big fortunes, but it had no temptations for me. I know that with nothing to start with but the wreck of a bull train and one of those self-registering branding-irons, men who didn't know the difference between a maserick and the Venus of Milo have become millionaires, but that don't affect me any. I just squeeze along the best I can and raise sheep at a profit of thirty-five to forty per cent. It is not so rapid, of course, as the cattle business under careful management, but a man feels better when he meets the vigilance committee."

The Richest Man in Mexico.

The richest man in Mexico is probably Patricio Milmo, which is the Mexican for Paddy Miles. He owns an estate of 400,000 acres, and his plantation has a reputation all over the country. A part of it is cultivated for corn, grapes, sugar cane and maguey. Milmo's residence is on the summit—a handsome stone structure, very large, and ornamented by cornices and pillars imported from France and the United States. The interior is like a palace, and so rich with gold and silver and precious stones that the eye is dazzled with their splendor. Milmo is President of the Bank of Mexico, an institution with powers and privileges in that country as great as are the Bank of England's in Britain.

His father-in-law, Santiago Vidarri, was executed for supplying money to revolutionists, and he himself narrowly escaped a similar death, though he was connected in a monetary sense with the opposing forces. Since then brigands have captured him several times, and compelled him to pay from $10,000 to $25,000 ransom. These adventures have taught him precaution, and he has turned the mesa into a sort of citadel, accessible by only a narrow path, obstructed by an iron gate of enormous proportions. He has distilleries and several factories, in which goods are manufactured for his own use on the mesa, and intends to retire to his mansion whenever another insurrection is imminent. It is said that when he came to Mexico he did not have a dollar, and got his start in business from his father-in-law.—St. Louis Republican.

"And you say that you are innocent of the charge of stealing a rooster from Mr. Jones?" asked an Arkansas judge of a meek-looking prisoner. "Yes, sir, I am innocent—as innocent as a child." "You are confident that you did not steal the rooster from Mr. Jones?" "Yes, sir; and I can prove it." "How can you prove it?" "I can prove that I didn't steal Mr. Jones' rooster, Judge, because I stole two hens from Mr. Graston the same night, and Jones lives five miles from Graston's." "The proof is conclusive," said the judge. "Discharge the prisoner."

The prehistoric foot-prints promise to become a source of revenue to Carson, Nev. Tourists formerly passed directly through the city, but are now induced to lie over twenty-four hours to view them.

Some very rich and extensive copper mines are reported to have been discovered in the Texas Pacific reservation near Eagle Mountain Station.

DOWNS' ELIXIR.

N. H. DOWNS'
Vegetable Balsamic
ELIXIR

This valuable medicine is purely the discovery of which was in many years' close study, in order the cause, the symptoms, and th Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Croup, Asthma, Pleurisy, Influenza, Spitting Blood, and every species of oppression and Lungs. In all cases where has duly administered its effects invariably manifested, convincing conclusive that is not incurable, if properly Consumption, at its commencement slight irritation of the membranes the Lungs then an inflammation cough is more observable, but night become local fever and the pat quent, the cheeks flushed and mon. This Elixir in curing the plaints, operates so as to remove irritations and inflammations lungs to the surface, and finally from the system. It facilitates and relieves the cough and making easy. It supports the strength same time reduces the fever, strong opiate and astringent of so drying a nature as to be destroying the patient, while never dries or stops the cough, ing the cause, generally desired before the cough is entirely quently, when the cough is cured is well. Send address for full directions for cure of pulmonary Price 25 cts., 50 cts., and $1.00.

CONSUMPTION

It heals the ulcerated

SOLD EVERYWHERE.
HENRY, JOHNSON & LORD, Props., Toronto.
DOWNS' ELIXIR.

SAMARITAN
CURES AND

NEVER FAILS.
NERVINE
is unfailing and infallible in Fits, Spasms, Convulsions, Alcoholism, Paralysis, Sleeplessness, Neuralgia, Headache, Nervous Prostration, Nervous Debility, Mental Depression, Loss of Memory, Premature Decline, Softening of the Brain, Wakefulness, Paralysis, Impotence, Sexual Exhaustion, Spermatorrhœa, Seminal Emissions, Leucorrhœa, Dysmenorrhœa, Sterility, Hysteria, Neuralgia, Nervous Headache, Sick Headache, Epilepsy, Dizziness, Sleeplessness

THE TECUMSEH HERALD,

Issued Every Thursday Evening

BY STACY BROTHERS,

Office in the NEW HERALD BUILDING, One Door East of the Opera House, Tecumseh, Mich.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:

One year, Cash in Advance, ... $1.50
Six Months, " " 75
Four Months, " " 50

Twenty-five cents will be added to the subscription price for every three months that payment may be delayed.

ADVERTISING RATES:

Business Locals, five cents per line for each insertion.

Special notices, fifty cents a line for each insertion.

Marriages, Births, and Death Notices free.

Rates on General Advertising, on time contracts, made known at the Counting Room.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Correspondents name are invariably required, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Anonymous communications will be rejected.

ENTERED AT THE POST OFFICE AT TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, AS SECOND CLASS MATTER.

TECUMSEH, MICH., NOV. 23, 1882.

As a party smasher Gen. Arthur will compare favorably with the Vice Presidents who have preceded him in the Presidential chair.

It is asserted that Robeson attributes his defeat in his district to the fact that Keifer made a few stump speeches for him. Well may the unhappy Keifer exclaim Et tu, Brute.

Tariff Reform.
Civil-Service Reform.
Reduction of Taxation.

These questions, much more than party names and labels, will shape the politics of the next two years.

It turns out that the "honors are easy" in the Illinois state election.—General Smith, Republican, is elected State Treasurer, and Raab, Democrat, is chosen Superintendent of Schools. The congressional delegation is evenly divided, ten to ten.

The Mobile Register, a Bourbon Democratic paper of the strictest type, demands that all men who are addicted to liquor drinking shall be excluded hereafter from all offices and places of public trust. Is it possible that the Democracy is moving bag and baggage over into the Prohibition camp?

The next House will be divided politically as follows: Democrats and Nationals, 195; Republicans, 123; Readjusters, 5; Independents, 2. Total, 325. The Democrats will have a majority of sixty-five over all. This will no doubt be increased to sixty-seven, as one Independent from Iowa has declared himself in sympathy with the Democrats.

Some of the Republican papers are reading Roscoe Conkling out of the party and advising him to go over to the Democrats. He can join the Democracy as a private and vote with them if he chooses, but he musn't ask for office until he has served a reasonable term of probation and given evidence of a sincere political repentance.

APROPOS of the Toledo & Milwaukee railroad, it is a fact that this road has purchased the road heretofore run by the Grand Rapids company from Allegan to Monteith, and also the old Mansfield road-bed from Monteith to Battle Creek. The transaction is actually closed, consideration $187,000.—Of this amount, $87,000 was paid upon the execution of the papers.

The Union movement is what did the business in Michigan. Maybury would have been elected in the Wayne district in any event, but Begole, five congressmen and scores of county officers owe their election to the coalition. There was some kicking and treachery at first, but the rank and file of the voters faithfully observed the compact. And the men who voted together this fall will vote together hereafter.

The Cincinnati Times says:

The industrial interests of the South are multiplying. Manufacturing establishments are springing up in every Southern State. Skilled labor is in demand, and the wage class is rapidly growing in numbers. It is safe to say that if the free trade section of the Democratic party gets control of the organization, there will not be a solid South in 1884.

Which is a very strong reason why the free trade portion of the party ought to get control. Once the solid South is broken, political parties will divide on political issues. Jobbers will then take back seats and the people will get their due.

Another singular election contest has arisen in New York. William E. Greenwood, Republican, and Leman Hotchkiss, Democrat, were the contesting candidates for member of Assembly in the Second Assembly district of the county. The returns, as first filed, elected Greenwood by one majority. The returns from one town were afterward changed, there having been eight votes for Assemblyman found in the Judiciary box. Of these seven were for Hotchkiss and one for Greenwood, electing Hotchkiss by six majority, if they were allowed. The contest hinges on the legality of allowing these votes to be counted after having been cast in the wrong box and the returns filed.

WHAT THE NEWSPAPERS SAY.

The Happiest Man in America.

Boston Letter in the Hartford Courant: General Butler himself is the happiest man in America to-day.

An Unkind Cut.

Atlanta Constitution: It is thought that Jay Hubbell has taken refuge behind a sample-room screen.

In a Very Bad Way.

Louisville Courier-Journal, Dem.: A party which depends solely on the blundering of its opponents for existence is in a very bad way.

It's all the Same in Dutch.

Cincinnati Commercial: Tyler went over to the Democracy; Arthur has sent the people over. The modes were different; the results the same.

Some Moonshine of the Hour.

Atlanta Constitution, Dem.: The current talk in the Eastern papers relative to the dangers of electing a Western or Southern man to the Speakership is all moonshine.

That Time Has Passed.

Springfield Republican: The time has passed when Democratic victories send a shiver down the backbone of the continent, stop the wheels of industry and dry up the springs.

The One Thing Needful.

Philadelphia Times: The only thing needed to make the Democratic editor happy is the power to change the fatigued rooster, still crowing in his columns, into a Thanksgiving turkey.

Setting a Good Example.

New York Herald: By declining a militia escort tendered him for the day of his inauguration, Governor-elect Pattison sets a good example to a number of other gentlemen in positions similar to his own.

A Little Too Previous.

New York Sun: Esteemed Democratic contemporaries that are publishing tables to show that on the basis of last week's voting the Democrats will have 310 of the 401 votes in the Electoral College in 1884 are counting their goslings too soon. The eggs are not laid yet.

The Cause of the Land-Slide.

Detroit Evening News: Speaking of the recent political land-slide, the Adrian Times says: "One of the most fruitful causes for republican indifference was certainly the unwillingness of the leaders to trust the people." Wasn't one of "the most fruitful causes," etc., the unwillingness of the people to trust the leaders? Honor bright, now!

Taking their Own Medicine.

Philadelphia Times: Gen. Chalmers taught the Mississippi boys how to count out the colored vote when he was running against it, and they have kept on at Chalmers' methods and counted him out when he was elected by the colored vote. Kellogg and Chalmers have done so much cheating to put themselves into office, that it will now be difficult for them to get into office when they happen to be honestly elected for once in their lives.

Has Gathered Itself Up.

Philadelphia Times: The Cabinet has managed to gather itself up since election and prepare to attend to public business. Now that the fish are all caught and the fences are all swept away by a tornado, it is to be hoped that both the President and his Cabinet will set themselves prayerfully to work to evolve from their inner consciousness some method by which the people can be served hereafter. Civil service reform doesn't look half so Utopian even to practical politicians as it did before the elections.

Keep Cool, Gentlemen.

Utica Observer: It is difficult to see what benefit the party will derive from the white heat of controversy into which our excellent Democratic contemporaries, the Louisville Courier-Journal and the Pittsburg Post, have plunged anent the Speakership question. Over a year will elapse before Mr. Carlisle or Mr. Randall, or any other Democrat can be elected Speaker, and it would be well for those journals to give their attention to the present without quarreling over the future. The 190 odd Democrats of the next Congress will elect the proper man when the time comes.

Where the Assessments Went To.

New York Tribune: If any Republican has curiosity to know where the money went which was subscribed for the legitimate expenses of the late canvass, the sooner he chokes it off the easier he will feel, for it seems pretty certain that the men who managed the resources of the State Committee will not tell. It was not expended in hiring halls for enthusiastic meetings, for few meetings were held. It was not paid out for speakers, at least not much of it, for not many leading men were willing to take part in the work. Very little of it went to the County Committees, unless they were favorable to the Administration, and the documents sent out were chiefly appeals for more cash. The question, therefore, as to where the money went seems to be a perfectly legitimate one. Undoubedly it greased the machine, but the details of the applications we shall never know.

AN ERRONEOUS BELIEF.

How a Mistaken Theory Nearly Cost a Well-Known Minister His Life.

(Chicago Standard.)

The following remarkable statement, made by a well-known Baptist clergyman, besides the unusual matter of value it contains, will be found most readable and interesting:

Messrs. Editors: I have always believed most firmly in the brotherhood of men, and that every human being is in duty bound to assist his fellow man to the fullest extent of his power. The relation, therefore, of my personal experience, will, I trust, prove of benefit to many thousands in this land.

My earlier years were full of health and pleasure. After the completion of my educational studies I undertook the profession of teaching, and under the severe strain to which I was subjected I gradually became reduced so that the least exposure or excitement would bring on sick headache, biliousness and general prostration. I gave up teaching and began to prepare for the ministry, and although I studied hard my health seemed to grow no worse. Finally I commenced preaching, and then my old physical troubles returned. The slightest amount of certain kinds of food distressed me and brought on heavy dullness, dizziness and often great depression of mind. A change of room, atmosphere or clothing was almost certain to cause a cold, accompanied by most painful suffering. I attributed all this to the severe work I was obliged to do in the ministry, and so did not attempt to remove it. I next began to grow nervous and noticed that my feet were cold, while my left side and back frequently pained me. I felt a drowsy or sleepy sensation after eating, while a little excitement caused me to lose my appetite entirely. At times my spirits would be light and I would feel as if I might live to a good old age, when possibly in less than an hour my head would reel, my body ache and I would be overcome with a deathly sickness. After such an attack a cold sweat would break out upon me and this would be followed by complete prostration. It would be impossible to describe the suffering I endured at these times, and yet I attributed it all to overwork and not to any special trouble or disease.

It was more than a year from the time the attacks first began that I consulted a physician. He examined me and declared that my lungs were affected and that I was on the road to consumption. I derided this idea and so called upon another doctor. But he told me the same thing, as did also the other medical men whom I consulted. Indeed, they all informed me that unless I went to Colorado, Dakota or the sea coast there was little hope. However, I did not change climate, but tried to continue my work as best I could. A year ago last May and in the November and December following I had three severe attacks of what the doctors said was lung fever or pneumonia. I recovered from these by the most faithful nursing, but I felt all the time as I know now that my troubles did not originate in my lungs, but in some other organs of the body. It is true, I felt severe pains in my lungs and I expectorated a great deal. I was extremely sensitive to cold, and the least draft or change of apparel tended to bring on a cold. My breathing was most difficult and it frequently seemed that with all my exertions I could not get enough air into my lungs to satisfy them or keep my blood pure. As I am large in stature, weighing over 200 pounds, and being in the prime of my usefulness, you can imagine how I shrunk from the inevitable fate which seemed to stare me in the face.

One Sunday evening last February, upon coming down from my pulpit, almost prostrated and feeling that possibly it would be the last time I should ever enter it again, a member of my church approached me and said: "Brother Humphrey, I know just what you need to restore you to health. I have been troubled just as you are, and I am perfectly well now." I thanked him for his suggestions, but shook my head sadly, for I felt that there was little hope for me. However, after I returned home I began to reflect upon the subject, and finally sent my son to procure some of the medicine which had been so highly recommended. If faith were an element necessary to the success of a medicine, it certainly was lacking in this case, for I was really hopeless. Greatly to my surprise, however, I began to feel much better, and the following Sunday I was able to preach with comparative ease. I continued to grow better as I continued to use the medicine, for it seemed to reach my entire system. I was able to preach, sing and work without exhaustion, and to-day I am a well man, sleep soundly, eat heartily, feel no lung troubles, and I believe I owe my life and health wholly to Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, which I consider a benefaction to suffering humanity.

It is only natural that since my recovery I should feel enthusiastic over the remedy which had restored me and also observe its effects upon others. As a result I am forced to the conclusion that very much sickness, which is supposed to originate in the lungs, arises wholly from disordered kidneys and liver. I believe thousands of people are suffering to-day and looking forward, as I was, to a consumptive's grave, when their lungs are wholly sound, and they might be restored to perfect health by the same means that I employed. Believing these truths and realizing their importance to the world, I come out thus openly, and say that I believe under God, this remedy is a public benefaction, and I would most cordially and earnestly commend it to the world as a blessing to humanity.

(REV.) B. F. HUMPHREY,
Pastor Baptist Church.
AMBOY, Ill., July 24, 1882.

A Significent Fact.

The cheapest medicine in use is Thomas' Eclectric Oil, because so very little of it is required to effect a cure. For croup, diphtheria, and diseases of the lungs and throat, whether used for bathing the chest or throat, for taking internally or inhaling, it is a matchless compound.

SEE advertisement of Dr. Sozinsky's great book, "Care and Culture of Children," in another column.

1883.

Harper's Magazine.

ILLUSTRATED

Harper's Magazine begins its sixty-sixth volume with the December Number. It is not only the most popular illustrated periodical in America and England, but also the largest in its scheme, the most beautiful in its appearance, and the best magazine for the home. A new novel, entitled, For the Major, by Constance Fenimore Woolson, the author of Anne, was begun in the November Number. In literary and artistic excellence the Magazine improves with each successive number. Special efforts have been made for the lighter entertainment of its readers through humorous stories, sketches, &c.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE, One Year..... $4 00
HARPER'S WEEKLY, " " 4 00
HARPER'S BAZAR, " " 4 00
The THREE above named publications, One Year 10 00
Any TWO above named, One Year 7 00
HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE, One Year.. 1 50
HARPER'S MAGAZINE, HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE, } 5 00
HARPER'S FRANKLIN SQUARE LIBRARY, One Year (52 Numbers) $10 00

Postage free to all subscribers in the United States or Canada.

The Volumes of the Magazine begin with the Number for June of each number of each year. When no time is specified, it will be understood that the subscriber wishes to begin with the current Number.

The last Eight Volumes of Harper's Magazine, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of $3 00 per volume. Cloth Cases, for binding, 50 cents each—by mail, postpaid.

Index to Harper's Magazine, Alphabetical, Analytical, and Classified, for Volumes 1 to 60, inclusive, from June, 1850, to June, 1880, one vol., 8vo., Cloth, $4.00.

Remittances should be made by Post-Office Money Order, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of Harper & Brothers.

Address HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

1883.

Harper's Weekly

ILLUSTRATED.

Harper's Weekly stands at the head of American illustrated weekly journals. By its unpartisan position in politics, its admirable illustrations, its carefully chosen serials, short stories, sketches, and poems, contributed by the foremost artists and authors of the day, it carries instruction and entertainment to thousands of American homes.

It will always be the aim of the publishers to make Harper's Weekly the most popular and attractive family newspaper in the world.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS

HARPER'S MAGAZINE, One Year..... $4 00
HARPER'S WEEKLY, " " 4 00
HARPER'S BAZAR, " " 4 00
The THREE above named publications, One Year 10 00
Any TWO above named, One Year 7 00
HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE, One Year... 1 50
HARPER'S MAGAZINE, HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE, } 5 00
HARPER'S FRANKLIN SQUARE LIBRARY One Year (52 Numbers) 10 00

Postage Free to all subscribers in the United States or Canada.

The volumes of the Weekly begin with the first Number for January of each year. When no time is mentioned, it will be understood that the subscriber wishes to commence with the Number next after the receipt of order.

The last Four Annual Volumes of Harper's Weekly, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by mail, postage paid, or by express, free of expense (provided the freight does not exceed one dollar per volume), for $7 00 per volume.

Cloth Cases for each volume, suitable for binding, will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of $1 00 each.

Remittances should be made by Post-Office Money Order or Draft, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of HARPER & BROS.

Address HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

1883.

Harper's Bazar.

ILLUSTRATED.

This popular journal is a rare combination of literature, art, and fashion. Its stories, poems, and essays are by the best writers of America; its engravings possess the highest artistic excellence; and in all matters pertaining to fashion it is universally acknowledged to be the leading authority in the land. The new volume will contain many brilliant novelties.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS

HARPER'S MAGAZINE, One Year..... $4 00
HARPER'S WEEKLY, " " 4 00
HARPER'S BAZAR, " " 4 00
The THREE above-named publications, One Year 10 00
Any TWO above named, One Year 7 00
HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE, One Year... 1 50
HARPER'S MAGAZINE, HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE, } 5 00
HARPER'S FRANKLIN SQUARE LIBRARY One Year (52 Numbers) 10 00

Postage free to all subscribers in the United States or Canada.

The Volumes of the Bazar begin with the first Number for January of each year. When no time is mentioned, it will be understood that the subscriber wishes to commence with the Number next after the receipt of order.

The last Four Annual Volumes of Harper's Bazar, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by mail, postage paid, or by express, free of expense (provided the freight does not exceed one dollar per volume), for $7 00 per volume.

Cloth Cases for each volume, suitable for binding, will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of $1 00 each.

Remittances should be made by Post-Office Money Order or Draft, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of HARPER & BROS.

Address HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

1883.

HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE.

An Illustrated Weekly—16 Pages,

Suited to Boys and Girls of from Six to Sixteen Years of Age.

Volume IV. Commences November 7, 1882.

The YOUNG PEOPLE has been from the first successful beyond anticipation.—N. Y. Evening Post.

It has a distinct purpose, to which it steadily adheres—that, namely, of supplanting the vicious papers for the young with a paper more attractive, as well as more wholesome.—[Boston Journal.

For neatness, elegance of engravings and contents generally, it is unsurpassed by any publication of the kind yet brought to our notice.—[Pittsburgh Gazette.

TERMS:

Harper's Young People, Per Year, Postage Prepaid, $1.50.

Single Numbers, Four Cents each.

Specimen copy sent on receipt of Three Cents.

The Volumes of Harper's Young People for 1881 and 1882, handsomely bound in illuminated Cloth, will be sent by mail, postage prepaid, on receipt of $3.00 each. Cover for Young People for 1882, 35 cents; postage, 13 cents additional.

Remittances should be made by Post-Office Money Order or Draft, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of Harper & Brothers.

Address, HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

NOW

IS THE TIME TO BUY,

KIES BROTHERS!

MAMMOTH STOCK

OF WINTER

CLOTHING,

Must be sold by JANUARY 1st.

NOW FOR BARGAINS.

Now is the time to Clothe your Boys.

Remember that our Stock of
FURNISHING GOODS,
HATS AND CAPS
Can not be Beat.

KIES BROS.,

ONE PRICE CLOTHIERS,

Mills Block. TECUMSEH, MICH.

LEE'S

LEE

Is going to move to BATTLE CREEK

January 1st.

ENTIRE STOCK OF

BOOTS & SHOES

TO BE SOLD AT

20 PER CENT. OFF.

SALE TO BEGIN

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 16,

And continue until the entire stock is disposed of.

STORE TO RENT.

Terms STRICTLY CASH. All goods marked in plain figures.

REMEMBER THE PLACE!!

HEWITT'S BLOCK.

BUY.

RS!

OK

R

NG,

1st.

AINS.

your Boys.

, AND CAPS

DS.,

ERS,

ICH.

OES

OFF.

BER 16,

osed of.

plain figures.

LACE!!

AMUSEMENTS.

OPERA HOUSE, TECUMSEH.

ONE NIGHT ONLY.

TUESDAY, NOV. 28th, 1882.

MR. AND MRS.

McKEE RANKIN'S COMBINATION!

IN THEIR GREAT PLAY,

THE DANITES! THE DANITES!

Presenting a vivid picture of Life in California in the early days of that famous Eldorado.

BRILLIANT SCENES!
STRIKING TABLEAUX!
THE DAWN OF DAY
AMONG THE MOUNTAINS!
HOWLING WILDERNESS SALOON!
THE HEART OF THE SIERRAS!
HOME LIFE AMONG THE MINERS,
AMONG THE GREAT TREES OF CALIFORNIA!

BILLY PEPER'S CABIN.

Sandy. The Widow. The Parson.

NO ADVANCE IN PRICES.

A limited number of reserved seats on sale at Kiel's Jewelry Store.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

LOST.

Some time since, a valuable Fan. The finder will be liberally rewarded by leaving the same at the HERALD Office.

CASH

Paid for a number of choice Turkeys and Chickens. W. H. SINK.

LOST.

Last Saturday, a gold anchor with loose bar, from a child's necklace. JAS. GLASGOW.

WANTED.

To Rent—a room, or suit of rooms. Must be furnished nicely. Address, at once,
BOARDER, P. O. Box 85.

A BARGAIN.

Contemplating a change in business, I now offer for sale my MEAT MARKET, complete, lease of location, machinery, consisting of Steam Sausage Cutter, Engine, Meat Blocks Refrigerator, Slaughter Houses, etc., in all one of the most complete markets in Southern Michigan. Also my HOUSE AND LOT on Kilbuck street, ice house and ice business, horses, wagons, sleighs, etc. For terms and particulars inquire of J. W. COLE.

FOR SALE.

A new parlor suit for sale very cheap. Enquire at the Exchange hotel. J. H. EMERY.

FOR SALE.

80 acres of good land situated 3 miles Southeast Tecumseh on section 1 in Raisin. For particulars enquire of C. D. BILLS

MR. WM. HAYDEN has his stave factory at Milan rebuilt and running, and the structure is pronounced by persons who know to be the best stave factory in Michigan.

A THANKSGIVING party will be given at Sage & Carey's hall, at Pennington's corners, on Thursday evening next, Nov. 30th. Music by Keyser & Macham's full band.

THE Presbyterian Sunday School will give a concert next Sabbath evening. Services at the usual hour. The exercises will be of a missionary character. A general invitation is extended.

PHILIP DEPUY, of Hillsdale county, and James DePuy and Samuel Hornbeck, of New York, took the HERALD office by storm yesterday afternoon. They are uncles of B. F. DePuy, of Macon, and they propose to quarter themselves in Frank's hospitable mansion for a few days. Frank's turkeys will suffer on Thanksgiving day.

A Card.

We wish to thank our neighbors and friends for their kindness during our recent affliction.

ALEX. PATTERSON & FAMILY.

A Man Found Dead.

Last Tuesday evening, at early candle-light, Mr. James Hendershot and McCoy were walking along the town line road between Macon and Clinton, west of Mike Hendershot's farm, and when near the Kelly house, they found a dead man lying in the road. The neighbors were at once summoned, and Justice Humboldt Pennington and Dr. Morton were sent for to hold an inquest. After an examination of the body, Dr. Morton decided that the man came to his death from natural causes, and hence an inquest was thought unnecessary. In his pocket was found a key to his satchel, and upon unlocking it some papers were found therein which revealed the identity of the stranger. It was Henry Sones, who had formerly lived in that vicinity. He had not been home before in many months, and was evidently coming back on a visit, when he dropped dead from some mysterious attack when but a short distance from his old homestead. The affair created considerable excitement in the quiet rural neighborhood where it occurred.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

TECUMSEH, MICH. NOV. 23, 1882.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

WOOD is in good demand.

TRADE in overcoats is brisk.

KEROSENE is still advancing.

CORN husking is nearly over.

NEW deputies will soon be in order.

THANKSGIVING turkeys are fattening.

NEXT Thursday will be Thanksgiving.

ALMANACS for 1883 have made their appearance.

"THE snow, the beau"—shoot him on the spot.

Now is the time to plant holiday advertisements.

WE shall have a Thanksgiving story in our next week's paper.

GOOD sleighing and plenty of it is predicted for the coming winter.

LAST evening there was a mush and milk social at the M. E. church Clinton.

NOVEMBER has proved a good month for political and atmospheric changes.

THE politicians are no longer inquiring affectionately concerning the health of the heads of families.

THE buyers are in the field gathering up poultry. They say there is not a democratic rooster for sale in Michigan.

E. D. BURLINGAME has taken up his residence in the village once more, having moved into the Geo. Lanning house on Logan street.

MILES E. BALDWIN, of Raisin has gone to Orleans county, N. Y., on a visit to his old home. He has not been "down home" since 1862.

P. T. BARNUM has already commenced advertising his great show for next season by sending out a column puff in the Bridgeport Standard.

OUR streets are filled daily with farmers' teams drawing produce to market. We have not seen so lively times in produce in some time as since the cold snap.

CONGRESSMAN Willits, of Monroe, has been appointed principal of the State normal school. He has accepted the appointment and will report for duty July 1, '83.

TOWNSHIP treasurers should not fail to call and see us before getting their tax receipts printed, as we do them nicely and cheaply, on good heavy paper at the lowest rates.

WE ask attention to the advertisement of The Ohio Farmer, of Cleveland, O., in this issue of our paper, and recommend it as one of the oldest and most valuable agricultural and family papers of the country.

THERE is a woman roaming about this part of the country selling stove polish, which proves to be a perfect fraud, as well as the peddler. Some times she is from Jackson, and again she tells she is from Battle Creek.

LOOK out that there is nothing uncleanly left about the premises and yards that will be apt to breed scarlet fever, diphtheria, etc. Other towns are suffering, and it stands us all in hand to be careful at this time of the year.

MISS CALA SMITH, of Youngstown, O., who has been spending a few weeks with the family of her uncle, Henry Smith, in this village, returned to her home on Friday last. She was accompanied by her cousin, Emma Smith.

SLANG is a dangerous language.—Recently, when a handsome young lady went to a hardware store to get one of those wooden contrivances to mash potatoes, and said, "I want a masher," every man in the shop, from the boss to the stove blacker started to wait on her.

J. B. SWAN started last Monday on a trip to Florida, where he expects to remain about four weeks. He took the route via. Cincinnati and Chattanooga to Jacksonville, having taken one of the round trip excursion tickets now on sale at the Tecumseh station. He has chosen an excellent season of the year to make a Florida trip.

THE smoke of battle having cleared away—oh, shoot the smoke, shoot the battle; let's talk about something else, politics are getting monotonous; what are you going to buy your wife for a Christmas present, for sitting up nights all the fall, keeping a warm fire for you, while you "were having a little fun with the boys," electioneering?—That's the question.

THE crookedest of crooked work, and yet that which has grace and elegance in every crook, may be seen in the Noyes Dictionary Holders and Noyes Handy Tables. In them the fact is clearly demonstrated that the inventor has not made the crooked straight, he has made the straight crooked, and thereby increased its beauty and utility. People in search of holiday presents will appreciate his success. A fine illustrated circular may be had free by addressing L. W. Noyes, 99 West Monroe St., Chicago. The prices have been greatly reduced.

H. H. [illegible] day. [illegible] ward and the London Cabb[illegible] ists, positively revelled in what I thi[illegible] he was the first to dub a "goak." I [illegible] member, late one night in the fall [illegible] 1866. Artemus, dear little [illegible]

THE lecture given by Rev. R. S. Pardington last Friday eve. before the W. F. M. S. was well attended and netted a very satisfactory sum.

D. P. ANTHONY & Co. have opened a feed barn and boarding stable in the old Reynolds & Silvers barn, where horses will be well fed and taken care of at reasonable rates.

THE regular monthly meeting of the C. L. S. C. will meet on Friday evening, Nov. 24th, 1882, at the private office of Dr. R. B. House. All the members of the circle please report for important business. SEC'Y.

JOHN R. CLARK spoke to eleven hundred people at the First Presbyterian Church, Lockport, one of the largest edifices in Western New York, on Sunday, 12th inst., and is speaking this week to large audiences in Rochester.

AFTER next Saturday, Chase's station, on the Jackson Branch, will be discontinued, and trains will not stop at that point. The passenger business of that locality will be done from Raisin Center, where the Wabash crosses the road.

ALFRED DAVENPORT having hired the Lake Ridge house in Macon for Friday evening, Nov. 24, a social party will be given under the auspices of the Universalist Ladies Mutual Aid Society, to which a cordial invitation is extended to all. Fifty cents per couple pays the whole bill.

FIVE new telephones are added to the Tecumseh Local Exchange this week. Two are placed in the school buildings—one each in the Central and East Branch buildings—one in S. F. Marstellar's Tecumseh office, one in Marstellar's residence, at Clinton, and one in the U. S. Express office in this village.

TOWNSHIP treasurers will find it to their advantage to get their tax receipts printed at the HERALD office. We can furnish any form desired, and bind the receipts in books of one hundred or more each. Do not send away for your tax receipts when you can get a better article for the same money at home.

Brooklyn Exponent: One day recently about fifty pounds of butter was handed in at Culver's by the wife of a neighboring farmer who has traded with them for several years. The extreme solidity of her butter even in hot weather had been noticed and commented on by Mr. Culver, and this lot subjected to a thorough test. It was found to contain about 50 per cent of tallow. Yum, yum, yum.

THE Boys' Guild, of St. Peter's Church, will have for sale at the Opera House, on Thanksgiving day, domestic canned fruits, jellies, and many other goodies. Likewise in their booth will be presented various novelties. Save your money, patronize us, and we will give you bargains. Don't forget the Ladies' Fair and entertainment at the same time and place. B. G., ST. P.

OUR stock of Christmas Cards is arriving from different places this week and about Dec. 1st we shall pla[illegible] them on sale. The stock consists [illegible] fine collection of Prang's cards, and among them all the prize cards. In all we shall show the finest line of Holiday Cards ever on sale in Lenawee, and we invite the public generally to call and see them.

STACY BROTHERS.

A PAMPHLET of 48 pages, on Michigan and its resources, has been printed in the Dutch language for the State Commissioner of Immigration, and is to be distributed in that part of Europe where it will do the most good. Hollanders desiring it, especially to send abroad, can get copies by addressing Fred. Morley, Commissioner of Immigration, Detroit; or, if addresses are furnished, the book will be mailed abroad direct from his office.

TELEPHONE subscribers in Tecumseh now have communication with the following places in this State: Royal Oak, Birmingham, Pontiac, Orchard Lake, Leesville, Roseville, Mt. Clemens, St. Clair, Marine City, Marysville, Port Huron, Lexington, Sandusky, Carsonville, Crosswell, Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor, Delhi Mills, Dexter, Base Lake, Pinckney, Chelsea, Grass Lake, Jackson, Saline, Adrian, Clinton, Flat Rock, Monroe; also with Toledo, Ohio.

Still an Enigma.

Cleveland, Nov. 20.—General Devereux and Judge Burke have returned from New York, where they became directors of the Nickel Plate. They were appointed, together with President Cummings, to secure terminal facilities at Chicago. Both decline to reveal, at present, the identity of the purchasers of the road, but Judge Burke says it may be stated as absolutely and unqualifiedly true, that the Nickel Plate will be operated as thoroughly independent of other lines as any other road in the country. He says the purchasing syndicate is composed of individuals, and no corporation has any interest in it.

MRS. A. L. HENRY, of Lansing, has been enjoying a few days' visit with the old folks at home.

DR. H. L. STEWART is back from his bear hunt in the North Woods, and is now ready for dental business again.

MR. A. W. SLAYTON reports a good trade in hay this season, and says his shipments so far have averaged 75 tons per week.

BIBLE reading in the lecture room of the M. E. church this evening.—Subject, "How to use the bible." All are cordially invited.

UNION Thanksgiving services will be held in the Baptist church next Thursday. Rev. R. S. Pardington will preach the sermon.

THOS. CONLIN and Frank Pitcher will give a Thanksgiving party at Tuttle's hall, in Franklin, on Thursday evening, Nov. 30th. Music by Keyser & Knapp's band. Bill $1,25.

THOS. MCMULLIN, of Clinton, who was accused of stealing some money from Simeon Ellis, has been discharged, there not being evidence enough to justify binding him over to court.

NEWBERRY SATTERTHWAITE has on sale round trip tickets to Jacksonville, Fla. The ticket is about three feet long and is composed of fourteen sections. This entire strip of railroad ticket can be bought for $46,70.

A. A. KENNEDY returned Saturday from his Minnesota trip, whither he had been to negotiate a sale of his apples of which he has several thousand barrels on hand. He expects to make another trip to the same state during the winter.

QUARTERLY meeting services at the M. E. Church, Saturday and Sabbath next. Preaching on Saturday at 2:30 p. m. Love feast on the Sabbath at 9 a. m. Preaching by the pastor at 10:30, and in the evening by Rev. W. J. Campbell, Presiding Elder.

THE National Relief and Accident Association, having outgrown their present office quarters with Drs. House & Jones, will soon move into new rooms. They have rented one of the stores in the Richard block, and will soon fit it up in suitable shape for offices.

THE steam mill, since it was [illegible] chased by Geo. S. Wilson, [illegible] undergoing extensive [illegible] new roller system [illegible] grinding, and ot[illegible] machinery w[illegible] Mr. Wilso[illegible] tion to cu[illegible] feed for fa[illegible] rangemen[illegible] best custo[illegible] State.

THE OLD COURT HOUSE.

Apropos to the new court house tax which has just been voted, the Adrian Times has a little historical reminiscence in regard to the burning of the old court house thirty years ago:

In March, 1852, the Lenawee county court house was destroyed by an incendiary fire. Thirty years later, after several ineffectual attempts, a vote was carried for the erection of a new building. The fire which destroyed the old building will be remembered by many of our older citizens, and it was certain at the time that the fire was an incendiary one. It originated in the county clerk's office, in which were on file sundry indictments ag'st well known criminals who at that time infested this locality. It was generally believed that a noted horse thief, who then lived in the town of Madison was the incendiary; he had recently been indicted by the grand jury; and the object was to destroy the evidences of his guilt, which were on file with the indictment. This man was more than suspected to be the head of a gang of horse thieves whose organization extended from western New York, through Ohio, Michigan and Indiana. He divided with the notorious "Sile" Doty the honor of being the Jesse James of this, at that time infested section.

It is probable, however, that he was not the actual incendiary. Mr. Chas. Cleveland was at Fabius Corners, Onondaga county, N. Y., four years after the court house burned, and the landlord told him a story to this effect: A man had been boarding for some time at his hotel, having no visible means of support, and had run up quite a bill for board and bar charges. He told the landlord he could not pay him then, but was going west, and on his return, in about two weeks would liquidate his account. He left, returned, and kept his promise, paying the landlord. Soon after he got on a spree, and in his cups told the bar-keeper that, during his absence, he had burned a court house at Adrian, Mich., and got a hundred dollars for the job. When he became sober he probably remembered he had been too communicative, and soon after disappeared. The criminal, above alluded to originally came from that portion of New York state, and probably hired this man to come out and do the job, rather than run the risk himself.

THE T. & M. RAILROAD

The preliminary surveys are now fully completed and the line located from Marshall to Monroe Co. line, on the Wabash road. The company have finally determined to run via Homer, and also to make Dundee the eastern terminus of the road.

Chief Engineer Boch (pronounced Bay), arrived in town Tuesday morning, from Marshall. He proceeded directly to Cambridge to examine the work which has been done on the western end of the line in this county, and will remain in this vicinity for several days, having his headquarters at Tecumseh.

As stated in a former issue of the Herald, the contracts for grading have all been let in eleven and twelve mile sections. Through the kindness of Chief Engineer Boch we can now give our readers the names of the contractors and the territory covered by them, as follows:

First Section—S. B. Wakefield, Monroe, Mich.; eleven miles west of Dundee, being from Dundee west to about four miles east of Tecumseh.

Second—Matt Spellacy, Conneaut, Ohio; eleven miles west of Dundee, being from about four miles east of Tecumseh to seven miles west of Tecumseh.

Third—A. T. Wilcox, Silver Creek, N. Y.; next eleven miles west of Spellacy.

Fourth—Norton & Huffman; eleven miles next west of Wilcox.

Fifth—Geo. Meiley, Lima, Ohio; [illegible] between Huffman and Hakes.

Sixth—Z. A. Hakes, Marshall; eight miles; from two miles west of Homer [illegible] two miles east of Marshall.

Seventh—J. H. McLean, Coldwater; [illegible]welve miles; from two miles east of Marshall to old grade at Beadle Lake.

The bridge and culvert contracts have been let to Thomas H. Hamilton, Toledo, from Monteith to Homer. The remaining portion east of Homer has been let to Messrs. Decreet & Eckermann, of Fostoria.

The line is now located entirely through Lenawee county to the Monroe county line. The engineering corps which has been stationed at Tecumseh is now engaged in cross-sectioning, and the dirt will begin to fly upon each grading section at an early day.

WE have this advice to offer to those of our subscribers who are troubled with newspaper borrowers: Cut out an item from the paper—no difference what it may be; continue doing this about three weeks, just before the borrower comes around, and it will get your publisher a subscriber every time, as the borrower will have no peace of mind until he discovers just what that cut out piece was. We have known this remedy tried several times and never knew it to fail to effect its cure.

THE DANITES.

Joaquin Miller's great play, "The Danites," is to be produced at the Opera House on Tuesday evening next, November 28, by Mr. and Mrs. McKee Rankin's Combination. As both the troupe and the play are well and favorably known, it is needless to say that crowded houses greet them wherever they go, and "standing room only" is often the rule long before the curtain rises on the first act. That "The Danites" is unquestionably one of the finest dramatic productions of the present day is amply attested by the great popularity it has achieved, as well as by the warm encomiums it has received from the press throughout the country. In an elaborate criticism of "The Danites," the Chicago Times, of a recent date, says:

"The hit which Mr. and Mrs. Rankin made in "The Danites" was almost phenomenal in the annals of the stage. Joaquin Miller's drama was the first successful handling of the rich dramatic materials with which border life abounds. His play was fresh, romantic and stirring, and it won great popular favor."

The New York Herald pronounces it "the best play produced in twenty years," and it but voices the universal sentiment of the press throughout the country.

A limited number of reserved seats are now on sale at Kiel's jewelry store, and as there is to be no advance in the price of tickets they will undoubtedly go off rapidly. It is seldom that a company having the reputation the McKee Rankin Combination have come to Tecumseh, and when they do they should have a crowded house.

SOME lady ought to secure at once the agency for the book advertised in another column, "The Care and Culture of Children." It is one of the books which no mother can afford to be without. It treats, in simple language, of the causes, symptoms, and home treatment of every disease to which children are liable, and deals beside with their training up to mature manhood and womanhood. Like all books in "The Household Series," published by the same house, it is a practical and helpful book.

—Get your Turkies,
—Get your Chickens,
—Get your Oysters,
—Get your Mince Meat,
—Get your Geese,
—Get your Ducks,
—Get your Fish,
—Get your Game,
In fact
Get all kinds of Meats, &c., at the old reliable meat market, kept by that prince of butchers, Jim Cole.

—A few good cooking apples cheap by the bushel or barrel at the old foundry building. Kennedy & Co.

—Get your Turkies for Thanksgiving at Jim. Cole's.

—We have a five years' lease of the lumber yard on Shawnee street, near the depot, besides being the sole owners of the Planing Mill and Sash and Door factory, corner of Pearl and Shawnee streets, formerly owned by S. W. Temple. We have come to stay, to do an honest, legitimate business, and cordially invite the people to call on us and make our acquaintance. We are bound to please.

Respectfully,
TECUMSEH LUMBER CO.

—Thanksgiving Oysters, in bulk or can, at Jim. Cole's.

—Parties wishing floral decorations for weddings, funerals or other uses, will be promptly supplied by leaving orders with J. J. Orr, at Wright's drug store. Elmer D. Smith.

—Try Jim Cole's Mince Meat, all ready prepared, at Jim. Cole's.

—The Tecumseh Lumber Co. having purchased the entire property, real estate included, formerly known as the S. W. Temple Planing and Matching Mill, are now prepared to manufacture all kinds of Sash, Doors, Blinds and Mouldings, and do matching of any description. Come and see us

Jim. Cole's market is the place to get all kinds of meat for Thanksgiving.

—One of the best blood purifiers ever made is "King of the Blood." Sold by Druggists generally. Manufactured by D. Ransom, Son & Co. Buffalo, N. Y.

—Leave your orders for Sash, Doors, blinds, mouldings, window frames, tanks, troughs, etc., etc., with the Tecumseh Lumber Co. They will receive prompt attention.

—Those wishing ornamental Hair Jewelry, for Holiday gifts, should call on Mrs. C. M. Webster, one door north of the Presbyterian church.

—Call at the yard and mill of the Tecumseh Lumber Co., and examine their stock.

—Call at my residence, one door north of the Presbyterian church, and see samples of Ornamental Hair Jewelry. Mrs. C. M. WEBSTER.

—My business is such I am unable to leave Tecumseh. Clinton patrons please call on me at home.
Brown, the Photographer.

LODGES AND SOCIETIS

TECUMSEH LODGE, NO. 14, I. O. O. F

REGULAR MEETINGS every Tuesday Evening at their Lodge Room over Brown's Store, Chicago Street.

J. W. WODDEN, N. G.

EUGENE HODGES, Sec.

Railroad Time Tables.

L. S. and M. S. RAILROAD

TRAINS GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS	No. 16. Mail.	No. 14. Express.	No. 48. Accom.
Adrian	6 50 a m	2 40 p m	1 40 p m
Napoleon	7.10 "	3 05 "	2 20 "
Morenci	7 16 "	3 13 "
Manchester	7 30 "	3 30 "
Clinton	7 47 "	3 43 "
Tecumseh	7 53 "	3 50 "	4 35 "
Adrian	8 35 "	4 37 "	5 [illegible] "
Detroit	10 50 "	7 15 "
Toledo	2 55 "	5 25 "

TRAINS GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	No. 15. Mail.	No. 13. Express.	No. 47. Accom.
Detroit	9 20 a m	6 40 p m
Toledo	10 50 "	8 25 "
Adrian	11 40 a m	9 20 "	6 10 a m
Tecumseh	12 14 p m	9 57 "	6 25 "
Clinton	12 22 "	10 07 "	7 30 "
Manchester	12 40 "	10 20 "	8 25 "
Morenci	12 56 "	10 45 "	9 05 "
Napoleon	1 05 "	10 55 "	9 25 "
Jackson	1 50 "	11 20 "	10 20 "

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Coupon tickets can now be procured at this station over best routes, to all principal cities in the U. S.

N. S. SATTERTHWAITE, Ticket Agent

Post Office, Tecumseh, Michigan,

MAILS CLOSE.

Eastern and Detroit—morning mail ..... 7 30 A. M.
Northern and Detroit, via Jackson ..... 11 40 A. M.
Eastern and Detroit ..... 3 30 P. M.

OVERLAND.

Tipton, Springville, Cambridge & Brooklyn, Mondays, Wednesdays, Fridays ..... 1 30 P. M.
Ridgeway—daily ..... 1 30 " "
Lake Ridge, daily ..... 1 30 " "
Macon, daily ..... 12 00 M.

ARRIVALS.

Northern Mail ..... 7 35 A. M.
Eastern Mail ..... 12 10 P. M. 9 57 P. M.

Office hours from 7 A. M. to 30 P. M., Sundays from 10 to 10 30 A. M.

FRED ROSACRANS P.M.

For the Latest Styles of

Buggies, Carriages,
SLEIGHS AND HARNESS
GO TO
LENAWEE CARRIAGE CO.
Satisfaction Guaranteed
J. R. H[illegible]

ABE HANNA
General Auctioneer.

All Auction business entrusted to his care will receive prompt attention.

TECUMSEH, - MICHIGAN

BEN REYNOLDS,
Licensed Auctioneer,

ALL AUCTION BUSINESS,
Either in village or country, will be attended to promptly.
TECUMSEH, MICH.

B. F STEINHOFF'S
Dental Rooms.

OVERBAKER & HALL'S.
GAS FOR EXTRACTING.
THE LOWEST PRICES for THE BEST WORK

LOOSE'S EXTRACT
RED CLOVER BLOSSOM,
The Great Blood Purifier

PURE AND HARMLESS

Cures Scrofula in all its forms, Cancer, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Rheumatism and all other blood and skin diseases, and regulates the bowels. $1 per pint bottle.

Loose's Red Clover Pills remedy, certain, speedy, cheap.

Loose's Red Clover Pills cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Constipation. They act on the liver and kidneys. In boxes of 23 pill, 25c.; 5 boxes $1.

For sale by all druggists, or address J. M. Loose, & Co., Monroe, Mich. Send for circular.

I have removed my
BLACKSMITH SHOP,
To the old stand of J. H. Mills,
On Logan Street,
Opposite Hayden's Warehouse, where I have better facilities than ever for doing good work.
Horse Shoeing a specialty
ED. ROWLAND.

Hoffenstein's Bugle.

"Mr. Hoffenstein," said Herman, as he folded up a pair of pants, and placed them on a pile, "if you don't haf any objections I vould like to get from de store away von evening, und go mit de soldiers to de Spanish Fort." "Yell, Herman, I dinks you had better keep away from de soldiers," replied Hoffenstein, "und stay mit de store, because, you know, you don't can put any confidence mit de soldiers. I vill dell you vhy. You day vhe I vos in Vicksburg, during da war, a cockeyed soldier came in my store mit an old bugle in his hand, und he looks around. I asks him vot he vants, und he buys a couple of undershirts, dein he dells me to keep his bundle und de bugle behind de counter until he comes back. After de cockeyed soldier vent de store out, some more soldiers come in and valk all around, vile dey looks at de goods. 'Spontlemen,' I says, 'do you vant any dings?' 'Ve are shust looking to see vot you haf,' said one of dem, und after a vile anodder says: 'Bill, shust look dere at de bugler, de very ding de captain told us to get. You know ve don't haf any bugle in our company for dree months. How much you ask for dat bugle?' I dells dem dat I can't sell de bugle because it belongs to a man vot shust vent out. 'I vill gif you fifty dollars for it,' says de soldier, pulling his money out. I dells him I don't can sell it because it vasn't mine. 'I vill give you a hundred dollars,' he said. My gr-acious, Herman, I vants to sell de bugle so bad dat I vistips. De soldier dells me vile dey vos leaving de store dat if I buys de bugle of de man vot owns it, dey vill gif me one hundred und dwendy-five dollars for it. I dell dem I vill do it. I sees a chance, you know, Herman, to make some money by de oberation. Ven de cockeyed soldier comes back he says, 'Git me my bundle und bugle, I got to go to de camp.' I says, 'My frent, don't you vont to sell your bugle?' He dells me no, und I says, 'My little boy Leopold, vot plays in de store, sees de bugle und he goes all around crying shust as loud as he can, because he don't get it. Six times I takes him in de back yard und vips him, und he comes right back und cries for de bugle. It shows you know how much drouble a man vill haf mit a family. I vill gif you den dollars for it shust to please little Leopold.' De soldier won't take it, und at last I offers him fifty dollars und he says, 'Vell I vill dake fifty dollars, because I can't vast any more time. I haf to go to de camp.' After he had gone avay I goes to de door und vatches for de soldiers vat vanted de bugle. I sees dem passing along de street, und I says, 'My frents I haf got de bugle,' und dey say, 'Vell, dam it, vy don't you blow it?' 'My gr-r-acious Herman, vat you dink? All dem soldiers belong to de same crowd, und dey make de trick to swindle me. Levi Cohen, across de street, he finds it out, und efery day he gets boys to blow horns in front of my store, so as to make me dink I vas svindled. Herman, I dink you had better stay mit de store."

—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The Poly of a Felon.

Within one minute after the body of James Tracy, the murderer of Policeman Huebner, had been taken from the gallows at Chicago, Dr. Mann, in the presence of other physicians, applied the electricity, and it was intensely interesting to see the muscles of the cold face twitch, the mouth pout, the eyes open and shut, and the breast heave. The countenance of Dr. Danforth lit up suddenly as he bent over the corpse. "Hush!" he said: "I can hear the heart beat." The others bent down in turn, and they, too, heard the rythmic beating of the heart. This is the statement they wrote:

"The experiment was begun by applying one pole over the spinal chord, and the other over the heart—the latter by means of three needles, one over the apex and two over the base of the heart. The needles were inserted beneath the skin, so as to bring the electric current in direct communication with the heart. On turning on the current the effect was very marked. Muscular contortions began wherever the electric current reached, but especially in the face and neck. The heart began to contract feebly, not regularly. With the ear over the heart we could distinctly hear, or rather feel, the heart's contractions. By removing the electrode we could produce a variety of facial expressions. The arms would contract, the legs move with considerable force, and the muscles of the abdomen contract strongly. The most significant fact, however, was the rythmic action of the heart, notwithstanding that the neck was broken. It is probable that a considerable proportion of criminals who are hanged in this country are either mechanically strangled—that is choked to death, or killed by shock—that is, death is the result of the terrible impression made upon the nervous system. In cases where the neck is not broken, and the spinal cord is not lacerated, we are of opinion that resuscitation would not be impossible. It might be accomplished by electricity, friction, artificial respiration, the hot bath, and other well-known means of restoration. In this present case resuscitation was impossible, as the neck was broken."

Special Officer in Petticoats.

A Western woman, observes the New York Herald, has just done her sex a service of a kind that officers who wear trousers are generally slow to do. A feminine friend was persuaded to marry a fellow who afterward proved to be already more married than the law allows. A male officer would have said "Poor thing!" and then gone on talking politics; but not so this Indiana woman. She found that the bigamist had taken his victim to Kansas, so, obtaining a special commission and a requisition from the governor of Indiana, she went west, caught the rogue, brought him back to the locality where his offense was committed and lodged him in jail. No man in office would have done so much unless, specially hired. Moral, let us have some strong-minded women in office to look after women who are not able to take care of themselves. If there were such persons on constabulary duty there would be a diminution in the number of the two-footed beasts of prey who seek principally after young women.

The Money Order System—Plans For its Perfection.

The superintendent of the money order division of the postoffice department sent out recently an order that hereafter, when a money order has remained in a postoffice sixty days without pay being demanded, the postmaster shall send a private notice to the payee, if his address is known, informing him of the fact and giving the name and address of the remitter. The payee is requested by the circular to present the corresponding order for payment, if it is in his possession; or if it has not been received to obtain it, if practicable, from the remitter, and in the event of its loss in transit or otherwise, to suggest to the remitter that he make an application for a duplicate.

This circular is a new departure in the money order division, and is one that ought to have been made years ago. Had it been adopted on the start, there would not now be in the treasury to the credit of the money order system the great sum of over a million and a quarter of dollars, the accretion of money orders remaining unpaid. Not a dollar of this fund belongs to the government. It belongs to people who paid for orders, which largely through the defects of the postal system, did not reach the persons to whom they were sent. It may safely be said that nine-tenths of this sum could have been made to reach the payees, or could have been returned to the remitters, had not a policy of concealment been adopted. Instead of seeking earnestly either to pay the money to the payees or return it to the remitters, a rule was adopted forbidding a postmaster, under penalty of dismissal, to furnish the information now ordered to be given by the new circular.

If the department is content with the present step, it will fail to do all that it should do to stop such a wrongful detention of the people's money. It is evident that the payee of an unpaid order may be out of reach after sixty days, and so may never receive his notice. In such a case, after the lapse of another thirty days, the remitter should be notified that the money he has deposited remains unpaid. As of course the payee has the first claim to payment, it would be necessary to provide that some set time—perhaps six months additional—should elapse before a repayment was made to the remitter.

Nor should the effort to be honest stop here. Every means should be taken by publication of lists and otherwise faithfully to disburse the fund now on hand before passing a law to cover it into the treasury. In every other respect the money order system, under the supervision of D. C. F. McDonald, is a model of precision and effectiveness, and even in the matter of this lapsed order fund it is probably less at fault than any other system in the world, and the step it h[illegible]ken is one in advance of most othe[illegible]s. But nothing can be said in fav[illegible]ering such a fund into the treasu[illegible]ry means has been exhaust[illegible]d owners of it.—Wash[illegible] York Evening Post.

[illegible]ound.

[illegible] breeze [illegible] roman- [illegible] Island. [illegible] whisper-

1883.
Harper's Magazine.
ILLUSTRATED

Harper's Magazine begins its sixty-sixth volume with the January number. It is not out of the [illegible] in its efforts to [illegible] this other [illegible] in its [illegible] his face beaming. "It is not out of the [illegible] he exclaimed in the heartiest manner: "How are you, old boy? Glad to see you. How well you are looking. 'Pon my word, never saw you looking so fine in all my life." We remarked, "Why this exuberance?" and he said, in some little confusion: "There it goes again. Forgot I wasn't a candidate any more. Got so in the habit of shaking hands with people and complimenting them, that it has become second nature, almost." "Is that the way it has to be done?" we asked. "Bless your innocent heart, of course it is. If you want an office, you must be friendly with everybody and appear to take the most violent interest in every man's affairs. If you don't they will go back on you—say you are stuck up. I am a grave man naturally, but I was compelled to wear my face wreathed in smiles so long that it feels as though it was wrinkled all out of shape, and would never come straight again. I have done so much hand shaking that my right hand clutches convulsively in my sleep sometimes, my wife says, and I mutter, 'Glad to see you, old fellow. Never saw you looking better in all my life.' I tell you sir, I shall be glad to get back to my normal condition once more, and when I do I intend to forswear politics as long as I live. It makes a confounded hypocrite of a man."—Cin. Sat. Night.

Fortunes for Farmers and Mechanics.

Thousands of dollars can be saved by using proper judgment in taking care of the health of yourself and family. If you are Billious, have sallow complexion, poor appetite, low and depressed spirits, and generally debilitated, do not delay a moment; but go at once and procure a bottle of those wonderful Electric Bitters, which never fail to cure, and that for the trifling sum of fifty cents.—Tribune.—Sold by C. A. Wright & Co.

The American Brakeman.

A good many harmless, but none the less undeserved squibs are fired by the newspaper press at the passenger train brakeman. The average brakeman is defective in elocutionary training, and does not understand the oratorical charm of a musical voice and a distinct clear-cut articulation in announcing such names as "Shickshinny," "Patagumpus," "Squaw Ranch," "Smelfungus," "Rat River," "Shockmanchunk" and like specimens of railway station nomenclature. The defect is in a fault.—Let the funny itemizer try his vocal capacity at repeating day in and day out with monotonous iteration the same set of names, and he will in a short time have what newsboys and street hucksters have, a partial paralysis of the tongue that would make his syllables run together automatically in spite of himself. This, we imagine, is the cause of much of the incoherency complained of in the announcement of stations by brakemen on passenger trains. It cannot be denied, however, that many brakemen are inexcusably careless in this matter from pure indifference and laziness. We are reminded of one of this kind who has served for several years on a local train in New Jersey, who sings out with a wearied drawl: "Staash Marketete, Nuke," which being interpreted, means: "Next station, Market street, Newark."

Burlington, Vt., Jan. 25, 1882.

I have used Downs' Elixir exclusively for myself and in my family for a score or more of years, and always recommend it with me. Warren Gibbs,
President Vermont Life Ins. Co.

Fairhaven, Vt., Jan. 1, 1882.

I prefer Downs' Elixir to any other cough remedy for children, simply on account of its tonic and expectorant qualities. Respectfully,
Geo. H. Harris.

Important to Travelers.

Special Inducements are offered you by the BURLINGTON ROUTE. It will pay you to read their advertisement to be found elsewhere in this issue.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all kinds of Skin Eruptions. This Salve is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction in every case or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by All Druggists

James Bruce's Beefsteak.

Many of the events he described were so extraordinary that they were immediately discredited, greatly to the injury of the book—so much so that copies of the work were found on sale soon after publication as waste paper. Later travelers, however, substantiated Bruce's claims to veracity; and Bruce undoubtedly was firm on that point. "What I have written I have written," are the concluding words to his preface, and this was his invariable reply to every skeptic. Once he startled a doubting friend by a practical exemplification of the statement that the natives of Abyssinia eat raw beef. The friend, who was at dinner with Bruce, had said that such a custom was "Impossible."

Bruce rose from the table and left the room without a word, returning shortly afterwards with a piece of raw beefsteak, peppered and salted a la Abyssinia. "Now, then," he said to the gentleman, "eat that or fight me." The steak was eaten, the traveler adding, "Now, sir, you will never again say it is impossible."

Skinny Men

Wells' Health Renewer. Absolute cure for nervous debility and weakness of the generative functions. $1, at druggists. Mich. Depot, J. E. Davies & Co., Detroit, Mich.

WARNER'S SAFE KIDNEY & LIVER CURE

Disease is an effect, not a cause. Its origin is within; its manifestations without. Hence, to cure the disease the cause must be removed, and in no other way can a cure ever be effected. WARNER'S SAFE KIDNEY AND LIVER CURE is established on just this principal. It realizes that of all diseases arise from deranged kidneys and liver, and it strikes at once at the root of the difficulty. The elements of which it is composed act directly upon these great organs, both as a food and a restorer, and by placing them in a healthy condition, drive disease and pain from the system.

95 Per Cent.

For the innumerable troubles caused by unhealthy Kidneys, Liver and Urinary Organs; for the distressing Disorders of Women; for Malaria, and for physical derangements generally, this great remedy has no equal. Beware of impostors, imitations and concoctions said to be just as good.

For Diabetes, ask for WARNER'S SAFE DIABETES CURE.

For Sale by all dealers.

H. H. WARNER & CO., Rochester, N. Y.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENT DEPOT.
Grain, Flour, Feed and Coal.
SLAYTON & SON
Are still at the old stand with a complete line o
AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.
PLOWS The Wiard Chilled, Mohawk Valley Clipper (steel.)
"Leader" Spring Tooth Harrow.
Elwood, Robbins and Buckeye
CULTIVATORS,
"Springer" Spring Tooth Harrow (on wheels.)
GRAIN DRILLS. Buckeye, Farmer's Fr Triumph.
THRESHERS, The "Vibrator," and The "Buffalo Pitts."
Portable and Traction Thresher Engines,
Rare Bargains in
Carriages, Platform, Spring and Lumber Wagons,
Lime, Water Lime, Salt, Cal. Plaster and Plastering Hair.
If you want anything in our line call and get prices before you buy.

DR. A. TRASK'S MAGNETIC OINTMENT.

The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.

It is constantly effecting the most wonderful cures, while the unparalleled demand with which it is met, stands it at once as the greatest medicine or salve for outward application.

The most incredulous are convinced, and the most skeptical are compelled to believe in the power of this great remedy.

WHAT IT CURES.

All SORES, CUTS, BRUISES, SPRAINS, BURNS, SORE THROAT, LAMENESS, RHEUMATISM, ALL INFLAMMATION of LUNGS and KIDNEYS, BRONCHITIS, CROUP, SALT RHEUM, CHILBLAINS, AFFECTIONS of the SPINE, ERYSIPELAS, NERVOUS IRRITATION, and all other pains attendant with INFLAMMATION.

It never fails to restore the natural functions of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates every portion of the human frame; every bone, muscle, vein, nerve, and ligament is searched and made sensible to its soothing and healing influence. Hence it copes readily with internal as well as external diseases.

Over 40 Years

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that as we have no space here to insert any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, we simply ask those readers of this notice who have ever used this Ointment, to frankly state their experience with it to inquiring friends. If but one in a hundred would do this we should feel perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle.

Price 25 and 40 cents per bottle. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

D. RANSOM SON & CO., Prop'rs, Buffalo, New York.

TO ADVERTISERS.

GEO. P. ROWELL & CO'S
SELECT LIST OF LOCAL NEWSPAPERS.

An advertiser who spends upwards of $5,000 a year, and who invested less than $350 of it in this List, writes: "Your Select Local List paid me better last year THAN ALL THE OTHER ADVERTISING I DID."

IT IS NOT A CO-OPERATIVE LIST.
IT IS NOT A CHEAP LIST.
IT IS AN HONEST LIST.

The catalogue states exactly what the papers are: When the name of a paper is printed in FULL FACE TYPE it is in every instance the BEST.—When printed in CAPITALS it is the ONLY paper in the place. The list gives the population of every town and the circulation of every paper.

The rates charged for advertising are barely one-fifth the publishers' schedule. The price for single States ranges from $2 to $80. The price for one inch one month in the entire list is $625. The regular rates of the papers for the same space and time are $2,980.14. The list includes 952 newspapers of which 187 are issued DAILY and 765 WEEKLY. They are located in 788 different cities and towns, of which 26 are State Capitals, 362 places of over 5,000 population, and 408 County Seats. For copy of List and other information, address GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., 10 Spruce St., New York.

$30 per week can be made in any locality. Something entirely new for agents. $5 outfit free. G. W. INGRAHAM & CO., Boston, Mass.

Perhaps the most [illegible] magazine in the World.—The [illegible] N. Y., Sept. 1882

THE CENTURY
For 1882-83.

The twenty-first year of this magazine, under the new name, and the [illegible] history, closed with the October [illegible] circulation has shown a large gain [illegible] preceding season, and THE CENTURY [illegible] its thirteenth year with an edition [illegible]

140,000 copies

The following are the leading features [illegible]

A NEW NOVEL BY W. D. HOWELLS [illegible] ceed this author's Modern Instance [illegible] international story entitled "A Woman's [illegible]

LIFE IN THE THIRTEENTH CONGRESS [illegible] ward Eggleston—the leading historical [illegible] the year.

A NOVELETTE OF MINING LIFE [illegible] Hallock Foote, entitled The Legend [illegible] be illustrated by the author.

THE POINT OF VIEW, by H. [illegible] series of eight letters from imaginary [illegible] various nationalities, criticising [illegible] society, manners, railroads [illegible]

THE CHRISTIAN TRIBUNE [illegible] CUT, by the Rev. Washington [illegible] count of practical co-operation [illegible]

BUDDER CHANGE ABROAD [illegible] Stockton, a continuation of the [illegible] Grange Stories, the scene being [illegible]

THE NEW ERA IN AMERICAN [illegible] BUILDING, a series of four papers [illegible] trated.

THE CREOLES OF LOUISIANA [illegible] Cable, richly illustrated.

MY ADVENTURES IN ZUNI [illegible] Cushing, government ethnologist [illegible] member of the Zuni tribe of Indians.

ILLUSTRATED PAPERS ON THE CAPITOL, including The Capitol, [illegible] Court, The White House, etc.

MISSIONS OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA [illegible] H. H.; three or four pages of [illegible] teresting character, richly illustrated.

MISCELLANEOUS

Entertaining short stories and [illegible] among the leading features of [illegible] heretofore; and the magazine will [illegible] vance in general excellence.

The subscription price is $4.00 [illegible] number. Subscriptions should [illegible] November number, and to enable [illegible] to commence with the new series [illegible] TURY name, we make the following [illegible]

SPECIAL OFFER.

A year's subscription from November [illegible] twelve numbers of the past year [illegible] A subscription and the twelve back [illegible] in two elegant volumes with gilt [illegible]

THE CENTURY CO., New York, N. Y.

1831 THE CULTIVATOR AND Country Gentleman. 1883

THE BEST OF THE AGRICULTURAL WEEKLIES.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is the leading Journal of American Agriculture. In scope and practical value of contents, in extent and ability of correspondence, in quality of paper, and style of publication, it occupies the FIRST RANK. It is believed to have no superior in either of the three chief divisions of

Farm Crops and Processes,
Horticultural and Fruit Growing,
Live Stock and Dairying,

while it also includes all minor departments of rural interest, such as the Poultry Yard, Entomology, Bee-Keeping, Greenhouse and Grapery, Veterinary Replies, Farm Questions and Answers, Fireside Reading, Domestic Economy, and a Summary of the News of the Week. Its MARKET REPORTS are usually complete, and much attention is paid to the Prospects of the Crops, as throwing light upon one of the most important of all questions—WHEN TO BUY AND WHEN TO SELL. It is liberally illustrated, and is intended to supply, in a continually increasing degree and in the best sense of the term a

Live Agricultural Newspaper,

The Volume of the COUNTRY GENTLEMAN for 1882 was GREATLY ENLARGED by increasing its size from 16 to 20 pages weekly, but the terms still continue as follow, when paid strictly in advance, One copy, one year, $2.50; Four Copies, $10, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club; Ten Copies $20, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club.

All New Subscribers for 1883, paying in advance now, will receive the paper weekly from receipt of remittance to January 1st, 1884, without charge.

SPECIMEN COPIES FREE. Address
LUTHER TUCKER & SON, Publishers, ALBANY, N. Y.

FARMERS' FRIEND,
South Bend, Indiana.

ONLY FIFTY CENTS A YEAR.

Circulation 33,000.

The largest and best agricultural paper in the country. Eight large pages, 48 columns, few advertisements and almost double the reading matter given by the $1.50 and $2 agricultural papers, but we send it to you for 50 cents a year. Premiums to every subscriber, premiums to club raisers and 232 splendid presents given them in addition, consisting of a $476 New Bristol Clover Huller, complete, including re-cleaning attachment, which cleans the seed as threshed; a $60 Cassady Sulky Plow; a $65 Studebaker Farm Wagon; Oliver Chilled Plows, Sewing Machine, Silverware, etc. Some of the departments of the FARMERS' FRIEND are Farm Topics, The Orchard, Live Stock, The Poultry Yard, Home and Health, Domestic Economy, Young Folks, The Puzzler, The Story Teller, The Funny Place, Sunday Reading, The Clover Leaf, The Apiary, Letter Basket, Various Topics, Correspondence, Hints for the Season, World's Record, etc. Practical farmers and the best writers contribute to it. Agents make money canvassing for it. Any subscriber authorized to act as agent. Send 50 cents for a year's subscription, or write your name and those of your neighbors on a postal card for free sample copies and our Illustrated Premium List.

Address,
FARMERS' FRIEND PUB. CO., South Bend, Ind.

RED ESTABLISHED 1846 MUNN & CO. PATENTS NEW YORK

We continue to act as solicitors for patents, caveats, trade-marks, copyrights, etc., for the United States, and to obtain patents in Canada, England, France, Germany, and all other countries.

Thirty-six years' practice. No charge for examination of models or drawings. Advice by mail free.

Patents obtained through us are noticed in the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN, which has the largest circulation, and is the most influential newspaper of its kind published in the world. The advantages of such a notice every patentee understands.

This large and splendidly illustrated newspaper is published WEEKLY at $3.20 a year, and is admitted to be the best paper devoted to science, mechanics, inventions, engineering works, and other departments of industrial progress, published in any country. Single copies by mail, 10 cents. Sold by all newsdealers.

Address, Munn & Co., publishers of Scientific American, 261 Broadway, New York.

Handbook about patents mailed free.

GEST'S
TEMPERANCE HOTEL
Cor. Congress and Bates Sts., DETROIT, MICH.
RATES—$1 to $1.25 per day. Single Meals 30c, Lodgings 25 to 50 cents.
We make a specialty of Dinner, and it is always ready at 11:30 sharp. Come early and be served promptly.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

ATTORNEYS.

WILLIS MERRITT, ATTORNEY AT LAW, ADRIAN, MICH.

EDWIN R. WOOD, ATTORNEY AT LAW. Conveyancing. Office over W. & S. W. Anderson's store, Tecumseh, Mich.

WILLIS MERRITT, R. W. FRAZER. Merritt & Frazer, Attorneys at Law. Insurance. Tecumseh, Mich.

C. A. STACY, ATTORNEY AT LAW. Office in Odd Fellows Building.

W. [illegible] N., Attorney and Counsellor at Law, Tecumseh, Mich.

P. [illegible] ANDS, Attorney at Law and Insurance Agent. All business promptly attended to. Office over W. & S. W. Anderson's Store.

C. [illegible] A. STACY, Attorneys at Law and Solicitors in Chancery. Office in Underwood Block, Adrian, Mich.

MCLAINS, WEAVER & WEAVER, Attorneys at Law, Adrian, Mich. Office in Masonic Temple, (Rooms lately occupied by Michigan Statutes Co.) Alfred L. Millard, Clement E. Weaver, Charles M. Weaver.

PHYSICIANS.

H. PETERS, M. D. Office and residence at Geo. Curtis' house, corner Maiden Lane and Fairview Avenue. Special attention given to diseases of the Ear, Nose and Throat. All calls for the sick promptly attended to day and night.

C. H. WOODWARD, M. D., PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON. Office at Residence, Chicago street.

E. H. [illegible] M. D., PHYSICIAN & SURGEON. Office in Mills Block, Chicago St.

J. F. JENKINS, M.D., Office and residence, second door west of Presbyterian Church, Chicago st. Professional calls promptly attended to, day or night.

R. R. HOUSE, M.D. O. G. JONES, M.D. Drs. House and Jones, Physicians and Surgeons. Office over Lilley, Bidwell & Co's. Bank. Office hours: Dr. House, 1 to 3 P. M., and 7 to 8 P. M. Dr. Jones, 9 to 12 A. M., and 3 to 6 P. M. Prompt attention given to all calls in village or country, day or night.

HOTELS.

SINK HOTEL, (Formerly the Merchants') W. H. SINK, PROPRIETOR. RECENTLY REPITTED AND REFURNISHED. Cor. Chicago and E. L. Sts.

MISCELLANEOUS.

TIFFANY FOUNDRY & STEAM ENGINE WORKS, H. BREWER & CO., PROPRIETORS. Manufacturers of Steam Engines, Mill Gearing and General Machinery, also manufacturers of the Tiffany Improved Patent Drain Tile Machine, Sword's Brick Machine, etc.

WM. DeMOTT, Tecumseh, Mich. Agent for The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co., of Milwaukee, Wis. Paid to policy holders since organization and held for them, $46,138,353.20. Total premiums received, $39,631,785.47. Excess of interest receipts over all expenses of management, $6,506,567 73. Dividends to policy holders in each of the past nine years unequaled by those of any other company on similar policies. Assets, January 1, 1882, over $18,850,000. Surplus, over four per cent. reserve, $3,622,611.61.

A. W. SLAYTON, Undertaker and Embalmer; store on Chicago St.; residence on Pearl St. Night calls will receive prompt attention. No charge for use of hearse.

CENTRAL MEAT MARKET. J. W. COLE, PROPRIETOR. Dealer in Fresh and Salt Meats, Fish, Poultry, etc. Chicago Street.

RAILROAD STREET MARKET. JOSEPH W. WOODEN, PROPRIETOR. Dealer in all kinds of Fresh and Salt Meats, Fresh Fish, etc.

DAVE MACHAM, Fashionable Barber and Hair Dresser. Shop on Railroad Street.

CURRY & BOSTWICK, Fashionable Barbers and Hair Dressers, shop in Richard's block, Chicago street.

A. D. BROWN, Practical Piano Tuner, and agent for Hogelton Bros., Gabler, Wheelock and Haden & Sons' Pianos. Also, Mason's Organs. Adrian, Mich. Orders left at Adamson's Bookstore in Tecumseh, will receive prompt attention.

J. D. SHOLES, Manufacturer and dealer in Saddles, Harness, Whips, Collars, Bridles, Halters, Brushes and Combs, Tecumseh, Mich.

CHAS. A. WALDRON, VETERINARY SURGEON. All orders promptly attended to (day or night) by mail or in person. Office at the residence of A. K. Walker, Tecumseh, Michigan.

SILVERS HOUSE, CLINTON, MICH., S. S. Erskine, Proprietor. Good sample rooms for commercial men. Rates reasonable.

CLOCK REPAIRING.

I will call at your house and repair your Clock. Drop a postal in the office to my address.
C. F. MORLEY,
Tecumseh, Mich.
N. B.—All work warranted.

O. P. Bills, Mrs. C. Bills.
N. Church, Mrs. M. H. Church.

O. P. BILLS & CO.,
BANKERS.
J. N. Satterlihwaite, Cashier.
Tecumseh, Mich.
Do a general Banking business. Receive deposits, Exchange bought on all points and our own drafts issued, available in all parts of the United States and Canada, and the principal cities of Europe.

P. B. SWICK,
Manufacturer of Light & Heavy Harness
And Dealer in
Trunks, Whips, Robes, Blankets,
And all articles kept for sale in a first-class Horse Furniture Store.
GOOD WORK! LOW PRICES
Call and see him, one door east of Nyland's shoe store on Chicago street.
TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN

FLOWERS.

At Mrs. Spaulding's green house may be found a large variety of plants and flowers for the decoration of churches, dinner and supper tables, and sick rooms. Especial attention given to floral designs, for weddings, funerals etc. We are prepared to execute orders for every kind of floral decorations with the choicest and freshest of flowers, in the most artistic manner on short notice, and at very reasonable prices. The green house is open daily to visitors.

Orders left at D. W. Clark's grocery will receive prompt attention.

ARNICA & OIL LINIMENT FOR MAN AND BEAST.
THE BEST EXTERNAL REMEDY
FOR RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, CRAMPS,
Sprains, Bruises, Burns and Scalds,
Sciatica, Backache, Frosted Feet and Ears, and all other Pains and Aches.
It is a sure cure for Galls, Strains, Scratches, Sores, &c., on HORSES.
One trial will prove its merits. Its effects are INSTANTANEOUS.
Every bottle warranted to give satisfaction. Send address for pamphlet.
Price 25 cts. and 50 cts. per bottle. Sold everywhere.
Henry, Johnson & Lord, Proprietors, Burlington, Vt.

ZOA-PHORA
(THE HEALTH BRINGER.)
LONG KNOWN AS
PENGELLY'S WOMAN'S FRIEND
Every mother of daughters should know about it—because it brings health
TO GIRLS
Who, at the age of Puberty, begin to droop owing to Painful, Scanty, or Profuse Periods.
TO YOUNG LADIES
Threatened with any of the complaints and weaknesses, to which, even the healthiest, are subject,
TO OVER-WORKED WOMEN
Suffering from or threatened with Prolapsus Uteri or Bearing Down, with its attendant Ulceration pains in various parts of the body, headaches backaches and exhaustion.
To Women Advanced in Life
Who suffer from Hot Flushes, either before or after change, or from any of the irregularities attending the Critical Period, Bloating, Numbness, Wakefulness, Palpitation, Etc.
All these, and many other distressing complaints, usually attributed to other causes, but really peculiar to the sex, WILL CERTAINLY BE RELIEVED by Zoa Phora.
LEUCORRHŒA RUINS THE FINEST COMPLEXION.—Zoa Phora cures the former and restores the latter.
Abundant testimonials I have, from the best society, which, with other information and advice, will furnish privately to persons asking. Address,
R. PENGELLY, M. D.,
(Sold by Druggists.) KALAMAZOO, MICH.

Gray's Specific Medicine.
TRADE MARK THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY. An unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhœa, Impotency, and all Diseases that follow as a sequence of Self-Abuse; as loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the Back, Dimness of Vision, Premature Old Age, and many other diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a Premature Grave.
BEFORE TAKING. AFTER TAKING.
Full particulars in our pamphlet, which we desire to send free by mail to every one. The Specific Medicine is sold by all druggists at $1 per package, or six packages for $5, or will be sent free by mail on the receipt of the money, by addressing
THE GRAY MEDICINE CO., Buffalo, N. Y.
On account of counterfeits, we have adopted the Yellow Wrapper, the only genuine. Guarantees of cure issued by FARRAND WILLIAMS & CO., Wholesale Agents, Detroit.

FOR SALE CHEAP.

A good small farm situated within a half an hours ride of the village of Tecumseh, for sale at a bargain. Fine buildings, a nice young orchard and in all one of the finest small farms in Lenawee co. For full particulars enquire at the
HERALD OFFICE.

Artemus Ward and the London Cabby.

Artemus Ward, the prince of humorists, positively revelled in what I think he was the first to dub a "goak." I remember, late one night in the fall of 1866, Artemus, dear little Jeff Prowse, and my humble self, were left alone in the club-room at Ashley's. Artemus proposed an adjournment to the Alhambra. Prowse and self joyfully assented. Artemus asked Jeff to charter a cab. The vehicle soon drew up.

Cabby was grave and stelid-looking, and evidently self-possessed. Artemus seemed to study the man's features for a brief moment; then he intimated to me in a whisper that he was going to have a lark with cabby. Assuming a grave air, which sat so marvellously well on his face, he addressed the man in slow, measured accents. "My friend," he said, "you look to me a man of thought and experience,—in fact, the very man likely to decide a most important and most difficult question which has arisen between me and my friend there," pointing to Jeff, who looked slightly puzzled. "Do you take me? Will you be arbiter between us?" Cabby looked so dubious at first that I thought he was going to say, "Gammon," or "Shut up," or something of the sort. However, so wondrously intent did Artemus look, and so supernally grave was his manner, that the man's suspicions faded away from his face as snow will under a hot sun. He gave a half grunt, then said, briefly, "Fire away, guv'nor; let's know wat's all about."

"Well," responded Artemus, with slow deliberateness, weighing every word apparently, "well, look ye here now, my friend; that gentleman there"—pointing again to Jeff Prowse, who, not knowing exactly how Charley might choose to compromise him with a mayhap irate Jehu, began to give slight signs of feeling rather uncomfortable—"maintains that it is the divergence of contradictory opinions, which in the natural logical sequence of reasoning, and in the inferential conclusions of argumentation, must in the final end inevitably lead to convergence, and concord and harmony among people, and bring about that most-devoutly-wished-for consummation when man to man the world all o'er shall brethren be and a' that. "I follow you, guv'nor; fire away," said cabby, briefly, who evidently was not quite clear yet what it all could possibly be about. "Now, you see, my good fellow," pursued Artemus, with increased intentness of face and graver ponderousness of manner and diction, "I, on the other part, assert, and I mean to stick to it, too, let gainsay who may"—with a ferocious glare our way—"that it is contrariwise and opposite the convergence of concurrent, concordant and coincident opinions that must inevitably in its corollary and concomitant consequential train of its outcoming results lead to divergences, difficulties and differences"—raising his voice to a higher pitch, and frantically sawing and beating the air with outstretched right arm—"which will make one man jump at another's throat and strive to strangle him to death!" Then he proceeded more quietly: "Now, my friend, you cannot but admit that I have placed the case fairly before you. Now, please, give us your decision."

Cabby, who had apparently listened with much serious attention to this rigmarole, bent his head on one side, and, with one eye shut, gave Artemus the benefit of an inimitably droll look. Then he proceeded with gravity of manner equal to Ward's, and still more ponderous slowness of enunciation, to deliver himself of the following oracular decision, which would have done honor to great Bunsby himself: "Well, guv'nor, it is a knotty pint and a 'ard nut to crack for the likes o' me, seein' as there is a great deal to be said on both sides; and, don't ye think, now, guv'nor, it's rayther a dry question to settle? Vich I knowed from the first ye vos a gen'leman, hevery inch o' you, guv'nor." Having said which he looked expectant. "Sold!" cried Artemus, laughing, jumping into the vehicle, followed by us. "You shall have your liquor, cabby. Drive on."

He Wanted to Soar.

At Selma, Ala., says M Quad, the colored man who carried my "grip" to the depot wanted to know if any of his race up North held political offices, and when I mentioned one or two instances, he replied:

"Dar haih't no sort o' show fur us down heah no mo'."

"What's to prevent you from running for office?"

"Hush! Doan' talk so loud! In de fust place I hain't got de confidence in myself."

"How's that?"

"Wall, spozen I was menshuned by de nowspapers as a candydate fur de Legislachur. De ole woman she'd git her back up all of a sudden, an' feel too good to 'sociate wid de niggers libin' 'round heah, an' she'd drap de washboard an' begin to powder up an' put on style."

"Yes."

"An' ebery nigger at de hotel he'd want me to get him a job at de Capitol, an' if I didn't promise dey wouldn't wote fur me."

"I see."

"An' de white trash would 'spect me to rent a box at de pos'office, smoke cigars, wear a plug hat an' hire my butes blacked."

"Yes."

"An' de reg'lar gem'len would ax me if I could read an' write an' spell an' cipher, an' git me all boxed up in no time 'tall."

"Just so."

"An' in case I wasn't 'leckted dar' am jist 3,000 niggers in dis nayburhood who'd laff an' grin an' chuckle till I'd go home an' upsot de fam'ly an' make a bee-line frew de woods fur Tennessee. It takes a heap o' confidence to face all dat, you see, 'an' dat's what keeps me down. I'd like to enter de pollytical field an' soar away to offis, but I lack de nerve. I want de offis, but I fear de result in case I should drap when I went to soar."

"Are you certain of securing the diadem?" asked the minister of a dying man. And when the dying man said he "didn't want to die-adem bit," the minister and the doctor flew, and the man died.

Humorous Papers Stabbed.

An eastern journal of literary aim laments the sad fact that so many humorous papers are springing up all over the country, and that so many of the daily papers surrender so much of their valuable space to the frothy nonsense of American whim. The blighting satire was written after the editor had made repeated efforts to be humorous. Failing—the inevitable fate of all premeditated humor—he suddenly discovers that humorous papers cannot live, and that their editors must sooner or later be aroused to a sense of the sandy foundation on which they stand. The editor of the eastern paper of literary aim is by no means a pioneer in warning American people against journalistic lightness. He is a member of the disappointed class, probably, and by drawing attention to the weakness of other journals attempts to show the strength of his own. The humorous press may not have a mission. The people may be thankful that it has not. The sensational paper, filled with murder and scandal, escapes the censure of the reforming editor.—The political liar and literary thief have missions and are not criticized by him. The humorous paper, refined and really elevating in tone, makes him howl. He cannot see the use of its existence, but he forgets that millions of people enjoy what he regards as the foamiest of nonsense. He will write a column article on some exploded theory of reform and imagine that his suggestions are accepted by the masses and treasured up by the sages. His egotism will not allow him to see his own lack of originality. The humorous papers of America are more effective in matters of reform than their great daily contemporaries. The great daily is a politician, and directs its power against the evils of the opposite party. The generosity of acknowledgment is unknown. It covers up fraud in its own ranks and seeks to uncover it in the ranks of the opposing faction. The humorous paper ridicules the follies of society. It exercises an influence on the minister and the judge. Among its lightly written lines there are serious truths, impartially spoken. It advocates the political claims of no rascal.

The humorous paper of America may not be a permanent institution. A few thousand years may lay it low; and when its grave is dug, when the political editor and the literary critic come and look at its remains, they will no doubt weep over its untimely death.

Roll on, politics, art and science—roll until your wheels soar against the everlasting limit of all further progression, roll on, as you travel you will see humor, in light garments, creeping up with you.

Rush forward through attraction and weakness of the [illegible] forward, and when you attain the great height, to look from whose summit makes you dizzy and want to go home, look to your right and there you will find humor, clothed in airy costume, nimbly flirting with the goddess of eternal mirth.—Arkansaw Traveler.

Ralston's Summer Home.

The Ralston house at Belmont, Cal., now in the possession of Senator Sharon, is that perhaps having the greatest interest of all. The remarkable man who built it was of the traditional California type in its most astonishing development. Starting from a humble origin, he became a forwarder of every brilliant scheme of improvement, public and private, and conducted a hundred projects to success, which, in other hands, would have been sheer folly. He arrived thus at an unbounded confidence in his star. Entangled finally, while Cashier of the Bank of California, he handed in his resignation to the Directors one day, and went down to the public baths near the Potrero. A strong, athletic man, in the prime of life, he swam out half a mile into the bay—for refreshment in his troubles, as some say, but, as the general opinion is, with the deliberate purpose of suicide—and was never again seen alive. The house that was his is notched into a hill-side, in a rolling country, much pleasanter than the plain at Menlo Park. A pretty gorge behind it is dammed at a certain level to furnish the water supply. There are gas-works, a bowling-alley, and an elaborate Turkish bath among the outbuildings, and a grange-like barn of solid stone, ivy-grown now, which cost $80,000. As to the immense residence itself, that is of wood, white, in the usual fashion. With its numerous stories and windows, it is not unlike a large country hotel without, but its peculiar arrangements and great spaciousness within make it quite palatial. The principal rooms open into one another by glass partitions, which can be rolled away. There is no crowding through doorways. There is an arcade in the story above, around the grand staircase, with a balustrade, and tribunes projecting from the balustrade, in which young women in pink and corn-color at an evening party must look particularly houri-like. What in any other house would be the ordinary veranda is here a delightful promenade, glazed in, provided with easy furniture and a parquetry floor. Then comes a tier of such main apartments as a drawing-room and library; then a parallel tier, of which one is a great gallery, entirely faced with mirrors. There are a piano, mantels, and stair-posts of California laurel.—W. H. Bishop, in Harper's for October.

A Heartless Joke.

A young lady, who is very heavily insured by strangers in the matrimonial insurance companies, says a southern paper, on the report of her approaching marriage, went with a friend into a dry-goods store last week. She knew that the clerk who was waiting on her had invested a year's savings in a policy on her coming marriage. While examining a piece of silk she said to her friend, in an aside perfectly audible to the clerk: "Since my engagement is definitely broken off I will have no trousseau to buy. I think I might afford this." When she turned to ask the clerk the price, he had fainted.

"No, I don't know where Joan spends his evenings, "said Mrs. Flakes, "but I guess he is at Jones' grocery most of the time. I know his breath smell fearfully strong of coffee and kerosene when he comes home."

The Doctor's Last Hope Gone.

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 11, 1882.

I recently had a very difficult case of Consumption. I treated it in the most scientific manner possible, but to no effect; patient grew gradually worse. Rather than give up, and as a last resort, I decided, much against my wish, to use a remedy that had cured one of my friends [illegible]. Greatly to my surprise, the patient began to gain, and in a much shorter time than I dared to expect, she was completely cured. The cause of this remarkable result was Dr. King's New Discovery. [illegible] how or is it alleviator in [illegible]—Leading M. D., Evansville.

Sold by C. A. Wright & co.

ST. NICHOLAS is [illegible] produce in the world.—London TIMES.

ST. NICHOLAS,
FOR YOUNG FOLKS.

PARENTS who desire entertaining and wholesome reading for their children and young folks who enjoy accounts of travel and adventure, historical incidents, stories, pictures, household amusement, and harmless fun, will find these in ST. NICHOLAS, which is recognized by the press and public of both England and America as the Best and Finest Magazine for children ever printed. The new volume, which begins with the November number, and opens with a colored frontispiece, will be much the finest ever issued, and the attention of all parents and all reading young folks is invited to the following partial list of attractions:

The Tinkham Brothers' Tide-Mill.
A new serial story, by J. T. Trowbridge, formerly editor of "Our Young Folks," and author of the Jack Hazard Stories, etc.

The Story of Viteau.
An historical novelette of 1620, and boy life in the 13th Century.

The Story of Robin Hood.
An account of the famous yeoman, by Alfred Thompson, author of The Witchers of Acadiry.

The Story of the Field of the Cloth-of-Gold.
By E. S. Brooks. To be illustrated with many remarkable pictures.

A Brand-New Notion.
A capital and novel play.

Swept Away.
A serial story of the Mississippi floods of 1882.

Elizabeth Thompson.
A biographical paper regarding this celebrated painter of battlescenes.

Where was Villiers?
A thrilling story of the Russo-Turkish war.

The Boy at the White House.
An account of the life of "Tad" Lincoln. By Noah Brooks, author of The Boy Emigrants.

Comedies for Children.
A fine series of juvenile plays, and including A CHRISTMAS MASQUE; THE FALSE SIR SANTA CLAUS." Prepared expressly for holiday times.

Price $3.00 a year; 25 cents a number. Subscriptions should begin with the November number. The succeeding issue, The Wonderful Christmas Number, will have, also, a colored frontispiece and many unusual attractions.

THE CENTURY CO., New York, N. Y.

DO Not Fail to send for our FALL Price-List for 1882. Free to any address upon application. Contains descriptions of everything required for Personal or Family use, with over 2,200 illustrations. We sell all goods at wholesale prices, in quantities to suit the purchaser. The only institution in America who make this their special business. Address
MONTGOMERY WARD & CO.,
227 and 229 Wabash Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

A CURE GUARANTEED IN ALL CASES.
For Old and Young, Male and Female.
Magnetic Medicine, a Brain and Nerve Food; Positively cures Night Losses, Spermatorrhœa, Impotency, Nervous Debility, Leucorrhœa, Barrenness; and for all (BEFORE) weaknesses of the Generative (AFTER) organs in either sex, it is an unfailing and positive cure. Tones up the debilitated system, arrests all involuntary discharges, removes mental gloom and despondency, and restores wonderful power to the weakened organs. With each order for twelve packages, accompanied with five dollars, we will send our Guarantee to refund the money if the treatment does not effect a cure. It is the Cheapest and Best Medicine in the market. Full particulars in Pamphlet, which we mail free to any address. Sold by all druggists, one package 50 cts.; Six for $2.50, or sent by mail on receipt of price by addressing the MAGNETIC MEDICINE CO., DETROIT, MICH. Guarantees issued in Tecumseh by Waldo & Doty.

ESTATE OF WILLIAM TAYLOR.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the county of Lenawee holden at the Probate Office in the city of Adrian, on Wednesday, the 8th day of November, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present, Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of William Taylor, an insane person.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Charles C. Pratt, guardian of said insane person, praying for license to sell the real estate of said insane person in said petition described for reasons therein set forth.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the 11th day of December next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the next of kin of said ward and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.
(A True Copy.)
A. H. Briggs, Probate Register. nov16

ESTATE OF BETSEY WESTCOTT.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss. At a session of the Probate Court, for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, on Wednesday, the 8th day of November, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present, Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Betsey Westcott, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Hiram Westcott, executor of the last will and testament of said deceased, alleging that he has paid the debts of said deceased and the expenses of administration of said estate, and praying for the allowance of his final account and for his discharge.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the 11th day of December next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause, if any there be why the prayer of said Petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.
(A True Copy.)
A. H. Briggs, Probate Register. nov16

ESTATE OF JAMES EAST.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate Office in the City of Adrian, on Tuesday, the 31st day of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate James East, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Albert Kennedy, William Snedeker and E. Yakeley, alleging among other things that the time limited by said court for the presentation of claims against said estate has expired, that said estate has not been closed, that they respectively have claims against said estate which they failed to present to the commissioners on said estate for their allowance, for reasons in said petition set forth, and praying for the revival of the commission heretofore issued from this court, according to the statute in such case made and provided:

Thereupon it is ordered that Monday, the 27th day of November next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for hearing said petition, and that the creditors of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.
(A True Copy.)
A. H. Briggs, Probate Register. nov2

ESTATE OF FLORENCE ESTHER SMITH

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee—ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, on Thursday, the 2d day of November in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present, Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Florence Esther Smith, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of John B. Smith, praying that administration of the estate of said deceased may be granted to George F. N. Bowen or to some other suitable person.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the 27th day of November, A. D. 1882, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered. That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing. (A True Copy.)

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.
Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate. nov2

COMMISSIONERS' NOTICE.

IN THE MATTER of the estate of Alvah Coddington, deceased.

The undersigned, having been appointed by the Judge of Probate for the County of Lenawee, Michigan, Commissioners to receive, examine and adjust all claims and demands against the estate of Alvah Coddington, late of said county deceased, hereby give notice that we will meet for that purpose at the office of Edwin B. Wood, in the village of Tecumseh, Lenawee county, Michigan on the 26th day of December 1882, and on the 26th day of April, 1883, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of each of said days, and that six months from the 23d day of October, 1882, have been allowed by the said court for the creditors of said estate to present said claims for examination and adjustment.

Dated October 31st, 1882.

ORRAN B. FINCH,
JOHN MARGESON,
Commissioners.
nov2

ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE.

By virtue of an order of sale granted by the Judge of Probate for the County of Lenawee, I, Gideon D. Perry, administrator of the estate of Abner Stanley deceased, will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, on Saturday the 23d day of December, A. D. 1882, at 11 o'clock a. m., at the late residence of said deceased, on the premises hereinafter described, to wit: All those tracts or parcels of land situate in the township of Franklin, in the county of Lenawee and State of Michigan, and described as the east half of the east half of the southwest quarter and the west half of the northwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section thirty-four in town five south of range three east, containing sixty acres of land, more or less. Subject to the right of dower and homestead rights of Emeline Stanley, widow of said deceased, therein.

Dated Nov. 9th, 1882.

GIDEON D. PERRY.

ESTATE OF ESTHER JONES.

STATE OF MICHIGAN County of Lenawee, ss. At a session of the Probate Court, for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, on Monday, the 23d day of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present, Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Esther Jones, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Benjamin L. Baxter and Edwin B. Wood, executors of the last will and testament of said deceased, praying for license to sell real estate of said deceased in said petition described for reasons therein set forth.

Thereupon it is ordered, that Monday, the 27th day of November next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing. (A True Copy.)

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.
A. H. Briggs, Probate Register. nov26

ESTATE OF JAY J. LOWE.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, s. s. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate Office in the city of Adrian on Monday, the 6th day of November, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present, Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Jay J. Lowe, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, of Connor L. Lowe, administrator of said estate, alleging that he has paid the debts of said deceased and the expenses of administration of said estate, and praying for the allowance of his final account, for a decree assigning and distribution of the residue of said estate to the persons entitled thereto and for his discharge.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the 4th day of December next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing. (A True Copy.)

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.
A. H. Briggs Probate Register. nov26

COMMISSIONERS' NOTICE.

IN the matter of the estate of Ira Stewart, deceased.

The undersigned having been appointed by the Judge of Probate for the County of Lenawee, Michigan, Commissioners to receive, examine and adjust all claims and demands against the estate of Ira Stewart, late of the township of Macon, Lenawee county, Michigan, deceased, hereby give notice that we will meet for that purpose at the office of Charles Burridge, in the village of Tecumseh, Lenawee county, Michigan, on the 10th day of November 1882, and on the 4th day of April 1883, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of each of said days, and that six months from the 4th day of October, 1882, are allowed by the said court for the creditors of said estate to present their claims for examination and adjustment.

Dated Oct. 10th, 1882.

CHARLES BURRIDGE,
PETER S. McKINNON,
Commissioners.
oct12

CATARRH! When you have had Catarrh long enough and want to be cured just write to DR. C. H. SYKES, Chicago, Ill., for full information of a SURE CURE. You will never regret it.

It really is no easy task to select a line of Christmas presents, so as to insure that every little one shall get just what it will most appreciate, and none shall be unduly favored; and as the holiday season draws near, the careful mother feels, more than at any other time, the need of some reliable manual, by referring to which she may know just what is to be had, and just what everything will cost. And, luckily, in this age of journalistic enterprise, the very thing she wants lies ready to her hand. For the winter number of the FASHION QUARTERLY is out, and a copy can be had for only fifteen cents. Within the compass of its ninety odd pages are illustrations of every kind and description of Christmas gifts; from the rattle or toy reins for the three-year-old infant, up to the gold-headed cane or dressing-gown for papa, or the long-wished-for watch for mamma. The Fashion Quarterly is published by Messrs. Ehrich Bros., of New York, at 50 cents a year, or 15 cents a copy.

"YELLOW PETE."

A gentleman well known in Pittsburgh, Pa., had business relations in the West Indies, and went over to give the matter his personal supervision and attention. He there contracted a bilious affection, and his liver was in such a state of torpidity that it was utterly incapable of performing its functions. He tried many means to bring it back to a healthy condition and restore the system to a state of activity, but without success, until one day he was fortunate enough to have Burdock Blood Bitters recommended, and now his health is entirely restored. Read what was his experience. It speaks for itself: "After spending a few years in Jamaica I returned to this country about played out physically. My complexion was so changed that they used to call me Yellow Pete. I traveled much and tried everything I could think of to act upon the liver, but nothing seemed to do me any good, until one day I happened to hear of Burdock Blood Bitters. I tried it, and consider there is nothing like it. My sallow complexion is gone, and it has toned up the weak spots in my system generally."

PETER L. COLLINS,
Pittsburgh, Pa.

Such is Mr. Collins' experience which is corroborated by hundreds of other unsolicited testimonials equally as reliable, proving that Burdock Blood Bitters now supplies a want long needed and that as a remedy for acting upon the blood, the liver, and the kidneys, it is simply peerless.

Sold by all druggists.

Farrand, Williams & Co., wholesale druggists, Detroit, Mich.

Remembrance is the only paradise out of which we cannot be driven.

A Skillful Preparation

Composed of roots, barks, and plants, that act in harmony, and are a pleasant and effective medicine, constitute Burdock Blood Bitters, of which highly commendatory reports are being constantly received. Price $1.00.

Want of care does us more damage than want of knowledge.

The prospectus for the six months' course at the Somerville school for girls at St. Clair has been issued. Send for it and you can see your way clear to solve the great question of "What shall we do with our girls."

So great is the distress in the Egyptian delta from the failure of the rice crop that many deaths from starvation are probable unless aid is extended by the government.

After a discussion lasting two days, the Montreal council voted a bonus of $350,000 to the Canada Pacific railway toward the erection of a depot in the French quarter, costing $2,000,000.

The net earnings of the Union Pacific road for the first nine months of the year are officially reported as $10,401,788, an increase of $842,997 over the same period in 1881.

The Chinese merchant who was allowed to land at San Francisco on a writ of habeas corpus states that his government refuses to give certificates to subjects other than laborers.

Four alarms were rung in Boston, Friday, for a lumber-yard fire which was represented as destroying the city, but the loss is now stated at $7,000 to $10,000.

In a riot at Opelika, Alabama, which lasted all Thursday night lamp-posts and show-windows were generally destroyed by the firing of a thousand shots. Three men were wounded.

The governor of Virginia has commuted to imprisonment for life the sentence of Mary Booth, a negro girl of 14 years, who was to have been hanged at Surrey Court-House for poisoning Mrs. R. C. Gray and Travis Jones.

Pope Barrow, one of the leading lawyers of Georgia, has been elected to fill the unexpired senatorial term of Ben H. Hill, a son of the latter receiving 89 votes. Ex-Governor Colquitt secured the long term, after a bitter contest.

Thirty-two states are represented at Indianapolis in the National grange, which holds secret sessions. Governor Kasle, of Maine, and Congressman Aiken, of South Carolina, are among the delegates.

Professors Soule, of the University of California, has discovered three new spots on the sun, which can be seen through a smoked glass with the naked eye.

B. S. Wadron, a plasterer in Kansas City, has enrolled a company of thirty-three men to go to the Oklahoma country with a year's provisions and pre-emptive homesteads.

A glazier at Washington, in whose putty-box lodged one of the bullets fired at President Garfield, by Guiteau, has petitioned the board of audit to give him a position as watchman.

A glut of live hogs is reported at Buffalo, where prices are declining 15 to 20 cents per day on account of extra shipments frm Ohio, Michigan, and Indiana.

The steamship Hermada brought to New York fifty-one sheep of the famous Rambouillet breed, imported by Mansi Carp, of Texas. Some of them are worth over $500.

A company with a capital of $750,000 has been organized in Pittsburgh by prominent iron men to erect works for the manufacture of nails and spikes from steel—something which has never before been done in the United States.

Mr. Roeser, of the general land-office, has prepared a map of the United States which shows over four thousand pieces in the west, but heretofore appearing. It will soon be ready for distribution.

AUCTION SALES.

E. Rundell & Son will sell at auction 2½ miles north of Franklin Center, on Tuesday, Nov. 28, 1882, at 12 o'clock, noon, the following property: Stallion Seneca Chief, running mare Bird Hall, gray gelding, bay gelding, 3 cows, steer, heifer, 2 sulkies, road wagon, double carriage, single carriage, trotting skeleton, double harness, 3 single harness, cutter, quantity of farming utensils, &c. Usual terms. Ben Reynolds, auctioneer.

Rufus Raymond having sold his farm will sell at auction on the premises, 1½ miles east of Holloway, on Wednesday, Nov. 29, 1882, at 1 o'clock P. M., the following property: 2 year old colt, 3 year old colt, 8 cows, 4 set double harness, lumber wagon, hay rack, cutter, platform scales, bull, 10 tons hay, corn fodder, 2 horse cultivator, 100 bush. oats, Birch plow, 2 set harrows, &c. Usual terms. Abe Hanford, auctioneer.

OUR Young People is a new juvenile magazine just started by Mast, Crowell & Kilpatrick, at Springfield, Ohio. It is a very neat looking pamphlet well filled with illustrations and reading matter that will be of interest to the younger members of the family. Subscription price only $1 a year, and it is published twice a month. Send to the publishers for a sample copy.

LETTER LISTS.

Tecumseh.

Remaining uncalled for in the Post-Office at Tecumseh, Nov. 22 1882.

Broughton, Mr. Robert	Moor, Mrs. Ella
Campbell, Miss Maggie	Pimlott, Elder Edwin
Daniels, Mrs. Sarah	Stevens, Mrs. S. S.
Gibson, Frank	Steets, Mr. Edwin.
Larglere, Mrs. Wm	Tuttle, Mrs. Prof. L. V.
Murphy, Mr. J. E.

Persons calling for letters in the above list will please say "Advertised."

FRED ROSACRANS, P.M.

GENERAL MARKETS.

CHICAGO.

WHEAT.—Higher; Nov., 93@93¾c; Dec., 93⅝@94⅛c; the year, 93@93¾c.

CORN.—Lower; November, 66½@68¼c; the year, 59⅝@61c; Jan., 53⅝@55c.

OATS.—Lower; November, 36½@36¾c; Dec., 35½@35¾c; the year, 35⅝@35¾c.

RYE.—Firm; November 57@57½c; the year, 57c.

PROVISIONS.—Mess Pork higher; Nov., $17.75@17.97½; December, $17.45@17.65; the year, $17.45@17.65. Lard—Steady; November sold at $11.57½@11.60; Dec., $10.80@10.92½; the year, $10.80@10.92½.

CATTLE.—Market firm. We quote:

Fancy heavy export steers	$6.25@6.50
Choice fat steers	5.75@6.00
Good do.	5.00@5.50
Medium grade steers	4.25@4.90
Fair to medium steers	3.50@4.40

Hogs.—Market firm. Sales ranged from $6.20@6.65 for light packing and shipping; $6.20@6.65 for heavy packing, and from $6.65@6.90 for fair to choice smooth heavy shipping lots.

BUTTER.—Steady and firm. We quote: Choice to Fancy Creamery at 35@37c ⅌ lb; ordinary to good do. 25@33c; good to fancy Dairy at 27@32c; common to fair do. 20@25c; Ladle-packed, 15@16c; packing stock at 12 23c; Grease, 9@11c.

NEW YORK.

WHEAT.—Higher; No. 2 Nov., $1.07 1.07⅝; December, $1.09@1.09⅝; January, $1.11⅝@1.11⅞. CORN.—Quiet; Mixed Western Spot, 75@85c.

CINCINNATI.

FLOUR.—Market quiet; Family, $4.30@4.50. WHEAT—Firm; No. 2 Red Winter, 97@98c. CORN.—Lower; No. 2 Mixed, 71c. OATS.—Higher; No. 2 Mixed, 39c.—RYE.—Quiet; No. 2 Fall, 62c. PROVISIONS—Pork dull at $20.25. Lard quiet at $11.62½. Bulk Meats firm: Clear sides $7.75@11.00.—Bacon dull; Clear sides $13.15¾.

MILWAUKEE.

WHEAT.—Lower; November, 94¼c; December, 95c; January, 95c; No. 3, 78½c.—CORN.—Higher at 70½c for No. 2. OATS.—Firm; No. 2 White, 36½c. RYE.—Higher; 59½c No. 1. BARLEY.—Lower at 77c for No. 2.

ST. LOUIS.

WHEAT.—Higher; No. 2 Red Nov., 94½@94⅝c; December, 95⅛@95⅜c; Jan., 188⅜. CORN.—Higher; November, 67½@67¾c; the year, 53⅝@54½c; Jan., 50⅝@51c. OATS—Higher; Nov., 35⅝@36c; Dec., 33⅝@34⅛c; the year 33⅝@34⅛c. RYE—Lower at 56½c. BARLEY.—Steady at 60@80c. PROVISIONS.—Pork lower at $20.50. Dry Salt Meats quiet at 8@25, 10.50, 11.00. Bacon steady at $11.00, 11.12, 11.12½. Lard lower; $11.90. Hogs Higher, Yorkers $6.00@6.35; Butchers' to best heavy, $6.60@6.90.

BALTIMORE.

FLOUR.—Quiet; Western Superfine, $3.50@4.00; do. extra, $4.25@4.75; Family, $4.87@5.50. WHEAT—Western lower; No. 2 Winter Red Spot and Nov., $1.05⅝@1.06; December, $1.06⅛@1.07⅛; January, $1.08@1.09⅛. CORN—Western higher; Mixed Spot and November, 70@80c; December, 64⅝@65c. OATS—Higher; Western White, 42@44c; Mixed do. 38@40. RYE.—Higher, at 62@65c.

TECUMSEH MARKET.

Corrected Every Thursday Morning.

Apples ⅌ bushel	1 75 @	2 00
Apples dried ⅌ lb	@	02
Butter ⅌ lb	20 @	25
Eggs	20 @	25
Beans ⅌ bushel	1 75 @	2 25
Buckwheat ⅌ bushel	@	1 50
Buckwheat Flour ⅌ hundred	@	4 50
Beef—dressed ⅌ hundred	8 00 @	9 00
Bee Hides	5 @	6
Calf skins ⅌ lb	8 @	10
Corn meal	70 @	80
Corn—shelled ⅌ bushel	70 @	75
Clover Seed	00 @	5 25
Chickens—dressed	10 @	12
Eggs ⅌ doz	@	22
Flour ⅌ barrel	5 50 @	6 25
Hogs—dressed ⅌ cwt	7 00 @	7 00
Hogs—live ⅌ cwt	4 75 @	5 50
Hay ⅌ ton	7 00 @	9 00
Honey ⅌ lb	@	15
Ham ⅌ lb	@	14
Lard ⅌ lb	@	12
Oats ⅌ bushel	33 @	40
Onions ⅌ bushel	@	60
Potatoes ⅌ bushel	40 @	45
Salt ⅌ barrel	@	1 20
Sheep Pelts	50 @	1 00
Timothy Seed ⅌ bushel	@	2 50
Turkeys—dressed ⅌ lb	@	10
Wood ⅌ cord	3 00 @	4 00
Wheat, White ⅌ bushel	94 @	1 00
Wheat Red ⅌ bushel	95 @	1 00
Wool	30 @	33

PATENTS

We continue to act as Solicitors for Patents, Caveats, Trade Marks, Copyrights, etc., for the United States, Canada, Cuba, England, France, Germany, etc. We have had thirty-five years' experience.

Patents obtained through us are noticed in the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN. This large and splendid illustrated weekly paper, $3 [illegible] year, contains the [illegible] intelligence, is most interesting, and has [illegible] circulation. Address MUNN & CO., Patent Solicitors, Pub's. of SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN, 37 Park Row, New York. Hand bk. about sent free.

ANXIOUS MOTHERS

Who love their children, and want them to grow up healthy and strong and useful men and women, all want Dr. Sozinsky's Great Book, THE CARE AND CULTURE OF CHILDREN." It is a Mother's Handbook; from the infancy to the maturity of her children, and its use will save many lives, more doctor's bills, and tens of thousands from wrecked health and wrecked morals. We do not publish or sell in any way any book that we cannot heartily recommend; and we add this to our Household Series of useful books with great pleasure. Sold only by subscription. We want agents in Iowa, Michigan, Nebraska, Wisconsin, and Dakota. Circulars giving table of contents free. Commissions liberal. Address,

A. G. WILCOX,
Minneapolis, Minn.

ESTATE OF ROLPH MILLS.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss

At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate Office in the city of Adrian, on Friday, the 17th day of November, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present, Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Rolph Mills, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Granville Mills and Isaac C. Mills, executors of the last will and testament of said deceased, alleging among other things that they have paid the debts of said deceased, and praying for the allowance of their final account, for an assignment and distribution of the residue of said estate to and amongst the persons entitled thereto according to the provisions of said will, and for their discharge.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the 18th day of December next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioners should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing. (A True Copy.)

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.
A. H. Brigg, Probate Register. oct26

ESTATE OF DAVID BERDAN.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee—ss

At a session of the Probate Court for the county of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office in the city of Adrian, on Monday, the 20th day of November, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of David Berdan, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified of Orange F. Berdan, surviving executor of the last will and testament of said deceased, alleging among other things that he has paid the debts of said deceased and the expenses of administration of said estate and has procured a release from the widow of said deceased in full from all claims under the provisions of said will, and praying for the allowance of his final account for an assignment and distribution of the residue of said estate according to the provisions of said will and for his discharge.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the 18th day of December next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.
(A True Copy.)
A. H. Briggs, Probate Register. nov23

THE MILLER BROS. CUTLERY CO.
MERIDEN, CONN.

STANDARD POCKET CUTLERY,
Ladies' Scissors and Ink Erasers.
Make all styles of
STEEL PENS.
We show cut of Patent Adjustable Quill Action Reservoir Pen, "The Acme," and will mail sample gross on receipt of $2

Our whole line of Pens will be sold by the trade.
Price Lists furnished to dealers on application.

25 PISO'S CURE FOR 100
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION.

EYE AND EAR SURGERY.

Dr. H. D. Tipple, Eye and Ear Surgeon, 307 Superior street, Toledo, treats all diseases of the eye, ear, throat and nose both medically and surgically, upon scientific principles, inserts artificial eyes, adjusts spectacles, &c. Special attention given to straightening cross-eyes and removing cataracts. Consultations free.

AN OLD FRIEND

When you took the American Agriculturist you thought it just splendid. It is now more valuable for you than ever, being specially adapted for the West. Send stamp for specimen copy and see how wonderfully the paper has improved. Price $1.50 a year. Liberal cash commission. ORANGE JUDD CO., 751 Broadway, New York.

ESTATE OF ISAAC COLLINS.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss

At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate Office in the City of Adrian, on Monday, the 20th day of November, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate Isaac Collins deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Francis M. Corey, executor of the last will and testament of said deceased, alleging that he has paid the debts of said deceased and the expenses of administration of said estate thus far incurred, and all legacies bequeathed in and by said will, except residuary legacies and praying for the allowance of his final account (now on file in this court), for an assignment and distribution of the residue of said estate according to the provisions of said will and for his discharge.

Thereupon it is ordered, that Monday, the 18th day of December next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.
(A True Copy.)
A. H. Briggs, Probate Register. nov2

Pensions.

Old claims completed; new claims filed. Claims for additional and increase pension, for bounty and back pay, for removal of charges of desertion under act August 7, 1882 and all other classes of soldiers' claims prosecuted promptly. Send stamp for circulars and questioning blanks.

LOUIS K. GILLSON,
War Claim and Pension Attorney,
95-99 Metropolitan Block, Chicago, Ill.
430 4½ St. Washington, D. C.

N. B.—I will be at No. 12 Kanter Block, Detroit, Mich., December 5, 6, and 7, and will be glad to meet any soldiers having unsettled claims.

LOUIS K. GILLSON, Pension Attorney.

OUR NEW

FALL STOCK
—OF—
HEAVY DRAPERIES

Is rapidly coming in, and is well worthy of your attention. We make up

Long Curtains,
Portieres,
Valances,
—AND—
MANTLE LAMBREQUINS,

All in the Latest Styles and of the Newest materials.

We give special attention to Interior Decorations and ask the favor of a call from those thinking of such improvements.

STERLING & CO.,
196 & 198 Summit Street.
TOLEDO, OHIO.

THE CHEAPEST AND BEST.

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE.

UNEQUALED PREMIUMS FOR 1883.

The principal premium for getting up clubs for 1883 will be a superb Steel Engraving, (size 27 inches by 20) for framing, after Muncacsy's world-renowned picture, "Christ before Pilate," for which the French Government has just paid 100,000 francs. No such premium was ever offered before.

CHOICE OF PREMIUMS FOR GETTING UP CLUBS:

The "Christ Before Pilate."
Photographs of Quarto Album.
Extra Copy of Magazine for 1883.

Full-Sized Paper Patterns.

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE is the best and cheapest of the lady's books. It gives more for the money, and combines greater merits, than any other. Its immense circulation and long-established reputation enables its proprietor to distance all competition. In short, it has the

Best Steel Engravings,
Best Original Stories,
Best Colored Fashions,
Best Work-Table Patterns,
Best Dress Patterns,
Best Illustrations, Etc.

The stories, novelets, etc., in Peterson are admitted to be the best published." All the most popular female writers contribute to it. In 1883 about 100 original stories will be given, and in addition Six Copyright Novelets, by Ann S. Stephens, Frank Lee Benedict, Jane G. Austin, "Josiah Allen's Wife" etc. A specialty of Peterson, as a lady's book, is its splendidly illustrated articles, and especially its

COLORED STEEL FASHION PLATES!

Engraved on steel, twice the size of all others and superbly colored. Also, Household, Cookery, and other receipts; articles on Art Embroidery, Flower Culture, House Decoration—in short, everything interesting to ladies.

Terms (Always in Advance), $2.00 a Year.

UNPARALLELED OFFERS TO CLUBS.

Two Copies for $3.50, three copies for $4.50; with the unparalleled steel engraving, Christ Before Pilate," or a handsome Photograph Pictorial, or Quarto Album, for getting up the Club.

Four Copies for $6.50, six copies for $9.00; with an extra copy of the Magazine for 1883, as a premium, to the person getting up the Club.

Five Copies for $8.00, seven copies for $10.50; with both an extra copy of the Magazine for 1883, and the large steel-engraving, or either of the Albums, to the person getting up the Club.

For Larger Clubs Still Greater Inducements.

Address, post-paid,
CHARLES J. PETERSON,
306 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Specimens sent gratis, if written for, to get up clubs with.

R. N. Y.

DO NOT

Subscribe for any rural journal until you have sent for free specimen copies of the

Rural New-Yorker,

which will be sent cheerfully and promptly. It is the great

NATIONAL RURAL JOURNAL OF AMERICA.

It is original from beginning to end. It will delight every member of your family. The best writers in the world.

34 Park Row, N. Y.

IF YOU

Desire without charge, the new drought-resisting potato—The Blush—the Giant Wheat, Black-bearded Centennial, for Spring or Fall Sowing—the Rural Garden Treasures—seed of the great white grape Niagara, subscribe for the

RURAL NEW-YORKER,

the great American journal for the farm, garden and home. It is original from beginning to end—500 original illustrations yearly—the best writers in the world. Send for free specimen copies.

34 Park Row, N. Y.

FREE!

The celebrated Free-Seed Distribution of the

RURAL NEW-YORKER,

the leading American journal of rural affairs. Send for free specimen copies. The best men of the country will tell you it has no equal.

82 acres of Experiment Grounds.
Original from beginning to end—
500 Illustrations from nature yearly—16 pages—fine paper—Weekly.

34 PARK ROW, N. Y.

IF YOU

WISH TO BE MOST SUCCESSFUL with your farm or garden—with fruits, flowers, farm animals, bees, poultry—if you wish to make your homes happy, subscribe for the

RURAL NEW-YORKER,

the great national journal of Rural Affairs. Experiment Grounds, Free Seed Distributions, an original paper from beginning to end. The best writers in the world. Send for free specimen copies and judge for yourselves, or ask those who know.

34 Park Row, N. Y.

Cheapest Bibles Ever Furnished Agents. 2600 Illustrations; 170 extra features. Both Version New Testament. AGENTS WANTED Forshee & McMackin, Cincinnati, O.

ATTENTION PEOPLE!

WM. McCOWEN SPEAKS.
SWINDLERS

Are those who advertise to sell goods at cost, and then charge you three times as much as their poorly made trash is worth.

I

Do not advertise to sell goods at cost, but do advertise to sell by far better goods for less money than any other house in this county. Strangers call every day at my immense warerooms and marvel at what they see.

Farmers go home with their wagons loaded with honest made Furniture bought at prices lower than the lowest.

City people are pouring in every day to select Christmas gifts from my elegant stock of fine and fancy Furniture too numerous to mention, and all go away saying no wonder that

Wm. McCOWEN

is the

Leading Furniture Man
IN TECUMSEH.

Attention, Farmers!

SEND FOR A FREE SPECIMEN COPY OF

THE OHIO FARMER!

ESTABLISHED 35 YEARS.

The Oldest, Largest, Most Enterprising, Reliable, Instructive and BY FAR THE CHEAPEST Agricultural, Live Stock, and Family Journal of America.

It is a 64-Column Weekly, and Frequent 16-Col. Supplements

At Only $1.25 per year Postage paid.

Making it by far the cheapest as well as the best first-class agricultural weekly in the country. Specimen copies sent free. Address

THE OHIO FARMER, Cleveland, O.

MAKE HENS LAY An English Veterinary Surgeon and Chemist, now traveling in this country, says that most of the Horse and Cattle Powders sold here are worthless trash. He says that Sheridan's Condition Powders are absolutely pure and immensely valuable. Nothing on earth will make hens lay like Sheridan's Condition Powders. Dose, 1 teaspoonful to 1 pint food. Sold everywhere, or sent by mail for 8 letter-stamps. I. S. JOHNSON & CO., BOSTON, MASS.

WANTED!

All who intend buying a SEWING MACHINE to know that they can save money by buying at the

TECUMSEH SEWING MACHINE ROOMS.

The largest stock and best assortment in the State.

SOLD ON TERMS TO SUIT ALL.
Good Machines from

$10.00 and UPWARDS.

Use none but LANDGRAF'S

CACHALOT OIL.

Trade established since 1868.

MRS. CHARLES LAWRENCE

—Has opened her—

Dress-making Rooms!

In Connection With

A. B. COTTON'S STORE.

And is prepared to do cutting, fitting and manufacturing in the most approved styles promptly and for reasonable Prices.

The Tecumseh Herald.

VOL. XXXIII.—NO 29 TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 30, 1882. WHOLE NO. 1667

Team Ran Away!

some time ago, but the folks did not get hurt, yet A. W. Slayton's sales last week in furniture were simply enormous.

Small Boy Run Over

to your neighbors and tell them that they can buy a spring bed, feather pillows, wool mattresses, looking glasses, sewing machines, chairs, tables, and beds cheaper than any place in the county.

BIG BOY HURT!

Yes his feelings are hurt because he did not buy his furniture at A. W. Slayton's. He found out he could have saved $4.80. He will go to Slayton's next time.

Wagon Badly Smashed!

but our Furniture is all new and fresh, and for 60 days will be sold lower than any other house can sell. A. W. SLAYTON.

CROWN JEWEL, King of Base Burners. JEWEL OAK, Handsomest round stove in the world.

CALL AND SEE THE LARGEST AND BEST ASSORTED

LINE OF STOVES

Ever shown in Southern Michigan, and at prices TOO LOW TO MENTION.

Whitenack, Bordine & Co.

The Newest Designs

CLOAKS, PALETOTS AND DOLMANS.

Perfect Fitting,

Tastefully Trimmed

and Carefully Made.

Ready Made & to Measure

A. B. COTTON,

New Clothing,

New Cloths,

New Hats & Caps.

We are in daily receipt of new and seasonable goods, and can now show the most complete line in every department to be found in the market.

Our facilities for furnishing anything needed by boy or man are unequaled, and our prices are acknowledged on all hands to be the lowest. We invite an early inspection.

STRONG & McNAIR.

AROUND THE COUNTY.

FRANKLIN.

Frank and Will Dinsmore, of Hanover, are visiting friends here.

George Camburn's team ran away one day last week. Their feeling so good after the election was the cause. No one hurt.

John Conlin left here on Tuesday of last week, with a car load of horses, for the north.

A. J. Bouck has sold his interest in the blacksmith shop, and goes to Blissfield. The name of the new firm will now be Peters & Mudge.

Jas. Dunnigan has opened a shoe shop at the Center. Anything in his line will receive prompt attention.

The social at Mr. Edwin Cook's, last Thursday, was not very largely attended, on account of the weather. The next one is announced to be at Mr. Eugene Camburn's, two weeks from the above date.

Mrs. Pawson has opened her new store, with a full line of groceries, and will be glad to have her friends give her a call.

Thomas Wilson has decided to give up farming, and has leased his farm to Dan. Hanford for a term of five years. We understand Mr. Wilson intends to move to town.

An effort is being made to organize a singing school here under the management of Prof. Gordon, of Flat Rock. A meeting is appointed at the M. E. Church on Friday evening next. It is hoped there will be a good attendance.

M. E. MINISTERIAL INSTITUTE.

A ministerial intitute for the Adrian district of the Methodist Episcopal Church, will be held in Adrian, commencing Tuesday, December 12, 1882, and concluding on the evening of the day following. Each pastor in the district is expected to be present, and take part in the discussion of the various topics. The local committee in charge of the management of the occasion consists of Rev. John Atkinson, D. D., Rev. R. S. Pardington, and Presiding Elder Wm. J. Campbell. The committee urge their brethren, one and all, to come and enjoy the promised feast of good things.

The order of proceedings is given as follows:

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 12.

2:00 p. m.—Devotional service. Conducted by Rev. E. Bray, of Clayton.

2:30 p. m.—Address of welcome. By Rev. John Atkinson; response by Rev. Duke Whiteley, of Addison.

3:00 p. m.—The relation of the higher culture to the diffusion of Christianity. Rev. J. C. Wortley, of Saline, followed by discussion.

4:00 p. m.—How to make reading of the Scriptures and Hymns suggestive. By Rev. Wm. George, of Dexter.

4:30 p. m.—Best methods of promoting a revival. Rev. J. M. Shank, of Dixboro.

7:00 p. m.—Devotional services. Conducted by Rev. O. I. Winton, of Milan and Oakville.

7:30 p. m.—Defense of the Faith." Rev. R. S. Pardington, of Tecumseh, followed by general discussion.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 13.

8:30 a. m.—Devotional services. Conducted by Rev. D. W. Giberson, of Lima and Sylvan.

9:00 a. m.—Best methods of conducting prayer meetings. Rev. J. M. Kerridge, of Blissfield.

9:30 a. m.—Discussion of the paper.

9:45 a. m.—Pastoral visiting, its great importance. Rev. A. W. Wilson, of Franklin.

10:15 a. m.—Discussion of the paper.

10:30 a. m.—Review of Farrar's "Early days of Christianity." Rev. J. A. McIlwain, of Clinton.

11:00 a. m.—Is the call to the ministry a life work? Rev. Jesse Kilpatrick, of Ridgeway.

11:30 a. m.—Discussion of the paper.

11:45 a. m.—Miscellaneous business.

AFTERNOON.

2:00 p. m.—Devotional services. Conducted by Rev. M. H. McMahon, of Deerfield.

2:30 p. m.—How shall we save our converts to the church? Rev. J. L. Hudson, of Morenci.

3:15 p. m.—The religious factor in national life. Rev. H. C. Northup, of Chelsea.

4:15 p. m.—The relation of the church to the Sunday School. Rev. R. Woodhams, of Grass Lake.

EVENING.

7:00 p. m.—A general missionary meeting. Devotional services. Conducted by Rev. C. H. Talmadge, of Dundee.

7:30 p. m.—The growth of the missionary spirit in the Methodist Episcopal church. Rev. R. B. Pope, of Ann Arbor.

The missionary spirit an index of the life of the church. Rev. D. R. Shier, of Hudson.

How to increase the collections for the missionary society? Rev. J. E. Jacklin, of Monroe.

Violence Overcome.

PIQUA, O., Sept. 20, 1881.

H. H. Warner & Co.: Sirs—I have used your Safe Kidney and Liver Cure for a violent kidney disease, and am happy to say that it entirely cured me.

MRS. E. D. BAXTER.

THE PROBATE COURT.

Following is the record of business transacted at the probate court for the week ending Nov. 25, 1882:

Estate of Thomas Wilson, deceased; administrator's bond filed; letters issued; order of appointment of appraisers and commissioners.

Estate of Rolph Mills, deceased; petition for the allowance of executor's final account; hearing December 18, 1882.

Estate of William H. Smith, deceased; petition for proof of will; hearing December 11, 1882.

Estate of Daniel Ferris, deceased; petition for proof of will; hearing December 18, 1882.

Estate of Joseph Driggs, an incompetent person; affidavit of service; testimony taken and filed; order of appointment of guardian; bond filed; letters of guardianship issued; order appointing appraisers.

Estate of Isaac Collins, deceased; petition for the allowance of executor's final account; hearing December 18, 1882.

Estate of David Berdan, deceased; petition for the allowance of executor's final account; hearing December 18, 1882.

Estate of Evelina M. Doty, deceased; affidavit of publication; administrator's final account allowed; assignment; distribution; discharge.

Estate of Jerusha Mitchell, deceased; affidavit of publication; order of continuance until November 27, 1882, at ten o'clock a. m.

Estate of Timothy Mitchell, deceased; affidavit of publication; order of continuance until November 27, 1882, at ten o'clock a. m.

Estate of Adelaide Smith, deceased; administrator's bond on sale of real estate.

Estate of Delilah Hazen, deceased; affidavit of publication; order of appointment of administrator; bond $2,500.

Estate of William Door, deceased; petition for proof of will; hearing December 23, 1882.

Estate of Ebenezer Davis, deceased; affidavit of publication; appointment of guardian ad litem; executor's account allowed; assignment.

Estate of Elisha F. Burlingame, deceased; affidavit of publication; will, proof and probate; executrix's bond filed; letters issued, order appointing commissioners.

Estate of Elisha C. Lewis, deceased; petition for the appointment of administrator; hearing December 18, 1882.

Estate of Thomas Wilson, deceased; warrant and inventory.

Estate of Christopher Barrett, deceased; receipts filed; discharge.

Estate of Adam Dings, deceased; application for sale of personal estate; order for sale.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS.

Below is a list of transfers of Real Estate in Lenawee County for the week ending Nov. 25, 1882:

ADRIAN.

C. H. Comstock to John C. Woller; land in city. $275.

A. N. Foote to Henry Wilcox; land in city. $1,900.

M. S. Pentecost to Abram I. Grant; land in city. $310.

Henry M. Purinton to Ellen R. Seymour; land in city. $2,800.

Frederick Brown to Mathew Cary; land in city. $300.

BLISSFIELD.

Henry B. Brown to C. M. Ellis; land in village. $400.

FAIRFIELD.

E. S. Hagaman to H. and D. Clark; land on sec. 8. $1,500.

Elmer C. White to Francis Grandy; land in village. $400.

HUDSON.

Augustus D. Tabor to H. Burrick; land in village. $1,000.

MACON.

Horace Hand to John W. Ayers; land on sec 15. $2,900.

John VanVleet to Thomas Butler; land on sec. 27. $1,900.

ROME.

A. B. Shurtliff to J. H. Sharrar; land on sec. 19. $700.

RAISIN.

V. R. Miller to C. W. Miller; land on sec 35. $2,000.

SENECA.

H. J. Clark to S. W. Morris; land on sec. 23. $2,000.

H. J. Clark to S. K. Porter and Casper Rorick; land on sec 24. $6,200.

J. H. Morris to Daniel Reed; land in Morenci village. $700.

TECUMSEH.

J. H. Dunbar to D. D. Meeker; land in village. $762.20.

Why are Coughs and Colds So Prevalent?

Even in the mild summer time so many people get colds and die with Consumption. Roger's Liverwort, Tar and Canchalagua will cure them. It stands at the head of all Cough Medicines. Thousands of lives have been saved by its use. Try it.

Dr. Foord's Pectoral Syrup.

This medicine is the best for Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness and all diseases of the bronchial organs.

E. S. Mace, Lockport, N. Y., July 22d, 1863, says: "Some twelve years since I was severely attacked with brinchitis and in a few days my voice was so gone that I could not speak loud. On my way to this place I met a lady who had been relieved of the same complaint by Foord's Pectoral Syrup, and she recommended me to try it. When I arrived at home I procured a bottle and found immediate relief from it."

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

A Jackson firm makes 120 barrels of cider per day.

James L. Manning has bought the Exchange hotel at Kalkaska.

The Jackson water works pumped 885,988 gallons of water the first 15 days of November.

A Nashville boy named Smith has been arrested on a charge of mutilating grave stones.

They commenced going on runners, last week, up in the Ontonagon region.

A reunion of the old Third Infantry is to be held at Grand Rapids December 13.

St. Clair hungers and thirsts for a town clock. Tap another millionaire and get it.

A company of capitalists propose to manufacture an imitation marble, of gypsum, at Grand Rapids.

The new church of the United Brethren, at Fremont Center, is to be dedicated next Sunday.

Two brass bands fret the worried air at St. Ignace, and another snares the cats at Mackinaw City.

The White river boom company has rafted and delivered 142,427,752 feet of logs this year and 80,000 cedar posts, ties, etc.

Charles Easton, a veteran Washtenaw county farmer, dropped dead of heart disease at his home in Ann Arbor last week.

On Saturday of last week a wonderful mirage lifted the Beaver islands, 45 miles distant, into full view of the citizens of Petoskey.

Thos. Adams, of Richland, Kalamazoo county, fell from a stack of cornstalks a few days ago and sustained fearful injury.

A new paper called the Comet has flashed into existence at Fife Lake.—It is steered in its course by Fuller a Dennis.

When Melvin Bishop stole a clock at East Saginaw, a few days ago, the judge gave him more time than he wanted. He got 90 days.

Julia A. Hitchcock, of Grand Rapids, sues Muskegon for $5,000 damages for hurts caused by falling from an altitudinous sidewalk.

Miss May Wolcott, of Jackson, has been a life member of the Jackson Guards and formally adopted as a "child of the company."

The office of the White Cloud Telegraph burned a few days ago, and the citizens propose to chip in and help the proprietor start again.

The Saginaw police force found the dead body of a baby on the sidewalk in that city on Sunday. It was a little girl and was minus one foot and one hand.

Capt. Stephen H. Ballard, formerly prosecuting attorney of Kent county, was chosen a member of the Colorado legislature at the recent election.

Giles W. Dennis, of Flint, has been convicted of Sunday saloonism, the case being tried in the circuit court on an appeal from a justice court.

There is to be a meeting of the state Board of Corrections and Charities, and a convention of the county agents who have charge of wayward juveniles, at Jackson, Dec. 5th and 6th.

A man named Sharp was severely horsewhipped at Ludington, last week, by several indignant citizens, who charge him with having indecently exposed his person to their children.

Col. Constant Luce, of Monroe, who has been on trial on a charge of embezzlement, has been acquitted. The case attracted a deal of attention at one time.

Some folks begin to wonder if it is the custom at the Ionia house of correction to leave ladders lying about loose where prisoners can get them when they want to get out.

The state teachers' association is billed for a three days' session at Representative hall, Lansing, beginning Dec. 28. Dr. Howell, of Three Rivers, can give full particulars.

The public is informed via Lansing that the sorghum experiments at the agricultural college have actually resulted in the production of several barrels of syrup and some sugar.

About 18 months ago J. L. Petrie, his wife and four children, left Grand Rapids for Pensacola, Fla. Now comes the news that Mr. and Mrs. Petrie have both died of yellow fever.

Hattie Shop-pa-ne-gance, an Indian girl aged 14 years, daughter of John Shop-pa-na-gance, an Indian well-known to hunters who frequent Montmorency county, recently took a canoe, chased two big deer out into Little Twin lake, and shot them.

A Well-Known Farmer From Erie County, N. Y., Speaks From Experience.

AKRON, Erie County, N. Y., December 6, 1881.

To the Proprietors of Thomas' Eclectric Oil:

Gents:—Last March I took a severe cold, and, being negligent in doctoring it, brought the Asthma on me very severe. I could not lie down or sleep for wheezing and shortness of breath. I took this thing and that, and tried different doctors, but found no relief. Six months ago I saw an advertisement in the papers recommending Dr. Thomas's Eclectric Oil, so I thought I would try that, and, wonderful to relate, yet nevertheless true, the first dose I took relieved me in a few minutes, and before I had taken one-fourth of a 50-cent bottle I could breathe freely and sleep as well as ever. It is equally as magical for cuts, bruises, burns, and rheumatism. I woke up a few mornings since with such a pain in my chest that I could not draw a long breath. My wife said, "rub on Thomas' Eclectric Oil." I did so, and in a few minutes the pain was gone, and I have not felt it since. My wife also had a severe attack of rheumatism in the arm and side. She applied the Oil with the same result. I would not be without it if I had to walk ten miles for it, and then pay $5 for a 50-cent bottle. I send you this testimonial hoping you will publish it, so that suffering humanity may be relieved os their aches and pains.

Yours, respectfully,

S. S. GRAVES,

Akron, Erie Co., N. Y.

Farrand, Williams & Co., wholesale druggists, Detroit, Mich.

A $20,00 Biblical Reward.

The publishers of Rutledge's Monthly offer twelve valuable rewards in their Monthly for December, among which is the following:

We will give $20,000 in gold to the person telling us how many verses there are in the New Testament Scriptures (not the New Revision) by December 10th, 1882. Should two or more correct answers be received, the reward will be divided. The money will be forwarded to the winner December 15th, 1882. Persons trying for the reward must send 20 cents in silver (no postage stamps taken) with their answer, for which they will receive the Christmas Monthly, in which the name and address of the winner of the reward and the correct answer will be published. This may be worth $20,00 to you; cut it out.—Address Rutledge Publishing Company, Easton, Penna.

The students of the agricultural college are getting restive under the present system of feeding them, and want to divide off into four or five messes managed by themselves. They now mess all together, and the eating is managed by the college steward.

A man of integrity will never listen to any reason against conscience.

Satisfactory.

Mrs. Wallace, Buffalo, N. Y., writes: "I have used Burdock Blood Bitters for nervous and bilious headaches, and have recommended them to my friends; I believe them superior to any other medicine I have used, and can recommend them to any one requiring a cure for biliousness." Price $1.00.

To twit a man of his faults, is to expose a greater fault of your own.

My doctor's bill last summer was over $100, with no apparent benefit. Since taking Zoa-Phora the bill is $4, and I have not been so well in years.

MRS. WM. H. HURD,

Sedgwick City, Kan.

Oct. 9, 1881.

In the matter of a change of venue in the case of the people vs. Dr. Nathan C. Hall, of Davisburg, charged with wife murder, it is announced that it will go either to Clinton or Macomb county.

TO THE AFFLICTED.

Since the introduction of Kellogg's Columbian Oil it has made more permanent cures and given better satisfaction on Kidney Complaints and Rheumatism than any known remedy. Its continued series of wonderful cures in all climates has made it known as a safe and reliable agent to employ against all aches and pains, which are the forerunners of more serious disorders. It acts speedily and surely, always relieving suffering and often saving life. The protection it affords by its timely use on rheumatism, Kidney affection, and all aches and pains, wounds, cramping pains, cholera morbus, diarrhoea, coughs, colds, catarrh, and disorders among children, makes it an invaluable remedy to be kept always on hand in every home. No person can afford to be without it, and those who have once used it never will. It is absolutely certain in its remedial effects, and will always cure when cures are possible. Call at C. A. Wright & Co.'s and get a memorandum book giving more full details of the curative properties of this wonderful medicine.

People never attack religion but when they have an interest to attack it.

[illegible]

TECUMSEH LODGE, NO. 14, I. O. O. F

REGULAR MEETINGS every Tuesday Evening at their Lodge Room over Brewer's store, Chicago Street.

J. W. WODDEN, N. G.

ROBERT HOBBS, Sec.

Railroad Time Tables.

L. S. and M. S. RAILROAD

TRAINS GOING CUT

STATIONS.	No. 15 Mail.	No. 17 Express.	No. 49 Accom.
Jackson	6 00 a m	2 40 p m	1 40 p m
Napoleon	7 16 "	3 05 "	2 [illegible]
Tecumseh	7 24 "	3 13 "	3 06 "
Blissfield	7 30 "	3 30 "	3 30 "
Clinton	7 45 "	3 45 "	4 [illegible]
Tipton	7 55 "	3 [illegible] "	4 [illegible]
Adrian	8 00 "	4 27 "	5 [illegible]
Morenci	10 50 "	[illegible]	[illegible]
Toledo	9 50 "	5 25 "	[illegible]

TRAINS GOING NORTH

STATIONS.	No. 16 Mail.	No. 18 Express	No. 48 Accom.
Toledo	9 20 a m	6 40 p m	[illegible]
Morenci	10 50 "	8 25 "	[illegible]
Adrian	11 40 "	9 20 "	8 10 a m
Tipton	12 10 p m	9 57 "	8 25 "
Clinton	12 22 "	10 07 "	7 30 "
Blissfield	12 40 "	10 26 "	8 25 "
Tecumseh	12 56 "	10 45 "	9 05 "
Napoleon	1 05 "	10 55 "	9 23 "
Jackson	1 30 "	11 20 "	10 20 "

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Coupon tickets can now be procured at this station over best routes, to all principal cities in the U. S.

H. S. SATTERTHWAITE, Ticket Agent.

Post Office, Tecumseh, Michigan

MAILS CLOSE.

Western and Detroit—morning mail ..... 7 50 a. m.
Eastern and Detroit, via Jackson ..... 11 40 a. m.
Chelsea and Detroit ..... 3 35 p. m.

OVERLAND.

Ypsilanti, Springville, Cambridge & Brooklyn, Mondays, Wednesdays, Fridays 1 00 "
Ridgeway—daily ..... 1 00 "
Lake Ridge, daily ..... 1 00 "
Macon, daily ..... 12 00 m.

ARRIVALS.

Eastern Mail ..... 7 35 a. m.
Western Mail ..... 12 [illegible] p. m. 3 57 p. m.

Office hours from 7 a. m. to 7 30 p. m., Sundays from 10 to 10 30 a. m.

FRED ROSACRANS, P. M.

For the Latest Styles of

Buggies, Carriages

SLEIGHS AND HARNESS,

go to

SCHAWEE CARRIAGE CO.

Ref. Manufacturer, Adrian.

J. H. [illegible] LEY

ABE HAYDON

General Auctioneer.

All Auction business entrusted to his care will receive prompt attention.

TECUMSEH, - MICHIGAN

BEN. REYNOLDS,

Licensed Auctioneer.

ALL AUCTION BUSINESS,

Either in village or country will receive prompt attention.

TECUMSEH, MICH.

B. F. STEINHOFF'S

Dental Rooms.

OVERBAKER & HALL'S.

GAS FOR EXTRACTING.

THE LOWEST PRICES for THE BEST WORK

LOOSE'S EXTRACT

RED CLOVER BLOSSOM,

The Great Blood Purifier

PURE AND HARMLESS

Cures Scrofula in all its forms, Cancer, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Rheumatism and all other Blood and Skin diseases, and regulates the bowels. Sugar plum bottle.

Loose's Red Clover Pills cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Constipation. They act on the liver and kidneys. In boxes of 25 pill, 25c., 5 boxes $1. For sale by all druggists, or address J. M. Loose, M. D., Monroe, Mich. Send for circular.

I have removed my

BLACKSMITH SHOP

To the old stand of J. H. Mills, On Logan Street,

Opposite Hayden's Warehouse where I have better facilities than ever for doing good work,

Horse Shoeing a specialty

ED. ROWLAND.

Imitation Kills Fashion.

A jeweller in conversation with a reporter, the other day, made the very true observation that "imitation kills fashion." I have been forcibly struck with this during the last few years. I defy Tiffany & Co. to get up a design that the cheap Johns cannot imitate. You look through their cases, and you see five specimens of Egyptian bangles, in solid silver and gold, that cost ten dollars and twenty-five respectively, and you go to Daniell's or Stern's and you find the same design in washed silver and rolled gold for one and two dollars. Unless you take them in your hand, and feel how light they are, you would never suspect their genuineness. There are those telescope lead pencils—at Tiffany's they run from twenty to one hundred dollars, and even more when jewelled. You can get one so near like that no one can tell the difference for seventy-five cents. Even furs are imitated. I could not tell half the time last winter, who wore sealskin and who wore the imitation.

The reason for all this is that every woman wants to dress as well as her neighbor, and if she cannot get the exact materials of her neighbor's dress, she will have something so near it that the neighbor will stand aghast when she meets her. I have seen girls coming out of tenement houses dressed, to all appearances, as girls who come out of Fifth avenue houses. At a casual glance you can hardly tell the difference. In the winter I used to be continually startled by meeting what appeared to be young ladies of fashion in the unfashionable neighborhood of the lettered avenues. The tight-fitting jackets, coachmen's capes, large hats and long gloves gave them, at a distance, a most picturesque and fashionable appearance. Closer inspection showed the fur cape to be imitation, and the other materials of the cheapest sort; but the wearer was quick of eye and nimble of finger, and made herself look fashionable, at least.

There is alligator skin. For a time it baffled imitators, but only for a time. They soon came out with an imitation that only an expert can tell. A genuine alligator skin pocket book costs seven dollars—that is the cheapest. The imitation costs twenty-five cents. The gypsy rings—those with the stones set deep in the gold—were only until lately made by first class jewellers; now they are imitated by the cheap Johns, and you see factory girls wearing rings that look as though they might have been heirlooms in some fine family, but which upon examination, prove to be Rhine pebbles, set in rolled gold. The dog-collar, once so popular as a neck ornament, went entirely out of fashion owing to imitation. I see, however, that they have come up again, and some very unique and costly designs are offered at Tiffany's. The imitators are not baffled by antiques. For a time scarf pins made of antique coins were fashionable and quite expensive. The coins were genuine and the setting of gold. You can buy them to-day for twenty cents, the coins looking just as antique and the gold just as pure.—Cor. Gazette.

Sobieski's Last Descendant.

That the legitimate scion of a royal house should be laboriously earning her bread by the weaving handicraft is, to say the least of it, a startling illustration of human vicissitude. Such, however, is the humble employment by which a poor woman, the descendant of a renowned European monarch, is maintaining herself at the present time in the Saxon manufacturing town of Neugersdorf. The strange, sad story of this high-born weaver-ess may be told in a few words. In the year 1831, when the storms of the great Polish revolution had somewhat abated, many Sarmatian magnates quitted their native land forever, seeking new homes beyond its frontiers. Among them was Count Jacob Sobieski, whose estate had been confiscated by the Russian government. Despite his direct and unbroken descent from the heroic savior of Vienna. King John Sobieski, the count was a very poor man when he settled down in Prague with his only son, at that time a lad. Young Sobieski grew up to manhood in straitened circumstances, and married a young lady no better off than himself. The sole offspring of this marriage was the "factory hand" above alluded to, whose childhood and early adolescence were embittered by privation, and who, having lost her parents some years ago, has ever since gained her livelihood by manual labor. Like the Veronese cobbler-marquis who died the other day in abject poverty, Countess Sobieski is the last of an illustrious race that has played, in its time, an important part in European history.—London Telegraph.

Fourteen Mistakes of Life.

Somebody has condensed the mistakes of life, and arrived at the conclusion that there are fourteen of them. Most people would say, if they told the truth, that there was no limit to the mistakes of life; that they were like the drops in the ocean or the sands of the shore in number, but it is well to be accurate. Here, then, are fourteen great mistakes:

It is a great mistake to set up our own standard of right and wrong, and judge people accordingly; to measure the enjoyment of others by our own; to expect uniformity of opinion in this world; to look for judgment and experience in youth; to endeavor to mould all dispositions alike; not to yield to immaterial trifles; to look for perfection in our own actions; to worry ourselves and others with what cannot be remedied; not to alleviate all that needs alleviation as far as lies in our power, not to make allowances for the infirmities of others; to consider every thing impossible that we cannot perform; to believe only what our finite minds can grasp; to expect to be able to understand every thing. The greatest of mistakes is to live only for time, when any moment may launch us into eternity.

A Firm Settlement.

The following notice by a Virginia blacksmith indicates readjuster sentiment on the part of Mose's partner: "Notis: De copartnership heretofore resisting betwixt me and Mose Skinner is hereby resolved. Dem what owe the firm will settle wid me, and dem what the firm owe will settle wid Moses."

Scientific Information.

The information we get from some scientific journals is marvelous—ly useless. For instance, we find in the Mechanical World a whole column of "points" on water, from which we make a few extracts.

One cubic foot of distilled water weighs 67½ pounds.

Now, as distilled water is not put up in parcels, as it is not sold by the pound, and as no one sends cubic feet of it by mail, what good can it do to tell a waiting world that 67½ pounds is the weight of a cubic foot of distilled water? If the Mechanical World would only tell us how much water there is in a cubic gallon of milk, or how many cubic ounces of it should be used in the manufacture of a whisky sour, there would be some point to these brilliant statistics.

One gallon of sea water weighs 10 1-32 pounds.

We always knew that sea water would weigh more than distilled water because people weigh anchors and things in it, and they never do that in distilled water. It is gratifying, however, to know, on the authority of the Mechanical World, that a gallon of sea water weighs exactly one thirty-second of a pound more than a gallon of the distilled beverage. How it will soothe the last moments of the drowning man (who has perused the columns of the M. W.) when he swallows a cubic mouthful of water and goes down for the last time, to know that the five or six gallons of Atlantic Ocean that he will soon have inside of him, will weigh one thirty-second part more than the contents of the less fortunate man who may get drowned in a fresh water lake. And how full of absorbing interest and clambake reminiscences it will be to the Mechanical World subscriber when he goes out on the bay on an excursion, and as he leans over the rail and becomes estranged from his lunch, to realize that every cubic foot of every stomach-pump of a briny billow beneath him weighs exactly 10 1-32 pounds. The possession of this information will surely make him more content with his lot, if he owns a lot.

The one hundredth part of an inch of rain weighs one ton to the acre.

When the farmer who is in possession of this astounding revelation goes out to his turnip orchard accompanied by a foot rule, and measures the hundredth part of an inch of rain that fell during the night, it must fill him with satisfaction to know that there is exactly a ton of water to the acre, although he will doubtless realize that if there was an acre of water to the ton of turnips, it would give that tropical bulb more encouragement on a hot summer day. When the farmer sees his canned-tomato vines wilting in the sun, his string-bean poles casting their leaves, and his cold-slaw parts shriveling up with the excessive drought, it will strengthen his hard-shell faith in the benefit of water as a saving institution, to realize that rain to an average depth of an inch scattered over an acre of his farm would probably save some of his crops, and would weigh precisely 100 tons.

A man can raise from a well 10 feet deep 30 gallons of water a minute.

He may do it. We will not dispute any of these scintillating gems of fact, but he will certainly blister his hands in doing it, and he won't drink half of it when he gets it up.

Now what we would like to know is why does the Mechanical World flood the country with these useless calculations.

They do not make our homes any happier, they do not bring a single ray of comfort or hope to the toiling millions who have water tax to pay, and families who have their water brought from the creek in a blue bucket by the hired man, don't care a continental how much sea water, or any other water, weighs. Water statistics will never become popular in the homes of the poor. You cannot stop a leak in the roof of a house with them, and they are not receivable for taxes; in fact, they are utterly worthless, and we would suggest to our scientific contemporaries that they drop this brand of literature and deal with living issues, giving their readers points on how to broil a beefsteak, and receipts that will entice the grounds out of coffee, and encourage a biscuit to rise up and shove the lid off the oven. Our American people want something that they can get a grip on, and they can't do that with a cubic foot of moisture.—Texas Siftings.

The Disappointed Candidate.

The candidate who got left at the convention can be told by the way he grasps your hand, braces himself against his gurgling emotion, and whisperingly inquires:

"Did you ever hear of a case like it?"

You never did. You tell him that you never did, and he pulls you into a doorway and continues:

"I'm done with politics forever."

"No."

"Yes, I am, and with the party, too."

"You don't say."

"Oh, but I am. This thing has satisfied me that there is no such thing as honesty in politics, and that a politician has no more word than a dog. I was sold out."

"Possible."

"Sold out and lied out! They used money to beat me. They lied about me. They played hypocrite and knave. Here I have served the party for nineteen long years and never asked for an office, and the minute I decided to accept the nomination for a little fifteen-cent position they go to work and beat me in the convention with a wooden head who doesn't know enough to mark a barrel of pork. Corruption, sir—cor-rup-shun—and the whole ticket will be defeated on account of it."

And the best of it is he takes you for a man who isn't posted. He doesn't believe you have the slightest idea that he packed three or four caususes, bought a dozen delegates, told three lies to the other man's one, and was beaten because his delegates sold out. He takes you for an innocent, and he grasps your hand again at parting and chokingly says:

"Corruption—vile corruption! Most bare-faced fraud in American politics! Can't train with a party upheld by the practice of such principles—can't possibly do it."—Detroit Free Press.

"Generous to a fault" may be said of men—at least they are generous enough to their own faults.

THE GREATEST AND BEST.

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE.

UNEQUALED PREMIUMS FOR 1883.

The principal premium for getting up clubs for 1883 will be a superb Steel Engraving, (size 17 inches by 20) for framing, after Munkacsy's world-renowned picture, "Christ before Pilate," for which the French Government has just paid 100,000 francs. No such premium was ever offered before.

CHOICE OF PREMIUMS FOR GETTING UP CLUBS.

The "Christ Before Pilate," Photographs of Quarto Album, Extra Copy of Magazine for 1883.

Full-Sized Paper Patterns.

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE is the best and cheapest of the lady's books. It gives more for the money, and combines greater merits, than any other. Its immense circulation and long-established reputation enables its proprietor to distance all competition. In short, it has the

Best Steel Engravings,
Best Original Stories,
Best Colored Fashions,
Best Work-Table Patterns,
Best Dress Patterns,
Best Illustrations, Etc.

The stories, novelets, etc., in Peterson are admitted to be the best published. All the most popular female writers contribute to it. In 1883 about 100 original stories will be given, and in addition Six Copyright Novelets, by Ann S. Stephens, Frank Lee Benedict, Jane G. Austin, "Josiah Allen's Wife" etc. A specialty of Peterson, as a lady's book, is its splendidly illustrated articles, and especially its

COLORED STEEL FASHION PLATES!

Engraved on steel, twice the size of all others and superbly colored. Also, Household, Cookery, and other receipts; articles on Art Embroidery; Flower Culture, House Decoration—in short, everything interesting to ladies.

Terms (Always in Advance), $2.00 a Year.

UNPARALLELED OFFERS TO CLUBS.

Two Copies for $3.50, three copies for $4.50; with the unparalleled steel engraving, "Christ before Pilate," or a handsome Photograph Pictorial, or Quarto Album, for getting up the Club.

Four Copies for $6.50, six copies for $9.00; with an extra copy of the Magazine for 1883, as a premium, to the person getting up the Club.

Five Copies for $8.00, seven copies for $10.50; with both an extra copy of the Magazine for 1883, and the large steel-engraving, or either of the Albums, to the person getting up the Club.

For Larger Clubs Still Greater Inducements.

Address, post-paid,
CHARLES J. PETERSON,
306 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Specimens sent gratis, if written for, to get up clubs with.

R. N. Y.

DO NOT

Subscribe for any rural journal until you have sent for free specimen copies of the

Rural New-Yorker,

which will be sent cheerfully and promptly. It is the great

NATIONAL RURAL JOURNAL OF AMERICA.

It is original from beginning to end. It will delight every member of your family. The best writers in the world.

34 Park Row, N. Y.

IF YOU

Desire without charge, the new drought-resisting potato—The Blush—the Giant Wheat, Black-bearded Centennial, for Spring or Fall Sowing—the Rural Garden Treasures—seed of the great white grape Niagara, subscribe for the

RURAL NEW-YORKER,

the great American journal for the farm, garden and home. It is original from beginning to end—500 original illustrations yearly—the best writers in the world. Send for free specimen copies.

34 Park Row, N. Y.

FREE!

The celebrated Free-Seed Distribution of the

RURAL NEW-YORKER,

the leading American journal of rural affairs. Send for free specimen copies. The best men of the country will tell you it has no equal.

82 acres of Experiment Grounds. Original from beginning to end—500 illustrations from nature yearly—16 pages—fine paper—Weekly.

34 Park Row, N. Y.

IF YOU

WISH TO BE MOST SUCCESSFUL with your farm or garden—with fruits, flowers, farm animals, bees, poultry—if you wish to make your homes happy, subscribe for the

RURAL NEW-YORKER,

the great national journal of Rural Affairs. Experiment Grounds, Free Seed Distributions, an original paper from beginning to end. The best writers in the world. Send for free specimen copies and judge for yourselves, or ask those who know.

34 Park Row, N. Y.

MUNN & CO. PATENTS 1846 NEW YORK

We continue to act as solicitors for patents, caveats, trade-marks, copyrights, etc., for the United States, and to obtain patents in Canada, England, France, Germany, and all other countries. Thirty-six years' practice. No charge for examination of models or drawings. Advice by mail free.

Patents obtained through us are noticed in the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN, which has the largest circulation, and is the most influential newspaper of its kind published in the world. The advantages of such a notice every inventor understands.

This large and splendidly illustrated newspaper is published WEEKLY at $3.20 a year, and is admitted to be the best paper devoted to science, mechanics, inventions, engineering works, and other departments of industrial progress, published in any country. Single copies by mail, 10 cents. Sold by all newsdealers.

Address, Munn & Co., publishers of Scientific American, 261 Broadway, New York.

Handbook about patents mailed free.

CATARRH! When you have had Catarrh long enough and want to be cured just write to DR. C. R. SYKES, Chicago, Ill., for full information of a sure cure. YOU WILL NEVER REGRET IT. SURE CURE

C. C.'S TEMPERANCE HOTEL

Cor. Congress and Bates Sts., DETROIT, MICH.

RATES—$1 to $1.25 per day. Single Meals 30c, Lodgings 25 to 50 cents.

We make a specialty of Dinner, and it is always ready at 11:30 sharp. Come early and be served promptly.

Cheapest Bibles Ever Published. Agents 2000 Illustrations; 110 extra fast sellers. Both Versions New Testament AGENTS WANTED Forshee & McMackin, Cincinnati, O.

WARNER'S SAFE KIDNEY & LIVER CURE

Disease is an effect, not a cause. Its origin is within; its manifestations without. Hence, to cure the disease the cause must be removed, and in no other way can a cure ever be effected. WARNER'S SAFE KIDNEY AND LIVER CURE is established on just this principal. It realizes that of all diseases arise from deranged kidneys and liver, and it strikes at once at the root of the difficulty. The elements of which it is composed act directly upon these great organs, both as a food and a restorer, and by placing them in a healthy condition, drive disease and pain from the system.

95 Per Cent.

For the innumerable troubles caused by unhealthy Kidneys, Liver and Urinary Organs; for the distressing Disorders of Women; for Malaria, and for physical derangements generally, this great remedy has no equal. Beware of impostors, imitations and concoctions said to be just as good.

For Diabetes, ask for WARNER'S SAFE DIABETES CURE.

For Sale by all dealers.

H. H. WARNER & CO., Rochester, N. Y.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENT DEPOT,

Grain, Flour, Feed and Coal.

SLAYTON & SON

Are still at the old stand with a complete line of

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.

PLOWS The Wiard Chilled, Mohawk Valley Clipper (steel.)

"Leader" Spring Tooth Harrow. Elwood, Robbins and Buckeye

CULTIVATORS.

"Springer" Spring Tooth Harrow, (on wheels.)

GRAIN DRILLS. Buckeye, Farmer's Fr Triumph.

THRESHERS, The "Vibrator," and The "Buffalo Pitts."

Portable and Traction Thresher Engines.

Rare Bargains in

Carriages, Platform, Spring and Lumber Wagons,

Lime, Water Lime, Salt, Cal. Plaster and Plastering Hair.

If you want anything in our line call and get prices before you buy.

The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.

It is constantly effecting the most wonderful cures, while the unparalleled demand with which it meets stamps it at once as the greatest medicine of the age for outward application.

The most incredulous are convinced, and the most skeptical are compelled to believe in the power of this great remedy.

WHAT IT CURES.

It cures CUTS, BRUISES, SPRAINS, BURNS, SORE THROAT, LAMENESS, RHEUMATISM, INFLAMMATION of LUNGS and SIDE, BRONCHITIS, CROUP, SALT RHEUM, PLAINS, AFFECTIONS of the SPINE, NEURALGIA, NERVOUS IRRITATION, and all pains attendant with INFLAMMATION.

It never fails to restore the natural function of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood; by this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates every portion of the human frame; every muscle, vein, nerve, and ligament is searched and made sensible to its soothing and healing influence. Hence it copes readily with internal as well as external diseases.

Over 40 Years.

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that as we have no space here to insert any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, we simply ask those readers of this notice who have never used it to test its virtues, and frankly state their experience with it to inquiring friends. If but one hundred would do this we should feel perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle.

Price 25 and 40 cents per bottle. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

D. RANSOM SON & CO., Prop'rs, Buffalo, New York.

TO ADVERTISERS.

GEO. P. ROWELL & CO'S

SELECT LIST OF LOCAL NEWSPAPERS.

An advertiser who spends upwards of $5,000 a year, and who invested less than $350 of it in this List, writes: "Your Select Local List paid me better last year THAN ALL THE OTHER ADVERTISING I DID."

IT IS NOT A CO-OPERATIVE LIST.

IT IS NOT A CHEAP LIST.

IT IS AN HONEST LIST.

The catalogue states exactly what the papers are: When the name of a paper is printed in FULL FACE TYPE it is in every instance the BEST.—When printed in CAPITALS it is the ONLY paper in the place. The list gives the population of every town and the circulation of every paper.

The rates charged for advertising are barely one-fifth the published schedule. The price for single States ranges from $2 to $80. The price for one inch one month in the entire list is $625. The regular rates of the papers for the same space and time are $2,980.14. The list includes 952 newspapers of which 187 are issued DAILY and 765 WEEKLY. They are located in 788 different cities and towns, of which 24 are State Capitals, 563 places of over 5,000 population, and 468 County Seats. For copy of List and other information address GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., 10 Spruce St., New York.

$30 per week can be made in any locality. Something entirely new for agents. $5 outfit free. G. W. INGRAHAM & CO., Boston, Mass.

Perhaps the most judiciously edited magazine in the World.—THE NATION, N. Y., Sept. 1882.

THE CENTURY

For 1882-83.

The twelfth year of this magazine—the first under the new name, and the most successful in its history, closed with the October number. The circulation has shown a large gain over that of the preceding season, and THE CENTURY begins its thirteenth year with an edition of 140,000 Copies.

The following are the leading features:

A NEW NOVEL BY W. D. HOWELLS, to succeed this author's Modern Instance. It will be an international story, entitled A Sea Change.

LIFE IN THE THIRTEEN COLONIES, by Edward Eggleston—the leading historical feature of the year.

A NOVELETTE OF MINING LIFE, by Mary Hallock Foote, entitled The Deadwood Claim, to be illustrated by the author.

THE POINT OF VIEW, by Henry James, Jr., a series of eight letters from imaginary persons of various nationalities, criticising American people, society, manners, railroads, etc.

THE CHRISTIAN PEAGE OF CONGRESS CUT, by the Rev. Washington Gladden. An account of practical co-operation in Christian work.

RUDDER GRANGE ABROAD, by Frank R. Stockton, a continuation of the droll Rudder Grange Stories, the scene being now in Europe.

THE NEW ERA IN AMERICAN HOUSE BUILDING, a series of four papers, fully illustrated.

THE CREOLES OF LOUISIANA, by Geo. W. Cable, richly illustrated.

MY ADVENTURES IN ZUNI, by Frank H. Cushing, government ethnologist, and adopted member of the Zuni tribe of Indians. Illustrated.

ILLUSTRATED PAPERS ON THE NATIONAL CAPITOL, including The Capitol, The Supreme Court, The White House, etc.

MISSIONS OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA, by H. H.; three or four pages of an exceedingly interesting character, richly illustrated.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Entertaining short stories and novelettes will be among the leading features of THE CENTURY, as heretofore; and the magazine will continue its advance in general excellence.

The subscription price is $4.00 a year; 35 cents a number. Subscriptions should begin with the November number, and to enable new subscribers to commence with the new series under THE CENTURY name, we make the following

SPECIAL OFFER.

A year's subscription from Nov., 1882, and the twelve numbers of the past year, unbound, $6.50. A subscription and the twelve back numbers bound in two elegant volumes with gilt top, $7.50.

THE CENTURY CO., New York, N. Y.

1831 THE CULTIVATOR 1883

AND

Country Gentleman.

THE BEST OF THE AGRICULTURAL WEEKLIES.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is the Leading Journal of American Agriculture. In amount and practical value of contents, in extent and ability of correspondence, in quality of paper and style of publication, it occupies the FIRST RANK. It is believed to have no superior in either of the three chief divisions of

Farm Crops and Processes,
Horticultural and Fruit Growing,
Live Stock and Dairying

while it also includes all minor departments of rural interest, such as the Poultry Yard, Entomology, Bee-Keeping, Greenhouse and Grapery, Veterinary Replies, Farm Questions and Answers, Fireside Reading, Domestic Economy, and a Summary of the News of the Week. Its MARKET REPORTS are usually complete, and much attention is paid to the Prospects of the Crops, as throwing light upon one of the most important of all questions—WHEN TO BUY AND WHEN TO SELL. It is literally illustrated, and is intended to supply, in a continually increasing degree and in the best sense of the term a

Live Agricultural Newspaper,

The Volume of the COUNTRY GENTLEMAN for 1882 was GREATLY ENLARGED by increasing its size from 16 to 20 pages weekly, but the terms still continue as follow, when paid strictly in advance. One copy, one year, $2.50; Four Copies, $10, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club; Ten Copies $20, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club.

All New Subscribers for 1883, paying in advance now, will receive the paper weekly, from receipt of remittance to January 1st, 1884, without charge.

SPECIMEN COPIES FREE. Address

LUTHER TUCKER & SON, Publishers, ALBANY, N. Y.

Gray's Specific Medicine.

TRADE MARK. THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY. TRADE MARK

An unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhea, Impotency, and all Diseases that follow as a sequence of Self-Abuse; as loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the Back, Dimness of Vision, Premature Old Age, and many other diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a Premature Grave.

BEFORE TAKING. AFTER TAKING.

Full particulars in our pamphlet, which we desire to send free by mail to every one.

The Specific Medicine is sold by all druggists at $1 per package, or six packages for $5, or will be sent free by mail on the receipt of the money, by addressing THE GRAY MEDICINE CO., Buffalo, N. Y.

On account of counterfeits, we have adopted the Yellow Wrapper, the only genuine. Guarantee issued by FARRAND WILLIAMS & CO., Wholesale Agents, Detroit.

ST. NICHOLAS is above anything we produce in the same line.—LONDON TIMES.

ST. NICHOLAS,

FOR

YOUNG FOLKS.

PARENTS who desire entertaining and wholesome reading for their children, and young folks who enjoy accounts of travel and adventure, historical incidents, stories, pictures, household amusement, and harmless fun, will find these in ST. NICHOLAS, which is recognized by the press and public of both England and America, as The Best and Finest Magazine for children ever printed. The new volume, which begins with the November number, and opens with a colored frontispiece, will be much the finest ever issued, and the attention of all parents and all reading young folks is invited to the following partial list of attractions:

The Tinkham Brothers' Tide-Mill.

A new serial story, by J. T. Trowbridge, formerly editor of "Our Young Folks," and author of the Jack Hazard Stories, etc.

The Story of Viteau.

An historical novelette of girl and boy life in the 13th Century.

The Story of Robin Hood.

An account of the famous yeoman, by Maurice Thompson, author of The Witchery of Archery.

The Story of the Field of the Cloth-of-Gold.

By E. S. Brooks. To be illustrated with many remarkable pictures.

A Brand New Notion.

A capital and novel play.

Swept Away.

A serial story of the Mississippi floods of 1882.

Elizabeth Thompson.

A biographical paper regarding this celebrated painter of battle-scenes.

Where was Villiers?

A thrilling story of the Russo-Turkish war.

The Boy at the White House.

An account of the life of "Tad" Lincoln. By Noah Brooks, author of The Boy Emigrants.

Comedies for Children.

A fine series of juvenile plays, and including A CHRISTMAS MASQUE: "THE FALSE SIR SANTA CLAUS." Prepared expressly for holiday times.

Price $3.00 a year; 25 cents a number. Subscriptions should begin with the November number. The succeeding issue, The Wonderful Christmas Number, will have, also, a colored frontispiece and many unusual attractions.

THE CENTURY CO., New York, N. Y.

most judiciously edited
World.—THE NATION.

CENTURY
1882-83.

of this magazine—the first and the most suc
the October number. The a large gain over that of the
THE CENTURY begin with an edition of
000 Copies.
the leading features
BY W. D. HOWELLS is dern Italians. It will be entitled A Sea Change, TEEN COLONIES, by leading historical features
OF MINING LIFE, by Mary
ed The Bell-Horse Claim, author.
VIEW, by Henry James, Jr.,
s from imaginary persons criticising America by railroads, etc.
E. EGGLESTON'S POCAHONTAS
Washington Gladden. As
-operation in Christian work.
RE ABROAD, by Frank R. ation of the drop-ladder
cene being now in Europe.
A IS AMERICAN HOUSE, s of four papers, fully illus
OF LOUISIANA, by Geo. W. ted.
ES IN ZUNI, by Frank H. at ethnologist, on adopted tribe of Indians. Illustrated.
APERS ON THE NATIONAL
The Capitol, The Supreme
use, etc.
UTHERN CALIFORNIA, by pages of an, exceedingly in-richly illustrated.
ELLANEOUS. stories and novelettes will be features of THE CENTURY, in agazine will continue its al ellence.
price is $4.00 a year; 35 cents a ions should begin with the nd to enable new subscribers
s new series under THE CENthe following
IAL OFFER.
from Nov., 1882, and the e past year, unbound, $3.50 he twelve back numbers bound ses with gilt top, $7.50.
CO., New York, N. Y.

CULTIVATOR 1883
AND Gentleman.

EST OF THE
RAL WEEKLIES.

TLEMAN is the Leading Jour-Agriculture. In amount and tents, in extent and ability quality of paper and style
mples THE FIRST RANK. It o superior in either of the
of Processes,
ral and Fruit Growing,
ive Stock and Dairying es all minor departments of as the Poultry Yard, Entomology,
Greenhouse and Grapery,
Farm Questions and Answers, mestic Economy, and a Sum-the Week. Its MARKET RE-mplete, and much attention is s of the Crops, as throwing most important of all ques-
AND WHEN TO SELL. It is nd is intended to supply, in ding degree and in the best tural Newspaper,
COUNTRY GENTLEMAN for ENLARGED by increasing ages weekly, but the terms
r, when paid strictly in ad-year, $2,50; Four Copies, al copy for the year free to
; Ten Copies $20, and an e year free to the sender of ribers for 1883, paying in eive the paper weekly, from to January 1st, 1884, without ES FREE. Address
R & SON, Publishers,
ANY, N. Y.

ecific Medicine.
GREAT TRADE MARK
LISH REME-
All unfail-ure for Sem-
Weakness,
matorrhea,
potency, and diseases that w as a se-
ce of Self-
e; as loss of ory, Uni-
AFTER TAKING.
n in the Back, Dimness of Age, and many other disnity or Consumption and a in our pamphlet, which we mail to every one. ☞ The ld by all druggists at $1 per kes for $5, or will be sent free of the money, by addressing DICINE CO., Buffalo, N. Y. erfeits, we have adopted the only genuine. Guarantee of
AND WILLIAMS & CO.,
Wholesale Agents, Detroit.

is above anything we same line.—LONDON

CHOLAS,
FOR G FOLKS.
ire entertaining and whole-children, and young folks f travel and adventure, hisories, pictures, household less fun, will find these in s recognized by the press and land America, as The Best ne for children ever printed.
h begins with the November ens with a colored frontise finest ever issued, and the nts and all reading young following partial list of at-Brothers' Tide Mill.
y J. T. Trowbridge formerly Folks," and author of the tc.
ry of Viteau.
tie of girl and boy life in the of Robin Hood.,
mous yeoman, by Maurice
The Witchery of Archery.
ld of the Cloth-of-Gold.
be illustrated with many New Notion. play.
pt Away.
Mississippi floods of 1882
h Thompson:
r regarding this celebrated was Villiers?
he Russo-Turkish wit.
he White House.
life of "Tad" Lincoln. By f The Boy Emigrants.
s for Children.
ile plays, and including A
"THE FALSE SIR SANTA
pressly for holiday times.
cents a number. Subscribe ith the November number
The Wonderful Christmas
o, a colored frontispiece and ons.
CO., New York, N. Y.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

ATTORNEYS.

WILLIS MERRITT, ATTORNEY AT LAW, ADRIAN, Mich.

EDWIN B. WOOD, ATTORNEY AT LAW. Collections and Conveyancing. Office over W. & S. W. Anderson's Store, Tecumseh, Mich.

WILLIS MERRITT. W. W. FRAZER. Merritt & Frazer, Attorneys at Law. Insurance Agents, Tecumseh, Mich.

C. A. & S. C. STACY, ATTORNEYS AT LAW. Office in HERALD Building.

W. R. WOODIN, Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Tecumseh, Mich.

P. S. MCKINNON, Attorney at Law and Justice of the Peace. All business promptly attended to. Office over W. & S. W. Anderson's Store.

C. A. & J. A. STACY, Attorneys at Law and Solicitors in Chancery. Office in Underwood Block Adrian, Mich.

MILLARD, WEAVER & WEAVER, Attorneys at Law, Adrian, Mich. Office in Masonic Temple, (Rooms lately occupied by Michigan State Ins. Co.) Alfred L. Millard, Clement E. Weaver, Charles M. Weaver.

PHYSICIANS.

H. PETERS, M. D., Office and residence at Geo. Curtis' house, corner Maiden Lane and Pottawatomie st. Special attention given to diseases of the Ear, Nose and Throat. All calls for the sick promptly attended to day and night.

C. M. WOODWARD, M. D., PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON. Office at Residence, Chicago street.

E. M. COGKLIN, M. D., PHYSICIAN & SURGEON. Office in Mills Block, Chicago St.

J. F. JENKINS, M. D., Office and residence second door west of Presbyterian Church, Chicago st. Professional calls promptly attended to, day or night.

R. B. HOUSE, M. D. O. Q. JONES, M. D. Drs. House and Jones, Physicians and Surgeons. Office over Lilley, Bidwell & Co's. Bank Office hours. Dr. House, 1 to 3 p. m., and 7 to 8 p. m. Dr. Jones, 9 to 12 a. m., and 3 to 6 p. m. Prompt attention given to all calls in village or country, day or night.

HOTELS.

SINK'S HOTEL, (Formerly the Merchants') W. H. SINK, PROPRIETOR. RECENTLY REFITTED AND REFURNISHED. Corner Chicago and R. R. Sts.

MISCELLANEOUS.

TECUMSEH FOUNDRY & STEAM ENGINE WORKS. H. BIDWELL & CO., PROPRIETORS, Manufacturers of Steam Engines, Mill Gearing and General Machinery, also manufacturers of the Tiffany Improved Patent Drain Tile Machine, Sword's Brick Machine, etc.

WM. DE MOTT, Tecumseh, Mich. Agent for The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co., of Milwaukee, Wis. Paid to policy holders since organization and held for them, $46,138,353.20. Total premiums received, $39,631,785.47. Excess of interest receipts over all expenses of management, $6,506,567.73. Dividends to policy holders in each of the past nine years unequaled by those of any other company on similar policies. Assets, January 1, 1882, over $18,850,000. Surplus, over four per cent. reserve, $3,022,611.61.

A. W. SLAYTON, Undertaker and Embalmer; store on Chicago St.; residence on Pearl St. Night calls will receive prompt attention. No charge for use of hearse.

CENTRAL MEAT MARKET. J. W. COLE, PROPRIETOR. Dealer in Fresh and Salt Meats, Fish, Poultry, etc. Chicago Street.

RAILROAD STREET MARKET. JOSEPH W. WOODEN, PROPRIETOR. Dealer in all kinds of Fresh and Salt Meats, Fresh Fish, etc.

DAVE MACHAM, Fashionable Barber and Hair Dresser. Shop on Railroad Street.

CURRY & BOSTWICK, Fashionable Barbers and Hair Dressers, shop in Richard's block, Chicago street.

A. D. BROWN, Practical Piano Tuner, and agent for Hazelton Bros., Gabler, Wheelock and Haslam & Sons' Pianos. Also American Organs. Adrian, Mich. Orders left at Adamson's Bookstore, Tecumseh, will receive prompt attention.

J. D. SHARES, Manufacturer and dealer in Saddles, Harness, Whips, Collars, Robes, Hats, Brushes and Combs, Tecumseh, Mich.

CHAS. A. WALDRON, VETERINARY SURGEON. All orders promptly attended to, either by mail or in person. Office at the residence of A. K. Malcolm, Tecumseh, Michigan.

SILVERS HOUSE, CLINTON, MICH., S. S. Erskine, Proprietor. Good sample rooms for commercial men. Rates reasonable.

CLOCK REPAIRING.

I will call at your house and repair your Clock. Drop a postal in the office to my address.
C. F. MORLEY,
Tecumseh, Mich.
N. B.—All work warranted.

O. P. Bills, N. Church. Mrs. C. Bills, Mrs. M. H. Church.

O. P. BILLS & CO.,
BANKERS.
J. N. Satterlhwaite, Cashier.
Tecumseh, Mich.
Do a general Banking business. Receive deposits. Exchange bought on all points and our own drafts issued, available in all parts of the United States and Canada, and the principal cities of Europe.

P. B. SWICK,
Manufacturer of Light & Heavy Harness
And Dealer in
Trunks, Whips, Robes, Blankets,
And all articles kept for sale in a first-class Horse Furniture Store.
GOOD WORK! LOW PRICES
Call and see him, one door east of Nyland's shoe store on Chicago street.
TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN

FLOWERS.

At Mrs. Spaulding's green house may be found a large variety of plants and flowers for the decoration of churches, dinner and supper tables, and sick rooms. Especial attention given to floral designs, for weddings, funerals etc. We are prepared to execute orders for every kind of floral decorations with the choicest and freshest of flowers, in the most artistic manner on short notice, and at very reasonable prices. The green house is open daily to visitors.

Orders left at D. W. Clark's grocery will receive prompt attention.

There is no excuse for suffering from
CONSTIPATION
and other diseases that follow a disordered state of the Stomach and Bowels, when the use of
DR. HENRY BAXTER'S
MANDRAKE BITTERS
Will give immediate relief.
After constipation follows
Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Diseases of the Kidneys, Torpid Liver Rheumatism, Dizziness, Sick Headache, Loss of Appetite, Jaundice, Apoplexy, Palpitations, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, etc., all of which these Bitters will speedily cure by removing the cause. Keep the Stomach, Bowels, and Digestive Organs in good working order, and perfect health will be the result. Ladies and others subject to Sick Headache will find relief and permanent cure by the use of these Bitters. Being tonic and mildly purgative they PURIFY THE BLOOD.
Price 25 cts. per bottle.
For sale by all dealers in medicine. Send address for pamphlet, free, giving full directions.
HENRY, JOHNSON & LORD, Props., Burlington, Vt.

ZOA-PHORA
(THE HEALTH BRINGER.)
LONG KNOWN AS
PENGELLY'S WOMAN'S FRIEND.
FOR WOMEN,
TEACHERS, LADY CLERKS, HOUSEWIVES,
Breaking down under close confinement and being continually on their feet, will find Zoa Phora
A Prevention and Cure
For ALL Diseases peculiar to Women.
WOMEN know what these diseases are; but do not always give proper attention to their symptoms, viz:
Headaches, Lassitude, Pale or Mothy Complexion, Sleeplessness, Palpitation, Numbness, Nausea, Dizziness, Dry Cough, Nervous Irritation, Weak and Lame Back,
and pains in various parts of the body.
Zoa-Phora is not a Cure-all. It applies to this special class of diseases. Here it is almost perfect.
Not a temporary Stimulant, but a permanent Cure.
TESTIMONIALS I have in abundance from persons in the best society, who prefer that their evidence be given privately to those asking it.
☞ MOTHERS, are your DAUGHTERS ailing? Look well to the cause. Send for advice to mothers.
Requests for testimonials and advice will receive my careful attention.
R. PENGELLY, M. D.,
Sold by Druggists.) Kalamazoo, Mich.

DO Not Fail to send for our FALL Price-List for 1882. Free to any address upon application. Contains descriptions of everything required for Personal or Family use, with over 2,200 illustrations. We sell all goods at wholesale prices, in quantities to suit the purchaser. The only institution in America who make this their special business. Address
MONTGOMERY WARD & CO.,
227 and 229 Wabash Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

FOR SALE CHEAP.

A good small farm situated within a half an hours ride of the village of Tecumseh, for sale at a bargain. Fine buildings, a nice young orchard and in all one of the finest small farms in Lenawee co. For full particulars enquire at the HERALD OFFICE.

Turkey Breeding.

It is a notably established fact among experienced cultivators of this kind of fowl, that young hen turkeys are not so good as are their elders for reproduction. They will not lay a very large number of eggs in a season, but what they do yield when set will produce larger poults at hatching, and their eggs are also more certain to be fertile.

The turkey hen will often steal her nest by herself in a fence corner, or beneath an old pile of rails, but the greater danger is she will wander off too far from the house and her eggs become the prey of skunks, crows and other mischief-doers that either prowl about in darkness or lie in ambush awaiting plunder.

The best place for a turkey's nest is on the bare ground, taking care to raise it above the danger of flooding during rain and to shelter it above, locating it in some quiet place. The turkey loves privacy in these matters rather more than the common hen, and she is an excellent and very patient sitter. Indeed, she sticks to her business so well that it is often recommended to hatch more than one brood by one turkey hen, removing the first brood as soon as out.

While the sitting is going on you will need to pay particular attention to see that the sitters are off their nest as soon as proper. Turkeys stay on their nests very faithfully. The process lasts a month, but if the eggs are fresh they will hatch a day or two earlier. It is not necessary, however, to be very careful about watching them. The egg yolk comes in part with them into the world and serves as nourishment for somewhat more than a day after hatching. When you come to feed them, it would seem important to imitate this food as nearly as possible; and with this idea eggs in some form boiled hard or made into a custard with milk, skimmed and clabbered milk, cottage cheese and curds should form their principal food in the beginning. Bread crumbs soaked in milk, fine barley meal or oat meal and hard boiled eggs, chopped fine with curd and onions, is an excellent diet for them until they can partake of coarser food.

It makes a great difference in the cost of raising a brood whether it is early or not, as a brood that is of the right size at the right time to catch the first crop of grasshoppers will increase apace, and to your advantage. If you have ample space for them to roam in, or woods near by, you will be surprised to see how industriously they will pick the insects, nuts and seeds which come in their way. With young turkeys avoid fatigue, which creates unrest, and without the natural rest the birds dwindle, pine and die. They are also weak from rapid growth, and are easily worried. Keep an eye on the flocks, as they need especial care while young. In a warm sunny atmosphere they will take care of themselves. The damp, cloudy days worry them for the first few weeks; but well over this period, with a covering on their heads, backs, and wings, they are safe and can endure quite an amount of drizzling rain, or sudden and heavy showers. Damp coops and runs, and wading through the dew must be guarded against. After the poults "shoot the red" the critical period may be said to have passed, and the danger from these causes need not be feared; but before this time they require the greatest care in keeping them from cold and wet, and in the judicious preparation and quality of their food.—Poultry Monthly.

Aerial Navigation.

The Invention of a Tennesseean Exhibited in New York.

George W. Starr, of Tennessee, who is now in this city, has with him a model of an aerial ship of his own invention which, he claims, embodies some principles never fully applied before in aerial navigation. He has been studying air ships for over eight years, and has lately hit upon an idea the simplicity of which, he thinks, insures success. He has been a successful inventor in other directions. The full-sized air ship, as designed by Mr. Starr, will cost about $1,200 to construct, will be in the shape of two cylinders, the outer ends pointed, joined together so as to form a straight line, with a space between them large enough for a wind wheel to revolve, its axis being parallel with the cylinders. Between the cylinders will also be suspended the engine that runs the wheel, and the operator, and supplies of water and coal-gas to feed the engine. The length of the air ship will be 132 feet, the diameter of the cylinders 18 feet, the diameter of the propelling wheel 26 feet, the capacity of the cylinders for holding gas 28,000 cubic feet, and the ascending power of the gas 1,904 pounds. The total resisting surface of the ship as it goes through the air will be 277 square feet and the working surface of the wheel will be 372 square feet. The weight of the ship, including the cloth, stays, wheel, engine, car, water, etc., is estimated at 1,364 pounds, which leaves 540 pounds for the operator and ballast.

Mr. Starr attributes the failure of attempts at aerial navigation made by Prof. C. F. Richel and other inventors to the fact of their having their propelling wheel of far too small size, and having it hung beneath the balloon part of the structure at such a distance as to make its propelling power almost useless. Mr. Starr computes from facts gained by previous experiment that it will take 485 pounds pressure to overcome the resistance of the air to his ship when moving 25 miles an hour. With his engine and 26-foot wheel he calculates to realize 525 pounds direct thrust. A rudder at the stern will steer the ship, a small vane on an upright axis will serve to raise and lower it, and a weight hung longitudinally below it in a movable cope will govern its inclination. Mr. Starr thinks that his invention will be specially useful for reconnoitering in time of war, for carrying mails over rough country, etc. He says that extra cylinders with ears suspended beneath can be drawn like a train of cars with the single propeller.—New York Tribune.

Washington mail carriers are to experiment with the tricycle in the collection of mail matter. Machines will be built for the purpose, with mail bag attachments, and the busiest route in the city will be first tried.

Women as Hotel Clerks.

A woman is, in almost all cases, a pretty formidable creature to affront, and particularly so when she is not only well dressed and tolerably young and good looking, but clad in some kind of authority. I suppose (says a correspondent of the Hartford Courant, writing from Chester, England) that may be one reason why men are unwilling to concede to women their "rights"—there would be no such thing as equality. Except those brutal persons who would not scruple to disregard all distinctions of sex in their use of physical force, the men would infallibly go to the wall. One can not haggle for a penny or maintain any small controversies with a neatly-clad, sweet-voiced, and comely woman, unless she happens to be his wife. We know the dignity, yes, the almost inaccessible divinity in which many a hotel clerk of the masculine gender dwells. With what charming inattention he pretends not to notice you! With what lofty condescension he briefly replies to your trembling question! With what serene indifference he beholds your confusion of face before his dread majesty! But here in England the hotel clerk is a woman, and usually a very bright, smart, neat and comely person. She moves within the ramparts of her snug office bidding defiance to all forms and forces of invasion. She is in authority there, and looks out on you through an embrasure of her fortification with a serene haughtiness which is equally exasperating and overwhelming. In vain one touches his hat and tries the arts of politeness and cajolery. He might as well perform before one of Mme. Tussaud's wax women. Few and short are the answers given. You are made to feel that you are very wearisome if you persist in trying to get a little necessary knowledge. You are snubbed unmercifully if you offer any suggestions touching your personal convenience. You are commended to the porter and to "Boots" as being quite good enough for such as you. If it were a man, you might pluck up spirit to unwisely resent such treatment and "jaw back," as the rustic found it was his privilege to do in the Episcopal service, but one can not get quite to that in the case of a woman, and so he retires to plume his ruffled feathers in secret, and to purchase sixpenny worth of various information from chambermaids and porters. These female hotel clerks are the avengers of their sex. And they enjoy their office. I wonder if women ever tremble and cower so before the pride and haughtiness of men? It can hardly be.

An Artful Engineer.

While Gen. Mahone was President of the East Tennessee Road, one of the engineers had a fireman put on him that he did not like, so he resolved to get rid of him. One day, just after the first trip, the fireman and the engineer were discussing Gen. Mahone, and the fireman remarked that he felt like giving the General a good "cussing."

"Why don't you do it, then?" remarked the engineer.

"Yes, and get fired," sententiously said the fireman.

"Not much," replied the engineer.—"You can never get along on this road until you cuss Mahone. I cussed him once for every blankety blank thing that has happened since he was in charge, and have got along all right."

The fireman concluded he would do the same thing. So the next trip to Richmond he went to Mahone's office and heaped on him such a torrent of abuse that nearly took his breath away. Mahone heard him through, and then told the fireman to come and get his money after the next trip. There seemed to be a hitch somewhere. Things seemed to be different from what he expected, so he went to consult his friend, the engineer.

"You darn fool," shouted the latter, "you didn't cuss him to his face, did you?"

"Of course I did," the fireman said, "didn't you tell me that you did the same thing?"

"No, not by a blamed sight," adding some words that contained a not very complimentary allusion to the heated flames of the lower regions; "why, when I cussed Mahone, he was in Richmond and I was in Bristol, and I gave him a good cussing, too."

Well, the fireman got bounced, and the engineer was made suddenly and strangely happy.—Nashville American

Miss Anthony's Trunks.

That is a characteristic if not true story of Susan B. Anthony, who left St. Louis, the other day, for Leavenworth, with two medium-sized trunks for baggage. At first the baggage-clerk objected to check them both on a single ticket, and demanded pay for extra weight. "But," said she, "they together weigh less than an ordinary-sized Saratoga. I distribute the weight in this way purposely so save the man who does the lifting." The clerk looked at her incredulously. "And you tell me seriously that you do this simply out of consideration for the baggage-man?" "I do!" "How long have you done it?" "All my life. I have never purchased a large trunk, for fear I might add to the overburdened baggage-man's afflictions."

The clerk walked off and conferred with the head of the department. Then the two returned together. "Do I understand," said the chief, "that you, of all women, have been the first to show humanity toward railroad people?"—"That is a tenet of my creed." "Check that baggage!" said the chief, with emphasis;" and when you run for office, Miss Anthony, you shall have my vote." "Mine, too!" echoed the clerk, handing her the checks, and the trio parted, happy.

A Paris husband, plagued by his wife to buy a new bonnet, strolled into a salesroom, and by way of a joke, purchased a bonnet of very old date. He took it home to his wife and she drew from its crown a piece of paper which proved to be a bond for 500 francs. This is a strong argument in favor of husbands buying their wives old style bonnets. Although another bond might not be found in a hundred years, the fact that such bonnets come cheaper than the new style strongly recommends the scheme.—Norristown Herald.

Nine Physicians Outdone

It is generally considered a pretty difficult task to outdo a physician, but the following will conclusively prove where nine were completely outdone. Mrs. Helen Pharviz, 331 Dayton St., Chicago, Ill., was treated for Consumption by nine physicians, and all pronounced her case incurable. Seven bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption completely cured her. Doubting ones, please drop her a postal card and convince yourselves. Sold by C. A. Wright & Co.

Important to Travelers.

Special Inducements are offered you by the BURLINGTON HOTEL. It will pay you to read their advertisement to be found elsewhere in this issue.

The proprietors of Elys' Cream Balm do not claim it to be a cure all, but a sure remedy for Catarrh, Colds in the head and Hay Fever. Price 50 cents. Apply into nostrils with little finger.

My daughter and myself, great sufferers from Catarrh, have been cured by Ely's Cream Balm. My sense of smell restored and health greatly improved. C. M. Stanley, Dealer in Boots and Shoes, Ithaca, N. Y.

Mr. J. Vanderveen, Druggist, Gd. Haven, Mich.—I can safely recommend Ely's Cream Balm for the cure of Catarrh, Cold in the Head, &c.—Before I have used the first bottle I purchased of you I find myself cured. At times I could scarcely smell anything and had a headache most of the time. Henry Lilly, Agent for the American Express Co., Grand Haven, Michigan.

"No; she lingered and suffered along, pining away all the time, for years, the doctors doing her no good; and at last was cured by this Hop Bitters. The papers say so much about Indeed! indeed! how thankful we should be for that medicine."

If slander be a snake it is a winged one; it flies as well as creeps.

Burlington, Vt., Jan. 25, 1882.
I have used Downs' Elixir exclusively for myself and in my family for a score or more of years, and always keep it with me. Warren Gibbs,
President Vermont Life Ins Co.

Fairhaven, Vt., Jan. 1, 1882,
I prefer Downs' Elixir to any other cough remedy for children, simply on account of its tonic and expectorant qualities. Respectfully,
Geo. H. Harris.

Remembrance is the only paradise out of which we cannot be driven.

Skinny Men

Wells' Health Renewer. Absolute cure for nervous debility and weakness of the generative functions. $1. at druggists. Mich. Depot, J. E. Davies & Co., Detroit, Mich.

Want of care does us more damage than want of knowledge.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all kinds of Skin Eruptions. This Salve is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction in every case or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by
All Druggists

A CURE GUARANTEED IN ALL CASES.
For Old and Young, Male and Female,
"Magnetic Medicine: a Brain and Nerve Food; Positively cures Night Losses, Spermatorrhœa, Impotency, Nervous Debility, Leucorrhœa, Barrenness; and for all (BEFORE) weakness of the generative (AFTER) organs in either sex, it is an unfailing, positive cure. Tones up the debilitated system, arrests all involuntary discharges, restores vigor in mind and body, and restores wonderful power to the wasted organs. With each order for twelve packages, accompanied with five dollars, we will send our Guarantee to refund the money if the treatment does not effect a cure. It is the Cheapest and Best Medicine in the market. Full particulars in Pamphlet, which we mail free to any address. Sold by all druggists, one package 50 cts.; six for $2.50, or sent by mail on receipt of price by addressing the MAGNETIC MEDICINE CO., DETROIT, MICH. Guarantees issued in Tecumseh by Sadler & Doty.

ESTATE OF WILLIAM TAYLOR.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.
At a session of the Probate Court for the county of Lenawee, holden at the Probate Office in the city of Adrian, on Wednesday, the 8th day of November, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.
Present, Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.
In the matter of the estate of William Taylor, an insane person.
On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Charles C. Lesh, guardian of said insane person, praying for license to sell the real estate of said insane person in said petition described for reasons therein set forth.
Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday the 11th day of December next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition and that the next-of-kin of said ward and all other persons interested in said estate are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.
And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.
NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.
(A True Copy.)
A. H. BRIGGS, Probate Register. nov16

COMMISSIONERS' NOTICE.

IN THE MATTER of the estate of Alvah Coddington, deceased.
The undersigned, having been appointed by the Judge of Probate for the County of Lenawee, Michigan, Commissioners to receive, examine and adjust all claims and demands against the estate of Alvah Coddington, late of said county deceased, hereby give notice that we will meet for that purpose at the office of Edwin B. Wood, in the village of Tecumseh, Lenawee county, Michigan on the 26th day of December 1882, and on the 26th day of April, 1883, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of each of said days, and that six months from the 23d day of October, 1882, have been allowed by the said court for the creditors of said estate to present said claims for examination and adjustment.
Dated October 31st, 1882.
ORRAN B. FINCH
JOHN MARGESON
Commissioners.
nov2 nov9

ESTATE OF DAVID BERDAN.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.
At a session of the Probate Court for the county of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office in the city of Adrian, on Monday, the 20th day of November, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.
Present Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.
In the matter of the estate of David Berdan, deceased.
On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Orange F. Berdan, surviving executor of the last will and testament of said deceased, alleging, among other things, that he has paid the debts of said deceased and the expenses of administration of said estate and has procured a release from the widow of said deceased in full from all claims under the provisions of said will, and praying for the allowance of his final account for an assignment and distribution of the residue of said estate according to the provisions of said will and for his discharge.
Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the 26th day of December next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.
And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.
NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.
(A True Copy.)
A. H. BRIGGS, Probate Register. nov23

ESTATE OF ISAAC COLLINS.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.
At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate Office in the City of Adrian, on Monday, the 20th day of November in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.
Present Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.
In the matter of the estate Isaac Collins, deceased.
On reading and filing the petition of Francis M. Oakley, executor of the last will and testament of said deceased, alleging that he has paid the debts of said deceased and the expenses of administration of said estate thus far incurred, and all legacies bequeathed in and by said will, except residuary legacies, and praying for the allowance of his final account (now on file in this court), for an assignment and distribution of the residue of said estate according to the provisions of said will and for his discharge.
Thereupon it is ordered, that Monday, the 26th day of December next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.
And it is further ordered, that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.
NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.
(A True Copy.)
A. H. BRIGGS, Probate Register. nov2

ESTATE OF ROLPH MILLS.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.
At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate Office in the city of Adrian, on Friday, the 17th day of November, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.
Present, Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.
In the matter of the estate of Rolph Mills, deceased.
On reading and filing the petition of Granville Mills and Isaac C. Mills, executors of the last will and testament of said deceased, alleging among other things that they have paid the debts of said deceased, and praying for the allowance of their final account, for an assignment and distribution of the residue of said estate to and among the persons entitled thereto, according to the provisions of said will, and for their discharge.
Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the 18th day of December next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.
And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing. (A True Copy.)
NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.
A. H. BRIGGS, Probate Register. nov26

ESTATE OF JAY J. LOWE.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.
At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate Office in the city of Adrian on Monday, the 6th day of November, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.
Present Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.
In the matter of the estate of Jay J. Lowe, deceased.
On reading and filing the petition, of Coonrod L. Lowe, administrator of said estate, alleging that he has paid the debts of said deceased and the expenses of administration of said estate, and praying for the allowance of his final account, for an assignment and distribution of the residue of said estate to the persons entitled thereto and for his discharge.
Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the 4th day of December next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.
And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing. (A True Copy.)
NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.
A. H. BRIGGS, Probate Register. nov2

ESTATE OF BETSEY WISTCOTT.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.
At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, on Wednesday, the 8th day of November, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.
Present, Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.
In the matter of the estate of Betsey Wistcott, deceased.
On reading and filing the petition of Hiram Wistcott, executor of the last will and testament of said deceased, alleging that he has paid the debts of said deceased and the expenses of administration of said estate, and praying for the allowance of his final account and for his discharge.
Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the 11th day of December next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate are required to appear at a session of said court, then to be holden at the Probate office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be why the prayer of said Petitioner should not be granted.
And it is further ordered, That said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.
NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.
(A True Copy.)
A. H. BRIGGS, Probate Register. nov16

ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE.

By virtue of an order of sale granted by the Judge of Probate for the County of Lenawee, I, Gideon D. Perry, administrator of the estate of Abner Stanley, deceased, will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, on Saturday the 23d day of December, A. D. 1882, at 2 o'clock p. m., at the late residence of said deceased, on the premises hereinafter described, to wit: All those tracts or parcels of land situate in the township of Franklin, in the county of Lenawee and State of Michigan, and described as the east half of the east half of the southwest quarter and the west half of the northwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section thirty-four in town five south of range three east, containing thirty acres of land, more or less. Subject to the right of dower and homestead rights of Emeline Stanley, widow of said deceased, therein.
Dated Nov. 9th, 1882.
GIDEON D. PERRY.

FOR SALE OR RENT.

A good house and lot in a good location. Inquire of J. E. Hall or at the
HERALD OFFICE

THE TECUMSEH HERALD,

Issued Every Thursday Evening.

BY STACY BROTHERS,

Office in the New Herald Building, One Door East of the Opera House, Tecumseh, Mich.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:

One year, Cash in Advance,	$1.50
Six Months, " "	.75
Four Months, "	.50

Twenty-five cents will be added to the subscription price for every three months that payment may be delayed.

ADVERTISING RATES:

Business Locals, five cents per line for each insertion.

Special notices, fifty cents a line for each insertion.

Marriages, Births, and Death Notices free.

Rates on General Advertising, on terms on tracts, made known at the Counting Room.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Correspondents' names are invariably required, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Anonymous communications will be rejected.

ENTERED AT THE POST OFFICE AT TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, AS SECOND CLASS MATTER.

TECUMSEH, MICH., NOV. 30, 1882.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

The members of the fish exchange of Boston unanimously passed a resolution to dissolve, having been ignominiously defeated by a fleet of fishermen.

Ten years' penal servitude is the sentence of William Brookshaw, who sent a threatening letter to the prince of Wales.

At his own request, Rear Admiral J. Blakely Creighton has been placed on the retired list, having been in the service over forty years.

Hon. Lot. M. Morrill, of Maine, has abandoned hope of regaining his health. He is afflicted with chronic gastritis, and lives almost wholly upon milk.

Abraham Marks, an attorney, struck the opposing counsel in a New York court, and Judge Larremore sent him down for thirty days for contempt.

The Northern Pacific road has closed a contract with a land syndicate for three million acres east of the Missouri at $1 per acre.

General McClellan will take up his residence in Washington for the winter, greatly to the regret of society people in New York.

The Edgar Thomson steel-works at Pittsburgh is to notify its 2,500 employes of a reduction of wages in all departments in January.

Philip D. Bonnett, a resident of San Antonio for thirty-six years, the first man to raise the union flag in Texas after the war, died Friday.

The case of Samuel Wilkeson against Rev. Henry Ward Beecher for breach of contract has been dismissed, and the defendant was granted an extra allowance of $250.

The famous Foster divorce case in New Haven has been compromised. The parties are to separate, the wife getting the two minor children and alimony to the amount of $15,000.

John Herzer, a resident of Milwaukee, who weighed 486 pounds, was buried Tuesday. He literally choked to death, and no coffin sufficiently large to receive his remains could be obtained.

The Pullman Car company has made a rate of $60 per day, with a single porter, for coaches used by Knights Templars in going to the conclave at San Francisco.

Five well-known business men of Arkansas have leased the state penitentiary at rates which will amount to $45,000 a year and all incidental expenses.

The German government has prohibited the importation of American pork after the expiration of this month. The exports from New York have for some time been very light.

The Canadian department of internal revenue has decided to keep leaf tobacco under lock and key in the custody of an officer, who will issue it as required for manufacturing.

Queen Victoria personally presented 370 decorations to officers and soldiers who distinguished themselves in Egypt. Nearly all the members of the royal family witnessed the ceremony.

The emperor and empress of Russia were heroic enough to drive the streets of St. Petersburg last Sunday in an open sledge and review a regiment of guards.

General Thomas Reynolds was held in $3,000 bail, in the United States court at Madison, Wisconsin, for signing the names of dead men to pension papers and drawing money thereon.

Friends of Hemingway, the fire-bug of Coldwater, Michigan, who is serving a term of nine years in state prison, have obtained signatures for a pardon covering 250 feet of paper.

A colored resident has brought suit against the city of Owensboro, Kentucky, because his children are debarred from attending the public schools for white pupils.

The Baltimore and Ohio Telegraph company was refused permission to erect poles in the streets of Washington, and was advised to try the underground system.

The directors of the Louisville cotton exposition have elected B. Dupont president. The sum of $300,000 will be raised, and extensive buildings will at once be commenced.

The condition of the money market in New York inspired Secretary Folger to order the redemption of 10,000,000 in bonds per week, without rebate of interest.

The congressional committee on the needs of the Mississippi river went down to the jetties, where soundings showed a depth of twenty-eight to sixty-four feet.

The postmaster general has signed a contract with George Ehrlich, of St. Louis, for a combination letter sheet, envelope, and stamp, to be sold for three cents at all postoffices after January.

O. J. Goldrick, a pioneer of Colorado, died in Denver, Sunday, of pneumonia. He established the first school in that city, and was prominent in journalistic circles.

In the United States court at Omaha, F. E. Clary, formerly postmaster at Sidney, was convicted of making false returns as to the arrival of mails, and fined $300.

Work on the Hudson river tunnel has been suspended for lack of funds, after the expenditure of $940,000. Colonel Haskin thinks that with $1,500,000 more the enterprise can be completed in eighteen months.

The president and cabinet are said to be in favor of a reduction of taxes on tobacco and whisky and the abolition of all other internal revenue duties, bringing down the receipts to $100,000,000 per annum.

Notice of reduction of wages in December has been posted on the steel-mills at Scranton, Pennsylvania.

Captain Hopkins has been dismissed from the naval service for abandoning the Penascola navy-yard when yellow fever made its appearance.

Hon. Lewis D. Campbell, who died Sunday at Hamilton, Ohio, served several terms in congress, and as minister to Mexico under President Johnson.

Dr. C. C. Cox, formerly commissioner of pensions, a man of fine literary attainments died in Washington Saturday evening.

A criminal was publicly beheaded in Copenhagen in a manner so bungling as to arouse the people to deep indignation.

Miss Mattie Chrisman, the daughter of a physician of Little Rock, took a dose of strychnine in mistake for quinine, and died in convulsions.

The common council of Buffalo elected Capt. M. M. Drake to fill the unexpired term of Grover Cleveland as mayor.

Albert Pell, M. P., has left London for the United States, to inquire into the operation of the large cattle ranches of the west.

Mr. Gladstone has announced that the arrears-of-rent bill had proven a failure, and he desired it known that the government did not intend to present a measure to extend the period for the payment of the rent of 1881.

Eastern capitalists have recently purchased large quantities of timber land in Breathitt and Rowan counties, Kentucky, and will erect mills to cut white oak for ship-building. The prices paid range from $5 to $10 per acre.

Thurlow Weed died in New York at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, in his 80th year. He leaves three daughters, Miss Harriet having been his constant companion for thirty years. His estate is estimated at $1,000,000.

It is predicted at Washington that Judge French is to be removed from the assistant secretaryship of the treasury, having been the object of attacks from manufacturers dissatisfied with his tariff rulings.

The Garfield fair at Washington was opened in fine style by President Arthur, and sales of goods commenced at once. The Kansas booth is decorated with grains and fruits. Mrs. Logan has charge of the Illinois display.

The wife of Engineer Melville and her brother went Saturday evening to the residence of Mr. Cappell, in Brooklyn, and forcibly took away her daughter Maude, who had been left there by the hero of the Jeannette.

Leading citizens of Boston, appreciating the lack of storehouses for grain in filling orders for Europe, have determined to subscribe $270,000 to erect the requisite buildings and purchase wheat and corn in large quantities.

The Brooklyn republican general committee passed resolutions declaring that the administration had been rebuked by the electors for interfering in the politics of the state and perpetrating frauds at the Saratoga convention.

The Vermont house passed a bill to raise all state revenue by taxing corporations, but failed to concur in the prohibitory amendment. The senate refused third reading to a bill to prohibit the sale of cigars or tobacco.

In the French chambers of deputies, Duclerc announced that a grant of 200,000 francs will be asked for De Brazza, to enable him to establish twelve scientific, commercial, and hospital stations along the Congo river.

The annual report of the secretary of the treasury shows that the receipts of the government for the year ending June 30 were $403,525,250, and the expenditures outside of the public debt aggregated $257,981,439.

Officials in Ireland report a probability of great distress this winter in the districts of Sligo, Swinford, and Galway, through the short potato crop and lack of employment. Much destitution is apparent in West Clare and Connaught.

The presence in Washington of ex-President Pierola gives color to the surmise that Peru will ask the United States to interpose actively in the adjustment of differences with Chili. Pierola is said to have had a conference of three hours with Blaine Monday.

Secretary Folger steps to the front once more and offers to buy $10,000,000 of uncalled bonds, without rebate, at any time previous to March 1. Foreign exchange at New York is now 484, a price which will probably bring about importations of gold.

William Wright and wife, residing near St. Louis, heard the report of a gun in their house while they were at work in a field. They soon discovered that their 6-year old son had playfully drawn a loaded shot-gun upon his younger sister, actually blowing away her head.

W. D. Hoyt, a telegraph operator at Leavenworth, quarreled over the wire with Mr. Bailey, Union Pacific train-dispatcher at Lawrence. The latter refused to retract an offensive remark, and Hoyt traveled to Lawrence and shot him in the breast.

A sister of Buffalo Bill tried to recover a tract of land near Cleveland, on the ground that the deed was obtained by illegal methods—a plea by which the Cody family hoped to secure a valuable tract on Euclid avenue. Judge McKinney decided that the woman had not even the shadow of a claim.

The grand jury of the Third district of Utah found three indictments for polygamy under the Edmunds law out of twenty cases presented to its notice. The district attorney was unable to rid himself of two Mormons in impaneling the jurors, and they are said to have given warning to witnesses.

Coal operators representing nine of the principal mines of the Massillon district have followed their rivals by yielding to the demands of the miners, but they take revenge by ordering reductions in the wholesale and retail price.

William Cromie has for two years been trustee of the Bull estate of Louisville, valued at $2,000,000, but counsel for the heirs attempted his removal. The court decided that Cromie was guilty of neglect, especially in allowing $47,000 in cash to lie idle, and he will probably resign his trust.

A young Englishman named Claud Lister, who had been discharged by a farmer near Niagara Falls, fatally wounded a young son of his employer and then nearly killed himself, his reason being that his love for the lad created a desire to be always in his company.

Hale Forsyth, a coal-miner at Belleview, Pennsylvania, borrowed some dynamite at a quarry with which to kill fish. Ignorant of its power, he placed it in the oven in his kitchen. Soon afterward his house was blown to fragments, two children were killed, and his wife was fatally injured.

A MINISTER'S ESCAPE.

From the Asylum to the Bosom of His Home—How it was Done.

A prominent minister residing at the east has just made the following statement, which is herewith reprinted entire:

To the Editor of the Herald:

I have always shrunk from appearing prominently before the public, but a sense of the duty I owe humanity and the world prompts me to ask this opportunity for making a brief statement in your paper.

Whether it be true with others I cannot say, but during my entire life I have frequently been conscious that something was slowly and silently working to undermine my health and life. What it was I could not tell, but that some enemy of my being was devouring me within I was certain. At times I would seem comparatively well and then I would be attacked with the most distressing symptoms. I would feel peculiar pains in various parts of my body, my head would seem heavy; my respiration labored; my appetite would be ravenous one day and I would loathe food the day following. Then again I would lose all interest in life; would feel weary without exertion; would become sleepy at mid-day and restless at night. Occasionally my breathing would be labored and my heart almost motionless, while at other times it would palpitate violently. I thought these troubles were the result of malaria, and I treated them accordingly, but I got no better. Shortly afterward my stomach became deranged, my food failed to digest, and the fluids I passed were of a peculiar odor and color, and yet I did not realize that these meant anything serious. Finally I consulted a number of eminent physicians, each of whom took a different view as to the cause of my troubles. One said I was suffering from brain disease; another spinal difficulty; others heart affection, kidney disease, etc. My symptoms were terrible, and in the hope of relief I was cauterised, cupped, blistered and subjected to almost every known form of treatment. During one of these attacks, while at Red Bank, N. J., a physician was called, and left a prescription. After he had gone, I requested a friend to go and ask him what he thought of my trouble. The reply was: "Oh, he will be all right in a few days; it is only an attack of delirium tremens." He was at once informed that this was impossible, as I had never used any kind of intoxicating drinks; whereupon he returned, make inquiries, and changed his prescription. But all the care of my friends and physicians availed nothing. I grew worse constantly, and what is more terrible to think of, I did not know what ailed me, nor could I find any one who did.

During the summer and fall of last year my pulse ranged from 120 to 130 per minute; I had no relish for food, and was indeed a most pitable object. I continued in this state until last December, when I became unconscious and lost my reason, though I had two physicians in whom myself and friends placed implicit confidence. In this condition I was taken to Brattleboro, Vt., for the purpose of being placed in the insane asylum. I remained there until last March, being attended all the while by my faithful wife, who never left me and believed that some disease, and not insanity, was the cause of all my trouble. I regained consciousness in March last and insisted upon being taken home. The physicians advised that I remain, but I insisted upon leaving, and we began the journey, traveling slowly. I was met at the dock by a friend who I recognized, and then I became again unconscious and remained so for over a week. When I once more recognized my friend and knew my surroundings I determined to try, as a last resort, a treatment of which I had heard much but knew nothing. Neither myself nor friends had much faith that it or anything could help me, but we resolved to try. We accordingly dismissed the physicians, gave up all other remedies, and I rejoice to say that with the blessing of Him who guided us, I am to-day a well man; having not been so vigorous for many years, and I owe it all to the wonderful, almost miraculous, power of Warner's Safe Kidney Cure, the remedy which I used.

You can well imagine how grateful I must feel under the circumstances, and, like a new convert, I earnestly desire that all who are suffering should know and avail themselves of this means of recovery. Had it not been for the remedy above named I should doubtless now be within the walls of an asylum or in my grave. The great trouble with my case was that no one seemed to know what I was afflicted with, and I am positive that thousands of people in America to-day are in the same or a similar condition, and do not know its cause. Kidney troubles are the most deceptive of all diseases. They have no symptoms of their own, but often show the symptoms of nearly every known complaint. I know that people are dying every day from supposed consumption, apoplexy, heart disease, spinal complaint, and many other diseases, when, could the real cause be known, it would be found to originate in the kidneys. In their advanced stages kidney troubles are the most terrible of all known maladies, as my own experience can fully verify. That I had Bright's disease of the kidneys there can be no doubt. That the symptoms were those of many other diseases is equally certain, and that I was doomed to a terrible death had I not been saved as I was, I am positive. The following letters, just received, confirm this:

Vermont Asylum for the Insane,
Brattleboro, Vermont, Oct. 30, 1882.

REV. E. D. HOPKINS:

Dear Sir: Yours of the 21st inst. received. We congratulate you not only upon the continuance of your health, but also upon its apparent continual improvement. Few persons, I think, have passed through so exhausting an experience as you and rallied from it. Certainly I cannot recall one who came to us in so critical, and for days and even weeks in so hopeless a state for amendment as you, and who survived and recovered from it; for, I think, you may now consider yourself recovered and no longer on the convalescent list. Hoping for the continuance of your present health, with the best wishes from all here.

I am, yours truly,
J. DRAPER.

OLEANS, N. Y., Nov. 4, 1882.

My Dear Friend: Replying to your letter I would say, I have been acquainted with my highly valued friend, the Rev. S. D. Hopkins, about eighteen months, and very intimately acquainted for about six months past. For a little more than five months he was an inmate of my house, and we enjoyed constant intercourse with each other. When he came in April last he was almost a perfect wreck in point of health. I thought he had come to us but to die. Soon afterwards he began the use of some of H. H. Warner & Co.'s remedies, namely: the Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, Safe Nervine and Safe Pills. From almost the time he began their use his improvement was very marked and wonderful, and when he left us, after having taken some two dozen bottles, he was like a new man. The change was the most remarkable I ever witnessed.

SAMUEL MILLER,
(Pastor of the Presbyterian Church.)

In view, therefore, of these facts and with a hope that all who read this may take timely warning, I make this open statement freely and for the good of my fellow men.

Sincerely,
(REV.) E. D. HOPKINS.
East Richford, Vt., Nov. 7, 1882.

The morality of domestic life is the very corner-stone of civilization.

It Heads the List

Of all other preparations or medicines. In cases of nausea, headache, dizziness or irregularities of the system, Burdock Blood Bitters have no equal. They never fail in affording immediate relief. Price $1.00.

Half the ills we hoard in our hearts are ills because we hoard them.

All Is Well That Ends Well.

Orin Catlin, 49 Pearl Street, Buffalo, N. Y., says: "I tried various remedies for the piles, but found no relief until I used Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which entirely cured me after a few applications."

Many objects appear of value to us only when they are beyond our reach.

THE INDEPENDENT.

THE INDEPENDENT needs only to be better known to add to its already large list of friends. It has been published for thirty-five years and has acquired a world-wide reputation as the best religious and literary newspaper.

The Independent is not denominational. Its creed and field are broader than any sect. As a Christian journal, its aim is to strengthen and extend Evangelical religion and to defend it against the attacks of Materialism, Atheism, and unbelief. It is free to approve or criticise in any of the denominations whatever it believes is designed to advance or hinder the progress of the Gospel of Christ.

In civil and political affairs The Independent will contend for sound ideas and principles. It fought against slavery and the iniquitous system of the Oneida Community. It is now fighting against Mormonism. It believes in reform of the civil service and tariff, in the purification of politics and in cheaper postage, and will maintain those principles which the highest ethics and best intelligence requires.

The Independent is designed to suit all tastes and wants. We provide weekly stories by the best magazine writers, poems by the leading poets of America and England (we first published in America Tennyson's last poem), and for others, who look especially for instruction, whether in religious, literary, educational, philosophical, or scientific articles, we furnish what no other periodical does or can. We pay large prices to obtain the most eminent writers. Besides the editorials there are 22 distinct departments, edited by twenty-two specialists, which include Biblical Research, Sanitary, Legal Fine Arts, Music, Science, Pebbles, Personalities, Ministerial Register, Hymn Notes, School and College, Literature, Religious Intelligence, Missions Sunday School, News of the Week, Finance, Commerce, Insurance, Stories, Puzzles, Selections, and Agriculture. 32 Pages in all.

We will report in full Rev. Joseph Cook's celebrated Boston Monday Lectures, which will begin in January. Mr. Cook has just returned from a two years' trip round the world, and his lectures this Winter will attract greater attention than ever.

OUR NEW TERMS FOR 1883.

One subscription one year	$3 00
For 6 months	1 50
For 3 months	75
One subscription two years	5 00
One subscription five years	10 00

These reduced prices ($2 per annum in clubs of five or more) are very much lower than any of the standard religious weeklies.

"TRIAL TRIP."

In order that one may read a few consecutive numbers of the The Independent, and thus learn its value, we offer a month's subscription, as a "Trial Trip," for 30 cents, which can be remitted by postage stamps. Payment of $2.70 in addition will secure the balance of a year's subscription.

Send postal card for free specimen copy and judge for yourself. Address

THE INDEPENDENT,
251 Broadway, New York.

FREE TRADE.

The Leading Feature of the Jackson Weekly Patriot,

For 1883, as for months past, will be an aggressive and fearless fight for

FREE TRADE!

THE FARMERS,
BUSINESS MEN, and the
LABORING CLASSES

Are deeply interested, financially and morally, in the intelligent discussion of the great and overshadowing issue of

TARIFF TAXATION,

THAT COLOSSAL INIQUITY which restricts our commerce, confers unjust privileges and unreasonable profits upon a small, favored, wealthy class at the expense of all other pursuits and industries, and enormously enhances the cost of living.

Some of the ablest writers in the country contribute to the columns of the PATRIOT, and it has been widely quoted in this and other states, and it will endeavor to stand very near the van in this contest.

The PATRIOT gives an average of about forty columns per week of reading, and is excelled in no particular as an interesting, comprehensive, news, market and family journal.

Published Wednesdays, at $1.50 per year, in advance, or $1.25 in clubs of ten. Subscriptions can commence at any time, as each number is complete in itself.

CARLTON & VAN ANTWERP, Publishers,
JACKSON, MICH.

NOW

IS THE TIME TO BUY,

KIES BROTHERS!

MAMMOTH STOCK

OF WINTER

CLOTHING,

Must be sold by JANUARY 1st.

NOW FOR BARGAINS.

Now is the time to Clothe your Boys.

Remember that our Stock of
FURNISHING GOODS,
HATS AND CAPS
Can not be Beat.

KIES BROS.,

ONE PRICE CLOTHIERS,
Mills Block, TECUMSEH, MICH.

LEE'S

LEE

Is going to move to BATTLE CREEK

January 1st.

ENTIRE STOCK OF

BOOTS & SHOES

TO BE SOLD AT

20 PER CENT, OFF.

SALE TO BEGIN

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 16,

And continue until the entire stock is disposed of.

STORE TO RENT.

Terms STRICTLY CASH. All goods marked in plain figures.

REMEMBER THE PLACE!!

HEWITT'S BLOCK.

BUY,
ERS!
OK
R
NG,
1st.
AINS.
your Boys.
S,
S AND CAPS
DS.,
ERS,
HICH.
S
E CREEK
t.
HOES
OFF.
BER 16,
posed of.
n plain figures.
LACE!!
K.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

LOST.

On Chicago Street, between Herald office and Post-office, a lady's black, woolen, Mitten. The finder will please leave at the HERALD office.

CASH

Paid for a number of choice Turkeys and Chickens. W. H. SINK.

FOR SALE.

A new parlor suit for sale very cheap. Enquire at the Exchange hotel. J. H. EMERY.

FOR SALE.

80 acres of good land situated 3 miles Southeast of Tecumseh on section 1 in Raisin. For particulars enquire of C. D. BILLS.

DISSOLUTION.

The firm of Bouck & Peters, Blacksmiths, at Franklin Center, has this day been dissolved by mutual consent, Mr. Bouck retiring. All accounts due the firm will be collected by Mr. Peters, who will continue the business at the old stand.

A. J. BOUCK,
A. F. PETERS.

Franklin, Mich., Nov. 25, 1882.

FRANK FULLER and daughter started for Fulton, N. Y., Tuesday.

THE Southern Michigan Medical Association meets in Adrian on Tuesday, Dec. 12th.

CARL BERGER, who has been traveling with Hicks, selling scales, for the past four months, returned to his home in this village on Monday last.

EDDIE OSGOOD, of Macon, shot 19 quail at one shot yesterday, besides shooting one on the wing with the other barrel. Who can beat this?

TWENTY-SEVEN years ago Miss Alice Chaplin taught in school district No. 4. Now, her daughter, Miss Eugenia Church, is teaching in the same district.

THE contractor for the section of the T. & M. railroad running through Tecumseh arrived here last night, with mules, horses and men, and intends to commence the work on Monday next.

FIVE years ago Tuesday Miss Emma Knapp became Mrs. Wallace Witheral, and in honor of the event they celebrated their fifth anniversary last Tuesday, afternoon and evening, at their home in Franklin.

UNDER the auspicies of the East Raisin Library Society, a basket social will be held at the residence of D. P. Anthony, Esq., on Friday evening, Dec. 8th. The ladies are requested to furnish refreshments. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

LAST Sabbath a well-known Troy pastor advised the ladies in his congregation to wear to church such wraps as might be easily removed during the service, and put on when leaving church. He preferred to see a lady get up and take off a sacque than to run the risk of getting cold by wearing it in a warm church. At this season, particularly, he advises care in this matter. The reverend gentleman showed himself to be a careful observer, and his remarks apply to other congregations as well as his own, as all the ladies will acknowledge.

IN the Tecumseh news for the Adrian Times, of last Tuesday, appears a little article, away down at the end of the correspondence, rather "giving away" one of the boys of our town. Personal items of this kind seem of late to occupy a large share of the space alloted to the Tecumseh news contributed to the Adrian Times. In a measure, perhaps, it serves as a good joke. We all of us can smile and think how nicely our neighbor has been "given away," but then we think of the old maxim: "It's a poor rule that won't work both ways," and perhaps even if this gentleman who writes so beautifully for our spicy evening daily should think over his life for some little distance in the past, he could call to mind some slight occurrences which would not be pleasant for him should they be published. Such articles do no one any good; and although, considering the weight of the articles, no one could be harmed, yet such things are unpleasant, not only for the victim himself, but for his friends and all persons who respect fairness and respectability.

The Old Court House.

In addition to the history of the burning of the old Lenawee County Court House, which we published last week, the Adrian Record adds the following: "Seth Ber on (the name of the Madison horse t ief) never made his home here after t e fire. A good story was told severa years ago about a prominent officer here, who learned that Seth was secretly visiting this region, and determined to arrest him. The officer soon struck his trail and followed it so closely that he finally overhauled Seth and proposed to bring him in. When Seth found that something must be done, and that very soon, he took $100 in currency out of his pocket and said, 'Do you see me?' The officer said, 'Yes, Seth, I am looking right at you.' Seth again went into his pockets and produced another $100. 'Do you see me now, ——?' 'Yes,' says the officer, 'I see you.' Seth then took out all the currency he had, amounting to about $500 and tendered it to the officer. 'Now do you see me?' This time the officer reached out his hand, and looked at the heavens and replied, 'No, Seth, I don't see you!' Seth left the money, made himself scarce, and the officer never succeeded in capturing him."

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

TECUMSEH, MICH. NOV. 30, 1882.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

TAX time approacheth near.

THE snow birds are with us.

VENNOR says it will be a cold winter.

TO-MORROW will be the first day of winter.

CHRISTMAS three weeks from next Monday.

CORN husking yarns are all the rage at present.

THE coal-dealers and wood haulers look cheerful.

BOYS, get your skates strapped up and your sleds in order.

THIS weather will discourage the much talked of wheat insect.

CHRISTMAS gifts this year are more beautiful and costly than ever.

THE sleigh bells jingled for the first time this winter on Sunday last.

RAILROAD travel is very large just now, and steadily on the increase.

THERE was a very large crowd of people in Tecumseh last Saturday.

OUR young people had a very pleasant dancing party at Bidwell's hall last Thursday evening.

SEND the HERALD for one year to some friend as a New Year's present. It will be appreciated.

IF you want to help your town, buy goods at home and encourage men in building up a good business.

FRANK E. WHITNEY, of Hudson, has received an appointment to the railway mail service in Utah.

—MORENCI wants a vocal music teacher, and the Evening Record feelingly suggests the name of Prof. Tom S. Cat.

MRS. C. PATTERSON, who has been visiting in the northern part of the State, for some days past, returned last Saturday.

IT don't pay to take a baby to an entertainment in Coldwater. "Children in arms to any part of the house, 75 cents," is the rate at Tibbit's opera house.

DENNIS, of the Jonesville Gazette, wants a partner, he wants a good practical printer, who has some ready cash, and one who will do his share of the work.

PEDESTRIANISM is in vogue among fashionable people, and it is now the proper thing for young ladies to take constitutional morning walks. Health is at last being duly considered.

THE approach of winter drives the human heart within, and so we have church socials and suppers ahead till you can't rest. Yes, and the temperance suppers, cotillon parties, etc.

Manchester Enterprise: A man living in a little town about the size of Manchester, upon being asked what means his village had for extinguishing fires, replied, "Oh, it rains occasionally."

THE editor of the Ann Arbor Argus is happy and contented, and says he will defy the cold and chilly blasts of winter, for he has plenty of buckwheat flour, a barrel of cider, and one-half a barrel of sourkraut.

XMAS is near by. Of course all the little ones are waiting anxiously for the grand display of holiday goods and toys by our merchants. They will announce their "opening day" through the HERALD in due season. All will be able to buy presents this prolific year.

TOWNSHIP treasurers will find it to their advantage to get their tax receipts printed at the HERALD office. We can furnish any form desired, and bind the receipts in books of one hundred or more each. Do not send away for your tax receipts when you can get a better article for the same money at home.

IN speaking of the T. & M. railroad the Marshall Statesman says that a gang of men commenced work on the grade on the farm of Z. Umstadt, a little west of Marshall, and on various other points on the line. It is designed to do as much work as possible on the light grades before cold weather, reserving the deep cuts, marshes, etc., till winter.

Santa Claus is said to be putting in a large stoch of Noyes Dictionary Holders and Noyes Handy Tables among his holiday supplies for this year. This is well. No more appropriate and acceptable presents can be made at so small a cost. The prices are greatly reduced. A large illustrated circular will be sent free on application to L. W. Noyes, 99 West Monroe St. Chicago.

FRANK MILLER, of Brooklyn, was stabbed one day last week by Windle Smith, with a double-edged dirk, the knife passing through his necktie and shirt, striking the breast bone near the top, glancing downward and outwards, entering the lung cavity between the first and second ribs. From the fact that Mr. Miller complains of severe pain and numbness in the right arm and leg it is supposed that the knife reached the spine.

MISS L. M. WATTS is visiting friends in Ann Arbor.

THANKS to Morg. Miller for a roll of late California papers.

ATTEND the entertainment at the Opera House this evening.

A NUMBER of our masons visited the Clinton chapter last week.

THIS being a legal holiday the banks remained closed all day.

LAST Saturday night we had the first heavy snow storm of the winter.

JOHN DUNBAR, of this village, has purchased a farm of F. Reinhart, in Logan valley.

IF every body has not got their fall work done this season they cannot blame the weather for it.

LEE POMEROY, of Clinton, has accepted a position in the freight office of the railroad in this village.

THERE is a settlement near Deerfield named Baxterville in honor of one of our citizens, Hon. B. L. Baxter.

A NUMBER of our young people are going to Adrian this evening to attend a party given by the J. de V. club.

IT is estimated that 2,375,169 turkeys in the United States of America have gobbled their last gobble and were gobbled to-day.

BERT HAUSE and Frank Snedecor, who have been travelling with L. F. Wheeler, returned to their homes in this village last Monday.

WANTED—by the HERALD—an advertisement from every merchantile business house and mechanic's shop in Tecumseh. It will be a paying investment to each individual.

IF any person, coming to town, leaving town, or having friends visiting them, will drop us a card, or send a note to the office, stating the facts, they will aid very materially in rendering these columns still more interesting. We would be pleased to have them do so.

OUR stock of Christmas Cards is arriving from different places this week and about Dec. 1st we shall place them on sale. The stock consists of a fine collection of Prang's cards, and among them all the prize cards. In all we shall show the finest line of Holiday Cards ever on sale in Lenawee, and we invite the public generally to call and see them.

OUR Young People is a new juvenile magazine just started by Mast, Crowell & Kilpatrick, at Springfield, Ohio. It is a very neat looking pamphlet well filled with illustrations and reading matter that will be of interest to the younger members of the family. Subscription price only $1 a year, and it is published twice a month. Send to the publishers for a sample copy.

THE Lake Shore & Michigan Southern have just completed a Y at the crossing of the Jackson and Fort Wayne branches in Jackson, thereby connecting the two, and a circular was issued announcing that on Wednesday morning, November 29, they will begin to run the passenger trains of both branches to the depot of the Fort Wayne branch, all freight trains to the Jackson branch depot.

WE believe the following description of a bicycle is a base slander. It came from the east and is traveling westward. If it is a fraud we hope some of our western bicyclers will nail it. Here it is: "The bicycle is a slender, graceful, and altogether a harmless arrangement, chiefly composed of two wheels turned by two cranks, one of which is seated in a little saddle and operates the other crank with his feet."

BY a late city of New York ordinance no dealer can send to or expose for sale any turkeys or chickens in that market, unless their crops are free from food and shrunken close to their bodies, or they (the turkeys, etc., not the dealers,) will be seized and condemed. A penalty of $5 for each offense also attaches to the law. This enactment might convey a hint to people bringing poultry into village markets as well. New Yorkers are not the only people to spleen against tainted fowls.

Hudson Gazette: When a Tecumseh man wants to get rid of an ill-starred horse he drives over to Adrian, and meeting a county-seat man with a good animal, says, "let's change horses a bit, and then talk trade if we want to." That's the way one Ross came it on W. S. Wilson, of the booming town But he didn't stop to talk trade—just called it an even swap, and drove off like Jehu. Two or three active deputy Sheriffs brought Ross to his senses, however, and also brought him back to Adrian and put him in jail.

A SOCIETY of seventeen of Monroe's first young ladies met a few weeks since and organized a cooking club or school, the object af which combines both pleasure and profit. Each member is required to take some article cooked by themselves to the place of meeting, and other dishes are there prepared, and as soon as all is ready a grand feast is indulged in. Critics are appointed to discover any defect in the composition of any dish, and to act as general fault-finders. Why would it not be a good idea for our Tecumseh girls to organize such a society.

MISS LIZZIE BAUER is visiting friends in Monroe.

THE many friends of Miss Carrie Knox are glad to see her in Tecumseh again.

Two of Adrian's citizens, Bidleman & Berry, are the patentees of an improved appliance for burning crude oil as fuel.

A YOUNG man clad in greenish gray clothes and a winning smile has been fooling the merchants of Quincy and Coldwater on the old, yet ever puzzling, dodge of bewildering them in making change. His plan always results in the merchant being mulched just 95 cents, and he can make $20 a day at it.

Clinton News: Yesterday afternoon a little four year old son of George Williams drank by mistake some washing fluid, which happened to be on the table. The fluid consisted of kerosene oil, concentrated lye, salts of tartar and spirits of ammonia, and of course the fiery stuff burned the little fellow's mouth and stomach very seriously.

IT is a peculiar fact that persons taking out naturalization papers now cannot vote until the spring of 1884.—Papers must be issued six months previous to an election, and a paper issued now will not allow the holder to vote next April, and there being no election next fall, the privilege to cast a ballot will not present itself until April, 1884.

NEXT week, being the first week in December, we shall commence our usual holiday edition, which will continue during the month of December. This will give the merchants of Tecumseh ample opportunity to advertise their goods, and yet give the readers of the Herald more reading matter than usual. Our twelve page holiday editions have heretofore proved a grand success, and we trust this one will not fall behind.

LAST Saturday evening, about 7 o'clock, a person standing on Chicago street might have seen the whole business portion east of the railroad seemingly turned inside out; a tremendous crowd of men and boys were following something, and this something proved to be one Orrin Gilman, who had partaken a little too freely of Undertaker's tonic, and was wending his way slowly, but surely, to our "Haven of Rest," one door south of Strong & McNair's clothing store. He held a "Jack full," but dropped "Three fives" to 'Squire Burridge's call.

Deerfield Record: A stranger, who represented himself to be a drover, appeared at the livery stable on Tuesday of last week, and hired a double rig to run about the country in search of fat cows. Not returning at the specified time, Joe Bragg started out on the road Sunday to hunt up the festive drover, but only succeeded in tracing him to Palmyra, where all further track was lost. The team was the best in the livery, ditto the buggy and equipments, and were valued at $300. The man is described as about 50 years of age, with one blind eye, and was well dressed.

IT really is no easy task to select a line of Christmas presents, so as to insure that every little one shall get just what it will most appreciate, and none shall be unduly favored; and as the holiday season draws near, the careful mother feels, more than at any other time, the need of some reliable manual, by referring to which she may know just what is to be had, and just what everything will cost. And, luckily, in this age of journalistic enterprise, the very thing she wants lies ready to her hand. For the winter number of the FASHION QUARTERLY is out, and a copy can be had for only fifteen cents. Within the compass of its ninety odd pages are illustrations of every kind and description of Christmas gifts; from the rattle or toy reins for the three-year-old infant, up to the gold-headed cane or dressing-gown for papa, or the long-wished-for watch for mamma. The Fashion Quarterly is published by Messrs. Ehrich Bros., of New York, at 50 cents a year, or 15 cents a copy.

AN exchange truthfully remarks that were there a little more interest taken in our schools by the parents of those children who attend the various departments, the pupils themselves would become interested and attend more strictly to their duties. It would tend to induce the children to strive for the mastery in whatever they might undertake, that it might make a good showing before their parents and those visiting the schools as possible. It would also show to the teachers that their efforts to instruct the children were appreciated by those most interested. We believe that if this policy was adopted by parents generally, especially those who have plenty of time at their disposal, that great good would result therefrom.—Nothing will please the children as much as to know that their parents appreciate their efforts in whatever they undertake, and nothing will stimulate them to greater exertions to accomplish the same. Visit the school which your children are attending and see if it is not as we tell you. It certainly can do you no harm and it will do them great good.

GUS COWLEY, of Hudson, is shaking hands with his Tecumseh friends, having arrived in our village yesterday.

W. E. SMITH is building an addition to his house, in the west part of the township, and otherwise improving the same.

REV. MR. CONLEY will address the meeting at the Reform Club Hall, in Heesen's block, next Sabbath, at 3 o'clock p. m. All are cordially invited.

REV. R. S. PARDINGTON will preach Sabbath evening on, "Noah—the Ark and the Flood," and will deal with some of the scientific questions involved.

THE Tecumseh correspondent of the Adrian Times says, and we suppose of course he is a responsible party, that John Gilchrist intends to enter the theological class in the Oberlin college. We heartily wish Mr. G. success in his new departure, and how gladly will we address our paper to Rev. John Gilchrist.

Michigan crop report for November shows the condition of wheat to be 92 per cent of the average, the area seeded down being a little less than in the fall of 1881. Acreage of corn, over 800,000; estimated yield, 27,500,000 bushels. Acreage of oats, over 480,000; yield, about 15,400,000 bushels. Wheat marketed in the four months of July, August, September and October, 4,214,257 bushels.

A LARGE city advertiser makes the following sensible remarks which bear their own interpretation: "If you have a good, live advertisement running through your local paper, you have hundreds of servants out at work for you, whether you wake or sleep, whether you be sick or well. No monarch's slaves ever scattered at his bidding so fleetly or faithfully, or in such bewildering numbers, as the literary messengers that bear your individual word to the people."

THERE is a man living up in Franklin named A. J. Bouch, who wields a blacksmith hammer for a living, and can at times do as good a job of horse-shoeing as any man in the county. He frequently visits our quiet town, and as often as he does so manages to fill up to the collar with everything from raw rum to Cronk's beer, Last week he arrived in the city bright and early, with a light heart, fifteen cents in his pocket, and a firm determination to have a glorious time before evening. His fifteen cents seemed to hold out pretty well, and before night he brought up in one of our saloons, kicked up a disturbance, drew a revolver and fully determined to take possession of the whole concern and start in business for himself. The young man who was tending bar seemed to be of a different opinion and immediately knocked down the Franklin warrior, took away his pistol, and in about ten minutes had him in a condition that would do honor to a sausage machine.

The meeting of the directors of the New York, Chicago & St. Louis, or Nickle Plate, road, in New York, Tuesday, resulted only in the election of General Devereux and Judge Burke to the board. Gen. Devereux is reported in the New York Times to have said: "The Nickel Plate will be run as an independent road. It was bought by gentlemen interested in the Columbus, Hocking Valley & Toledo, and the Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati & Indianapolis Railroad, and would naturally run in connection with them. It would form a through line with the Wabash system and the roads centering in Chicago and running east from Buffalo. When asked what truth there was in the common report that the purchase was made for Vanderbilt, Judge Burke smiled and said the road must necessarily be operated in opposition to the Lake Shore and Canada Southern, as well as the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne & Chicago, and the New York, Pennsylvania & Ohio, while at the same time, it need not be used to wage war upon them.

A Religious Newspaper.

We desire to call the attention of our readers to one of the largest, ablest, and most popular religious newspapers published—one that secures the best writers in this country and Europe, regardless of expense; has the best and fullest reviews of any paper in the country; has able articles upon financial and commercial subjects; has departments edited by specialists and devoted to Fine Arts, Music, Science, Religious intelligence, Missions, School and College, News of the Week, Hymn Notes, the Sunday-school, Legal and Sanitary questions, Biblical Research (something that cannot be found in any other newspaper in the United States), Farm and Garden, Insurance, Weekly Market Reports, etc.—In fact, a newspaper which, with its twenty-two distinct departments, is suited to the requirements of every family, containing a fund of information which cannot be had in any other shape, and having a wide circulation all over the country and in Europe. We refer to The Independent, of New York, now called "The largest, the ablest, the best." See advertisement, in another column, and send a postal card for free specimen copy.

AUCTION SALES.

James H. Graves, living near Tecumseh, will sell at Auction at his residence 3 miles north of the city of Adrian, Red Mill road, on Tuesday, Dec. 12th, 1882, at 10 o'clock, A. M., the following property: Horse, mare, 2 colts, yoke of oxen, 4 cows, 2 yearling steers, yearling heifer, 2 calves, 8 pigs, 186 sheep, lumber wagon, double harness, platform spring wagon, Buckeye twine binder, mower and reaper, grain drill, horse hay rake, Cassady sulky plow, spring-tooth harrow, roller, wheel cultivator, fanning mill, platform scales, hand plow, drag, double shovel cultivator, bob sleighs, grindstone, x saw, hay rack, quantity hay, 15 acres corn fodder, 700 bushels of corn, 10 bush. Russian oats, Burdette organ, household goods, &c.—Usual terms. Ben Reynolds, auc.

G. W. McCollum will sell at auction on the premises 2 miles east and 2 miles north of Franklin Center, on Thursday, Dec. 7th, 1882, at 12 o'clock M., the following property. 2 horses, 2 year old colt, cow, heifer, calf, 2 sows, 6 pigs, quantity poultry, 20 sheep, lumber wagon, spring wagon, buggy, double harness, Royce reaper, Wood mower, bob-sleighs, hay rake, 2 plows, 2 harrows, cultivators, corn sheller, fanning mill, quantity of hay and corn, &c. Usual terms. Ben Reynolds, auc.

—December will be a bargain month at A. B. Cotton's.

—We have a five years' lease of the lumber yard on Shawnee street, near the depot, besides being the sole owners of the Planing Mill and Sash and Door factory, corner of Pearl and Shawnee streets, formerly owned by S. W. Temple. We have come to stay, to do an honest, legitimate business, and cordially invite the people to call on us and make our acquaintance. We are bound to please.

Respectfully,
TECUMSEH LUMBER CO.

—Dress Goods at Bargains.
A. B. Cotton.

—Parties wishing floral decorations for weddings, funerals or other uses, will be promptly supplied by leaving orders with J. J. Orr, at Wright's drug store. Elmer D. Smith.

—The Tecumseh Lumber Co. having purchased the entire property, real estate included, formerly known as the S. W. Temple Planing and Matching Mill, are now prepared to manufacture all kinds of Sash, Doors, Blinds and Mouldings, and do matching of any description. Come and see us

—Leave your orders for Sash, Doors, blinds, mouldings, window frames, tanks, troughs, etc., etc., with the Tecumseh Lumber Co. They will receive prompt attention.

—Those wishing ornamental Hair Jewelry, for Holiday gifts, should call on Mrs. C. M. Webster, one door north of the Presbyterian church.

—Call at the yard and mill of the Tecumseh Lumber Co., and examine their stock.

—Call at my residence, one door north of the Presbyterian church, and see samples of Ornamental Hair Jewelry. MRS. C. M. WEBSTER.

—My business is such I am unable to leave Tecumseh. Clinton patrons please call on me at home.

Brown, the Photographer.

DIED.

GARDNER.—At her home in this village, on the 5th inst., Mrs. Mary S. Gardner. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. C. E. Conley.

Before the sermon, from the text: "All the promises of God in Him are yea, and in Him Amen," (2 Cor., 1:20), he read the following obituary: The birth of her whose remains we carry to the city of the dead to-day occurred Feb. 26th, 1810, in Eastern township, Washington County, N. Y. Her decease took place on the 5th inst. Hence her earthly pilgrimage extended over a period of 8 months and 9 days more than 72 years. At the age of 28 she was married to Daniel W. Gardner, in the city of Auburn, N. Y. Seventeen years later she and hers removed to Michigan, settling in Fairfield, this county, where she found a home for three years. For the next twelve years Hudson was her home. In 1876 a new home was again sought and found in our own beautiful village. In this home she dwelt from that time until the time she was taken to dwell in that house that is not made with hands. Thrice has she been called to lay away a babe in the silent grave to await the resurrection; for "of such is the Kingdom of Heaven." Of the four remaining children, all of whom reached manhood and womanhood, three remain to mourn; the other, a daughter, passed into the silent land a little more than a year ago, preceded by her father nearly two years. Although the health of the deceased had been feeble for years, yet her death was sudden. On Tuesday she became violently ill. Medical skill did its utmost to afford relief and to avert the threatened dissolution, but it strove in vain, and during the peaceful silence of last Lord's day she fell asleep. For some days before her last illness, she seemed to have a mysterious but certain premonition that the last of earth for her was near at hand. So it proved. Death came, and to her he was not an unexpected nor an unwelcome messenger. In early life she gave her heart to the Savior. Her consistency and faithfulness, as a follower of the meek and lowly One is attested by those who knew her best. "Her children arise up and call her blessed."

Bertie.

Drop the blind, and draw the curtain
Close about the lattice entry
How the Norther wails and clamors,
And the night is black and sterile!
There are ghosts abroad—the spectres
Of the happy long ago:
Wraiths that rise to haunt me ever
When the dreary north winds blow,
As in winters long ago!

Hark! was that the wind rain falling
In the dark, deserted street?
Or the fitful pit-a-patter
Of a baby's restless feet?
Was that cry a ghosty murmur
Of the wind with its moan?
Or a phantom voice that may upon
From the depths of years alone
When the rain is at the door?

From the hollow darkness resounding,
Tender arms my neck entwine,
Babyish wrinkles brush my worn cheek,
Baby lips are pressed to mine;
Nay, 'tis but a haunting memory
Cheats my hungry heart's despair!
Yonder stands his shrouded cradle,
And his little empty chair
Mocks my hungry heart's despair!

Yet he comes to me ever
When the night and darkness fall,
When the wild winds shriek and clamor,
And the rain is over all.
While I count my hoarded treasures—
Precious trifles dear to me!—
Sunny curl, or half-worn garment
Rich with cunning broidery—
All of him that is left to me!

Battered toys and baby's picture,
With "Our darling" scrawled beneath,
And his rosy coral, dotted
With the prints of little teeth.
Oh, the dainty, scarlet stocking!
Oh, the tiny silken shoe—
Worn threadbare, where I so often
Kissed the pink toes peeping thro'—
Baby's first, enchanting shoe!

So with loving hands I take them
From their secret hiding-place;
Turn them over with lingering touches—
Kiss the chubby pictured face;
While the salt tears, slow and bitter,
Wrung from mother-hood's despair,
Fall upon his shrouded cradle;
And his little empty chair
Mocks my hungry heart's despair!

WHO IS MISTRESS?

"Trouble?" said Mrs. Jenkins.

"Oh no, I don't expect any trouble. Simon has been married twice before, you know, and I never had any trouble with his wives."

And she extended her cup for a little more tea, while the other ladies regarded her with an air of mild admiration and respect.

The fact that Simon Jenkins had bought the land and built the house made no apparent difference in the ownership of his mother, who was one of those terrible old ladies with a Roman nose, a dyed front, and eagle blue eyes, who seem born to rule.

Nor was the respect of her contemporaries lessened by the fact that two Mrs. Simon Jenkinses had risen like feeble stars upon her moon-like horizon, faintly contested the palm of victory with her, and alike sunk into oblivion. And now there was a third planet dimly drawing on the scene.

"The present Mrs. Simon Jenkins is a city lady, I understand," said Mrs. Crowe, who was ladling out the plum preserves.

"A school-teacher," said Mrs. Jenkins.

"Very handsome, I have heard," remarked Mrs. Badgerly.

"So I am told," said Mrs. Jenkins.

"Well," signed Miss Clarissa Copley, who had always been suspected of a secret affection for the tall good-looking young widower, "I do hope Mr. Simon will be happy."

"So do I," said Mrs. Jenkins. And then there was a pause, after which the conversation began anew on the subject of Mrs. Dr. Dodinus' new parlor furniture, while pretty Alcia Jenkins, the bride, even then on her northward way, seated in a luxurious Pullman-car, with a novel and a bunch of Jacqueminot roses in her lap, was playfully questioning her husband as to the new home which she was rapidly approaching.

"Is it a cottage, Simon?" she asked.

"Oh, it is not exactly a cottage, all covered with honeysuckles, with lozenge-shaped window-panes, in ruby-stained glass."

"Why, it's not exactly a cottage, dear," with a little shrug of disappointed.

"But I [illegible] the stained [illegible] and I know I [illegible] in the garden."

"Shall I like Mrs. Simon?"

"I think so, dear" (still abstractedly).

"Does your mother live near us?" asked Alcia, burying her pretty little nose in the blood-red roses.

Mr. Jenkins roused himself at last.

"Didn't I mention it?" said he sheepishly. "No I don't think I did, by the way. She lives with me."

"Lives with us! Your mother?" And Alcia opened her eyes wide at this very unexpected revelation.

"I'm sure you'll like her," said Mr. Jenkins, turning very red. "She is a very agreeable old lady."

Alcia was silent a minute or two before she asked, in rather a constrained tone:

"Why have you never told me this before?"

"Well, it didn't occur to me," said Simon, taking refuge in the basest assumption of indifference. "Of course you'll get along famously together. My two first wives did!"

"They both died. I believe," said Alcia drily.

"Mary was consumptive, poor darling," said Simon, biting his lip. "And Kate had always suffered, since her childhood, from heart disease."

The tears came into Alcia's bright eyes.

"Dear Simon," said she, "how much you must have suffered! Do pray pardon my foolish levity, and I will never, never speak so unfeelingly again. But you know one has a natural prejudice against mothers-in-law."

That was all she said. And Simon Jenkins, poor foolish fellow, fondly flattered himself that the crisis was over.

But he didn't know Alcia. Neither did he know the valiant spirit of his mother.

Mrs. Jenkins, senior, received Alcia with the air of a queen graciously welcoming a subject into the royal realm.

"I hope Simon," said she, "that your wife is not fatigued with her journey. I've had the little west room fitted up for her and you. It struck me that the big room with the bay window would make such an elegant guest chamber.—And——"

"Perhaps, mother," suggested Simon, "Alcia would like a cup of tea before she retires."

"Tea!" cried Mrs. Jenkens. "At ten o'clock at night! Does Mrs. Simon want to become a nervous invalid at once?—Besides I have let all the fires go down."

And Mrs. Simon Jenkins got no tea that night.

She rose very early the next morning and went out into the old-fashioned garden, where the first rosebuds were just bursting through their green calyxes, and the yellow daffodils glistened with dew.

"What shall I do?" she said to herself. "I love Simon with all my heart. I would have married him if he had forty mothers! But I can see this mother-in-law of mine has made up her mind to make trouble between us at set. Poor Simon is destined to be the battle-field over which we two must strive for supremacy—for I will never share my husband's heart and home with any woman!"

And after a long walk and much meditation, Mrs. Simon went in to breakfast with cheeks like roses and a serene brow.

"Simon," said she, "I believe I shall take that dear little north room for a studio. The light is perfect, and I think the dreamy rustle of those linden-trees would inspire the dullest imagination! And——"

"Quite out of the question," briskly interrupted Mrs. Jenkins, who had taken the seat behind the coffee-urn without even inquiring her daughter-in-law's wishes on the subject. "I have fitted that apartment for a linen-room ever since the house was built."

"And that lovely green lawn under the south window," calmly added Mrs. Simon, "it is the very place for a stone sundial!"

"Nonsense!" interjected Mrs. Jenkins.

Simon looked with troubled eyes from Alcia to his mother and then back again. But Alcia's smile was as sweet and imperturbed as if she had not heard her mother-in-law's remarks.

"There's going to be trouble," said Simon to himself. "I can feel the electricity in the air!"

And he hurried off to the office as soon after breakfast as he could.

Alcia remained downstairs to try the tone of the grand piano for a little while; but when she went up to her room she found her mother-in-law ruefully inspecting the piles of daintily embroidered clothing which the bride had left lying on the chairs and sofa.

"Ruffles!" she exclaimed dolorously, when she saw Alcia. "And flutings!—And tucks! And puffs! We have no Chinese laundries here, Mrs. Simon!"

"You have servants, I suppose?" carelessly uttered Alcia.

"Not enough to do up such fripperies as these!" sourly responded Mrs. Jenkins.

"You don't like them?" sweetly questioned Mrs. Simon.

"No!" was the sharp reply.

"What a blessing it is that you don't have to wear them!" said Alcia with a little yawn.

"Aren't you going to put up these things, Mrs. Simon?" sharply queried her mother-in-law.

"No," said the young wife serenely.

"Who is? For I suppose you didn't bring a lady's maid with you?" snapped the old lady.

"No one," calmly replied Alcia. "I am going to have them taken to the large room with the bay window, as soon as Rebecca is ready to attend me."

"Rebecca is my servant, and I shall allow no such performances!" said Mrs. Jenkins, turning very red.

"Rebecca is my husband's servant," corrected Mrs. Simon. "Paid with his money—and she will obey my orders, or I shall know the reason why."

At that moment the unfortunate Rebecca presented herself, all smiles, to do Mrs. Simon Jenkin's behests.

"Rebecca," said the bride, "you may carry these things to the big south room and arrange them in the drawers of the chiffonnier there."

"Rebecca!" shrieked Mrs. Jenkins, senior, "go back to your work this instant!"

Rebecca hesitated an instant looked from one Mrs. Jenkins to the other, and then took up the basket of laces and collars.

"Yes, m'm" said she, and tripped away down the hall, in obedience to Mrs. Simon's gestures.

"Who is mistress of this house?"—cried Mrs. Jenkins, half choked with rage.

"I am," said Alcia. "And I intend to rule it after my own fashion. I am no poor, pale consumptive to be bullied by a look, nor palpitating invalid, to tremble at a frown. I am a woman who knows her rights, and who intends that they shall be respected! If you don't like the manner in which I manage the house, you are at liberty to leave it!—But, as long as you choose to treat me with due respect, I shall be most happy to have you here as my guest!"

"As your guest!" gasped Mrs. Jenkins. "Never!"

"As you please," said Alcia indifferently.

"I'll leave the house first!"

"That is entirely for you to decide," said the bride.

And Mrs. Jenkins bounced out of the room and went straight to her son's law office.

"Simon," she sputtered, "I've been treated shamefully. That upstart girl——"

"Mother!"

There was a dangerous glitter in Simon's eye which warned his mother that she was skating on perilously thin ice.

"Mrs. Simon Jenkins," the old lady corrected herself, "has as good as turned me out of doors."

"I can hardly believe that mother," said Simon mildly.

"She has declared that she is mistress of the house," gasped Mrs. Jenkins.

"Well, and so she is," calmly asserted Simon.

"Ingrate!" tragically uttered the old lady. "Do I live to be thus defied from the lips of my own son?"

"Mother," said Simon, "do not be unreasonable. Alcia is right enough. In my house my wife must ever have the first place. You, as a dear and honored guest, will ever be welcome. But in the kingdom of home there can be but one queen!"

Mrs. Jenkins, senior, went home subdued and silent. She packed up her things, and set forth on a long visit to her sister.

When she came back she was a changed person, meeker than a lamb, and more mild than curds and whey.

And the village gossips whispered to one another that "Mrs. Jenkins had found her match in Simon's wife!"

While Alcia looking languingly into her husband's face, says:

"Didn't I do right, Simon?"

And he answers:

"Perfectly!"

Wooden Flour.

There is danger ahead for the milling fraternity, and it may be as well to take time by the forelock and prepare to meet it. Good Health says bread of mighty nutritious and palatable character may be made from wood. Think of this for a moment. When the price of wood pulp for paper manufacture falls below a profitable point, the pulp can be converted into flour, and this can be sold at a price far below that of flour. Why? Well, there will be no necessity for middling purifiers, as there will be no middlings; the germ will be so large it can be chopped out; the bran (bark) can be hewed off with a broadaxe. Big thing, ain't it? Here's the process:

"Every thing soluble in water is first removed by frequent maceration and boiling; the wood is then reduced to a minute state of revision, not merely into fine fibres, but actual powder; and afterbeing repeatedly subjected to heat in an oven, is ground in the usual manner of corn. Wood thus prepared acquires the smell and taste of corn-flour. It is, however, never quite white. It agrees with corn-flour in not fermenting without the addition of leaven, and in this case some leaven of corn-flour is found to answer best. With this it makes a perfectly uniform and spongy bread, and when it is thoroughly baked and has much crust it has a much better taste of bread than what in time of scarcity is prepared from the bran and husks of corn."

There has been at times great scarcity of medium and low grades of flour for export. There will be no need for this hereafter as exporters can cut down a few telegraph poles, wooden hitching posts, or even carry off their enemies' front doorsteps, convert them into a highly nutritious article of flour, and ship it abroad to supply the wants of the down-trodden laboring classes of Europe. When the manufacture of wood flour gets fairly under way, how would it do to convert the big Pillsbury and Washburn mills into a Miller's College. There might be something in this suggestion.—Milling World.

Prince Albert Coats For Ladies.

The oddest fashionable thing this fall, remarks "Clara Belle" in a letter from New York to the Cincinnati Enquirer, is that some of us are putting on Prince Albert coats. Everybody knows how stiff and awkward a man often looks in that conventional garment. Well, it will speak volumes for the inherent grace of women if they can wear it prettily, and I am inclined to think they can do so. The Prince Albert frock-coat, as worn by men for dress occasions in the daytime, is almost literally copied in women's cloth suits. This coat when feminized is medium long, double-breasted, buttoned from collar to waist line, has very slight plaiting in the middle back seam, with two buttons defining the waist; and is finished with silk binding, or with faced cut edges, precisely as men's coats are. Of course, the contour is quite different, but, for all that, the likeness is preserved. The tailor-made cloth suits usually worn with these coats are very little changed in style. The basque retains the habit shape, with single-breasted front, high cadet collar, square position back, slit pockets with arrow-heads worked at the ends, and stitched edges. The over-skirt has a wrinkled arm and single back drapery. The lower skirt is ornamented by three plaited fans, let in from the lines down on the front and side gores; or else there are triangular points cut in the bottom of the skirt to fall on a plaited flounce at the foot. It will be seen that the style is rather severe, and it should be left to softly-rounded if not absolutely pretty women, for its tendency is to heighten angularities. Smooth-finished ladies' cloth, serge cloth with fine twills, and mottled cloths and cheviots are the materials used, and the favorite colors are old green, dark brown, olive, black, and deep blue. If fur bands were to be added, as they very likely will be next winter, such suits would do for a larger number of women than can at present find them becoming.

They Were Determined to Get Married.

There is no use in trying to stop two "loving hearts" when they make up their minds to explore the mysteries of matrimony. The following are copies of letters which saw the light in a recent law proceeding in which a parent desired to "bust" a marriage. They are given verbatim et literatim:

HARNESVILLE Ga Aug the 21—Mr M—dear friend I will take the Pleasure of riting you a few lines to let you know that I am well at this time present and I hope these few lines will find you the same during, what you and I was talking about last night, she is willing to commit to nothing that I said darling less we go on and married and do the best that we can darling. Go this week and get License and next week let us marie Hunnie, I am willing to go any where and marie you for I love you and god know it darling right me to morrow off you please for I am Rothered to death about some thing I do no know what. Your darling,

T—M—

THE REPLY.

Sister arrie sais wee ought to go right on and Brother Gairy sais so too that it is no harm he sais so I mean what I say about this thing So I wish that you would right Back to me to morrow and let me new what you mean to do about it I think myself we ought to go and do what we are going to do and bee done with it. I am tired of being bused By the religious women and men too. well I guess I had better close looking for answer soon Mother says she is never going to Consent to give me up so we will marie next thursday night without fail.

Wright me word what dous you think about it and I will tell you where we will go to marie at.

Love is Hard and Love is True,
Still I can't Love now one but you.

Your friend M—G—

—Barnesville (Ga.) Gazette.

In the current number of The Penn Magazine of History and Biography, Mr. Townsend Ward says that the firm of Baynton, Wharton & Morgan, whose head, John Baynton, died in 1773, lost so much by Indian depredations that, it is said, they had assigned to them in compensation what now forms the state of Indiana.

A Gentle Voice.

Our enterprising druggists have secured the agency for the sale of Dr. Bigelow's Positive Cure, which has no superior for coughs, colds, consumption, whooping cough and all throat and lung diseases. To prove to you it has no equal, call at Baker & Hall's drug store and get a bottle free.

Everybody Knows It.

Everybody knows what red clover is. It has been used many years by the good old German women and physicians for the blood, and is known as the best blood purifier when properly prepared. Combined with other medicinal herbs and roots, it forms Dr. Jones' Red Clover Tonic, which is good for all blood disorders, torpid liver, costiveness and sick headache. Sure cure for pimples. Ask Baker & Hall, druggists, for it. Only fifty cts. a bottle.

A World Wants Proof.

"The proof of the pudding is the eating thereof," and not in chewing the string which tied the bag. Therefore, take Dr. Jones' Red Clover Tonic. It cures all blood disorders, torpid liver, sick headache, costiveness, and all diseases of the urinary organs. The best appetizer and tonic known. Sold by Baker & Hall. Fifty cents per bottle.

The Greatest Medicine of the Age.

Kellogg's Columbian Oil is a powerful remedy, which can be taken internally as well as externally by the tenderest infant. It cures almost instantly, is pleasant, acting directly upon the nervous system, causing a sudden buoyancy of the mind. In short, the wonderful effects of this wonderful remedy cannot be explained in written language. A single dose inhaled and taken according to directions will convince any one that it is all that is claimed for it. Warranted to cure the following diseases: Rheumatism or Kidney disease in any form, headache, toothache, earache, neuralgia, sprains, bruises, flesh wounds, bunions, burns, spinal affections, colic, cramping pains, cholera morbus, flux, diarrhœa, colds, bronchial affections, catarrh, and all aches and pains, external or internal. Full directions with each bottle. For sale by C. A. Wright & Co.

Relief Found at Last.

Carmel, Ind.

A. Kiefer—Dear Sir: I was afflicted with derangement of the Liver, which caused a general derangement of my whole system. Had three-day ague for two years, from which I found no relief until induced to try your Taraxine, which I am happy to say affected a cure. I am enjoying fine health and have had no ague for over one year. Yours, etc., John Jeffries.

Jealousy.

Some poet has said that "All torments of the damned we find is only thee, Oh, Jealousy, thou tyrant of the mind." This is grandly sweeping and magnificently inaccurate. Any sufferer from Indigestion knows to the contrary. Indigestion, the villian of the tragedy played upon the gastric juices of the stomach can, and does double discount the horrors of jealousy. Jealousy is often an attendant upon the later, and when indigestion is removed, this jaundiced companion of a deranged liver flies. Taraxine is the best known remedy extant for impaired digestion, deranged liver, and diseases of the bowels and kidneys.

For sale by all druggists.

Free to Everyone.

A 10c sample of Hill's Peerless Cough Syrup. We also sell the large bottles on an absolute guarantee. If not satisfied after using, return the empty bottle and we will refund your money. We also sell the Peerless Worm Specific on the same terms. No cure, no pay. Cobbs' Little Podophyllin Pills will cure headache, billiousness and constipation. No pay. One pill a dose.

C. A. Wright & Co.

The New Discovery.

Dr. Deming's Pile Ointment, the discovery of a physician of wide reputation, who has achieved the greatest success, the most conspicuous distinction, and the highest honors in his profession, is a sure cure for blind, bleeding, itching and ulcerated piles. A single box has frequently been known to cure the most obstinate case, and thousands who have used this great remedy attest its efficacy.—For sale by all druggists.

Griggs' Glycerine Salve.

The best on earth can truly be said of Griggs' Glycerine Salve, which is a sure cure for cuts, bruises, scalds, burns, wounds and all other sores. Will positively cure piles, tetter and all skin eruptions. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Only 25 cents. For sale by Baker & Hall.

Catarrh of the Bladder.

Stinging, smarting, irritation of the urinary passages, diseased discharges, cured by Buchupaiba. $1, at druggists. Mich. Depot, J. E. Davis & Co., Detroit, Mich.

"Buchupaiba."

New, quick, complete cure four days, urinary affections, smarting, frequent or difficult urination, kidney diseases. $1, at druggists. Michigan Depot, J. E. Davies & Co., Detroit, Mich.

Grand Central.

You can always find at the

Grand Central Supply STORE

—OF—

HENRY McCLURE,

The Largest and Best Selected STOCK OF

Groceries, Crockery,

Glassware, Lamps, &c.

IN TECUMSEH.

Teas a Specialty!

Canned Fruits of all Kinds.

In fact, anything in this line can be bought at west figures.

Chicago Street — HENRY McCLURE, TECUMSEH, MICH.

GET THE BEST!

RAIHBONE SARD & CO. ACORN STOVES & RANGES

LEAD ALL OTHERS!

Every Style & Price.

Guaranteed Unequaled FOR

OPERATION, ECONOMY, DURABILITY and WORKMANSHIP.

Improvements and Conveniences found in no others.

Always Reliable.

POPULAR EVERYWHERE.

For Sale in Every City and Town in the United States.

For Sale by SUTTON & SWAN.

The price of the following organ has been advanced to $125 since inserting this electrotype.

BEATTY ORGANS

27 Stops, 10 Sets Reeds, $90

The Famous Beethoven Organ contains 27 Stops, 10 Sets Reeds,

PRICE ONLY $90

Order now. Remit by Bank Draft, Post Office Money Order, or Registered Letter. Boxed and shipped without a Moment's Delay. Factory running day and night. Organs built on old plan, $30, $40, $50 to 11 stops. Catalogue Free. Address, DANIEL F. BEATTY, Washington, New Jersey.

CATARRH

HAY-FEVER

DIRECTIONS.

Insert with little finger a particle of the Balm into the nostrils; draw strong breaths through the nose. It will be absorbed.

Ely's Cream Balm effectually cleanses the nasal passages of Catarrhal virus, causing healthy secretions, allays inflammation, protects the membrane from additional colds, completely heals the sores and restores the sense of taste and smell. Beneficial results are realized by a few applications. A thorough treatment as directed will cure Catarrh, Hay Fever, &c.

Agreeable to Use.

Unequaled for Cold in the Head.

The Balm has gained an enviable reputation wherever known, displacing all other preparations.

RECOGNIZED AS A WONDERFUL REMEDY.

Sold by all druggists at 50 cents. On receipt of price will mail a package. Send for circular containing full information and reliable testimonials.

ELY CREAM BALM CO., Owego, N. Y.

1883.

Harper's Magazine.

ILLUSTRATED

Harper's Magazine begins its sixty-sixth volume with the December Number. It is not only the most popular illustrated periodical in America and England, but also the largest in its scheme, the most beautiful in its appearance, and the best magazine for the home. A new novel, entitled, For the Major, by Constance Fenimore Woolson, the author of Anne, was begun in the November Number. Its literary and artistic excellence the Magazine improves with each successive number. Special efforts have been made for the lighter entertainment of its readers through humorous stories, sketches, &c.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE, One Year $4 00
HARPER'S WEEKLY, " " 4 00
HARPER'S BAZAR, " " 4 00
The THREE above named publications, One Year 10 00
Any TWO above named, One Year 7 00
HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE, One Year 1 50
HARPER'S MAGAZINE, } HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE, } 5 00
HARPER'S FRANKLIN SQUARE LIBRARY, One Year (52 Numbers) 10 00

Postage free to all subscribers in the United States or Canada.

The Volumes of the Magazine begin with the Numbers for January and June. When no time is mentioned, it will be understood that the subscriber wishes to commence with the Number next after the receipt of order.

The last Eight Volumes of Harper's Magazine, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of $3 00 per volume. Cloth Cases, for binding, 50 cents each—by mail, postpaid.

Index to Harper's Magazine, Alphabetical, Analytical, and Classified, for Volumes 1 to 60, inclusive, from June, 1850, to June, 1880, one vol. 8vo, Cloth, $4 00.

Remittances should be made by Post-Office Money Order, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of Harper & Brothers.

Address HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

1883.

Harper's Weekly

ILLUSTRATED.

Harper's Weekly stands at the head of American illustrated weekly journals. By its impartial position in politics, its admirable illustrations, its carefully chosen serials, short stories, sketches and poems, contributed by the foremost artists and authors of the day, it carries instruction and entertainment to thousands of American homes.

It will always be the aim of the publishers to make Harper's Weekly the most popular and attractive family newspaper in the world.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS

HARPER'S MAGAZINE, One Year $4 00
HARPER'S WEEKLY, " " 4 00
HARPER'S BAZAR, " " 4 00
The THREE above named publications, One Year 10 00
Any TWO above named, One Year 7 00
HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE, One Year 1 50
HARPER'S MAGAZINE, } HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE, } 5 00
HARPER'S FRANKLIN SQUARE LIBRARY, One Year (52 Numbers) 10 00

Postage Free to all subscribers in the United States or Canada.

The volumes of the Weekly begin with the first Number for January of each year. When no time is mentioned, it will be understood that the subscriber wishes to commence with the Number next after the receipt of order.

The last Four Annual Volumes of Harper's Weekly, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by mail, postage paid, or by express, free of expense (provided the freight does not exceed one dollar per volume), for $7 00 per volume.

Cloth Cases for each volume, suitable for binding, will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of $1 00 each.

Remittances should be made by Post Office Money Order or Draft, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of HARPER & BROS.

Address HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

1883.

Harper's Bazar.

ILLUSTRATED

This popular journal is a rare combination of literature, art, and fashion. Its stories, poems, and essays are by the best writers of America; its engravings possess the highest artistic excellence; and in all matters pertaining to fashion it is universally acknowledged to be the leading authority in the land. The new volume will contain many brilliant novelties.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS

HARPER'S MAGAZINE, One Year $4 00
HARPER'S WEEKLY, " " 4 00
HARPER'S BAZAR, " " 4 00
The THREE above-named publications, One Year 10 00
Any TWO above named, One Year 7 00
HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE, One Year 1 50
HARPER'S MAGAZINE, } HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE, } 5 00
HARPER'S FRANKLIN SQUARE LIBRARY, One Year (52 Numbers) 10 00

Postage free to all subscribers in the United States or Canada.

The Volumes of the Bazar begin with the first Number for January of each year. When no time is mentioned, it will be understood that the subscriber wishes to commence with the Number next after the receipt of order.

The last Four Annual Volumes of Harper's Bazar, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by mail, postpaid, or by express, free of expense (provided the freight does not exceed one dollar per volume), for $7 00 per volume.

Cloth Cases for each volume, suitable for binding, will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of $1 00 each.

Remittances should be made by Post-Office Money Order or Draft, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of HARPER & BROS.

Address HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

1883.

HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE.

An Illustrated Weekly—16 Pages,

Suited to Boys and Girls of from Six to Sixteen Years of Age.

Volume IV. Commences November 7, 1882.

The YOUNG PEOPLE has been from the first successful beyond anticipation.—[N. Y. Evening Post.

It has a distinct purpose, to which it steadily adheres—that, namely, of supplanting the vicious papers for the young with a paper more attractive, as well as more wholesome.—[Boston Journal.

For neatness, elegance of engraving and contents generally, it is unsurpassed by any publication of the kind yet brought to our notice.—[Pittsburgh Gazette.

TERMS:

Harper's Young People, Per Year, Postage Prepaid, $1.50.

Single Numbers, Four Cents each.

Specimen copy sent on receipt of Three Cents.

The Volumes of Harper's Young People for 1881 and 1882, handsomely bound in illuminated Cloth, will be sent by mail, postage prepaid, on receipt of $5.00 each. Cover for Young People for 1882, 35 cents; postage, 18 cents additional.

Remittances should be made by Post-Office Money Order or Draft, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of Harper & Brothers.

Address, HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

Back Ache

POSITIVELY CURED BY

Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters.

Reasons Why they are Preferred to All Other Porous Plasters or External Remedies:

First.

Because they possess all the merit of the strengthening porous plaster, and contain in addition thereto the newly discovered powerful and active vegetable combination which acts with increased vitality, stimulating, sedative and counter irritant effects.

Second.

Because they are a genuine pharmaceutical preparation, and so recognized by the profession.

Third.

Because they are the only plasters that relieve pain at once.

Fourth.

Because they will positively cure diseases which other remedies will not even relieve.

Fifth.

Because over 5000 physicians and druggists have voluntarily testified that they are superior to all other plasters or medicines for external use.

Sixth.

Because the manufacturers have received the only medals ever given for porous plasters.

Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster!

SEABURY & JOHNSON,
Manufacturing Chemists, New York.

A SURE REMEDY AT LAST. Price 25cts. HEAD'S Medicated CORN and BUNION PLASTER.

EVANS' BUSINESS COLLEGE
—AND—
INSTITUTE OF RAPID WRITING.

Having severed my connection with the High School of Adrian, my time will be given exclusively to my college, affording a rare chance to young men wishing to fit themselves as

CLERKS AND BOOK-KEEPERS,

And furnishing them positions at good salaries.

My College has No Vacation during the year.

Send for Circulars.

Adrian, Sept. 18, 1881. W. R. EVANS, PRINCIPAL & TEACHER.

K. B.

KING OF THE BLOOD.

The Most Thorough Purifier of the Blood Yet Discovered.

Cures all Humors, from a Common Eruption to the Worst Scrofula.

It purifies the Blood.
It invigorates the Liver.
It regulates the Bowels.
It strengthens the Stomach.
It gives vivacity in place of lassitude; cheerfulness in place of gloom, and robust vigor in place of debility.

Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Disordered Liver, Constipation, Nervous Affections, General Debility, in short all the numerous diseases and discomforts caused by impure blood are speedily conquered by this powerful corrector, the chief and sovereign of all ancient or modern medical discoveries—KING OF THE BLOOD.

ITS NAME IS ITS BEST DESCRIPTION as it is a royal dispenser of the blessings of health and vanquishes the foes that lurk in the blood.

It banishes PIMPLES, SALT RHEUM, SCALY ERUPTIONS, ULCERS, SCALD HEAD, FEVER SORES, and all SCROFULOUS DISORDERS.

It checks CONSUMPTION in its early stages. It has frequently cured it when advanced.

It disperses TUMORS and CANCERS without the Surgeon's knife.

It cures DROPSY, general or partial.

It cures FEMALE WEAKNESS and DISEASE.

It reduces in a safe and effectual manner all swellings, external or internal.

It eradicates the effects of Venerial Disease and Mineral Poisons, and establishes a sound constitution.

Many certificates, much further information and full directions for using, will be found in the pamphlet, "Treatise on Diseases of the Blood," in which each bottle is enclosed.

Price $1 per bottle containing 12 ounces, or 60 to 50 doses. Sold by dealers in medicine.

If your druggist does not happen to have it on hand, request him to order a supply of it for you, as it will be cheaper than for you to order direct of us, and less trouble.

D. RANSOM, SON & CO., Proprietors, Buffalo, N.Y.

The Purest and Best Medicine ever Made.

A combination of Hops, Buchu, Mandrake and Dandelion, with all the best and most curative properties of all other Bitters, makes the greatest Blood Purifier, Liver Regulator, and Life and Health Restoring Agent on earth.

No disease can possibly long exist where Hop Bitters are used, so varied and perfect are their operations.

They give new life and vigor to the aged and infirm.

To all whose employments cause irregularity of the bowels or urinary organs, or who require an Appetizer, Tonic and mild Stimulant, Hop Bitters are invaluable, without intoxicating.

No matter what your feelings or symptoms are what the disease or ailment is use Hop Bitters. Don't wait until you are sick but if you only feel bad or miserable, use them at once. It may save your life. It has saved hundreds.

$500 will be paid for a case they will not cure or help. Do not suffer or let your friends suffer, but use and urge them to use Hop Bitters.

Remember, Hop Bitters is no vile, drugged drunken nostrum, but the Purest and Best Medicine ever made; the "INVALIDS FRIEND and HOPE" and no person or family should be without them.

D.I.C. is an absolute and irresistible cure for drunkenness, use of opium, tobacco and narcotics. All sold by druggists. Send for Circular. Hop Bitters Mfg. Co., Rochester, N.Y. and Toronto, Ont.

HALL'S Catarrh Cure

Is Recommended by Physicians!

$100 REWARD FOR A CASE IT FAILS TO CURE

We manufacture and sell it with a positive guarantee that it will cure any case, and we will forfeit the above amount if it fails in a single instance.

It is unlike any other Catarrh remedy, as it is taken internally, acting upon the blood. If you are troubled with this distressing disease, ask your Druggist for it, and accept no imitation or substitute. If he has not got it, send to us and we will forward immediately. Price, 75 cents per bottle.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

CLEANING.

The present population of Montana is estimated at 60,000.

There is not a native Texan in either branch of Congress, it is said.

A mouse in Montreal munched matches. No insurance.

A Muscatine (Iowa) schoolboy has gone insane from sitting up nights trying to find the streams mentioned in the River and Harbor bill.

It is said that there is an idea in New York an effort to provide, by subscription, a statue of Washington Irving for Central Park adornment.

A Keokuk hell-dog sprang at a wooden representation of a bull's head in front of a butcher-shop the other day, and broke three of his teeth trying to hold on to the horn.

A New York phrenologist says that if the price of a first-class piano was put down to $125 no one would buy. Three-fifths of the pump organs like to wrap of the best article.

The dishonest milk dealers of Gotham are filled with terror—hearing Recorder Smyth sentenced two of their number to three months each in the penitentiary for selling adulterated milk.

Messenger boys are now regularly employed by private families on Fifth avenue, New York, and wear a uniform of a kind that makes them as conspicuous as a circus clown.

The same corporation supplies gas to Cincinnati and Newport, Ky., from one establishment, but charges the larger city $1.45 per 1,000 cubic feet and the smaller town $1.20.

The married state evidently was not pleasing to a young man in Montreal. After a few weeks of experience he drowned himself by holding his head under water.

Recently the citizens of Fair Play, Col., decided that they ought to do something to observe the Sabbath. So hereafter they will not shoot on Sunday, except in self-defence, or when a stranger impudently refuses a drink.

An Alexandria, Va., man made two attempts, while drunk, to commit suicide by throwing himself before railroad trains, but was both times prevented. He was fined next day "for obstructing railroad trains."

A visitor to a baby-show down in Maine thus sums up his conclusions: "For pure unadulterated foolishness about a baby, a father can outfoolish all the rest of the family—yes, and I will throw in the grandmother on the mother's side, too."

Iron armor plates faced with steel will very probably be adopted by the French Government for new men-of-war. The steel resists penetration, and the iron backing gives the desired tenacity. Iron and steel combined make a strong resistance to projectiles.

The convicts in the prison at Dartmoor, England, were found to have made keys of bones taken from their food. They were to have revolted under the leadership of one of their number, who had a bone key that would unlock any door in the tiers of cells.

There is on trial in Montreal a most peculiar suit for divorce. The plaintiff is the wife, a most exemplary woman, whose insanity has led her to think that the faithlessness which she confesses has an existence. It is known that the fancy is entirely illusory.

A few days ago the State Librarian of Minnesota was surprised at St. Paul by receiving fifty-one bags, weighing several thousand pounds, filled with Congressional documents dating back to 1820, and intended as a contribution to repair the loss by the late fire.

A Montreal cabby, who was the proud father of a pretty daughter, refused a certain young man admission to the house. The certain young man acquiesced in the decision, but, when he soon thereafter got "full," he stepped into the said proud father's vehicle as it stood by the highway, and commanded to be driven to the house of his inamorata. The cabman refused to start, and the certain young man had him arrested for refusing a load. An interesting law suit is expected.

The young people of Connersville, Ind., wondered how Professor Miber could afford to give twenty dancing lessons for $2, and a class of 140 was quickly formed. They all paid the fee in advance, got one hour of instruction in the waltz step, and never saw Mihers again.

The New York saloonkeeper who was pleased with his own cunning displayed in chalking upon his ice-box the words "Frank Stucke is a $16 beat" was afterward finally convinced that he was not so funny after all, when a justice placed him under heavy bonds for uttering a criminal libel.

Many of the leading mercantile men of London are among the most active and interested supporters of scientific societies. The Stock Exchange and Lloyds include enthusiastic botanists, scientific agriculturalists, etc. Some years ago the first Hebrew scholar in London was asserted to be a retail tradesman.

The proprietor of the Royal Opera House, Toronto,—Mr. James French—has forwarded two barrels of apples to each of the following personages: Her Majesty Queen Victoria, the Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Baron Wolseley and the Marquis of Dufferin. The Toronto Mail says that the offering was made as a reminder "that the Canadians, though fond of giving sauce occasionally, are loyal to the core."

William Paterson, of Edinburg, has in preparation a new edition of Shakespeare, to be published in eight large post octavo volumes, to be ready in November. The impression will be limited to 775 copies, each of which will be numbered. The text will be printed verbatim from the folio of 1623, the spelling and punctation of which will be adhered to. The work will contain a number of etchings.

A venerable darkey, seventy years old, has been claiming relationship with certain Washington families of color, and by telling them that he was rich, promising that he would remember them in his will and exhibiting to them rolls of bills which he said were genuine, so worked upon their susceptibilities that he borrowed money right and left, and was entertained as a Mascotte. One day he was missed.

Chased.

Fred. C. Valentine in the Continent, writing of his stay in Guatemala, notes the partiality of the Central American natives for gesture speech, and related how he misunderstood a servant who undertook to deliver a message by making signs instead of talking it. He says he was leaving the door of the Grand Hotel," when he heard a vigorous clapping of the hands behind him.

Upon turning, I saw an Indian running after me, with much anxiety expressed in his countenance, and while he ran he threw his arms forward as if to indicate that some danger was hanging over me.

I unceremoniously dropped my shops and fled in his motions. I turned a corner and ran. He still pursued me, repeating the warning gesture at each period.

We increased our speed and the distance between us had grown to nearly a block when, suddenly, it occurred to me that such rapid transits were hardly compatible with the comfort of a digestive physician.

I stopped to fasten my glove. Poor Lo reached me, and in a voice suppressed by emotion or shortness of breath, drawled out, in the manner peculiar to his race,—

"Says Don Encarnisto, how are you and how did you arise? and he hopes that you are well, and that you arose well, and that your lady is well and arose well. And he begs your pardon for molesting you, and that he hopes that you will forgive the trouble he is giving you, but that his lady is very ill, and asks you please to come to his house very quickly."

This incident led me to pay more attention than I should otherwise have done to what, at first, appeared to be meaningless gesticulation; and though I have been unable in many cases to trace the connection of these signs with their meaning, I have found them useful in my contact with a people who amplify the Spanish proverb, "It is better to sit than to stand, better to lie than to sit," by "It is easier to gesticulate than talk."

Stylish Suits.

The fashions in London are thus noted in Truth: I liked a dress I saw on a handsome woman in Bond street. The skirt was of brown velvet, with a plaited flounce round the edge. Above this was a flat, ungathered flounce of tiselle embroidery in a brownish shade of gray. Similar embroidery formed the small, flat panniers, over which fell still smaller panniers of brown velvet. The bodice was velvet, the inevitable waistcoat being made of the lace, with little bars of velvet crossing it at the waist. The hat was of yellow straw, trimmed with brown velvet and ostrich feathers. I also saw a pretty brown cloth jacket with gold braid arranged in straight lines down the front, and seven or eight rows running round the edge of the basque. The little stand-up collar was covered with braid. Brown seems more popular than ever. I am glad of it, for there could not be a safer color for general wear. A woman must be hopelessly vulgar if she looks so in a well-fitting, tailor-made brown costume and a princess bonnet. By the way, a pink sigrette, very pale and soft in tint, is a pleasant relief to the universal brownness.

A dark-blue velvet, with panels of moire to match, was made so that the back was princess, but the front had a pointed basque edged with a rather deep flounce of the moire. This modified certagadin is very becoming to a slight figure. The lady who wore this dress carried over her arm a coat, on seeing which I immediately broke the tenth commandment. This coat was of brown checked plush; the checks were very small, and the shades of brown were absolutely divine—a deep, warm chocolate, and rich, golden chestnut, it was lined with dark blue surah, and the only trimming consisted of ornaments of brown cord at the points where the sleeves joined the back.

A man at Rahway, N. J., tried to domesticate a blue heron. He lost one eye, several pinches of flesh, a part of his trousers, and his bird, for in the struggle for mastery he was obliged to shoot and kill his pet.

SOME lady ought to secure at once the agency for the book advertised in another column, "The Care and Culture of Children." It is one of the books which no mother can afford to be without. It treats, in simple language, of the causes, symptoms, and home treatment of every disease to which children are liable, and deals beside with their training up to mature manhood and womanhood. Like all books in "The Household Series," published by the same house, it is a practical and helpful book.

Battle Creek, Mich., Sept. 25.

Dear Sir:—In my family for the past two years, your Columbian Oil has been in frequent use for a variety of complaints, for which it is recommended by you, and with the most decided success. I have used it myself for lameness in the back, and have found it to give immediate relief. I am persuaded that it is an excellent remedy in the cases for which you make special claims of its efficacy, and believe it to be an excellent medicine for every family to keep on hand.—George Willard, Editor Daily and Weekly Journal.

Religion is the best armor in the world, but the worst cloak.

A Word of Caution.

As is usually the case where an article of true merit has attained a world wide reputation by its wonderful results, as the celebrated Electric Bitters have done, certain unprincipled parties have endeavored to imitate them, and expect to induce an unsuspecting public to purchase their fraudulent wares. Ask your druggist for the genuine Electric Bitters, that are guaranteed to cure, and take no others.

Sold by C. A. Wright & Co.

THE MILLER BROS. CUTLERY CO.
MERIDEN, CONN.

STANDARD POCKET CUTLERY,
Ladies' Scissors and Ink Erasers.
Manufacturers of
STEEL PENS.

SAMARITAN NERVINE
NEVER FAILS.
THE R. V. PIERCE MEDICAL CO., Sole Proprietors, St. Joseph, Mo.

PRINCIPAL LINE
AND OLD FAVORITE FROM CHICAGO
OR PEORIA
TO KANSAS CITY
OMAHA DENVER LINCOLN CALIFORNIA

This Route has no superior for Albert Lea, Minneapolis and St. Paul. Universally conceded to be the best equipped Railroad in the World for all classes of travel. Nationally reputed as being the Great Through Car Line.

All connections made in Union Depots.

Through Tickets via this Celebrated Line for sale at all offices in the U. S. and Canada.

All information about Rates of Fare, Sleeping Cars, etc., cheerfully given by

T. J. POTTER, 2d Vice Pres't & Gen'l Manager, Chicago, Ill.
PERCEVAL LOWELL, Gen. Pass. Agt., Chicago, Ill.

AN OLD FRIEND

When you took the American Agriculturist you thought it most splendid. It is now more valuable to you than ever, being specially adapted for the West. Send stamp for specimen copy and see how wonderfully the paper has improved. Price $1.50 a year. English or German edition. ORANGE JUDD CO., 52 Broadway, New York.

FOR SALE.

SEVEN PURE BRED
POLAND CHINA SOW PIGS.
Bred from the herd of C. W. Jones, Richland, Kalamazoo Co., and A. C. Moir of Canton, Ill. Terms reasonable.
HENRY WILSON,
Residence 2½ miles west of Tecumseh

CHOICE VILLAGE LOTS.

The Trustees of the Universalist Parish offer for sale two building lots taken from their church property. One lot on corner of Union and Logan streets, opposite E. B. Wood's corner, and one lot fronting on Logan street. A plot of the lots, showing the size, price, etc., can be seen at the HERALD OFFICE.

ONLY $20

for this style of PHILADELPHIA SINGER. Equal to any Singer in the market. Remember, we send it to be examined before you pay for it. This is the same style other companies retail for $50. All Machines warranted for 5 years. Send for Illustrated Circular and Testimonials. Address CHARLES A. WOOD & CO., 11 N. Tenth St., Philadelphia, Pa.

FOR SALE.

A good house and lot within five minutes walk of the post office, for sale at a bargain. Reasons for selling, business out of town. For full particulars and terms enquire at the HERALD OFFICE.

PISO'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION. CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. 25 CTS.

ANXIOUS MOTHERS

Who love their children, and want them to grow up healthy and strong and useful men and women, all want Dr. Sorlusky's Great Book, THE CARE AND CULTURE OF CHILDREN." It is a Mother's Handbook, from the infancy to the maturity of her children, and its use will save many lives, more doctor's bills, and tens of thousands from wrecked health and wrecked morals. We do not publish or sell in any way any book that we cannot heartily recommend, and we add this to our Household Series of useful books with great pleasure. Sold only by subscription. We want agents in Iowa, Michigan, Nebraska, Wisconsin, and Dakota. Circulars giving table of contents free. Commissions liberal. Address, A. G. WILCOX, Minneapolis, Minn.

DRUNKENNESS & OPIUM EATING.

C. C. Beers, M. D. & Son, 435 Fourth avenue New York, have painless remedies for these evils. Thousands cured. Call or send stamp for evidence.

KANSAS FARMS.

Choice improved farms for sale in Southeastern Kansas. A rare chance for some one who wishes to buy a home cheap. For situation, location terms, price, etc., call at the HERALD OFFICE.

WHAT WILL THE WEATHER BE TO-MORROW?
Pool's Signal Service Barometer
WILL TELL YOU!

BEST IN THE WORLD!

BEWARE OF WORTHLESS IMITATIONS. Every instrument warranted. Portable and Reliable. Sent prepaid on receipt of price, $1.50, unless otherwise ordered. Please state where you saw our advertisement.

TRADE MARK

D. W. CLARK,
GENERAL DEALER IN
Groceries & Provisions,
Confectionery, Etc.

A full line of Choice GREEN & JAPAN TEAS always on hand and sold at the lowest possible figure.

GOODS DELIVERED FREE WITHIN THE CORPORATION.

Richard's Block, North Side Chicago Street,
Tecumseh, Michigan.

I. C. WOLCOTT, JOHN S. TEMPLE, S. McCLURE.
WOLCOTT, TEMPLE & CO.,
Wholesale and Retail Dealers in
LUMBER, LATH, SHINGLES, SASH & DOORS
AND ALL KINDS OF BUILDING MATERIAL.
Planing, Sawing, Matching to Order.
Mill and Yard North of Railroad Depot.
TECUMSEH, - MICHIGAN.

JAMES LOWRY,
GENERAL DEALER IN
Groceries and Provisions
CROCKERY & GLASS WARE.
Agent for Model Clothes Wringer.
Highest Cash Price Paid for Butter, Eggs, Lard, &c.
THE BEST AND CHEAPEST TEAS IN TOWN.
No. 3, Merchants' Block, TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

S. W. TEMPLE,
Wholesale and Retail Dealer in
Lumber, Lath, Shingles
And all kinds of
BUILDING MATERIAL.
SASH, DOORS AND BLINDS, COAL AND LIME.
Mill and Yards near Depot TECUMSEH, MICH.

WEEKLY TIMES.

Eight large pages—56 columns—and Only Costs One Dollar a Year, and the choice of a beautiful gift or a useful book to every subscriber. The oldest, heaviest, largest, cheapest, and best weekly paper published. It is more generally taken throughout the country over because it is the best, and it is made the best because it has the largest circulation, and therefore the income to justify the necessary outlay. It is the cleanest paper to get subscribers for, and offers more cash and other premiums than any other paper. Agents. Specimen copy free. Address THE WEEKLY TIMES, 166 Walnut St., Cincinnati, O.

THE CINCINNATI TIMES-STAR

Is the best and cheapest daily paper published in the West. Eight pages—56 columns—and only six dollars a year, or 12 cents a week. The Daily Times-Star is the only eight page paper in the country published at this price. It is independent in politics, but aims to be fair in everything, and just to all parties, individuals, sections, and nationalities. If you want all the news attractively and honestly presented subscribe for it. The largest circulation of any paper published in Cincinnati. The postmaster will receive your subscription if there is no agent in your place.

SEE THE NEW
Birthday Cards
AT THE HERALD OFFICE.

Rupture

Its Relief and Cure as certain as day follows day, by Dr. J. A. Sherman's Method. With safety from the dangers of strangulation and without the injury trusses inflict. These wishing proof should send 10 cents for his book, containing likenesses of bad cases before and after cure, also endorsements of professional gentlemen, Ministers, Merchants, Farmers, and others who have been cured. Trusses and Rupture sooner or later affect the nervous and mental system, bring on organic diseases, impotency, destroy energy and social desires, making the young old and the old useless. Principal office, 251 Broadway, New York. For the convenience of Western patients, Dr. Sherman will be at his office, cor. 4th and Market streets, St. Louis, Mo., from November 1st to December 20th.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

ARTESIAN WELLS FOR IRRIGATION.

The two artesian wells which the commissioner of agriculture has contracted for in Colorado are located, one 112 miles east of Denver and the other 148 miles southwest of it. The entire success of irrigation by the artesian wells at Humboldt, Nev., encourages hopes that the experiments will be entirely successful. Le Duc's artesian well was a failure, but there was a fatality about everything he undertook. He selected for the place for an artesian well the highest point of a divide, where he would have the farthest to dig, even if water were to be reached, and also where water was naturally running from instead of running to.

PUBLIC LANDS.

In deciding the case of Sipchen vs Ross, the interior department held that public land which had been reduced in price to $1.25 must be offered at public auction at that rate before being open to preemption. The decision is applied principally to the valuable iron lands in Michigan, within the granted limits of the Marquette and State Line railroad and joint limits of that road, upon which a number of preemption entries had been made before the land was offered at a reduced rate. It now appears the decision gave rise to much alarm among settlers in that section, of which speculators were quick to avail themselves. Upon these representations, and in consideration of the fact that the bill is pending before congress to rectify the defect in these entries, the secretary of the interior has directed the commissioner of the general land office to suspend action in all cases similar to that of Sipchen v. Ross, and properly notify the receivers and registers.

POSTAL MATTERS.

An important departure in the policy of the post-office department will be inaugurated on Jan. 1, next. It consists in transferring to the blank agency division, which is under the supervision of the first assistant postmaster general, the purchase of all supplies in the first and second class postoffices of the country. As at present conducted, a postmaster at one of these offices purchases stationery and furniture for his own office, selects such styles and tints as may please his fancy, and sends his bill to the department, where it is paid. It is thought by supplying these offices with such material as they may need, and have paper uniform in size, etc., that at least 25 per cent. over the present cost can be saved. With this object in view, prominent postmasters from all sections of the country have been requested to assemble here, when the question of uniformity in blanks, size of paper, and postoffice books will be discussed.

THE GARFIELD FAIR.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Garfield Monument Fair association, it was decided to extend invitations to the president and members of his cabinet, to the justices of the supreme court, and to the general of the army, and other distinguished persons, to be present and participate in the opening ceremonies. The managers of the fair have proceeded, so far as the capitol is concerned, on the principle of taking all of which they are given an inch. The propriety of using the capitol for a fair is criticized a good deal in a quiet way, but the board of directors have proceeded to occupy all the space allotted to them and some space that was not allotted. They attempted recently to close the rotunda to the public on account of the operations of the carpenters, who are putting up the platforms and frames for the display of goods. Senator Miller, of New York, was a victim of this closure and made such a disturbance that he was pressed through, and presently all effort to keep people out of the rotunda was relinquished.

RIVER AND HARBOR IMPROVEMENT.

Gen. Wright, chief of engineers, in his annual report to the secretary of war recommends the expenditure of the amounts mentioned below during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1884: For the improvement of the western rivers and harbors, the Mississippi river between the Illinois and Ohio rivers, $1,000,000; appropriation asked for to be applied to completing the works now progressing and beginning new works below Foster's island, removing snags from the Mississippi from the mouth of the Missouri to Vicksburg, $150,000; removing snags from the Missouri river $100,000; for snag boat to be used above Omaha, $80,000; survey of the Missouri mouth to Fort Benton, Montana, $70,000; improvement of the Missouri mouth to Sioux City, $1,000,000; estimated amount required to complete the existing project, $7,150,000; improving the Mississippi from St. Paul to Des Moines Rapids $770,000; from Des Moines Rapids to the mouth of the Illinois river, $900,000; reservoirs upon the headwaters of the Mississippi, $500,000; improvements of the Ohio river, $800,000; Duluth harbor, $100,000; Harbor of Refuge, Milwaukee bay, $300,000; Wisconsin river $500,000; Chicago harbor, $225,000; Illinois river, $25,000; Michigan City, Ind., harbor, $20,000; Cleveland harbor, $50,000.

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC.

Respecting the adjustment of and withdrawal of lands for the benefit of the Northern Pacific railway under the act of July 2, 1864, Secretary Teller has directed the commissioner of the general land office to conform to the line of route as definitely located to make an adjustment of route in accordance with maps of the definite location filed in 1881 and 1882, upon which the road is constructed from the boundary line between Dakota and Montana to the last crossing of the Yellowstone river, and such other portions of the road as have been definitely located without material deviation from the line of the general route, and where the road has been constructed. The purpose is to permit the adjustment of the withdrawal of lands lying along the constructed portion of the road. This order will carry out the direction of the president in approving the recommendation of the interior department that such portions of the Northern Pacific railroad as have been constructed in accordance with the law be accepted, and that patents be issued for lands earned. It appears that the maps for definite location show but a slight divergence from former maps, except where the line of the road enters the Crow Indian reservation in Montana, and this deviation was authorized by law.

PROPOSED REDUCTION.

Until within a few days Commissioner Raum was disposed to make no recommendation looking to a reduction in internal revenue taxes. It is believed now, however, that he will advise such reduction as will leave the aggregate income of the government from that source at about one hundred million dollars per annum. It is known that the president, while firmly opposed to any proposition looking to the abolition—at this time—of the entire internal revenue system believes the time has come when substantial relief can safely be accorded the taxpayers, and that a portion of this relief should come from a reduction of internal revenue taxation. With this view, the cabinet are in entire accord; and the president in his message will recommend the abolition of all internal revenue taxes, except those upon tobacco in its various forms, and upon distilled spirits and fermented liquors, and except also the special tax upon manufacturers of and dealers in such articles; with a reduction in the tax upon whisky and tobacco upon the basis of the bill which passed the house of representatives at the last session of congress. The retention of a special tax is deemed essential to afford the officers of the government proper supervision of these articles for the prevention of fraud. If this recommendation be adopted, the remaining sources of internal revenue will yield, according to the estimates of the commissioner of internal revenue, about one hundred million dollars per annum. Any further reduction of internal revenue than that proposed, it is held, would compel the government to rely almost entirely upon import duties for the necessary income, and would render any revision or reduction of tariff duties dangerous, if not impossible. The president is firmly opposed to the adoption of any policy that would create such a contingency, and will in his forthcoming message urge upon congress the importance of an immediate revision of the tariff with a view to reducing the aggregate income of the government to such an amount as is absolutely required to meet the interest on the public debt and the current and ordinary expenses of the government.

A THUNDERBOLT.

A thunderbolt has fallen upon the star-route defendants, and the Government has at last given undoubted evidence that it is very much in earnest in the prosecution.—The President late Saturday afternoon ordered the summary dismissal from office of Henry, United States Marshal of the District; Ainger, Postmaster of Washington; Parker, Assistant Postmaster; Spencer, Government Director; and Helm, foreman of the Record at the Government Printing-office. The reasons for these several removals are set forth at length in the letters of Special Counsel George Bliss and of Attorney-General Brewster to the President. Briefly stated, the charges made by the Administration against these officials are these: that all of them have obstructed the administration of justice in these cases, either by direct aid or by public expressions of sympathy. As to Marshal Henry, the accusation is this: that, at an interview in Cleveland during the progress of the Star-route trial, he indulged in gross abuse of Mr. Bliss, special counsel for the United States, and declared that the Government had no case; that throughout the progress of the trial he expressed sympathy with some of the defendants, particularly with Dorsey, who was a resident of his own section in Ohio, and that he, when the panel from which the jury was drawn was exhausted, so arranged it that talesman who would be satisfactory to the defense were chosen. As to postmaster Ainger, the charge is that he, with Assistant-Postmaster Parker, was impugned by two post-office inspectors as to the certification of bogus bonds in the star-route cases, and that whether these acts were true or not the fact that Mr. Ainger is the proprietor of a newspaper in Michigan, and that during the last trial he wrote to his paper over his own signature denouncing the officers who had instituted the prosecution, and declaring that the Government had no case, is regarded a sufficient cause for his removal. As to Helm, the fact that he is the business manager of the Critic, which has been virulent in its abuse of the Government prosecution, and of all who approve it, is considered sufficient cause for his removal from the position of foreman of Government printing.—Ex-Senator Spencer's refusal to obey the summons of the court is assigned as the cause for his removal. These removals, announced just after dark, were a great local sensation, the Star, which is earnest in its opposition to the star-route defense, printing an extra. The letter of George Bliss and that of the Attorney-General were the subject of discussion at the Cabinet meetings during the week. At the meeting Saturday it was unanimously resolved that the Attorney-General should be sustained in the position he had taken.

THE TREASURY—A GOOD SHOWING.

Washington, Nov. 21.—The annual report of the treasury shows that the receipts of government, exclusive of the public debt, during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1882, were $403,525,250, and the expenditures, exclusive of the redemption of the public debt, $257,981,439; that 17,124,196 legal-tender notes, representing $78,077,301, were counted and sent to the committee for destruction, and others issued in the place thereof.

The total tonnage of the country having documents outstanding at the close of the fiscal year, 4,165,923 tons, in 24,308 vessels. The number of vessels built was 1,371; tonnage, 284,270 tons.

The comptroller of the currency has compiled his annual tables, showing the amount of United States bonds held by the national banks, state banks, savings banks, and private bankers on the 1st of November, 1882, and also showing the amount and distribution of the coin and paper currency of the country at the same date. The national banks held on Nov. 1, 1882, as security for circulation and for public deposits and other purposes, $336,538,400 of interest-bearing bonds of the United States. This is nearly $30,000,000 less than the amount held on Nov. 1, 1881, and about $7,000,000 less than for the corresponding date in 1880. Banking associations other than national hold these bonds as follows: State banks in 21 states, $8,739,172; trust companies in 5 states, $16,934,812; savings banks in 15 states, $237,786,442. There has been during the past year a decrease of about $2,000,000 in the amount held by state banks and trust companies, and an increase of nearly $27,000,000 in the amounts held by savings banks. The amount held by geographical divisions by these associations in 1882 was as follows: Eastern states, $42,667,248; middle states, $197,135,239; southern states $268,350; western states, $3,369,414; Pacific states, $20,020,175; total, $263,460,426. These returns have been compiled from reports made to the officers of the different states which have been forwarded by them to the comptroller. The interest-bearing funded debt of the United States was on Nov. 1 last $1,418,080,200. The total amount of bonds held by the national banks, state banks and savings banks at the nearest corresponding date that could be ascertained was $676,639,357, which amount is not greatly less than one-half of the whole interest-bearing debt. Similar facts have been also ascertained from the returns made by state banks, savings banks, and private bankers to the treasury department for the purposes of taxation, showing that the banks and bankers of the country, exclusive of the national banks, held an average amount of United States bonds during the six months ending May 31 last as follows: Savings banks $242,028,782; state banks and trust companies, $23,211,430; private bankers, $14,870,745. The amount of bonds given in the returns to the commissioner of internal revenue, which is the amount invested in United States bonds and may include the premium as well as the principal of the bonds, is $16,650,000 more than the amount obtained from the returns to state officers. The difference is small and the amounts obtained from one source serve to corroborate the general accuracy of the returns obtained from the other. In referring to the distribution of coin and paper currency, the comptroller says: From Nov. 1, 1881, to Nov. 1, 1882, the production of gold by the mines of the United States is estimated at $43,359,021, and the amount of gold exported from the country in excess of the amount imported has been $36,122,536. The difference, $7,236,485, is the increase during the year. The director of the mint estimates that $2,700,000 of this amount has been used in the arts, leaving $4,536,485 as the increase in the stock of gold remaining in the country and available for circulation. The total excess of imports of gold over exports from the date of resumption to Nov. 1, 1882, has been $161,311,578, and total gold product of the mints of the United States for the same period is estimated to have been $147,509,021. This is the first year since 1879 during which the exportation of gold has exceeded the importation. During the last two months, September and October, 1882, the imports have, however, slightly exceeded the exports. The amount of standard silver dollars coined during the year has been $27,657,175, and the total amount coined up to Nov. 1, 1882, since the passage of the law of Feb. 28, 1878, authorizing their coinage, has been $128,920,889. The amount of gold coin held by the banks Jan. 1, 1879, was $46,000,000, and on Nov. 1, 1882, $112,000,000. The amount of silver coin held by these institutions at the same date was, respectively, $6,000,000 and $8,000,000, and of currency $167,000,000 and $131,000,000.—The gold coin held by the treasury on Jan. 1, 1879, was $112,000,000, and on Nov., 1 1882, $148,000,000; of silver, at the corresponding dates, $32,000,000 and $123,000,000, and of currency $44,000,000 and $26,000,000, making an aggregate amount of coin and currency held by the banks and treasury of $552,447,473.

Miss Emma Bond, of Taylorville, Illinois, was carried into the grand jury room in a chair, her father not being allowed to accompany her. Her examination lasted nearly three hours when she was seized with a violent nervous attack, requiring the presence of her physician.

A bloody conflict is said to be in progress in Nevada between the Washoe and Piute Indians.

The labor congress in session at Cleveland adopted a resolution asking members of the various unions to refrain from purchasing cotton goods bearing the trade-mark of the Pacific mills. A commendatory resolution was passed in regard to the offer of Jacob Perkins, a Cleveland millionaire, to support the families of two men killed while in his employ.

A delegation of Kentucky distillers came to Chicago Friday and induced the Western Export association to agree to send Dr. Rush to Washington this winter to lobby for an extension of the bonded period on whisky. Secretary Folger regards the measure as a fraud upon the government, but Commissioner Raum has given it his indorsement.

The Callendar building in Providence, Rhode Island, occupied by manufacturing jewelers, was filled with flames so suddenly that escape by the stairway was cut off. Twenty women and twenty men at work on the upper floor leaped from the windows. Emma Gassett and Bessie Cobb died soon after striking the ground; six girls received fatal injuries, and two men had legs broken. A fireman rescued one man who hung to a telephone wire. The pecuniary loss is $79,000.

On the recommendation of Attorney General Brewster, President Arthur has removed Charles E. Henry, marshal of the District of Columbia; D. B. Ainger, postmaster of Washington, and his assistant, Myron M. Parker; M. D. Helm, foreman of the Congressional Record, and George E. Spencer, government director of the Union Pacific road, and their successors will be appointed immediately. The parties named interfered with the ends of justice in the star-route trials. It is said that S. P. Rounds is in danger of losing his position as public printer.

Dr. J. H. Rauch, of the Illinois board of health, had his attention drawn toward the operations of the Bellevue Medical college, of Massachusetts, and succeeded in having two tickets and a diploma sent to a fictitious person with a bill for $150. The postal authorities have been asked to forbid the use of the mails by the concern. The president of the college is Dr. Rufus King Noyes, a graduate of Dartmouth, who claims to have been imposed upon. Dr. C. J. Eastman, the dean, told a Boston reporter that if he began studying now he could have a diploma by January.

LETTER LISTS.

Tecumseh.

Remaining uncalled for in the Post-Office at Tecumseh, Nov. 29, 1882.

Hope, Mrs. Johana — McClean, John

Persons calling for letters in the above list will please say "Advertised."

FRED ROSACRANS, P.M.

GENERAL MARKETS.

CHICAGO.

WHEAT.—Lower; Nov., 93¼@93⅜c; Dec., 93⅝@94c; the year, 93¼@93⅜c.

CORN.—Lower; November, 67⅜@68⅜c; the year, 60@60½c; Jan. 54@54½c.

OATS.—Lower; November, 36@36½c; Dec., 35¼@35⅜c; the year, 35¼@35⅜c.

RYE.—Firm; November 57⅛@58c; the year, 59c.

PROVISIONS.—Mess Pork higher; Nov., $17.22½@17.30; Dec., $16.95@17.02½; the year, $16.95@17.02½. Lard—Steady; November sold at $11.17½@11.35; Dec., $10.52½@10.57½; the year, $10.52½@10.62½.

CATTLE.—Market firm. We quote:

Fancy heavy export steers	$6.00@6.25
Choice fat steers	5.75@6.00
Good do.	5.25@5.50
Medium grade steers	4.25@4.75
Fair to medium steers	3.50@4.25

Hogs.—Market firm. Sales ranged from $6.10@6.35 for light packing and shipping; $6.25@6.55 for heavy packing, and from $6.25@6.60 for fair to choice smooth heavy shipping lots.

BUTTER.—Steady and firm. We quote: Choice to Fancy Creamery at 35@37c ⅌ lb; ordinary to good do. 25@30c; good to fair Dairy at 27@32c; common to fair do. 20@25c; Ladle-packed, 15@16c; packing stock at 12 13c; Grease, 9@11c.

NEW YORK.

WHEAT.—Higher; No. 2 Nov., $1.10¼ 1.10⅜; December, $1.10@1.10¼; January, $1.12⅜@1.12½. CORN.—Quiet; Mixed Western Spot, $1.10@1.15.

CINCINNATI.

FLOUR.—Market quiet; Family, $4.30@4.60. WHEAT—Firm: No. 2 Red Winter, 90c@$1.00. CORN.—Lower; No. 2 Mixed, 58c. OATS.—Higher; No. 2 Mixed, 40c.—RYE.—Quiet; No. 2 Fall, 63c. PROVISIONS—Pork dull at $18.00. Lard quiet at $11.25.—Bulk Meats firm; Clear sides $7.00@10.00.—Bacon dull; Clear sides $14.25.

MILWAUKEE.

WHEAT.—Lower; November, 94⅛c; December, 94⅝c; January, 95c; No. 3, 80c.—CORN.—Higher at 72c for No. 2. OATS.—Firm; No. 2 White, 41c. RYE.—Higher; 58c No. 1. BARLEY.—Lower at 74½c for No. 2.

ST. LOUIS.

WHEAT.—Higher; No. 2 Red Nov., 94@94⅝c; December, 94⅛@94⅝c; Jan., 96⅝. CORN.—Higher; November, 68¼@68c; the year, 53½@53⅝c; Jan., 49¼@49⅜c. OATS—Higher; Nov., 35@35¼c; Dec., 33⅛@33¼c; the year 33⅛@34c. RYE—Lower at 57c.—BARLEY.—Steady at 50@80c. PROVISIONS.—Pork lower at $18.00. Dry Salt Meats quiet at $7.00, 9.75, 10.00. Bacon steady at $9.25, 12.00, 12.12½. Lard lower; $11.25. HOGS—Higher; Yorkers, $6.00@6.30; butchers' to best heavy, $6.40@6.55.

BALTIMORE.

FLOUR.—Quiet; Western Superfine, $3.50@4.00; do. extra, $4.25@4.75; Family, $4.87@6.00. WHEAT—Western lower; No. 2 Winter Red Spot and Nov., $1.06⅞@1.07; December, $1.07¼@1.07⅜; January, $1.09@1.09⅝. CORN.—Western higher; Mixed Spot and November, 85@88c; December, 64⅝@65c. OATS.—Higher; Western White, 43@46c; Mixed do. 40@41. RYE—Higher at 64@67c.

BOSTON.

WOOL.—In fair demand; Ohio and Pennsylvania extras 49@49½c; Michigan extra fleeces, 38@39c; No. 1 fleeces, 42@46c; combing delaine do., 43@48c; unwashed do. 17@32c.

TECUMSEH MARKET.

Corrected Every Thursday Morning.

Apples, ⅌ barrel	1 75 @	2 00
Apples, dried, ⅌ lb	@	06
Butter, ⅌ lb	20 @	25
Barley, ⅌ bushel	60 @	72
Beans, ⅌ bushel	1 75 @	2 25
Buckwheat, ⅌ bushel	@	1 50
Buckwheat Flour, ⅌ hundred	@	4 50
Beef—dressed, ⅌ hundred	8 00 @	9 00
Beef Hides	5 @	6
Calf Skins, ⅌ lb	8 @	10
Corn in ear	30 @	40
Corn—shelled, ⅌ bushel	75 @	75
Clover Seed	5 00 @	5 25
Chickens—dressed	10 @	12
Eggs, ⅌ doz	@	22
Flour, ⅌ barrel	5 50 @	6 25
Hogs—dressed, ⅌ cwt	7 50 @	7 00
Hogs—live, ⅌ cwt	4 75 @	5 50
Hay, ⅌ ton	7 00 @	9 00
Honey, ⅌ lb	@	15
Ham, ⅌ lb	@	14
Lard, ⅌ lb	@	12
Oats, ⅌ bushel	33 @	40
Onions, ⅌ bushel	@	60
Potatoes, ⅌ bushel	40 @	45
Salt, ⅌ barrel	@	1 20
Sheep Pelts	50 @	1 00
Timothy Seed, ⅌ bushel	@	2 50
Turkeys—dressed, ⅌ lb	@	10
Wood, ⅌ cord	3 00 @	4 00
Wheat, White, ⅌ bushel	94 @	1 00
Wheat, Red, ⅌ bushel	95 @	1 00
Wool	30 @	32

OUR NEW

FALL STOCK

—OF—

HEAVY DRAPERIES

is rapidly coming in, and is well worthy of your attention. We make up

Long Curtains,

Portieres,

Valances,

—AND—

MANTLE LAMBREQUINS,

All in the Latest Styles and of the Newest materials.

We give special attention to Interior Decorations and ask the favor of a call from those thinking of such improvements.

STERLING & CO,

196 & 198 Summit Street,

TOLEDO, OHIO.

ESTATE OF PETER DAVIDSON.

STATE OF MICHIGAN County of Lenawee, ss.

At a session of the Probate Court, for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, on Tuesday, the 28th day of November, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present, Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Peter Davidson, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Edwin B. Wood, executor of the last will and testament of said deceased, alleging that he is ready to file his fourth account in this court as such executor, and praying that said account may be allowed, and that such other and further order may be made in the premises as the case may require, according to the statute in such case made and provided.

Thereupon it is ordered, that Tuesday, the 26th day of December next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing. (A True Copy.)

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.

A. H. BRIGGS, Probate Register. nov 30

EXECUTORS' SALE.

ESTATE of Esther Jones, deceased. Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a license granted to us, as executors of last will of said deceased by the Judge of Probate for Lenawee County, Michigan, made on the 27th day of November, A. D. 1882, therefore, we will sell on the 13th day of January, A. D. 1883, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the dwelling houses upon the premises respectively to be sold, the estate, title and interest of said deceased in and to those parcels of land situate in the village of Tecumseh, Lenawee County and State of Michigan, known and described as follows: The south half of the west two-thirds of lot fifteen of the original recorded plat of said village of Tecumseh, bounded west by Oneida street, north by George Wilson's land, east by the J. Plank lot, and south by Chicago street, being six rods north and south and four rods east and west. Lot No. twenty-eight of the original recorded plat of said village, being six rods by twelve rods. Also the north three-fourths of lot twenty-seven of the original recorded plat of said village of Tecumseh, being six rods by nine rods. Said lot twenty-seven is sold subject to a mortgage made by deceased for $110.00, dated September 9th, 1881, with interest thereon from September 9th, 1882, at eight per cent.

Terms of sale published at and before sale.

Dated November 28th, 1882.

BENJAMIN L. BAXTER,
EDWIN B. WOOD,
Executors.

Pensions,

Old claims completed; new claims filed. Claims for additional and increase pension, for bounty and back pay, for removal of charges of desertion under act August 7, 1882 and all other classes of soldiers' claims prosecuted promptly. Send stamp for circulars and questioning blanks.

LOUIS K. GILLSON,
War Claim and Pension Attorney,
95-97 Metropolitan Block, Chicago, Ill.
430 4½ St. Washington, D. C.

N. B.—I will be at No. 12 Kanter Block, Detroit, Mich., December 5, 6, and 7, and will be glad to meet any soldiers having unsettled claims.
LOUIS K. GILLSON, Pension Attorney.

ESTATE OF ISAAC L. KNIFFIN.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee—ss.

At a session of the Probate Court, for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, on Wednesday, the 29th day of November, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present, Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Isaac L. Kniffin, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Samuel Kniffin, administrator of said estate, alleging that he has paid the funeral expenses and the debts of said deceased, and the expenses of administration of said estate, and is ready to file his final account in this court, and praying for the allowance of said account, for an assignment and distribution of the residue of said estate to and amongst the persons entitled thereto, and for his discharge.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Tuesday, the 26th day of December, A.D. 1882, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.

(A True copy.)

A. H. BRIGGS Probate Register nov30

PATENTS

We continue to act as Solicitors for Patents, Caveats, Trade Marks, Copyrights, etc., for the United States, Canada, Cuba, England, France, Germany, etc. We have had thirty-five years' experience.

Patents obtained through us are noticed in the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN. This large and splendid illustrated weekly paper, $3.20 a year, shows the Progress of Science, is very interesting, and has an enormous circulation. Address MUNN & CO., Patent Solicitors, Pub's. of SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN, 37 Park Row New York. Hand book about Patents free.

EYE AND EAR SURGERY.

Dr. R. D. Tipple, Eye and Ear Surgeon, 307 Superior street, Toledo, treats all diseases of the eye ear, throat and nose both medically and surgically, upon scientific principles, inserts artificial eyes, adjusts spectacles, &c. Special attention given to straightening cross-eyes and removing cataracts. Consultations free.

ATTENTION PEOPLE!

WM. McCOWEN SPEAKS

SWINDLERS

Are those who advertise to sell goods at cost, and then charge you three times as much as their poorly made trash is worth.

I

Do not advertise to sell goods at cost, but do advertise to sell by far better goods for less money than any other house in this county. Strangers call every day at my immense warerooms and marvel at what they see.

Farmers go home with their wagons loaded with honest made Furniture bought at prices lower than the lowest.

City people are pouring in every day to select Christmas gifts from my elegant stock of fine and fancy Furniture too numerous to mention, and all go away saying no wonder that

Wm. McCOWEN

is the

Leading Furniture Man

IN TECUMSEH.

Attention, Farmers!

SEND FOR A FREE SPECIMEN COPY OF

THE OHIO FARMER!

ESTABLISHED 35 YEARS.

The Oldest, Largest, Most Enterprising, Reliable, Instructive and

BY FAR THE CHEAPEST

Agricultural, Live Stock, and Family Journal of America.

It is a 64-Column Weekly, and Frequent 16-Col. Supplements

At Only $1.25 per year Postage paid.

Making it by far the cheapest as well as the best first-class agricultural weekly in the country. Specimen copies sent free. Address

THE OHIO FARMER, Cleveland, O.

MAKE HENS LAY

An English Veterinary surgeon and Chemist now traveling in this country, says that most of the Horse and Cattle Powders sold here are worth less trash. He says that Sheridan's Condition Powders are absolutely pure and immensely valuable. Nothing on earth will make hens lay like Sheridan's Condition Powders. Dose, 1 teaspoonful to 1 pint food. Sold everywhere, or sent by mail for 8 letter-stamps. I. S. JOHNSON & Co., BOSTON, MASS.

WANTED!

All who intend buying a SEWING MACHINE to know that they can save money by buying at the

TECUMSEH SEWING MACHINE ROOMS

The largest stock and best assortment in the State.

SOLD ON TERMS TO SUIT ALL.

Good Machines from

$10.00 and UPWARDS.

Use none but LANDGRAF'S

CACHALOT OIL.

Trade established since 1868.

6,048 Feet of Band Instruments Sold by the Detroit Music Co.

63 Bands averaging 16 members each, each horn averaging 6 feet—Total 6,048 ft.

We refer you to any of the following bands, who have full sets of our Instruments:

Owosso, Lapeer, Otisville, Mt. Morris, Chester, Groveland, Capac, Frankfort, St. Louis, Carleton, Memphis, New Haven, Richmond, Grand Trunk Junction, Springwells, Tuscola, Mayville, Big Rapids, Reed City, Chase, Golden Theatre Co. (2)—at the close of the season 1880 each member bought his own instrument, in the spring of 1881 Prof. Rodi bought another full set—Williams Theatre Co., Whitney family, Ishay City, Washington, Flat Rock, Columbiaville, Otter Lake, Merrill, Wis.; Alma, Goodrich, Kell's band, (City), Wyandotte, Jackson, K. P., Linden, Waits, Denison, Texas; Port Sanilac, Lexington, Mecosta, Scottville, Kansas; Weston, Marine City, Edmore, Stony Point, Ont; Fenton, (3); Flushing, Carollton, Mo.; O.R.Mabley, St. John's, (ladies); St. Clair, Clarkton. Also one or more of our instruments are used in nearly every band in the country.

CUBBERDAN. 224 Woodward Ave., Detroit Mich. HARRY R. WILLIAMS.

SEE THE NEW

Birthday Cards

AT THE HERALD OFFICE.

The Tecumseh Herald.

VOL. XXXIII.--NO 31 TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 14, 1882. WHOLE NO. 1669

CROWN JEWEL, King of Base Burners. | JEWEL OAK, Handsomest round stove in the world.

CALL AND SEE THE LARGEST AND BEST ASSORTED

LINE OF STOVES

Ever shown in Southern Michigan, and at prices

TOO LOW TO MENTION.

Whitenack, Bordine & Co.

The Newest Designs

CLOAKS, PALETOTS AND DOLMANS.

Perfect Fitting,

Tastefully Trimmed

and Carefully Made.

Ready Made & to Measure

A. B. COTTON,

New Clothing,

New Cloths,

New Hats & Caps.

We are in daily receipt of new and seasonable goods, and can now show the most complete line in every department to be found in the market.

Our facilities for furnishing anything needed by boy or man are unequaled, and our prices are acknowledged on all hands to be the lowest. We invite an early inspection.

STRONG & McNAIR.

$1.25 Chromo!

GIVEN AWAY AT

A. W. SLAYTON'S

FOR 50 CENTS.

Any person buying $2.00 worth or more, at Slayton's for cash during the next 30 days we will give a large framed Chromo worth $1.25 for 50 cts.

DON'T FAIL TO GO TO

Slayton's FURNITURE Store

FOR YOUR

HOLIDAY GOODS!

AROUND THE COUNTY.

RIDGEWAY.

Good sleighing and fine winter weather.

Floyd Florence, one baby, and Ab. Palmer two, is the way our census increased last week. Ab. will now have to catch on to the lullaby solo. It would be a show worth attending to see him start off.

The pork buyers at Britton have chosen A. B. Clark, of the village, to act as their agent, consequently those wanting to obtain prices in this part of the world can talk with Brose.

W. J. Clark has two students in telegraphy, Walter Raymond and Orin Parks. Marvin Britton has advanced sufficiently to be able to take a train order, which he did the other night without any assistance. Pretty good for a twelve year old.

David Harrison has been under the doctor's care for the past few days.

Our people ought to patronize the Grange hall lecture course, which promises to be well worth the price of the tickets—75 cents.

WEST TECUMSEH.

By Local Telegraph Line:

A war on rabbits has commenced.

Have you seen them work on the new railroad is the inquiry now days.

G. W. McCollum's auction came off last Monday, having been adjourned from Thursday on account of the storm.

O. B. Bills can write opr. after his name now, as he is an operator on our local line. There are now twelve operators on the line and more taking lessons.

Mr. John Spaulding of Grand Rapids has been visiting in the neighborhood.

C. C. Whitmarsh, agent of the Farmer's Mutual Ins. Co., has been canvassing in the interest of the company, soliciting new members and changing the policies of old ones that wish a change made.

Dyspeptics, Read This!

William Collins, Bath Creek, Mich., writes us: I consider that my life has been saved by the use of that most reliable medicine, Coe's Dyspepsia Cure. For many years I suffered with Dyspepsia and used many remedies which were highly recommended, without relief. I am now permanently cured by the use of Coe's Dyspepsia Cure, and upon my recommendation, many others, to my personal knowledge, can testify to its great merit. It has never failed to cure.

No Doubt about it.

"Is Kellogg's Worm Tea a good medicine?" asked a young mother of an old lady who had successfully raised a large family of children. "Indeed it is," said the old lady. "I gave it to my children thirty odd years ago, and they are all living now." "Then," said the younger lady, "I will try it, for I believe my John has got worms."

A GIFT TO EVERY SUBSCRIBER.

This Offer is made by the New York Observer.

The oldest and best of the religious weeklies. For sixty years this undenominational, unsectarian and evangelical newspaper has been circulating in the United States and in almost every foreign country. Its subscribers are counted by tens of thousands. Each year its proprietors have added to its value, engaging fresh editors and correspondents at home and abroad, enlarging and multiplying its departments and endeavoring to realize their high ideal of the best Religious and Secular Family Newspaper. They offer this year, to every subscriber, new or old whose subscription is paid for 1883, the new book of Rev. S. Irenæus Prime, D.D., entitled "Prayer and its Answer," a handsome volume of nearly 200 pages, bound in cloth, the retail price of which is one dollar. Specimen copies of the paper sent free.

Address NEW YORK OBSERVER, New York.

Adrian Times: A number of people from the city viewed the transit of Venus through the telescope of the observatory of the Raisin Valley Seminary. Viewed through that instrument, the planet seemed about the size of a base ball, and appeared surrounded by a purple border. Through smoked glass to the otherwise naked eye the planet seemed not much bigger than a hazel nut. The sun was obscured through a portion of the contact.

Youth Renewed.

Ravenna, O. Aug. 8, 1881.

H. H. Warner & Co.: Sirs—I made use of your Safe Kidney and Liver Cure for a severe kidney difficulty, and to-day feel as well as when I was sixteen years old.

George Wisman.

THE PROBATE COURT.

Following is the record of business transacted at the probate court for the week ending Dec. 9, 1882:

Estate of Isaac L. Kuiffin, deceased; petition for the allowance of administrator's final account; hearing December 29, 1882.

Estate of Peter Bookman, deceased; affidavits of publishing and posting commissioner's notice; commissioner's warrant and report.

Estate of Alfred L. Treat, minor; release of guardian; order of discharge.

Estate of Hugh McConnell, deceased; executor's bond filed; letters issued; order appointing appraisers and commissioners; administratrix's account allowed; order of discharge of administratrix.

Estate of Charles R. Underwood, deceased; petition for allowance of administrator's final account; hearing January 2, 1883.

Estate of Charles H. Mahar, minor; petition for the allowance of guardian's account and for his discharge; hearing January 2, 1888.

Estate of Orila Car, an incompetent person; affidavit of publication; guardian account allowed; order of discharge of guardian.

Estate of Warner M. Comstock, deceased; affidavit of publication; will; proof and probate; bond filed; letters issued; order appointing appraisers and commissioners.

Estate of Barzillai W. Arnold, deceased; petition for the appointment of administrator; hearing December 26, 1882.

Estate of Jay J. Lowe, deceased; affidavit of publication; administrator's final account allowed; assignment; distribution; discharge.

Estate of Carrie E. Lowe, et al., minors; order appointing appraisers.

Estate of James East, deceased; proof of claims before the court; order allowing claims.

Estate of Robert M. Drake, deceased; affidavit of publication; administrator's account allowed; discharge.

Estate of Thomas S. Faxon, an incompetent person; resignation of guardian filed; petition for the appointment of guardian; hearing December 26, 1862.

Estate of Mary L. Sherwood, minor; release of guardian; order of discharge.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS.

Below is a list of transfers of Real Estate in Lenawee County for the week ending Dec. 9, 1882:

ADRIAN.

C. H. Comstock to T. Smallwood; land on sec. 17. $130.

DOVER.

Hiram Lord to Hiram E. Lord; land on sec. 33. $1,000.

Isaac R. Waterman to John Smith; land on secs. 15 and 10. $900.

DEERFIELD.

Isabella T. Clark to Jesse T. Exelby; land on sec. 11. $6,500.

OGDEN.

Samuel Reed to J. K. Somes; land on sec. 25. $1,450.

RIDGEWAY.

O. P. Hendershot to Rich. Adams; land on sec 2. $225.

RIGA.

Wm and Alexander Pritchard to Fritz Gasmond; land in village. $45.

SENECA.

Casper Rorick to E. C. Baldwin; land on sec. 7. $2,000.

TECUMSEH.

H. E. Hand to William Cannon; land in village. $2,300.

WOODSTOCK.

John Depuy to Abraham Depuy; land on sec. 31. $125.

Live and Learn.

Experience is a great teacher, and the longer we live the greater experience we gain. Should you be a traveler, the eye will be daily taking in variety of scenes, and the mind will be storing up knowledge gained by observation. The same applies to those who may never have been twenty miles away from the village where they were born; they have gained by experience much useful knowledge, even in their limited sphere of existence, which time and observation alone could instil into their minds. Like the little child who got its fingers burnt by playing with the fire, and whose experience taught it to avoid fire ever afterwards for its own welfare and happiness, we all live and learn. The great secret is to take advantage of the knowledge we gain, and put it to a useful purpose. Unfortunately there are many who miss the substance and grasp at the shadow; there are others again, however, who take advantage of knowledge gained, and put it to practical use. In this category are those who have used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, whether for Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Rheumatism, Neuralgia and other ailments. Experience has taught them it never fails in any case, and they fly to it again with a confidence that is never misplaced.

Farrand, Williams & Co., wholesale druggists, Detroit, Mich.

To a communist in a beer saloon the ship of State is a schooner.

Incredible.

P. A. Scratch, druggist, Ruthven, Ont., writes: "I have the greatest confidence in your Burdock Blood Bitters. In one case with which I am personally acquainted their success was almost incredible. One lady told me that half a bottle did her more good than hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine she had previously taken." Price $1.00.

"I never hear anything that's said against me," remarked the deaf man

OBITUARY.

Below we publish, from the Geneva Gazette, an obituary of Robert Wooden, Esq., of Waterloo, N. Y. The deceased was an uncle to Robert Wooden, Esq., of Cambridge, this county, his namesake, and also a great-uncle of our fellow townsman, J. W. Wooden.

WOODEN.—In the town of Waterloo, Sept. 24th, Robert Wooden, Esq., in the 82d year of his age.

The ancestors of Mr. W. came from Wales during the infancy of the American Colonies. They originally settled in or near Baltimore, Maryland. James Wooden, the father of the subject of this notice, served in the last French war, and also in the struggle for American Independence. He was discharged from service in the French war in this State, and having married he settled in or near Newburg, Orange county. He was the father of ten children, whose average term of years was fourscore—a length of life rarely attained by any family. He left Orange county in the year 1794, with a neighbor named Nicholson, who, with their families, traveled by sleighs drawn by oxen, in mid-winter, and at the end of four weeks, by way of the head of Cayuga Lake, reached what is called the "Spring Farm," of Geneva. On their arrival at this point, the family of Mr. Wooden were simultaneously seized with the small-pox, contracted, as they supposed, by an infected handkerchief picked up in their passage through Albany. He subsequently purchased a farm on the line now dividing Ontario and Seneca counties, some five miles west of the village of Waterloo, and near which, with one exception, his children also settled. The eldest son, William, went to Rochester, when only a single log tavern invited the emigrant to rest, on the site now covered by a beautiful city.

Robert, whose recent death we notice, was the youngest child, and a little more than a year old, when the family came to this part of the country. In the year 1812 he was married to Miss Mary Martin, who became the sharer and helper of his fortunes. In 1816 he purchased the farm adjoining on the south, the homestead of the late Peleg Pierson, and previously owned by John Straughan. He bought the farm on credit, and depended on his hands to earn the purchase money. He subsequently purchased forty acres and paid two thousand dollars, but lost both money and land by the interposition of a prior claim. Still later he purchased 160 acres, which he would have lost in a similar way but by the intervention of Gerrit Smith, of Peterborough, of whom the purchase was made, and who, on finding the title disputed, refunded the money paid, with the interest.

By his first marriage he was the father of ten children, seven of whom died before him. Of the three who survive, two sons, George and James, have been near him to comfort and help his declining years, while a daughter has made her home in the State of Michigan.

By his second marriage he was the father of five children, four daughters and a son, who, with their mother, live to lament his departure.

Mr. W. was a man of strong nerve and earnest purpose. He belonged to a hardier generation than the present. Nothing but the weight of years seemed sufficient to overcome his strong, compact, physical frame, and abate his natural force. He has also borne the reputation of a man of integrity and honor, and of great kindness in his family and in his intercourse with his neighbors.

In his death we note the departure of one whose life has run parallel with the history of our town. The term of his years—four-score and one—carries us back to the time when Samuel Bear pitched his tent in the Cayuga reservation at Scayes, when Jabez Gorham built his log dwelling on the site occupied by the Waterloo woolen mills, and when John Green, the mighty hunter, and the terror of the Seneca Indians, made his home at the point since called "Lundy's Corners." It was the day when throughout this vicinity reigned the dense forest, when the emigrant was guided by marked trees, and Indian trails; and when strong arms defended domestic animals from the prowling wolf and bear, with hickory clubs, in the absence of powder and bullet. But that day has passed away. The dark forest has given place to cultivated fields. Wild beasts and wilder men have receded with the wilderness, and given place to civilization and its varied blessings. And who have been the instruments of the mighty change? Who have laid the foundation for the present state of things? Surely other men—men of a past generation—of stronger hands and stouter hearts than ours, have labored and we have entered into their labors. What a debt of grateful love we owe to the memory of our fathers and mothers! How solemn the responsibility imposed on the present generations by the inheritance they have left!

AUCTION SALES.

H. L. Stewart will offer at public sale at the old home farm of the late Ira Stewart, 3½ miles north of Ridgeway, on the Ridge road, on Thursday, Dec. 21st, 1882, at 12 o'clock, m., a lot of personal property, consisting of horses, sheep, cows, brood sows, shoats, pigs, one choice Poland China boar, breeding ewes, spring lambs, 1 good standard reaper, 1 mower, harness, wagon, sleds, cutter, plows, harrows, double and single saws, 15 tons of hay, several hundred bushels of corn, corn stalks, household goods, etc. Terms as usual. Abe. Hanford auctioneer.

Grand Rapids is considerably stirred up about a wildcat insurance organization which is doing business there, and the promoters thereof freely submit to being abused like thieves.

Lieut. Newcomb, of the life saving service, at the Chicago station, has been ordered to proceed to the scenes and investigate the causes of the recent wrecks on Lake Michigan. The opinion is that some of the vessels were unseaworthy.

Henry Lusk, son of Augustus Lusk, of Rockford, Calhoun county, who left home 23 years ago (since which time his friends have never heard from him,) returned very unexpectedly a few days ago. He had been in California and other parts of the west.

Adrian Record: Hon. B. L. Baxter, of Tecumseh, recently drove rapidly to Deerfield, and desiring to take a train at that point, threw the reins to a young man with directions to take care of the animals. Thirty-six hours later Mr. Baxter returned, found the horses in the barn with the harness still on, and one of the animals dead.

Morenci Observer: Last Wednesday Dr. Bennett received from Clarence Koon, of Broadland, Dakota, "a snowy owl" that measured five and one half feet from tip to tip, and about two feet in length. It is a magnificent bird, and will be duly "stuffed" by the doctor, who is supposed to be the most skillful taxidermist in the state.

ONE of the new and interesting features at church entertainments this winter will be the "basket sociable." The young ladies prepare a basket filled with an elaborate repast, place their card on the basket, and then the baskets are sold to the gentlemen without their knowledge of their owner. Each gentleman then is expected to partake of the feast with the lady whose basket he has purchased. The result is a great deal of sport. These sociables are meeting with great success.

Adrian Times: Night before last, Mr. Fred. Meddick, who lives near the Reform School, was carrying a pail of milk to the house when he slipped and fell, severely bruising his side. By yesterday morning the injury pained him to such an extent that Dr. Stephenson was summoned, who examined Mr. Meddick and found the bruise a very bad one, so that the patient will be obliged to remain quiet for some time.

Adrian Press: Lyman W. Baker, of Rome, is totally blind, and has been since April last. He is the only man living in the town of Rome who settled there in 1833. He went 5 miles and deposited his vote at the last election, it being the fifty-sixth of his voting, and never has missed an election, either local or general, since his majority. The first vote that he cast for president was for Andrew Jackson in 1828.

Deerfield Record: A short time ago Noah Phelps robbed a man at Oakville, Monroe county, for which he was arrested. While being driven to jail he let his hat drop off, and when the officer got out to pick it up Phelps seized the reins and drove away. He then went to Grass Lake and stole a lot of clothes from his cousin, and finally last week he committed a burglary at Francisco, Jackson county, for which he was arrested at Jackson on the 2d.

Detroit Evening News: They have not yet forgotten Tom Navin at Adrian, and only a few days ago Alderman Gardner, Dr. Ryud, H. J. Trupp and a person named Dran had a red-hot altercation upon the subject of the dear departed Thoma. The alderman got a clip from Trupp that upended him, and in return was anxious to give the doctor a whirl. Others joined in and wanted to draw into the battle, peacemakers waved the white flag, law tackle was unlimbered, naughty words flew thick and fast.—Nobody was hurt, everybody concerned is now ashamed, and they still think of Tom occasionally.

Unrivaled

As being a certain cure for the worst forms of dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation, impurity of blood, torpid liver, disordered kidneys, etc., and as a medicine for eradicating every species of humor, from an ordinary pimple to the worst ulcer, Burdock Bitters stand unrivaled. Price $1.00.

THE Tecumseh HERALD and Detroit Free Press, $2.25.

A Heavy Swell.

Jacob H. Bloomer, Virgille, N. Y., writes: "Thomas' Eclectric Oil cured a badly swollen neck and sore throat in forty-eight hours. My wife was also cured of a lame foot in twenty-four hours."

Zoa-Phora is compounded solely for diseases of women. For these it is a positive cure.

An Ode to a Stovepipe.

Infernal stuff, your nature well I know.
So when I took you down six months ago,
Each piece I numbered, so that I might tell
Exactly how you'd go together well.

And now the time for chilly days draws nigh,
To put you up again I madly try,
But all in vain. The joints that then did fit
Now do not come within an inch of it.

I get you two-thirds put in place, and then
Crash you go tumbling to the floor again.
Once more I try. You're rather full of soot,
And I am getting dusted from head to foot.

I jamb my thumb, but still I persevere
One piece goes down again and takes my ear.
I grab to catch the piece, another goes,
And, falling, scrapes the hide all off my nose.

And then my blood gets boiling, and I say
By all that's blue, I'll fix you, anyway!
Once more I go to work. By patience great
I get all but a single section straight.

And that I am about to place, when, oh!
The chair I stand on tips. Down flat I go;
While on and round me with a horrid crash,
The whole comes down again in one grand smash.

And then my wife remarked: "I never saw
A man so clumsy!" I say; "hold your jaw!
And for a human send, while I retire
To wash myself, and swear, to vent my ire."

AN ARTIST'S DREAM.

Carradine sat alone at his easel, painting; and as he painted he thought.—Eight years before, when he was a poor and struggling boy, just entering on that race which must be run by every aspirant to art and its honors, there happened to him something which neither time nor toil had ever been able to efface from his memory. As he was passing along the streets a wreath of fragrant roses suddenly fell on his head, and, looking up in wonder, he beheld, reaching out from the embroidered draperies of an overhanging window, a child, with fairy-like proportions, with great, dark eyes, and long, curling black locks, who stood smiling and throwing him kisses from her curved lips, colored like a pomegranate.—While she still gazed a nurse had come forward and drawn the child away; the curtains were closed, and he saw the little creature no more.

Such was the vision that the artist had carried so long in his memory; in his memory only, for he had no second glimpse of the child. That very day an accident occurred which kept him a prisoner in his room for some weeks, and when next he went out the house was empty, and a placard with great flaring letters announcing it for sale stared him in the face, from the same window in which the little white-robed elf had stood waving her hand and smiling to him. In course of time other faces appeared there, but they were strange faces and among them was never the one for which he looked.

Now, as Carradine sat painting alone, he thought of all this; of the struggle that had ended at length in success; of his hard unfriended boyhood and of the beautiful child with her fragrant rose-crown, which had seemed almost like a prophecy. That rose-wreath, dry and withered now, was all that was left to him of the fair vision, but when this morning, in turning over an old portfolio, he had come upon it by chance, it spoke to him of that by-gone day just as eloquently as when its blossoms were fresh and full.

"Eight years ago," he said, thoughtfully, letting the shriveled circlet slip through his fingers slowly. "She must be near 16 now—if she lives. If? No, I do not doubt her living presence—somewhere. I wonder where she is now and what she is like at 16?"

With that he placed the wreath beside his easel, and began to paint. The face, as it grew on his canvas, presented a young girl in the dewy morning blush of first youth, with shadows in the great dark eyes and a half smile about the bright curved lips, like an embodied summer sun shower. It was thus that the artist pictured his ideal of the child-woman, whose infantile look and smile for eight long years had been his own dream of love.

Carradine had not had an easy life.—An orphan from his earliest years, poor and unfriended, he had striven hard for the means to gratify that inherent idolatry for art which was always clamoring to find expression in form and coloring. He had fought and he had won; but now, at 26, he stood in the place which he had gained for himself almost as much alone at the very heart as he had been eight years before when the child's gift came to him as a prophecy.

It was not that he was friendless.—There were men who liked and sought him, women who would have gladly taught him to forget his loneliness in their affection. But though his nature responded readily to any kindness, there was one chord, deeper than all, that remained untouched; and, from the sweetest glances, his thoughts went back to the unknown child that had smiled down on him so long ago.

The ideal head became his great source of enjoyment, and a dreamy softness shaded his dark-gray eyes, as line by line and tint by tint took him back into that past, which, all lifeless as it was, seemed to him, in those moments, more real than the busy present. Yet now, in reviewing that one bright vision of his memory, it was not so much the lovely child that he saw, in fancy, as the beautiful girl whose face, with fuller depth and sweetness, looked out at him from his own canvas.

Instinctively, he hardly knew why, he disliked to work on this picture in any other presence, and he devoted to it only his hours of solitude. So it happene that it was nearly finished when, by some chance, a friend discovered him bending over it, too absorbed to notice any approach. As the door opened, Carradine rose hastily, turning his easel to the wall, so as to conceal the face upon it. This little stratagem, however, was destined to be of no avail. Having been marked by the intruder—one of those cordial, well-meaning people, good-natured to a degree, but with little delicacy of perception—the action at once aroused his curiosity.

"Aha, master painter," he said, with a laugh, "let us see what it is that you work at by yourself till it steals away your eyes and ears. Only one peep!"

With that, he laid his hand on the frame and receiving no forbidding word from Carradine, turned it round. The next moment he was loud in praise.

"But who is it, Carradine? If it is a portrait tell me where to find the original, and I will, if it is a seven day's journey!"

solved to go no more on so fruitless an errand. Shutting himself in his studio he began to paint, but, strive as he would, he could command neither hand nor fancy. Finally, tired of repeated failure, he abandoned work, and yielded to the impulse which drew his steps in the customary direction.

When he entered the small side-room in which his picture hung he found but two persons within, a young man and a girl.

Carradine could not see the faces of these two, but, with an earnestness for which he was at a loss to account, he followed their retreating figures as they moved slowly toward his picture.—But the next moment an exclamation of astonishment burst from the lips of the young man.

"Why, here is your portrait, Leila!—What does it mean? Who can the painter be?"

With that, he hurried out to purchase a catalogue. Carradine advanced quickly to the girl.

"I am the painter," he said.

She turned and looked at him with one steady gaze from those glorious eyes that had haunted his visions for so many years. Then she spoke:

"You painted that picture? and how?"

"From remembrance," he answered. "It was my only tribute to the little unknown princess who crowned me once with roses. Does she, too, remember it?"

For a moment doubt was in her face; but as he looked fixedly at her it vanished in certainty. A smile just touched the bright lips.

"It was you, then, on whom I forced my roses? a princess who gave away honors unasked. How often I have wondered since——"

She stopped, turned to the canvas and added abruptly, "But I was a child then: and here—"

"Here you are a woman," said Carradine, completing the unspoken sentence. "Is it so hard to understand?—The same power that kept the child in my heart showed me into what she would ripen."

She did not look at him now, but at the picture, as she asked in a low voice, "And whom am I to thank for such an honor?"

"My name is Hubert Carradine," he answered, and saw at once that it was no unfamiliar word to her. "And yours? Through all these years your face has haunted me always, but your name I never knew."

She hesitated a moment, then turned to him.

"You never knew my name? Then think of me still as you have thought of me through all these years," she said, a half smile lingering about her mouth, but never lighting the great dark that was shaded by some subtle sadness.—The look, the tone, transported Carradine beyond all remembrance of place or circumstance, into the unreal realm of imagination in which his wish was supreme ruler.

"I have thought of you always as my life and my love," he said, half unconsciously his dreamy, deep gray eyes glowing upon her face. She blushed suddenly, and then paled in an instant. Just then her former companion entered the room.

"I am Leila Auverney,' she said, hastily, "and this is Cecil Wyndham, my——my betrothed husband."

Not another word was said. As the young man approached, Carradine fell back a step and looked at the two. His was a fair, handsome face, so little marked as yet by time, that it would be hard for an unpracticed eye to conjecture with what lines the shaping character would yet stamp it. Nevertheless, with one keen gaze Carradine estimated both present and future.

She said a few low-spoken words to her companion, who presently moved toward Carradine, the painter of this picture?"

Carradine bowed without speaking.

"Will you pardon me for asking if it is a fancy sketch?" continued Mr. Wyndham.

"Partly so, but suggested by the face of a little girl," answered the artist.

"But the likeness is so very striking!"

Carradine smiled.

"If I myself knew where to find such an original, I should not be here to tell you my good friend," he answered, evasively.

"Oh, a fancy sketch," said the other, misled, as the artist had desired. "I might have saved myself the trouble of asking. No real flesh and blood face ever looked like that—the more shame to nature, I say! Of course you will exhibit it, Carradine?"

"No," answered the painter quietly.

"No!" repeated the other in surprise. "But, my dear fellow, you must, or I shall betray your secret, and you will have a swarm of visitors, worse than a plague of Egypt, let in upon you."

Carradine hesitated. A chance word in his friend's speech had suggested a possibility that made his heart leap in spite of sober reason.

"You are right," he said. "I shall send the picture for exhibition. It will be better so."

After his visitor had left him alone again Carradine bent long over his easel gazing into the lovely, upturned face, until it began to fade into the gathering twilight.

"If—if!" he murmured to himself, half unconsciously. "But it cannot be. Yet I will send it—and perhaps——"

And so the picture was sent, in due time; and it seemed almost as if Caradine's soul had gone with it and drawn him to follow. Hour after hour, and day after day, he sat in the gallery, scrutinizing eagerly every face amid the visitors, whom taste or fashion had brought to look at the now celebrated artist's latest success. Every night he went away unsatisfied and every morning he returned with hope springing afresh in his heart.

Still, the object of his search, whatever it may have been, does not appear; and one day, discouraged at last, he re- muttered the young gentleman. "I must have it at any rate. Of course you will part with it—at your own price?"

"The picture is not for sale," said Carradine, quietly, still regarding the young man with that cool, steady gaze which had already caused him to betray a hesitation, almost confusion, very unlike his usual easy confidence. He seemed to have an instinctive knowledge that the artist was measuring him, and to shrink from that measurement with unconscious dread.

Carradine saw Leila Auvernay once more before she returned to her home in a distant town. Then he took his picture from the academy walls, and hung it in his studio, where his eyes could find it whenever he looked away from his work. For he did not give up work yet, among themselves, his friends pronounced him an altered man, and marveled what had caused so subtle a difference. Always quiet, he now seemed to live in an ideal world of his own; and, whatever he might occupy himself with there was that in his manner which appeared to imply that it was only a temporary diversion until the coming of some event for which he was waiting.

So passed half a year, at the end of which there came a letter to Carradine. It was very brief, but it was enough to assure him of that which he had been almost unconsciously expecting.

The letter was from Leila Auvernay. He went to her at once. She met him with a laughing light in her eyes such as he had not seen there when she stood in the gallery beside her betrothed husband; a light which recalled the merry child who had smiled down on him so long ago.

"Mr. Carradine," she said, "I told you that my fortune was gone, but I did not tell you how utterly it had been swept away. I am nothing better than a beggar. Will you take me for one of your students, for charity's sake?"

He looked searchingly into her smiling face.

"And Mr. Wyndham?" he asked, in a low voice.

She laughed without so much as a flush of emotion.

"Mr. Wyndham has gone with the rest of my worldly possessions. Did I not say that I had lost everything? You see, Mr. Carradine, that I am not as much worth now as my picture."

The words, as she said them, did not seem bitter. He took her hands.

"Leila," he said, "does your loss make you unhappy?"

"Do I look so?" she asked, gayly. "As for the marriage it was my father's wish, and to gratify his dying request I consented—before I knew my own heart——" Here a vivid, color shot into her cheek, but she went on. "There never was love on my side; and on his—well, money is more than love—with some natures. I do not wish to blame him."

Carradine's grasp tightened on her hands.

"Leilia," he said, "once your answer put a bar between, when I spoke words that were surprised out of my heart.—Would it be so now, if I should say them once more? My love, my life, will you come to me?"

"Will I come!" she repeated, looking up in his eyes and drawing nearer, until his arms silently folded about her.

And so Carradine found his love at last.

Something to Live For.

It has been asserted by scientific surgeons that the will-power of a sick man has a great deal to do with his dying, and the case of Charles O'Conor is cited as evidence. A still stronger case occured in Michigan the past summer. An old man, living in the Northern part of the State, got out a lot of timber many years ago for a toll-road company, but the company failed and left him in the lurch. For years and years he tried to sell the timber to this one or that, but no one wanted it, and at last time and decay rendered the beams almost worthless. Last summer the Supervisors of that county advertised for proposals to build a bridge, and the old man put in a bid. While waiting to see what would be done he was taken very sick, and he grew worse so rapidly that a council of doctors was called. After due deliberation he was informed that he was approaching his end.

"When will I know about that bridge?" he coolly asked.

"The bids will be opened to-day."

"Well, I'll send John over to see who gets the job, and my living or dying will depend on his news."

At 5 o'clock in the afternoon the son and the family physician arrived in company. The old man was neither better nor worse.

"Well?" he asked, as John approached.

"Our bid was accepted, father."

"And we've got the job?"

"Yes; but the doctor says you can't live."

"I can't, eh? I'm not only going to live to build that bridge, but I'm going to work that square timber into it up to the last foot, or my name isn't John Rogers!"

It is a fact, vouched for by a dozen good men, that he was off that dying bed in a week, and in less than a fortnight he was at work on the bridge.—Detroit Free Press.

Hardening the Body."

A young man was an earnest advocate of a theory that the human body can accommodate itself to any temperature in which it may be placed. One winter he determined to harden himself by wearing no covering for his ears; they were badly frozen on a very cold day, and were tender for several years after. He grew wise and abandoned the hardening process.

A young woman heard an eloquent lecture on the importance of fresh air in chambers at night. The lecturer said there was no danger from a window slightly opened; the body would soon harden itself so as to resist the effect of the exposure. She tried the experiment one cold night and caught a severe cold, which lasted the entire winter. She lost faith in hardening against the cold. A young mother maintained that children ought not to be brought up too tenderly. Arms and legs ought to be hardened by exposure in early years, and not be made tender by warm coverings in winter. She lost her two children by croup and pneumonia, induced, as the physician said, by insufficient clothing. She gave up the attempt to harden the other.

The best way to harden the body is to protect it well from extremes both of cold and heat, and build up a strong constitution by good food, good sleep and good exercise. The Scotch Highlanders, with their bare legs, are victims to rheumatism.

A GIFT TO EVERY SUBSCRIBER.

This Offer is made by the New York Observer.

The oldest and best of the religious weeklies. For sixty years this undenominational, unsectarian and evangelical newspaper has been circulating in the United States and in almost every foreign country. Its subscribers are counted by tens of thousands. Each year its proprietors have added to its value, engaging fresh editors and correspondents at home and abroad, enlarging and multiplying its departments and endeavoring to realize their high ideal of the best Religious and Secular Family Newspaper. They offer this year, to every subscriber, new or old whose subscription is paid for 1883, the new book of Rev. S. Irenæus Prime, D.D., entitled "Prayer and its Answer," a handsome volume of nearly 200 pages, bound in cloth, the retail price of which is one dollar. Specimen copies of the paper sent free.

Address NEW YORK OBSERVER,
New York.

Deerfield Record: A telegram was received here Saturday, stating that the team and buggy, which was hired at the livery stable on the 14th, by a bogus drover for a three day's cruise around the country, were in the custody of an officer at Bronson. Joe Bragg started on the noon train for that place, found his team all right and returned home with it Monday. The team had been at Bronson nine days, where it was left by the drover. He attempted to sell the rig at any price, but on account of his anxiety to dispose of the same, found no purchasers, and becoming suspicious, skipped for unknown parts.

Joy, Joy to the World.

If you meet a man who looks as if he had lost all his frends, had his house burned down and business destroyed, just make up your mind that he either has dyspepsia or his liver is out of order. The best thing you can do for such a woebegone individual is to advise him to go to Baker & Hall's drug store and get a bottle of Dr. Jones' Red Clover Tonic, which will cure him without fail. Also an infallible remedy for pimples and blotches on the face. Only 50 cents a bottle.

The smoke of battle having cleared away—oh, shoot the smoke, shoot the battle; let's talk about something else. politics are getting monotonous; what are you going to buy your wife for a Christmas present, for sitting up nights all the fall, keeping a warm fire for you, while you were "having a little fun with the boys" electioneering?—That's the question.—[Tecumseh Herald.

Oh, shoot the Chistmas present, shoot the boys. If there had not been so much sitting up done and making it so warm for us when we got home, we would not be the wreck that we are.—[Monroe Democrat.

Would you be free from Catarrh, Hay Fever and Cold in Head? Try Ely's Cream Balm. It is curing hundreds of chronic cases. Price 50 cents. Apply into the nostrils with little finger.

A gentleman from Orwell, Pa., called my attention to Ely's Cream Balm as a remedy for Catarrh, Hay Fever, etc. He was so earnest in asserting it to be a positive cure (himself having been cured by it) that I purchased a stock. The Balm has already effected a number of cures. P. F. Hyatt, M.D., Bordertown, N. J.

Mr. John R. Bennett, druggist, Muskegon, Mich.—In regard to your inquiries about Elys' Cream Balm for the cure of Catarrh, my answer is, I can recommend it always as the best remedy I have ever used. Dr. J. S. Vaughan, Dentist, Muskegon, Mich.

Important to Travelers.

Special Inducements are offered you by the BURLINGTON ROUTE. It will pay you to read their advertisement to be found elsewhere in this issue.

That old established remedy, Downs Elixir, still more than holds its own in the public estimation, despite sharp and active competition. It is a "home remedy," and in this locality needs no words of praise from us, so well and favorably known is it. It is the standard remedy for coughs, colds and all throat troubles, with great numbers of our people, and their continued use and unsolicited recommendation of it speaks volumes in its favor.—Burlington, Vt., Free Press, January 26, 1882.

A company has been formed at Muskegon for the manufacture of barrel hoops. It will make 17,000 per day.

Hickory Corners, Mich., Aug. 25.

J. D. Kellogg, Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for some years with rheumatism in my back and limbs, and could get no permanent relief.—My mother-in-law recommended your Columbian Oil, which entirely cured her of inflammatory rheumatism. I have taken one bottle, which has cured me. My wife has also used it for neuralgia, and other aches and pains, it always curing almost instantly. Respectively Yours,

Leonard Hoit.

A MAIDEN lady has resolved to change her name to "Conclusions," having heard that men sometimes jump that way.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all kinds of Skin Eruptions. This Salve is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction in every case or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by

All Druggists.

I. Ship Speaks of His Wife.

Indianapolis, Ind.

Mr. A. Kiefer—Dear Sir: My wife has for several years been a great sufferer from periodical attacks of Neuralgia in the head. Several of the most eminent physicians had been called upon to treat her, but they could only give temporary relief.

About two years ago she commenced using the Taxarine, and I am gratified to say, since then she has had no recurrence of those terrible pains. I attribute her restoration to health entirely to the use of Taxarine, and, in conclusion would say to all who suffer that excutiating of all pains to give Taxarine a trial. Yours etc. I. Ship.

For sale by all druggists.

Taxarine Memorandum Books free.

The morality of domestic life is the very corner-stone of civilization.

TO THE AFFLICTED.

Since the introduction of Kellogg's Columbian Oil it has made more permanent cures and given better satisfaction on Kidney Complaints and Rheumatism than any known remedy. Its continued series of wonderful cures in all climates has made it known as a safe and reliable agent to employ against all aches and pains, which are the forerunners of more serious disorders. It acts speedily and surely, always relieving suffering and often saving life. The protection it affords by its timely use on rheumatism, Kidney affection, and all aches and pains, wounds, cramping pains, cholera morbus, diarrhoea, coughs, colds, catarrh, and disorders among children, makes it an invaluable remedy to be kept always on hand in every home. No person can afford to be without it, and those who have once used it never will. It is absolutely certain in its remedial effects, and will always cure when cures are possible. Call at C. A. Wright & Co.'s and get a memorandum book giving more all details of the curative properties of this wonderful medicine.

Relief Found at Last.

Carmel, Ind.

A. Kiefer—Dear Sir: I was afflicted with derangement of the Liver, which caused a general derangement of my whole system. Had three day ague for two years, from which I found no relief until induced to try your Taxaxine, which I am happy to say affected a cure. I am enjoying fine health and have had no ague for over one year. Yours, etc., John Jeffries.

Jealousy.

Some poet has said that "All the ments of the damned we find in thee, Oh, Jealousy, thou tyrant of the mind." This is grandly sweep and magnificently inaccurate. A sufferer from Indigestion knows the contrary. Indigestion, the vi of the tragedy played upon the gastric juices of the stomach can, and does double discount the horrors of jealousy. Jealousy is often an attendant upon the later, and when indigestion is removed, this jaundiced companion of a deranged liver flies. Taraxine is the best known remedy extant for impaired digestion, deranged liver, and diseases of the bowels and kidneys.

For sale by all druggists.

Free to Everyone.

A 10c sample of Hill's Peerless Cough Syrup. We also sell the large bottles on an absolute guarantee. If not satisfied after using, return the empty bottle and we will refund your money. We also sell the Peerless Worm Specific on the same terms. No cure, no pay. Cobbs' Little Podophyllin Pills will cure headache, billiousness and constipation. No pay. One pill a dose.

C. A. Wright & Co.

The New Discovery.

Dr. Deming's Pile Ointment, the discovery of a physician of wide reputation, who has achieved the greatest success, the most conspicuous distinction, and the highest honors in his profession, is a sure cure for blind, bleeding, itching and ulcerated piles. A single box has frequently been known to cure the most obstinate case, and thousands who have used this great remedy attest its efficacy.—For sale by all druggists.

Griggs' Glycerine Salve.

The best on earth can truly be said of Griggs' Glycerine Salve, which is a sure cure for cuts, bruises, scalds, burns, wounds and all other sores. Will positively cure piles, tetter and all skin eruptions. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Only 25 cents. For sale by Baker & Hall.

"Rough on Rats."

The thing desired found at last.—Ask Druggists for "Rough on Rats." It clears out rats, mice, roaches, flies, bed-bugs. 15c., boxes.

To twit a man of his faults, is to expose a greater fault of your own.

Brain and Nerve.

Wells' Health Renewer, greatest remedy on earth for impotence, leanness, sexual debility, &c., $1. at druggists. Mich. Depot, J. E. Davies & Co., Detroit, Mich.

A man of integrity will never listen to any reason against conscience.

Don't Die in the House.

Ask druggists for "Rough on Rats." It clears out rats, mice, bedbugs, roaches, vermin, flies, ants, insects.—15c. per box.

1883.

Harper's Magazine.

ILLUSTRATED.

Harper's Magazine begins its sixty-sixth volume with the December Number. It is not only the most popular illustrated periodical in America and England, but also the largest in its scheme, the most beautiful in its appearance, and the best magazine for the home. A new novel, entitled, For the Major, by Constance Fenimore Woolson, the author of Anne, was begun in the November Number. In literary and artistic excellence the Magazine improves with each successive number. Special efforts have been made for the lighter entertainment of its readers through humorous stories, sketches, &c.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE, One Year $4 00
HARPER'S WEEKLY, " " 4 00
HARPER'S BAZAR, " " 4 00
The THREE above named publications, One Year 10 00
Any TWO above named, One Year 7 00
HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE, One Year 1 00
HARPER'S MAGAZINE, HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE, ... 5 00
HARPER'S FRANKLIN SQUARE LIBRARY, One Year (52 Numbers) $10 00

Postage free to all subscribers in the United States or Canada.

The volumes of the Magazine begin with the number for [illegible] of each year, [illegible] specified, it will be understood that the subscriber wishes to begin with the current Number.

The last Eight Volumes of Harper's Magazine, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of $3 00 per volume. Cloth Cases, for binding, 50 cents each—by mail, postpaid.

Index to Harper's Magazine, Alphabetical, Analytical, and Classified, for Volumes 1 to 60, inclusive, from June, 1850, to June, 1880, one vol., 8vo, Cloth $3 00.

Remittances should be made by Post-Office Money Order, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of Harper & Brothers.

Address HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

1883.

Harper's Weekly

ILLUSTRATED.

Harper's Weekly stands at the head of American illustrated weekly journals. By its unpartisan position in politics, its admirable illustrations, its carefully chosen serials, short stories, sketches, and poems, contributed by the foremost artists and authors of the day, it carries instruction and entertainment to thousands of American homes.

It will always be the aim of the publishers to make Harper's Weekly the most popular and attractive family newspaper in the world.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS

HARPER'S MAGAZINE, One Year $4 00
HARPER'S WEEKLY, " " 4 00
HARPER'S BAZAR, " " 4 00
The THREE above named publications, One Year 10 00
Any TWO above named, One Year 7 00
HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE, One Year 1 00
HARPER'S MAGAZINE, HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE, ... 5 00
HARPER'S FRANKLIN SQUARE LIBRARY One Year (52 Numbers) 10 00

Postage free to all subscribers in the United States or Canada.

The volumes of the Weekly begin with the first number for January of each year. When no time is mentioned, it will be understood that the subscriber wishes to commence with the Number next after the receipt of order.

The last Four Annual Volumes of Harper's Weekly, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by mail, postage paid, or by express, free of expense (provided the freight does not exceed one dollar per volume), for $7 00 per volume.

Cloth Cases for each volume, suitable for binding, will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of $1 00 each.

Remittances should be made by Post Office Money Order or Draft to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of HARPER & BROS.

Address HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

1883.

Harper's Bazar.

ILLUSTRATED.

This popular journal is a rare combination of literature, art, and fashion. Its stories, poems, and essays are by the best writers of America; its engravings possess the highest artistic excellence; and in all matters pertaining to fashion it is universally acknowledged to be the leading authority in the land. The new volume will contain many brilliant novelties.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS

HARPER'S MAGAZINE, One Year $4 00
HARPER'S WEEKLY, " " 4 00
HARPER'S BAZAR, " " 4 00
The THREE above-named publications, One Year 10 00
Any TWO above named, One Year 7 00
HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE, One Year 1 00
HARPER'S MAGAZINE, HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE, ... 5 00
HARPER'S FRANKLIN SQUARE LIBRARY One Year (52 Numbers) 10 00

Postage free to all subscribers in the United States or Canada.

The Volumes of the Bazar begin with the first Number for January of each year. When no time is mentioned, it will be understood that the subscriber wishes to commence with the Number next after the receipt of order.

The last Four Annual Volumes of Harper's Bazar, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by mail, postage paid, or by express, free of expense (provided the freight does not exceed one dollar per volume), for $7 00 per volume.

Cloth Cases for each volume, suitable for binding, will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of $1 00 each.

Remittances should be made by Post-Office Money Order or Draft, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of HARPER & BROS.

Address HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

1883.

HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE.

An Illustrated Weekly—16 Pages,
Suited to Boys and Girls of from Six to Sixteen Years of Age.

Volume IV. Commences November 7, 1882.

The YOUNG PEOPLE has been from the first successful beyond anticipation.—[N. Y. Evening Post.

"It has a distinct purpose, to which it steadily adheres—that, namely, of supplanting the vicious papers for the young with a paper more attractive as well as more wholesome.—[Boston Journal.

For neatness, elegance of engraving and contents generally, it is unsurpassed by any publication of the kind yet brought to our notice.—[Pittsburgh Gazette.

TERMS:

Harper's Young People, Per Year, Postage Prepaid, $1.50.

Single Numbers, Four Cents each.

Specimen copy sent on receipt of Three Cents.

The Volumes of Harper's Young People for 1881 and 1882, handsomely bound in Illuminated Cloth, will be sent by mail, postage prepaid, on receipt of $2.00 each. Cover for Young People for 1882, 35 cents; postage, 13 cents additional.

Remittances should be made by Post-Office Money Order or Draft, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of HARPER & BROTHERS.

Address, HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

883.

agazine.

RATED

rous, its sixty-sixth volume number. It is not only the al periodical in America and largest in its scheme, the pearance, and the best mag- new novel, entitled, For the more Woolson, the author the November Number. In cellence the Magazine is ove number. Special efforts e lighter entertainment of nerous stories, sketches, &c.

PERIODICALS.

INE, One Year $4 00
" " 4 00
" " 4 00
med publications, One 10 00
ed, One Year 7 00
PEOPLE, One Year 1 50
E, } 5 00
PEOPLE, }
IN SQUARE LIBRARY,
bers) $10 00

subscribers in the United

Weekly begin with the first of each year. When no ise understood that the commence with the Number of order.

nual Volumes of Harper's binding, will be sent by mail, press, free of expense (pro- not exceed one dollar per volume.

volume, suitable for bind- mail, postpaid, on receipt of

be made by Post Office to avoid chance of loss.

to copy this advertisement order of HARPER & BROS.

& BROTHERS, New York.

1883.

's Bazar.

STRATED

is a rare combination of lit- on. Its stories, poems, and writers of America; its en- ghest artistic excellence; and ng to fashion it is univer- be the leading authority in volume will contain many

PERIODICALS

INE, One Year $4 00
" " 4 00
" " 4 00
med publications, One 10 00
ed, One Year 7 00
PEOPLE, One Year 1 50
E, } 5 00
PEOPLE, }
IN SQUARE LIBRARY
bers) 10 00

subscribers in the United

Bazar begin with the first of each year. When no time understood that the commence with the Number of order.

nual Volumes of Harper's Bazar, binding, will be sent by mail, postage press, free of expense (provided the one dollar per volume), for volume, suitable for binding, postpaid, on receipt of $7 00

be made by Post Office to avoid chance of loss.

to copy this advertisement order of HARPER & BROS.

& BROTHERS, New York.

1883.

YOUNG PEOPLE.

Weekly—16 Pages,

nd Girls of from Six Years of Age.

ences November 7, 1882,

has been from the first sue- ation.—[N. Y. Evening Post. pose, to which it steadily ad- supplanting the vicious pa- ith a paper more attractive me.—[Boston Journal. ce of engraving and contents essed by any publication of to our notice.—[Pittsburgh

ERMS:

People, Per Year, repaid, $1.50.

r Cents each.

on receipt of Three Cents.

per's Young People for 1881 bound in illuminated Cloth, stage prepaid, on receipt of Young People for 1882, $5 additional.

be made by Post-Office Money l chance of loss.

to copy this advertisement order of Harper & Bros.

& BROTHERS, New York.

1883.

YOUNG PEOPLE.

Weekly—16 Pages,

nd Girls of from Six Years of Age.

ences November 7, 1882,

has been from the first sue- ation.—[N. Y. Evening Post. pose, to which it steadily ad- supplanting the vicious pa- ith a paper more attractive me.—[Boston Journal. ce of engraving and contents essed by any publication of to our notice.—[Pittsburgh

ERMS:

People, Per Year, repaid, $1.50.

r Cents each.

on receipt of Three Cents.

per's Young People for 1881 bound in illuminated Cloth, stage prepaid, on receipt of Young People for 1882, $5 additional.

be made by Post-Office Money l chance of loss.

to copy this advertisement order of Harper & Bros.

& BROTHERS, New York.

SAFE KIDNEY AND LIVER CURE

For all Diseases of the Kidneys, Liver, Urinary Organs, Malaria and Bright's Disease. The Best Blood Purifier.

WARNER'S

Beware of Fraud.

Unscrupulous parties have tried to imitate our Remedy and deceive the public by using SIMILAR NAMES, but do not be deceived; see that the word SAFE with picture of an Iron Safe, on a black wrapper and white letters is on every package. Also, see that it is on the label and stamp, and take no other.

H. H. WARNER & CO.
ROCHESTER, N.Y.

KING OF THE BLOOD.

The Most Thorough Purifier of the Blood Yet Discovered.

Cures all Humors, from a Common Eruption to the Worst Scrofula.

It purifies the Blood.
It invigorates the Liver.
It regulates the Bowels.
It strengthens the Stomach.
It gives vivacity in place of lassitude; cheerfulness in place of gloom, and robust vigor in place of debility.

Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Disordered Liver, Constipation, Nervous Affections, General Debility, in short all the numerous diseases and discomforts caused by impure blood are speedily conquered by this powerful corrector, the chief and sovereign of all ancient or modern medical discoveries—KING OF THE BLOOD.

ITS NAME IS ITS BEST DESCRIPTION as it is a royal dispenser of the blessings of health and vanquishes the foes that lurk in the blood.

It banishes PIMPLES, SALT RHEUM, SCALY ERUPTIONS, ULCERS, SCALD HEAD, FEVER SORES, and all SCROFULOUS DISORDERS.

It checks CONSUMPTION in its early stages. It has frequently cured it when advanced.

It disperses TUMORS and CANCERS without the Surgeon's knife.

It cures DROPSY, general or partial.

It cures FEMALE WEAKNESS and DISEASE.

It reduces in a safe and effectual manner all swellings, external or internal.

It eradicates the effects of Venerial Disease and Mineral Poisons and establishes a sound constitution.

Many certificates, much further information and all directions for using, will be found in the pamphlet "Treatise on Diseases of the Blood," in which each bottle is enclosed.

Price $1 per bottle containing 12 ounces, or 40 to 50 doses. Sold by dealers in medicine.

If your druggist does not happen to have it on hand, request him to order a supply of it for you, as it will be cheaper than for you to order direct of us, and less trouble.

D. RANSOM, SON & CO., Proprietors.
Buffalo, N.Y.

The Purest and Best Medicine ever Made.

A combination of Hops, Buchu, Mandrake and Dandelion, with all the best and most curative properties of all other Bitters, makes the greatest Blood Purifier, Liver Regulator, and Life and Health Restoring Agent on earth.

No disease can possibly long exist where Hop Bitters are used, so varied and perfect are their operations.

They give new life and vigor to the aged and infirm.

To all whose employments cause irregularity of the bowels or urinary organs, or who require an Appetizer, Tonic and mild Stimulant, Hop Bitters are invaluable, without intoxicating.

No matter what your feelings or symptoms are what the disease or ailment is use Hop Bitters. Don't wait until you are sick but if you only feel bad or miserable, use them at once. It may save your life. It has saved hundreds.

$500 will be paid for a case they will not cure or help. Do not suffer. Or let your friends suffer, but use and urge them to use Hop Bitters.

Remember, Hop Bitters is no vile, drugged drunken nostrum, but the Purest and Best Medicine ever made; the "INVALIDS' FRIEND" and no person or family should be without them.

D.I.C. is an absolute and irresistible cure for drunkenness, use of opium, tobacco and narcotics. All sold by druggists. Send for Circular. Hop Bitters Mfg. Co., Rochester, N.Y. and Toronto, Ont.

HALL'S Catarrh Cure

Is Recommended by Physicians.

$100 REWARD FOR A CASE IT FAILS TO CURE!

We manufacture and sell it with a positive guarantee that it will cure any case, and we will forfeit the above amount if it fails in a single instance.

It is unlike any other Catarrh remedy, as it is taken internally, acting upon the blood. If you are troubled with this distressing disease, ask your Druggist for it, and accept no imitation or substitute. If he has not got it, send to us and we will forward immediately. Price, 75 cents per bottle.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

AGENTS Wanted for handsome illustrated standard works of character; great variety; low in price; selling fast; needed everywhere. Liberal terms. Wm. Garrettson & Co., Odd Fellows Block, Columbus, O.

Raising Orchard Grass.

No forage plant that thrives in this latitude does better than orchard grass in a partial shade. It is also a good grass to raise if a farmer practices the soiling method of keeping stock during the summer. It is not to be recommended to farmers for the production of hay, unless they are willing to cut it two or three times during the growing season. It makes excellent hay, which is relished by all kinds of stock, but the trouble of securing it is large. Its tendency when well established is to grow in tussocks, which greatly interfere with the operations of the mower and horse-rake. It makes a lasting but very uneven sod. It is unsuitable for lawns, as it grows in bunches, which can not be shaved close with a mower or scythe. For pasturage for cattle, horses, and sheep it is very superior. Many consider it superior to red clover for seeding a hog pasture. It possesses a character of permanence which red clover does not. Pigs will not root it up as they will red clover. As the roots extend into the soil a long distance it is able to endure drought well. It springs up early in the spring and affords tender food all the time till it is killed by the frost, if the stalks are cut or fed off at frequent intervals during the growing season. The seed is very light and three bushels are required for an acre. It should be sown quite early in the fall or spring and covered but lightly. It will not produce a heavy crop till the second or third year after it is sown. It is a good plan to sow a small amount of red clover with it, which will occupy the ground till the orchard grass becomes well established.

Paying a Hotel Bill With a Poem.

John McCullough tells the following story of his fellow-actor Lawrence Barrett: "In those early days, when we were both young and the boom was on the rye, we came one night after a day's hard riding in the rain—outside, too, mark ye!—to an old wayside tavern, where we hoped to pass the night. But the house was closed; a little child of the landlord's had died that day, and he said he wouldn't have any strangers around the place. It was grief did it, for that landlord was generally a first-rate fellow, and one of the most good-natured men alive. We all felt sorry for him, and Barrett especially. He tried to console him, and after they had talked awhile together, with tears in his eyes, the landlord led Barrett in to look at the dead child. They came out with wet eyes, and, after they had gulped down a glass of old rye in silent grief, the landlord, at Barrett's request, brought him writing materials. Well, sir, I give you my word that in half an hour he had written the sweetest little obituary poem on that dead baby you ever heard. When the landlord read it he cried like a child, and showed himself a trump card, for he made us all up a nice clean bed and gave us the best in house, for no pay at all but that poem."

How a Story Grew.

Andrew Tappan, of Jericho, Long Island was asked if it was true that he had not slept a wink for six months. "I saw an item to that effect," he replied, "a good many times last week and the week before. My father, George Tappan, is the postmaster at Jericho, and one of the county papers printed an item some weeks ago saying that he had been in poor health for six months, and that he was not able to sleep much. The next we knew someone sent us a lot of papers containing the news that he hadn't slept any for six months, and that the case was attracting the attention of physicians. Then the papers got it that I was the man. It wasn't long after we got the first papers until someone wrote us that the way to go to sleep was to eat plenty of turnips for breakfast and supper three or four days in succession. Another man wrote that cloves were good to make a man sleep if eaten in quantities at intervals of an hour or two, while another wrote that if I would lie on my back and roll my eyes from one side to the other long enough I'd go to sleep without fail. They were all good remedies, I have no doubt, but neither my father nor I have tried them."—New York Sun.

After Fifteen Years of Marriage.

Just fifteen years ago, yesterday, in the City of Griffin, we invested $1.50 in a set of marriage license, and led to the altar one of the prettiest girls in Americus. Since that memorable event, time has come and gone with us pretty well divided up between the bitter and sweet; yet, in the words of the late Daniel Webster—"We still live!" (Right here, our wife peeped over our shoulder, and seeing what we had written about the "bitter and sweet" business, exclaims, "Indeed; my share in the copartnership has been most all bitter.') This, however, with the madame's permission, we quote "irony." All in all, our married life has, perhaps, been as even and successful as most anybody else's; and while we've never been able to "strike it rich," we shall at least be qualified to bequeath to the wife and little ones that which they can never be robbed of—poverty! In conclusion, we will add that our crowd consists of thirty in family, viz: wife 1, Claude 1, Madge 1, and ourself 0—3 and 0—30.—Irwinton, Ga., Southerner.

The trouble with the prince of Wales seems to be the laying of so many corner stones. They can't put up a building of any importance anywhere in the United Kingdom without sending for the prince to assist in the ceremony of laying the corner stone. He liked it at first, thought he was laying the corner stone, as it were, of popularity with his people, but as years advanced and the corner stones multiplied, the occupation grew wearisome. He found himself with a trowel in his hand about half the time, and got to be as stoop-shouldered as a grave digger. No wonder the prince is in failing health. Report says he has been ordered to some springs or another to drink the water and build himself up. All an excuse, probably, to get His Royal Highness away from corner stone laying.—Cincinnati Saturday Night.

A little boy said he would rather have the earache than the toothache, because he wasn't compelled to have his ear pulled.

Our German Cousins.

A lady in Virginia, being left a widow with small means, went to Germany for reasons of economy and in order to educate her children. She gives an amusing picture of the difference between our German cousins and ourselves in certain minor matters.

She arrived an utter stranger, and after placing her two eldest sons in the university, found boarding for herself and the little children in a private family near the town. When they drove out, miserable enough, to their new home in the gray, melancholy evening, their hostess met them at the gate with a round, smiling face and a bunch of flowers.

In her room was a table with a huge frosted cake, on which was the word "Welcome," and around it stood the children of the house, each holding out its little posy. Yet the people were perfect strangers to her.

"The brotherly kindness which their welcome promised, never failed me afterwards," she writes.

But there was a reverse side of the picture. The affianced husband of her daughter came out to be married to her, and the evening before the day set for the marriage sauntered out to go through whatever legal form was necessary. Deluded soul, that dreamed of happiness with German magistrates to guard the gate! In half an hour he was back stammering with excitement.

"They want a statement of my business, my income, the written consent of my parents to my marriage and a legal certificate of their marriage! My father you know is dead, and my mother in California. I don't suppose she knows whether she ever had a certificate!"

As his German was uncertain, his future mother-in-law came to his rescue. "You have not understood them; I will go with you in the morning," she said.

In the morning she explained, reasoned, argued: "You will add to the other papers your own certificate of marriage," was the stolid answer.

Now she had been married by the Friends' ceremony. No certificate had been given her. She wrote for a copy of the record of the Meeting. A delay of two months followed, during which the ardent lover, to save time, roamed alone through the tour in Europe to which he had looked forward as the first stroll of Adam and Eve through Eden.

At last came his mother's certificate, the statement of his affairs, etc. They were presented with the Quaker record, and gravely read by four officials, who consulted together for an interminable time. Turning to the lady, they announced the decision. "We cannot grant a permit. This is no legal document. It is evident that you have never been married at all!"

The wedding took place on American soil.

Developing the Udder of a Cow.

It does not usually occur to breeders that the udder is as susceptible of development as are the muscles of the trotting-bred colt. Any gland or muscle can be invigorated and made to take on more than its natural growth by a degree of handling. Development comes of circulation to the part, and free motion invites blood, while inactivity does not. While the carpenter is using the saw or plane, the right arm receives largely more blood than while at rest. So, likewise, if the udder is handled, whether it has milk in it or not, blood will flow to it in an increased quantity, adding to the tissues of the part.

This would be the necessary result in the case of the young heifer as well as of the grown-up cow. A small lump, or thickening of any of the soft tissues upon a part, in the case of a person, is sometimes made to grow and develop into a large tumor in a few months, simply by handling it frequently. The udder of the young heifer never having bred, can be made to secrete milk, by exciting a flow of blood to it, in the manner named. As the cow, under our forcing modes, is, in so far as her udder is concerned, thrown into an artificial state, this organ taking an excessive action, it is a question worthy of consideration, whether the gland may not have a degree of immunity imparted to it by toughening the structure through handling, as the muscles of the colt are strengthened by severe exercise, rendering them thereby more secure against injury by active use.

As the cow, or heifer, approaches the completion of gestation, the udder receives a large flow of blood to it, takes on high excitement, and it is a question worthy of being settled by careful trials, whether or not the udder of the heifer can safely be increased in volume by manipulation, rendering it at the same time more nearly proof than now, against the sensitive and irritable state into which it is liable to drift when its functions are brought into active play. Even though this be not done until the udder of the heifer begins to spring, as she nears calving, there can be no question as to our ability to enlarge its capacity for milk giving, while at the same time we accustom the heifer to this handling, and when she drops her calf, it will be found that she is already trained to submit to the milking process, and will stand quiet under it.—National Live Stock Jonrnal.

Benefits of Accuracy.

A dwarf kangaroo has been discovered in Texas with fore legs only two inches long, and hind legs only eight inches in length. The report also says that it is a marsupial. We are glad to know this, as it throws a flood of light on the anatomical structure of the animal, which will be duly appreciated by the intelligent reader, who at first blush might have imagined that it was a connubial, or a mandamus, or a habeas corpus, or idosyncrasy. In newspaper reporting the young man will invariably err on the safe side if he uses plain, unvarnished language, which will appeal even to the nominal intelligence of a sleeping-car conductor.—Check.

A young lawyer, appointed to defend a prisoner dressed in sailor's costume, addressed the jury very pathetically in behalf of "this child of the sad sea waves, this nursling of the storm." At the close of his remarks it was discovered that his client was a cook on a canal boat, and had formerly peddled fish. "The child of the sad sea waves" was sent up for six months.

GREAT BURLINGTON ROUTE

PRINCIPAL LINE

AND OLD FAVORITE FROM CHICAGO OR PEORIA TO KANSAS CITY

The Short Line, St. Joseph and St. Paul. BEST Line to St. Joseph, Atchison, Topeka, Denver, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Omaha, Lincoln, Dallas, Galveston, and all points in Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri, Kansas, New Mexico, Arizona, Montana, Texas and Texas.

This Route has no superior for Albert Lea, Minneapolis and St. Paul. Nationally reputed as being the Great Through Car Line. Universally conceded to be the best equipped Railroad in the World for all classes of travel.

All connections made in Union Depots.

Through Tickets via this Celebrated Line for sale at all offices in the U. S. and Canada.

Try it, and you will find traveling a luxury, instead of a discomfort.

All information about Rates of Fare, Sleeping Cars, etc., cheerfully given by

T. J. POTTER, 2d Vice Pres't & Gen'l Manager, Chicago, Ill.
PERCEVAL LOWELL, Gen. Pass. Agt., Chicago, Ill.

THE MILLER BROS. CUTLERY CO.
MERIDEN, CONN.

STANDARD POCKET CUTLERY,

Ladies' Scissors and Ink Erasers.

Make all styles of

STEEL PENS.

We show cut of Patent Adjustable Quill Action Reservoir Pen, "The Acme," and will mail sample gross on receipt of $2.

Our whole line of Pens will be sold by the trade.
Price Lists furnished to dealers on application.

Gray's Specific Medicine.

TRADE MARK. THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY. TRADE MARK

An unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhœa, Impotency, and all Diseases that follow as a sequence of Self-Abuse; as loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the Back, Dimness of Vision, Premature Old Age, and many other diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a Premature Grave.

BEFORE TAKING. AFTER TAKING.

Full particulars in our pamphlet, which we desire to send free by mail to every one. The Specific Medicine is sold by all druggists at $1 per package, or six packages for $5, or will be sent free by mail on the receipt of the money, by addressing THE GRAY MEDICINE CO., Buffalo, N. Y.

On account of counterfeits, we have adopted the Yellow Wrapper, the only genuine. Guarantees of cure issued by

FARRAND WILLIAMS & CO.,
Wholesale Agents, Detroit.

SAMARITAN NERVINE

CURES AND NEVER FAILS.

is unfailing and infallible in curing Epileptic Fits, Spasms, Convulsions, St. Vitus Dance, Alcoholism, Opium Eating, Spermatorrhœa, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, Syphilis, Scrofula and all Nervous and Blood Diseases. To Clergymen, Lawyers, Literary Men, Merchants, Bankers, Ladies and all whose sedentary employment causes Nervous Prostration, Irregularities of the blood, stomach, bowels or Kidneys, or who require a nervetonic, appetizer or stimulant, SAMARITAN NERVINE is invaluable. Thousands proclaim it the most wonderful invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system. For sale by all Druggists.

THE DR. S. A. RICHMOND MEDICAL CO., Sole Proprietors, St. Joseph, Mo.

PATENTS

F. A. LEHMANN, Solicitor of Patents, Washington, D. C.

Send for Circular.

AN OLD FRIEND

When you took the American Agriculturist you thought it just splendid. It is now more valuable to you than ever, being specially adapted for the West. Send stamp for specimen copy and see how wonderfully the paper has improved. Price, $1.50 a year. English or German edition. ORANGE JUDD CO., 751 Broadway, New York.

FOR SALE OR RENT.

A good house and lot in a good location. Enquire of J. E. Hall or at the

HERALD OFFICE

ONLY $20

for this style of PHILADELPHIA SINGER. Equal to any Singer in the market. Remember, we send it to be examined before you pay for it. This is the same style other companies retail for $50. All Machines warranted for 3 years. Send for Illustrated Circular and Testimonials. Address

CHARLES A. WOOD & CO.,
11 N. Tenth St., Philadelphia, Pa.

FOR SALE.

A good house and lot within five minutes walk of the post office, for sale at a bargain. Reasons for selling, business out of town. For full particulars and terms enquire at the

HERALD OFFICE.

PISO'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION. CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. 25 CTS. 100

KANSAS FARMS.

Choice improved farms for sale in Southeastern Kansas. A rare chance for some one who wishes to buy a home cheap. For situation, location terms, price, etc., call at the

HERALD OFFICE.

FARMERS and FARMERS' SONS CAN MAKE $50 to $100 PER MONTH During the Fall and Winter. For particulars, address J. C. McCurdy & Co., Chicago, Ill.

WHAT WILL THE WEATHER BE TO-MORROW?

Pool's Signal Service Barometer

OR STORM GLASS AND THERMOMETER COMBINED,

WILL TELL YOU!

It will detect and indicate correctly any change in the weather 12 to 48 hours in advance. It will tell what kind of storm is approaching, and from what direction—invaluable to navigators. Farmers can plan their work according to its predictions. Saves 20 times its cost in a single season. Has an accurate thermometer attached, which alone is worth the price of the combination. The great WEATHER INDICATOR is endorsed by the most eminent Physicians, Professors and Scientific men of the day to be the BEST IN THE WORLD! The Thermometer and Barometer are put in a nicely finished walnut frame, with silver plated trimmings, etc., making it a beautiful as well as useful ornament. We will send you a sample one, delivered free, to your place, in good order, on receipt of $1, or 8 for $4. Agents are making from $5 to $20 daily selling them. A trial will convince you. Order at once. It pays at SIGHT. Just the thing to sell to farmers, merchants, etc. Invaluable to everybody. U. S. Postage Stamps taken in good order, but money preferred. Agents wanted everywhere. Send for Circular and terms. Address all orders to OSWEGO THERMOMETER WORKS, (Largest establishment of the kind in the world.) Oswego, Oswego Co., N. Y. We refer to the Mayor, Postmaster, County Clerk, First and Second National Banks, or any business house in Oswego, N. Y.

Write your Post Office, County and State plainly, and remit by money order, draft on New York or registered letter, all else risk.

This will make a Beautiful and Very Useful Present.

READ WHAT THE PUBLIC SAY ABOUT IT.

I find Pool's Barometer works as well as one that costs $20. You can rely on it every time. Capt. CHAS. P. ROBBINS, Ship "Twilight," San Francisco.

Barometer received in good order, and must say that the instrument gives perfect satisfaction in every respect. It is nicely made and wonderfully cheap at two dollars. GEO. B. PARSONS, M. C. R. R. Office, Detroit, Mich.

Pool's Barometer has already saved me many times its cost, in foretelling the weather. It is a wonderful curiosity and works to perfection.

BEWARE OF WORTHLESS IMITATIONS. None genuine without our Trade Mark, and signature of J. A. Pool on the back of instrument, as below:

J. A. Pool TRADE MARK.

Every instrument warranted Perfect and Reliable. Size 9 1-2 inches long 3 1-4 wide. If not satisfied on receiving the instrument, return it at once and we will refund your money. Please state where you saw our advertisement.

D. W. CLARK,

GENERAL DEALER IN

Groceries & Provisions,

Confectionery, Etc.

A full line of Choice GREEN & JAPAN TEAS always on hand and sold at the lowest possible figure.

GOODS DELIVERED FREE WITHIN THE CORPORATION.

Richard's Block, North Side Chicago Street,

Tecumseh, Michigan.

I. C. WOLCOTT, JOHN S. TEMPLE, S. McCLURE.

WOLCOTT, TEMPLE & CO.,

Wholesale and Retail Dealers in

LUMBER, LATH, SHINGLES, SASH & DOORS

AND ALL KINDS OF BUILDING MATERIAL.

Planing, Sawing, Matching to Order.

Mill and Yard North of Railroad Depot,

TECUMSEH, - MICHIGAN.

JAMES LOWRY,

GENERAL DEALER IN

Groceries and Provisions

CROCKERY & GLASS WARE.

Agent for Model Clothes Wringer.

Highest Cash Price Paid for Butter, Eggs, Lard, &c.

THE BEST AND CHEAPEST TEAS IN TOWN.

No. 3, Merchants' Block, TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

S. W. TEMPLE,

Wholesale and Retail Dealer in

Lumber, Lath, Shingles

And all kinds of

BUILDING MATERIAL,

SASH, DOORS AND BLINDS, COAL AND LIME.

Mill and Yards near Depot, TECUMSEH, MICH.

WEEKLY CINCINNATI TIMES.

Eight large pages—56 columns—and Only Costs One Dollar a Year, and the choice of a beautiful picture or useful book to every subscriber. The oldest, brightest, largest, cheapest, and best weekly paper published. It is more generally taken the country over because it is the best, and it is made the best because it has the largest circulation, and therefore the income to justify the necessary outlay. It is the easiest paper to get subscribers for, and our terms to agents are of extraordinary liberality. We want Agents. Specimen copy free. Address THE WEEKLY TIMES, 230 Walnut St., Cincinnati, O.

THE CINCINNATI TIMES-STAR

Is the best and cheapest daily paper published in the West. Eight pages—48 columns—and only six dollars a year, or 12 cents a week. The Daily Times-Star is the only eight page paper in the country published at this price. It is independent in politics, but aims to be fair in everything, and just to all parties, individuals, sections, and nationalities. If you want all the news attractively and honestly presented subscribe for it. The largest circulation of any paper published in Cincinnati. The postmaster will receive your subscription if there is no agent in your place.

SEE THE NEW

Birthday Cards

AT THE HERALD OFFICE.

Rupture

Its Relief and Cure as certain as day follows day, by Dr. J. A. Sherman's Method.

With safety from the dangers of strangulation and without the injury trusses inflict. Those wishing proof should send 10 cents for his book, containing likenesses of bad cases before and after cure, also endorsements of professional gentlemen, Ministers, Merchants, Farmers, and others who have been cured. Trusses and Rupture sooner or later affect the nervous and mental system, bring on organic diseases, impotency, destroy energy and social desires, making the young old and the old useless. Principal office 251 Broadway, New York. For the convenience of Western patients, Dr. Sherman will be at his office, cor. 4th and Market streets, St. Louis, Mo., from November 1st to December 20th.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

Issued Every Thursday Evening.

BY STACY BROTHERS.

Office in the NEW HERALD BUILDING, One Door East of the Opera House, Tecumseh, Mich.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:

One year, Cash in Advance, ... $1.50
Six Months, " " ..... .75
Four Months, ... .50

Twenty-five cents will be added to the subscription price for every three months that payment may be delayed.

ADVERTISING RATES:

Business Locals, five cents per line for each insertion.

Special notices, fifty cents an inch for each insertion.

Marriages, Births, and Death Notices free.

Rates up General Advertising on time contracts, made known at the Counting Room.

CORRESPONDENCE

Correspondents' names are invariably required, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Anonymous communications will be rejected.

ENTERED AT THE POST OFFICE AT TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, AS SECOND CLASS MATTER.

TECUMSEH, MICH., DEC. 14, 1882.

THE HERALD FOR 1883.

As the season approaches for the renewal of yearly subscriptions, we beg leave to announce our plans for the coming year.

The record which the HERALD has made in the past will be an earnest of what our readers may expect in the future. Promises alone do not make a good newspaper, but good resolutions and carefully devised plans, supplemented by a faithful effort to carry them out, generally achieve success. We will briefly state our plans for 1883. How faithfully they will be executed the future will tell.

The general character of the HERALD will be the same as heretofore, since the present proprietors took the helm. Its leading feature will be that of a local newspaper. It will furnish appropriate and healthful reading for the home circle, and will endeavor to chronicle all local events of importance which transpire from week to week in the townships of Northern Lenawee. The completion of the T. & M. railroad, which can confidently be predicted early next season, will bring the Northern towns of Lenawee county into closer business relations with Tecumseh and will make this village the natural business center of those townships. In view of this early future relationship we are completing arrangements for regular local correspondence from Woodstock, Rollin, Rome and Cambridge, and we expect also to increase our corps of correspondents throughout the territory which has hitherto been represented in our columns. County news proper will have a reasonable share of attention, and each issue will furnish a department of neighborhood news culled from our county exchanges.—Lenawee county is peculiarly rich in local newspapers. We doubt whether there is a county in the northwest of the same population possessing so many and such excellent rural newspapers. Michigan State news will be properly presented each week, and a brief synopsis of legislative proceedings will be given. The HERALD during 1883 will be more emphatically than ever before the local newspaper organ of Northern Lenawee.

In the editorial department the HERALD will be wholly non-partisan. It will be the organ of no party, sect or clique. Still it will not shrink from the discussion of political questions. In fact, it will make the discussion of general political topics a much more prominent feature than heretofore. It will advocate Revenue Reform, Civil-Service Reform, Anti-Monopoly, and Reduction of Taxation. Whatever promotes these principles shall have its support. Whatever makes against them will encounter its opposition. The recent elections have demonstrated the fact that the old parties are crumbling to pieces. Neither of them is a unit upon any of the four great issues above named. But the people have spoken in thunder tones demanding a proper settlement of these questions. If the existing parties do not possess the requisite intelligence and patriotism to meet this demand and grapple with the situation, a third party will certainly arise to do the work. The people have taken a mighty stride forward. There will be no step backward.

We have completed arrangements with a New York house for a large invoice of new type. Our present dress has been worn since 1875, and it is becoming rusty. Even an old friend looks better in an occasional new suit. We expect to be able to present our first issue in January next in an entire new dress, from head-gear to sole-leather. It will be cut in the latest style, made up in the nobbiest fashion, and we confidently expect it will suit the taste of our readers to a dot.

In lieu of our usual premium offers, we have arranged for three combination offers with the Detroit FreePress, the Detroit Post and Tribune, and the Michigan Farmer. These will be found in another column. Under these special terms the HERALD can be obtained at a liberal discount from regular rates. Persons can secure any newspaper or magazine published, through our office, at reduced rates.

To the HERALD's large army of patrons in Northern Lenawee we extend the usual holiday greeting. May you all enjoy a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year, and may the twelve months of 1883 mark in your calendars a year of physical health, social happiness and business prosperity.

SIX DAYS IN GOTHAM.

Reversing Horace Greeley's familiar advice, which bade the young man "Go West," we boarded the Jackson Branch train on Saturday morning, November 25th, and started eastward. A pleasant ride of three hours brought us to the Grand Trunk Junction, in Detroit, where we alighted and took the "Foot & Walker" line to the new cattle yards, which are located about a mile south and west of the Junction. These yards have all been constructed within the past six months, cover several acres of land, and are capable of yarding thousands of head of stock. Our business here was transacted in due time, in which we were assisted by Geo. W. Stacy, of Buffalo, the senior member of the stock commission firm of Stacy, Ransom & McDowell. Footing it back to the Junction, we arrived there just in time to catch the noon train on the Canada Southern, and before we were fairly aware of our location, we found ourselves on board the Transfer, crossing the bouny Detroit at Amherstburg. The train was well filled, and we enjoyed a delightful ride to St. Thomas, where "twenty minutes for supper" was well spent in stowing away both a noon and evening meal.

The road-bed of the Canada Southern is in magnificent condition, and the passenger coaches are equipped with all the modern conveniences.

A ride over this road, therefore, from Detroit to Buffalo, is a decided pleasure. We arrived in Buffalo late Saturday evening and proceeded with Geo. Stacy directly to East Buffalo, under whose hospitable roof we found a home over the following Sunday. That Sunday was a typical Buffalo winter's day. It snowed, blew, hailed and sleeted, with the thermometer creeping down towards zero, from morning till sunset, consequently we viewed the landscape from the parlor window, and noted the arrival of a score or more of heavily-laden stock trains during the day. Monday the weather was rather more pleasant, and we made a circuit of the Buffalo stock yards. The yards have been enlarged and the volume of business transacted has greatly increased during the past five years. Monday is the principal market day of the week, although Tuesday is a lively day, and the stock in the yards is mostly closed out by Wednesday night. Among the commission firms at East Buffalo, that of Stacy, Ransom & McDowell ranks with the first, both in business credit and in the amount of business transacted. One member of the firm devotes his attention to cattle, another to sheep, and the third man to hogs. This division of labor insures both promptness in selling and the best results in securing good prices, two very important matters with drovers who have stock to sell. Four o'clock Monday morning found the firm at work, and their office was not closed till nearly midnight. Their business is already large and exhibits a healthy growth from week to week.

Tuesday forenoon we boarded the drover's car on the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western R. R. at the East Buffalo station, and were soon lost amid the hills of Cattaraugus and Allegany counties. This road has just completed its western extension from Elmira to Buffalo, which is now opened for freight traffic, but passenger trains will not be placed upon this division until next spring. Upon arriving at Binghampton the next morning we exchanged a drover's car for a passenger coach, and proceeded eastward over the same road. We passed the majestic scenery at Delaware Water Gap, Manunky Chunk, and other points on the Delaware river; passed through Washington, N. J., where we saw Beatty's big piano factory; went through the big tunnel under Jersey City; crossed the North River by ferry, in a snow storm, and found our hotel just in time for supper, on Wednesday, Nov. 29th. We took rooms at the Hygienic hotel, No. 13 and 15 Laight street. The house is located about four blocks west of Broad way, near Canal street, but a few steps from the Canal street and Sixth avenue horse car lines, and only two blocks distant from the Grand Street station of the Elevated railroad. The hotel has all the modern conveniences, such as steam heat, baths, etc, and yet it is kept rather on the plan of a New England private boarding house. It is a "home," rather than a hotel, and the guests are so well provided for that their rooms are continually filled. The table is provided with the best of food, healthfully prepared, while Turkish, Roman and Electric baths are provided under the same roof. Dr. M. L. Holbrook, editor of the well-known journal, "The Herald of Health," is the proprietor, and under his gentlemanly welcome the guests all feel at home at once. The house is quite a resort for invalids. It has a large number of permanent boarders and accommodates quite a transient custom besides. A portion of the house (No. 15) was built by Alexander Hamilton. No. 13 belonged to the Schuylers, the title to the property remaining in that family until last July. Here we found good lodgings and the best of eatables, at very reasonable rates, during our stay in Gotham.

The snow storm of Wednesday reached its climax that night, and upon Thanksgiving morning the streets of the great city were covered with a white mantle ten inches in thickness. Good sleighing in New York city on Thanksgiving day is an occurrence which happens but once or twice during a generation, and the event was celebrated with proper ceremony. All places of business were closed, and the entire city surrendered to the festivities of a holiday. Religious services were held in many of the churches in the forenoon, and roasted turkeys innumerable disappeared between noon and two o'clock p. m. The ubiquitous small boy with a handsled could be tumbled over on nearly every rod of sidewalk in the city. The streets which were unencumbered with car lines, especially Fifth avenue, were lined with merry sleigh riders, while Central Park was overwhelmed with gay steeds, costly rigs, tinkling bells, and the furs of the Arctic regions. All New York was sleighing that afternoon. The different styles of rigs was a study for the beholder. Everything on runners was there, from the "one-horse jumper," made in two hours, out of bass wood saplings, to the ten-thousand-dollar double rig, from the fifty-thousand dollar stables on Fifth avenue. It was a sight which we never beheld before and never expect to see again.

Friday morning we sallied forth for business. Our principal reasons for making the trip were these two: To consult with Dr. D. B. St. John Roosa, an eminent aurist, of New York, and to visit a type foundry, for the purpose of buying a new dress for the paper. We found Dr. Roosa at his office early in the forenoon, and were favored with a lengthy consultation with him. The visit was repeated on Saturday morning, and also on the next Monday morning. Dr. Roosa is located at No. 20 East Thirtieth street, between Fourth and Fifth avenues. He is the author of a treatise on "Diseases of the Ear," and has made the eye and ear his specialty for over twenty years. He enjoys an extensive practice, and in addition to his private practice he fills the position of surgeon to the Eye and Ear Infirmary at the Manhattan Hospital. We wish to acknowledge our great obligations to Dr. Roosa for his professional kindness and interest in our behalf. We received a course of treatment from him, a faithful trial of which for two months will, we are very confident, result in a marked improvement.

Friday afternoon was passed in visiting several stationery houses and newspaper offices. The Sun, the Times, and the World engaged a share of our attention that afternoon and evening, and we had the pleasure of witnessing the working of their large perfecting web presses. These web printing machines, however, have ceased to be a novelty. All the leading newspapers of New York are now printed on perfecting presses, while scores of them are scattered throughout the Western States. We also called upon the Acme Stationery Co., and at the publishing houses of Cassel, Petter & Galpin, the Scientific American and Moore's Rural New Yorker. Saturday afternoon we called upon the celebrated advertising firms of Dauchy & Co., Geo. P. Rowell & Co., and S. M. Pettingill. Arrangements were made with the former house for several hundred pounds of new type, which will arrive about the first of next month. That evening we passed two hours very pleasantly at the Mercantile Library, in Clinton Hall.

As Sunday was a cold, blustering day, we kept our room during the morning. In the afternoon we went over to Brooklyn and attended Beecher's Sunday School, in company with Warren C. Dewey. Many of our readers will remember Mr. Dewey as the son of Charles H. Dewey, Esq., of Cambridge. Warren lives only three doors from Plymouth Church, in Brooklyn, and has a class in Beecher's Sunday School. We made him a short visit after Sunday School and attended Beecher's church in the evening. Mr. Dewey has a beautiful home and a charming family, and his business prospects also are most promising. He is the president and general office manager of the Dewey Manufacturing Co., whose office is located at 29 Chambers street, within a stone's throw of the Court House and city buildings. The company are manufacturing scroll saws, chisel and file handles, door stops, fret sawing machines, tools, tool chests, and a large line of small hardware specialties. The company already has a large business, which is rapidly increasing. We are indebted to Mr. Dewey for several courtesies received at his hands during our stay in the city, and hope we may be able to return the compliment at some future time. The new Penal Code went into force on that Sunday—Dec. 3d—and the city was remarkably quiet. There was considerable agitation on the subject during Friday and Saturday, the report having gained circulation that the Superintendent of Police would exact a cast-iron enforcement of the Code. Such a course would have stopped all street cars and ferry boats, prevented the sale of newspapers, locked up the bath houses, and raised hob generally. The law, however, was enforced in a liberal spirit; all saloons and retail shops were closed, but the street cars and ferry boats and newsboys were permitted to ply their calling. Tuesday was chiefly consumed in visiting several engraving houses. Negotiations were started with one of these houses which may result in important improvements in the HERALD columns during the next year.

Tuesday evening, at six o'clock we took the Erie train at Chambers Street depot, and arrived at Buffalo the next day at noon. That afternoon and evening we enjoyed the hospitality of the Ransoms—Frank H. and Louis D. Ransom—sons of the late Dr. David Ransom, the founder of the celebrated medicine house of D. Ransom, Son & Co. The business has assumed huge proportions during the past 10 years. It is now owned chiefly and managed by the two surviving sons of Dr. Ransom above named. We left Buffalo at midnight, on the Canada Southern, and arrived in Detroit Thursday noon, and reached home Thursday evening, an hour late, in a snow storm.

Dr. Rush's Specific FOR CONSUMPTION.

A Positive Cure for Consumption In All Stages.

For Bleeding at the Lungs, Colds, Coughs, Croup, Bronchitis, Influenza, Asthma, and all affections of the Lungs it has no equal.

Dr. Rush's Specific for Consumption is recommended by all the leading physicians who are acquainted with its use.

Price, Large Size, - - $1.00
" Small " - - .50

Sold by Druggists everywhere.

Dr. Willoughby, the attending physician at the Sisters' Hospital and one of Buffalo's most prominent members of the profession, has used it for years, and says:

BUFFALO, Aug. 17, 1882.

Dr. Rush's Medical Association:

Dear Doctors—I unhesitatingly add my name to the long list of regular practitioners who have recommended your "Specific for Consumption." I have used it for many years in my practice for all pulmonary affections, and have always been more than satisfied with the results. I consider it the best compound known for all lung diseases.

Yours, M. WILLOUGHBY, M. D.

Dr. Howard, Professor of Anatomy, College of Physicians and Surgeons, Buffalo, N. Y., says:

Dr. Rush's Medical Association:

Dear Doctors—I have used your Specific for Consumption in my practice for years, with the best results. I consider it a sure cure for consumption, if taken according to directions.

Yours, truly, C. F. HOWARD, M. D.

DR. RUSH'S "REGULATOR" —FOR— Heart Troubles.

A SURE CURE FOR ALL DISEASES OF THE HEART.

Dr. Rush's "Regulator" has never failed to give relief. It has been used successfully for years, in subduing the most stubborn cases of heart difficulties.

Large Size, - - $1.00
Small Size, - - .50

Sold by Druggists everywhere.

Wm. G. Osgoodby, the well-known safe manufacturer of Buffalo, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Newark, and Atlanta, Ga., says:

Office of Osgoodby's Improved Safes, 17 South Broad Street, ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 17th, 1881.

Dr Rush's Medical Association:

Dear Doctors—The three bottles of Dr. Rush's Regulator I ordered were received by express last week. I have taken nearly one bottle, and am thoroughly satisfied with the result. For over two years I have been troubled with sharp pain at my heart. My physician, upon examination, pronounced it enlargement of the heart, and was unable to give me any relief. The trouble grew worse, until I had become convinced that I could not be cured. While in New York City, last week, I called on one of the most prominent physicians there, who charged me $25 for an examination and then recommended your "Regulator." Knowing you to be a regular Medical Association, and not a patent medicine scheme, I ordered the three bottles. I have not been troubled since I commenced taking it, but shall continue and take the entire three bottles so as to obtain a permanent cure. You have my sincere thanks. I am, gentlemen,

Very respectfully,

WM. G. OSGOODBY.

DR. RUSH'S BLOOD ROOT OIL

Gives immediate relief in all cases of

RHEUMATISM

Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quincy, Sore Throat, Swellings and Sprains, Burns, and Scalds, General Bodily Pains, Teeth, Ear and Headache, Frosted Feet and Ears, and all other Pains and Aches.

Dr. Rush's Blood Root Oil has no equal in the world as a liniment or oil. It is a cheap, safe, simple and sure external remedy for man or beast. It is put up in two sizes. Price 25 & 50 cts. Sold by druggists everywhere.

Cured of Rheumatism in Two Hours.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 2, 1882.

Dr. Rush's Medical Association:

Gentlemen—I have been troubled with rheumatism for two years. I tried all the best advertised oils and liniments, and many first-class physicians without relief. The last Doctor I visited recommended "Dr. Rush's Blood Root Oil." I purchased a large bottle for fifty cents and applied it. In two hours I was relieved, and now am entirely well. Its effects are wonderful, and I believe it the only thing in the world which will cure rheumatism.

Truly, yours,

JOHN HUTCHINSON, 89 Erie St., Buffalo, N. Y.

MRS. DR. RUSH'S Cathartic and Anti-Billious Pills

PREVENT & CURE Constipation and Piles. A sure remedy for Billiousness, Torpidity of the Liver, Jaundice and all Liver Complaints. It gives immediate Relief in Sick and Nervous Headache. They cleanse the stomach and thus remove all bad tastes from the mouth and make the breath pure and sweet. Remove all Impurities and Sallowness from the complexion.—Pleasant to take and agreeable in their action. Entirely unlike other Pills. Purely vegetable. Price 25 cents.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

The above preparations are prepared by Dr. Rush's Medical Association, in which Dr. Rush is associated with the most prominent specialists of both Europe and America. Special treatment can be obtained for any disease. These medicines are the regular prescriptions for the diseases mentioned, and never fail to give relief. They can be obtained in Detroit, Mich., at wholesale of FARRAND, WILLIAMS & CO., and any druggist will gladly obtain them for you upon application, or they can be obtained of us direct. Address

DR. RUSH'S Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., U.S.A.

NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY.

KIES BROTHERS!

MAMMOTH STOCK OF

WINTER CLOTHING,

Must be sold by JANUARY 1st.

NOW FOR BARGAINS.

Now is the time to Clothe your Boys.

Remember that our Stock of FURNISHING GOODS, HATS AND CAPS

Can not be Beat.

KIES BROS.,

ONE PRICE CLOTHIERS,

Mills Block, TECUMSEH, MICH.

LEE'S

LEE

Is going to move to BATTLE CREEK January 1st.

ENTIRE STOCK OF

BOOTS & SHOES

TO BE SOLD AT

20 PER CENT. OFF.

SALE TO BEGIN

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 16,

And continue until the entire stock is disposed of.

STORE TO RENT.

Terms STRICTLY CASH. All goods marked in plain figures.

REMEMBER THE PLACE!!

HEWITT'S BLOCK.

HOLIDAY SUPPLEMENT.

VOL. XXXIII.--NO 31. TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 14, 1882. WHOLE NO. 1669

GLEANINGS.

Sixteen Kentucky newspapers have gone "where the woodbine twineth" this year.

Montgomery, Alabama, expects to handle 140,000 bales of cotton this season.

It is said that the idol worshippers of many heathen lands now worship idols made in New England.

Suicide is said to be increasing in Prussia, the figures having risen from 13 per 100,000 population in 1869, to 18 in 1880.

In Lake Valley, New Mexico, a rope and a post are used to secure prisoners, as there is no jail in which to confine them.

The assertion is made that from an annual cotton crop of 6,600,000 bales seed can be obtained to yield $100,000,000 worth of oil It is assumed that every 400-pound bale gives 1,200 pounds of seed.

They saw an elephant out in Stoddard County, Missouri, for the first time, not long ago, and one small boy was heard to remark when the creature hove in in sight that he was walking backwards. The trunk, it seems, was seen before the remainder of the property came along.

Somewhat too hasty was a Philadelphia lawyer who, just as the seals of a verdict were to be broken, came into court to say that he would suffer a nonsuit so that he could have a new trial. When the verdict was opened it was found to be in his client's favor.

The largest steel spring ever made in the world has just been successfully rolled at Kloman's steel works at Pittsburg, for the United States Car Motor Company, of Philadelphia. It is 310 ft long, 6 inches wide, and ½ inch thick. It will be tempered and coiled by the motor company at the works in Philadelphia, and exhibited in the bi-centennial parade.

The difference of character between the Prince of Wales' two sons, says the London World, was very remarkably evidenced at a dinner given in their honor in Queensland by the Governor, Sir Arthur Kennedy. Prince Albert Victor was silent and thoughtful, Prince George all vivacity. The waiters were all Chinamen, and whenever the Governor was not looking Prince George gave hard tugs at their pigtails. The Chinamen, with true Oriental politeness, maintained an imperturbable gravity.

One of the New York clubs governs the receipts of its billiard-room in this way: The room-keeper, after receiving the money for the game, gives the player a card check representing the sum paid. These checks are deposited in a locked box, and at stated times the room-keeper is obliged to hand over the amount for which they call. The members, all being interested in the club finances, never neglect putting the checks in the box.

Baron Wilhelm Rothschild, of Frankfort, is so strict a Jew that during his recent tour through Switzerland he was accompanied not only by his ritual cook and butcher, but also by ten devout persons of his own religion, who went solely for the purpose of praying with him, as, according to Mosaic law, a congregation must consist of at least 10 worshippers. The Baron returned his income for 1881 at $1,187,500, so that he can certainly afford himself these ritualistic luxuries.

The City Council of San Francisco recently passed an ordinance prohibiting the exhibition or performance of any indecent, immoral or lewd play or representation, and also adopted an amendment as follows: "Or be present as a spectator at any such play or representation, or distribute, circulate or post upon any wall, fence or other public place, or print any bill or placard announcing the performance of any such play or representation." The character of the body of men that passed such an order can be imagined from the fact that the member who introduced the measure said that he knew that it "would be a little rough on the Board, but then—"

De world owes me only what I can airn. It owes me room to pass to and fro, space fur a grave, an' sich a funeral as de ole woman kin pay fur an' keep de bin full o' taters. De man who passes at each stage of his career fur de world to appland or condemn will become a football for all men to kick. Expeck no friendship to las' beyond de moment when you want help. Expeck no sympathy to endure longer dan it takes fur tears to dry.—Brudder Gardner.

A Hindoo, lecturing in Brooklyn, said of the famous India jugglers: "They can swallow a chain and make it clink in their stomach, and also can swallow a sword. The magic trick is one of their best feats. They procure a small piece of wood, and having planted it in the ground they ask the bystander what fruit he would prefer. The juggler, wrapped in a sheet, will crouch to the earth, and through a rent in the garment one can see him cut himself with a razor under his arms and rub a piece of wood in his blood. The tree then comes forth, first as a sprout, then full of leaves, and finally bearing fruit."

The most showy and most profitable floral ornament is the Pampas plume of California, which is not a flower at all. It is only floriform, or rather feathery form. It is without fragrance. It has a single stem, and its leaves resemble plumes some twenty inches high, remaining attached for a year. There are twenty-five varieties, from pure white to pearl and various shades of purple.—These plumes lose nothing in transportation; 360,000 have just been sent to a house in New York that sends them to Europe.

Seal Skin Caps at Kies Bros.

C. A. KEIL.

HOLIDAY GOODS!

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION,

Watches, Silverware, Jewelry, Diamonds.

Christmas Cards.

Birthday Cards.

GIFT BOOKS,

Bibles, Albums, Poems, Miscellaneous Books,

FANCY GOODS!

Stationery, Vases, Fancy Boxes, Toilet Sets, Picture Books,

TOYS

FOR OLD AND YOUNG.

C. A. KEIL.

DIARIES! DIARIES!

Christmas Cards,

FANCY GOODS

And Confectionary for the

HOLIDAYS!

AT

A. E. Kennedy's.

Post Office Building.

Clothing! Clothing! Clothing!

At Closing Prices.

Strong & McNair

Have the most complete assortment in every department the market affords. In OVERCOATS we can discount all competition.

In Mens' Suits,

Boy's Suits,

Children's Suits,

Underwear, Hats and Caps, our stock is immense, and we are making such prices as must sell them before January 10th.

Buyers who would save money we invite to give us a look.

HOLIDAY GOODS!

Henry McClure

Has now on hand the largest and best selected stock of Holiday Goods ever brought to this market, And will be sold away down below any competition. Don't fail to call and examine before you buy, and save money.

H. McCLURE.

STOP Your Crowding!

They Have a Plenty for All.

At Hough & Hosmer's.

Nye's Useful Recipes.

To remove oils, varnishes, resins, tar oyster soup, current jelly and other selections from the bill of fare use benzine soap and chloroform cautiously with whitewash brush and garden hose. Then hang on wood pile to remove the pungent effluvia of the benzine.

To clean ceilings that have been smoked by kerosene lamps or the fragrance from fried salt pork, remove the ceiling, wash thoroughly with borax, turpentine and rain water, then hang on the clothes line to dry. Afterward pulverize and spread over the pie plant bed for spring wear.

To remove starch and roughness from flatirons, hold the iron on a large grindstone for twenty moments or so, then wipe off carefully with a rag. To make this effective the grind stone should be in motion while the iron is applied. Should the iron still stick to the goods while in use, spit on it.

To soften water for household purposes, put in an ounce of quicklime in a certain quantity of water. If it is not sufficient, use less water or more quicklime. Should the immediate lime continue to remain deliberate, lay the water down on a stone and pound it with a base ball club.

To give relief to a burn, apply the white of an egg. The yolk of an egg may be eaten or placed on the shirt bosom, according to the taste of the person. If the burn should occur on a lady, she may omit the last instruction.

To wash black silk stockings, prepare a tub of lather, composed of tepid rain water and white soap with a little ammonia. Then stand in the tub till dinner is ready. Roll in a cloth to dry. Do not wring but press the water out. This will necessitate the removal of the stockings.

If your hands are badly chapped, wet them in warm water, rub them all over with Indian meal, then put on a coat of glycerine and keep them in your pockets for ten days. If you have no pockets convenient, insert them in the pocket of a friend.

An excellent liniment for toothache or neuralgia is made of sassafras, oil of organum and a half ounce of tincture of capsicum with half a pint of alcohol? Soak nine yards of red flannel in this mixture, wrap it around the head and then insert the head in a haystack till death comes to your relief.

To remove scars or scratches from the limbs of a piano, bathe the limb in a solution of tepid water and tincture of sweet oil. Then apply a strip of court plaster and put the piano out on the lawn for the children to play horse with.

Woolen goods may be nicely washed if you put half an ox gall into two gallons of tepid water. It might be well to put the goods in the water also. If the mixture is not strong enough, put in another ox gall. Should this fail to do the work, put in the entire ox, reserving the tail for soup. The ox gall is comparatively useless for soup and should not be preserved as an article of diet.—Boomerang.

A Hint to Howells.

Why a St. Louis Lady Would Not Have "A Modern Instance" in Her House.

A few days ago, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, a lady inquired at one of our city book stores for the latest novels, and from a number presented to her selected Howells' "Modern Instance" for purchase. Next day she returned with the volume to exchange it for another. She said she had read only the first chapter, and found it entirely "unfit to have about the house where it could be seen by young people." The clerk expressed his astonishment that such an objection should be made to a work by Mr. Howells, whereupon the lady opened the book at the following passage, to which she invited attention and condemnation. The actors in the scene are a young lady and a young gentleman who have just returned from a sleigh ride:

"Good-night," he said, in a low, sad voice. He gave her hand a last pressure, and rose to put on his coat. Her admiration of his words, her happiness in his flattery, filled her brain like wine. She moved dizzily as she took up the lamp to light him to the door. "I have tired you," he said, tenderly, and he passed his hand around her to sustain the elbow of the arm with which she held the lamp; she wished to resist, but she could not try.

At the door he bent down his head and kissed her "Good-night, dear—friend."

"Good-night," she panted, and after the door had closed upon him she stooped and kissed the knob on which his hand had rested.

"I could not allow a book with such language as that in it to remain in my house," said the lady.

A Mobile paper has a correspondent in Connecticut who, for over ten years, has sent every two weeks a bulky letter, with postage pre-paid, sometimes two or three stamps. The letters are never printed and never will be, being dissertations upon some abstract point of international law. The writer's name is unknown, only initials being signed. He was probably taught when young that "perseverance conquers all things," and still hopes to see himself in print and achieve happiness.

Mrs. Bloomer, whose name will be handed down to posterity through the medium of the bifurcated garmenture for the gentler sex, is still living. She is said to be "a quiet, sweet-faced old lady," dressed without any of the trouserie foolishness of her younger days.

A new way of making boys toe the mark comes to light in the Maine reform-school investigation. A boy testifies that whenever he used a "swear-word" the officers put red pepper in his mouth. Supt. Farrington says that he adopted this kind of punishment on account of its novelty.

A recent visitor to Winnipeg, on the Red river, discovered the ruins of the fort which belonged to a colony founded in 1811 by Lord Selkirk, a Scotch philanthropist. He came over with eighty families, but disheartened by adverses in 1825, he returned to Scotland, some of the people accompanying him, and the rest scattering throughout Canada.

Some Gypsy Lore.

"The day of the week on which you are born," said a fortune-teller to a reporter for the Washington Star, "is the best to commence business. Fridays and Tuesdays are the luckiest for women, though women fairly shudder over regarding Friday a lucky day. Sundays and Mondays are the best for men. Never enter a new house or sign a lease in April, June, or November, and avoid the 11th for any kind of enterprise. The lucky days for business are the three first days of the moon's age; for marriage, the 7th, 9th, and 12th. Ask favors on the 14th, 15th, and 17th, but beware of the 16th and 21st. These are all the moon's age. To answer letters choose an odd day of the moon; to travel on land choose the increase, and for ocean the decrease of the moon. Start new buildings in March. Don't marry on your birthday or on any martyr's day."

"Which are some of the most prominent signs of events, as it were, that cast their shadows before?" the reporter asked, realizing that he was getting enough "points" to set up as a fortune-teller himself.

"Thousands of them," answered Celia, "but I can't think of many now. Here is one that I have never known to fail: If you meet a white horse, if you are going on particular business, it means success. If it is a piebald horse, it means that whatever you have asked for will be given you. Another: If a pigeon that does not belong to you flies in your house it means success. If it rests on a bed, death. If there are two pigeons, there will be a wedding. Never tell a dream before breakfast. The same dream three times is friendly warning. Had William the Second and the duke of Buckingham paid attention to this they would have escaped death as they did."

"How about cards? Do you ever use them?"

"Sometimes; but the planets and stars have much more to do with us. As we are born we are controlled. Planetary influence is a thing the scientists of later days laugh at, but who can say they are better informed than the astrologers of old. For myself I depend more on the science of astrology than on cards, though palmistry helps out."

Life's Mockery.

"Give me another doughnut."

Reine McCloskey's voice is husky with grief as she speaks these words, and over the dimpled cheek that looks so fair and white in the moonlight the blushes are chasing each other in rapid succession. To her right are the Catskills, their summits bathed in a flood of silvery light, while at their base lies the placid Hudson, its shimmering surface reflecting the twinkling stars that are looking down in all their silent splendor from the azure zenith. Directly in front of the girl, and lending to the tout ensemble a soft warmth of coloring not otherwise obtainable, is a large jar. Immediately behind it stands Hercules Perkins.

"I am going away," he says.

The girl does not reply. The shadow of the doughnut-jar conceals the look of haunting fear that passes across her face, and the white lines around the drooping mouth are not seen by the one whose words have caused their presence.

"Shall you miss me?" he said.

The little white hand that rests upon the back of a chair is trembling now, and in the deep brown eyes there are hot tears of sorrow and pain. Suddenly Reine speaks.

"Go away," she says in agonized tones. "Go away before I tell you that which had best remain unsaid," and sobs choke her utterance.

A great light breaks upon Hercules. Stepping quickly to the girl's side he places his arm around her. "Tell me truly, sweetheart," he says, "do you love me?"

For answer she places a soft white arm around his neck, and as he bends over to kiss her the other hand reaches forward, feels cautiously around for an instant, and then, with a wild cry of agony, Reine McCloskey falls forward in a swoon.

The doughnut-jar is empty.—Chicago Tribune.

Two Promising Young Americans.

Two natives of Maine are just now creating quite a sensation in Europe. They are Lillian Norton, who was born in Farmington, and Frederick L. Gower, a native of Sedgwick, Miss Norton is 24 years old, and is the favorite soprano of Paris. Her parents removed to Boston when she was 7 years old. At the age of 17 she began her musical culture in the Boston Conservatory, where she remained three years. She then went to Milan. After her Italian course she was engaged by the Grand Opera House at St. Petersburg for $1,000 for the season. The next year her salary was doubled. She created a furor in St. Petersburg and in Moscow. She dined with the Czar and the imperial family. At Paris she is under a three years' engagement at $12,000 per year, has luxurious apartments, a carriage and liveried driver, etc. Her mother is with her, and has invited her father, Parson Allen, to come over and make them a visit.

The engagement of Miss Norton to the Mr. Gower above mentioned is now announced. Gower has had remarkable fortune. He is 30 years of age, and is worth $1,500,000. He made his money in the formation of telephone companies in Europe. He recently sold his English interests for $500,000. He is now a large owner in French companies. His father died when he was 2 years old. He and his brother were educated by Mr. A. H. Abbott, of Farmington. Since his good fortune Mr. Gower has made a handsome return to Mr. Abbott. He visited this country last year and purchased a $25,000 house for his mother in Brooklyn, Mass. He put a $1,000 engagement ring on Miss Norton's finger. They will soon be married.—Augusta Journal.

Mr. Howells has changed the title of his forthcoming novel—it is to be "A Woman's Reason," instead of "A Sea Change"—again a Shakespearean title, as the readers of the "Two Gentlemen of Verona" will remember.

I AM NOW READY FOR THE

HOLIDAYS!

Christmas Slippers

Just received. Latest and Nobbiest Styles. Call early and make your selections.

My store will be open evenings during the

HOLIDAYS.

G. W. Marsden.

A Sewing Machine!

Makes an elegant and useful

HOLIDAY PRESENT!

See the new

SKELETON CABINET

MACHINE.

AT

G. P. SPARKS'

Sewing Machine Rooms.

THE LIGHT-RUNNING

NEW HOME

ALL WE ASK IS, to have you TRY ONE before BUYING ANY OTHER. It is the only Machine that is kept up with the times in the way of improvements. The immense number already sold is proof of its great popularity. Every Machine warranted for Five Years. Responsible Agents wanted in unoccupied territory. Send for Circular. Address,

JOHNSON, CLARK & CO., Manufacturers, 218 STATE STREET, CHICAGO, ILL.

For The Holidays!

George Heesen

Calls the attention of the public to his immense stock of Men's, Youths', Boy's and Children's

CLOTHING!

and GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS at his

Palace Clothing House

Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

I'D LIKE TO HAVE That CROWD

Get out of Hough & Hosmer's Store so that I could get in and see their stock of POCKET BOOKS.

At Hough & Hosmer's.

THE

Y S!

ers

Styles. Call

s.

ring the en.

hine!

l

ENT!

- RUNNING

HOME

s, to have you TRY ONE
THER. It is the only Mathe times in the way of nse number already sold is ty. Every Machine war-sponsible Agents wanted in d for Circular. Address,
K & CO., Manufacturers,
STREET, CHICAGO, ILL.

days!

n

his immense Children's

TG!

DS at his House

ch.

CROWD

re so that I

ck of rs.

mer's.

World's Weaver's Works!

NOW ON EXHIBITION

At GAINSLEY & CO.

Looms of America, Looms of France, Looms of Germany, Looms of Switzerland, Looms of England,

ALL

Represented in the Magnificent Collection

Of Winter Fabrics now displayed

At Prices which will Eclipse all competing figures and outrival our most liberal former quotations.

We Open the Holiday Season

By offering a few of the countless Bargains our large Stock contains:

Two Cases Merimack Prints 6c a yard.
Two Cases Wiltshire Suitings 5c a yard.
Two Cases Alpaca 9 1-2c a yard.

Unbleached and bleached Sheeting, Muslins, Table Damasks, Crashes, Canton Flannels, Shirtings, Ticks and Denims, all much below former prices. Cashmeres, Ottomans, Satins and Cords, Henrietta Crapes in all Wool and Silk Warps, English Brocades, Black Gros Grain silks, Satin Rhademas, Moirantiques, Brocades and Silks.

Stunning Bargains In White Blankets and Comforters. An Elegant Line of fancy Goods and Notions to select from for Christmas Presents.

Hdkfs., Gloves, Hosiery, Nubias and Mittens, Purses, Jewelry, Combs and Brushes, Bows, Ties and Suspenders, Collars and Cuffs.

Beautiful satin Rhadema Circulars and Dolmans.

Great Job in Cloth and Felt skirts.

Our counters will be Loaded down with the Christmas Novelties for the little Folks, from a 5c mouth Organ to a steam Boat and Railway Train.

Don't fail to see the Collection.

GAINSLEY & CO.

Tecumseh, December 15th, 1882.

O! Dem Golden Slippers!

A BEAUTIFUL PRESENT

FOR THE

HOLIDAYS!

JOE WILSON

Greets You with the Best Stock of

Boots, Shoes and Slippers in

TECUMSEH.

Why Go to Hough & Hosmer's

And get some of their Imported China

Cups and Saucers.

COME & SEE.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

A contribution of $100 to the conscience fund was received from Louisville by Secretary Folger.

The commissioner of railroads reports that at the end of June last the Union Pacific company owed the government $63,620,570, and that the Central Pacific was indebted to the amount of $52,140,813.

A gentleman lately connected with the diplomatic service asserts that the hostility of the press and the manufacturers of Mexico to the appointment of commissioners to negotiate a reciprocity treaty will prove fatal to the project. On the other hand, Senator Maxey is firm in the faith that President Gonzales will soon name commissioners to meet General Grant and Mr. Trescott.

In the star-route cases Colonel Ingersoll asked a continuance on the ground of the illness of Stephen W. Dorsey, but Judge Wylie overruled it. Then counsel read an affidavit by all the defendants, setting forth the recent removal of officials at Washington, the selection of unfriendly talesmen by Marshal McMichael, and the prejudice of Judge Wylie as reasons why they can not safely go to trial at the present term. Judge Wylie pronounced the document an insult to the court, but allowed it to be filed.

PAYMENT OF GOVERNMENT WITNESSES.

Atty. Gen. Brewster has communicated to congress his views upon the inadequacy of compensation to United States witnesses in western states and territories. He believes that the present law causes many suits in behalf of the government to fail because of the ill-will of witnesses, and recommends the enactment of a law providing that witnesses in California, Oregon, Nevada, Colorado, and the territiories, be paid actual expenses while attendiny court, in lieu of mileage and per diem now allowed by law. He also suggests as a remedy to overcome complaint because the judge who presides in the district also sets in the supreme court when his decision is reviewed, that either an additional judge be appointed in all territories or that a circuit judge be appointed, as in the states.

PATENT OFFICE.

The report of the commissioner of patents shows an increase of business over the year ending June 30, 1881. The number of applications for patents was 27,622, an increase of 4,699 over that year. The number of applications for designs was 854; for reissues, 407; for registration of trade-marks, 737; for registration of labels, 442; and the number of caveats filed was 2,455. The number of patents granted, including reissues and designs, was 17,713; of trade-marks registered, 1,079; of labels registered, 223. There were 1,637 patents withheld for non-payment of fees, and 5,123 patents expired. The total receipts of the office were $930,864.14 an increase of $140,968.62 over the last preceding year. The total expenditures of the office, not including printing, were $651,719.50.

POSTOFFICE APPROPRIATIONS.

The postoffice appropriation bill which was reported from the sub-committee to the full committee Saturday, provides as follows for the principal items of expenditure: For inland mail transportation, $12,000,000;—transportation by star routes $5,500,000; railway postal-cars, $1,600,000; letter-carriers, $3,600,000; postmasters, $10,000,000; inland transportation by steamboats $700,000;—transportation of foreign mails $850,000; depredations $225,000; advertising $45,000. The above with the items not enumerated, makes a total of about $42,000,000. There is an increase over the amount appropriated last year of $1,250,000 for postmasters' salaries; a decrease of $1,750,000 in the appropriation for the star-route service; an increase of $845,000 for inland transportation by rail, and a decrease of $100,000 for inland transportation by boat. The most important change is a reduction of letter postage from 3 to 2 cents. Another notable change is the omission of the amount asked for special facilities ($600,000). This means the abandonment of the "fast-mail" service.

POSTAL STATISTICS.

Mr. Bingham, in a report to the house urging the reduction of letter postage to two cents, gives statistics as far back as 1792, when the rate for carrying a letter was six cents for a distance of 30 miles, and 25 cents for 450 miles. There is also a careful estimate based on the history of the reduction in the past, which sustains the theory of the report, that the stimulus to letter-writing which would naturally be caused by the reduction, would greatly lessen the estimated loss the first year, which (not counting such an increase of letters) would only reach $8,000,000. The entire loss, the report assumes, could be offset by a fair allowance for carrying the mail matter of the government. It is also estimated that should the reduction not take effect until Jan. 1, 1884, as provided in the amended Anderson bill, the surplus of the first half of that financial year would balance the loss of the last half, and there would be ample time to exhaust or call in the printed supply of government stamped three cent envelopes. The surplus of the postoffice department in 1882 will be fully doubled, it is believed, in 1883. It is suggested that when the loss experienced by this reduction shall be fully made up, and when there shall again be a surplus, reduction of postage on drop letters should be made.

THE UTAH COMMISSION.

The Utah commission in a report to the secretary of the interior recommends that a marriage law be enacted by congress which would form an auxiliary in the suppression of polygamy. The commission says that, owing to the peculiar state of affairs in Utah, the territorial law allowing women the right of suffrage is an obstruction to the speedy solution of "the vexed question" and should be repealed or annulled by congress. The commission says the law has so far been a decided success in excluding polygamists from the exercise of the suffrage, and they are of the opinion that a steady and continued enforcement of the law will place polygamy in a condition of gradual extinction. The commission notices as an encouraging sign that many of the "liberal" meetings have been largely attended by Mormons, and that these meetings have been characterized by exceptional good order and good humor. In conclusion the report says, after counseling moderation: "If, however, the next session of the legislative assembly elected under the act of congress shall fail to respond to the will of the nation, congress should have no hesitation in using extraordinary measures to compel the people of this territory to obey the laws of the land."

THE RIVER AND HARBOR BILL.

The first meeting of the house committee on commerce was a mournful affair. In fact it was a sort of indignation meeting, at which the members expressed themselves pretty freely about the abuse their river and harbor bill had received on the stump and by the press and its overwhelming condemnation at the polls. The members talked over the situation and pondered what they should do about it. Among their grievances was the slight put upon them by the administration in neglecting to send to congress the usual estimates of what moneys will be necessary to carry on works of internal improvement during the next fiscal year. Some, if not all, regarded this as a studied effort to prevent the committee from preparing a river and harbor bill this session, so they resolved to call upon the secretary of war to forward the estimate as required by the statutes, and that they would decide for themselves after they get the estimates whether they should prepare another of their omnibus bills. The formal resolution agreed upon simply calls for the annual estimates required by law. This resolution will be reported to the house at the proper time, and then there may be a lively opening of the discussion as to whether a river and harbor bill shall be framed this season.

PENSIONS.

The report of the commissioner of pensions for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1882, is issued. Commissioner Dudley says: The bounty land laws should be generally remodeled and simplified. Congress should give thoughtful consideration to the entire regrading of pensions, making disability, rather than rank, the measure of pension; the officers and men having been drawn from and returned to the same walks of civil life. There are now 117 different grades of pensioners. It is proposed to give the officer the benefit of his actual rank, as an act of simple justice. It is recommended, also, in order to place all war claims nearly upon the same footing, that the limitation in section 4,713 be removed, so that cases barred by the three-year limitation shall have their date on the commencement at the time of filing the application, rather than that of the filing of the last piece of evidence. Widows and invalid soldiers of the regular army and navy, whose rights accrued since June 30, 1880, should be allowed reasonable time to file their applications, and pensions should date from the commencement of the accruing of the right, instead of as now, from the date of filing the application. A pension equal to the minimum pension granted to the widows of deceased soldiers should be given to the widows of officers receiving a yearly salary of $1,000 or $2,000 respectively. It is urged that no provision was made in the tenth census for its enumeration. The best approximation that can be made shows that of 2,063,591 soldiers who enlisted during the war, pensions have been applied for by, or on account of, only 26 per cent. The report concludes with a statement that, from the best available information, it appears that there is a surviving soldier population of a little over 1,000,000, out of which claims for pensions in future may be made by those who incurred pensionable disabilities.

CONGRESSIONAL.

SENATE.

DEC. 4.—The senate was called to order by President pro tem. Davis. Bills were introduced—to increase the number of judges on the Alabama claims commission to five; to provide for coinage at the Denver mint, and to grant a pension of $50 per month to the widow of Rear Admiral Scott. The death of Hon. Benjamin Hill was announced, and an adjournment was taken.

DEC. 5.—Mr. Barron was sworn in to fill the unexpired term of Ben. H. Hill, of Georgia. Mr. Saunders presented a memorial in regard to the admission of Dakota, remarking that the recent vote of the territory had removed all doubt as to her having the requisite population. Mr. Beck offered a resolution instructing the judiciary committee to report the amount of political assessments collected in the late campaign, how it was disbursed, and how many persons dismissed from public service had failed to contribute. A bill was passed to permit retired army officers to hold official positions in the territories.

DEC. 6.—Petitions were presented from citizens of Ohio and Kansas for an increase of pensions to those who lost an arm or a leg in the war. The commissioner of pensions was instructed to furnish a list of such sufferers. Mr. Anthony introduced a bill to prohibit the use of the capitol for other than its legitimate purposes, and Mr. Chilcott an act for the erection of a public building at Pueblo, Colorado. Mr. Ingalls explained the provisions of the bill to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy.

DEC. 7.—Seven members presented petitions for an increase of pensions to one-armed and one-legged soldiers. Mr. Vest offered a resolution, which was adopted, directing the secretary of war to furnish copies of any contracts for a lease of Yellowstone park to a private company. Mr. Beck called up his resolution in reference to political assessments during the late campaign, and Mr. Hale offered a substitute calling for an investigation into levies upon liquor-dealers by the democratic congressional committee. After making some amendments to the bankruptcy bill, the senate adjourned.

DEC. 8.—Several petitions were presented asking action on the tobacco tax and urging the passage of a bill to increase the pensions of soldiers who have suffered the loss of an arm or leg. A bill was passed to establish title to the site of the military post at El Paso. There was prolonged debate on the resolution as to political assessments and on the bankruptcy bill. An attempt to strike from the bill all provision for involuntary bankruptcy was defeated, but Mr. Morgan secured an amendment to include option trading in stocks, grain, etc., in acts of bankruptcy.

DEC. 9.—Petitions from tobacco-dealers were presented for a rebate equal to any reduction that may be made in the tax. Mr. Pendleton gave notice that after the bankruptcy bill was disposed of he would move to take up the civil-service bill. Mr. Vance secured the passage of a resolution directing the secretary of the treasury to furnish a detailed statement of the cost of collecting internal revenue in each district. Mr. Hawley introduced a bill to prevent officers of the United States from collecting subscriptions or assessments from each other. A brief executive session was held.

HOUSE.

DEC. 4.—In the house of representative bills were introduced—to prohibit political assessments of government employes; to incorporate the Yellowstone Park railroad; to create an agricultural commission, and to abolish the office of assistant secretary of war and of the navy. Mr. Le Fevre offered a resolution of inquiry whether an attempt had been made to consolidate the Union Pacific road wich any other, and by what authority. The deaths of Messrs. Lowe and Updegraff were announced.

DEC. 5.—Mr. Kelley reported a bill to strike off the internal revenue tax on tobacco in all its forms, to take effect in July.—A bill was passed providing that seamen discharged in foreign ports, in lieu of three months' extra wages, shall be given employment in another ship or furnished means to return.

DEC. 6.—Mr. Willis offered a resolution for an inquiry into the assessment of government employes for political purposes.—Mr. Caswell offered a resolution, which was adopted, authorizing a clause in the postoffice bill reducing letter postage to two cents. A bill was passed to refund to the state of Georgia $35,000 expended by the state for the common defense in 1777. A bill to authorize the extension of the Chesapeake and Ohio road over military lands at Fortress Monroe was referred. Mr. Kasson and others made a minority report against the abolition of the tobacco tax, on the ground of uncertainty as to the amount of money required for pensions.

DEC. 7.—The house passed a joint resolution to print 20,000 copies of the report of the tariff commission. Mr. Upson introduced a bill to rectify the title of the United States to the site of the fort at El Paso, Texas. The house then went into committee of the whole on the Indian appropriation bill, which sets aside $5,208,999, and after some amendments the measure was passed. A bill authorizing the government to establish at Erie a house for indigent soldiers and sailors was defeated.

DEC. 8.—Mr. Davis presented a petition from tobacco manufacturers of Chicago, asking immediate action on the question of taxation. Mr. Burrows reported the consular appropriation, which sets aside $1,258,255. In committee of the whole, the bill for the relief of the officers and men of the monitor which fought the Merrimac was defeated. Mr. Bingham reported a bill to reduce letter postage to two cents. An adjournment to Saturday was taken.

DEC. 9.—Mr. Page reported a resolution calling on the secretary of war for information whether the funds set aside by the river and harbor bill were appropriated for works not of interest to commerce or navigation, and, if so, requesting that specifications be furnished. An exciting debate followed, in which McLane and Robeson supported the resolution and Cox and Kasson opposed it, but it was adopted. Mr. Kasson reported a bill to improve the civil service. A bill was passed to rectify the title to the military post at El Paso. Mr. McCold introduced a bill to regulate interstate commerce.

A Pittsburg druggist, being complimented on the beauty of his last baby, replied: "It isn't my prettiest, but its by Pharmycutest." Interment private.

The sum of $20,000 has been subscribed by twenty-three citizens of New York toward the erection of a pedestal for the Bartholdi statue of liberty.

GIFT SALE!

Don't fail to attend A. W. SLAYTON'S gift sale of

HOLIDAY GOODS!

Which takes place at his store on Chicago street, Tecumseh, every day until Dec. 25. These goods, all kinds of

FURNITURE AND SEWING MACHINES

Must be sold, and they will go cheap, Call soon.

A. W. SLAYTON.

WETMORE AXES!

Champion Diamond & Lightning

Tooth Cross-Cut Sa

Blankets, Robes, Whips, Skates, Sleigh-Bells,

Hand-sleds, also, a full line of

Fine Pen & Pocket Cutlery

and a large and complete line of

SEASONABLE GOODS

Of all kinds, at prices guaranteed to please, at

SUTTON & SWAN'S.

JIM COLE

Will Have the largest stock of Turkeys,

Geese,

Chickens, Ducks, Oysters,

FRESH FISH AND

Bear, Venson, Rabbit, Quail,

Beef, Veal, Mutton, Pork,

FOR CHRISTMAS & NEW YEARS.

'Chicago St., North Side,'

SIX DOORS EAST OF R. R.

HOUGH & HOSMER.

HOLIDAY SUPPLEMENT.

VOL. XXXIII.--NO. 31 TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN THURSDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 14, 1882. WHOLE NO. 1669

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

Ishpeming keeps a fire engine on runners.

Several anxious patriots are eager to be made postmaster of Muskegon.

Cornelius Slaght, a prominent citizen of Greenville, died on the 5th.

An Ashland City girl named Hall committed suicide on the 5th, for reasons unknown.

J. C. Knapp, formerly of Concord, was elected register of deeds of Grant county, Dakota, at the late election.

Prof. McLouth, of the Ypsilanti normal school, obtained valuable observations of the transit of Venus.

Finest line Gents' Neck Wear at Kies Bros.

Ishpeming is considering a proposition for public and private lighting by means of the Edison electric light.

The telephone line between Marshall and Battle Creek, will probably be in working order before the holidays.

Richmond, Macomb county, wants the state telephone exchange $1,000 worth, and will accordingly be connected before Jan. 15.

Sylvester Bucher, who was scalded to death in an Elkhart, Ind., paper mill a few days ago hailed from Constantine, this state.

Celia Pegniquot, of Detroit, got $2,000 defective sidewalk injury damages against that city in the United States circuit court on the 7th.

Kies Bros. do the leading merchant tailoring business.

Joseph Tarty and Venus Curry, of Lakeside, Muskegon county, fined $50 each for selling liquor without a license. They paid it.

More officers talked of. This time it is the state horticulturists' society that wants the state to create a horticultural statistical office.

Martin Perk, one of the Coldwater fire bugs, was convicted of arson last Thursday. It was his second trial, and the jury was out half an hour.

The lake shipments of iron ore from Michigan ports this year amounted to 2,810,511 tons or 585,424 above the last year's shipments.

Buy your Silk Handkerchiefs at Kies Bros.

Byron Brockway was seriously and perhaps fatally injured by a log rolling over him at a lumber camp at Six Lakes, Montcalm county last week.

Bishop Harris and George W. Palmer, of Detroit, and Henry W. Seymour, of Sault St. Mary, have been appointed as the official board of visitors of the university.

Ebenezer Howard, an old resident of Vassar, has mysteriously disappeared, together with the price of a farm he had just sold, and it is supposed that he has been murdered.

The board of health of Boarman township, Kalkaska county, is closing the schools in certain localities in that township, owing to the prevalence of diphtheria and scarlet fever.

Full line of Sweet, Orr & Co's Overalls and Jackets, direct from the factory, at Kies Bros.

Since the close of navigation the Lake Shore railroad has raised the price of tickets from Detroit to points along the river and lake shore not reached by other lines from 15 to 25 cents.

The Alpena Argus says: "An Indian recently killed a deer that had a red ribbon tied in one of its ears."—Ten to one it also had one of Bontecou's $10 temperance alliance certificates in its hip pocket also.

A 15-years convict named Murdock, who was employed on the wagon contract at the state prison, got his arm caught in a machine for making felloes, last week, and the member was chopped off by inches up to the elbow.

Kies Bros. use the best trimmings in their merchant tailoring department.

Every now and then there comes to the congregational church society of East Saginaw, valuable gifts, accompanied solely by the legend "From Mother, Wife and I;" and there is no solution of who the charitable trio are.

Joseph Arnold, of near Edmore, used kerosene to build a fire in the stove. During his absence a few minutes later his little daughter, two years old, took up the can and began pouring oil on the fire. She was burned to death.

Go to Kies Bros.' for Hats & Caps.

CONUNDRUM

WHY HAVE KIES BROS.

Sold so many Winter Suits and Overcoats during the warm fall.

ANSWER.

Because they have

The Most Complete Stock!

And Make the

LOWEST PRICES IN SOUTHERN MICHIGAN.

ONE PRICE TO ALL!

KIES BROS.,

Mills Block, TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

WANTED.

10,000 feet of seasoned Bass wood for cash.
GEO. N. STACY.

NOTICE.

The village council request that parties depositing coal ashes in the streets of the village of Tecumseh, abandon the practice. It is strictly against the village ordinance described as a nuisance.
H. W. STEVENS, Marshall.

TIES WANTED.

Parties wishing to contract for ties along the new Toledo & Milwaukee R. R., will confer with H. W. Stevens, Tecumseh, Mich.

FOUND.

A lady's black yarn mittens. Call at the
HERALD OFFICE.

HOUSE TO RENT

A comfortable house, situated in Brownville. Rent reasonable. Enquire of MRS. JOHN COLE.

FOR SALE.

A new parlor suit for sale very cheap. Enquire at the Exchange hotel. J. H. EMERY.

FOR SALE.

80 acres of good land situated 3 miles Southeast Tecumseh on section 1 in Raisin. For particulars enquire of C. D. BILLS

DISSOLUTION.

The firm of Bouck & Peters, Blacksmiths, at Franklin Center, has this day been dissolved by mutual consent, Mr. Bouck retiring. All accounts due the firm will be collected by Mr. Peters, who will continue the business at the old stand.
A. J. BOUCK,
A. F. PETERS.
Franklin, Mich., Nov. 25, 1882.

EYE AND EAR SURGERY.

Dr. R. D. Tipple, Eye and Ear Surgeon, 307 Superior street, Toledo, treats all diseases of the eye ear, throat and nose both medically and surgically, upon scientific principles, inserts artificial eyes, adjusts spectacles, &c. Special attention given to straightening cross-eyes and removing cataracts. Consultations free.

O. P. Bills. Mrs. C. Bills.
N. Church, Mrs. M. H. Church.

O. P. BILLS & CO.,

BANKERS.

J. N. Satterlhwaite, Cashier.

Tecumseh, Mich.

Do a general Banking business. Receive deposits, Exchange bought on all points and our own drafts issued, available in all parts of the United States and Canada, and the principal cities of Europe.

THREE GREAT OFFERS.

For the benefit of subscribers, we have succeeded in making arrangements with the Detroit Free Press, Michigan Farmer, and Detroit Post and Tribune, and will offer the HERALD in connection with the papers at the following rates:

Herald & Weekly Free Press.....$2.25
" " " Post and Tribune 2.25
" " " Michigan Farmer 2.60

We have special rates from these papers, and have made a special rate on the HERALD to give our subscribers a chance to get the papers most needed in this vicinity at a reasonable rate, and hence concluded to make the cash reduction rather than give a premium, as heretofore. These rates are better than can be obtained from any subscription agent, and gives you the HERALD for less money than you can get any other paper published in Lenawee county. We also give special rates on all other newspapers published, and it will be to the advantage of any person to see us before subscribing for their newspapers for 1883.

A press opinion—"That's good cider."

TECUMSEH HERALD and Detroit Post & Tribune, $2.25.

MR. WM. P. ROOT and wife, of Bay City, are visiting his brother, Mr. Jerry Root in this village.

FIVE of the young men connected with the building wherein Dave Macham has his barber shop presented him with a nobby silk hat to-day. It being his 35th birthday.

MANY interesting incidents occurred on the way and at the dance at Clinton Tuesday night. Many parties got their rigs sadly mixed. One party drove a white horse up and a black one back and did not realize the difference until "bounced" by the livery man on his return.

THE fair and party Tuesday afternoon and evening at Clinton, in the interest of St. John's church was a complete success, netting the society over $150. The following persons from Tecumseh attended: Frank Warren, Elida James, Willet Brown, Lizzie Hicks, James McAdam, Leonora Packer, Ed. Baird, May Wood, M. L. Root, Eva Clement, Jno. Trann, Dena Heesen, Dolph Heesen, Ella Chiverall, Burt Temple, May Shepard, Dr. E. M. Conklin, Jennie Rosacrans, Mr. & Mrs. Geo. Kies, Mr. & Mrs. Charles Cummins, Mr. & Mrs. J. Root, Miss Jennie Root, Mr. & Mrs. S. W. Temple, Mrs. H. E. Stout, Mrs. C. A. Keil, Mrs. Geo. Merritt, Misses Clara and Mable Hayden, Fred Hendershott, Martin Palmer, Metta Adams, Maggie Clarkson, Leona Conkling, Mrs. Geo. Keyser & daughter, Mr. & Mrs. Joe VanNess, Mrs. Asa McIntyre, C. D. Bills, Nettie Faling, J. W. Mason, of Adrian; Vesta Freeman, Jennie Parkell, of Adrian; Dora Reynolds, Misses Grace and Eda Parkhurst, Geo. Adamson.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

TECUMSEH, MICH. DEC. 14, 1882.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

SEE our three big offers for subscriptions for 1883.

SEE the stock of Christmas cards at the HERALD office.

BLISSFIELD will have a grand society ball on Christmas night.

THE cold wave, which struck Tecumseh last week, is abating.

MRS. COL. SAVIERS returned to her home in St. Louis, Mich., Monday.

REMEMBER the donation visit at the Baptist Church, to-morrow evening.

ALBERT BREWER is in Chicago and Indianapolis on business this week.

GRIM winter now looks us square in the face, and—we blush to think of it.

MISS LILLIAN ELY has come home from Elmira, N. Y., to spend the winter.

ADDITIONAL telephone wires are to be strung between Detroit and Jackson.

THE skating rink at the Opera House will open again on Friday next.

MISS BETSY THOMPSON has lately returned from a two weeks' visit in Detroit.

HARLAND TOTTEN started last week for a visit through Kent, Montcalm and Ionia counties.

REV. R. S. PARDINGTON will deliver a lecture on "The Transit of Venus" next Sabbath evening.

EVERY boy or girl who buys a Christmas card at the HERALD office will get an advertising card.

TIME is flying, the old year dying, maidens are sighing, and people are buying—of those who advertise.

A LARGE number of nice presents have been purchased and laid away for the approaching Christmas.

PEOPLE who failed to observe the transit of Venus last week, must wait, for another opportunity until the year 2004.

SUBSCRIPTIONS for all newspapers and magazines published will be taken at the HERALD office at reduced rates.

TECUMSEH merchants say that their trade thus far during the month of December has been better than ever before.

G. P. SPARKS is doing a heavy business at his sewing machine rooms in Tecumseh. Read what he says in another column.

MR. AND MRS. ELIJAH AMES left Tecumseh Tuesday last on a visit to friends at Port Byron, N. Y. We wish them a pleasant trip.

IF you wish to know where to buy your holiday presents to the best advantage read the announcements to be found in this issue of the HERALD.

EVERY person who subscribes for a newspaper should call at the HERALD office and get figures before sending for their papers for 1883 and save money.

ALEX. EASLICK was appointed Postmaster at Lake Ridge, Dec. 6th, in place of Frank Whiting, who failed to qualify. Alex. will make a good postmaster.

MR. AND MRS. KOC arrived in Tecumseh last Tuesday evening. We congratulate our friend Koc and wish him all the happiness that life can bring forth.

WM. H. MATHER and J. L. Remington, of Tecumseh, and Dr. Geo. Howell, of Macon, are attending the session of the State Grange, this week, at Lansing.

THE Deerfield Record says: Dell Wood is clerking for C. F. Bliven. Tecumseh has a Dell Wood too, who is the foreman of A. W. Slayton's big cabinet factory.

S. W. TEMPLE is again started in business, and has already a good supply of lumber on hand. He has a convenient office and is each day receiving a supply of lumber and coal.

EVERY householder in northern Lenawee should take the Tecumseh HERALD and also the Detroit Free Press, the Post and Tribune or the Michigan Farmer. These papers can be obtained through our office at the lowest club rates.

RICHARD H. STEELE, D. D., of Ann Arbor, will deliver a lecture at the De Spelder Reform church, in Macon, on Tuesday evening next, Dec. 19th.—Admission 15 cents. Proceeds for the benefit of the church. Subject—Switzerland and the Alps.

THIS is the season of the year when the crabbed old man, who objects to his daughter's gentlemen company coming in to spend the evening, turns out the lights and enjoys a satisfactory smile, while the young couple indulge in a game of "freeze out" at the garden gate.

THE funeral of Tom O'Connelly, of Blissfield, was held on Monday of last week. It was the largest gathering of the kind ever witnessed in that village. Rev. Mr. Pardington, of Tecumseh, preached the discourse, and the rites of the masonic order were administered.

THE Tecumseh HERALD and Michigan Farmer, $2.60.

PETOSKEY is to be honored with a signal service station.

THE Michigan State Grange met in Lansing last Tuesday. Vocal music was furnished by the Weston Glee Club of this county.

REV. R. S. PARDINGTON delivered an address last evening in "The defense of the faith," before the Adrian District Preacher's Meeting, in the M. E. Church at Adrian.

THE lecture of the Hon. J. H. Bingham, of Ohio, will take place at Grange Hall, Macon, Dec. 20th, instead of the 19th, as announced last week. Look out for posters next week.

AN experienced surgeon from Drs. K. & K., U. S. Medical and Surgical Association of Detroit, Mich., will be at Sink's hotel, on Thursday, December 20th, 1882. Consultation free.

THIS is the time of the year when the aged and decrepit liar sits around in the grocery store, whittles the pork barrel and tells of the snow storms they used to have in July and August.

THE regular annual donation for the benefit of Rev. C. E. Conley will take place at the Baptist church and chapel to-morrow evening. A good supper will be served, and a good attendance is expected.

LET everybody remember that Dr. John H. Vincent will lecture Dec. 27 and 28, in the Opera House, on "That Boy" and "That Boy's Sister." Look out for further notices as to price etc.

AT the next regular communication of Tecumseh Lodge, No. 69, F. & A. M., to be held on Friday evening, Dec. 22d, an election of officers for the ensuing year will take place. Let there be a full attendance.

STATE Supt. Cochran has appointed Prof. McKeever, of Allegan, Prof. D. A. Hammond, of this village, and Hon. R. E. Phinney, of Monroe, as the Board of Visitors to the Raisin Valley Seminary for this year.

A YOUNG man in Big Beaver advertised for a wife, and his sister answered the advertisement. Now the y. m. thinks there is no balm in printer's ink, while the old folks allow it's pretty tough to have two fools in one family.

MR. PHILIP DEPUY, of Cayuga Co., N. Y., is still stopping with Mr. B. F. DePuy, of Macon. Having partaken of Frank's Thanksgiving turkey, he probably thinks it wise to remain and get his Christmas turkey under the same roof.

Morenci Observer: The name of the Canandaigua grange has been changed to Medina grange, as the meetings of the order have been held at Medina since its reorganization. The grange has now about fifty members, and its meetings are held in the lower hall of the academy.

Evening News: S. Wright Gilbert, the Buffalo railroad official who was recently gazetted as having disappeared leaving his accounts short about $40,000, was formerly an Adrian man. Wheat and oil options and parting one's name in the middle makes a combination that will ruin any man.

JOHN R. CLARK returned home from his eastern trip on Tuesday last, but is to go back and lecture at Niagara Fall next Sunday and Monday, and at Rochester before the Holidays. He will give Tecumseh his latest and best on New Year's night, entitled "Irish Life and Character," with new song, assisted by local talent.

ADRIAN is considerably stirred up over the report that the Westerman Bros. have taken an exorbitant attorney's fee for procuring a divorce for one Mrs. Jordan. We have not seen any statement of their side of the case. They have always borne a good reputation and we presume they can explain their action in this matter satisfactorily.

THE last regular meeting of Macon Grange for the year 1882 will be held at Grange Hall, Friday, Dec. 22d. Election of officers will take place at this meeting, and also a Board of Directors elected for the year 1883. Let there be a full attendance. There will be a meeting of the present Board of Directors Monday, Dec. 18, at 7 p. m., at Grange Hall.

ON Thursday last Hon. Edwin Willits introduced in the House of Representatives, at Washington, a bill authorizing the Secretary of War to deliver to the village of Tecumseh, Lenawee county, Michigan, four condemned cannon and four cannon-balls for decoration of the soldiers' monument, which was read a first and second time, referred to the Committee on Military Affairs, and ordered to be printed.

SATURDAY night, Augusta Sterling, from Jackson, and Jennie Delisle, from Flint, two late arrivals at the Reform School for girls, at Adrian, escaped. Both were caught at the Lake Shore depot, but one escaped the officer and was overtaken near Lenawee Junction, where she was hiding behind some corn-stalks. Both were returned to the Reform School the same night, after a cold tramp of several miles.

READ our special subscription offers in another column.

B. J. COLLER, of Adrian, sold to Dr. S. Catlin, of our town, last week, an elegant Chime Bell organ.

THE Marshall Mutual Aid Association of Marshall, Michigan, has been doing a successful Life Insurance business during the past two years, and has suffered only two losses in the meantime, offering good and safe insurance. A reliable man is desired to represent it in this vicinity. For terms &c., address, J. S. Galvin, Secretary.

ALREADY we find the walk in front of some of our business places covered with ice, the result of carelessness on the part of the occupants who imagine they cannot scrub out without flooding the walks. A respectable fine and costs would go a long way towards correcting their false ideas of house cleaning and the value of other people's limbs.

THE annual meeting of the Cambridge sheep breeders' and wool growers' association will be held at the cheese factory, on Friday, December 29, at half-past six p. m., for the election of officers and such other business as may properly come before the meeting. The subject for discussion proposed by O. L. Short is, "Does pedigree, or registration determine the quality of animals." A full attendance is desired. M. REED, Sec'y.

Morenci Observer: North Morenci had its first serious railway accident early last Thursday morning. The two night frieght trains had orders to pass there, and the one from the east arriving first was run on to the side-track, and as it was a very long train a number of the hind cars still remained on the main track. The train from the west came in, and as the engineer was enveloped in a cloud of steam he did not comprehend the situation until he went thundering into the rear cars, demolishing a half dozen and disabling his own engine. The accident probably would not have occurred had the conductor who arrived first taken the precaution to obey his general orders in such a case by placing torpedoes on the track at such a distance to warn the incoming train of the danger. It took until near noon on Thursday to clear the track so that trains could pass. It made a right lively time for a few hours.

A PLATE WINDOW SMASHED.

Bold Attempt to Burglarize the Clothing Store of Kies Bros.

Last Tuesday night an attempt was made to break into Kies Bros'. clothing store, which was partially successful. While the night watch was at the west end of the business district, some one broke through the heavy plate-glass window on the east side of the store, making a hole of irregular shape, but about as large as a peck measure. Three suits of boys' clothing were abstracted from the show window through this opening, but nothing more was taken than a man could reach with one hand through the hole in the glass. It is probable that the burglars heard the night watch coming and made off without attempting any further depredations.

Upon further enquiry we learn that the night watchman's clock was wound by the key at Kies Bros. at twenty minutes before six, and as he goes off duty at six it is more than likely that the mischief was done after that hour. The glass was broken with a large cobble stone which was found inside the store.

A Summer in Iceland.

D. W. C. Durgin, D.D., President of Hillsdale college, has been engaged to deliver his popular and instructive lecture on Iceland, at the opera house in this village on Thursday evening, Dec. 21st. Mr. Durgin is too well known through this section of the state to need any comments. The position he holds being sufficient guaranty as to his ability. He is a good orator, possessing the faculty of holding the attention of his audience that few speakers can boast of. He speaks without notes, having thoroughly possessed himself of the subject, and is not disturbed by questions during the lecture. A year ago last summer Mr. Durgin made an extended visit to Iceland, that famous Iceland of the "midnight sun," and explored it thoroughly. His lecture treats of the geography, history, religion, education, natural scenery, domestic life and language of this wonderful island, and of his personal experience while there. It is fully illustrated by fine oil paintings of natural scenery, by articles of dress and various other relics. We understand that the proceeds over and above expenses, are to be used in purchasing philosophical apparatus for the school. The object is, therefore, a laudable one, and we hope our citizens will give the undertaking their hearty support by attending the lecture en masse. Doors will be opened at 7 o'clock, lecture to begin at 8. Admission 25 cts., school children 15 cts. In conclusion we would say, if you want to be instructed thoroughly, if you want to be entertained profitably, if you want to laugh heartily, don't fail to come out on the above named date and take a trip to Iceland with Dr. Durgin.

T. & M. RAILROAD NOTES.

The following items in relation to work on the T. & M. road, at the west end of the line, are taken from the Marshall Statesman of last week:

As mentioned in last week's Statesman, the grading from Emerald mill east has been finished up to Kalamazoo ave. Mr. Z. A. Hakes, the sub-contractor, is now working east of the city, on land owned by the Perrin estate, with fifty teams and a corresponding force of men. To-night he will remove one of the gangs now working between Ceresco and Emerald mill and put them on the grade east of the city. Mr. Hakes states that there is only about a week's work between the mill and Ceresco, and then a continuous line ready for the ties will exist from Marshall to Ceresco.

The right of way east of Marshall, with the exception of two pieces, will be secured by this evening, as Mr. Lamb is working in that direction to-day. The two pieces referred to are owned by men in Eckford, who repudiate the contracts drawn up some weeks ago, and the final resort will be to have them appraised. Mr. Lamb leaves for Toledo to-morrow night, and will not return to this point until a route through the city of Marshall is determined upon. He will then return to secure the right of way.

To date there have been 110,000 ties delivered at Allegan for the T. & M., and more have been contracted for.

On Dec. 4th 22 car loads of steel rails were received at Allegan, and the latest reports last night stated that 26 more had arrived, making 48 in all. These cars will be dispatched to Monteith and will be used on the old grade to the southward of Monteith. The work of laying the ties and ironing will soon commence.

Chief Engineer Boeh and Mr. J. H. McLane left yesterday afternoon to make a personal inspection of the old bed from Beadle lake to Monteith. In order to do this thoroughly they will strike in at Beadle lake and walk over the grade. A report will then be sent in to headquarters.

Ypsilanti Sentinel. Probably the last deer in these parts was shot near Moore's mill last Monday. Some years ago a drove of five was hunted in the woods of that section, and four of them killed. Since that time no deer have been seen. Monday a large number of men were hunting, and the buck in his flight passed close to one who carried a gun loaded with turkey shot, and received the whole charge at very close range. He ran a few rods and fell dead. The south part of this county and the adjoining portions of Monroe, were about the best resorts of game in this section, which once was a favorite field for the hunter.

Deerfield Record: Messrs. E. E. Burnham and John Peters have recently purchased a large tract of timber situated about five miles southeast of this village, and will soon begin manufacturing the same into lumber. They have secured a portable steam saw-mill and will move it upon the tract. All the lumber will be hauled to this station for shipment. They propose to make business boom during the winter, giving employment to a large number of men and teams, and consequently will distribute a large sum of money to the benefit of our village.

Dr. Stolze.

Will remain at Sink's Hotel, Tecumseh, until Saturday afternoon at four o'clock, where he may be consulted on all chronic diseases. Having spent a long professional life in the study and treatment of this special class of disorders, and in surgical practice, he finds that he has a right to promise better results than those of limited experience. Call in and see him. Office hours from 9 A.M. to 9 P.M. Ladies sitting room, Sink's hotel.

—See the elegant skeleton cabinet White Sewing Machine, at Spark's Sewing Machine rooms.

—Ed. Prichard will sell at auction, on the corner of Railroad and Chicago streets, on Saturday next, one black mare and one buffalo robe. Terms made known at sale.

—Call at Tecumseh Sewing Machine rooms and select a holiday present for your wife, daughter or friend. No expenditure of the same amount will bring so much real joy to the household as the noiseless, light-running, beautifully finished sewing machine of the present day. Domestic, White, New Home, Crown, American, Wilson, Victor and Singer to select from. You can buy as low as any agency in the State will sell you.

—Leave your orders for Sash, Doors, blinds, mouldings, window frames, tanks, troughs, etc., etc., with the Tecumseh Lumber Co. They will receive prompt attention.

—Disturbance among the heavenly bodies. The sun darkened, stars cease to twinkle, for the Light Running New Home eclipses them all. Though not down in the almanac, this eclipse is visible in all parts of the world. But that my business is not all down on paper is shown by the fact that I am selling more Sewing Machines than any other house in Southern Michigan. Call and see the best and get holiday prices.

B. J. COLLER, Adrian, Mich.

—Call at the yard and mill of the Tecumseh Lumber Co., and examine their stock.

—A novelty—child's Sewing Machine, "Little Top," at Spark's Sewing Machine rooms.

DON'T READ THIS.

If you want to buy a sewing machine go to Coller's Sewing Machine Emporium, Adrian, get his "bottom prices" on the New Home, latest patent, then call at the Tecumseh Sewing Machine Agency and I will sell you one for two dollars less than his lowest figure. This will pay you for your trouble. A man who will infringe on another's territory is not the one you want to buy a machine of. I keep in stock the Domestic, White, New Home, Crown, Victor, and Singer, which I will sell you as low as any agency in the state. My rooms at Brown's New Photograph Gallery are elegantly fitted up and will be found very pleasant for ladies who desire to examine and try the different machines. I keep all kinds of attachments and needles, also the very best oil to be had in the market. Old machines repaired, or taken in exchange. By fair honorable dealing I hope to gain the confidence of the public.—Please call and examine before purchasing of outside parties. It will be to your interest to do so.

G. P. Sparks.

Most People

In this country seem to think that Coller's Palace of Music, at Adrian, Mich., is the place to buy pianos and organs. Customers have been more numerous than ever of late. Below we give a list of names of parties who have purchased fine organs: Andrew Russell; Fairfield; H. Pauling, Adrian township; Aaron Van Ostrand, Dover; Cyrus Crandall, Raisin; John Van Vleet, Ridgeway; Baptist Church, Tecumseh; I. O. O. F. No. 169, Jasper; Mr. Whittaker, Clayton; Henry Binns, Addison.

Mr. Coller handles four of the leading organs, as follows: Estey, Reading, Chicago Cottage, and Clough & Warren Chime Bells. Largest stock and lowest prices for holiday trade.

—When you want good geese feathers be sure and go to McCowen's.

—People can get pictures at my gallery in Clinton now any day in the week. I shall remove it to Brooklyn, Mich., very soon.
Brown, the Photographer.

—Ladies, you are all invited to look through my ware-rooms and examine my large stock of fine furniture. You can't help but find a present of some kind.
WM. MCCOWEN.

—If you are going to purchase a sewing machine don't fail to see the light running New Home, latest patent, feed on four sides of the needle, at Collar's Sewing Machine Emporium, Adrian, Michigan.

—The people here at not fools, but go to McCowen's when they want good goods at low prices, every time.

—If you cannot call at Coller's Palace of Music and Sewing Machine Emporium, at Adrian, and examine his stock, write him a postal for catalogue and bottom prices.

—For window cornices, room mouldings, velvet, cabinet, and all kinds of picture frames, go to McCowen's.

—December will be a bargain month at A. B. Cotton's.

—We have a five years' lease of the lumber yard on Shawnee street, near the depot, besides being the sole owners of the Planing Mill and Sash and Door factory, corner of Pearl and Shawnee streets, formerly owned by S. W. Temple. We have come to stay, to do an honest, legitimate business, and cordially invite the people to call on us and make our acquaintance. We are bound to please.
Respectfully,
TECUMSEH LUMBER CO.

—Dress Goods at Bargains.
A. B. Cotton.

—Parties wishing floral decorations for weddings, funerals or other uses, will be promptly supplied by leaving orders with J. J. Orr, at Wright's drug store. Elmer D. Smith.

Twenty-Seven

More Light Running New Home Sewing Machines just sold by B. J. Coller, of Adrian, to the following parties: George Miller, Clinton; Miss Libbie Priest, Clinton; Mr. Bradner, Clinton; Miss Mary Blessing, Tecumseh; Mrs. Alvy Freer, Ridgeway; Cornelius Exelby, Ridgeway; George Allison, Ridgeway; Paul Schwab, Ridgeway; Herman Atwell, Ridgeway; Orrin Craft, Ridgeway; James Wright, Ridgeway; Abbott Smith, Holloway; H. C. Vannatter, Palmyra; E. A. Baker, Palmyra; P. J. Tenent, Palmyra; Mr. Crane, Springville; Henry Henderson, Sand Creek; Mr. Dunn, Fairfield; Mr. Delano, Fairfield; Mr. Aldrich, Madison; R. A. Childs, Adrian; E. A. Mills, Rollin; Amanda M. Davis, Adrian; Isaac Rathbone, Adrian township; Philo Lossing, Palmyra; Sophia Karle, Adrian; Mr. Foot, Adrian.

Call on Mr. Coller and take a Light Running New Home on trial, if you are going to buy, and satisfy yourselves that it is the finest sewing machine made.

—Call at my residence, one door north of the Presbyterian church, and see samples of Ornamental Hair Jewelry. MRS. C. M. WEBSTER.

LODGES AND SOCIETIS

TECUMSEH LODGE, NO. 14, I. O. O. F

REGULAR MEETING Every Tuesday Evening at their Lodge Room over Hixson's store, Chicago Street. J. W. WOODEN N. G.

EUGENE HIXSON, Sec.

Railroad Time Tables

[illegible] RAILROAD

[illegible]

STATIONS	No. 6 Mail	No. 52 Express	No. 48 Accom
Jackson	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Napoleon	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Norvell	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Manchester	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Clinton	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Tecumseh	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Adrian	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Delaware	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Toledo	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

GOING EAST

STATIONS	No. 51 Mail	No. 5 Express	No. 47 Accom
Toledo	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Adrian	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Tecumseh	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Clinton	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Manchester	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Norvell	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Napoleon	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Jackson	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

SPECIAL NOTICE

Coupon tickets are now [illegible] between Toledo and points west of Jackson, over the lines of the Michigan Central and Lake Shore & Michigan Southern R'ys, at the following rates: [illegible] U. S.

NOAH SATTERTHWAITE, Ticket Agent.

Post Office, Tecumseh, Michigan.

MAILS DUE

Eastern and Detroit [illegible]

Northern and Detroit via Adrian [illegible]

Eastern and Detroit [illegible]

DEPARTURES

Clifton Springs, the Tamarack, Milan & Rockwood, Lyn, Monday, Wednesday, Friday [illegible]

Ridgeway—daily [illegible]

Lake Ridge, daily [illegible]

Macon, daily [illegible]

Northern Mail [illegible]

Eastern Mail [illegible]

Office [illegible] from 10 to 12 M. [illegible]

E. D. COLVIN, P. M.

For the Latest Styles of Buggies, [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

General Auctioneer.

All Auction business entrusted to his care will receive prompt attention.

TECUMSEH, - MICHIGAN

BEN REYNOLDS,

Licensed Auctioneer.

ALL AUCTION BUSINESS, [illegible] or country will receive prompt attention.

TECUMSEH, MICH.

DR. B. F. STEINHOFF'S

Dental Rooms.

OVER BAKER & CASE'S

GAS FOR EXTRACTING.

THE LOWEST PRICES for THE BEST WORK

LOOSE'S EXTRACT

RED CLOVER BLOSSOM,

The Great Blood Purifier

PURE AND HARMLESS

Cures Scrofula [illegible] Rheum, Erysipelas, Eruptions and all other blood and skin diseases [illegible] $1 per pint bottle.

Loose's Red Clover Pills [illegible] cheap.

Loose's Red Clover Tea [illegible] gestion and constipation. They act on the liver and kidneys. [illegible] 25 cents. 5 boxes $1.

For sale by all druggists. Address, J. M. Loose & Co., Monroe, Mich. Send for circular.

I have removed my

BLACKSMITH SHOP

To the old stand of J. H. Mills On Logan Street,

Opposite Hayden's Warehouse where I have better facilities than ever for doing good work.

Horse Shoeing a specialty

ED. ROWLAND.

A Remarkable Poem to which 38 Poets Contribute a Line Each.

The following very remarkable little poem is a contribution to the San Francisco Times from the pen of Mr H. V. Deming. The reader will see that each line is a quotation from some one of the standard authors of England and America. This is the result of years of laborious search among the voluminous writings of thirty eight of the poets of the past and present. The number of each line refers to its author below.

1. Why at this text for sermons of an hour?
2. Life was short ungiven to man's a flower.
3. By time we catch the vital breath and die
4. The [illegible]
5. To be a better far than to be
6. Through all the [illegible] seem a trage[illegible]
7. But light words speak sometimes goods are dumb
8. The [illegible] but silence speaks the [illegible]
9. Your fates [illegible]
10. Unmingled joys here to man [illegible]
11. Nature to each note of pleasure [illegible]
12. Fortune makes folks fast partners [illegible]
13. Custom does from reason [illegible]
14. And throws a veil [illegible]
15. Love [illegible] to heaven.
16. They who love [illegible] most for [illegible]
17. [illegible]
18. [illegible]
19. [illegible]
20. [illegible]
21. Your pendulum [illegible] smile and tear
22. Her various shapes let faithless pleasure [illegible]
23. With [illegible]
24. [illegible]
25. We must [illegible] of all that we despise
26. [illegible] impudence that impedes selfish [illegible]
27. [illegible] has wings and grandeur is a dream
28. Think not ambition wise because 'tis brave
29. The paths of glory lead but to the grave
30. What is ambition? [illegible] destructive to the brave and great.
31. Where all the gaudy gutter of a crowd
32. [illegible]
33. [illegible]
34. [illegible]
35. Man [illegible] you may your God [illegible]
36. Why [illegible] not complained
37. The trust that's given guard and to your [illegible]
38. For live well how we can, do we must.

1. Young. 2. Dr. Johnson. 3. Pope. 4. Percy. 5. Sewell. 6. Spencer. 7. Dana. 8. Sir Walter Scott. 9. Longfellow. 10. Southwell. 11. Congreve. 12. Churchill. 13. Rochester. 14. Armstrong. 15. Mason. 16. Bacon. 17. Trench. 18. Shakespeare. 19. Thompson. 20. Byron. 21. Sprague. 22. Crabbe. 23. Massinger. 24. Cowley. 25. Beattie. 26. Cowper. 27. Sir Walter Devenant. 28. Gray. 29. White. 30. Addison. 31. Dryden. 32. Francis Quarles. 33. Watkins. 34. Herrick. 35. William Mason. 36. Pill. 37. Dana. 38. Shakespeare.

An Enthusiastic Soldier.

During a late election at San Diego, a soldier stationed at the mission, who had moistened his clay with good effect during the day, gave a fearful whoop in front of the Exchange, leaped high into the air, and subsiding into the posture of Ajax defying the lightning, gave vent to the following highly conciliatory remarks: "Me name is Pat Malley, from Galway, and anybody that don't like him, can kiss his Irish fut, and anybody that says anything against a soldier, because he is a soldier, I can knock h— ll's delights out of him. O Galway, Galway, Galway! Won't somebody hit me?" This last request was made in an earnest tone of entreaty, perfectly affecting to listen to. It was not complied with.

This soldier's story reminds me of another.

"You know a soldier has two dresses, full uniform and fatigue; the one blazing with worsted embroidery, t'other, dull and sombre-looking. Patrick Hogan, of the Second United States Foot, went forth one day into the wilderness near the barracks, and seating himself beneath a tree, essayed to read a small Roman Catholic book called 'The Words of Jesus,' when 'zoom' a yellow-jacket hornet stung him under the left ear. 'It hurt,' and Pat chased the little animal for some time, but fruitlessly. Next day he went forth again; same tree, same book, everything quiet, when 'buzz! buzz' a large brown beetle came flying up. Pat looked at him, and left. 'Ah be Jaiers' said he, 'my boy, d'ye think I don't know ye in yer fatigues?'"

—San Francisco Call.

The Merchant Navy.

There is a vague impression that the decline in the ship-building and navigating trade began with the Civil War, and was occasioned by the Confederate cruisers, but in a recently published book, Mr David A. Wells demonstrates that the influence of these agencies has been greatly exaggerated.

They simply furthered a process of decadence which had previously set in, and the primary cause of the decline, was, in Mr Wells's opinion, the substitution of steamers for sailing vessels.

While the latter were built of wood, the American could compete with the English in constructing them, but experience taught the builders that iron vessels are better adapted to bear the strain of steam machinery, and that wood is unsuitable for vessels propelled by screws. The mechanics for the construction of iron vessels did not exist in the United States, and it was predicted in 1857 that England, being able to construct such steamers more cheaply than any other country, would monopolize ocean navigation.

The remedy, in Mr Wells's opinion, is in the repeal of the navigation laws which handicap American shipping, and in the reduction of all expenses connected with the lading and discharge of seamen, pilotage, consular charges, etc., but he concludes that a reform of the tariff is also indispensable.

Her Mistake.

"Why do you suppose Rev Johnson Reed is always driving over to Smithville?" asked one Austin gentleman of another. "His wife says he goes over to admire the beauty of the place," was the reply. "Yes, but does his wife know that the beauty of the place is a young widow?"

A prudent citizen of a Vermont town went and plugged the lock on the hand-engine house, so that the next time there was a fire in the town it took the firemen so long to get the engine out, that they didn't arrive at the scene of the conflagration in time to do any damage.

The Dickens Racket.

A tramp printer while passing a drug store heard a gentleman remark to the druggist that he was the exact picture of Charles Dickens. The printer saw at a glance that the druggist was flattered, and immediately settled down on a plan by which he would be relieved of the burden of necessity of "setting the barter d—." Pretty soon the druggist returned, and seeming mind a little sick said to the printer:

"Excuse me, sir, I'm a little sick. I'm just passing your way, I wished not for body but nature's suffering resemblance between you and the late lamented Charles Dickens, whose manuscript I have read a thing set aside. The sight of your face is a moment curse I upon the a flood of tender tights to rendant to the great dog yet."

"What's you be talkin' about?" asked the druggist.

"No, I am a sufferer. I'd a fairly to get a pint of whisky for a sick friend."

"I hope you are the whisky, sir."

"Yes, but sir, I'm tired, sick, or rather exhausted. I am composite tinged of a word. I am known by this street here a gentleman's cousin."

"I can tell you I have a [illegible] same [illegible]" said the druggist, smiling in recollection of his resemblance to Dickens. "I never have any misgivings in regard to a man whose face bears, as yours does, such indications of honesty."

The printer secured the whisky and when he reached his "room for" a squalid room where he lived with his wife, their infant and a shoemaker, he found the experience, when they all agreed that a rich mine had been discovered. For several days the printer secured the whisky, and then the scenes went around and was struck with the resemblance. Finally the shoemaker's twin arrived. He was drunk erectory by the printers and cautioned, on account of his neglected literary training, to take a niche any venture.

"Oh, I can hold it down," said the shoemaker. "Give me the bottle. I'll get the lost he's got." He went to the store and meeting the proprietor said:

"Well, sir, it's mighty strange, but you are exactly like Dickson."

"Like whom, sir?"

"Dickson the book-binder. Don't you know him?"

"No, sir, I don't."

"It's mighty strange. The boys have been coming around here for some time, talkin' to you about Dickson and gettin' the whisky, but when I come you don't know anything about it. Hand up the bottle anyway, cap'n. I don't want the gang to gug me."

The druggist took the bottle, and moving around among different jars filled it, while a moonlight twinkle danced in his eyes. When the shoemaker returned to the "ranch" the printers complimented him on his success, but shortly afterwards, when they heaved and groaned in sudden and awful sickness, they cursed the druggist and his resemblance to the great master of London low life description.—Dickens in Travel-lers.

His Few Parting Words to His Son.

Old Sol Grayson was long regarded as the most noted infidel in Arkansas. His pious neighbors were often shocked by his unreverential expressions, and the superstitious were afraid to pass the house at night or during dark, cloudy weather. One day the news that old Sol had been stricken down with rheumatism of the heart spread around. People left their plows and shops and hurried to the bedside of the sufferer, not particularly through sympathy, but because they wanted to witness the old man's violent struggles with the devil.

"Ah, old man," the neighbors had often remarked, "we want to be present when you die. You'll take water then, old man." The old man would reply that he had never taken much water during life, and that he didn't think he would begin now, etc. for something stronger of Scotch.

We at the time had come and the people gathered around. The old man seemed to be suffering greatly.

"How do you feel, old man?" asked the superintendent of the neighborhood Sunday school.

"Pretty rough," and he drew up his face and squinted his eyes in pain.

"Old gentleman, you are dying. A few more moments and you will be beyond the philosophy of earth. You have not believed in a hell; you have lived as though you never expected to meet the devil, and now we ask you to try and reflect."

"You are right," said the old man. "You are right, my life has been a terrible mistake," and calling his son to his bedside he said: "John, I'm going."

"Yes, father," replied the boy.

"It is right that I should give a few parting words to you." The visitors pressed forward and leaned over. "No man should die without leaving advice to his son." He was silent for a moment, and the superintendent, fearing that he might die before the words of advice and repentance were uttered, said:

"But what were you going to say to your son?"

"Yes, I had almost forgotten it. John you win, and my revolver in my Sunday [illegible]"—Arkansaw Traveler.

In Liverpool, not many yards from the prince of Wales', the Court and the Alexandra theatres, is a wonderful emporium where everything is sold, from a Bible to a bootjack, from a house of furniture to a pair of shoestrings. Next door is a smaller emporium carrying on a rival trade. At Lewis' door stands a tall fellow in uniform. He is kept in Lewis' domains by a shutter which conceals the lower part of his person. His whole and sole duty is to lean over that shutter, to keep his eye on the rival shop and to shout every time a customer looks like going in, "That's not Lewis!" There is a crowd to watch him all day and up to midnight, but no one is unassisted, and no one ever, "That's not Lewis."

Pyrethrum roseum, the insecticide plant, is perfectly hardy in this climate, and may be raised as easily as a cone-flower or mayweed. The value of the powder made from the flowers as an insecticide can hardly be estimated, since it is sure death to many of our most destructive pests, and yet utterly harmless to human beings and the larger animals.

THE SUN

NEW YORK, 1883.

More people have read THE SUN during the year just passing than ever before since it was first published. No other newspaper published on this side of the earth has been bought and read in any year by so many men and women.

The reason for this is plain to an attentive observer. It is because THE SUN is the brightest, most interesting, most instructive, most entertaining, most useful newspaper now published. Its editorials upon the events, the men, the measures and the principles that have made the history of the world during the past year have attracted the attention and received the approval of the most intelligent readers everywhere. Its remarks upon the people, the current topics, the business, the politics, the society, the amusements, the news of the day, the literature, the science, the art, the progress, the humanities, the follies and the vices of the world have been those of a fearless, independent, impartial newspaper, addressing a million readers every week.

THE SUN has earned the confidence of its readers by its truthfulness, its intelligence, its wit, its wisdom, its humanity, its love of the right, its hatred of the wrong, its ridicule of the ridiculous, its exposure of the knavish, its support of the honest, its encouragement of the industrious, its instruction of the ignorant, its entertainment of the idle, its comfort of the afflicted, its defiance of the oppressor, its aid to the oppressed, its terrors to the evil-doer, its encouragement to the virtuous, its light upon the path of the inquirer, its guidance of the bewildered, its warning of the careless, its incentive to the ambitious, its stimulus to the industrious, its reward of merit to the deserving, its recognition of the learned, its appreciation of the beautiful, its condemnation of the selfish, its denunciation of the venal, its execration of the malicious, its scourging of the slanderous, its pursuit of the fraudulent, its detection of the hypocritical, its exposure of the treacherous, its denunciation of the cruel, its pursuit of the criminal, its defiance of the tyrant, its encouragement of the philanthropist, its sympathy with the poor, its aid to the needy, its succor of the friendless, its consolation of the afflicted, its advice to the doubtful, its rebuke of the arrogant, its support of the meritorious, its reward of the patient, its recognition of the modest, its encouragement of the generous, its condemnation of the selfish, its exposure of the vain, its ridicule of the foolish, its hatred of the base, its love of the noble, its contempt for the mean, its admiration of the honest, its worship of the ideal, its aspiration for the good, its inspiration to the poet, its music to the lover, its home for the family, its welcome to the stranger, its succor to the distressed, its light to the benighted, its truth to the world.

It is the aim of THE SUN to be all that it has been during the past year, and to be much more than it has been, if possible to be so. It will be published every day in the year, and will be sent to any address for one year for $3.65, or for a month for 30 cents. Address

THE SUN, New York City.

Terms to Mail Subscribers

The several editions of THE SUN are sent by mail, postpaid, as follows:

DAILY—55 cents a month, $6.50 a year, with Sunday edition, $7.70.

SUNDAY—A large sheet of eight pages of the most interesting reading, $1.20 a year.

WEEKLY—$1 a year. Eight pages of the most interesting reading of the week, including the Agricultural Department, the market reports, and a large amount of miscellaneous matter. The Weekly SUN is the newspaper for the farmers and their families. To clubs of ten with $10, an extra copy free.

Address I. W. ENGLAND, Publisher, THE SUN, N. Y. City.

NEW YORK WEEKLY HERALD.

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR.

The circulation of this popular newspaper is constantly increasing. It contains all the leading news of the Daily Herald, and is arranged in twenty departments. The embraces special dispatches from all quarters of the globe. Under the head of

FOREIGN NEWS

AMERICAN NEWS

are given the Telegraphic Dispatches of the week from all parts of the Union. This feature alone makes the most valuable chronicle in the world, as it is the cheapest. Every week is given a faithful report of embracing complete and comprehensive despatches from Washington, including full reports of the speeches of eminent politicians on the questions of the hour.

THE WEEKLY HERALD

POLITICAL NEWS,

THE FARM DEPARTMENT of the Weekly Herald gives the latest as well as the most practical suggestions and discoveries relating to farming, containing hints for raising Cattle, Horses, Sheep, Poultry, Vegetables, &c., &c., with suggestions for keeping buildings and farming implements in good repair. This is supplemented by a series of articles entirely original, under the head of giving the best practical dishes, hints for making everything and for keeping up with the latest fashions, new stitches, every item of cooking or [illegible] in household matters practically treated, specimen [illegible] information. Letters from our [illegible] correspondents on the very latest [illegible] The Home Department of the Weekly Herald will save the housewife more than [illegible] times its price in the paper. The [illegible] and [illegible] and everything relating to mechanics and labor saving is carefully recorded. There is a page devoted to all the latest phases of the business market, Crops, Merchandise, &c. &c. A variety of matter is found in the specially devoted spaces, a [illegible] additional.

THE HOME.

SKILLED LABOR

THE PRODUCE MARKET

Sporting News at home and abroad, together with a Story every week, a SERMON by some eminent divine, Literary, Social, Financial, Personal and Social News, the news of the world in which a digest is given in a few words, every week, in the Weekly Herald, which is issued free of postage free, for one cent. Yearly, 52 cents, or any three copies for one year, $1.

NEW YORK HERALD, Broadway and Ann St., New York.

SIFTED THEM OUT

Winnowing the Wheat from the Tares—

A Problem Easily Simplified.

"My friend" said the druggist, "you have a bad cough, you say and want a plaster to put on it. Once I could have shown a large assortment to choose from. Now I keep only a few, and sell most of Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster. Why? Because they are the best. I have tried the others, and some others. They are harmless and slow. Business is business, and I generally succeed in getting them to try a great deal."

"Another customer came in, without any more talk he took back a dozen of the others, working his passage by a sixpence."

"Here, you sir," said the druggist, with the good-nature of a man who knows the plaster, pushing it to [illegible]

"And here, [illegible] said the same thing and [illegible]

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption.

When death was hourly expected, a certain [illegible] having failed and Dr R. James was experimenting with the many herbs of the [illegible] accidentally made a preparation which cured his only child of Consumption. His children now enjoy health, and enjoying the best of health. He has proved to the world that Consumption can be positively and permanently cured. The doctor now gives this recipe free, only asking two three-cent stamps to pay up costs. This herb also cures night sweats, relieves at the stomach, and will break up a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Crafts dock & Co., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, naming this paper.

One Dollar! One Year!

THE WEEKLY PLAIN DEALER.

Cleveland, Ohio. $1.00 for a year's subscription. A leading Democratic journal and valuable family Newspaper. Send a dollar for the best paper in the West for the price. PLAIN DEALER PUBLISHING CO., Cleveland, Ohio. Sample copy free.

YOUNG MEN If you want to learn Telegraphy in a few months, and be certain of a situation, Address, Valentine Bros., Janesville, Wis.

THE TOLEDO WEEKLY BEE!

AN INDEPENDENT FAMILY NEWSPAPER, Containing Thirty-Six Columns of Interesting Reading Matter.

Price, One Dollar Per Year.

OUR PREMIUM OFFER:

$15 Worth of Books for $1.

The following liberal offer of Books as premiums will be open for a short time to our subscribers.

We will give any one of the sixteen books named below, including one year's subscription to the Weekly Bee, for $1.00. In other words, any one ordering at the regular price and sending at the same time the Dollar extra, being $2.00 in all, will receive the Weekly Bee one year and any one of the sixteen books mentioned below. For $1.50 we will give any five of the books and the Weekly Bee one year. Old subscribers can renew and have the benefit of this offer.

Book No. 1—Life and Adventures of Robinson Crusoe, 256 pages. Book No. 2—The Pilgrim's Progress, 158 pages. Book No. 3—The New Farm and How to Make It Pay, 64 pages. Book No. 4—Life of Brigham Young and the Mormons, 32 pages. Book No. 5—Gulliver's Travels, 124 pages. Book No. 6—Bread and Cheese and Kisses, 93 pages. Book No. 7—Life Scenes, Night's Entertainments, 48 pages. Book No. 8—Aesop's Fables, 64 pages. Book No. 9—Turn-up Jack and Pictures, 122 pages. Book No. 10—Noble Deeds of Men and Women, 126 pages. Book No. 11—Secrets of Progressive Authors, 150 pages. Book No. 12—Swiss Family Robinson, 272 pages. Book No. 13—Household Picture Book, 64 pages. Book No. 14—Art Up by Thyself, 224 pages. Book No. 15—Life and Times of Franklin, 48 pages. Book No. 16—The Complete Poultry Book, 226 pages.

The usual price of these books, bound in cloth, is $1 to $1.50 each. They are published in nice book form and bound in fancy paper, and for a short time our arrangements with the publishers allow us to give the 16 of the books and the Bee for one year at the very low price named above. The Books are latest and most complete editions, and contain many illustrations, one alone requiring fifty pictures to complete it. They are sent by mail, postage prepaid.

Send in your names at once and take advantage of this offer.

This is a bona fide offer, and the books are just what they are represented to be. Send for a full descriptive circular.

Order books by their number, not title. Money should be sent by Post-office Money Order or Registered Letter, addressed to THE BEE, Toledo, Ohio.

DAILY BEE.

An Independent paper devoted to news and matters of current interest. Delivered by carrier in the railroad towns at 15 cents per week. Sent by mail at $5 per year, 6 months $2.50, 3 months, $1.25, 1 month, 50 cents. Address

THE BEE, 152 St. Clair Street, Toledo, O.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENT DEPOT.

Grain, Flour, Feed and Coal.

SLAYTON & SON

Are still at the old stand with a complete line of

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.

PLOWS The Wiard Chilled, Mohawk Valley Clipper (steel.)

"Leader" Spring Tooth Harrow. Elwood, Robbins and Buckeye

CULTIVATORS.

"Springer" Spring Tooth Harrow, (on wheels.)

GRAIN DRILLS. Buckeye. Farmer's Fr Triumph.

THRESHERS, The "Vibrator," and The "Buffalo Pitts."

Portable and Traction Thresher Engines.

Rare Bargains in

Carriages, Platform, Spring and Lumber Wagons,

Lime, Water Lime, Salt, Cal. Plaster and Plastering Hair.

If you want anything in our line call and get prices before you buy.

CATARRH

HAY-FEVER

DIRECTIONS.

Insert with little finger a particle of the Balm into the nostrils; draw strong breaths through the nose. It will be absorbed.

Ely's Cream Balm effectually cleanses the nasal passages of catarrhal virus causing healthy secretions, allays inflammation, protects the membranes from additional colds, completely heals the sores and restores the sense of taste and smell. Beneficial results are realized by a few applications. A thorough treatment as directed will cure Catarrh, Hay Fever, &c.

Agreeable to Use.

Unequaled for Cold in the Head.

The Balm has gained an enviable reputation wherever known, displacing all other preparations.

RECOGNIZED AS A WONDERFUL REMEDY.

Sold by druggists, 50 cents. On receipt of price will mail a package. Send for circular containing full information and reliable testimonials.

ELY CREAM BALM CO., Owego, N. Y.

TO ADVERTISERS.

GEO. P. ROWELL & CO'S

SELECT LIST OF LOCAL NEWSPAPERS.

An advertiser who spends upwards of $5,000 a year, and who invested less than $350 of it in this list writes: "Your select local list paid me better last year THAN ALL THE OTHER ADVERTISING I DID."

THIS IS A CO-OPERATIVE LIST.

THIS IS NOT A CHEAP LIST.

THIS IS AN HONEST LIST.

The catalogue states exactly what the papers are: When the name of a paper is printed in FULL FACE TYPE this is in every instance the BEST.—When printed in CAPITALS it is the ONLY paper in the place. The list gives the population of every town, and the circulation of every paper.

The rate charged for advertising are barely one-fifth the prices schedule. The price for single insertion from $2 to $80. The price for one inch one month in the entire list is $625. The regular rates of the papers for the same space and time are $2,080.14. The list includes 952 newspapers of which 187 are issued DAILY and 765 WEEKLY. They are located in 788 different cities and towns of which 26 are State Capitals, 363 places of over 5,000 population, and 468 counties. For copy of List and other information address

GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., 10 Spruce St., New York.

FOR SALE.

SEVEN PURE BRED

POLAND CHINA SOW PIGS.

Bred from the herd of C. W. Jones, Richland, Kalamazoo Co., and A. C. Moir of Canton, Ill. Terms reasonable.

HENRY WILSON.

Residence 2½ miles west of Tecumseh.

GILE'S

TEMPERANCE HOTEL

Cor. Congress and Bates Sts., DETROIT, MICH.

RATES—$1 to $1.25 per day. Single Meals 30c, Lodgings 35 to 50 cents.

We make a specialty of Dinner, and it is always ready at 11:30 sharp. Come early and be served promptly.

Grand Central.

You can always find at the

Grand Central Supply STORE

OF

HENRY McCLURE,

The Largest and Best Selected STOCK OF

Groceries, Crockery,

Glassware, Lamps, &c.

IN TECUMSEH.

Teas a Specialty!

Canned Fruits of all Kinds.

In fact, anything in this line can be bought at first figures.

Chicago Street. HENRY McCLURE. TECUMSEH, MICH.

The price of the following organ has been advanced to $125 since inserting this electrotype.

BEATTY ORGANS

27 Stops, 10 Sets Reeds, $90

The Famous Beethoven Organ containing 27 Stops, 10 Sets Reeds.

PRICE ONLY $90

Order now. Remit by Bank Draft, Post Office Money Order, or Registered Letter. Boxed and shipped without a Moment's Delay. Factory running day and night. Organs button-hole stitch. $[illegible] to 11 stops. Catalogue Free. Address DANIEL F. BEATTY, Washington, New Jersey.

DR. A. FRASER'S MAGNETIC OINTMENT.

The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.

It is constantly effecting the most wonderful cures, while the unparalleled demand with which it is met, shows it at once as the greatest medicine of the age for outward application.

The most incredulous are convinced, and the most skeptical are compelled to believe in the power of this great remedy.

WHAT IT CURES.

It cures CUTS, BRUISES, SPRAINS, BURNS, SCALDS, FROST, LAMENESS, RHEUMATISM, INFLAMMATION of LUNGS and KIDNEYS, BRONCHITIS, CROUP, SALT RHEUM, DISEASES AFFECTIONS of the SPINE, ERYSIPELAS, ERYOUS IRRITATION, and all Inflammation that WILL INFLAMMATION.

It never fails to restore the natural functions of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates to every portion of the human frame, every bone, muscle, vein, nerve, and ligament is searched and made sensible to its soothing and healing influence. Hence it copes readily with internal as well as external diseases.

Over 40 Years

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that we have no space here to insert any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, but simply ask those readers of this notice who have ever used this Ointment, to frankly state their experience with it to inquiring friends. If but one in a hundred would do this we should feel perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle. Price 25 and 40 cents per bottle. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

D. RANSOM SON & CO., Prop'rs, Buffalo, New York

A CURE GUARANTEED IN ALL CASES

For Old and Young, Male and Female.

Magnetic Medicine; a Brain and Nerve Food; Positively cures Night Losses, Spermatorrhœa, Impotency, Nervous Debility, Leucorrhœa, Barrenness; and for all (BEFORE) weaknesses of the Generative (AFTER) organs in either sex, it is an unfailing and positive cure. Tones up the debilitated system, arrests all involuntary discharges, removes mental gloom and despondency, and restores wonderful power to the weakened organs. With each order for twelve packages, accompanied with five dollars, we will send our Guarantee to refund the money if the treatment does not effect a cure. It is the Cheapest and Best Medicine in the market. Full particulars in Pamphlet, which we mail free to any address. Sold by all druggists, one package 50 cts.; Six for $2.50, or sent by mail on receipt of price by addressing the MAGNETIC MEDICINE CO., DETROIT, MICH. Guarantees issued in Tecumseh by Waldo & Doty.

DRUNKENNESS & OPIUM EATING.

C. C. Beers, M. D. & Son, 437 Fourth avenue New York, have painless remedies for these evils. Thousands cured. Call or send stamp for evidence.

Central.
ways find at the ntral Supply
ORE
McCLURE.
rd Best Selected
OCK OF
S, Crockery,
re, Lamps, &c.
TECUMSEH.
Specialty!
uits of all Kinds.
HENRY McCLURE.
TECUMSEH, MICH.
following organ has been si-
ce inserting this electrotype.
ATTY
RGANS
Sets Reeds, $90
Beethoven Organ contains
Reeds.
ONLY $90
by Bank Draft, Post Office Money
ed Letter. Boxed and shipped s Delay. Factory rammings, built on oblique plan. $
ogue Free. Address
TTY, Washington, New Jersey.
FRASER'S
AGNETIC
NTMENT.
Healer of all Inflames and Disorders.
effecting the most wonderful paralleled demand with which once as the greatest medicine d application.
dulous are convinced, and the e compelled to believe in the t remedy.
T IT CURES.
S, BRUISES, SPRAINS, BURNS
LAMENESS, RHEUMATISM
MATION of LUNGS and B
CHS, CROUP, SALT RHEUM
FFECTIONS of the SPINE, KI
S IRRITATION, and all
ith INFLAMMATION restore the natural functions
ire the circulation of the blood ontrolling power is gained over l forms of disease. It penetrates
f the human frame, every bone,
e, and ligament is searched to its soothing and healing influpes readily with internal use.
40 Years
s been used by the people throughout ates, and our confidence in hat as we have no space here numerous certificates of m all parts of the country we eaders of this notice who have tment, to frankly state their inquiring friends. If but one ld do this we should feel perfectly result. Full directions for amphlet around each bottle.
ents per bottle. Sold by all
e.
OM SON & CO., Proprs.,
Buffalo, New York.
ARANTEED IN ALL CASES
Young, Male and Female etic Medicine; a Brain
e Food; Positively cures ses, Spermatorrhœa, Im-
Nervous Debility, Lost
Barrenness; and for all
ses of the Generative (APTER) ex, it is an unfailing and positive e debilitated system, arrests all arges, removes mental gloom and restores wonderful power to the
☞ With each order for twelve nied with five dollars, we will e to refund the money if the effect a cure. It is the Cheapest in the market. Full particulars ch we must free to any address sts, one package 50 cts.; Six for mail on receipt of price by ad-
GNETIC MEDICINE CO., DE-
Guarantees issued in Tecumseh
SS & OPIUM EATING.
D. A. Son, 437 Fourth avenue New as remedies for these evils. Thouor send stamp for evidence.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

ATTORNEYS.

WILLIS MERRITT, ATTORNEY AT LAW, ADRIAN, MICH.

EDWIN B. WOOD, ATTORNEY AT LAW. Collections and Conveyancing. Office over W. & S. W. Anderson's Store, Tecumseh, Mich.

WILLIS MERRITT. W. W. FRAZER. Merritt & Frazer, Attorneys at Law. Insurance Agents, Tecumseh, Mich.

C. A. & S. C. STACY, ATTORNEYS AT LAW. Office in HERALD Building.

W. R. WOODEN, Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Tecumseh, Mich.

P. S. McKINNON, Attorney at Law and Justice of the Peace. All business promptly attended to. Office over W. & S. W. Anderson's Store.

C. A. & J. A. STACY, Attorneys at Law and Solicitors in Chancery. Office in Underwood Block Adrian, Mich.

MILLARD, WEAVER & WEAVER, Attorneys at Law, Adrian, Mich. Office in Masonic Temple, (Rooms lately occupied by Michigan State Ins. Co.) Alfred L. Millard, Clement E. Weaver, Charles M. Weaver.

PHYSICIANS.

H. PETERS, M. D. Office and residence at Geo. Curtis' house, corner Maiden Lane and Pottawatamie st. Special attention given to diseases of the Ear, Nose and Throat. All calls for the sick promptly attended to day and night.

C. M. WOODWARD, M. D., PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON. Office at Residence, Chicago street.

E. M. CONKLIN, M. D., PHYSICIAN & SURGEON. Office in Mills Block, Chicago St.

J. F. JENKINS, M. D., Office and residence second door west of Presbyterian Church, Chicago st. Professional calls promptly attended to, day or night.

R. B. HOUSE, M.D. O. Q. JONES, M.D. Drs. House and Jones, Physicians and Surgeons. Office over Lilley, Bidwell & Co's. Bank Office hours. Dr. House, 1 to 3 P. M., and 7 to 8 P. M. Dr. Jones, 9 to 12 A. M., and 3 to 6 P. M. Prompt attention given to all calls in village or country, day or night.

HOTELS.

SINK'S HOTEL, (Formerly the Merchants') W. H. SINK, PROPRIETOR. RECENTLY REFITTED AND REFURNISHED. Corner Chicago and R. R. Sts.

MISCELLANEOUS.

TECUMSEH FOUNDRY & STEAM ENGINE WORKS. H. BREWER & CO., PROPRIETORS, Manufacturers of Steam Engines, Mill Gearing and General Machinery, also manufacturers of the Tiffany Improved Patent Drain Tile Machine, Sword's Brick Machine, etc.

WM. DeMOTT, Tecumseh, Mich. Agent for The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co., of Milwaukee, Wis. Paid to policy holders since organization and held for them, $46,138,353.20. Total premiums received, $39,631,785.47. Excess of interest receipts over all expenses of management, $6,506,567.73. Dividends to policy holders in each of the past nine years unequaled by those of any other company on similar policies. Assets, January 1, 1882, over $18,850,000. Surplus, over four per cent. reserve, $3,022,611.61.

A. W. SLAYTON, Undertaker and Embalmer; store on Chicago St.; residence on Pearl St. Night calls will receive prompt attention. No charge for use of hearse.

CENTRAL MEAT MARKET. J. W. COLE, PROPRIETOR. Dealer in Fresh and Salt Meats, Fish, Poultry, etc. Chicago Street.

RAILROAD STREET MARKET. JOSEPH W. WOODEN, PROPRIETOR. Dealer in all kinds of Fresh and Salt Meats, Fresh Fish, etc.

DAVE MACHAM, Fashionable Barber and Hair Dresser. Shop on Railroad Street.

CURRY & BOSTWICK, Fashionable Barbers and Hair Dressers, shop in Richard's block, Chicago street.

A. D. BROWN, Practical Piano Tuner, and Agent for Hazelton Bros., Gabler, Wheelock and Haden & Sons' Pianos. Also, American Organs, Adrian, Mich. Orders left at Adamson's Bookstore in Tecumseh, will receive prompt attention.

J. D. SHOLES, Manufacturer and dealer in Saddles, Harness, Whips, Collars, Bridles, Halters, Brushes and Combs, Tecumseh, Mich.

CHAS. A. WALDRON, VETERINARY SURGEON. All orders promptly attended to either by mail or in person. Office at the residence of A. K. Walton, Tecumseh, Michigan.

SILVERS HOUSE, CLINTON, MICH., S. S. Erskine, Proprietor. Good sample rooms for commercial men. Rates reasonable.

CLOCK REPAIRING. I will call at your house and repair your Clock. Drop a postal in the office to my address. C. F. MORLEY, Tecumseh, Mich.

N. B.—All work warranted.

P. B. SWICK,
Manufacturer of
Light & Heavy Harness
And Dealer in
Trunks, Whips, Robes, Blankets,
And all articles kept for sale in a first-class Horse Furniture Store.
GOOD WORK! LOW PRICES
Call and see him, one door east of Nyland's shoe store on Chicago street.
TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN

FLOWERS.
At Mrs. Spaulding's green house may be found a large variety of plants and flowers for the decoration of churches, dinner and supper tables, and sick rooms. Especial attention given to floral designs, for weddings, funerals etc. We are prepared to execute orders for every kind of floral decorations with the choicest and freshest of flowers, in the most artistic manner on short notice, and at very reasonable prices. The green house is open daily to visitors.
Orders left at D. W. Clark's grocery will receive prompt attention.

FITS A Leading London Physician establishes an Office in New York for the Cure of EPILEPTIC FITS. From Am. Journal of Medicine.
Dr. Ab. Meserole (late of London), who makes a specialty of Epilepsy, has without doubt treated and cured more cases than any other living physician. His success has simply been astonishing; we have heard of cases of over 20 years' standing successfully cured by him. He has published a work on this disease, which he sends with a large bottle of his wonderful cure free to any sufferer who may send their express and P. O. Address. We advise any one wishing a cure to address
Dr. AB. MESEROLE, No. 96 John St., New York.

CONSUMPTION. I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed, so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE, together with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease, to any sufferer. Give Express and P. O. address.
DR. T. A. SLOCUM, 181 Pearl St., New York.

DOWNS' ELIXIR.
N. H. DOWNS' Vegetable Balsamic
ELIXIR
This valuable medicine is purely vegetable; the discovery of which was the result of many years' close study, in order to discover the cause, the symptoms, and the cure—viz: Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Croup, Asthma, Pleurisy, Hoarseness, Influenza, Spitting Blood, Bronchitis, and every species of oppression of the Chest and Lungs. In all cases where this Elixir has been duly administered its efficacy has been invariably manifested, convincing the most incredulous that is not incurable, if properly attended to.—Consumption, at its commencement, is but a slight irritation of the membrane which covers the Lungs; then an inflamation, when the cough is more observable, but rather dry; then becomes local fever and the pulse more frequent, the cheeks flushes and chills more common. This Elixir in curing the above complaints, operates so as to remove all morbid irritations and inflamation from the lungs to the surface, and finally expel them from the system. It facilitates expectoration.
CONSUMPTION
It heals the ulcerated surfaces
and relieves the cough and makes the breathing easy. It supports the strength and at the same time reduces the fever. It is free from strong opiate and astringent articles, which are of so drying a nature as to be in great danger of destroying the patient; whereas this medicine never dries or stops the cough, but, by removing the cause, generally destroys the hectic before the cough is entirely gone. Consequently, when the cough is cured the patient is well. Send address for pamphlet giving full directions for cure of pulmonary diseases.
Price 35 cts., 50 cts., and $1.00 per bottle.
SOLD EVERYWHERE.
HENRY, JOHNSON & LORD, Props., Burlington, Vt.
DOWNS' ELIXIR.

ZOA-PHORA
(THE HEALTH BRINGER.)
LONG KNOWN AS
PENGELLY'S WOMAN'S FRIEND
Every mother of daughters should know about it—because it brings health
TO GIRLS
Who, at the age of Puberty, begin to droop owing to Painful, Scanty, or Profuse Periods.
TO YOUNG LADIES
Threatened with any of the complaints and weaknesses, to which, even the healthiest, are subject,
TO OVER-WORKED WOMEN
Suffering from or threatened with Prolapsus Uteri or Bearing Down, with its attendant Ulceration pains in various parts of the body, headaches backaches and exhaustion.
To Women Advanced in Life
Who suffer from Hot Flushes, either before or after change, or from any of the irregularities attending the Critical Period, Bloating, Numbness, Wakefulness, Palpitation, Etc.
All these, and many other distressing complaints, usually attributed to other causes, but really peculiar to the sex, WILL CERTAINLY BE RELIEVED by Zoa Phora.
LEUCORRHŒA RUINS THE FINEST COMPLEXION.—Zoa Phora cures the former and restores the latter.
Abundant testimonials I have, from the best society, which, with other information and advice, will furnish privately to persons asking. Address,
R. PENGELLY, M. D.,
(Sold by Druggists.) KALAMAZOO, MICH.

Sample card mailed on receipt of twenty-five cents.
By the Esterbrook Steel Pen Company.
THORNDIKE NOURSE, (Successor to E. B. Smith & Co.) DETROIT, MICH.
MANUFACTURED EXPRESSLY FOR
Ask your stationer for these pens.

DO Not Fail to send for our FALL Price-List for 1882. Free to any address upon application. Contains descriptions of everything required for Personal or Family use, with over 2,200 illustrations. We sell all goods at wholesale prices, in quantities to suit the purchaser. The only institution in America who make this their special business. Address
MONTGOMERY WARD & CO., 227 and 229 Wabash Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

CATARRH! When you have had Catarrh long enough and want to be cured just write to DR. C. R. SYKES, Chicago, Ill., for full information of a sure cure. You will never regret it. SURE CURE

LUCRATIVE EMPLOYMENT for the winter in farming districts. Very large returns for comparatively little labor. For full particulars address immediately ORANGE JUDD CO. 751 Broadway, N.Y.

A Terrible Mosquito Story.

A correspondent in Dooly County, Ga., writes as follows:

Our friend Harris' Spring Creek mosquitoes are nowhere. A Lime Branch mosquito struck a cotton-picker the other day, and he said he thought an owl had hit him. A neighbor of mine was caught out after sundown in his shirt-sleeves, when a gallinipper struck him between the shoulders, so that he could not reach him with his hands. He fought him right and left over the shoulders with a brush. Not succeeding in dislodging him, he backed on a pine and tried him horse-fashion; but the more he rubbed the worse he got, and finally he concluded that some one was boring him in the back with a three-fourths augur. Cow-like he betook himself to a thicket, with no better luck. A bushy tree top being in easy distance, he went on all-fours headforemost through that. Nothing made, he went backward in the same position, thinking to lift him from the rear. But no go; so he went in again and waved right and left and reared up and down; still the thing hung. As it was about dark, and he knew his wife knew he had not had time to go to Blakely, and had seen no one from there, and there was nothing in Damascus or Arlington, he took himself to a hog-wallow, and he thought he would drown the "devil." The expedient proved fruitless, and as the matter was now becoming serious, he determined to rid himself of the pest at the cost of his shirt. Accordingly, he unbuttoned and shucked his shirt, except where it was pinned to his back, and that he couldn't loose with his hands. He now cut a hole in the tail of his shirt and hitched to a knot on a log and tried to pull loose. But still no go. He now became badly frightened, and imagined that the drill of some artesian well had turned up and struck him in the back, and made for the house. On his arrival, of course his wife was frightened, and would not believe anything or touch anything, but told him if he would hitch on to a peg in the warping bars, she would saw him off. He had a convenient hole and soon had it over the peg. His wife began to saw and told him to lean forward, so that the saw would go easier, and of course he fell in a position to have the wound easily examined. With the aid of a pair of tongs, she soon extricated the bill of the gallinipper, administering one of Dr. Doser's porous plasters and a little soothing syrup, and the patient was soon quiet.

P. S.—The shirt still hangs on the warping bars, for the wife thinks there is a snake in it, which the mosquito had caught, or something else. My neighbor says he feels tolerably, but he looks mighty pale.—Dooly News.

He Wanted to be a Newspaper Writer.

The other day Col. Gillit, of Black Fork, accompanied by his son, visited the Traveler office. "I've been layin, off for some time," he said, "to fetch my boy in, but we've had to save the fodder and git the fattenin' hogs outen the woods. I know that you want somebody to help you on this sheet, for it's man's natur' to git tired. Now, my boy Tom, here, has had a heap of money spent on his eddycation, and I don't think that it's right to waste him on the farm. The fust indication we had that he was fitted fur newspaper work was when he writ somethin' on the fence with a piece of charcoal an' got into a fight about it. What was it you writ, son?"

"I writ that Ben Buckle, was a liar," answered the boy.

"Now, don't you see what stuff there's in him? Just look, a boy only—how old are you, son?"

"Twelve, goin' on thirteen."

"Just look at a boy only twelve goin' on thirteen writin' sich a political artickle as that. The man who writ the paper of independence couldn't do any better than that. And you ought to see him with a pen. Son, show the gentleman how you can freeze to the eend of a pen and rar like a hoss."

The boy took up a pen, pressed it upon the table and capered around.

"That's what I call' complishment," continued the father. "That's what's I call snap. Son, show the gentleman how you can throw your whole nature into liar."

The boy took the pen and wrote "liar" with bold smear.

"Now, son, write hoss thief."

The boy wrote "hoss thief," and capered around with a juvenile grin of malignity.

"That's what I call the result of eddycation," resumed the father. "That's what I call newspaper ability. Now sir, how much is he worth a month?"

"I would dislike to place a hurried estimate of value upon such active service as the young man could render," said the editor. "Besides, we could not utilize him here, for this is not a political paper. Your son is a political writer, and I would advise you to see the proprietor of a daily sheet."

"I reckon you are right. This is a sorter tame stablishment. Come on, son, I mus' git you a place whar you can sling your jints."

The young man will no doubt become an eminent campaign writer, and will eventually exercise great influence in local politics.—Arkansaw Traveler.

Thus far there has been no reaction, or sign of one, in the rent charges that have prevailed for a year in Scotland. Very recently a farm in Forfarshire that was let in 1860 for $2,750 a year, was relet on a nineteen years' lease for $1,875. Some time after 1860 the rent of this farm was reduced to $2,500, and several years ago it was again reduced to $2,250. A piece of property near this one, which ten years ago was rented for $2,100, has been let again for $1,425, having been of late rented for $1,375. Another Scotch land-owner, but one who was unwilling to reduce his rent, has been obliged to take the property into his own hands.

If the Indian tea trade has an enemy, a stone ready to his hand may be found in an advertisement in a paper published in the Punjaub. It begins in these terms: "To tea planters in Dehra Doon and Kangra Valley. For sale—Soapstone, very useful for coloring green teas," and proceeds to give the terms per maund at which this very useful article can be delivered at a certain railway station.

Big Sums of Money.

A valuation of $400,000,000 in round numbers is reported on property in Texas this year.

The sum of $3,650,000 is now invested in the manufacture of iron in the Birmingham, Ala., district.

In the ten years from 1870 to 1880 the value of the silk production of the United States rose from $12,210,662 to $34,410,463.

It is estimated that the total wool clip of the United States this year will aggregate 300,000,000 pounds, worth $100,000,000.

During the last fiscal year the Federal Government received from inspection of steam vessels and officers' licenses $278,889.

The enormous sum of $202,000,000 is invested in the submarine cables of the world, supposed to aggregate 64,000 miles in length.

A union depot 250 feet long, with covered tracks extending 1,000 feet, and costing about $400,000, is to be erected at Minneapolis.

A $2,000,000 mortgage has been recorded in West Virginia by a Philadelphia trust company on lands in the rich cannel coal formation.

Charleston, S. C., points with pride to a wholesale trade of nearly $75,000,000 last year, an increase of about $4,000,000 over the preceding year.

According to the Mississippi Handbook, there are 175,251 white and 251,438 colored children attending the free schools in the State, at a cost of $830,701.

Hawaiian coins to the amount of $200,000, and corresponding in value and denomination with our silver coinage, are to be struck at the San Francisco Mint.

The trustees of the Slater fund have selected the Rev. Dr. Haygood, of Georgia, as agent to manage the gift of $1,000,000, for educating colored people in the South.

For the year ending June 30 the revenues of the Dominion of Canada amounted to $33,381,381, the expenditures to $27,155,902, leaving a surplus of $6,225,479.

The German Empire has now about 34,000,000 acres of forest, valued at $400,000,000, and appropriates $500,000 every year to increase and maintain the growth of trees.

The late Catholic Bishop of Vincennes, Ind., who died in France, was a Count, and during his life gave $300,000 to the Catholic Church. His body is to be buried in Vincennes.

H. H. Bancroft, historian of the Pacific coast, has spent over $500,000 in collecting his private library. He is an Ohio man, and made his money in mercantile business in San Francisco.

It will require an expenditure of at least $5,000,000 by the Italian Government to make good the damage done to roads, bridges, and public buildings by the inundation, to say nothing of aid to the sufferers.

The new Iowa State Capitol has thus far cost $2,000,000, and it will require $500,000 to finish it. It is 365 feet long from north to south, and measures 274 feet from the sidewalk to the top of the central dome.

About 1,500 miles of new railroad were put into operation in the Southern States last year. The gross earnings increased from $18,000,000 in 1880 to more than $24,000,000

During the five years of 1877-1881 the average loss by fires in the United States and Canada in the month of September alone was $5,950,000. This year, omitting the fires in which the loss was less than $10,000, the record shows 123 in number, and the aggregate loss $6,205,000.

Mining operations in the Menominee and Marquette iron ranges, in Michigan, employ about 14,000 men and $52,000,000 in capital. Adding this industry to the lumber interests, the result will show nearly, if not quite, as large a business record in the upper peninsula as the lower section, south of Mackinac Straits.

What a Spider Did.

Things are constantly occurring that cause the public to look with wonder and amazement, and it is supposed by many that no such thing ever occurred before; but very frequently such impressions are erroneous. Some weeks ago a spider was found under the settee in Esquire Robinson's office, with a snake entwined in its web. Many thought it a most remarkable feat for the spider to accomplish. Well, it was; but spiders in years past have shown just such ingenuity. We find in the Eastern Gazette of 1724 the following statement, which was copied from the Connecticut Mirror, a statement of a case very similar to that of Esquire Robinson's snake:

One day last week the workmen in Mr. Peck's machine factory in Southington discovered under one of the work-benches a black snake, of the white-throated species, and about six inches long, suspended by the web of a spider. The spider was of the common house sort and not uncommonly large. When first discovered the little insect had raised its victim about half a foot from the floor, and had him hung by a single thread. The ingenuity and power of the spider was truly wonderful. Passing rapidly down the line he would fasten his cordage around the neck of the snake, pass back to his own nest on the under surface of the bench, then going down again "cast a hitch" around the tail, and returning to his nest would avail himself of the contortions of the snake, alternately hanging up his lines so as to bring his game nearer home. In this manner he continued his labor until evening, leaving the snake alive, but so completely exhausted and secured to be safe for the night. In the morning he was dead.

The immense cost of living in Egypt is a very serious matter for the British troops who will have to remain there.—The prices for everything are enormous and the whole day's pay of a subaltern will purchase him but one meal at a hotel.

A steam trievcle, enabling the rider to travel at from fifteen to twenty miles an hour, with very little labor, has been invented by a Frenchman.

A correspondent writing to the Clinton News from Macon says: The young man living in this place who, a few years ago, shot his "granny" (grandfather) while shooting at the broad side of an out-building for a mark, has lately procured a double-barrel, breech-loading shot gun, of the most approved pattern. He is now prepared to do double execution in the same line on the remainder of his relatives, or any person who, by chance, might happen to linger in any out-building on the premises. He don't pretend to be much of a shot on the wing, but he is sure on the set.

Who's the Best Physician.

The one that does most to relieve suffering humanity of the thousand and one ills that befall them, bringing joy to sorrowing thousands, is certainly the best of all physicians.—Electric Bitters are daily doing this, curing hundreds that have tried all other remedies and found no relief.—As a Spring tonic and blood purifier they are a perfect specific, and for liver and kidney complaints have no equal. In the strongest sense of the term, they are positively the best and cheapest physician known. — Daily Times. Price 50 cts.

Sold by C. A. Wright & Co.

Half the ills we hoard in our hearts are ills because we hoard them.

The Keystone of Health.

How can you expect to feel well, or even enjoy life, when you go about with a hacking cough? The fool, in his wisdom, says there is no cure for it, but the wise man hies him to Baker & Hall's drug store and gets a bottle of Dr. Bigelow's Positive Cure, and at once gets well. A trial bottle costs nothing.

It is stated that the Muskegon salt boring has gone down 2,200 feet. The motto is "Salt, h—l, or China."

The Doctor's Secret.

Probably no new development will more surprise the public, than to learn the secret of success of leading physicians. When they have a difficult case of throat or lung disease that baffles their scientific skill, they prescribe Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, having it disguised in a prescription bottle, with their own directions and name attached. The patient is cured and they get the credit.—Tribune.

Sold by C. A. Wright & Co.

An honest housewife who went to buy a dress, said: "None of your gaudy colors for me. Give me plain red and yaller."

"No; she lingered and suffered along, pining away all the time, for years, the doctors doing her no good; and at last was cured by this Hop Bitters the papers say so much about. Indeed! indeed! how thankful we should be for that medicine."

An engaged girl is happiest when she is telling about it to another girl who is not engaged and is not likely to be.

COMMISSIONERS' NOTICE.

IN THE MATTER of the estate of Alvah Coddington, deceased.

The undersigned, having been appointed by the Judge of Probate for the County of Lenawee, Michigan, Commissioners to receive, examine and adjust all claims and demands against the estate of Alvah Coddington, late of said county deceased, hereby give notice that we will meet for that purpose at the office of Edwin B. Wood, in the village of Tecumseh, Lenawee county, Michigan on the 20th day of December 1882, and on the 20th day of April, 1883, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of each of said days, and that six months from the 23d day of October, 1882, have been allowed by the said court for the creditors of said estate to present said claims for examination and adjustment.

Dated October 31st, 1882.

ORRAN B. FINCH,
JOHN MARGESON,
Commissioners.

nov2

EXECUTORS' SALE.

ESTATE of Esther Jones, deceased. Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a license granted to us, as executors of last will of said deceased by the Judge of Probate for Lenawee County, Michigan, made on the 27th day of November, A. D. 1882 therefore, we will sell on the 13th day of January, A. D. 1883, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the dwelling houses upon the premises respectively to be sold, the estate, title and interest of said deceased in and to those parcels of land situate in the village of Tecumseh, Lenawee County and State of Michigan, known and described as follows: The south half of the west two-thirds of lot fifteen of the original recorded plat of said village of Tecumseh, bounded west by Oneida street, north by George Wilson's land, east by the J. Plank lot, and south by Chicago street, being six rods north and south and four rods east and wests. Lot No. twenty-eight of the original recorded plat of said village, being six rods by twelve rods. Also the north three-fourths of lot twenty-seven of the original recorded plat of said village of Tecumseh, being six rods by nine rods. Said lot twenty-seven is sold subject to a mortgage made by deceased for $110.00, dated September 9th, 1881, with interest thereon from September 9th, 1882, at eight per cent.

Terms of sale published at and before sale.

Dated November 29th, 1882.

BENJAMIN L. BAXTER,
EDWIN B. WOOD,
Executors.

ESTATE OF PETER DAVIDSON.

STATE OF MICHIGAN County of Lenawee, ss.

At a session of the Probate Court, for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian on Tuesday, the 28th day of November, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present, Norman Geddes Judge of Probate

In the matter of the estate of Peter Davidson, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Edwin B Wood, executor of the last will and testament of said deceased, alleging that he is ready to file his fourth account in this court as such executor, and praying that said account may be allowed, and that such other and further order may be made in the premises as the case may require, according to the statute in such case made and provided.

Thereupon it is ordered, that Tuesday, the 26th day of December next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing. (A True Copy.)

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.
A. H. BRIGGS, Probate Register. nov30

ESTATE OF DAVID BERDAN.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee—ss.

At a session of the Probate Court for the county of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office in the city of Adrian, on Monday, the 20th day of November, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of David Berdan, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified of Orange F. Berdan, surviving executor of the last will and testament of said deceased, alleging among other things, that he has paid the debts of said deceased and the expenses of administration of said estate and has procured a release from the widow of said deceased in full from all claims under the provisions of said will, and praying for the allowance of his final account for an assignment and distribution of the residue of said estate according to the provisions of said will and for his discharge.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the 18th day of December next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate
(A True Copy.)
A. H. BRIGGS, Probate Register. no23

ESTATE OF ISAAC COLLINS.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.

At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate Office in the City of Adrian, on Monday, the 20th day of November, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate Isaac Collins, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Francis M. Oakley, executor of the last will and testament of said deceased, alleging that he has paid the debts of said deceased and the expenses of administration of said estate thus far incurred, and all legacies bequeathed in and by said will, except residuary legacies, and praying for the allowance of his final account, (now on file in this court), for an assignment and distribution of the residue of said estate according to the provisions of said will and for his discharge.

Thereupon it is ordered, that Monday, the 18th day of December next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.
(A True Copy.)
A. H. BRIGGS, Probate Register. nov2

ESTATE OF ROLPH MILLS.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.

At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate Office in the city of Adrian, on Friday, the 17th day of November, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present, Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Rolph Mills, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Granville Mills and Isaac C. Mills, executors of the last will and testament of said deceased, alleging among other things that they have paid the debts of said deceased, and praying for the allowance of their final account for an assignment and distribution of the residue of said estate to and amongst the persons entitled thereto, according to the provisions of said will, and for their discharge.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the 18th day of December next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing. (A True Copy.)

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.
A. H. BRIGGS, Probate Register. oct26

ESTATE OF ISAAC L. KNIFFIN.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee—ss.

At a session of the Probate Court, for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, on Wednesday, the 29th day of November, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present, Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Isaac L. Kniffin, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Samuel Kniffin, administrator of said estate, alleging that he has paid the funeral expenses and the debts of said deceased, and the expenses of administration of said estate, and is ready to file his final account in this court, and praying for the allowance of said account, for an assignment and distribution of the residue of said estate to and amongst the persons entitled thereto, and for his discharge.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Tuesday, the 26th day of December, A. D. 1882, at ten o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said petition and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.
(A true copy.)
A. H. BRIGGS Probate Register. nov30

ESTATE OF CHARLES H. MAHAR.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.

At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate Office in the city of Adrian on Monday, the 4th day of December in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Charles H. Mahar, minor.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified of Patrick Kehoe, guardian of said minor, asking for the allowance of his guardian's account and rendering his resignation as such guardian

Thereupon it is ordered, That Tuesday, the 26 day of January next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said minor and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate
(A True Copy.)
NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate. dec7

ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE.

By virtue of an order of sale granted by the Judge of Probate for the County of Lenawee, I, Gideon D. Perry, administrator of the estate of Abner Stanley, deceased, will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, on Saturday the 23d day of December, A. D. 1882, at 11 o'clock a. m., at the late residence of said deceased, on the premises hereinafter described, to wit: All those tracts or parcels of land situate in the township of Franklin, in the county of Lenawee and State of Michigan, and described as the east half of the east half of the southwest quarter and the west half of the northwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section thirty-four in town five south of range three east, containing sixty acres of land, more or less. Subject to the right of dower and homestead rights of Emeline Stanley, widow of said deceased therein.

Dated Nov. 9th, 1882.

GIDEON D. PERRY.

Cheapest Bibles Ever Published. Agents. 2500 Illustrations; 176 extra features. Both Versions New Testament. Forshee & McMackin, Cincinnati, O. AGENTS WANTED

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

A thief in a theater at Barcelona, Spain, raised a false alarm of fire. One person was killed and eighteen injured in the panic which followed.

Milwaukee has forty policy-shops under the supervision of a man named Dalzell, whose partner is said to be an ex-chief of police.

In the federal court at Madison, Wisconsin, Philander Stevens was fined $75 and imprisoned for one day for cutting timber on government land.

The penal code of New York was not enforced Sunday with any stringency, although one man was arrested for shoveling snow.

The wife of Engineer Melville says she will consent to a separation if he will give her two-thirds of his pay and all the children.

A loss of nearly $170,000 was incurred at Saginaw City, Michigan, by the destruction of the works of the barrel company and its stock of lumber.

Dr. Allen G. Miller, of South Bend, Indiana, has been convicted of violating the pension laws by exacting illegal fees.

It is intimated by the Transcript, of Boston, that the Burlington road will, before May, have its own line into Kansas City.

The chamber of commerce of every seaport in Germany has protested against the exclusion of American pork.

Nebraska owns 2,582,686 acres of land reserved for educational purposes, and holds notes for $1,529,316 for property sold.

The governor of Louisiana has given William Pitt Kellogg a certificate of election to congress from the Third district.

Under the penal code of New York, Charles Fick was held to answer the charge of felony for attempting to take his own life.

In the United States court at Omaha, F. E. Clary, formerly postmaster at Sidney, was convicted of making false returns as to the arrival of mails, and fined $300.

The ways and means committee has decided to proceed at once to the consideration of the report of the tariff commission and to frame a new schedule of customs duties.

Elizabeth Williams began bastardy proceedings at Indianapolis against William E. English, alleging her seduction in his opera house, but was prevailed upon to withdraw the suit.

The democrats of the Eighth Alabama district have nominated General Joseph Wheeler to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Congressman Lowe.

The libel suit brought by August Belmont against John Devoy, in New York, ended in the disagreement of the jury and the release of the defendant from imprisonment for contempt.

The permanent presidency of the Egyptian debt commission, which is to have the management of the revenues, has been tendered to France by England, but will be declined.

The National League of Professional Base Ball Clubs awarded the championship to the Chicago nine. The Troy and Worcester clubs resigned, and were placed on the honorary list.

The Utah commission recommends the annulment of the territorial law giving women the right of suffrage, and urges the enactment by congress of a marriage law.

W. S. Babbitt made his appearance quite unexpectedly in Des Moines and gave bail to answer two indictments for conspiracy to destroy the International distillery.

Philip Matthews, who has been sentenced to be hanged at Belleville, Illinois, January 12, killed Annie Geyer at a Sunday-school picnic because she refused to marry him.

Secretary Folger has ordered the cancellation of bonds to the amount of $950,000, bequeathed to the government by the late Joseph L. Lewis, of New York.

An incendiary fire swept away Shawnee college, near Bedford, Indiana, with a valuable collection of Indian relics owned by an eccentric Scotchman named Donaldson.

A trust company in New York was on Saturday handed $5,950,000 in behalf of the Panama Canal company, to finish payment for the Panama railroad.

Frederick C. Fadner, a canvassing agent from Chicago, was convicted at Utica, New York, of forging a decree of divorce, and sentenced to seven and one-half years in the state prison.

A family at Bloomington, Illinois, named Blandenburg, are doomed to die of trichiniasis. One has expired, and all the others are in a critical condition.

A party of capitalists from Vermont stand ready to build a narrow-gauge road from Fort Worth to the Rio Grande when the right of way shall have been secured.

In discussing the murder of two American citizens in Madagascar, the Paris Moniteur declares that the navy of the United States has been so reduced by peculation that a backdown to Chili was a necessity.

John Devoy, editor of the Irish Nation, has been committed to the Tombs in New York for thirty days, for refusing to divulge the name of the chief of the revolutionary party who gave him charge of the skirmishing fund.

There is good authority for the statements that S. C. Griggs, Jr., of Chicago, has purchased a controlling interest in the Inter-Ocean, and that Colonel G. A. Pierce will be given the editorial management.

A contractor who is engaged in sinking an artesian well for the government at a point one hundred miles east of Denver has struck a subterranean stream with an inexhaustible flow of clear water.

A jury at Arkadelphia, Arkansas, acquitted Sallie Stokes of the murder of Malinda Stephens. The defendant invited the jurors to her room, where she utterly broke down in attempting to convey her thanks.

General Sidney Burbank, a retired officer of the United States army, died at Newport, Kentucky. He was an officer in the Blackhawk and Seminole wars, and served in the Army of the Potomac.

The government has brought suit at New York against Harrison Johnston, formerly a treasury agent, for the recovery of nearly $2,000,000 arising from the sale of confiscated cotton, for which he has failed to account.

John A. Cockerill issues a card to the public, alleging that the suit for $5,000 brought by the widow of Colonel Slayback was inspired by the Knapps, who own The Republican and are determined to crush him.

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE for January is just out, a marvel of beauty, the most costly, evidently, ever issued. The reading matter is increased also, there being one hundred and four pages in the number. "Peterson," in short, is cheaper and better than ever for 1883. The price is still only two dollars a year. To clubs it is astonishingly low, viz.: six copies for nine dollars, with an extra copy to the person getting up the club. Or seven copies for ten dollars and a half, with both an extra copy and a large-size engraving, "Christ Before Pilate," or a Photograph Album, to the person getting up the club. Subscribe to no magazine till you have seen a copy of this. Specimens are sent, gratis, to persons wishing to get up clubs. Address Chas. J. Peterson, 306 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa.

DIED.

CRONKITE.—At the residence of her sister, Mrs. A. A. Goodyear, in Jackson, on Monday, Dec. 4th, 1882 of consumption, Miss Louisa M. Cronkite, aged 32 years, 2 months and 5 days.

GENERAL MARKETS.

CHICAGO.

WHEAT.—Higher: Dec., 94¼@94⅝c; January, 94⅝@95⅝c; Feb., 95⅝@96c.
CORN.—Lower: December, 54¼@55⅛c; Jan., 55⅜@55⅞c; Feb., 53@53⅝c.
OATS.—Lower: December, 35⅞@37c; Jan., 35⅝@36⅛c; Feb., 31⅝@32⅛c.
RYE.—Firm; December 56½@57c; Jan., 57½c.
PROVISIONS.—Mess Pork higher: Dec., $17.47½@17.55; January, $17.60@17.80; February, $17.77@17.95. Lard—Steady: December sold at $10.65@10.72½; January, $10.65@10.75; Feb., $10.70@10.80.
CATTLE.—Market firm. We quote:

Fancy heavy export steers	$6.25@6.50
Choice fat steers	5.75@6.25
Good do.	4.75@5.50
Medium grade steers	4.35@4.60
Fair to medium steers	3.75@4.25

Hogs.—Market firm. Sales ranged from $6.30@6.40 for light packing and shipping; $6.20@6.70 for heavy packing, and from $6.40@6.70 for fair to choice smooth heavy shipping lots.
BUTTER.—Steady and firm. We quote: Choice to Fancy Creamery at 38@40c ⅌ lb; ordinary to good do. 25@30c; good to fancy Dairy at 28@30c; common to fair do. 20@25c; Ladle-packed, 18@19c; packing stock at 13@15½c; Grease, 5@6c.

NEW YORK.

WHEAT.—Higher: No. 2 Dec., $1.08⅜@1.08¼; January, $1.10⅛@1.10⅜; February, $1.12⅛@1.12⅜. CORN.—Quiet; Mixed Western Spot, 45@75½c.

CINCINNATI.

FLOUR.—Market quiet; Family, $4.25@4.50. WHEAT—Firm: No. 2 Red Winter, 95@96c. CORN.—Lower; No. 2 Mixed, 56½c. OATS.—Higher; No. 2 Mixed, 39c. RYE.—Quiet; No. 2 Fall, 62c. PROVISIONS—Pork dull at $18.00. Lard quiet at $10.75.—Bulk Meats firm: Clear sides $9.75@9.25.—Bacon dull: Clear sides $12.25.

MILWAUKEE.

WHEAT.—Lower; December, 94⅝c; January, 95½c; February, 96½c; No. 3, 76c. CORN.—Lower at 55½c for No. 2. OATS.—Firm; No. 2 White, 36½c. RYE.—Higher; 56c No. 1. BARLEY.—Lower at 72c for No. 2.

ST. LOUIS.

WHEAT.—Lower: No. 2 Red Dec., 94@94⅛c; January, 95⅝@96c; Feb., 97⅛.—CORN.—Higher: December, 49@49⅜c; January, 48⅝@48⅞c; Feb., 49@49⅛c. OATS—Higher: Dec., 37⅛@37½c; Jan., 35⅛@35⅜c. RYE—Lower at 55½c. BARLEY.—Steady at 50@80c. PROVISIONS.—Pork dull: $17.50.—Dry Salt Meats quiet at $6.75, 9.25, 9.70.—Bacon steady at $9.50, 10.75, 11.25. Lard lower: $10.60. HOGS—Higher: Yorkers, $5.75@6.00; butchers' to best heavy, $6.40@6.65.

BOSTON.

WOOL.—In fair demand; Ohio and Pennsylvania extras 40@44½c; Michigan extra fleeces, 38@39c; No. 1 fleeces, 42@46c; combing delaine do., 43@48c; unwashed do. 17@32c.

TECUMSEH MARKET.

Corrected Every Thursday Morning.

Apples ⅌ barrel	1 75 @ 2 00
Apples dried, ⅌ ℔	@ 06
Butter ⅌ ℔	20 @ 25
Barley, ⅌ bushel	60 @ 72
Beans ⅌ bushel	1 75 @ 2 25
Buckwheat, ⅌ bushel	60 @ 65
Buckwheat Flour ⅌ hundred	@ 4 50
Beef—dressed, ⅌ hundred	5 00 @ 6 00
Beef Hides	5 @ 6
Calf Skins, ⅌ ℔	8 @ 10
Corn in ear	75 @ 80
Corn—shelled, ⅌ bushel	60 @ 65
Clover Seed	5 25 @ 5 50
Chickens—dressed	10 @ 12
Eggs, ⅌ doz	@ 22
Flour ⅌ barrel	5 50 @ 6 25
Hogs—dressed, ⅌ cwt	5 75 @ 7 00
Hogs—live, ⅌ cwt	4 75 @ 5 50
Hay ⅌ ton	10 00 @ 12 00
Honey ⅌ ℔	@ 15
Hops ⅌ ℔	@ 14
Lard ⅌ ℔	@ 12
Oats, ⅌ bushel	@ 40
Onions ⅌ bushel	@ 60
Potatoes, ⅌ bushel	40 @ 45
Salt, ⅌ barrel	@ 1 20
Sheep Pelts	50 @ 1 00
Timothy Seed, ⅌ bushel	@ 2 50
Turkeys—dressed, ⅌ ℔	@ 10
Wood, per cord	00 @ 4 00
Wheat, White, ⅌ bushel	91 @ 1 00
Wheat, Red, ⅌ bushel	95 @ 1 00
Wool	30 @ 33

GUARDIAN SALE.

BY virtue of an order of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, Michigan, made on the 11th day of December, A. D. 1882 authorizing the same as guardian of William Taylor, an insane person, I shall sell on the 27th day of January, 1883, at the office of E B Wood, Tecumseh, Michigan, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, offer for and sell at public vendue to the highest bidder those parcels of land situate in the township of Raisin, Lenawee Co. Mich. known and described as follows. The east half of the northwest quarter of section eight, and also, that parcel in said township bounded by commencing at a stake in the prairie set up in the center point in the north line of the southwest quarter of said section eight, from thence south along the line between the east and west halves of said south west quarter of said section one degree and thirty minutes (1°—30') east eight chains to a stake in the prairie, thence eastward nine chains and eighty-three links to a leaning white oak cornered, thence along the margin of the low ground south thirty-four degrees and forty minutes (34°—50') east six chains and forty-seven links to a stake, thence along the margin of the low ground south sixty-two degrees and fifty minutes (62°—50') east seven chains and eleven links to a stake between the east and west halves of said section to a white oak tree about sixteen inches in diameter, blazed and notched near the ground; bears south seventy-three and one-half degrees west ninety-six links; thence along the line between the east and west halves of said section north one degree and twenty minutes (1°—20') west sixteen chains and forty-two links to a stake at the center of said section; thence along the line between the north and south halves of said section north eighty-nine degrees and thirty minutes (89°—30') west nineteen chains and fifty-two links to the place of commencement. All in Town six south, of Range four east, and containing one hundred acres of land more or less, subject to a certain indenture of mortgage made by said insane person to one Joseph Taylor, of England and recorded in Register of Deed's office for said county in liber 52 of mortgages at page 379, upon which there is due the sum of about five hundred and fifty-three and 43-100 dollars. Further terms of sale published at and before sale.

Dated December 14th, 1882.

CHARLES C. TEFFT, Guardian.

OUR NEW

FALL STOCK

—OF—

HEAVY DRAPERIES

Is rapidly coming in, and is well worthy of your attention. We make up

Long Curtains,

Portieres,

Valances,

—AND—

MANTLE LAMBREQUINS,

All in the Latest Styles and of the Newest materials.

We give special attention to Interior Decorations and ask the favor of a call from those thinking of such improvements.

STERLING & CO.,

196 & 198 Summit Street.

TOLEDO, OHIO.

1883. FRESH AND NEW. 1883.

—THE—

MICHIGAN FARMER

FOR 1883.

For the coming year the Farmer will be kept up to its present standard of excellence, and new and interesting features added to it as they become necessary. We are determined that Michigan shall be represented by as good an agricultural paper as is published in the country. For Agricultural and Horticultural

Departments with everything pertaining to the farm, the orchard and the garden will be in the hands of practical men.

THE MARKETS

for produce and live stock will now as have our best authors, and form one of the most important features of the FARMER. The

VETERINARY DEPARTMENT has proved a great success, both as a matter of interest to readers and as a valuable help to owners of stock, and will be continued under the care of Prof. Rob't Jenkins, who has a world-wide reputation as a veterinarian.

THE HOUSEHOLD department will be under the care of Mrs. R. P. Rowe.

NEW CORRESPONDENTS

have been engaged for all departments, and no pains will be spared to make it in every respect the best agricultural journal of the West.

CHEAPEST AND BEST!

THE FARMER will be sent to subscribers at the rate of $1.05 per year, or 1 cent a copy.

Reliable Agents Wanted!

Address, JOHN M. SWAN & GIBBONS, Publishers, Detroit, Mich.

FREE TRADE.

The Leading Feature of the Jackson Weekly Patriot, for 1883, as for months past, will be an aggressive and fearless fight for

FREE TRADE!

THE FARMERS,

BUSINESS MEN, and the

LABORING CLASSES

are deeply interested, financially and broadly, in the intelligent discussion of the great and overshadowing issue of

TARIFF TAXATION,

THAT COLOSSAL INIQUITY which restricts our commerce, confers unjust privileges and unreasonable profits upon a small, favored, wealthy class at the expense of all other pursuits and industries, and enormously enhances the cost of living.

Some of the ablest writers in the country contribute to the columns of the PATRIOT, and it has been widely quoted in this and other states, and it will endeavor to stand very near the van in this contest.

The PATRIOT gives an average of about forty columns per week of reading, and is excelled in no particular as an interesting, comprehensive, news market and family journal.

Published Wednesdays, at $1.50 per year, in advance, or $1.25 in clubs of ten. Subscriptions can commence at any time, as each number is complete in itself.

CARLTON & VAN ANTWERP, Publishers, JACKSON, MICH.

EXECUTORS' SALE.

ESTATE of Esther Jones, deceased. Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a license granted to us as executors of the will of said deceased by the Judge of Probate for Lenawee County, Michigan, made on the 27th day of November, A. D. 1882, therefore, we will sell on the 26th day of January, A. D. 1883, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the dwelling houses upon the premises respectively to be sold, the estate, title and interest of said deceased in and to those parcels of land situate in the village of Tecumseh Lenawee County and State of Michigan, known and described as follows. The south half of the west two-thirds of lot fifteen of the original recorded plat of said village of Tecumseh, bounded west by Oneida street, north by George Wilson's land, east by the J. Plank lot, and south by Chicago street, being six rods north and south and four rods east and west. Lot No. twenty-eight of the original recorded plat of said village, being six rods by twelve rods. Also the north three-fourths of lot twenty-seven of the original recorded plat of said village of Tecumseh, being six rods by nine rods. Said lot twenty-seven is sold subject to a mortgage made by deceased for $110.00, dated September 9th, 1881, with interest thereon from September 9th, 1882, at eight per cent.

Terms of sale published at and before sale.

Dated December 14th, 1882.

BENJAMIN L. BAXTER,
EDWIN B. WOOD,
Executors.

AGENTS Wanted for handsome illustrated standard works of character; great variety; Books & Bibles low in price; selling fast; needed everywhere; Liberal terms. Wm. Garretson & Co., Odd Fellows Block, Columbus, O.

The New York World.

A Live Daily Newspaper for the People.

ALL THE NEWS, 2 CENTS.

The Only 8-Page Newspaper in the United States Sold at 2 Cents.

NEW PRESSES, NEW TYPE, NEW BUILDINGS, NEW APPLIANCES, AND NEW LIFE IN EVERY DEPARTMENT.

THE WORLD contains the fullest and freshest Local and Foreign News, and is a recognized authority in Masonic, Military, Sporting and Society matters. Special attention is called to the Masonic and Military items in the SUNDAY WORLD.

THE NEW YORK WORLD has no superior on either side of the water as a Live, Brilliant, Perfectly Appointed, Progressive Newspaper.

TERMS—POSTAGE PAID.

DAILY AND SUNDAYS:

One year	$7.70
Six months	3.85
Three months	1.95
One month	.65

DAILY, WITHOUT SUNDAYS:

One year	$6.50
Six months	$3.25
Three months	1.65
Less than 3 months, per month	.55

NEW YORK SUNDAY WORLD:

One year	$1.20

Each subscriber who sends $7.70 for one year's subscription to the Daily and Sunday World may select one of a large list of popular books. These books are 12mo volumes, printed uniformly in large, clear type, from new electrotype plates, and are very beautifully bound in cloth, with illuminated covers in black and gold. They retail at $1 a volume. List furnished on application.

Getters-up of Clubs will receive 10 per cent. commission on subscriptions to the Daily World, and can also give their customers their choice on these premiums.

THE NEW YORK WEEKLY WORLD.

A Large 8-Page 48-Column Newspaper.

One Whole Year for Only $1, Postage Paid. Six Months for 50 Cents.

The $1 also entitles each individual subscriber to a choice of a large list of popular books, all printed in large, clear type and neatly bound, in addition to the Weekly World for a year. List furnished on application; or containing 30 pages of choice instrumental and vocal music, which, if retailed singly, would aggregate over $2.

The World Musical Album,

The Weekly World is a complete Family Paper. Free Masons should read its special Masonic Department, with contributions from the pens of distinguished Masons. The Weekly World is the only leading newspaper in the country that has a special department devoted to Masonic interests.

The Weekly World also Contains:

All the news, Complete and Interesting. A full page of Agricultural and Farm News. A full page of Long and Short Stories, Comic Ballads and Serious Poems, Fairy Tales and Sailors' Yarns. What every Housewife Wants to Know. The Veterinary Department—With Prescriptions Free for All Subscribers and Full Instructions for the treatment of Live Stock. The best Chess and Checker Column in the world for Amateur Players. Riddles, Charades, Puzzles, Enigmas, Acrostics, &c., for the young folks, and Answers to Inquiries. Complete Market Reports—Unrivalled in Detail and Accuracy.

Each Department is perfect of its kind, and all Combined make the Best Weekly Newspaper ever published.

THE N. Y. SEMI-WEEKLY WORLD.

Published Every Tuesday and Friday.

SAME SIZE AS THE WEEKLY WORLD, ONLY $2 A YEAR.

THE SEMI-WEEKLY WORLD is published for those who do not care to take a daily newspaper, and who want to read the news oftener than once a week.

The Agricultural, Financial, Masonic and General News in the Semi-Weekly World is Unexcelled.

Subscribers to the Semi-Weekly World for one year are entitled to a choice of a large list of popular books, all printed in large, clear type and neatly bound. List furnished on application; or

The World Musical Album.

Subscribers to THE SUNDAY WORLD are entitled to the same premiums as those of THE SEMI-WEEKLY WORLD.

Unparalleled Offers to Club Agents

Any one may become a Club Agent.

The largest commissions ever paid and handsome premiums in addition.

The World will give to the person sending in the largest number of subscriptions to the Weekly World, up to May 1, 1883,

A HANDSOME ORGAN,

with ORGAN BENCH and MUSIC BOOK, worth $125. This is a magnificent instrument. It is elegantly cased in black walnut and has twenty-seven stops and ten full sets, Golden Tongue Reeds. It can be seen at any time in The World Publication Office.

No person can compete for this organ who sends in less than 500 subscriptions to the Weekly or Semi-Weekly World up to May 1, 1883.

The World will give a

Two-Horse Plough, a Hilling Cultivator, and a One-Horse Plough

to the person sending in the second, third and fourth largest number of subscriptions to the Weekly or Semi-Weekly World up to May 1, 1883.

These premiums are all in addition to the large cash commissions paid by The World.

In competing for the cash commissions and premiums, a subscription to The Semi-Weekly World will be considered as equivalent to two subscriptions to The Weekly World.

THE WORLD takes this occasion to publicly thank all the kind friends who so promptly furnished it with names and information recently, and it begs them to consider themselves Club Agents for The World, and to remember that the Premium offers and handsome Cash Commissions apply to them as well as to other agents.

Secretaries of Masonic Lodges will see the advantage of getting up clubs.

Sample copies free.

Address, THE NEW YORK WORLD, N. Y.

ESTATE OF CHARLES H. MAHAR.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.

At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate Office in the city of Adrian on Monday, the 4th day of December, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Charles H. Mahar, minor.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Patrick Kehoe, guardian of said minor, asking for the allowance of his guardian's account and rendering his resignation as such guardian.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the 8th day of January next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the next-of-kin of said minor and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate

(A True Copy.)
NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate. dec14

LUCRATIVE EMPLOYMENT

for the winter in farming districts. Very large returns for comparatively little labor. For full particulars address immediately ORANGE JUDD CO. 751 Broadway, N.Y.

ATTENTION PEOPLE!

WM. McCOWEN SPEAKS.

SWINDLERS

Are those who advertise to sell goods at cost, and then charge you three times as much as their poorly made trash is worth.

I

Do not advertise to sell goods at cost, but do advertise to sell by far better goods for less money than any other house in this county. Strangers call every day at my immense warerooms and marvel at what they see.

Farmers go home with their wagons loaded with honest made Furniture bought at prices lower than the lowest.

City people are pouring in every day to select Christmas gifts from my elegant stock of fine and fancy Furniture too numerous to mention, and all go away saying no wonder that

Wm. McCOWEN

is the

Leading Furniture Man

IN TECUMSEH.

MAKE HENS LAY

An English Veterinary Surgeon and Chemist, now traveling in this country, says that most of the Horse and Cattle Powders sold here are worthless trash. He says that Sheridan's Condition Powders are absolutely pure and immensely valuable. Nothing on earth will make hens lay like Sheridan's Condition Powders. Dose, 1 teaspoonful to 1 pint food. Sold everywhere, or sent by mail for 8 letter-stamps. L. S. JOHNSON & CO., BOSTON, MASS.

WANTED!

All who intend buying a SEWING MACHINE to know that they can save money by buying at the

TECUMSEH SEWING MACHINE ROOMS.

The largest stock and best assortment in the State.

SOLD ON TERMS TO SUIT ALL.

Good Machines from

$10.00 and UPWARDS.

Use none but LANDGRAF'S

CACHALOT OIL.

Trade established since 1868.

THREE BIG OFFERS!

Tecumseh Herald and Detroit Weekly Free Press for	$2.25
" " " " " Post & Tribune,	2.25
" " " Michigan Farmer,	2.60

All other papers at reduced rates. Call at

THE HERALD OFFICE

Before ordering your papers for 1883.

6,048 Feet of Band Instruments Sold by the Detroit Music Co.

63 Bands averaging 16 members each, each horn averaging 6 feet—Total 6,048 ft.

We refer you to any of the following bands, who have full sets of our Instruments:

Owosso, Lapeer, Otisville, Mt. Morris, Chester, Groveland, Capac, Frankfort, St. Louis, Carleton, Memphis, New Haven, Richmond, Grand Trunk Junction, Springwells, Tuscola, Mayville, Big Rapids, Reed City, Chase, Golden Theatre Co. (2)—at the close of the season 1880 each member bought his own instrument, in the spring of 1881 Prof. Rodi bought another full set—Williams Theatre Co. Whitney family, Imlay City, Washington, Flat Rock, Columbiaville, Otter Lake, Merrill, Wis.; Alma, Goodrich, Kell's band, (City); Wyandotte, Jackson, K. of L. Linden, Waltz, Denison, Texas; Port Sanilac, Lexington, Mecosta, Seneca, Kansas; Weston, Marine City, Edmore, Stony Point, Ont; Fenton, (3); Flushing, Carrollton, Mo.; C. R. Mabley, Petoskey, Howard City, Harbor Springs, Wayne, Belleville, Harrison, St. John's, (ladies); St. Clair, Clarkston. Also one or more of our instruments are used in nearly every band in the country.

CUBBERDAN. 224 Woodward Ave., Detroit Mich. HARRY R. WILLIAMS.

WEEKLY CINCINNATI TIMES.

Eight large pages—56 columns—and Only Costs One Dollar a Year, and the choice of a beautiful picture or useful book to every subscriber. The oldest, brightest, largest, cheapest, and best weekly paper published. It is more generally taken the country over because it is the best, and it is made the best because it has the largest circulation, and therefore the income to justify the necessary outlay. It is the easiest paper to get subscribers for, and our terms to agents are of extraordinary liberality. We want Agents. Specimen copy free. Address THE WEEKLY TIMES, 250 Walnut St., Cincinnati, O.

THE CINCINNATI TIMES-STAR

Is the best and cheapest daily paper published in the West. Eight pages—48 columns—and only six dollars a year, or 12 cents a week. The Daily Times-Star is the only eight page paper in the country published at this price. It is independent in politics, but aims to be fair in everything, and just to all parties, individuals, sections, and nationalities. If you want all the news attractively and honestly presented subscribe for it. The largest circulation of any paper published in Cincinnati. The postmaster will receive your subscription if there is no agent in your place.

The Tecumseh Herald.

VOL. XXXIII.--NO 31 TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 28, 1882. WHOLE NO. 1671

IF YOU WANT ANYTHING IN THE LINE OF

CUTLERY,

GRANITE IRON WARE,

BUFFALO ROBES, HORSE BLANKETS,

OR ANYTHING IN THE

HARDWARE

Line, call and see us, as we can sell you

A Better Article for Less Money

THAN ANY CONCERN IN THE COUNTRY.

Yours, truly,

WHITENACK, BORDINE & CO.

The Newest Designs

CLOAKS, PALETOTS AND DOLMANS.

Perfect Fitting,

Tastefully Trimmed

and Carefully Made.

Ready Made & to Measure

A. B. COTTON,

New Clothing,

New Cloths,

New Hats & Caps.

We are in daily receipt of new and seasonable goods, and can now show the most complete line in every department to be found in the market.

Our facilities for furnishing anything needed by boy or man are unequaled, and our prices are acknowledged on all hands to be the lowest. We invite an early inspection.

STRONG & McNAIR.

$1.25 Chromo!

GIVEN AWAY AT

A. W. SLAYTON'S

FOR 50 CENTS.

Any person buying $2.00 worth or more, at Slayton's for cash during the next 30 days we will give a large framed Chromo worth $1.25 for 50 cts.

DON'T FAIL TO GO TO

Slayton's FURNITURE Store

FOR YOUR

HOLIDAY GOODS!

AROUND THE COUNTY.

EAST TECUMSEH.

It is well known to all the people surrounding the rural home of Uncle John Rector that each returning Christmas brings together the children and grand-children of this worthy couple; and happy is the one who can aspire to being an invited guest in that hospitable mansion. In the first place, we feel like returning our sincere and heartfelt thanks to the venerable couple for the honor conferred upon us by the invitation, and the welcome which we received upon our arrival. The first thing that met our gaze as we drew near the house (and I will say excited our wonder, considering the scarcity of the snow, and knowing the orderly habits of mine host), was a fine cutter, which we afterward learned was intended as a present from the good wife to her honorable spouse. Upon entering the house, what should meet our gaze but a large tree in process of being laden with presents, consisting of everything which ingenuity could invent or wealth procure. After admiring the many costly presents arrayed before us and the artistical arrangement of the same, we were invited to the dining-room, where were tables laden with everything which could tempt the appetite of the most fastidious. After at least an hour spent in eating and social converse, we repaired again to the parlors to witness the unloading of the tree. Upon a small table near was displayed a beautiful set of china for Mrs. Rector, from her children; and Uncle John was soon arrayed in a fine wolf-skin robe, presented by his boys, and while all admired the comeliness as well as the fit of his attire, he was conducted to a seat in his new cutter, which was found to be just the thing he most desired. And even as in Biblical times, we find that the best wine was reserved for the last of the feast, so now the most costly and the more greatly prized of the presents were reserved for the last, these being large portraits of Mr. and Mrs. R., nicely framed with heavy gilt frames, for each family of their children. The cost of these pictures was $165. While viewing these beautiful pictures we involuntarily wished we had been endowed with the power of the Irishman who was born seven miles from Dublin, and said he might as well have been born in Dublin if he had wanted to; so we thought if we had only been children of Mrs. Rector, too. Time and space forbid a repetition of all the numerous gifts presented, but suffice it to say that no one was forgotten, and all felt that they were bountifully remembered. As the shades of evening began to gather, we bade our host and hostess good-night, wishing them many returns of merry Christmas, even such as we had just passed with them and their children.

MACON CENTER.

Merry Christmas.

Dr. H. D. Baker is home from Ann Arbor during the holiday vacation.

Johnnie Osgood put in an appearance last week.

Miss Libbie Hunter is home from Hudson on a holiday visit.

Mrs. W. Greenfield is visiting in Wheatland.

Irve Osborn has gone to Milwaukee.

Mrs. John Howe is visiting in New York State.

The J. J. Woodman "boom" for the U. S. Senate just suits the farmers. Why not let them have a representative, just once?

The first lecture of the course, by the Hon. J. H. Bingham, last Wednesday evening, was a masterly effort. Many say it was the best ever delivered in the hall. He urged the necessity of co-operation in all things, but not to monopolize. Also urged the social education of children. He gave the transportation question a grand overhauling, and favored a commissioner of agriculture. Why not a secretary of agriculture, the crowning industry of the land, as well as a secretary of war in time of peace?

Mrs. Bristol, of New Jersey, will deliver the next lecture of the course, Friday evening, Jan. 5, said to be one of the best lady orators on the platform. Mr. Bingham gave her a very flattering recommendation. Look out for posters next week.

A. Easlick will take possession of Lake Ridge Post-office Jan. 2.

Macon Grange elected officers last Friday evening, as follows; M., J. W. Baker; O., M. J. Martin; L., Geo. Howell; S., A. Russell; A. S., C. Vu Skinner; Ch., Mrs. L. Osgood; T., L. Osgood; Sec., C. Mead; G. R., S. B. Baker; C., Mrs. J. W. Osborn; P., Mrs. E. Howell; F., Mrs. J. W. Sherman; L. A. S., Mrs. C. V. Skinner. Board of Directors—C. Mead, A. Easlick, J. W. Osborn, L. Osgood, and M. Yates. Installation, Friday evening, Jan. 12, 1883.

RIDGEWAY.

Happy New Year.

T. H. Temple's family record now includes the name of a boy.

Ed. Freer dropped in upon his many friends last week. He thinks Ingham Co. a good place to live.

Profs. H. C. & E. A. Wilson are home for the holidays. They are both enjoying their work this year very much.

Special meeting still continues with increased attendance. Yet the attendance is not what it should be.

The cottage in which Joshua Waring lives was built in 1839 by Oliver Miller, Asa Russell doing the carpenter work. The building for years has been yielding to its age and is no longer worth repairing, consequently Mr. Waring proposes to spend the remainder of his days in a new home, which will be built early next season.

The Britton family including children, grand and great grand, all gathered at the home of Dan'l Wiggins last Saturday for their Christmas gathering. The old English dish of frumenty was prominent among the festivities.

The Christmas entertainment was a success Monday night. The responsive exercise by the Sunday school in the audience room was presented, and the supper in the basement was fully sufficient to satisfy a Christmas appetite. To all appearances the children had a big time.

A bright fire suddenly lighted up the sky in a southeasterly direction from the village last Tuesday evening and the first impression was that a building was in flames, but it soon became apparent that it was A. E. Palmer's straw stack which had taken fire in some unknown way. No other damage was done as the barn was sufficiently far away to escape.

Christmas presents in this vicinity were quite numerous and valuable. Among those of special note was one from Mrs. John W. Houseman to her husband, one boy. From Mrs. Chas. C. Smith to her husband, one girl. Mrs. Sam'l Stewart favored her husband in the same way.

BRITTON.

The reduced passenger rates for the holidays have largely increased the passenger business this week.

Waring & Knifflin now have their mill ready for business. They pay cash for logs, which brought in a good many during the past two weeks. The firm has been awarded the contract for all the sawed timber east of the Raisin river, at Tecumseh, for the T. & M. railroad, which calls for a large bill of oak.

Alphonso Sutton, who has been the night operator at La Otto during the past six months, received a Christmas present of the position of agent at Holloway. He took possession of the office Tuesday. The people of that place may congratulate themselves, as they will surely be pleased with the arrangement.

WEST TECUMSEH.

Happy New Year.

J. F. N. Bowen and W. B. Keyser attended the sheep breeders' convention at Lansing last week.

Married, on the 26th inst, Mr Coralet Brown of Franklin and Miss Ella Winton of Manchester. Reception at G. W. McCollum's last Tuesday evening.

Parties west of us are working up the project of extending the telegraph line farther west; also there is talk of trying to run it east to Ridgeway.

Christmas was generally observed by dinners, trees, etc, in this neighborhood. We accepted an invitation to spend Christmas with James Updyke. A very pleasant time was had. The dinner was excellent. The trial to see which could eat the most oysters between A. H. Updyke and Oran Bradish was decided in Mr. Bradish's favor. After dinner was over we adjourned to the parlor to see the "unveiling" of the Christmas tree well ladened with presents for the little ones, which were distributed to the satisfaction of all present.

KANSAS FARMS.

Choice improved farms for sale in Southeastern Kansas. A rare chance for some one who wishes to buy a home cheap. For situation, location terms, price, etc., call at the

HERALD OFFICE.

AGENTS Wanted for handsome Illustrated standard works of character; great variety; Books & Bible low in price; selling fast; needed everywhere; Liberal terms. Wm. Garretson & Co., Odd Fellows Block, Columbus, O.

THE PROBATE COURT.

Following is the record of business transacted at the probate court for the week ending Dec. 23, 1882:

Estate of Thomas Halstead, deceased; appointment of appraisers and inventory.

Estate of John Gould, deceased; petition for citation; order for citation; hearing January 9, 1883.

Estate of Joseph Driggs, an incompetent person; appraisers' warrant and inventory.

Estate of Catherine E. Hornby, deceased; affidavits of publishing and posting commissioners' warrant and report.

Estate of James M. Patterson, deceased; administratrix's final account allowed; assignment; discharge.

Estate of Laura E. Maples, minor; nomination of guardian; order of appointment of guardian.

Estate of Isaac Collins, deceased; affidavit of publication, administrator's final account allowed; assignment.

Estate of Betsey Westcott, deceased; order of continuance until January 2, 1883, at 10 o'clock a m.

Estate of Ira Clark, deceased; appraiser's warrant and inventory.

Estate of Michael Underwood, deceased; oath before sale of real estate.

Estate of Daniel Ferris, deceased; affidavit of publication; will, proof and probate; bond, $3,000.

Estate of Rolph Mills, deceased; affidavit of publication; order of continuance until January 2, 1883, at ten o'clock a. m.

Estate of Elisha C. Lewis, deceased; affidavit of publication; order of appointment of administrator; bond, $2,000.

Estate of Hiram C. Foster, minor; release of guardian; order of discharge.

Estate of David Berdan, deceased; affidavits of publishing and posting commissioners' notices; commissioners' warrant and report.

Estate of Pluma C. Fox, deceased; administrator's report of sale of real estate; affidavits of publishing and posting notices of sale; order confirming sale.

Estate of Maria E. Orcott, deceased; petition for proof of will; hearing January 15, 1883.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS.

Below is a list of transfers of Real Estate in Lenawee County for the week ending Dec. 24, 1882:

ADRIAN.

L. A. and S. N. Alderman to Carl and Minnie Holtz; land in city. $700.

BLISSFIELD.

Norman Geddes and C. R. Miller to M. P. Henry; land on sec. 30. $7,500.

HUDSON.

Jennie P. Beardsell to Diana A. Cooley; land in village. $2,000.

Lyman J. Buck to Thos. W. Benfield; land on sec. 36. $4,100.

MADISON.

Carrie E. Raymond to G. H. Oram; land on sec. 2. $300.

RIDGEWAY.

Simon Maple to Wm. Randall; land on sec 1. $650.

ROLLIN.

Jonathan Jackson to Thos. Jackson; land on sec. 17. $400.

SENECA.

Mahala M. Dunbar to W. J. and C. F. Banman; land on sec. 5. $450.

TECUMSEH.

Amanda M. Ross to Wealthy A. Humphrey; land in village. $500.

A Splendid Remedy for Lung Diseases.

Dr. Robt. Newton, late President of the Eclectic College of the City of New York, and formerly of Cincinnati, Ohio, used Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam very extensively in his practice, as many of his patients, now living, and restored to health by the use of this invaluable medicine, can amply testify. He always said that so good a remedy ought not to be considered merely as a patent medicine, but that it ought to be prescribed freely by every physician as a sovereign remedy in all cases of Lung diseases. It is a sure cure for Consumption, and has no equal for all pectoral complaints.

Kellinger's Liniment.

We desire to call the attention of the public to Kellinger's Liniment, one of the best preparations ever put up for all general purposes for which a Liniment is used. Applied to the head it relieves headache, and prevents the hair from falling out.

THE Tecumseh HERALD and Michigan Farmer, $2.60.

The Historian's Relative:

North Union "Shakers,"
CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 23, 1880.

H. H. Warner & Co.: Friends—I take pleasure in saying that I have used your celebrated Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, and that it cured me of Bright's Disease after I was given up to die and all other remedies had failed. JAMES S. PRESCOTT.

Catching the train—picking up the end of a lady's dress.

A Renovating Remedy

Is to be found in Burdock Blood Bitters. As an antidote for sick headache, female weakness, biliousness, indigestion, constipation, and other diseases of a kindred nature, these bitters are invaluable. Price $1.00.

Prejudices of the Press Overcome.

Office of the Seneca Co. Herald,
2 Hamilton Block,
BLOOMVILLE, Ohio.

Gentlemen—You can count me as a convert to Thomas' Eclectric Oil. When your agent came into my office to advertise your medicine I classed it with the thousand and one nostrums hawked about the country and sold as cure-alls. For fifteen or twenty years I have been suffering with that terrible disease, Catarrh; had lost my sense of smell and taste, also my sight and hearing was fast failing. I had previously tried scores of advertised remedies, but found only temporary relief. Last fall I concluded to give your Eclectric Oil a trial. After using part of the first bottle I began to feel better. So I kept on using it every night before retiring. I am now most happy to say I am nearly cured, and feel better than I have for ten years. Some time ago I felt a prickling sensation under one of my thumb nails. I could not imagine what caused it. It felt as if a piece of needle was under the nail. I tied up my finger with a rag, freely saturating it with the Oil; the pain ceased, and in a few days a black spot made its appearance and gradually increased until a new nail grew on. These are facts voluntarily given, even against a former prejudice concerning Patent Medicines. You can use this testimony as you see fit. If it will do any good in getting suffering humanity to try your medicine, and it relieves others as it has me, they will feel thankful.

Yours truly,
O. M. HOLCOMB.

Sold by all druggists.

Farrand, Williams & Co., wholesale druggists, Detroit, Mich.

DEATH OF GEO. A. HATHAWAY.

On Friday morning, at his home in Blissfield, occurred the death of Geo. A. Hathaway.

He was born in Palmyra, Wayne county, New York, April 3, 1808. When he was fifteen years old he commenced business for himself, and was engaged in the grocery business on the Erie canal in Palmyra. He was afterwards a clerk in a warehouse at Palmyra with James Field, so well known to old citizens of Adrian. Subsequently he was appointed superintendent of the horse department on the Erie canal, on the Franklin line, which position he held two years. He then went home and took charge of his father's farm, whose business he conducted until his death. In 1837 he came to Palmyra, this county, taking up a hundred and sixty acres of land on section eleven. In 1839-40 he kept a hotel in Palmyra, the Palmyra house. In 1842 he purchased a farm on sections 15, 16 and 22, in Palmyra. In 1848-9 he run the old "Junction warehouse," which then stood in the eastern part of Adrian, and was used as a transfer house for the Michigan Southern and Erie & Kalamazoo railroads. In 1852 he removed to his farm in Palmyra, where he resided until he sold it in 1877. Since that time he has resided in Blissfield village.

JACKSON, Mich., Dec. 20.—At the prison last evening flames were discovered issuing from the cell of a convict named Van Auken. The door was unlocked, and it was discovered that he had piled the bed clothing and cell furniture near the grated door, taken the oil from his lamp and poured it on the pile, lighted it, and stood awaiting cremation. With difficulty the blazing pile was removed. Van Auken was discovered naked, having put all his underclothing on the burning mass. He was frightfully burned about the head and shoulders, and lived only about 24 hours. Van Auken has been in the prison eighteen years. He came from Lenawee county on a life sentence for murdering his wife and son.

An article in the Northwestern Mining News shows that during the past year five Michigan mining companies have paid their stockholders $340,000 more than the actual paid-up capital of the companies. They are the Atlantic, Calumet & Hecla, Central, Osceola and Quincy. Since they were opened these mines have paid nearly eleven times the amount of their paid-up capital, and have paid one-fifth of the dividends paid by all mining companies in the United States during the past year.

Certificate.

I have used Burdock Blood Bitters with great benefit for indigestion and constipation of the bowels.

C. L. EASTON,
Price $1.00. Hamilton, Ont.

Bad coffee is mean, but some men are meaner. Bad coffee will settle.

Triumphant.

Mrs. Seigfried, Marion, O., says Thomas' Eclectric Oil was triumphant in her case; she used it for a severe cold and pain inside, and was relieved in a few minutes.

A school of design is a mother and her six marriageable daughters.

Every Girl in Her "Teens."

Who is a student needs at times a safe and gentle tonic to counterbalance the extra drains on the physical and nervous system. Zoa-Phora will give health and freshness for weakness and pallor.

A Relic.

We found, that night, when, free from pain at last,
She slumbered in the darkened room below,
In her old Bible pressed and folded fast
A flower gathered fifty years ago.

Wondering we scanned it there, so brown with age,
So withered, and with curious eyes read o'er
The writing traced beneath it on the page,—
A date, a dim initial,—nothing more.—

And asked, with eyes that filled we knew not why,
And hands that touched it gently, reverently,
What dear memorial of days gone by
This little faded floweret might be?

Why had she kept it hidden there away
Through all those years? What hopes, what joys that were,
What golden memory of some far day,
Spoke softly from those withered leaves to her,

What potent talisman was this, to start
To life again that old forgotten time,
Renewing in her chill and wintry heart
The flush and fragrance of her youth's glad prime?

Had hand of lover gathered it that day,
That fair, bright summer day, so long ago?
What sweet, shy dreams lay folded there away?
What maiden hopes and fears? We might not know.

Silent we stood. We felt a sense of shame,
As those who, wandering, enter unaware
Some holy place. Ah me! we were to blame.
Softly we turned, and left it lying there.

But when we gathered for our last long look
Upon her, in her calm and tranquil rest,
We drew the flower from the worn old book
And laid it gently on her peaceful breast.

—Robertson Trowbridge.

A COUNTRY LASS.

BY HOPE HATHAWAY.

"Land sakes! There goes the door-bell, Ruth. Who can it be?" exclaimed good Mrs. Robins, as the far-away tinkle reached the precincts of the kitchen.

And Ruth, as the quickest way of solving the question, put down the cake that she was stirring, and answered the call.

Two young men in stylish summer suits, with linen dusters and umbrellas in their hands, each took off a dainty straw hat.

"Does Mrs. Robins live here?" asked the taller one.

"Yes," said Ruth. "Will you walk in?" ushering them into a low-ceiled room. An old-fashioned, large-flowered carpet covered the floor, and heavy, straight-backed furniture stood up stiffly against the wall. Crisp muslin curtains draped the windows, through which branches of honeysuckle tossed, sending their fragrance through the room.

"Boarders, I guess," said Mrs. Robins, laconically, when Ruth's message was delivered. And so they proved to be.

"Such nice spoken young fellows—New Yorkers," she reported, when she came back from the interview, producing two cards on which were written John Bliss and Ralph Ely. "I had to take 'em, though I don't know how we'll get along, with no chance of getting a girl far nor near. This one," indicating the latter, "wants to stay a couple of months, but the other only a few days. I don't know what father'll say to it."

But Ruth knew that the hard-working farmer usually left his "wimmen folks" to exercise their own judgment about such matters. "O, we will manage some way, auntie, never fear," she answered, brightly, vigorously stirring the cake by way of emphasis. An hour later found her shelling peas on the wide piazza which ran across the sides of the house.

"Rather jolly old place, isn't it, Ralph?" The words seemed to drift lazily down through the air to where she sat. "I wouldn't mind spending a month or two here myself, if it wasn't for the attraction elsewhere. I'm determined to see her."

"Julia Palmer, you mean? They say she has deserted Saratoga for the season, and gone off rusticating somewhere."

"Yes; but such a girl will not long waste her beauty on unappreciative people. By-the-way, the young miss here is not a bad specimen of a country lass."

"I don't admire your taste," responded Ralph. "I shall be satisfied with no beauty until I have seen Julia Palmer."

Then, without waiting to hear more, Ruth, with a peculiar smile directed towards the windows above her, softly entered the house and set the peas cooking for dinner.

"My niece, Ruth. Mr. Ely and Mr. Bliss," was Mrs. Robbins's characteristic mode of introduction at the dinner-table, and the young lady very quietly acknowledged it, scarcely lifting her brown eyes, thereby at once establishing a reputation for shyness which was not easily dispelled.

That evening, as the friends sauntered slowly home from a walk, subdued sounds of music greeted them, and a nearer approach proved it to be one of Beethoven's grand sonatas, executed in a masterly manner. They looked at each other in surprise.

"Wonder who that is?" said Jack.

"A lady boarder, perhaps. Probably an invalid, who takes her meals alone. Hope she will make her appearance after you are gone. I'm afraid I shall be dreadfully ennuied in this dull old place," returned Ralph.

"A person who plays like that certainly ought to be worth conversing with."

But no glimpse of the pianist was vouchsafed the young men, either that evening or until Jack's departure, which occurred a few days later.

"It's going to be deused lonesome here," mentally grumbled Ralph, as he returned from the depot one stormy morning, carefully picking his way along the narrow path with its drooping fringe of wet grass. "Wonder if there is anything in that box of a parlor?"

The furniture stood up just as firmly as on the day of his arrival; the gorgeous carpet still flaunted its beauties before his unaccustomed eyes. Mrs. Robins's marriage certificate occupied an honored place over the high mantel, while on either side of the room hung a framed funeral scene of a tomb surrounded by weeping friends, in memory of the death of her children, Abijah and Truelove. Not an ornament of any kind nor a book was visible, with the exception of an immense Bible resting in solitary state upon a bare mahogany stand. Ralph sat down upon one of the slippery chairs and looked disconsolately out between the dimity curtains.

No chance for riding or walking, and no amusement of any kind indoors.

Just as he was meditating a retreat to his room for a lonely morning with cigar and book, Ruth came in. Ralph turned with a smile, glad of an interruption to his solitude, and noticed for the first time how very pretty she was, although scarcely in the toilet in which he was accustomed to see his young lady acquaintances. A long linen apron enveloped her figure, nearly hiding the blue morning dress, beneath which small slippers glanced out and in. A coquettish sweeping-cap almost covered her dark hair, leaving a few stray little waves creeping about her forehead. Her cheeks were flushed, and her eyes shone from exercise. She carried a broom and dustpan.

"I am sorry to disturb you, Mr. Ely," she said, "but it is necessary for me to sweep this room. In the meantime you may find something to amuse you here," throwing open the door of an adjoining apartment. "Of course you are at liberty to return when I have finished."

Ralph gave a surprised look beyond the door, then, with a comical grimace and shrug at the parlor, replied:

"Thanks. With your permission, I don't think I shall return"

"As you please," she said, smilingly. "I am glad to have our nookery appreciated."

The contrast between the two rooms could scarcely have been greater. In one was the absence and in the other the concentration of that refined taste which, with a few touches of its magic wand, beautifies the most humble home. Ralph's look of surprise deepened as he became familiar with his surroundings. A fine piano stood at one end of the room, and near it a book case filled with works from the most gifted English, French and German authors. Easy-chairs were scattered about in natural positions, a few choice pictures adorned the walls, and statuettes and bric-a-brac of many kinds gave the place an added charm.

That evening, as Ruth sat watching from the piazza the glorious sunset which was succeeding the day of clouds and storm, Ralph joined her.

"I wish to tell you how much I enjoyed my morning, Miss—" he said, and then paused inquiringly.

"Palmer," she supplemented.

"Pardon me, but have you relatives in New York?" he asked, with sudden interest. "A Miss Julia Palmer?"

"I have seen her," she replied.

"And I suppose you agree with the rest of the world concerning her beauty?"

Ruth blushed a little. "Tastes differ. I have seen much prettier faces," she answered, so quietly as to pique Ralph's enthusiasm: and then he thought what an odd thing he was doing to discuss Julia Palmer's brilliant beauty with this quiet little country lass; and yet the belle herself could scarcely have looked lovelier than did Ruth in her afternoon dress of sheer white muslin, her rather short sleeves showing to advantage the shapely hands and arms. Her only ornaments were a branch of scarlet geraniums at her throat, and another among the dark braids of hair.

"To return to our first subject," Ralph said, at length. "You do not know what a pleasant morning I passed in that delightful room."

"Aunty and I think it a cosey place, she replied. "Please consider yourself at liberty to use it whenever you wish."

"Thank you," Ralph said. "I shall often avail myself of the privilege."

"Perhaps you will wish to be excused to-night?" she said. "For I usually devote my evenings to music, as housework interferes with my practice by day. Auntie does not mind my drumming."

"And I will promise to be even a more patient martyr than she, if you will let me," he replied, laughingly.

"Then you must not murmur at your punishment," she returned.

And when Ruth's "drumming" began, Ralph, who was a great lover and fair judge of music, realized that he was in the presence of an artist, who interpreted the great composers more finely than he had ever deemed it possible.

"Do you not sing?" he asked, when at last Ruth paused.

"Sing! well, I reckon she does," proudly interpolated Mrs. Robins, who had sat quietly knitting through it all. "Some of her pieces are too much opery style to suit me, but there ain't any body can sing them good, old-fashioned tunes sweeter than Ruth."

The girl's face flushed at the old lady's warm praises.

"I'm afraid you are rather partial, auntie," she said.

"Will you kindly allow me an opportunity to judge?" suggested Ralph.

"If you will join me," she said; and he did so in several popular ballads, then listened until the old lady begged him to join in "Home, Sweet Home," and "Auld Lang Syne."

At last as Ralph bade them good-night he said to Ruth, in a low tone:

"Mrs. Robins was right. This is an evening which I shall never forget!"

Then as he went to his room he wondered vaguely why he felt so wonderfully happy, and if Ruth would think him quite a fool if she knew that he held in his hand a flower which had fallen from her hair. Before many days had passed Ruth solved the problem, and discovered that Ruth Palmer was dearer to him than any other woman ever would be, and told her so one day out under the trees of the great orchard.

"But what of my rival?" she asked, mischievously.

"Whom?" he returned, in surprise.

"Miss Julia Palmer, of course. You didn't know that the 'country lass' was on the piazza, and unwittingly heard the conversation between yourself and friend the day you came here."

Ralph colored and looked annoyed, then laughed.

"Nonsense. She was only an ideal, for I have never seen her, and don't care to now," he added, fondly. "But, Ruth, is it yes or no?"

"Whichever you please, sir," she answered, demurely.

Just then, to their annoyance, merry voices were heard, and several young ladies came toward them from the direction of the house.

"Why, Julia Palmer, what a runaway you are!"

"Mrs. Robins told us where to find you."

"Such a time as we had getting up from that poky station!" the gay voices chimed in.

Ralph started and looked at Ruth, strangely.

"I will explain all at the first opportunity," she managed to whisper, "only wait patiently." Then introduced him to her city friends.

In an hour's time she found him walking excitedly up and down the piazza, looking so agitated that she was frightened. "Ralph, dear, she said, putting her hand upon his arm, "don't blame me. It was only a little harmless deception."

"Then it is true. You are Julia Palmer?"

"Yes. Julia Ruth Palmer. But you need not look so dismayed, Ralph. I will always be Ruth to you. I was tired of the fashionable summer resorts, and ran anywhere to be quiet and brighten up my household accomplishments, bringing along some of my comforts with me. Auntie is good, but things are not just the same here, you know. You said this afternoon that you never wished to see Julia Palmer. Is it so, Ralph?"

And what could he do but take the tease in his arms, and tell her he would try to make the best of a bad bargain.

The Bad Boy at Breakfast.

"Yes" said the boy, with a vacant look, "I take no interest in the pleasure of the chase any more, though I did have a little quiet fun this morning at the breakfast table. You see pa is the contrariest man ever was. If I complain that anything at the table don't taste good, pa says it is all right. This morning I took the syrup pitcher and emptied out the white syrup and put in some cod-liver oil that ma is taking for her cough. I put some on my pancakes, and pretended to taste of it, and I told pa the syrup was sour, and not fit to eat. Pa was mad in a second, and he poured out some on his pancakes and said I was getting too confounded particular. He said the syrup was good enough for him, and he sopped his pancakes in it and fired some down his neck. He is a gaul darned hypocrite—that's what he is. I could see by his face that the cod-liver oil was near killing him, but he said the syrup was all right, and if I didn't eat mine he'd break my neck; and by gosh I had to eat it, and pa he guessed he hadn't got much appetite and he would just drink a cup of coffee and eat a donut. I like to dide, and that I think makes this disappointment in love harder to bear. But I felt sorry for ma. Ma ain't got a very strong stummish, and when she got some of that cod-liver oil in her mouth she went up stairs, sickern a horse, and pa had to help her, and she had nooralgia all the morning. I eat pickles to take the taste out of my mouth, and then I plaid for the hired girls. They eat too much syrup, anyway, and when they got on to that cod liver oil and sw dlowed a lot of it, one of them an nirish girl, she got up from the table and put her hand on her corset and said 'howly Moses!' and went out into the kitchen looking as pale as ma does when she has powder on her face, and the other girl, who is Dutch, she swallowed a pancake and said, 'Mine Gott, vas de matter from me,' and she went out and leaned on the coal bin. Then they talked Irish and Dutch, and got clubs and started to look for me, and I thought I would come over here.

The whole family is sick, but it is not from love, like my illness, and they will get over it, while I shall fill an early grave; but not till I have made that girl and the telegraph messenger wish they was dead. Pa and I are going to Chicago next week, and I'll bet we'll have some fun. Pa says I need a change of air, and I think he is going to try to lose me. It's a cold day when I get left anywhere that I can't find my way back. Well, good bye, old potatoes."
—Peck's Sun.

The Great Steam Hammer.

"I have been told," said Mr. Dubious, watching the great steam hammer in the rolling mill, "that a good hammerman can break the crystal of a watch with that thirty-ton hammer." "Yes, sir," said the hammerman, "it can be done." "I should like to see it," said Mr. Dubious, eagerly, feeling in his watch pocket. "I can do it, sir," replied the man. "And will you?" replied Mr. Dubious, drawing out his watch. "Come, I am anxious to see it tried." He laid his watch on the great anvil plate. The hammer rose up to its full height and the next instant all its ponderous weight with a crushing force that shook the ground for an acre round came down on that watch. "There, sir," said the hammerman quietly, "if you don't believe that crystal is broken, just stoop down and you can see it sticking to the hammer." Mr. Dubious swallowed a whole procession of lumps and gasps before he could speak. "But I forgot to say," he exclaimed, "that it was to break the crystal without injuring the watch." "Oh, yes," said the hammerman, "yes, I know; I have heard that rubbish myself, but its all gammon. I don't believe it can be done. But you can break the crystal every time."—Burdette.

A passage from a Chicago speech by Emory A. Storrs: "We must put the city of our soul where it belongs—away up on those shining eminences where, robed in white and throned above the clouds, it shall be bathed in the perpetual sunshine of an eternal fame." Im-

J. Verne's Story.

"We are now in longitude 120 degrees fifteen minutes, and latitude eighty-three degrees thirty-five minutes," said the doctor.

"Yes," said the captain

"We have yet 17,852 miles, twenty yards, fifteen feet and nine inches of ice to cross before we reach our ship," said the doctor.

"Exactly," said the captain.

"In that case, it is time we were off," said Hatteras.

"We have left from the explosion 2,000 pounds of roast turkey, fourteen kegs of baked beans and eleven gallons of applejack," said the boatswain.

"Pack 'em on the sledge at once," said the captain.

"And how long will our provisions hold out?" asked the doctor.

"The applejack will probably last until morning," said the American.

"And after that?"

"We shall have to send to New Jersey for more."

"But how?"

"Leave that to me," said the American.

"How is the temperature?" asked the captain.

"One hundred and ten below zero."

"Good. Hand me my ear muffs. Are we ready?

"We are," said his companions.

"To the north!" cried the captain, executing a song and dance and kicking a Polar bear off an iceberg.

"To the north!" shouted his companions.

CHAPTER SECOND.

"All is not yet lost," said the captain.

"I have just taken an observation. We have yet a few thousand miles to go. Shall we push on gentlemen?"

"We shall," cried his companions.

"We are down to our last drink," sighed the American. "But I have telephoned to Jersey City for fresh supply. If it arrives in time we are saved. There is not cold enough in the Arctic regions to stand up against Jersey City whisky."

"We have not eaten anything for seven weeks," said the doctor.

"But shall we turn back for trifles?" asked Hatteras. "Doctor, you must have a plan. Has your science gone back on you at this critical moment?"

"Give me two weeks in which to think over our situation," said the doctor, seating himself on a cake of ice and falling into a brown study.

"Bears!" said the boatswain.

"Where?" asked the captain, excitedly.

"They have been at our heels for the last two months," said the boatswain.

"The applejack," said the doctor.

"Magnificent!" said the captain.

"One sip and they are at our mercy," said the boatswain.

"Saved!" said his companions.

CHAPTER THIRD.

"We have now occupied this scooped out iceberg for three years," said the doctor.

"And there has been a monotony about our existance which does not agree with my love of excitement," said the American.

"You forget the whist," said the captain.

"You know I always prefer poker," said the American.

"It is simply a national prejudice," said the captain.

"Gentlemen, you will not quarrel with the temperature 200 below zero," said the doctor. "Remember we are now but 3,000 miles from the Pole. Save your breath for our final effort."

"We will," said the captain, shaking the hand of the American and setting up the blubber oil for the crowd.

CHAPTER FOURTH.

"We seem to be drifting into a seething whirlpool," said the captain.

"Yes, if we keep on this course five minutes longer we shall probably all be lost," said the doctor. "Let us take an observation," and he went forward with his instrument while the frail boat on which they were sailing whirled around at the rate of two thousand revolutions a minute, and then suddenly shot out at right angles as though fired from a hundred-ton gun.

"A narrow escape," said the doctor, quietly pocketing his glass and venturing aft.

"How long is it since we lost the American overboard?" asked the boatswain.

"About four months," said the doctor.

"We are now close upon the Pole," said Hatteras.

"As near as I can make out that must be it over there," said the doctor.

"You are right," said the captain. "To England shall belong the glory of its discovery."

"But it has a strange look," said the doctor, gazing through his glass. "Perhaps it's the fault of the Polar Sea atmosphere."

"It is covered with stripes," cried the captain, pulling his hair and leaping ashore as the boat grounded upon the beach.

"Can it be that dastardly Yankee has—"

"Shave, gentlemen," asked the American, stepping out of his barbershop at the base of the North Pole.

"He has," yelled the English captain, as he proceeded without delay to go insane.—Brooklyn Eagle.

A Kind Old Poet.

Victor Hugo's real kindness of heart is illustrated in a story told of Pierre Dupont, the poet. When the latter arrived in Paris, poor and half-starved, he applied for assistance to Hugo and was repulsed at the door by a stern servant. Taking a card and a pencil from his pocket he wrote a little poem in which he compared himself to flower perishing with thirst and asking for water, and a starving swallow beating his wings against the window. This poem he asked the servant to deliver to Hugo, and was walking away when the elder poet sent a messenger to bring him back. He stammered his apologies, it was gently interrupted with the remark, "You are one of us and you may look on me as an elder brother." And straightway Hugo found employment for the young writer. It is kindliness such as this that endears Hugo to his child.

The piano on which the "Wacht am Rhein" was improvised by its composer, Carl Wilhelm, has just been sold at Berlin for $360.

That old established remedy, Downs Elixir, still more than holds its own in the public estimation, despite sharp and active competition. It is a "home remedy," and in this locality needs no words of praise from us, so well and favorably known is it. It is the standard remedy for coughs, colds and all throat troubles, with great numbers of our people, and their continued use and unsolicited recommendation of it speaks volumes in its favor.—Burlington, Vt., Free Press, January 26, 1882.

READ our special subscription offers in another column.

Nine Physicians Outdone.

It is generally considered a pretty difficult task to outdo a physician, but the following will conclusively prove where nine were completely outdone. Mrs. Helen Pharriz, 331 Dayton St., Chicago, Ill., was treated for Consumption by nine physicians, and all pronounced her case incurable. Seven bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption completely cured her. Doubting ones, please drop her a postal card and convince yourselves. Sold by C. A. Wright & Co.

SEE the stock of Christmas cards at the HERALD office.

Now is the time to treat Catarrh of long standing. Elys' Cream Balm reaches old and obstinate case, where all other remedies fail. Do not neglect procuring a bottle, as in it lies the relief you seek. Price 50 cents. Apply into the nostrils with little finger.

Catarrh. For fifteen years I have been greatly annoyed with this disgusting disease, which caused severe pain in my head, continual dropping in my throat and unpleasant breath. My sense of smell was much impaired. By a thorough use for six months of Elys' Cream balm I have entirely overcome these troubles. J. B. Case, St. Denis Hotel, Broadway and 11th St., N. Y.

SEE our three big offers for subscriptions for 1883.

A Word of Caution.

As is usually the case where an article of true merit has attained a world wide reputation by its wonderful results, as the celebrated Electric Bitters have done, certain unprincipled parties have endeavored to imitate them, and expect to induce an unsuspecting public to purchase their fraudulent wares. Ask your druggist for the genuine Electric Bitters, that are guaranteed to cure, and take no others.

Sold by C. A. Wright & Co.

OUR special combination offers are taking splendidly. This arrangement seems to fit the case exactly.

Marshall, Mich. Oct. 10, 1881.
Mr. J. D. Kellogg, Dear Sir:—For upwards of five years I was troubled very much with my kidneys. At times I could not sleep at night and I steadily grew worse. I used several remedies highly recommended for the kidneys, but obtained no benefit. I was finally induced to try your Columbian Oil, which began to help me from the start, and after using five bottles I find myself cured. I am yours truly, Frank B. Wright.

SUBSCRIPTIONS for all newspapers and magazines published will be taken at the HERALD office at reduced rates.

A World Wants Proof.

"The proof of the pudding is the eating thereof," and not in chewing the string which tied the bag. Therefore, take Dr. Jones' Red Clover Tonic. It cures all blood disorders, torpid liver, sick headache, costiveness, and all diseases of the urinary organs. The best appetizer and tonic known. Sold by Baker & Hall. Fifty cents per bottle.

Important to Travelers.

Special Inducements are offered you by the BURLINGTON ROUTE. It will pay you to read their advertisement to be found elsewhere in this issue.

The Keystone of Health.

How can you expect to feel well, or even enjoy life, when you go about with a hacking cough? The fool, in his wisdom, says there is no cure for it, but the wise man hies him to Baker & Hall's drug store and gets a bottle of Dr. Bigelow's Positive Cure, and at once gets well. A trial bottle costs nothing.

EVERY boy or girl who buys a Christmas card at the HERALD office will get an advertising card.

"No; she lingered and suffered along, pining away all the time, for years, the doctors doing her no good; and at last was cured by this Hop Bitters the papers say so much about. Indeed! indeed! how thankful we should be for that medicine."

MANCHESTER will have a masquerade ball on New Year's night.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all kinds of Skin Eruptions. This Salve is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction in every case or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by All Druggists.

I. Ship Speaks of His Wife.

Indianapolis, Ind.
Mr. A. Kiefer—Dear Sir: My wife has for several years been a great sufferer from periodical attacks of Neuralgia in the head. Several of the most eminent physicians had been called upon to treat her, but they could only give temporary relief.

About two years ago she commenced using the Taxarine, and I am gratified to say, since then she has had no recurrence of those terrible pains. I attribute her restoration to health entirely to the use of Taxarine, and in conclusion would say to all who suffer that excruciating of all pains to give Taxarine a trial. Yours etc. I. Ship.

For sale by all druggists.

Taxarine Memorandum Books free.

The morality of domestic life is the very corner-stone of civilization.

TO THE AFFLICTED.

Since the introduction of Kellogg's Columbian Oil it has made more permanent cures and given better satisfaction on Kidney Complaints and Rheumatism than any known remedy. Its continued series of wonderful cures in all climates has made it known as a safe and reliable agent to employ against all aches and pains, which are the forerunners of more serious disorders. It acts speedily and surely, always relieving suffering and often saving life. The protection it affords by its timely use on rheumatism, Kidney affection, and all aches and pains, wounds, cramping pains, cholera morbus, diarrhoea, coughs, colds, catarrh, and disorders among children, makes it an invaluable remedy to be kept always on hand in every home. No person can afford to be without it, and those who have once used it never will. It is absolutely certain in its remedial effects, and will always cure when cures are possible. Call at C. A. Wright & Co.'s and get a memorandum book giving more full details of the curative properties of this wonderful medicine.

Relief Found at Last.

Carmel, Ind.
A. Kiefer—Dear Sir: I was afflicted with derangement of the Liver, which caused a general derangement of my whole system. Had three-day ague for two years, from which I found no relief until induced to try your Taraxine, which I am happy to say affected a cure. I am enjoying fine health and have had no ague for over one year. Yours, etc., John Jeffries

Jealousy.

Some poet has said that "All torments of the damned we find in only thee, Oh, Jealousy, thou tyrant of the mind." This is grandly sweeping and magnificently inaccurate. Any sufferer from Indigestion knows to the contrary. Indigestion, the villian of the tragedy played upon the gastric juices of the stomach, can, and does double discount the horrors of jealousy. Jealousy is often an attendant upon the later, and when indigestion is removed, this jaundiced companion of a deranged liver flies. Taraxine is the best known remedy extant for impaired digestion, deranged liver, and diseases of the bowels and kidneys.

For sale by all druggists.

Free to Everyone.

A 10c sample of Hill's Peerless Cough Syrup. We also sell the large bottles on an absolute guarantee. If not satisfied after using, return the empty bottle and we will refund your money. We also sell the Peerless Worm Specific on the same terms. No cure, no pay. Cobbs' Little Podophyllin Pills will cure headache, billiousness and constipation. No pay. One pill a dose.

C. A. Wright & Co.

The New Discovery.

Dr. Deming's Pile Ointment, the discovery of a physician of wide reputation, who has achieved the greatest success, the most conspicuous distinction, and the highest honors in his profession, is a sure cure for blind, bleeding, itching and ulcerated piles. A single box has frequently been known to cure the most obstinate case, and thousands who have used this great remedy attest its efficacy.—For sale by all druggists.

Griggs' Glycerine Salve.

The best on earth can truly be said of Griggs' Glycerine Salve, which is a sure cure for cuts, bruises, scalds, burns, wounds and all other sores. Will positively cure piles, tetter and all skin eruptions. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Only 25 cents. For sale by Baker & Hall.

"Rough on Rats."

The thing desired found at last.—Ask Druggists for "Rough on Rats." It clears out rats, mice, roaches, flies, bed-bugs. 15c. boxes.

To twit a man of his faults, is to expose a greater fault of your own.

Brain and Nerve.

Wells' Health Renewer, greatest remedy on earth for impotence, leanness, sexual debility, &c., $1. at druggists. Mich. Depot, J. E. Davies & Co., Detroit, Mich.

A man of integrity will never listen to any reason against conscience.

Don't Die in the House.

Ask druggists for "Rough on Rats." It clears out rats, mice, bedbugs, roaches, vermin, flies, ants, insects.—15c. per box.

eaks of His Wife.

Indianapolis, Ind.

r—Dear Sir: My wife years been a great sufferer odical attacks of Neuralgia head. Several of the physicians had been reat her, but they could orary relief.

ars ago she commenced rine, and I am gratified en she has had no return hose terrible pains. I storation to health and e of Taraxine, and in nd say to all who suffer og of all pains to give l. Yours etc. I. Ship.

ll druggists.

morandum Books free.

of domestic life is ne of civilization.

E AFFLICTED.

roduction of Kellogg's it has made more perfect and given better satis- idney Complaints and han any known remedy ued series of wonderful climates has made it e and reliable agent to t all aches and pains, forerunners of more se- It acts speedily and relieving suffering and ife. The protection it imely use on rheuma- affection, and all aches unds, cramping pains, s, diarrhoea, coughs, and disorders among es it an invaluable rem- always on hand in eve- person can afford to be those who have once will. It is absolutely remedial effects, and re when cures are possi- A. Wright & Co.'s and dum book giving more the curative properties ful medicine.

Found at Last.

Carmel, Ind.

Dear Sir: I was afflicted ngement of the Liver, a general derangement ystem. Had three-day ears, from which I found nduced to try your Tar- am happy to say affec- am enjoying fine health ne ague for over one etc., John Jeffries has said that "All tor- amned we find is only busy, thou tyrant of the is grandly sweeping ently inaccurate. Any Indigestion knows to Indigestion, the villain played upon the gastric tomach, can, and does nt the horrors of jealy is often an attendant and when indigestion is jaundiced companion liver flies. Taraxine is n remedy extant for im- n, deranged liver, and bowels and kidneys.

Jealousy.

ll druggists.

to Everyone.

ple of Hill's Peerless We also sell the large absolute guarantee. If after using, return the nd we will refund your a'so sell the Peerless e on the same terms. y. Cobbs' Little Podo- IN cure headache, bill- onstipation. No pay.

C. A. Wright & Co.

New Discovery.

's Pile Ointment, the physician of wide repu- s achieved the greatest st conspicuous distinc- highest honors in his a sure cure for blind, ng and ulcerated piles. has frequently been re the most obstinate sands who have used edy attest its efficacy.— druggists.

Glycerine Salve.

earth can truly be said cerine Salve, which is a cuts, bruises, scalds, s and all other sores. y cure piles, tetter and ons. Satisfaction guar- ney refunded. Only 25 le by Baker & Hall.

ough on Rats."

desired found at last.— for "Rough on Rats." ts, mice, roaches, flies, boxes.

n of his faults, is to ex fault of your own.

n and Nerve.

th Renewer, greatest th for impotence, lean- bility, &c., $1, at drug- Depot, J. E. Davies & ich.

tegrity will never listen gainst conscience.

Die in the House, s for "Rough on Rats." rats, mice, bedbugs, n, flies, ants, insects.—

For all Diseases of the Kidneys, Liver, Bladder and Bright's Disease, The Best Blood Purifier.

SAFE KIDNEY AND LIVER CURE

The black engraved portion of this card is a fac-simile of the end of the wrapper on WARNER'S SAFE KIDNEY AND LIVER CURE

Beware of Fraud.

Unscrupulous parties have tried to imitate our Remedy and deceive the public by using SIMILAR NAMES, but do not be deceived; see that the word SAFE with picture of an Iron Safe, on a black wrapper and white letters is on every package. Also, see that it is on the label and stamp, and take no other.

H. H. WARNER & CO.
ROCHESTER, N.Y.

B. KING OF THE BLOOD.

The Most Thorough Purifier of the Blood Yet Discovered.

Cures all Humors, from a Common Eruption to the Worst Scrofula.

It purifies the Blood.
It invigorates the Liver.
It regulates the Bowels.
It strengthens the Stomach.
It gives vivacity in place of lassitude; cheerfulness in place of gloom, and robust vigor in place of debility.

Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Disordered Liver, Constipation, Nervous Affections, General Debility, in short all the numerous diseases and discomforts caused by impure blood are speedily conquered by this powerful corrector, the chief and sovereign of all ancient or modern medical discoveries—KING OF THE BLOOD.

ITS NAME IS ITS BEST DESCRIPTION as it is a royal dispenser of the blessings of health and vanquishes the foes that lurk in the blood.

It banishes PIMPLES, SALT RHEUM, SCALY ERUPTIONS, ULCERS, SCALD HEAD, FEVER SORES, and all SCROFULOUS DISORDERS.

It checks CONSUMPTION in its early stages. It has frequently cured it when advanced.

It disperses TUMORS and CANCERS without the Surgeon's knife.

It cures DROPSY, general or partial.

It cures FEMALE WEAKNESS and DISEASE.

It reduces in a safe and effectual manner all swellings, external or internal.

It eradicates the effects of Venerial Disease and Mineral Poisons, and establishes a sound constitution.

Many certificates, much further information and all directions for using, will be found in the pamphlet, "Treatise on Diseases of the Blood," in which each bottle is enclosed.

Price $1 per bottle containing 12 ounces, or 40 to 50 doses. Sold by dealers in medicine.

If your druggist does not happen to have it on hand, request him to order a supply of it for you, as it will be cheaper than for you to order direct of us, and less trouble.

D. RANSOM, SON & CO., Proprietors.
Buffalo, N.Y.

The Purest and Best Medicine ever Made.

A combination of Hops, Buchu, Mandrake and Dandelion, with all the best and most curative properties of all other Bitters, makes the greatest Blood Purifier, Liver Regulator, and Life and Health Restoring Agent on earth.

No disease can possibly long exist where Hop Bitters are used, so varied and perfect are their operations.

They give new will and vigor to the aged and infirm.

To all whose occupations or employments cause irregularity of the bowels or urinary organs, or who require an Appetizer, Tonic and mild Stimulant, Hop Bitters are invaluable, without intoxicating.

No matter what your feelings or symptoms are what the disease or ailment is use Hop Bitters. Don't wait until you are sick but if you only feel bad or miserable, use them at once. It may save your life. It has saved hundreds.

$500 will be paid for a case they will not cure or help. Do not suffer or let your friends suffer, but use and urge them to use HOP B

Remember, Hop Bitters is not a vile, drugged drunken nostrum, but the Purest and Best Medicine ever made; the "TRIAL IS PROOF" and no person or family should be without them.

D.I.C. is an absolute and irresistible cure for Drunkenness, use of opium, tobacco and narcotics. All sold by druggists. Send for Circular. Hop Bitters Mfg. Co., Rochester, N.Y. and Toronto, Ont.

HALL'S Catarrh Cure

Is Recommended by Physicians!

$100 REWARD FOR A CASE IT FAILS TO CURE.

We manufacture and sell it with a positive guarantee that it will cure any case, and we will forfeit the above amount if it fails in a single instance.

It is unlike any other Catarrh remedy, as it is taken internally, acting upon the blood. If you are troubled with this distressing disease, ask your Druggist for it, and accept no imitation or substitute. If he has not got it, send to us and we will forward immediately. Price, 75 cents per bottle.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

FARMERS and FARMERS' SONS CAN MAKE $50 to $100 PER MONTH During the Fall and Winter. For particulars, address J. C. McCurdy & Co., Chicago, Ill.

WIT AND HUMOR.

Punch has found a man too lazy to labor under an impression.

It is a wise bank cashier who takes no vacation.

The feeling between ague and quinine is exceedingly bitter.

The man who scissors off coupons is the genuine "revenue-cutter."

Astronomers have discovered a red spot on the face of Jupiter. Prohibitionists will please take notice.

Though not much of a conversationalist, a mute might get along very nicely in a spoke factory.

When a Russian is too lazy to scratch for a living he has himself arrested for a nihilist.

Thirteen clubs are very popular now, especially with whist-players when clubs are trumps.

"Why is a young man like a kernel of corn?" asked a young lady. "Because," said another, "he turns white when he pops."

Among the recent arrivals in Philadelphia is a gorilla preserved in alcohol. Although dead, the animal is in excellent spirits.

The stage-driver, in describing the steepness of a certain Vermont mountain, said that "Chain-lightnin' couldn't go down it without breechin' on."

"You, see, my child, this turtle—one of the wonders of creation—he furnishes the best combs that are made and yet he can not use one, as he hasn't a single hair to comb.

Oscar Wilde, probably owing to his patent medicine hair, has been taken on the streets for Buffalo Bill. Mr. Bill, it is said, intends to shoot him on sight.

"In choosing a wife," says an exchange, "be governed by her chin."—The worst of it is, that after choosing a wife one is apt to keep on being governed in the same way.

What are you thinking about, Ida?" "I'm thinking about nothing, auntie.—I never think about anything unless I happen to think of something to think about."

A young lady inquires: "How can I avoid being addressed if I walk out at night without a protector?" If you wear an old shawl and carry a clothes basket you will not be disturbed.

The grasshopper has, according to its size, 120 times the kicking power of an average man. It must be exciting times for the young grasshoppers which go courting, and find the old man at home!

When'll you be back, my dear?" inquired a wife of an angry husband who was going off in a hurry. "Whenever I please, madam!" "Do try and not be any later than that if you can help it!" was her meek reply.

Arnold Isler, of the Columbus Bohemian, has been divorced from his wife, whereupon he breaks forth into festive song, thus:

O, joy be mine! The doors of my cell
Swing wide open; again I see
The light of day. By some strange spell
My chains are loosened—I am free!

A Sabbath-school teacher had a class of little girls, and was telling them how the heathen mothers threw their babies into the Ganges. "And what do you think they do that for?" she asked a bright little girl of 4 years, who was intently listening. "O, I s'pose the mothers want to see if they can swim," answered the little girl.

"Can you help me a little?" said a tramp, poking his head into a country-shop. "Why don't you help yourself?" said the proprietor, angrily. "Thank you, I will," said the tramp, as he picked up a Dutch cheese and two loaves of bread and disappeared like a streak of lightning, followed by half a dozen lumps of coal.

"No one is a hero to his valet." Sir Arthur Pillson, Bart., M. D., F. R. C. P., etc: "Are you better, Simpson, after that medicine I gave you last night?"—Cook: "Well, I can't say as I ham, Sir Harthur; and, to tell you the truth, if you've no objection, Sir Harthur, I should like to consult a regular medical man!"—Punch.

A little 3-year-old girl while her mother was trying to get her to sleep, became interested in some outside noise. She was told that it was caused by a cricket, when she sagely observed:—"Mamma, I think he ought to be oiled."

A crusty old fellow once asked: "What is the reason that griffins, dragons, and devils are ladies' favorite subjects for embroidery designs?" "Ah, because they are continually thinking of their husbands," was the lady's quick retort.

Why don't you come to Sunday school?" said a superintendent to a boy. "Cause pa owes my teacher for a pair of boots, an' the teacher got to sending notes home by me, an' pa said I needn't go any more till he paid for the boots, an' I don't reckon I'll go any more."

A lawyer recently lost a bride in a peculiar way. He appeared at the wedding, but on being called to the ceremony from sheer force of habit protested that he was not ready to proceed and demanded delay. And so the bride got mad and shipped him.

Extract from an oration delivered at the inauguration of a statue by M. Duclaud, member for the Charente: "Yes, gentlemen. Rabelais was one of the men whose form and face deserved to be preserved in molten marble for the admiration of posterity."

A young actress had made a signal failure in the first two acts of a comedy. After the third, in which she did not appear, one of her fellow-actors came up to her with much ardor: "Charming, adorable! Your third act quite redeems the other two!"

Certain excavations recently made in Nevada revealed in the sandstone the distinct impress of a woman's foot nine inches long, left there ages and ages ago. And yet they have been playing St. Louis off on us a modern city!—Boston Gazette.

It is related by an exchange that a young lady who had been married over a year wrote to her father in the city, saying: "We have the dearest little cottage in the world, ornamented with the most charming little creepers you ever saw." The old man read the letter and exclaimed: "Twins, by thunder."

The Bad Boy at Breakfast.

"Yes" said the boy, with a vacant look, "I take no interest in the pleasure of the chase any more, though I did have a little quiet fun this morning at the breakfast table. You see pa is the contrariest man ever was. If I complain that anything at the table don't taste good, pa says it is all right. This morning I took the syrup pitcher and emptied out the white syrup and put in some cod-liver oil that ma is taking for her cough. I put some on my pancakes, and pretended to taste of it, and I told pa the syrup was sour, and not fit to eat. Pa was mad in a second, and he poured out some on his pancakes and said I was getting too confounded particular. He said the syrup was good enough for him, and he sopped his pancakes in it and fired some down his neck. He is a gaud darned hypocrite—that's what he is. I could see by his face that the cod-liver oil was near killing him, but he said the syrup was all right, and if I didn't eat mine he'd break my neck; and by gosh I had to eat it, and pa he guessed he hadn't got much appetite and he would just drink a cup of coffee and eat a donut. I like to ride, and that I think makes this disappointment in love harder to bear. But I felt sorry for ma. Ma ain't got a very strong stummish, and when she got some of that cod-liver oil in her mouth she went up stairs, sickern a horse, and pa had to help her, and she had nooralgia all the morning. I eat pickles to take the taste out of my mouth, and then I laid for the hired girls. They eat too much syrup, anyway, and when they got on to that cod liver oil and swallowed a lot of it, one of them an nirish girl, she got up from the table and put her hand on her corset and said 'howly Moses!' and went out into the kitchen looking as pale as ma does when she has powder on her face, and the other girl, who is Dutch, she swallowed a pancake and said, 'Mine Gott, vas de matter from me,' and she went out and leaned on the coal bin. Then they talked Irish and Dutch, and got clubs and started to look for me, and I thought I would come over here.

The whole family is sick, but it is not from love, like my illness, and they will get over it, while I shall fill an early grave; but not till I have made that girl and the telegraph messenger wish they was dead. Pa and I are going to Chicago next week, and I'll bet we'll have some fun. Pa says I need a change of air, and I think he is going to try to lose me. It's a cold day when I get left anywhere that I can't find my way back. Well, good bye, old potatoes."—Peck's Sun.

A New Grain for the South.

The Rev. H. H. Pratt, of South Carolina, who was for some time a missionary to South America, has presented in the public a new cereal, which he calls millomaize. It is found in Columbia in large quantities, and forms the common food of the working classes there, and is also used for working animals. Mr. Pratt has been successfully growing it in South Carolina for several years.—The cakes made from it, ground into meal, are preferred to cornmeal bread. The Savannah Guano Company's chemist pronounces it superior in food qualities to wheat. Experiments show that from fifty to 100 bushels of clean seed per acre can be raised. Mr. Pratt describes the plant as follows: "The plant is allied to the sorghum and Guinea corn families, and should not be planted where there is any danger of mixing them. The grain is smaller and more mealy than the Guinea corn, the heads are larger and more compact, and the color is milk-white instead of red. It differs from the sorghum in this: that the sugar it contains is fully converted into corn when the grain matures—so that the pith of the green stalks becomes as dry and tasteless as that of Indian corn when the stalk is dead. In Barranquilla, on the coast, where we have a dry season (which is really a drouth) of five or six months continuance, I have had it planted in my garden, and after it had ripened one crop of seed I have cut it down to the roots, in the midst of this dry season, and had a second crop, of inferior quality of course, to shoot up at once from the roots. I have been told that a third crop of fully-ripened seed can thus be made from a single plant. I do not know what this can imply (for the soil at that season gets dry as potsherd and nearly as hard, unless it means that above most other plants this lives off the atmosphere which there certainly is densely charged with moisture from the sea. It was this unlimited capacity to stand drouth which induced me to bring the seed home, in the belief that it would be of incalculable service to our Southern States, where our crops so often fail from drouth.—Southern Lumberman.

At Last He Inferred.

It is related of a wealthy Philadelphian who has been dead these many years that a young man came to him one day and asked for help to start in business.

"Do you drink?" inquired the millionaire.

"Occasionally."

"Stop it! Stop it for a year and then come and see me."

The young man broke off the habit at once, and at the end of a year again presented himself.

"Do you smoke?" asked the great man.

"Yes, now and then."

"Stop it! Stop it for a year and then come and see me."

The young man went away and cut loose from the habit, and after worrying through another twelve months once more faced the philanthropist.

"Do you chew?"

"Yes."

"Stop it!" Stop it for a year and then come and see me."

But the young man never called again. When some one asked why the didn't make one more effort he replied: "Didn't I know what he was driving at? He'd have told me that as I stopped chewing, drinking and smoking I must have saved enough money to start myself."

To wash woolen goods nicely, to each pail of water used add one tablespoonful of ammonia and one of beef-gall; wash out quickly and rinse thoroughly in water with a very little beef-gall added.

GREAT BURLINGTON ROUTE.

CHICAGO BURLINGTON & QUINCY R.R.

PRINCIPAL LINE

THE SHORTEST, QUICKEST and BEST line to St. Joseph, Atchison, Topeka, Denison, Dallas, Galveston, And all points in Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri, Kansas, New Mexico, Arizona, Mexico and Texas.

AND OLD FAVORITE FROM

CHICAGO or PEORIA TO KANSAS CITY

This Route has no superior for Albert Lea, Minneapolis and St. Paul. Universally conceded to be the best equipped Railroad in the World for all classes of travel. Nationally reputed as being the Great Through Car Line

All connections made in Union Depots.

OMAHA, DENVER, LINCOLN, CALIFORNIA

Through Tickets via this Celebrated Line for sale at all offices in the U. S. and Canada.

Try it, and you will find traveling a luxury, instead of a discomfort.

All information about Rates of Fare, Sleeping Cars, etc., cheerfully given by

T. J. POTTER, 2d Vice Pres't & Gen'l Manager, Chicago, Ill.
PERCEVAL LOWELL, Gen. Pass. Agt., Chicago, Ill.

SAMARITAN NERVINE CURES AND NEVER FAILS.

is unfailing and infallible in curing Epileptic Fits, Spasms, Convulsions, St. Vitus Dance, Alcoholism, Opium Eating, Spermatorrhœa, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, Syphilis, Scrofula and all Nervous and Blood Diseases. To Clergymen, Lawyers, Literary Men, Merchants, Bankers, Ladies and all whose sedentary employment causes Nervous Prostration, Irregularities of the blood, stomach, bowels or Kidneys, or who require a nerve tonic, appetizer or stimulant, SAMARITAN NERVINE is invaluable. Thousands proclaim it the most wonderful invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system. For sale by all Druggists.

THE DR. S. A. RICHMOND MEDICAL CO., Sole Proprietors, St. Joseph, Mo.

Gray's Specific Medicine.

TRADE MARK. THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY. An unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhœa, Impotency, and all Diseases that follow as a sequence of Self-Abuse; as loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the Back, Dimness of Vision, Premature Old Age, and many other diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a Premature Grave. TRADE MARK.

BEFORE TAKING. AFTER TAKING.

☞ Full particulars in our pamphlet, which we desire to send free by mail to every one. ☞ The Specific Medicine is sold by all druggists at $1 per package, or six packages for $5, or will be sent free by mail on the receipt of the money, by addressing THE GRAY MEDICINE CO., Buffalo, N. Y.

On account of counterfeits, we have adopted the Yellow Wrapper, the only genuine. Guarantees of cure issued by FARRAND WILLIAMS & CO., Wholesale Agents, Detroit.

PATENTS

F. A. LEHMANN, Solicitor of Patents, Washington, D.C. ☞ Send for Circular.

PATENTS PROCURED or NO PAY! Also—Trade Marks, etc. Send model and sketch, will examine and report if patentable. Many years Pamphlet free. N. W. FITZGERALD &CO., Attorneys, Washington, D. C.

AN OLD FRIEND

When you took the American Agriculturist you thought it just splendid. It is now more valuable to you than ever, being specially adapted for the West. Send stamp for specimen copy and see how wonderfully the paper has improved. ☞ Price, $1.50 a year. English or German edition. ORANGE JUDD CO., 751 Broadway, New York

FOR SALE OR RENT.

A good house and lot in a good location. Enquire of J. E. Hall or at the HERALD OFFICE

PATENTS

We continue to act as Solicitors for Patents, Caveats, Trade Marks, Copyrights, etc., for the United States, Canada, Cuba, England, France, Germany, etc. We have had thirty-five years' experience.

Patents obtained through us are noticed in the Scientific American. This large and splendid illustrated weekly paper, $3.20 a year, shows the Progress of Science, is very interesting, and has an enormous circulation. Address MUNN & CO., Patent Solicitors, Pub's. of SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN, 37 Park Row, New York. Hand book about Patents free.

ONLY $20

for this style of PHILADELPHIA SINGER. Equal to any Singer in the market. Remember, we send it to be examined before you pay for it. This is the same style other companies retail for $50. All Machines warranted for 3 years. Send for Illustrated Circular and Testimonials. Address CHARLES A. WOOD & CO., 11 N. Tenth St., Philadelphia, Pa.

FOR SALE.

A good house and lot within five minutes walk of the post office, for sale at a bargain. Reasons for selling, business out of town. For full particulars and terms enquire at the HERALD OFFICE.

PISO'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION. CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. 25 CTS.

KANSAS FARMS.

Choice improved farms for sale in Southeastern Kansas. A rare chance for some one who wishes to buy a home cheap. For situation, location terms, price, etc., call at the HERALD OFFICE.

AGENTS Wanted for handsome illustrated standard works of character; great variety; low in price; selling fast; needed everywhere; Liberal terms. Wm. Garrettson & Co., Odd Fellows Block, Columbus, O.

Books & Bibles

WHAT WILL THE WEATHER BE TO-MORROW?

Pool's Signal Service Barometer

OR STORM GLASS AND THERMOMETER COMBINED, WILL TELL YOU!

It will detect and indicate correctly any change in the weather 12 to 48 hours in advance. It will tell what kind of storm is approaching, and from what direction—invaluable to navigators. Farmers can plan their work according to its predictions. Saves 50 times its cost in a single season. Has an accurate thermometer attached, which alone is worth the price of the combination. The great WEATHER INDICATOR is endorsed by the most eminent Physicians, Professors and Scientific men of the day to be the BEST IN THE WORLD! The Thermometer and Barometer are put in a nicely finished walnut frame, with silver plated trimmings, etc., making it a beautiful as well as useful ornament. We will send you a sample one, delivered free, to your place, in good order, on receipt of $1, or six for $4. Agents are making from $10 to $20 daily selling them. A trial will convince you. Order at once. It sells at SIGHT. Just the thing to sell to farmers, merchants, etc. Invaluable to everybody. U. S. Postage Stamps taken if in good order, but money preferred. Agents wanted everywhere. Send for Circular and terms. Address all orders to OSWEGO THERMOMETER WORKS, (Largest establishment of the kind in the world) Oswego, Oswego Co., N. Y. We refer to the Mayor, Postmaster, County Clerk, First and Second National Banks, or any business house in Oswego, N. Y.

Write your Post Office, County and State plainly, and remit by money order, draft on New York or registered letter, at our risk.

This will make a Beautiful and Very Useful Present.

READ WHAT THE PUBLIC SAY ABOUT IT.

I find Pool's Barometer works as well as one that costs $50. You can rely on it every time. CAPT. OTTAR B. ROBERS, Ship "Twilight," San Francisco.

Barometer received in good order, and must say that the instrument gives perfect satisfaction in every respect. It is neatly made and wonderfully cheap at two dollars. GEO. R. PARSONS, M. C. R. R., Office, Detroit, Mich.

Pool's Barometer has already saved me many times its cost, in foretelling the weather. It is a wonderful curiosity and works to perfection. F. J. RYAN, Grocer, Milwaukee, Wis.

BEWARE OF WORTHLESS IMITATIONS. None genuine without our Trade Mark, and signature of J. A. Pool on the back of instrument, as below:

J. A. Pool TRADE MARK.

Every instrument warranted Perfect and Reliable. Size 9-12 inches long 3 1-4 wide. If not satisfied on receiving the instrument, return it at once and we will refund your money. Please state where you saw our advertisement.

D. W. CLARK,

GENERAL DEALER IN

Groceries & Provisions,

Confectionery, Etc.

A full line of Choice GREEN & JAPAN TEAS always on hand and sold at the lowest possible figure.

GOODS DELIVERED FREE WITHIN THE CORPORATION

Richard's Block, North Side Chicago Street,

Tecumseh, Michigan.

I. C. WOLCOTT, JOHN S. TEMPLE, S. McCLURE.

WOLCOTT, TEMPLE & CO.,

Wholesale and Retail Dealers in

LUMBER, LATH, SHINGLES, SASH & DOORS

AND ALL KINDS OF BUILDING MATERIAL.

Planing, Sawing, Matching to Order.

Mill and Yard North of Railroad Depot,

TECUMSEH, - MICHIGAN.

JAMES LOWRY,

GENERAL DEALER IN

Groceries and Provisions

CROCKERY & GLASS WARE.

Agent for Model Clothes Wringer.

Highest Cash Price Paid for Butter, Eggs, Lard, &c.

THE BEST AND CHEAPEST TEAS IN TOWN.

No. 3, Merchants' Block, TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

S. W. TEMPLE.

Wholesale and Retail Dealer in

Lumber, Lath, Shingles

And all kinds of

BUILDING MATERIAL.

SASH, DOORS AND BLINDS, COAL AND LIME.

Mill and Yards near Depot. TECUMSEH, MI.

THREE BIG OFFERS

Tecumseh Herald and Detroit Weekly Free Press for $2.25
" " " " " Post & Tribune, 2.25
" " " Michigan Farmer, 2.60

All other papers at reduced rates. Call at

THE HERALD OFFICE

Before ordering your papers for 1883.

WEEKLY TIMES.

Eight large pages—56 columns—and Only Cost One Dollar a Year, and the choice of a beautiful picture or useful Book to every subscriber. The oldest, brightest, largest, cheapest, and best weekly paper published. It is more generally taken in the country over because it is the best, and it is made the best because it has the largest circulation, and therefore the income to justify the necessary outlay. It is the easiest paper to get subscribers for, and our terms to agents are of extraordinary liberality. We want Agents. Specimen copy free. Address THE WEEKLY TIMES, 59 Walnut St., Cincinnati, O.

THE CINCINNATI TIMES-STAR

Is the best and cheapest daily paper published in the West. Eight pages—48 columns—and only six dollars a year, or 17 cents a week. The Daily Times-Star is the only eight page paper in the country published at this price. It is independent in politics, but aims to be fair in everything, and just to all parties, individuals, sections, and nationalities. If you want all the news attractively and honestly presented subscribe for it. The largest circulation of any paper published in Cincinnati. The postmaster will receive your subscription if there is no agent in your place.

Rupture

Its Relief and Cure as certain as day follows day, by Dr. J. A. Sherman's Method. With safety from the dangers of strangulation and without the injury trusses inflict. Those wishing proof should send 10 cents for his book, containing likenesses of bad cases before and after cure, also endorsements of professional gentlemen, Ministers, Merchants, Farmers, and others who have been cured. Trusses and Rupture sooner or later affect the nervous and mental system, bring on organic diseases, impotency, destroy energy and social desires, making the young old and the old useless. Principal office 251 Broadway, New York. For the convenience of Western patients, Dr. Sherman will be at his office, cor. 4th and Market streets, St. Louis, Mo., from November 1st to December 20th.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

Issued Every Thursday Evening.

BY STACY BROTHERS.

Office in the New HERALD BUILDING, One Door East of the Opera House, Tecumseh, Mich.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

One year, Cash in Advance, ... $1.50
Six Months, " 75
Four Months, " 50

Twenty-five cents will be added to the subscription price for every three months that payment may be delayed.

ADVERTISING RATES:

Business Locals, 8 cents per line for each insertion.

Special notices, 10 cents a line for each insertion.

Marriages, Births, and Death Notices free.

Rates on General Advertising, or term contracts, made known at the Counting Room.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Correspondents' names are invariably required, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Anonymous communications will be rejected.

ENTERED AT THE POST OFFICE AT TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, AS SECOND CLASS MATTER.

TECUMSEH, MICH., DEC. 28, 1882.

The Senatorial question is waxing warmer every day. As the contest stands now, it seems to be Ferry against the field.

The Monroe Commercial and Blissfield Advance boom for Willetts for the U. S. Senate. The Republicans could certainly go further and fare much worse.

Christmas was a merry day this year in all parts of the country. Business was universally suspended, and people gave themselves up to the pleasures of a holiday.

It is rumored that A. P. Swineford, of Marquette, will be appointed Commissioner of Mineral Statistics. "Cinders" would make a good one. We believe that there is no man better posted on the mineral resources of the upper peninsula than A. P. Swineford.

If it is true that Gen. Butler has discovered, in collecting statistics for his coming message that sixty-five per cent. of the money appropriated to the Massachusetts charitable institutions goes to pay salaries of officers, there will be a rattling of dry bones in the message, and no mistake.

The movements of Governor Cleveland indicate that he desires to follow in the footsteps of ex-Gov. Tilden. It is given out that his mind is set upon economy and reform in State affairs, and all other questions of policy are matters of secondary importance. From the Tammany point of view the situation is solemn.

Senator David Davis is likely again to find his position "on the fence" advantageous to him, if he seeks reelection. The Republican aspirants for the Senatorship in Illinois are cutting one another's throats, and the prospect is fair for the Independent party to go in as a compromise candidate.

Mark Twain failed to answer a letter written to him by Sergeant Ballentine. After waiting a reasonable time the latter was so exasperated at not receiving an answer that he mailed Twain a sheet of paper and a postage stamp as a gentle reminder. Mr. Clements wrote back on a postal: "Paper and stamp received; please send an envelope."

General Sherman said to an interviewer in New York the other day: "I am as tough as a pine knot. I have ten years of active life before me. I shall live in St. Louis most of the time. The Rocky Mountains will be my camp—up there about Helena, Montana, where it is high and lovely. I can drop down to Florida in the spring, or to Texas."

Ex-Governor Ashley, who was in New York recently, thinks that Ohio should have less to do with politics and more with business. He added: "There is no reason why it should not become a center of internal trade and commerce, instead of being known—and somewhat unjustly, too—as good only for furnishing Presidents of the United States."

Hillsdale has been enjoying the luxury of a five-dollar lawsuit. The Standard, in summing up the aggregate expense of this legal set-to, gives these figures: The trial was commenced Thursday morning and continued to late Saturday night, holding two evening sessions during the time. The expense to the county of this $5.00 lawsuit may be thus summed up: Twenty-four jurymen three days, $144; other court expenses to the county, $20 per day, $60; county expenses, $204. The plaintiff's and defendant's are too numerous to enumerate. Each party employed two lawyers; one summoned twenty-two witnesses and the other twenty-five, who were kept in attendance of the court during the trial. The jury returned a verdict about 11 o'clock Saturday night, of $5.00 damages for complainant, throwing judgment and costs of suits on defendant. "Grit" goes farther than common sense sometimes—especially in a quarrel. The total cost of this, in our judgment, foolish and unnecessary lawsuit, is said to be not less than $600, at least one-third of which is for the tax-payers of the county to pay.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

An incet distillery, capable of running twenty barrels per day, was seized in Harlem, New York, Saturday.

A policeman in San Francisco, named Joseph Lanktree, stole $5,000 worth of silks from a Central Pacific car.

During the five months ended Nov. 30, 244,611 immigrants landed in the United States.

Mr. J. Saurin Morris, President of the First National Bank of Baltimore, died Friday in his 70th year.

Illinois has 10,463 miles of railway track, leading all the states. Four roads are in the hands of receivers.

Telephonic communication has been successfully established between Omaha and Lincoln, Nebraska.

It is believed that the cotton crop will be fully seven million bales, and labor is so scarce along the Mississippi that much of the staple will be wasted.

An insurance company in New York is to place on the site of the old postoffice a building eleven stories high, to cost $1,500,000.

George R. Sims, of Chicago, convicted of pension frauds, has been sentenced by Judge Blodgett to five years in the Chester Penitentiary.

No less than 2,500 persons in Carrick Ireland, are reported to be in danger of starvation, Indian meal being the only food.

Mr. Vanderbilt has ordered quarterly dividends of 2 per cent on the Michigan Central and Lake Shore roads, payable February 1.

The grand jury in New York called the attention of the court to the accumulation of dirt in the streets with a suggestion that it be removed.

A telegraph operator in Montreal named W. C. Anderson, is to receive $750,000 by the will of an uncle in Scotland.

A force of mounted infantry has marched from Petermaritzburg for Zululand, to start Cetewayo on a new career as an African boss.

Red Cloud and an interpreter have arrived in Washington, but the chieftain declines to give himself away to the interviewers.

A blaze at St. Petersburg destroyed several iron-work establishments on the Neva and three steamers on the stocks.

The prince of Wales telegraphed to Paris to learn the real condition of Gambetta, and was answered that the latter's wound had thoroughly healed.

The Russian minister of foreign affairs thinks the removal of the bodies of De Long and his men impracticable at this season of the year.

J. H. Watkins, one of the proprietors of a flouring-mill at Toledo, has been convicted of burning it to obtain insurance of $19,000.

A rubber company at Trenton, New Jersey, has made for a western grain elevator a belt 692 feet long, a yard wide, and weighing three tons.

An earthquake shock so severe as to extinguish gaslights and send people flying into the streets was felt Tuesday evening at Concord, New Hampshire.

In the legislative bribery cases in Ohio Representative Wright was acquitted, and a nolle prosequi was entered as to Representative Block.

The Denver and Rio Grande road has pushed its Utah extension to the western line of Colorado, and expects to reach Salt Lake by February 15.

Imprisonment for six months is the penalty prescribed at Richmond for two medical students and their colored assistants caught robbing a grave.

James A. Wilson, treasurer of De Witt county, Illinois, who was wealthy and popular, committed suicide by hanging.

General Curtis, of New York, paid a fine of $1,000 for collecting political assessments, and was discharged from custody.

In the United States court at Omaha, F. E. Clary, formerly postmaster at Sidney, was convicted of making false returns as to the arrival of mails, and fined $300.

Governor Porter, of Indiana, has called a special election for January 9 in the Ninth congressional district, to choose a successor to Hon. Godlove S. Orth.

The people of Rosita, Colorado, have armed themselves to prevent the removal of the county seat to Silver Cliff, and bloodshed is expected at an early date.

Two bold thieves walked around among the Christmas shoppers in a fur store in Cincinnati, and stole four sealskin sacques, which they carried away in a valise.

A fire in a postal-car near Schenectady destroyed three pouches of letters from New York for Chicago, and much of the European mail from three steamers.

General Chalmers made his appearance at Oxford, Mississippi, as an assistant United States attorney retained by the government to aid in prosecuting offenses against the election laws.

A Dayton dispatch chronicles the death of Rear Admiral James F. Schenck retired, who entered the naval service in 1821 as a midshipman on the Hornet.

A forger secured $1,180 at the First National bank of Detroit on a broker's check which is believed to have been photo-lithographed and then filled in by an expert of high rank.

A train carrying three hundred excursionists was ditched Friday at Mount Vernon, Ohio, by an open switch, resulting in serious bruises to several travelers.

Andy Wilson sold his farm of 5,65 acres at Kingsville, Shawnee County Kan., for $150,000, and will remove his stock, valued at $100,000, to New Mexico.

Last week's business failures for the United States numbered 236, an increase of six over the week ended Dec. 15, and ninety-one more than in the corresponding period in 1881.

Mrs. Ellen Duncan, of Palmer Mass, was convicted of emasculating her little stepson, aged 6 years. It is believed the outrage will shatter the boy's reason for a time.

Pupils of the public schools in Newark, New Jersey, were requested to bring one potato each for the Home of the Friendless, the plan resulting in the contribution of a small wagon-load.

The police of Brooklyn found in a tenement-house a pair of twins, 5 years old, naked and starving. The drunken parents will be prosecuted for endangering the lives of the little ones.

The execution of Overdank, the Austrian assassin, has called out violent demonstrations by students in Italian cities, some of whom are liable to be sent where the climate is not so agreeable.

C. S. Sackett, the Cleveland broker who recently suspended payment, is in a residence in Lake street in that city but keeps himself secluded from the public. He states that he is awaiting remittances to settle every obligation.

A hat house in New York which employs the labor in the Massachusetts penitentiary on contract has just discovered that for a long time it has been systematically robbed by collusion between convicts and junk-dealers.

Two weeks ago the Northern Pacific road sold a tract of land adjoining Bismarck for $50,000. The purchaser platted it, and sold $75,000 worth of lots from it Monday in less than two hours.

Henry James, Sr., the philosopher and metaphysician, an associate of Greeley, Emerson, and Thoreau on this side of the Atlantic, and of Carlyle Mill, and Tennyson on the other, died in Boston Tuesday.

George Gareis, a German tramp, killed Thomas Connelly last month at Blissfield, Michigan. The authorities are now satisfied that the murderer has been insane for years, and was shipped from Europe by his relatives.

James Bennett, an old and enterprising citizen of Manitowoc, Wisconsin committed suicide by shooting himself through the mouth with a shot-gun He was recently stricken with paralysis, and had become melancholy.

F. L. Jones was hanged Friday for murder at Louisville, Miss. Before his execution he asked the use of his liberty and two good pistols for about an hour, and then he would cheerfully meet death.

An attempt was made Wednesday night to rob a Texas Pacific westbound train, 600 miles west of Dallas, but the desperadoes were beaten off by a guard of State Rangers, who wounded some of the robbers.

The Association of American Economists was organized at Washington Thursday evening, having for its objects the gathering of business and industrial statistics and the dissemination of economic knowledge.

The United States steamer Bassier has arrived at San Francisco after a seven months' survey of the Alaskan coast. They discovered many excellent harbors, and speak highly of timber resources.

A murderer who has been in the Michigan state prison for sixteen years piled the contents of his cell against the door, poured over them the oil in his lamp, and applied a match. As he was naked, it took but a few moments to literally bake him.

Residents of Leadville will at once commence suits in the United States court to test the validity of the four placer patent claims on which the city is situated, on account of a recent decision ejecting squatters from their homes on the patented ground.

The Ways and Means Committee fixed the following rates: Brown acetate of lead, 4 cents per pound; white acetate of lead, 6 cents; white lead, when dry or in bulk, 3 cents; litharge, 3 cents; orange and mineral red lead, 3½ cents; lead in sheets, pipe, or shot, 2½ cents.

The United States supreme court, in denying a writ of habeas corpus to General N. M. Curtis, holds that the law prohibiting the assessment of government employes by federal officers, for political purposes, is clearly constitutional.

Flames ate up a cotton factory at Brownsville, Tennessee, valued at $75,000; paper box and hardware factories at Birmingham, Connecticut, worth $100,000; Spaulding's mills at Black River Falls, Wisconsin, and threadworks at East Hampton, Massachusetts.

William G. Russell was brought into a court-room in Brooklyn Saturday, to face three wives and three other women to whom he was engaged. As his second wife walked toward the witness stand the accused sprang to his feet and pleaded guilty.

The surprising statement comes from Washington that Guatemala is about to ask admission as one of the United States, and that President Barrios visited Washington to ascertain the feelings of the administration and of the opposition leaders.

A Resolution in the Spanish chamber of deputies to appoint a committee to congratulate the king on the birth of the princess and the adhesion of the democrats to his person caused a heated debate, and an altercation between two members.

The grand jury at Louisville returned indictments for fraud against David Ferguson, back-tax collector; Philip Hinkle, city auditor, and George W Levi, assistant chief of the fire department, and they were held to answer. They will be impeached by the council.

The heirs of Benjamin S. Rotch, of Milton, Massachusetts, who had figured upon receiving $200,000, have been agreeably surprised by the discovery that the estate inventories over $3,000,000, of which $46,000 is in Chicago real estate.

Lewis Thompson, a mulatto, 81 years of age, the first man ever committed to Sing Sing prison, has been sent back for six months for stealing a door-met in New York. Over forty years of his life have been passed behind grated windows.

Judge Smith, of the superior court of Chicago, refused the Western Indiana road an injunction to restrain the opening of Dearborn street, deciding that the law gives power to extend streets over any railroad lands within the corporate limits.

Mr. George C. Miln and Landlord Sink, of the Hotel Holland, at Rockford, Ill., had a heated dispute Thursday afternoon, the tragedian being ordered to quit the hostelry. The property of the Miln-Burleigh Company was attached for $200 by a Chicago attorney.

Louis Strov, a powerful young butcher of Indianapolis, was assaulted on the street with brass knuckles, and almost instantly blinded. He got the robber's fingers in his teeth, but released it on promise of being let alone. Then he was pounded until unconscious, and stripped of $74 in cash and some rings purchased for Christmas presents.

In the circuit court of Chicago, before Judge Gary, an unmarried servant girl, named Honora McCarthy, was awarded $7,000 damages against Dr. Robert Hunter for a criminal assault while under treatment at his office. Neither the defendant nor his counsel was present, and the jury heard only the testimony of the plaintiff.

A suit for divorce has been entered at Richmond, Virginia, by Mrs. Henrietta Pigeon, who was married in London in 1864. This was the former name of Mrs. Labouchere, and, as she recently spent two days in Richmond, it is believed that the action was brought in her behalf by her next friend.

THE next session of the Circuit Court convenes at Adrian Jan. 16th.

The New York World.

A Live Daily Newspaper for the People.

ALL THE NEWS, 2 CENTS.

The Only 8-Page Newspaper in the United States Sold at 2 Cents.

NEW PRESSES, NEW TYPE, NEW BUILDINGS, NEW APPLIANCES, AND NEW LIFE IN EVERY DEPARTMENT.

THE WORLD contains the fullest and freshest Local and Foreign News, and is a recognized authority in Masonic, Military, Sporting and Society matters. Special attention is called to the Masonic and Military items in the SUNDAY WORLD.

THE NEW YORK WORLD has no superior on either side of the water as a Live, Brilliant, Perfectly Appointed, Progressive Newspaper.

TERMS—POSTAGE PAID.

DAILY AND SUNDAYS:

One year $7.70
Six months 3.85
Three months 1.95
One month ..... .65

DAILY, WITHOUT SUNDAYS:

One year $6.50
Six months $3.25
Three months 1.65
Less than 3 months, per month ..... .55

NEW YORK SUNDAY WORLD:

One year $1.20

Each subscriber who sends $7.70 for one year's subscription to the Daily and Sunday World may select one of a large list of popular books. These books are 12mo volumes, printed uniformly in large, clear type, from new electrotype plates, and are very beautifully bound in cloth, with illuminated covers in black and gold. They retail at $1 a volume. List furnished on application.

Getters-up of Clubs will receive 10 per cent. commission on subscriptions to the Daily World, and can also give their customers their choice on these premiums.

THE NEW YORK WEEKLY WORLD.

A Large 8-Page 48-Column Newspaper.

One Whole Year for Only $1, Postage Paid. Six Months for 50 Cents.

The $1 also entitles each individual subscriber to a choice of a large list of popular books, all printed in large, clear type and neatly bound, in addition to the Weekly World for a year. List furnished on application; or containing 30 pages of choice instrumental and vocal music, which, if retailed singly, would aggregate over $2.

The World Musical Album,

The Weekly World is a complete Family Paper. Free Masons should read its special Masonic Department, with contributions from the pens of distinguished Masons. The Weekly World is the only leading newspaper in the country that has a special department devoted to Masonic interests.

The Weekly World also Contains:

All the news, Complete and Interesting. A full page of Agricultural and Farm News. A full page of Long and Short Stories, Comic Ballads and Serious Poems, Fairy Tales and Sailors' Yarns. What every Housewife Wants to Know. The Veterinary Department—With Prescriptions Free for All Subscribers and Full Instructions for the treatment of Live Stock. The best Chess and Checker Column in the world for Amateur Players. Riddles, Charades, Puzzles, Enigmas, Acrostics, &c., for the young folks, and Answers to Inquiries. Complete Market Reports—Unrivalled in Detail and Accuracy.

Each Department is perfect of its kind, and all Combined make the Best Weekly Newspaper ever published.

THE N. Y. SEMI-WEEKLY WORLD.

Published Every Tuesday and Friday,

SAME SIZE AS THE WEEKLY WORLD, ONLY $2 A YEAR.

THE SEMI-WEEKLY WORLD is published for those who do not care to take a daily newspaper, and who want to read the news oftener than once a week.

The Agricultural, Financial, Masonic and General News in the Semi-Weekly World is Unexcelled.

Subscribers to the Semi-Weekly World for one year are entitled to a choice of a large list of popular books, all printed in large, clear type and neatly bound. List furnished on application; or

The World Musical Album.

Subscribers to THE SUNDAY WORLD are entitled to the same premiums as those of THE SEMI-WEEKLY WORLD.

Unparalleled Offers to Club Agents

Any one may become a Club Agent.

The largest commissions ever paid and handsome premiums in addition.

The World will give to the person sending in the largest number of subscriptions to the Weekly World, up to May 1, 1883,

A HANDSOME ORGAN,

with ORGAN BENCH and MUSIC BOOK, worth $125. This is a magnificent instrument. It is elegantly cased in black walnut and has twenty-seven stops and ten full sets Golden Tongue Reeds. It can be seen at any time in The World Publication Office.

No person can compete for this organ who sends in less than 500 subscriptions to the Weekly or Semi-Weekly World up to May 1, 1883.

The World will give a

Two-Horse Plough, a Hilling Cultivator, and a One-Horse Plough

to the person sending in the second, third and fourth largest number of subscriptions to the Weekly or Semi-Weekly World up to May 1, 1883.

These premiums are all in addition to the large cash commissions paid by The World.

In competing for the cash commissions and premiums, a subscription to The Semi-Weekly World will be considered as equivalent to two subscriptions to The Weekly World.

THE WORLD takes this occasion to publicly thank all the kind friends who so promptly furnished it with names and information recently, and it begs them to consider themselves Club Agents for The World, and to remember that the Premium offers and handsome Cash Commissions apply to them as well as to other agents.

☞ Secretaries of Masonic Lodges will see the advantage of getting up clubs.

Sample copies free.

Address, THE NEW YORK WORLD, N. Y.

INVESTORS

Desiring First-class DIVIDEND Paying Stocks or Bonds yielding TEN PER CENT. Per annum, and over,

Well Secured,

may obtain full particulars, with satisfactory references and testimonials, by addressing

H. BLAISDELL, Financial Agent,
48 Congress St., Boston, Mass.

Mention this paper.

THE MILLER BROS. CUTLERY CO.

MERIDEN, CONN.

STANDARD POCKET CUTLERY,

Ladies' Scissors and Ink Erasers.

Make all styles of

STEEL PENS.

We show cut of Patent Adjustable Quill Action Reservoir Pen, "The Acme," and will mail sample gross on receipt of $2.

☞ Our whole line of Pens will be sold by the trade.
☞ Price List furnished to dealers on application.

NOW

IS THE TIME TO BUY.

KIES BROTHERS!

MAMMOTH STOCK

OF WINTER

CLOTHING,

Must be sold by JANUARY 1st.

NOW FOR BARGAINS.

Now is the time to Clothe your Boys.

Remember that our Stock of
FURNISHING GOODS,
HATS AND CAPS
Can not be Beat.

KIES BROS.,
ONE PRICE CLOTHIERS,
Mills Block, TECUMSEH, MICH.

LEE'S

ONLY TEN MORE DAYS!

To Secure the Benefit of the Great

20 PER CENT. OFF

SALE OF

BOOTS & SHOES

AT LEE'S.

STORE TO RENT.

Terms STRICTLY CASH. All goods marked in plain figures.

REMEMBER THE PLACE!!

HEWITT'S BLOCK.

MAKE HENS LAY An English Veterinary surgeon and Chemist, now traveling in this country, says that most of the Horse and Cattle Powders sold here are worthless trash. He says that Sheridan's Condition Powders are absolutely pure and immensely valuable. Nothing on earth will make hens lay like Sheridan's Condition Powders. Dose, 1 teaspoonful to 1 pint food. Sold everywhere, or sent by mail for 8 letter-stamps. I. S. JOHNSON & Co., Boston, Mass.

HOLIDAY SUPPLEMENT.

VOL. XXXIII.—NO 31 TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 28, 1882. WHOLE NO. 1671

C. A. KEIL.

HOLIDAY GOODS!

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION,

Watches, Silverware, Jewelry, Diamonds.

Christmas Cards.

Birthday Cards.

'T BOOKS,

, Poems, Miscellaneous Books,

CY GOODS!

Stationery, Vases, Fancy Boxes, Toilet Sets, Picture Books,

TOYS

FOR OLD AND YOUNG.

C. A. KEIL.

Marriage.

Men and women, says Theodore Parker, and especially young people, do not know that it takes years to marry completely two hearts, even of the most loving and well-sorted. But nature allows no sudden change. We slope very gradually from the cradle to the summit of life. Marriage is gradual, a fraction of us at a time.

A happy wedlock is a long falling in love. I know young persons think love belongs only to brown hair and plump, round crimson cheeks. So it does for its beginning, just as Mount Washington begins at Boston Bay. But the golden marriage is a part of love which the bridal day knows nothing of.

Youth is the tassel and silken flower of love, age is the full corn, ripe and solid in the ear. Beautiful is the morning of love with its prophetic crimson, violet, purple and gold, with its hopes of days that are to come. Beautiful also is the evening of love, with its glad remembrances, and its rainbow side turned toward heaven as well as earth.

Young people marry their opposites in temper and general character, and such a marriage is generally a good one. They do it instinctively. The young man does not say, "My black eyes required to be wed to blue, and my over-vehemence requires to be a little modified with somewhat of lullness and reserve." When these opposites come together to be wed, they do not know it, but each thinks the other just like himself.

Old people never marry their opposites, they marry their similars and from calculation. Each of these two arrangements is very proper. In their long journey these opposites will fall out of the way a great many times, and both will charm the other back again, and by and by they will be agreed as to the place they will go to, and the road they will go by and become reconciled. The man will be nobler and larger for being associated with so much humanity unlike himself, and she will be a nobler woman for having manhood beside her, that seeks to correct her deficiencies and supply her with what she lacks, if the diversity be not too great, and there be real piety and love in their hearts to begin with.

The old bridegroom, having a much shorter journey to make, must associate himself with one like himself. A perfect and complete marriage is, perhaps, as perfect personal beauty. Men and women are married fractionally—now a small fraction, then a large fraction.

Very few are married totally, and they only, I think, after some forty or fifty years of gradual approach and excitement. Such a large and sweet fruit is a complete marriage that it needs a winter to mellow and season. But a real happy marriage of love and judgment between a man and woman is one of the things so very handsome that if the sun were, as the Greek poets fabled, a God, he might stop the world in order to feast his eyes with such a spectacle.

The Lime-Kiln Club.

Upon the opening of the meeting the President announced the following new theories for the winter season:

1. The sun is not over fifty miles distant from the earth, and not over 49 in a bee line from Detroit.
2. Man and the monkey tribe have nothing in common, or didn't have until monkeys began wearing overcoats decorated with seal-skin.
3. This nation will never be considered cultivated until some American pays $150,000 for a small canvas daub by one of the old masters.
4. In case a city refuses to raise a fund to support beggars the said beggars may possibly seek for work to support themselves.
5. The moon has as much influence on iron pots and kettles as upon vegetation.

These theories will be turned over and over in the minds of the members of the club until done on all sides, and will then be debated in the library. If they are not sufficient to last through until spring, others will be advanced and put to bake.

A Revised Edition Would Have Suited.

A correspondent writes from Cincinnati: "Twenty-seven years ago I was traveling in Indiana. A rain caused me to seek shelter in a cabin owned by one Redman. There was a little crowd collected there and they were talking about the prisoners, Driscoll, Stocking and Rice, then under sentence of death at Lafayette, Indiana, and the probability of their being hung. Sympathy had been aroused by the prisoners' professions of religion and a petition praying for a reprieve had been receiving a good many signatures. Some would not sign it. Redman was in faver of capital punishment and said 'better let 'em be hanged while the religion was in 'em.' In explaining his views he tried to quote a passage from the Bible. He could not do it off-hand and the good book was evidently mislaid, but after a deal of of trouble he found the Bible in an outshed, from which he brought it in all green with mold. At sight of the old Bible Mrs. Redman exclaimed: 'Goodness alive, don't bring that old Bible here! We got that when we was first married in West Virginny. It's clean out of date.'"

Kate Field says the journalist "quietly accepts oblivion." We have known him to most enthusiastically seek for it when a citizen entered the sanctum with a club and announced his intention of pulverizing the entire staff. Just at the time when the journalist would accept it most gladly and quietly oblivion is the hardest to find.

"Blood will tell;" so be careful how you make confidants of your relations.

DIARIES! DIARIES!

Christmas Cards,

FANCY GOODS

And Confectionary for the

HOLIDAYS!

AT

A. E. Kennedy's.

Post Office Building.

Clothing! Clothing! Clothing!

At Closing Prices.

Strong & McNair

Have the most complete assortment in every department the market affords. In OVERCOATS we can discount all competition.

In Mens' Suits,

Boy's Suits,

Children's Suits,

Underwear, Hats and Caps, our stock is immense, and we are making such prices as must sell them before January 10th.

Buyers who would save money we invite to give us a look.

HOLIDAY GOODS!

Henry McClure

Has now on hand the largest and best selected stock of Holiday Goods ever brought to this market, And will be sold away down below any competition. Don't fail to call and examine before you buy, and save money.

H. McCLURE.

Santa Claus 'dot' 'em,

At Hough & Hosmer's.

Matrimonial Stories.

At a recent fashionable wedding, after the departure of the happy pair, a dear little girl, whose papa and mamma were among the guests, asked, with a child's innocent inquisitiveness: "Why do they throw things at the pretty lady in the carriage?" "For luck, dear," replied one of the bridesmaids. "And why," again asked the child, "doesn't she throw them back?" "Oh," said the young lady, "that would be rude." "No, it wouldn't," persisted the dear little thing, to the delight of her doting parents who stood by; "ma does."

"Do you pretend to have as good a judgment as I have?" said an enraged wife to her husband. "Well, no," he replied deliberatively; "our choice of partners for life shows that my judgment is not to be compared with yours." In matters of controversy, however, the woman usually has the best of it. A witty old author advises men to avoid arguments with ladies, because, in spinning yarns among silks and satins, a man is sure to be worsted and twisted; and when a man is worsted and twisted, he may consider himself wound up. The above retort might be matched by a dozen others culled from domestic controversy, in which the woman has come off triumphant. "Really, my dear," said a friend of ours to his better half, "you have sadly disappointed me. I once considered you a jewel of a woman, but you've turned out only a bit of matrimonial paste." "Then, my love," was the reply, "console yourself with the idea that paste is very adhesive, and in this case will stick to you as long as you live."

"See here," said a fault-finding husband, "we must have things arranged in this house so that we sh ll know where everything is kept." "With all my heart," sweetly answered his wife, "and let us begin with your late hours, my love. I should dearly love to know where they are kept." He let things run on as usual. It is not often, however, that one runs acr ss such a crushing retort as that which a Sheffield husband received from his wife the other day, through the medium of the public press. He advertised in one of the local journals that he, Thomas A———, would no longer be answerable for the debts incurred by his wife, who seems to have been a truly amiable creature, if one may judge from the advertisement which she published next day in reply: "This is to notify that I, Elizabeth A———, am able to pay all my own debts now that i have got shut of Tommy."

Some husbands would be obliged to confess, if they told the plain, unvarnished truth, that when they led their wives to the altar their leadership came to an end. "Your future husband seems very exacting; he has been stipulating for all sorts of things," said a mother to her daughter, who was on the point of being married. "Never mind, mamma," said the affectionate girl, who was already dressed for the wedding, "these are his last wishes." This is a complete reversal of the rule laid down by the old couplet:

Man, love thy wife; thy husband, wife, obey;
Wives all our heart; we should be head alway.

In many instances, the state of the case is rather something like the following. "If I'm not home from the party to-night at 10 o'clock," says the husband to his better and bigger half; "don't wait for me." "That I won't," replies the lady, significantly; "I won't wait, but I'll come for you." He is home at 10 o'clock precisely.

Tame Sheep.

One of the prime secrets of success in sheep breeding is to have quiet, tame animals. This is true in all branches of breeding, and no truer of any than in sheep breeding. A wild flock of sheep will not be as profitable as a tame flock of the same natural quality. In order to have the sheep tame they should always be treated in the kindest manner, and considerably petted when that is practical. If a flockmaster begins early with the lambs, handling them often, and be particularly careful never to scare them, he will stand a pretty good chance of having a tame flock; but it is scarcely necessary to say that he must see to it that they are not harassed by anybody or anything. If there is a dog on the premises, keep him from interfering with the sheep, if you have to kill him. The flock is worth much more than the dog. Hired help must be taught to go among the sheep gently.—Give them good care, kind treatment, and protect them from annoyances of the character we have named, and the result will be a tame and quiet flock, if it has any natural merit in it.

In a cave at the summit of a high bluff near Gridley, Cal., a colony of bees had been secreting honey for fifteen years. The only access to their treasure was an almost perpendicular wall of rock, and the difficulty of securing it had always been a sufficient protection until about a month ago, when a party of invaders determined upon an assault. They reached the cave, and, after a three-hours battle with the bees, came off victorious, though they all felt that another such victory would have been the ruin of them. In the cave was found a solid mass of honey in the comb two and a half feet thick.

I went up to the campanile of St. Giorgio, with an odd American, mild in appearance, and studying for the church, who was always retiring to write up his "impressions," which were three weeks in arrear. He always dressed in black, and subsequently disappeared without paying his bill. Quoth he to me, looking placidly round upon the sea-bound city and the wide stretch of the lagoons: "Venice has been very much misrepresented to me in one particular. I was told that the great fault was the want of water." Either that man was the Heathen Chinee himself, or—he had met Gilbert or Burnand.—London Spectator.

Woman's rights are obtaining recognition in Norway. The Parliament has just passed a law, which the King has signed, giving women the privilege of attending the universities and applying for degrees in all arts and sciences; but the right to hold office in the service of the state, and of participating in the competitive examinations for such positions, is not yet accorded to them.

Traveling Down.

Thirty-five years ago, when I was a peevish school-boy, and devoutly wished that every day in the week was Saturday, the maid-of-all-work in the average domestic castle was looked upon as a respectable and industrious fixture of the establishment. My excellent mother had one Pennsylvania Dutch servant girl, whom I particularly remember, and with a pleasure unmixed with glucose, for in those days sugar was sugar, and Katie (as we youngsters called the kitchen goddess) was beneficently liberal with it on our hourly slices of bread and butter. Kate had a periodical beau; that is to say, her special young man, who was a Kutztown farmer, came to see her regularly about every two months. He didn't believe in thinning out his welcome. Never shall I forget his first appearance at my father's house in Philadelphia. He came early one evening and brought all his clodhopper bashfulness along with him. I don't think Katie was a bit proud of him, for he was as clumsy as a skater in an air-hole, but she tied up her dress and brushed her glossy hair smooth, and came forward to greet him and introduce him to the folks she lived with. He went around the entire family circle, shaking hands with big and little, and when I got my poor, diminutive right flipper straightened out, the fingers were as sore as if they had been caught in a door-jam."

After some minor talk about his people and hers, up country, Katie said:

"Yell, Shon, how did you efer coom town ter Filadelphy?"

Then John hitched his chair, wiped his nose and forehead with a flaming handherchief about the size of a modern bed-quilt, put his immense digital grip-irons on his knees, leaning confidentially forward, clearing his bull-like throat, and made this conclusive reply to the object of his visit:

"Katrina, I vill shust dell you how it vas. You see, I dakes der pay mare mit der vite hind food, and der planket und sattle-pags, und I drove down all der way from Kutzdown so treckly vonce more doo fur all. Und here I vas!"

We listened, and believed him.—The Metropolis.

A New Grain for the South.

The Rev. H. H. Pratt, of South Carolina, who was for some time a missionary to South America, has presented in the public a new cereal, which he calls millomaize. It is found in Columbia in large quantities, and forms the common food of the working classes there, and is also used for working animals. Mr. Pratt has been successfully growing it in South Carolina for several years.—The cakes made from it, ground into meal, are preferred to cornmeal bread. The Savannah Guano Company's chemist pronounces it superior in food qualities to wheat. Experiments show that from fifty to 100 bushels of clean seed per acre can be raised. Mr. Pratt describes the plant as follows: "The plant is allied to the sorghum and Guinea corn families, and should not be planted where there is any danger of mixing them. The grain is smaller and more mealy than the Guinea corn, the heads are larger and more compact, and the color is milk-white instead of red. It differs from the sorghum in this: that the sugar it contains is fully converted into corn when the grain matures—so that the pith of the green stalks becomes as dry and tasteless as that of Indian corn when the stalk is dead. In Barranquilla, on the coast, where we have a dry season (which is really a drouth) of five or six months continuance, I have had it planted in my garden, and after it had ripened one crop of seed I have cut it down to the roots, in the midst of this dry season, and had a second crop, of inferior quality of course, to shoot up at once from the roots. I have been told that a third crop of fully-ripened seed can thus be made from a single plant. I do not know what this can imply (for the soil at that season gets dry as potsherd and nearly as hard, unless it means that above most other plants this lives off the atmosphere which there certainly is densely charged with moisture from the sea. It was this unlimited capacity to stand drouth which induced me to bring the seed home, in the belief that it would be of incalculable service to our Southern States, where our crops so often fail from drouth.—Southern Lumberman.

The New Patter Song.

In Gilbert and Sullivan's new opera, "Iolanthe," the Lord Chancellor thus sings about a sleepless night:

When you're lying awake with a dismal headache, and repose is taboo'd by anxiety,
I conceive you may use any language you choose to indulge in without impropriety;
For your brain is on fire, the bedclothes conspire of usual slumber to plunder you.
First your counterpane goes and uncovers your toes, and your sheet slips demurely from under you;
Then the blanketing tickles—you feel like pickles—so terribly sharp is the prick'ng,
And you're hot and you're cross, and you tumble and toss till there's nothing 'twixt you and the ticking.
Then your bedclothes all creep to the ground in a heap, and you pick 'em all up in a tangle;
Next your pillow resigns and politely declines to remain at its usual angle.
Well, you get some repose in the form of a doze, with hot eyeballs and head ever aching;
But your slumbering teems with such horrible dreams, that you'd very much better be waking.

* * * * * *

You're a regular wreck, with a crick in your neck, and no wonder you snore, for your head's on the floor; and you've needles and pins from your soles to your shins, and your flesh is a-creep, for your left leg's asleep and you've cramp in your toes, and a fly on your nose, and some fluff in your lung and a feverish tongue, and a thirst that's intense and a general sense that you haven't been sleeping in clover.
But the darkness has passed, and it's daylight at last, and the night has been long, ditto, ditto my song, and, thank goodness, they're both of them over.

The Comet's Envelope.

It is now stated upon the best astronomical authority that the comet has thrown off an envelope. Of course if the envelope is gone the comet will get lost in the mails. It never could travel through a Star Route without an envelope, properly stamped and addressed, with an if-not-called-for-in-ten-days printed in one corner. It looks hard for the comet.—Rockland Courier-Gazette.

The piano on which the "Wacht am Rhein" was improvised by its composer, Carl Wilhelm, has just been sold at Berlin for $360.

I AM NOW READY FOR THE

HOLIDAYS!

Christmas Slippers

Just received. Latest and Nobbiest Styles. Call early and make your selections.

My store will be open evenings during the HOLIDAYS.

G. W. Marsden.

A Sewing Machine!

Makes an elegant and useful

HOLIDAY PRESENT!

See the new

SKELETON CABINET

MACHINE.

AT

G. P. SPARKS'

Sewing Machine Rooms.

THE LIGHT-RUNNING NEW HOME

ALL WE ASK IS, to have you TRY ONE before BUYING ANY OTHER. It is the only Machine that is kept up with the times in the way of improvements. The immense number already sold is proof of its great popularity. Every Machine warranted for Five Years. Responsible A[illegible] wanted in unoccupied territory. Send for C[illegible]

JOHNSON, CLARK & [illegible]
248 STATE STR[illegible]

The Best Harmonicas!

At Hough & Hosmer's.

FOR THE

AYS!

ppers

est, Styles, Call

tions.

gs during the sden.

achine!

useful

ESENT!

IGHT-RUNNING

W HOME

SK IS, to have you TRY ONE
G ANY OTHER It is the only Maup with the times in the way of he immense number already sold is popularity. Every Machine war-ears. Responsible A gented in ry. Send for C
, CLARK &
24 STATE STR

onicas!

smer's.

World's Weaver's Works!

NOW ON EXHIBITION

At GAINSLEY & CO.

Looms of America, Looms of France, Looms of Germany, Looms of Switzerland, Looms of England,

ALL

Represented in the Magnificent Collection

Of Winter Fabrics now displayed

At Prices which will Eclipse all competing figures and outrival our most liberal former quotations.

We Open the Holiday Season

By offering a few of the countless Bargains our large Stock contains:

Two Cases Merimack Prints 6c a yard.
Two Cases Wiltshire Suitings 5c a yard.
Two Cases Alpaca 9 1-2c a yard.

Unbleached and bleached Sheeting, Muslins, Table Damasks, Crashes, Canton Flannels, Shirtings, Ticks and Denims, all much below former prices. Cashmeres, Ottomans, Satins and Cords, Henrietta Crapes in all Wool and Silk Warps, English Brocades, Black Gros Grain silks, atin Rhademas, Moirantiques, Brocades and Silks.

tunni ng Bargains In White Blankets and Comforters. An Elegant Line of fancy Goods and Notions to select from for Christmas Presents.

Hdkfs., Gloves, Hosiery, Nubias and Mittens, Purses, Jewelry, Combs and Brushes, Bows, Ties and Suspenders, Collars and Cuffs.

Beautiful satin Rhadema Circulars and Dolmans.

Great Job in Cloth and Felt skirts.

Our counters will be Loaded down with the Christmas Novelties for the little Folks, from a 5c mouth Organ to a steam Boat and Railway Train.

Don't fail to see the Collection.

GAINSLEY & CO.

Tecumseh, December 15th, 1882.

O! Dem Golden Slippers!

A BEAUTIFUL PRESENT

FOR THE

HOLIDAYS!

JOE WILSON

Greets You with the Best Stock of Boots, Shoes and Slippers in TECUMSEH.

There Now, go to Hough & Hosmer's

The Next Time You Buy Christmas Goods.

The Lime-Kiln Club.

"I hold heah in my han'," began Brother Gardner as the triangle sounded and Samuel Shin laid aside his harmonican. "I hold heah a letter from one of de charitable societies of Detroit axin' if dis club kin be depended on to aid in de good work dis winter. In sartin cases dis club kin be depended on fur a ton of coal, a cord of wood, a bar'l of flour or a $10 bill. In sartin odder cases dis club won't cum down wid as much as a shingle-nail. Public charity in dis kentry am a curus thing.

"It insists dat ebery man shall airn his own fishin', an' den it turns in an' supports de class who will starve sooner dan work.

"It am de enemy of whisky, an' yet as soon as whisky makes a pauper it supports him.

"It flatters de man who gits a few dollars ahead, an' yet demands a sheer of dat money to aid de idle an' dissipated.

"Public charity comes as near bein' a bold-faced fraud as any sentiment you kin name. It encourages laziness by providin' fur de lazy. It encourages drunkenness by providin' fur de families of drunkards. It encourages immorality by providin' homes an' hospitals for de immoral. It encourages the spendthrift by feedin' an' clothin' him all winter arter he has squandered his money all summer. Public charity am a wall agin which de reckless, de lazy, de shiftless an' dissolute lean when all odder props give way.

"Simmer it down, and public charity means takin' de money which a man has saved by hard work an' economy an' usin it to support de man who has squandered time an' money widout a car' as to what became of him. It am blackmail on industry—it am a slap at economy—it am a kick at industry. How does it come dat wid dis kentry constantly growin' in wealth, and constantly furnishing increased chances fur poo' men to get along, dat pauperism am also increasin'? Eight-tenths of de saloons in America am supported by men whose families need ebery cent dey airn fur clothin' and bread, an' who rely on public charity in case of a hard winter. De kentry has five times as many paupers as it had fifteen y'ars ago? Why? Kase we raise five times as much money to support 'em. Double de amount of the poo' fund an' you will double de number of paupers.

"An' now let me ask a plain question. If I work hard week in an' week out—if my wife works hard an' economizes—if we patch, darn, dye an' cut ober—if we buy cheap tea an' coffee an' pare de 'taters close, an' manage to pay for a little home, an' put money in de bank fur sickness or death, has any human bein' a right to ask me to give one penny to a man who has thrown away scores of dollahs for beer an' tobacco—who plays keerds an' shakes dice fur money—who works only when he feels like it—who neber dreams of economy—who neber practices self denial? I reckon not! Let us now turn our faces towards de rowteen of biz-ness."

No Use to Hurry.

I had often read of the slow speed made by southern railroad trains, but noticed nothing unusual until reaching Macon, says M Quad in the Detroit Free Press. The train pulled out at about fifteen miles an hour, slowed down to twelve, and the waits were long and tedious. Some of the crowd didn't seem to care if we never got there, but the drummer for a Philadelphia house took on terribly. He was blasting away when the conductor came along and inquired what ailed him.

"Why, I'll be left!" hotly exclaimed the drummer.

"Let's see? You go to Thomasville?"

"Yes, sir."

"You change cars at Smithville?"

"I ought to, but the train will be gone."

"Not a bit of it. That train is two hours behind time."

"Well, I'd rather wait in Smithville."

"You couldn't wait in that town two hours without being asked to drink some of the worst whisky ever made, and if you refused you'd have to fight."

"I could go to the hotel."

"Then you'd have to walk a mile in the sand. No 'bus comes down until our train whistles."

"I might drum up a customer."

"You couldn't drum nothing. The last Northern drummer in Smithville had to fly for his life."

"Couldn't I wait on the platform?"

"No, sir. There is no platform to wait on, and if there was, you'd be suspected of wanting to start a turpentine fire."

"Well, it's awful slow."

"What of it? The other train is still slower; no dinner can be had until we get there; there is nothing to see; the depot won't be open; you can't sell a paper of pins in the town; you can't get on to Thomasville; no one in the town plays poker; you can't find a decent cigar there, and from what I know of Smithville I can assure you that it has at least thirty citizens who would take a pop at you on general principles within six minutes of your landing there."

Soon after our speed was reduced to ten miles an hour, but the drummer had nothing more to say.

I went up to the campanile of St. Giorgio, with an odd American, mild in appearance, and studying for the church, who was always retiring to write up his "impressions," which were three weeks in arrear. He always dressed in black, and subsequently disappeared without paying his bill. Quoth he to me, looking placidly round upon the sea-bound city and the wide stretch of the lagoons: "Venice has been very much misrepresented to me in one particular. I was told that the great fault was the want of water." Either that man was the Heathen Chinee himself, or—he had met Gilbert or Burnand.—London Spectator.

To wash woolen goods nicely, to each pail of water used add one tablespoonful of ammonia and one of beef-gall; wash out quickly and rinse thoroughly in water with a very little beef-gall added.

The Lace Fichu.

A very good story, and, what is more, an authentic one, is told of the wife of a well-known and respected Nottingham manufacturer, who, being with her husband in Paris, and occupied with the colossal shopping which such visits seem inevitably to entail, fell in love with a lace fichu of exquisite fineness and delicacy, which was offered to her for the moderate sum of 240 francs. She would instantly have purchased it had she not been deterred by various mysterious signs from her husband, which surprised her not a little, as she knew him to be a good judge of lace, and wondered, therefore, at his lack of appreciation of the beautiful specimen. She examined the fichu again, had doubtfully, but it was soft in texture, and beautiful in design, a very cobweb in execution, and anything but dear. She cast one beseeching glance at her husband, but he was grave and inflexible; so with a sigh of resigned regret she turned away, and the moment they left the shop her disappointment broke forth: "John, why did you keep me from buying that lovely thing? And only £10; I am sure you could not think that dear? Why did you not let me have it?" "You are quite right, my dear," was the reply of the unmoved John. "We consider that a very superior article, and the reason I did not want you to buy it is, because it came from one of my own frames, and I can let you have as many of the same kind as you like for fifteen shillings apiece!"

The Advantages of Draining.

A writer in the Prairie Farmer gives the good effects of land drainage as follows:

1. It removes the surplus water and prevents ponding in a soil. It should be noted, that, if the drains are used, they should be of sufficient size to remove the surplus water in twenty-four hours.

2. It prevents the accumulation of poisons in the soil, which result from stagnant water, either above or under the surface.

3. The ammonia is carried down into the soil by the descending rain, stored for the plant food instead of stopping on the surface and passing off by evaporation, or borne away with the surface waste.

4. It deepens and enriches the soil by opening the ground, allowing the roots of the plant to go deeper into the earth decaying after harvest, they form this subsoil into surface soil, providing resources for the plant more reliable, and making the same ground better for a greater length of time.

5. It avoids drouth, by enabling the plant to thrust its roots deeper into the soil.

6. The drainage increases the temperature of the soil. In some cases the average has been increased as much as ten degrees.

7. By securing uniformity of condition for plant growth, it hastens the maturing of the crop from ten days to two weeks.

8. It enables the farmer to work his land in wet or dry seasons, and insures a return for the labor bestowed.

At Last He Inferred.

It is related of a wealthy Philadelphian who has been dead these many years that a young man came to him one day and asked for help to start in business.

"Do you drink?" inquired the millionaire.

"Occasionally."

"Stop it! Stop it for a year and then come and see me."

The young man broke off the habit at once, and at the end of a year again presented himself.

"Do you smoke?" asked the great man.

"Yes, now and then."

"Stop it! Stop it for a year and then come and see me."

The young man went away and cut loose from the habit, and after worrying through another twelve months once more faced the philanthropist.

"Do you chew?"

"Yes."

"Stop it!" Stop it for a year and then come and see me."

But the young man never called again. When some one asked why he didn't make one more effort he replied:

"Didn't I know what he was driving at? He'd have told me that as I stopped chewing, drinking and smoking I must have saved enough money to start myself."

Sound Advice.

A stranger who had made a purchase of a second-hand dealer on Chatham street grew confidential, and said he would like some advice.

"Vhell, go aheadt."

"If you were in my place and wanted to go into business here, would you lend your money and live on the interest, or would you go into the second-hand clothing business?"

"My frent," replied the other with a very serious look on his face, "let me tole you shust like a fadder. Doan' go into de second-hand beesness yourself, but lend me your money and pecome a silen partner."

"Are the profits large."

"Large? How much you tinks I made on dot west I sold you for $2? I make shust 12 shillings."

"Not by a blamed sight, for I haven't paid for it and won't take it!" exclaimed the stranger as he dropped the bundle and walked out.

"Vhell, vhell!" sighed Moses as he looked after him, "efery times I tell der truth I lose money, and every time I lie I lose a customer. How can an honest man make a living in New York."—Wall Street News.

The people of Knoxville, Tennessee, have set a good example to Southern communities which have long been cursed by the spirit which holds human life cheap. They have organized a Law and Order Society for the special purpose of enforcing the law against murder, and have appealed to the local authorities for their active and moral support. Just in proportion as the determination thus evinced becomes general throughout the South will that part of the country lose the disgraceful notoriety which crimes against life have

GIFT SALE!

Don't fail to attend A. W. SLAYTON'S gift sale of

HOLIDAY GOODS!

Which takes place at his store on Chicago street, Tecumseh, every day until Dec. 25. These goods, all kinds of

FURNITURE AND SEWING MACHINES

Must be sold, and they will go cheap, Call soon.

A. W. SLAYTON.

...place, the hauge of one of the coach wheels broke, and the wheel ran off and bumped along the ties until they reached the crossing, where the truck made a jump as if to change and run on the Ypsilanti branch, where the car used to run; this brought things up standing, and came near ditching the coach. On wrecker car came up from A put a new pair of trucks u coach, when the men repaired back, which had become somewhat injured, and everything went along as usual again.

A RECENT decision of the Supreme Court declares that it is not competent for a Justice of the Peace to send parties who are prosecuted under the disorderly statute, and fail to give bonds, to either House of Correction, as has been the custom for years and never questioned. The reason of this is that the parties are not able to give the bail required when they are outside of the county. All persons henceforth convicted under the disorderly act of the statute and failing to give bonds for good behavior can only be sent to the county jail. It is expected that the legislature at its coming session will change the law in this regard and permit offenders to be sent to the House of Correction as heretofore.

Adrian Press: A Mr. D. H. Morse, of Raisin, has read the Times' story of the big turnip in Dakota, and also claim put in by A. W. Chase, of Lenawee, for the "turnip belt," therefore comes forward to say that he stands on the honor and good name of Raisin, and must ask Mr. Chase to take a back seat in the wagon for the year, and give his bagas an opportunity to speken up, for on Mr. Morse's farm last year he had a baga that weighed 50 pounds, and another that weighed 48 pounds. Mr. Chase will have to come around right lively and turn up with another turnip, if he expects to beat the champion. Mr. Morse will set them out for seed next year. We expect next to hear that these Raisin farmers will have turnips that must be quartered to get them into a bushel basket.

Hillsfield Advance: Last Tuesday a young girl was engaged in canvassing for picture frames, selling them for cents (much below their value) and collecting the money in advance, claiming that the frames were at the express office and that she could not get them until she had money enough to pay charges. In this way she succeeded in obtaining about seven dollars when some one who happened to read of this dodge in the newspapers, investigated the matter a little and found that the girl was a fraud. Parties were placed upon her track

New Home, Crown, Victor, and Singer, which I will sell you as low as any agency in the state. My rooms at Brown's New Photograph Gallery, are elegantly fitted up and will be found very pleasant for ladies who desire to examine and try the different machines. I keep all kinds of attachments and needles, also the very best oil to be had in the market. Old machines repaired or taken in exchange. By fair, honorable dealing I hope to gain the confidence of the public. Please call and examine before purchasing of outside parties. It will be to your interest to do so.

G. P. SPARKS

—Call at the yard and mill of the Tecumseh Lumber Co., and examine their stock.

A Card to the People of Tecumseh and Vicinity.

Noticing in last week's issue of the HERALD Mr. Sparks rather insinuates that I am out of my territory when I go to Tecumseh to compete with him in selling sewing machines, I will say that I am right at home when I am in Tecumseh and thereabouts, and have been for about 12 years—a good many years before he went into the business, and also that I expect to hold the fort all I can, and as he offers to furnish sewing machines at $2 less than I will, I will say that if anyone will get his lowest cash price I will discount his $3.50 if I give machines away. Below please read a letter from the New Home S. M. Co., Dec. 8.

MR. B. J. COLLER, Adrian, Mich:—Your postal of the 6th at hand. We are pleased to learn you have arranged to work Tecumseh. We will mark the territory off to you and protect you in the same. Yours truly,

New Home S. M. Co.

B. J. Coller, Sewing Machine Emporium, Adrian, Mich.

Don't forget to write a postal card if you are going to buy.

—One of the best blood purifiers ever made is "King of the Blood." Sold by Druggists generally. Manufactured by D. Ransom Son & Co. Buffalo, N. Y.

—When you want good geese feathers be sure and go to McCowen's.

—People can get pictures at my gallery in Clinton now any day in the week. I shall remove it to Brooklyn, Mich., very soon.

Brown, the Photographer.

—Ladies, you are all invited to look through my ware-rooms and examine my large stock of fine furniture. You can't help but find a present of some kind.

WM. MCCOWEN.

I DID NOT GO TO HOUGH & HOSMER'S

And Get My Christmas Presents.

HOLIDAY SUPPLEMENT.

VOL. XXXIII.--NO. 31 TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN THURSDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 28, 1882. WHOLE NO. 1671

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

The anti-tax agitation at Caledonia bids fair to result in lowering the levy

Measles, mumps, and malarial fever at Elk Rapids, mildly, all at once.

The iron on the new Ithaca & Alma railroad is laid to within one mile of Ithaca.

A young woman, raving insane, has been taken care of at Lansing. Her identity is not known.

During the month of November 3,842 immigrants entered the United States at Port Huron.

A young lad named Cowan was killed by a falling tree at Wright township, last week.

Joseph Voorheis, of Buchanan, [illegible] toward him by the muz-

Buy your Silk Handkerchiefs at Kies Bros.'

Crop reports have been received at the office of the Secretary of State, Lansing, from 760 correspondents, representing 601 townships. Of these returns 482 were from southern tiers of counties. The condition of wheat, December 1, is estimated at 94 per cent. compared with the vitality and growth of average years, and at 90 per cent. on condition of December 1, 1881. Reports have been received of the quantity of wheat marketed by farmers during the month of November at 282 elevators and mills. Of these 242 are in the southern four tiers of counties, which is about one-half of the whole number of elevators and mills in these counties. The total number of bushels reported marketed is 1,322,129, of which 202,672 bushels were marketed in the first or southern tier of counties; 476,184 bushels in the second tier; 215,799 bushels in th third tier; 300,406 bushels in the fourth tier, and 127,068 bushels in the counties north of the southern four tiers. At 31 elevators and mills, or 11 per cent of the whole number from which reports have been received, there was no wheat marketed during the month. The total number of bushels reported marketed thus far this season is 335,853.

CONUNDRUM

WHY HAVE

KIES BROS.

o many Winter Suits and Overcoats during the warm fall.

ANSWER.

Because they have

Most Complete Stock!

And Make the

OWEST PRICES

IN SOUTHERN MICHIGAN.

ONE PRICE TO ALL!

KIES BROS.,

Mills Block, TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

LOST.

On Saturday, Dec. 16, 1882, between Tecumseh and the residence of Dan. Hanford, three miles west of Franklin Center, a Pocket-book, containing about ten dollars. The same was fastened with a round rubber cord. Also contained a bill of goods bought at Anderson's, on the inside, and a memorandum on the outside. Leave at HERALD office.

LOST.

A small set ring. The finder will be liberally rewarded by leaving the same at the HERALD office.

NOTICE.

I shall retire from the Dental practice after Jan. 1th, 1883. Parties wanting new work done, or having any claim upon me for unfinished work will please note the above date.

H. L. STEWART.

LOST.

A Note, for $1,38.25, drawn by Dr. Loree in favor of Geo. Exelby. All persons are cautioned against negotiating for the same. Finder please leave at HERALD office.

EVANS' BUSINESS COLLEGE

And Institute of Rapid Writing and Flourishing. This Institution opens this year with a large increase of students over last; new rooms and more help. In addition to the usual branches, Shorthand Writing and German are taught. Classes will be formed January 2d in Flourishing and Drawing. Good board $3.00.

WANTED.

10,000 feet of seasoned Bass wood for cash.

GEO. N. STACY.

NOTICE.

The village council request that parties depositing coal ashes in the streets of the village of Tecumseh, abandon the practice. It is strictly against the village ordinance described as a nuisance.

H. W. STEVENS, Marshall.

TIES WANTED.

Parties wishing to contract for ties along the new Toledo & Milwaukee R. R., will confer with H. W. Stevens, Tecumseh, Mich.

FOR SALE.

A new parlor suit for sale very cheap. Enquire at the Exchange hotel. J. H. EMERY.

FOR SALE.

80 acres of good land situated 3 miles Southeast Tecumseh on section 1 in Raisin. For particulars enquire of C. D. BILLS.

EYE AND EAR SURGERY.

Dr. R D. Tipple, Eye and Ear Surgeon, 307 Superior street, Toledo, treats all diseases of the eye, ear, throat and nose both medically and surgically upon scientific principles, inserts artificial eyes, adjusts spectacles, &c. Special attention given to straightening cross-eyes and removing cataracts. Consultations free.

John R. Clark

WILL LECTURE ON

IRISH LIFE AND CHARACTER!

WITH

NEW SONGS AND RECITATIONS.

—AT—

Opera House, Tecumseh, Jan. 1,

Sage's Hall, Pennington Corners, Tuesday, Jan. 2.

Orange Hall, Macon, Wednesday, January 3.

Town Hall, Clinton, Thursday, January 4.

Britton, Friday, January 5.

Assisted by Local Talent.

O. I. N. Church, Mrs. C. Bills. Mrs. M. H. Church.

C. P. BILLS & CO.,

BANKERS.

J. N. Satterlhwaite, Cashier.

Tecumseh, Mich.

Do a general Banking business. Receive deposits, Exchange bought on all points and our own drafts issued, available in all parts of the United States and Canada, and the principal cities of Europe.

Adrian Record: A terrible and fatal accident took place at the Lake Shore yards on Sunday morning. Jacob Lumbecker, a brakeman was thrown from a moving car and cut in two crosswise, near the middle of the body. As we learn the facts, a number of cars were being shoved from the east toward the west end of the siding. On one of these cars stood Mr. Lumbecker. The car was sent forward by the switch engine, the brakeman being expected to check it at the proper point, by the application of the brake. Sometime after, the body of poor Lumbecker was discovered lying prone across one of the rails and was literally cut in two.

THREE GREAT OFFERS.

For the benefit of our subscribers, we have succeeded in making arrangements with the Detroit Free Press, Michigan Farmer, and Detroit Post and Tribune, and will offer the HERALD in connection with these papers at the following rates:

Herald & Weekly Free Press.....$2.25
" " " Post and Tribune 2.25
" " " Michigan Farmer 2.60

We have special rates from these papers, and have made a special rate on the HERALD to give our subscribers a chance to get the papers most needed in this vicinity at a reasonable rate, and hence concluded to make the cash reduction rather than give a premium, as heretofore. These rates are better than can be obtained from any subscription agent, and gives you the HERALD for less money than you can get any other paper published in Lenawee county. We also give special rates on all other newspapers published, and it will be to the advantage of any person to see us before subscribing for their newspapers for 1883.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

TECUMSEH, MICH. DEC. 28, 1882.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

WE wish you a Happy New Year.

TURN over a new leaf next Monday.

THE great reform commences next Monday.

ON Monday next commence writing 1883.

THE Masons of Clinton held their annual festival last evening.

THE Dublin Jaunting Car and Paddy Gettysburg Hung, New Year's night.

QUITE a number of former Tecumseh boys spent their Christmas in this village.

PREPARE to settle up for 1883. Every body ought to commence the New Year even.

WHEN a good resolution is formed, be aware of the tempter—he is then always nearest.

TWO attempts have been made recently to burn the Hudson central school building.

WHISTLING BARNEY and Johnny I hardly knew ye, New Year's night at the Opera House.

D. H. SILVERS has decided to close up his Clinton store and remove the stock to Manchester on the 15th of January next.

FOR a useful and pleasing New Year's present to your friends a year's subscription to the HERALD would be a good one to make.

OLD men and women, young men and maidens are improving the fine sleighing just now, and our livery men are reaping a harvest.

THERE will be a basket social at J. R. Goheen's house on Thursday evening, Jan. 4, '83. A general invitation is extended to all.

E. H. MERRITT spent Christmas with his friends in Tecumseh. He likes his new home in the northern part of the state, and reports business good.

WASHINGTON has "comet parties." "A good idea, by Jupiter!" says young Spinks, "for the boys can now planet to get the girls away from their Mars."

MARRIAGES and births seem to be running ahead of their usual numbers hereabouts this fall. We don't know what is the cause of it, unless it is the off year in politics.

WE notice that the small boys are at it again this winter, worse than ever. We allude to "catching on" sleighs. They probably won't let up until some of them get a limb broken.

TELEPHONE patrons at Adrian made Miss Emily E Hawke a present of a purse of $80. She is the operator at the central office, and the patrons took this method of showing their appreciation of her promptness, skill and good nature.

MR. PETER FISCHER, of Riga, has in his possession a piece of a log taken from the stockade of Andersonville prison. He was confined there for seven months and the little memento vividly brings to his mind the suffering he endured there.

GOVERNOR-ELECT BEGOLE has made staff appointments as follows: Aides-de-camp, with rank of Colonel, Edwin F. Connelly, of Detroit; R. F. Hill, Kalamazoo; James C. Cummings, Holly, and S. W. Fowler, Manistee. The Judge Advocate is James J. Atkinson, of Detroit, with the rank of Major.

Marshall Statesman: The line of the T. & M. having been located through the city, it is expected that next week the site for the depot and other buildings will be selected. Mr. Jas. E. Neal, general counsel for the road, Mr. Howard, and J. A. Latcha, chief engineer, will arrive on Tuesday and make the selection.

Marshall Chronicle: About the most formidable job of grading to be done on the T. & M. in this vicinity, is where it crosses the river at Ceresco. An embankment must there be constructed for some distance out into the pond. The water is ten feet deep and the embankment will be raised ten feet above the surface. From 15,000 to 20,000 yards of dirt will be required to make the filling.

Clinton News: Dr. John Tuttle's house had a narrow escape from destruction by fire last Sunday. A smell of smoke was detected, and on going into the office, a table covered with papers was found to be all ablaze. The incipient conflagration was quickly extinguished, with the loss of a fur cap and gloves, a number of medical journals, and considerable damage to an electric battery which was lying on the table.

Ann Arbor Register: Michigan papers do the university an injustice when they place her after Harvard in the number of students. The catalogue of the latter institution shows an attendance of 1,436, while the enrollment at the university is 1,440.—Harvard is reported as numbering more students this year than any other college, but she will have to yield precedence in this respect to Michigan, as was the case last year.

BERT TRIBOU is at home on a brief vacation.

L. M. IDE returned home last week to spend the holidays.

MR. & MRS. JAS. CUMMINS were home for the holidays.

JOHN B. HAYNES is at home to spend the holiday vacation.

DUBLIN Bay and "I will stand by my friend," New Year's night.

MR. CLARK will be assisted by Mr. Geo. H. Buck our local humorist.

The Kalamazoo College boys are at home to enjoy their Christmas turkey.

THE university students are spending their Christmas and New Years at home.

A. A. Kennedy returned last week from a trip out west, to sell his apple purchases.

MR. & MRS. RAYNOR LILLEY of Cleveland, O., visited Tecumseh during the holidays.

PADDY Magee's Dream and Bairries Cuddle Doon, Scotch, (by request,) New Year's night.

ESMERALDA will be produced at the Adrian opera house next Tuesday evening, Jan. 2d, 1883.

C. A. THATCHER is delivering some of the finest crayon portraits ever brought to Tecumseh.

PROF. HAMMOND attends the meeting of the State Teachers' Association at Lansing this week.

L. A. CHAPMAN has been quite sick and confined to his home for several days, but is about again now.

OUR special combination offers are taking splendidly. This arrangement seems to fit the case exactly.

AN old fashioned watch night service will be held at the M. E. church on Sabbath evening at 9 o'clock. All are invited.

A reception was given by the C. L. S. C. and friends to Dr. Vincent, this afternoon, at the residence of Rev. R. S. Pardington.

MRS. R. S. PARDINGTON received a very handsomely worked quilt from the young ladies of the Sunday school, as a Christmas gift.

JOHN R. CLARK'S latest lecture on Irish Life and Character is said to be his best effort. It abounds in pathos, humor, song and story.

THE telephone line from Adrian to Hudson is an assured fact. The line will be constructed as soon as the poles can be set in the spring.

A man was boasting that he had an elevator in his house. "So he has," chimed his wife, "and he keeps it in the cupboard in a bottle."

A FAMILY reunion was held at L. M. Mooney's house on Christmas day. Members of the family who had not met before for 23 years were present.

THE party at Sage & Cary's hall on Christmas night was a decided success, and at the solicitations of their many friends they have decided to give another one on New Year's night.

Adrian Times: A rumor was current in Detroit Thursday last to the effect that T. J. Navin had been seen there on that day, and talked to by parties who claimed to know him well. He said that he had been hiding with a relative in Oakland county for two or three months past, but had now come out of hiding, and was going back to Adrian, on account of the serious illness of his father. During the day, it was said, he became perplexed, and skipped to Windsor, but was seen again in the evening at the Griswold house bar, at which time he claimed to be going direct to Adrian.

THE scenery which is used in the first, second and fourth acts of "Young Mrs. Winthrop," at the Madison Square Theater, New York, is constructed of wood and brass. The metal was cut by hand, in India, for Louis C. Tiffany & Co., who imported it. In India this metal is used for decorating rooms dedicated to special ceremonials. The walls and ceiling of the scene at the Madison Square Theater contain over two hundred Oriental designs. Its full beauty can only be appreciated by a minute inspection through an opera glass. It shows the kind of house decoration which the more wealthy are now introducing in New York city homes.

THE following are the exercises at the close of the fall term of the Raisin Valley Seminary, which took place on Friday last:

Music.
Essay—No Pains, no Gains—Mattie Westgate.
Declamation—Industry necessary for the production of wealth—Willie Hoge.
Essay—Life's Lessons—Louie Hildebrand.
Declamation—Old John Burns at Gettysburg—Lynn Comfort.
A Diary—Nettie Tyler.
Declamation—Greenway Court—Lewis Harkness.
Essay—Didn't Think—Clara Bowerman.
Declamation—The Milk Maid—Elmer Harris.
Essay—Avarice, the more you have the more you want—Nelia Russell.
Music.
Declamation—The School Master's Guests—Bennie French.
Essay—What is Life?—Anna Barber.
Essay—Michigan—Nathan Harkness.
Recitation—The Last Hymn—Nora Westgate.
The Broad Ax—Susie Brown.
Essay—Little Things—Willie Bartlett.
Music.

A NUMBER of young people from Tecumseh attended the Chic party at Adrian on Christmas night.

THE family of Rev. Mr. Shepard, on Christmas day were remembered by a gift to each, of a sum of money, from friends in their former parish in Cuba, N. Y. In addition, from the same source, they received a unique carving of the Lord's prayer with fine lettering, border and intermediate designs cut in holly wood.

THE following officers were elected on Friday evening last by Tecumseh Lodge, No. 69, F. & A. M:

W. M.—P. J. Farley.
S. W.—Dr. E. M. Conklin.
J. W.—W. H. Arner.
Sec.—J. R. Hialey.
Treas.—T. D. Mark.
S. D.—A. Wilson.
J. D.—A. E. Kennedy.
Stewards—C. M. Burlingame, F. W. Darling.
Tyler—J. I. Werner.

CLINTON Chapter No. 40, R. A. M., elected the following officers last week for the ensuing year;

H. P.—David Brooks.
K.—Wm. C. Rogers.
S.—Danforth Keyes.
Sec.—D. Woodward.
Treas.—Henry Starrett.
C. H.—John Hause.
P. S.—Geo. Runyan.
R. A. C.—Geo. Fisher.
G. M. 3d V.—B. G. Swift.
" 2d V—Emmet Linden.
" 1st V—Geo. Calhoun.
Sent.—John Martiny.

IN a few days the ledger will be closed, the accounts all balanced, and 1882 will be finished for weal or for woe. As we hear the feeble cry of the new born infant which will take the place of the dead giant we shall soon lay reverently in the tomb of the past, who among us will be able to look back and say there is nothing that he or she would recall? Make your resolves for the coming year, and hold steadfastly to them to the close.

Hudson Gazette: 'A sad and fatal accident happened in the town of Wright on Wednesday. Harry Coman was chopping in his woods, and was accompanied by his little son, aged 13. The poor boy stood in the way of a falling tree, and was struck in the forehead by one of the limbs, producing concussion of the brain. Dr. Nix was sent for, but death had done its work before he could reach the side of the unfortunate youth. It was, indeed, a painful occurrence.

THE following are the officers of Tecumseh Council No. 634, Royal Arcanum for 1883, which will be duly installed on Tuesday, Jan. 2d, 1883:

Regent—E. J. Hollister.
Vice Regent—C. E. Lovett.
Orator—Wm. R. Wooden.
Sec.—C. A. McNeil.
Coll—D. T. Hall.
Treas.—C. H. Gainsley.
Chap.—Abner Wilson.
Guide—A. W. Chiverall.
Warden—J. K. Fisher.
Sentry—H. W. Stevens.
Past Regent—C. M. Woodward.
Med. Ex.—C. M. Woodward.
Rep. Grand Lodge—C. M. Woodward.
Alternate—Wm. R. Wooden.

IT is not necessary to pick our words in mentioning the Philadelphia Times, the prospectus of which journal appears in another column. The Times has got to be a sort of necessity with some people in this community and it ought to be with many more. It has many imitators all over the land, but there is really nothing like The Times from Maine to California. We have persuaded ourselves at times that the reason the people like it so much is that it is constantly giving its readers juicy bites from the sunny side of the journalistic peach.

A Sad Accident.

Last Saturday while Myron Billmeyer was engaged with other hands sawing wood for Robert Boyd in Raisin, his left arm was caught in the main belt which drives the saw, breaking both bones above the wrist and the bone also between the elbow and shoulder. They were just finishing work for the day. Myron slipped the band from the drive wheel, and picked it up, it being still on the pulley of the saw frame, preparatory to folding it up as usual. The momentum of the saw was such that as soon as the belt was somewhat tightened it wound his arm around the pulley with terrible speed, breaking it in two places. Dr. Catlin reduced the fracture and he is now doing as well as could be expected.

THE ECHO.

The Echo is the weekly edition of the Detroit Evening News. It has just entered upon its fifth year, and both in popularity and circulation has been a decided success. It is of the same size as the News, contains little or no advertising, and is filled from the first column to the last with the very choicest matter that can be procured. All the best items, paragraphs and articles are culled from the daily; a synopsis of each week's news is carefully prepared for it; its market reports, while brief, are very complete and reliable, and nearly a whole page of each issue is devoted to choice original or selected stories—something superior, on the average, to the ordinary newspaper tales. Altogether it is a little gem of a paper, and at the price is without question the cheapest of the kind in the country. Single copies, 75 cents; 3 copies for $2, 5 for $3.

A country editor who had the misfortune to lose his wife had the following combination epitaph engraved upon her tombstone: "To the memory of Tabitha, wife of Moses Skinner, Esq., gentlemanly editor of the Trombone. Terms $3 a year, invariably in advance. A kind mother and an exemplary wife. Office over Colman's grocery, up two flights of stairs. Knock hard. We shall miss thee, mother, we shall miss the. Job printing solicited."

JAMES VICK.—From the appearance of Vick's Floral Guide, which is on our desk, we should judge that the young Vicks are "chips of the old block," as the Floral Guide with its lithographed cover is handsome enough for the parlor table. It is printed on the best of paper, has three colored plates of Flowers and Vegetables, and full of useful information. Those who send 10 cents for it cannot be disappointed, as the plates alone are worth the amount. Address as in past years, James Vick, Rochester, N. Y.

Manchester Enterprise: On Sunday morning an engine was drawing a coach from Jackson to Adrian, and when about forty rods above the target at this place, the flange of one of the coach wheels broke, and the wheel ran off and bumped along the ties until they reached the crossing, where the truck made a jump as if to change and run on the Ypsilanti branch, where the car used to run; this brought things up standing, and came near ditching the coach. On Sunday a wrecker car came up from Adrian and put a new pair of trucks under the coach, when the men repaired the track, which had become somewhat injured, and everything went along as usual again.

A RECENT decision of the Supreme Court declares that it is not competent for a Justice of the Peace to send parties who are prosecuted under the disorderly statute, and fail to give bonds, to either House of Correction, as has been the custom for years and never questioned. The reason of this is that the parties are not able to give the bail required when they are outside of the county. All persons henceforth convicted under the disorderly act of the statute and failing to give bonds for good behavior can only be sent to the county jail. It is expected that the Legislature at its coming session will change the law in this regard and permit offenders to be sent to the House of Correction as heretofore.

Adrian Press: A Mr. D. H. Morse, of Raisin, has read the Times' story of the big turnip in Dakota, and also the claim put in by A. W. Chase, of Raisin, for the "turnip belt," therefore he comes forward to say that he stands by the honor and good name of Raisin, but must ask Mr. Chase to take a back seat in the wagon for the year, and give his bagas an opportunity to thicken up, for on Mr. Morse's farm this year he had a baga that weighed 27½ pounds, and another that weighed 26¼ pounds. Mr. Chase will have to chase around right lively and turn-up with another turnip, if he expects to be the champion. Mr. Morse will set them out for seed next year. We expect next to hear that these Raisin farmers will have turnips that must be quartered to get them into a bushel basket.

Blissfield Advance: Last Tuesday a young girl was engaged in canvassing for picture frames, selling them for 50 cents (much below their value) and collecting the money in advance, claiming that the frames were at the express office and that she could not get them until she had money enough to pay charges. In this way she succeeded in obtaining about seven dollars, when some one who happened to have read of this dodge in the newspapers, investigated the matter a little and found that the girl was a fraud. Officers were placed upon her track who discovered her making fast time for Riga, and brought her before Justice McCann, where she acknowledged having practiced her little game at other places. On the promise of her restoring the money to the persons of whom it had been obtained, she was allowed to go free.

Adrian Press: Talk about improvements in farming! Why our farmers have got so they can make Christmas presents of watermelons. Mr. D. H. Moore, of Raisin, dropped in upon us this week and said: "Will you accept a watermelon for the holidays? I have one I brought out, and I guess it is good yet, and, if you would like, I will bring it in." We thought him joking, but felt that we should like to see what kind of a joke he was going to play, and we assured him that if he had a good, fresh, live watermelon we should be pleased to receive it. But we took pains to remark that a citron couldn't be played off on us for a watermelon, and a frozen watermelon would be considered barred as a joke. Mr. Morse stepped out, and soon returning, laid upon our table a splendid large watermelon, in most excellent condition. We sampled it, and found it as fresh and sweet as the melon of August. The variety is a new one, the flesh a deep pink and deliciously sweet, with a comparatively thin rind. Melons at Christmas! Whoope

The Philadelphia Times has this to say of the senatorial contest in this state which shows how the subject is viewed by a disinterested outsider:

The Senatorial contest in Michigan is no longer confined to Messrs. Ferry and Hubbell. The latest advices indicate that it has now become a fight of the field against Mr. Ferry's re-election. Within the last week Mr. McMillan, a wealthy car-builder of Detroit, and James F. Joy, formerly president of the Michigan Central Railroad, have, at the solicitation of their friends, become candidates, and Mr. Ferry is regarded as practically out of the field. Almost any new man would be an improvement on the present incumbent; as Michigan may rehabilitate herself very rapidly by giving Mr. Ferry an unlimited leave of absence.

DON'T READ THIS.

If you want to buy a sewing machine go to Coller's Sewing Machine Emporium, Adrian, get his "bottom prices" on the New Home, latest patent, then call at the Tecumseh Sewing Machine Agency and I will sell you one for two dollars less than his lowest figure. This will pay you for your trouble. A man who will infringe on another's territory is not the one you want to buy a machine of. I keep in stock the Domestic, White, New Home, Crown, Victor, and Singer, which I will sell you as low as any agency in the state. My rooms at Brown's New Photograph Gallery, are elegantly fitted up and will be found very pleasant for ladies who desire to examine and try the different machines. I keep all kinds of attachments and needles, also the very best oil to be had in the market. Old machines repaired or taken in exchange. By fair, honorable dealing I hope to gain the confidence of the public. Please call and examine before purchasing of outside parties. It will be to your interest to do so.

G. P. SPARKS.

—Call at the yard and mill of the Tecumseh Lumber Co., and examine their stock.

A Card to the People of Tecumseh and Vicinity.

Noticing in last week's issue of the HERALD Mr. Sparks rather insinuates that I am out of my territory when I go to Tecumseh to compete with him in selling sewing machines, I will say that I am right at home when I am in Tecumseh and thereabouts, and have been for about 12 years—a good many years before he went into the business, and also that I expect to hold the fort all I can, and as he offers to furnish sewing machines at $2 less than I will, I will say that if anyone will get his lowest cash price I will discount his $3.50 if I give machines away. Below please read a letter from the New Home S. M. Co., Dec. 8.

MR. B. J. COLLER, Adrian, Mich.—Your postal of the 6th at hand. We are pleased to learn you have arranged to work Tecumseh. We will mark the territory off to you and protect you in the same. Yours Truly,

New Home S. M. Co.

B. J. Coller, Sewing Machine Emporium, Adrian, Mich.

Don't forget to write a postal card if you are going to buy.

—One of the best blood purifiers ever made is "King of the Blood." Sold by Druggists generally. Manufactured by D. Ransom Son & Co. Buffalo, N. Y.

—When you want good geese feathers be sure and go to McCowen's.

—People can get pictures at my gallery in Clinton now any day in the week. I shall remove it to Brooklyn, Mich., very soon.

Brown, the Photographer.

—Ladies, you are all invited to look through my ware-rooms and examine my large stock of fine furniture. You can't help but find a present of some kind. WM. MCCOWEN.

—The people here at not fools, but go to McCowen's when they want good goods at low prices, every time.

—For window cornices, room mouldings, velvet, cabinet, and all kinds of picture frames, go to McCowen's.

—December will be a bargain month at A. B. Cotton's.

—We have a five years' lease of the lumber yard on Shawnee street, near the depot, besides being the sole owners of the Planing Mill and Sash and Door factory, corner of Pearl and Shawnee streets, formerly owned by S. W. Temple. We have come to stay, to do an honest, legitimate business, and cordially invite the people to call on us and make our acquaintance. We are bound to please.

Respectfully,

TECUMSEH LUMBER CO.

—Dress Goods at Bargains.

A. B. Cotton.

—Parties wishing floral decorations for weddings, funerals or other uses, will be promptly supplied by leaving orders with J. J. Orr, at Wright's drug store. Elmer D. Smith.

—Leave your orders for Sash, Doors, blinds, mouldings, window frames, tanks, troughs, etc., etc., with the Tecumseh Lumber Co. They will receive prompt attention.

LODGES AND SOCIETIS

TECUMSEH LODGE, NO. 14, I. O. O. F

REGULAR MEETINGS every Tuesday Evening at their Lodge Room over Brewer's Store, Chicago Street.
J. W. WOODEN, N. G.
EDWIN HOWELL, Sec.

Railroad Time Tables.

and M. S. RAILROAD

TRAINS GOING SOUTH

STATIONS	No. 15 Mail.	No. 17. Express.	No. 41. Accom.
Jackson	6 50 a m	2 40 p m	1 40 p m
Napoleon	7 10 "	3 06 "	2 30 "
Norvell	7 16 "	3 13 "	2 40 "
Manchester	7 30 "	3 26 "	3 30 "
Clinton	7 45 "	3 48 "	4 15 "
Tecumseh	7 55 "	4 00 "	4 30 "
Adrian	8 30 "	4 35 "	5 35 "
Detroit	10 00 "	6 10 "	x
Toledo	9 50 "	5 25 "

TRAINS GOING NORTH

STATIONS.	No 16 Mail.	No 18 Express.	No 42 Accom.
Detroit	9 20 a m	6 40 p m
Toledo	10 50 "	8 25 "
Adrian	11 40 a m	9 20 "	5 10 a m
Tecumseh	12 14 p m	9 57 "	6 25 "
Clinton	12 22 "	10 07 "	7 30 "
Manchester	12 40 "	10 30 "	8 25 "
Norvell	12 58 "	10 43 "	9 05 "
Napoleon	1 05 "	10 55 "	9 25 "
Jackson	1 30 "	11 20 "	10 20 "

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Coupon tickets can now be procured at this station over best routes, to all principal cities in the U. S.

N. SATTERTHWAITE, Ticket Agent

Post Office, Tecumseh, Michigan.

MAILS CLOSE

Eastern and Detroit—morning mail ..... 7.30 A. M
Northern and Detroit, via Jackson ..... 11.40 A. M
Eastern and Detroit ..... 3.30 P. M

OVERLAND.

Clinton, Springville, Cambridge & Brooklyn, Mondays, Wednesdays, Fridays 1.30 "
Ridgeway—daily ..... 1.30 "
Lake Ridge, daily ..... 1.00 "
Macon, daily ..... 2.00 P. M

ARRIVALS.

Northern Mail ..... 10 A. M
Eastern Mail ..... 12.10 P. M 2.55 P. M
Office hours from 7 A. M. to 7 P. M. Sundays from 10 to 10.30 A. M.

FRED ROSECRANS, P. M.

For the Latest Styles of

Buggies, Carriages

SLEIGHS AND HARNESS.

TECUMSEH CARRIAGE FACTORY

Satisfaction Guaranteed

J. R. [illegible]

ABE HAYNER

General Auctioneer.

All Auction business entrusted to his care will receive prompt attention.

TECUMSEH, - MICHIGAN

BEN REYNOLDS.

Licensed Auctioneer.

ALL AUCTION BUSINESS,

Either in village or country, will be attended promptly.

TECUMSEH, MICH.

B. F. STEINHOFF'S

Dental Rooms.

OVER BAKER & HALL'S

GAS FOR EXTRACTING.

THE LOWEST PRICES for THE BEST WORK

ROSE'S EXTRACT

RED CLOVER BLOSSOM.

The Great Blood Purifier.

PURE AND HARMLESS

Cures Scrofula in all its forms, Canker, Syphilis, Erysipelas, Rheumatism and all other Blood and skin diseases, and regulates the bowels. $1 per pint bottle.

Loose's Red Clover Pills cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Constipation. They act on the liver and kidneys. In boxes of 25 pill, 25c., 5 boxes $1.

For sale by all druggists, or address I. M. Loose & Co., Monroe, Mich. Send for circular.

I have removed my

BLACKSMITH SHOP.

To the old stand of J. H. Mills, On Logan Street,

Opposite Hayden's Warehouse, where I have better facilities than ever for doing good work.

Horse Shoeing a specialty

ED. ROWLAND.

Saved His Character.

A horse-car was proceeding up Shawmut avenue on Saturday afternoon, and among its freight of precious human lives it bore six young men, all irreproachably dressed, and, to their own minds at least, of engaging personal appearance. Bunched up in a corner, also, was a man whose linen and complexion gave color to the opinion that he was engaged in the plastering trade, and whose features indicated that he was of Hibernian extraction. The car was crowded and bumped along slowly, and presently there entered a young woman of considerable charm of features, and looked about for a seat. Instantly the plasterer, and the six elaborately-adorned young men got up and in one breath tendered her the choice of seven separate and distinct seats. She accepted that which was offered by one of the gilded youths, whereupon the plasterer and the five remaining young men sat down again. Presently a colored woman with a big bundle came in and hung on to a strap while the young men remained in their respective positions, as if cemented thereto. Thereupon the plasterer, after looking up and down to see that nobody else arose, got up and said:

"Plaze to take this sate, mum. I offered it to the young leddy over yander whin she got in, but she tuk one that one o' thim byes alongside gave to her. So you take this, for begorra! if I should kape it from yez after offerin' it to the other leddy the folks aboord the car moight think I was a masher, an' I've got a charackter to sustain."

And thus speaking, he took his old clothes and a kit of tools that he fished up from under the seat to the front platform, and the youths looked out at him and gazed at one another, and knew not what to say, and there was silence in that car for the space of a block and a half.—Boston Journal.

Pulled His Tail.

The Portland (Oregon) Sunday Mercury tells the following story of a cougar conflict, and the daring deed of a courageous woman in her husband's defence. The immense forests in the neighborhood of Yaquina Bay are filled with cougars, bears, and other ferocious wild animals, that, when driven by hunger, sometimes seek the settlements for food.

A few days ago a farmer named Scurry, residing a short distance from Elk City, was attacked by a large cougar while he was at work on his farm near the house. The beast made a desperate fight, knocking the man down before he could defend himself, or use a pistol in his possession.

Scurry was growing faint in the deathly struggle that ensued, when his wife, who saw the attack from the door of her cabin, ran to his assistance, and without stopping to consider her danger, seized the brute's tail and by main force dragged the animal from his anticipated dinner. Scurry leaped to his feet, and before the cougar could renew the assault struck him with the sharp end of the mattock he had been using, killing him instantly.

Mrs. Scurry kept up well, but when there was no further need of exertion on her part she tottered and "fell all of a heap," as her husband said. He escaped with painful scratches and an ugly bite in the shoulder. They have dressed their assailant's skin, which now makes a handsome rug for the pioneer's best room.

Grape-Growers' Maxims.

1. Prepare the ground in fall; plant in spring.
2. Give the vine plenty of manure, old and well decomposed; for fresh manure excites the growth, but does not mature it.
3. Luxuriant growth does not insure fruit.
4. Dig deep but plant shallow.
5. Young vines produce beautiful fruit, but old vines produce the richest.
6. Prune in autumn to insure growth, but in spring to promote fruitfulness.
7. Plant your vines before you put up trellises.
8. Vines, like old soldiers, should have good arms.
9. Prune spurs to one developed bud; for the nearer the old wood, the higher flavored the fruit.
10. Those who prune long must soon climb.
11. Vine leaves love the sun; the fruit the shade.
12. Every leaf has a bud at the base, and every a bunch of fruit or a tendril opposite it.
13. A tendril is an abortive fruit bunch; a bunch of fruit a productive tendril.
14. A bunch of grapes without a healthy leaf opposite it is like a ship at sea without a rudder—it can't come to port.
15. Leaves shade; are politicians; if not checked, they are the worst of thieves.

A Saurian Curiosity.

Prof. Woodworth has just brought back from Permanimon a living specimen of the "sagauna," an enormous species of lizard, which has never before, it is said, been seen in this country. The creature will attain its full growth at the age of 30 years, and will then be about 3 feet and a half long, but it is now a mere infant of 4 months and only two feet in length. Unlike most saurians, it does not despise a vegetable diet, but is partial to the leaves of trees, to bananas and other fruits. But its taste is eclectic, and pretty nearly everything is grist which comes to the mill of its huge jaws. Chickens are always welcome, but if it has a specialty that specialty is dogs. The natives take advantage of that predilection and keep full-grown agamas in their houses in the capacity of fly traps. They likewise eat their flesh with avidity, and praise its delicate flavor. Prof. Woodworth's specimen knows its master and sleeps peacefully on his shoulder, but it bit three of the students on the first day he showed it to them.

Woman's rights are obtaining recognition in Norway. The Parliament has just passed a law, which the King has signed, giving women the privilege of attending the universities and applying for degrees in all arts and sciences; but the right to hold office in the service of the state, and of participating in the competitive examinations for such positions, is not yet accorded to them.

The Lime-Kiln Club.

"I hold heah in my han'," began Brother Gardner as the triangle sounded and Samuel Shin laid aside his harmonican. "I hold heah a letter from one of de charitable societies of Detroit axin' if dis club kin be depended on to aid in de good work dis winter. In sartin cases dis club kin be depended on fur a ton of coal, a cord of wood, a bar'l of flour or a $10 bill. In sartin odder cases dis club won't cum down wid as much as a shingle-nail. Public charity in dis kentry am a curus thing.

"It insists dat ebery man shall aim his own libin', an' den it turns in an' supports de class who will starve sooner dan work.

"It am de enemy of whisky, an' yet as soon as whisky makes a pauper it supports him.

"It flatters de man who gits a few dollars ahead, an' yet demands a sheer of dat money to aid de idle an' dissipated:

"Public charity comes as near bein' a bold-faced fraud as any sentiment you kin name. It encourages laziness by providin' fur de lazy. It encourages drunkenness by providin' fur de families of drunkards. It encourages immorality by providin' homes an' hospitals for de immoral. It encourages the spendthrift by feedin' an' clothin' him all winter arter he has squandered his money all summer. Public charity am a wall agin which de reckless, de lazy, de shiftless an' dissolute lean when all odder props give way.

"Simmer it down, and public charity means takin' de money which a man has saved by hard work an' economy an' usin it to support de man who has squandered time an' money widout a car' as to what became of him. It am blackmail on industry—it am a slap at economy—it am a kick at industry. How does it come dat wid dis kentry constantly growin' in wealth, and constantly furnishing increased chances fur poo' men to get along, dat pauperism am also increasin'? Eight-tenths of de saloons in America am supported by men whose families need ebery cent dey airn fur clothin' and bread, an' who rely on public charity in case of a hard winter. De kentry has five times as many paupers as it had fifteen y'ars ago? Why? Kase we raise five times as much money to support 'em. Double de amount of the poo' fund an' you will double de number of paupers.

"An' now let me ask a plain question. If I work hard week in an' week out—if my wife works hard an' economizes—if we patch, darn, dye an' cut ober—if we buy cheap tea an' coffee an' pare de 'taters close, an' manage to pay for a little home, an' put money in de bank fur sickness or death, has any human bein' a right to ask me to give one penny to a man who has thrown away scores of dollahs for beer an' tobacco—who plays keerds, an' shakes dice fur money—who works only when he feels like it—who neber dreams of economy—who neber practices self denial? I reckon not! Let us now turn our faces towards de rowteen of bizness."

The New Patter Song.

In Gilbert and Sullivan's new opera, "Iolanthe," the Lord Chancellor thus sings about a sleepless night:

When you're lying awake with a dismal headache, and repose is tabo'd by anxiety,
I conceive you may use any language you choose to indulge in without impropriety;
For your brain is on fire, the bedclothes conspire of usual slumber to plunder you.
First your counterpane goes and uncovers your toes, and your sheet slips demurely from under you;
Then the blanketing tickles—you feel like pickles—so terribly sharp is the pricking,
And you're hot and you're cross, and you tumble and toss till there's nothing 'twixt you and the ticking.
Then your bedclothes all creep to the ground in a heap, and you pick 'em all up in a tangle;
Next your pillow resigns and politely declines to remain at its usual angle.
Well, you get some repose in the form of a doze, with hot eyeballs and head ever aching;
But your slumbering teems with such horrible dreams, that you'd very much better be waking.

* * * * * *

You're a regular wreck, with a crick in your neck, and no wonder you snore, for your bower's on the floor; and you've needles and pins from your soles to your shins, and your flesh is acreep, for your left leg's asleep and you've cramp in your toes, and a fly on your nose, and some fluff in your lung and a feverish tongue, and a thirst that's intense and a general sense that you haven't been sleeping in clover.
But the darkness has passed, and it's daylight at last, and the night has been long, ditto, ditto my song, and, thank goodness, they're both of them over.

The Advantages of Draining.

A writer in the Prairie Farmer gives the good effects of land drainage as follows:

1. It removes the surplus water and prevents pooling in a soil. It should be noted, that, if the drains are used, they should be of sufficient size to remove the surplus water in twenty-four hours.
2. It prevents the accumulation of poisons in the soil, which result from stagnant water, either above or under the surface.
3. The ammonia is carried down into the soil by the descending rain, stored for the plant food instead of stopping on the surface and passing off by evaporation, or borne away with the surface waste.
4. It deepens and enriches the soil by opening the ground, allowing the roots of the plant to go deeper into the earth, decaying after harvest, they form channels into surface soil, providing resources for the plant more reliable, and making the same ground better for a greater length of time.
5. It avoids drouth, by enabling the plant to thrust its roots deeper into the soil.
6. The drainage increases the temperature of the soil. In some cases the average has been increased as much as ten degrees.
7. By securing uniformity of condition for plant growth, it hastens the maturing of the crop from ten days to two weeks.
8. It enables the farmer to work his land in wet or dry seasons, and insures a return for the labor bestowed.

A passage from a Chicago speech by Emory A. Storrs: "We must put the city of our soul where it belongs—away up on those shining eminences where, robed in white and throned above the clouds, it shall be bathed in the perpetual sunshine of an eternal fame. Imagine Chicago, with its 50,000 saloons, stuck on a hill and all painted white."—Philadelphia News.

Marriage.

Men and women, says Theodore Parker, and especially young people, do not know that it takes years to marry completely two hearts, even of the most loving and well-sorted. But nature allows no sudden change. We slope very gradually, from the cradle to the summit of life. Marriage is gradual, a fraction of us at a time.

A happy wedlock is a long taking in love. I know young persons think love belongs only to brown hair and plump, round crimson cheeks. So it does for its beginning, just as Mount Washington begins at Boston Bay. But the golden marriage is a part of love which the bridal day knows nothing of.

Youth is the tassel and silken flower of love, age is the full corn, ripe and solid in the ear. Beautiful is the morning of love with its prophetic crimson, violet, purple and gold, with its hopes of days that are to come. Beautiful also is the evening of love, with its glad remembrances, and its rainbow side turned toward heaven as well as earth.

Young people marry their opposites in temper and general character, and such a marriage is generally a good one. They do it instinctively. The young man does not say, "My black eyes required to be wed to blue, and my over-vehemence requires to be a little modified with somewhat of fullness and reserve." When these opposites come together to be wed, they do not know it, but each thinks the other just like himself.

Old people never marry their opposites, they marry their similars and from calculation. Each of these two arrangements is very proper. In their long journey these opposites will fall out of the way a great many times, and both will charm the other back again, and by and by they will be agreed as to the place they will go to, and the road they will go by and become reconciled. The man will be nobler and larger for being associated with so much humanity unlike himself, and she will be a nobler woman for having manhood beside her, that seeks to correct her deficiencies and supply her with what she lacks, if the diversity be not too great, and there be real piety and love in their hearts to begin with.

The old bridegroom, having a much shorter journey to make, must associate himself with one like himself. A perfect and complete marriage is, perhaps, as perfect personal beauty. Men and women are married fractionally—now a small fraction, then a large fraction.

Very few are married totally, and they only, I think, after some forty or fifty years of gradual approach and excitement. Such a large and sweet fruit is a complete marriage that it needs a winter to mellow and season. But a real happy marriage of love and judgment between a man and woman is one of the things so very handsome that if the sun were, as the Greek poets fabled, a God, he might stop the world in order to feast his eyes with such a spectacle.

Traveling Down.

Thirty-five years ago, when I was a peevish school-boy, and devoutly wished that every day in the week was Saturday, the maid-of-all-work in the average domestic castle was looked upon as a respectable and industrious fixture of the establishment. My excellent mother had one Pennsylvania Dutch servant girl, whom I particularly remember, and with a pleasure unmixed with glucose, for in those days sugar was sugar, and Katie (as we youngsters called the kitchen goddess) was beneficently liberal with it on our hourly slices of bread and butter. Kate had a periodical beau; that is to say, her special young man, who was a Kaltz town farmer, came to see her regularly about every two months. He didn't believe in thinning out his welcome. Never shall I forgot his first appearance at my father's house in Philadelphia. He came early one evening and brought all his clodhopper bashfulness along with him. I don't think Katie was a bit proud of him, for he was as clumsy as a skater in an air-hole, but she tied up her dress and brushed her glossy hair smooth, and came forward to greet him and introduce him to the folks she lived with. He went around the entire family circle, shaking hands with big and little, and when I got my poor, diminutive right flipper straightened out, the fingers were as sore as if they had been caught in a door-jam."

After some minor talk about his people and hers, up country, Katie said:

"Vell, Shon, how did you efer coom town ter Filadelphy?"

Then John hitched his chair, wiped his nose and forehead with a flaming handherchief about the size of a modern bed-quilt, put his immense digital grip-irons on his knees, leaning confidential forward, clearing his bull-like throat, and made this conclusive reply to the object of his visit:

"Katrina, I vill shust tell you how it vas. You see, I dakes der pay mare mit der vite hind food, and der planket und sattle-pags, und I drove down all der way from Kutzdown so treckly vonce more doo fur all. Und here I vas!"

We listened, and believed him.—The Metropolis.

How to be Beautiful.

A celebrated beauty, whose complexion at 60 was rather fresher than that of our women at 30, told a New York correspondent of The Washington Critic her secret this summer, and it was divided into two parts. First, she never used a washrag or towel on her face, but washed it with her hands, rinsing it off with a soft sponge. She used clear water in the morning, but white castile soap or very warm water at night, and after drying it on a soft towel she would take a flesh-brush and rub her cheeks, chin, and forehead. Second, if she was going to be up late at night she always slept as many hours in the day as she expected to be awake beyond her usual time. She finished her little sermon on beauty preservation by saying: "Soft water and sound sleep keep off wrinkles and spots, and girls should give more attention to this than they do, for

"With the coming of the crows' feet
Is the going of the beaux's feet."

"Why did you hide, Johnny?" said one boy to another. "I hide to save my hide," replied the other, as he hieed away to a secure spot.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENT DEPOT.

Grain, Flour, Feed and Coal.

SLAYTON & SON

Are still at the old stand with a complete line of

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.

PLOWS The Wiard Chilled, Mohawk Valley Clipper (steel.)

"Leader" Spring Tooth Harrow, Elwood, Robbins and Buckeye

CULTIVATORS.

"Springer" Spring Tooth Harrow, (on wheels.)

GRAIN DRILLS. (Buckeye, Farmer's Friend, Triumph.

THRESHERS, (The "Vibrator," and The "Buffalo Pitts.")

Portable and Traction Thresher Engines.

Rare Bargains in

Carriages, Platform, Spring and Lumber Wagons.

Lime, Water Lime, Salt, Cal. Plaster and Plastering Hair.

If you want anything in our line call and get prices before you buy.

FREE TRADE.

The Leading Feature of the Jackson Weekly Patriot,

for 1883, as for months past, will be an aggressive and fearless fight for

FREE TRADE!

THE FARMERS,
BUSINESS MEN, and the
LABORING CLASSES

are deeply interested, financially and morally, in the intelligent discussion of the great and overshadowing issue of

TARIFF TAXATION,

THAT COLOSSAL INIQUITY which restricts our commerce, confers unjust privileges and unreasonable profits upon a small, favored, wealthy class at the expense of all other pursuits and industries, and enormously enhances the cost of living.

Some of the ablest writers in the country contribute to the columns of the PATRIOT, and it has been widely quoted in this and other states, and it will endeavor to stand very near the van in this contest.

The PATRIOT gives an average of about forty columns per week of reading, and is excelled in no particular as an interesting, comprehensive, news, market and family journal.

Published Wednesdays, at $1.50 per year, in advance, or $1.25 in clubs of ten. Subscriptions can commence at any time, as each number is complete in itself.

CARLTON & VAN ANTWERP, Publishers,
JACKSON, MICH.

CATARRH DIRECTIONS.

HAY-FEVER

Insert with little finger a particle of the Balm into the nostrils; draw strong breaths through the nose. It will be absorbed.

Ely's Cream Balm effectually cleanses the nasal passages of Catarrhal virus, causing healthy secretions, allays inflammation, protects the membrane from additional colds, completely heals the sores and restores the sense of taste and smell. Beneficial results are realized by a few applications. A thorough treatment as directed will cure Catarrh, Hay Fever, &c.

Agreeable to Use.

Unequaled for Cold in the Head.

The Balm has gained an enviable reputation wherever known, displacing all other preparations.

RECOGNIZED AS A WONDERFUL REMEDY.

Sold by all druggists at 50 cents. On receipt of price will mail a package. Send for circular containing full information and reliable testimonials.

ELY CREAM BALM CO., Owego, N. Y.

TO ADVERTISERS.

GEO. P. ROWELL & CO'S

SELECT LIST OF LOCAL NEWSPAPERS.

An advertiser who spends upwards of $5,000 a year, and who invested less than $350 of it in this List, writes: "Your Select Local List paid me better last year THAN ALL THE OTHER ADVERTISING I DID."

IT IS NOT CO-OPERATIVE LIST.
IT IS NOT A CHEAP LIST.
IT IS AN HONEST LIST.

The catalogue states exactly what the papers are: When the name of a paper is printed in FULL FACE TYPE it is in every instance the BEST.—When printed in CAPITALS it is the ONLY paper in the place. The list gives the population of every town and the circulation of every paper.

The rate charged for advertising are barely one-fifth the publishers' schedule. The price for single states ranges from $2 to $80. The price for one inch one month in the entire list is $625. The regular rates of the papers for the same space and time are $2,980.14. The list includes 952 newspapers of which 187 are issued DAILY and 765 WEEKLY. They are located in 788 different cities and towns, of which 26 are State Capitals, 363 places of over 5,000 population, and 468 County Seats. For copy of List and other information address GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., 10 Spruce St., New York.

FOR SALE.

SEVEN PURE BRED

POLAND CHINA SOW PIGS.

Bred from the herd of C. W. Jones, Richland Kalamazoo Co., and A. C. Moir of Canton, Ill. Terms reasonable.

HENRY WILSON.

Residence 2½ miles west of Tecumseh.

C E'S

TEMPERANCE HOTEL

Cor. Congress and Bates Sts., DETROIT, MICH.

RATES—$1 to $1.25 per day. Single Meals 30c, Lodgings 35 to 50 cents.

We make a specialty of Dinner, and it is ALWAYS ready at 11:30 sharp. Come early and be served promptly.

Grand Central.

You can always find at the

Grand Central Supply STORE

—OF—

HENRY McCLURE,

The Largest and Best Selected STOCK OF

Groceries, Crockery,

Glassware, Lamps, &c.,

IN TECUMSEH.

Teas a Specialty!

Canned Fruits of all Kinds.

In fact, anything in this line can be bought at lowest figures.

Chicago Street HENRY McCLURE, TECUMSEH, MICH.

The price of the following organ has been advanced to $125 since inserting this electrotype.

BEATTY ORGANS

27 Stops, 10 Sets Reeds, $90

The Famous Beethoven Organ contains 27 Stops, 10 Sets Reeds.

PRICE ONLY $90

Order now. Remit by Bank Draft, Post Office Money Order, or Registered Letter. Boxed and shipped without a Moment's Delay. Factory running day and night. Organs built on old plan, $30, $40, $50 to 11 stops. Catalogue Free. Address or call upon DANIEL F. BEATTY, Washington, New Jersey.

The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.

It is constantly effecting the most wonderful cures, while the unparalleled demand with which it meets, stamps it at once as the greatest medicine of the age for outward application.

The most incredulous are convinced, and the most skeptical are compelled to believe in the power of this great remedy.

WHAT IT CURES.

ALL SORES, CUTS, BRUISES, SPRAINS, BERNS, SORE THROAT, LAMENESS, RHEUMATISM, INFLAMMATION of LUNGS and Bronchitis, CROUP, SALT RHEUM, PAINS, AFFECTIONS of the SPINE, BYTES AS, NERVOUS IRRITATION, and all diseases attendant with INFLAMMATION.

It never fails to restore the natural functions of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood by this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates to the very portion of the human frame; every bone, muscle, nerve, and ligament is searched and made sensible to its soothing and healing influence. Hence it copes readily with internal as well as external diseases.

Over 40 Years

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that as we have no space here to insert any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, we simply ask these readers of this notice who have never used this Ointment, to frankly state their experience with it to inquiring friends. If but one in a hundred would do this we should feel perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle.

Price 25 and 40 cents per bottle. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

D. RANSOM SON & CO., Prop'rs, Buffalo, New York.

A CURE GUARANTEED IN ALL CASES.

For Old and Young, Male and Female.

Magnetic Medicine; a Brain and Nerve Food; Positively cures Night Losses, Spermatorrhœa, Impotency, Nervous Debility, Leucorrhœa, Barrenness; and for all (BEFORE) weaknesses of the Generative (AFTER) organs in either sex, it is an unfailing and positive cure. Tones up the debilitated system, arrests all involuntary discharges, removes mental gloom and despondency, and restores wonderful power to the weakened organs. With each order for twelve packages, accompanied with five dollars, we will send our Guarantee to refund the money if the treatment does not effect a cure. It is the Cheapest and Best Medicine in the market. Full particulars in Pamphlet, which we mail free to any address. Sold by all druggists, one package 50 cts.; Six for $2.50, or sent by mail on receipt of price by addressing the MAGNETIC MEDICINE CO., DETROIT, MICH. Guarantees issued in Tecumseh by Waldo & Doty.

DRUNKENNESS & OPIUM EATING.

C. C. Beers, M. D. & Son, 433 Fourth avenue New York, have painless remedies for these evils. Thousands cured. Call or send stamp for evidence.

d Central.

always find at the Central Supply

TORE

—OF—

McCLURE,

ies, Crockery,

vare, Lamps, &c.,

IN TECUMSEH.

a Specialty!

Fruits of all Kinds.

ng in this line can be bought

HENRY McCLURE.
TECUMSEH, MICH

e following organ has been si-since inserting this electrotype.

ATTY
RGANS
10 Sets Reeds, $90

s Beethoven Organ contains ets Reeds.

E ONLY $90

t by Bank Draft, Post Office Money red Letter. Boxed and shipped t once as the greatest bargain t's Delay. Factory running day s built on old plan, $20, $40, $50 logue Free. Address or call upon ATTY, Washington, New Jersey.

TRASK'S
AGNETIC
NTMENT.

Healer of all Inflam-
ies and Disorders.

y effecting the most wonderful nparalleled demand with which it t once as the greatest medicine of rd application.
edulous are convinced, and the e compelled to believe in the t remedy.

T IT CURES.

S, BRUISES, SPRAINS, BURNS
LAMENESS, RHEUMATISM
MATION of LUNGS and KID-
EYS, CROUP, SALT RHEUM
FECTIONS of the SPINE, NER-
OUS IRRITATION, and all dis-with INFLAMMATION.
restore the natural functions o
ire the circulation of the blood controlling power is gained over t forms of disease. It penetrates
f the human frame; every bone,
e, and ligament is searched to its soothing and healing inces readily with internal as w
s.

40 Years

been used by the people throughout tes and our confidence in it at as we have no space here to numerous certificates of cures n all parts of the country, we esire of this notice who have tment, to frankly state their ex-inquiring friends. If but one d do this we should feel perfectly result. Full directions for mphlet around each bottle ents per bottle. Sold by all e.

OM SON & CO., Prop'rs,
Buffalo, New York.

RANTEED IN ALL CASES.
Young, Male and Female.
tic Medicine; a Brain Food; Positively cures ss, Spermatorrhœa, Im-
Nervous Debility, Leu-
Barrenness; and for all
ses of the Generative (AFTER x, it is an unfailing and positive
e debilitated system, arrests all rges, removes mental gloom and restores wonderful power to the
With each order for twelve nted with five dollars, we will se to refund the money if the effect a cure. It is the Cheapest in the market. Full particulars
h we mail free to any address.
ts, one package 50 cts.; Six for ail on receipt of price by ad-
GNETIC MEDICINE CO., DE-
Guarantees issued in Tecumseh

S & OPIUM EATING.
& Son, 433 Fourth avenue New remedies for these evils. Thou-
or send stamp for evidence.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

ATTORNEYS.

WILLIS MERRITT, ATTORNEY AT LAW, ADRIAN, MICH.

EDWIN B. WOOD, ATTORNEY AT LAW. Collections and Conveyancing. Office over W. & S. W. Anderson's Store, Tecumseh, Mich.

WILLIS MERRITT. W. W. FRAZER. Merritt & Frazer, Attorneys at Law. Insurance Agents, Tecumseh, Mich.

C. A. & S. U. STACY, ATTORNEYS AT LAW. Office in HERALD Building.

W. R. WOODEN, Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Tecumseh, Mich.

P. S. McKINNON, Attorney at Law and Justice of the Peace. All business promptly attended to. Office over W. & S. W. Anderson's Store.

C. A. & J. A. STACY, Attorneys at Law and Solicitors in Chancery. Office in Underwood Block Adrian, Mich.

MILLARD, WEAVER & WEAVER, Attorneys at Law, Adrian, Mich. Office in Masonic Temple, (Rooms lately occupied by Michigan State Ins. Co.) Alfred L. Millard, Clement E. Weaver, Charles M. Weaver.

PHYSICIANS.

H. PETERS, M. D. Office and residence at Geo. Curtis' house, corner Maiden Lane and Pottawatomie st. Special attention given to diseases of the Ear, Nose and Throat. All calls for the sick promptly attended to day and night.

C. M. WOODWARD, M. D., PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON. Office at Residence, Chicago street.

E. M. CONKLIN, M. D., PHYSICIAN & SURGEON. Office in Mills Block, Chicago St.

J. F. JENKINS, M. D., Office and residence second door west of Presbyterian Church, Chicago st. Professional calls promptly attended to, day or night.

R. B. HOUSE, M.D. O. Q. JONES, M.D. Drs. House and Jones, Physicians and Surgeons. Office over Lilley, Bidwell & Co's. Bank Office hours. Dr. House, 1 to 3 P. M., and 7 to 8 P. M. Dr. Jones, 9 to 12 A. M., and 3 to 6 P. M. Prompt attention given to all calls in village or country, day or night.

HOTELS.

SINK'S HOTEL, (Formerly the Merchants') W. H. SINK, PROPRIETOR. RECENTLY REFITTED AND REFURNISHED. Corner Chicago and R. R. Sts.

MISCELLANEOUS.

TECUMSEH FOUNDRY & STEAM ENGINE WORKS. H. BREWER & CO., PROPRIETORS. Manufacturers of Steam Engines, Mill Gearing and General Machinery, also manufacturers of the Tiffany Improved Patent Drain Tile Machine, Sword's Brick Machine, etc.

WM. DeMOTT, Tecumseh, Mich. Agent for The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co., of Milwaukee, Wis. Paid to policy holders since organization and held for them, $46,138,353.20. Total premiums received, $39,631,785.47. Excess of interest receipts over all expenses of management, $6,506,567.73. Dividends to policy holders in each of the past nine years unequaled by those of any other company on similar policies. Assets, January 1, 1882, over $18,850,000. Surplus, over four per cent. reserve, $3,022,611.61.

A. W. SLAYTON, Undertaker and Embalmer; store on Chicago St.; residence on Pearl St. Night calls will receive prompt attention. No charge for use of hearse.

CENTRAL MEAT MARKET. J. W. COLE, PROPRIETOR. Dealer in Fresh and Cured Meats, Fish, Poultry, etc. Chicago Street.

RAILROAD STREET MARKET. JOSEPH W. WOODEN, PROPRIETOR. Dealer in all kinds of Fresh and Salt Meats, Fresh Fish, etc.

DAVE MACHAM, Fashionable Barber and Hair Dresser. Chicago Street.

CURRY & BOSTWICK, Fashionable Barbers and Hair Dressers, shop in Richard's block, Chicago street.

A. D. BROWN, Practical Piano Tuner, and Agent for Hazelton Bros. Gabler, Wheelock and Hadley & Cody Pianos. Orders left at Wm. Shoemaker's Bookstore in Tecumseh, will receive prompt attention.

J. D. SHOLES, Manufacturer and Dealer in Saddles, Harness, Whips, Collars, Robes, Blankets, Brushes and Combs, Tecumseh, Mich.

CHAS. A. WALDRON, VETERINARY SURGEON. All orders promptly attended to, either by mail or in person. Office at the residence of A. S. Waldron, Tecumseh, Michigan.

SILVERS HOUSE, CLINTON, MICH., S. S. Erskine, Proprietor. Good sample rooms for commercial men. Rates reasonable.

CLOCK REPAIRING.

I will call at your house and repair your Clock. Drop a postal in the office to my address.
C. F. MORLEY,
Tecumseh, Mich.
N. B.—All work warranted.

P. B. SWICK,
Manufacturer of
Light & Heavy Harness
And Dealer in
Trunks, Whips, Robes, Blankets,
And all articles kept for sale in a first-class Horse Furniture Store.
GOOD WORK! LOW PRICES
Call and see him, one door east of Nyland's shoe store on Chicago street.
TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN

FLOWERS.

At Mrs. Spaulding's green house may be found a large variety of plants and flowers for the decoration of churches, dinner and supper tables, and sick rooms. Especial attention given to floral designs, for weddings, funerals etc. We are prepared to execute orders for every kind of floral decorations with the choicest and freshest of flowers, in the most artistic manner on short notice, and at very reasonable prices. The green house is open daily to visitors.

Orders left at D. W. Clark's grocery will receive promptattention.

FITS A Leading London Physician establishes an Office in New York for the Cure of EPILEPTIC FITS. From Am. Journal of Medicine.
Dr. Ab. Meserole (late of London), who makes a specialty of Epilepsy, has without doubt treated and cured more cases than any other living physician. His success has simply been astonishing; we have heard of cases of over 20 years' standing successfully cured by him. He has published a work on this disease, which he sends with a large bottle of his wonderful cure free to any sufferer who may send their express and P. O. Address. We advise any one wishing a cure to address
Dr. AB. MESEROLE, No. 96 John St., New York.

THIS PAPER may be found on file at Geo. P. Rowell & Co's Newspaper Advertising Bureau (10 Spruce Street), where advertising contracts may be made for it in NEW YORK.

ZOA-PHORA
(THE HEALTH BRINGER.)
LONG KNOWN AS
PENGELLY'S WOMAN'S FRIEND
Every mother of daughters should know about it—because it brings health
TO GIRLS
Who, at the age of Puberty, begin to depart with a Painful, Scanty, or Profuse Period.
TO YOUNG LADIES
Furnished with any of the complaints and weaknesses, to which, even the healthiest are subject.
TO OVER-WORKED WOMEN
Suffering from or threatened with Prolapsus Uteri or Bearing Down, with its attendant Ulceration pains in various parts of the body, headaches backaches and exhaustion.
To Women Advanced in Life
Who suffer from Hot Flushes, either before or after change, or from any of the irregularities attending the Critical Period, Bloating, Numbness, Wakefulness, Palpitation, Etc.
All these, and many other distressing complaints, usually attributed to other causes, but really peculiar to the sex, WILL CERTAINLY BE RELIEVED by Zoa Phora.
LEUCORRHŒA RUINS THE FINEST COMPLEXION.—Zoa Phora cures the former and restores the latter.
Abundant testimonials I have, from the best society, which, with other information and advice, will furnish privately to persons asking. Address,
R. PENGELLY, M. D.,
(Sold by Druggists.) KALAMAZOO, MICH.

DOWNS' ELIXIR.
N. H. DOWNS'
Vegetable Balsamic
ELIXIR
This valuable medicine is purely vegetable: the discovery of which was the result of many years' close study, in order to discover the cause, the symptoms, and the cure—viz; Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Croup, Asthma, Pleurisy, Hoarseness, Influenza, Spitting Blood, Bronchitis, and every species of oppression of the Chest and Lungs. In all cases where this Elixir has been duly administered its efficacy has been invariably manifested, convincing the most incredulous that is not incurable, if properly attended to.—Consumption, at its commencement, is but a slight irritation of the membrane which covers the Lungs; then an inflammation, when the cough is more observable, but rather dry; then becomes local fever and the pulse more frequent, the cheeks flushed and oil's more common. This Elixir in curing the above complaints, operates so as to remove all morbid irritations and inflamation from the lungs to the surface, and finally expel them from the system. It facilitates expectoration.
CONSUMPTION
It heals the ulcerated surfaces and relieves the cough and makes the breathing easy. It supports the strength and at the same time reduces the fever. It is free from strong opiate and astringent articles, which are of so drying a nature as to be in great danger of destroying the patient; whereas this medicine never dries or stops the cough, but, by removing the cause, generally destroys the hectic before the cough is entirely gone. Consequently, when the cough is cured the patient is well. Send address for pamphlet giving full directions for cure of pulmonary diseases. Price 35 cts., 50 cts., and $1.00 per bottle.
SOLD EVERYWHERE.
HENRY, JOHNSON & LORD, Props., Burlington, Vt.
DOWNS' ELIXIR.

DO Not Fail to send for our FALL Price-List for 1882. Free to any address upon application. Contains descriptions of everything required for Personal or Family use, with over 2,200 illustrations. We sell all goods at wholesale prices, in quantities to suit the purchaser. The only institution in America who make this their special business. Address
MONTGOMERY WARD & CO.,
227 and 229 Wabash Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

CATARRH! When you have had Catarrh long enough and want to be cured just write to DR. C. R. SYKES, Chicago, Ill., for full information of a sure cure. You WILL NEVER REGRET IT. SURE CURE

Cheapest Bibles Ever Furnished Agents. 2500 Illustrations; 170 extra features. Both Versions New Testament Free. Forshee & McMackin, Cincinnati, O. AGENTS WANTED

J. Verne's Story.

"We are now in longitude 120 degrees fifteen minutes, and latitude eighty-three degrees thirty-five minutes," said the doctor.

"Yes," said the captain.

"We have yet 17,852 miles, twenty yards, fifteen feet and nine inches of ice to cross before we reach our ship," said the doctor.

"Exactly," said the captain.

"In that case, it is time we were off," said Hatteras.

"We have left from the explosion 2,000 pounds of roast turkey, fourteen kegs of baked beans and eleven gallons of applejack," said the boatswain.

"Pack 'em on the sledge at once," said the captain.

"And how long will our provisions hold out?" asked the doctor.

"The applejack will probably last until morning," said the American.

"And after that?"

"We shall have to send to New Jersey for more."

"But how?"

"Leave that to me," said the American.

"How is the temperature?" asked the captain.

"One hundred and ten below zero."

"Good. Hand me my ear muffs. Are we ready?

"We are," said his companions.

"To the north!" cried the captain, executing a song and dance and kicking a Polar bear off an iceberg.

"To the north!" shouted his companions.

CHAPTER SECOND.

"All is not yet lost," said the captain. "I have just taken an observation. We have yet a few thousand miles to go. Shall we push on gentlemen?"

"We shall," cried his companions.

"We are down to our last drink," sighed the American. "But I have telephoned to Jersey City for fresh supply. If it arrives in time we are saved. There is not cold enough in the Arctic regions to stand up against Jersey City whisky."

"We have not eaten anything for seven weeks," said the doctor.

"But shall we turn back for trifles?" asked Hatteras. "Doctor, you must have a plan. Has your science gone back on you at this critical moment?"

"Give me two weeks in which to think over our situation," said the doctor, seating himself on a cake of ice and falling into a brown study.

"Bears!" said the boatswain.

"Where?" asked the captain, excitedly.

"They have been at our heels for the last two months," said the boatswain.

"The applejack," said the doctor.

"Magnificent!" said the captain.

"One sip and they are at our mercy," said the boatswain.

"Saved!" said his companions.

CHAPTER THIRD.

"We have now occupied this scooped out iceberg for three years," said the doctor.

"And there has been a monotony but our existance which does not agree with my love of excitement," said the American.

"You forget the whist," said the captain.

"You know I always prefer poker," said the American.

"It is simply a national prejudice," said the captain.

"Gentlemen, you will not quarrel with the temperature 200 below zero," said the doctor. "Remember we are now but 3,000 miles from the Pole. Save your breath for our final effort."

"We will," said the captain, shaking the hand of the American and setting up the blubber oil for the crowd.

CHAPTER FOURTH.

"We seem to be drifting into a seething whirlpool," said the captain.

"Yes, if we keep on this course five minutes longer we shall probably all be lost," said the doctor. "Let us take an observation," and he went forward with his instrument while the frail boat on which they were sailing whirled around at the rate of two thousand revolutions a minute, and then suddenly shot out at right angles as though fired from a hundred-ton gun.

"A narrow escape," said the doctor, quietly pocketing his glass and venturing aft.

"How long is it since we lost the American overboard?" asked the boatswain.

"About four months," said the doctor.

"We are now close upon the Pole," said Hatteras.

"As near as I can make out that must be it over there," said the doctor.

"You are right," said the captain. "To England shall belong the glory of its discovery."

"But it has a strange look," said the doctor, gazing through his glass. "Perhaps it's the fault of the Polar Sea atmosphere."

"It is covered with stripes," cried the captain, pulling his hair and leaping ashore as the boat grounded upon the beach.

"Can it be that dastardly Yankee has—"

"Shave, gentlemen," asked the American, stepping out of his barbershop at the base of the North Pole.

"He has," yelled the English captain, as he proceeded without delay to go insane.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Art and Mammon.

One day Alexander T. Stewart gave a commission to a celebrated artist in Paris to paint a little Parisienne, and offered to pay treble the ordinary price if the painter would put a heap of bead work in the little lady's costume. "That is a strange fancy," said the painter. "It is not a fancy at all," replied Mr. Stewart. "That picture will be exhibited at New York. All the elegant women will look at it, and if they see that the Parisiennes wear bead ornaments they will buy beads. Now, my house—A. T. Stewart & Co.—has a big stock of those articles, and by that means, you understand——," and the artist understood enough to refuse the commission.

Kate Field says the journalist "quietly accepts oblivion." We have known him to most enthusiastically seek for it when a citizen entered the sanctum with a club and announced his intention of pulverizing the entire staff. Just at the time when the journalist would accept it most gladly and quietly, oblivion is the hardest to find.

Matrimonial Stories.

At a recent fashionable wedding, after the departure of the happy pair, a dear little girl, whose papa and mamma were among the guests, asked, with a child's innocent inquisitiveness: "Why do they throw things at the pretty lady in the carriage?" "For luck, dear," replied one of the bridesmaids. "And why," again asked the child, "doesn't she throw them back?" "Oh," said the young lady, "that would be rude." "No, it wouldn't," persisted the dear little thing, to the delight of her doting parents who stood by; "ma does."

"Do you pretend to have as good a judgment as I have?" said an enraged wife to her husband. "Well, no," he replied deliberatively; "our choice of partners for life shows that my judgment is not to be compared with yours." In matters of controversy, however, the woman usually has the best of it. A witty old author advises men to avoid arguments with ladies, because, in spinning yarns among silks and satins, a man is sure to be worsted and twisted; and when a man is worsted and twisted he may consider himself wound up. The above retort might be matched by a dozen others culled from domestic controversy, in which the woman has come off triumphant. "Really, my dear," said a friend of ours to his better half, "you have sadly disappointed me. I once considered you a jewel of a woman, but you've turned out only a bit of matrimonial paste." "Then, my love," was the reply, "console yourself with the idea that paste is very adhesive, and in this case will stick to you as long as you live."

"See here," said a fault-finding husband, "we must have things arranged in this house so that we shall know where everything is kept." "With all my heart," sweetly answered his wife, "and let us begin with your late hours, my love. I should dearly love to know where they are kept." He let things run on as usual. It is not often, however, that one runs across such a crushing retort as that which a Sheffield husband received from his wife the other day, through the medium of the public press. He advertised in one of the local journals that he, Thomas A——, would no longer be answerable for the debts incurred by his wife, who seems to have been a truly amiable creature, if one may judge from the advertisement which she published next day in reply: "This is to notify that I, Elizabeth A——, am able to pay all my own debts now that I have got shut of Tommy."

Some husbands would be obliged to confess, if they told the plain, unvarnished truth, that when they led their wives to the altar their leadership came to an end. "Your future husband seems very exacting; he has been stipulating for all sorts of things," said a mother to her daughter, who was on the point of being married. "Never mind, mamma," said the affectionate girl, who was already dressed for the wedding, "these are his last wishes." This is a complete reversal of the rule laid down by the old couplet:

Man, love thy wife; thy husband, wife, obey;
Wives are our heart; we should be head alway.

In many instances, the state of the case is rather something like the following: "If I'm not home from the party to-night at 10 o'clock," says the husband to his better and bigger half, "don't wait for me." "That I won't," replies the lady, significantly; "I won't wait, but I'll come for you." He is home at 10 o'clock precisely.

No Use to Hurry.

I had often read of the slow speed made by southern railroad trains, but noticed nothing unusual until reaching Macon, says M Quad in the Detroit Free Press. The train pulled out at about fifteen miles an hour, slowed down to twelve, and the waits were long and tedious. Some of the crowd didn't seem to care if we never got there, but the drummer for a Philadelphia house took on terribly. He was blasting away when the conductor came along and inquired what ailed him.

"Why, I'll be left!" hotly exclaimed the drummer.

"Let's see? You go to Thomasville?"

"Yes, sir."

"You change cars at Smithville?"

"I ought to, but the train will be gone."

"Not a bit of it. That train is two hours behind time."

"Well, I'd rather wait in Smithville."

"You couldn't wait in that town two hours without being asked to drink some of the worst whisky ever made, and if you refused you'd have to fight."

"I could go to the hotel."

"Then you'd have to walk a mile in the sand. No bus comes down until our train whistles."

"I might drum up a customer."

"You couldn't drum nothing. The last Northern drummer in Smithville had to fly for his life."

"Couldn't I wait on the platform?"

"No, sir. There is no platform to wait on, and if there was, you'd be suspected of wanting to start a turpentine fire."

"Well, it's awful slow."

"What of it? The other train is still slower; no dinner can be had until we get there; there is nothing to see; the depot won't be open; you can't sell a paper of pins in the town; you can't get on to Thomasville; no one in the town plays poker; you can't find a decent cigar there, and from what I know of Smithville I can assure you that it has at least thirty citizens who would take a pop at you on general principles within six minutes of your landing there."

Soon after our speed was reduced to ten miles an hour, but the drummer had nothing more to say.

The Comet's Envelope.

It is now stated upon the best astronomical authority that the comet has thrown off an envelope. Of course if the envelope is gone the comet will get lost in the mails. It never could travel through a Star Route without an envelope, properly stamped and addressed, with an if-not-called-for-in-ten-days printed in one corner. It looks hard for the comet.—Rockland Courier-Gazette.

Dr. Rush's Specific
FOR CONSUMPTION.

A Positive Cure for Consumption In All Stages.

For Bleeding at the Lungs, Cold, Coughs, Croup, Bronchitis, Influenza, Asthma, and all affections of the Lungs it has no equal.

Dr. Rush's Specific for Consumption is recommended by all the leading physicians who are acquainted with its use.

Price, Large Size, $1.00
" Small " .50

Sold by Druggists everywhere.

Dr. Willoughby, the attending physician at the Sisters' Hospital and one of Buffalo's most prominent members of the profession, has used it for years, and says:

BUFFALO, Aug. 17, 1882.
Dr. Rush's Medical Association:
Dear Doctors—I unhesitatingly add my name to the long list of regular practitioners who have recommended your "Specific for Consumption," I have used it for many years in my practice for all pulmonary affections, and have always been more than satisfied with the results. I consider it the best compound known for all lung diseases.
Yours, M. WILLOUGHBY, M. D.

Dr. Howard, Professor of Anatomy, College of Physicians and Surgeons, Buffalo, N. Y., says:
Dr. Rush's Medical Association:
Dear Doctors—I have used your Specific for Consumption in my practice for years, with the best results. I consider it a sure cure for consumption, if taken according to directions.
Yours, truly, C. F. HOWARD, M. D.

DR. RUSH'S
"REGULATOR"
—FOR—Heart Troubles.
A SURE CURE FOR ALL DISEASES OF THE HEART.

Dr. Rush's "Regulator" has never failed to give relief. It has been used successfully for years, in subduing the most stubborn cases of heart difficulties.

Large Size, - - $1.00
Small Size, - - .50

Sold by Druggists everywhere.

Wm. G. Osgoodby, the well-known safe manufacturer of Buffalo, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Newark, and Atlanta, Ga., says:

Office of Osgoodby's Improved Safes,
17 South Broad Street,
ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 17th, 1881.
Dr. Rush's Medical Association:
Dear Doctors—The three bottles of Dr. Rush's Regulator I ordered were received by express last week. I have taken nearly one bottle, and am thoroughly satisfied with the result. For over two years I have been troubled with sharp pain at my heart. My physician, upon examination, pronounced it enlargement of the heart, and was unable to give me any relief. The trouble grew worse, and I had become convinced that I could not be cured. While in New York City, last week, I called on one of the most prominent physicians there, who charged me $25 for an examination, and then recommended your "Regulator." Knowing you to be a regular Medical Association, and not a patent medicine scheme, I ordered the three bottles. I have not been troubled since I commenced taking it, but shall continue and take the entire three bottles so as to obtain a permanent cure. You have my sincere thanks. I am, gentlemen,
Very respectfully,
WM. G. OSGOODBY.

DR. RUSH'S
BLOOD ROOT OIL
Gives immediate relief in all cases of
RHEUMATISM
Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quincy, Sore Throat, Swellings and Sprains, Burns, and Scalds, General Bodily Pains, Teeth, Ear and Headache, Frosted Feet and Ears, and all other Pains and Aches.

Dr. Rush's Blood Root Oil has no equal in the world as a liniment or oil. It is a cheap, safe, simple and sure external remedy for man or beast. It is put up in two sizes. Price 25 & 50 cts. Sold by druggists everywhere.

Cured of Rheumatism in Two Hours.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 2, 1882.
Dr. Rush's Medical Association:
Gentlemen—I have been troubled with rheumatism for two years. I tried all the best advertised oils and liniments, and many first-class physicians without relief. The last Doctor I visited recommended "Dr. Rush's Blood Root Oil." I purchased a large bottle for fifty cents and applied it. In two hours I was relieved, and now am entirely well. Its effects are wonderful, and I believe it the only thing in the world which will cure rheumatism.
Truly, yours, JOHN HUTCHINSON,
89 Erie St., Buffalo, N. Y.

MRS. DR. RUSH'S
Cathartic and Anti-Billious Pills

PREVENT & CURE Constipation and Piles. A sure remedy for Billiousness, Torpidity of the Liver, Jaundice and all Liver Complaints. It gives immediate Relief in Sick and Nervous Headache. They cleanse the stomach and thus remove all bad tastes from the mouth and make the breath pure and sweet. Remove all Impurities and Sallowness from the complexion.—Pleasant to take and agreeable in their action. Entirely unlike other Pills. Purely vegetable. Price 25 cents.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

The above preparations are prepared by Dr. Rush's Medical Association, in which Dr. Rush is associated with the most prominent specialists of both Europe and America. Special treatment can be obtained for any disease. These medicines are the regular prescriptions for the diseases mentioned, and never fail to give relief. They can be obtained in Detroit, Mich., at wholesale of FARRAND, WILLIAMS & CO., and any druggist will gladly obtain them for you upon application, or they can be obtained of us direct. Address
DR. RUSH'S
Medical Association,
Buffalo, N. Y., U.S.A.

GUARDIAN SALE.

BY virtue of an order of the Probate Court for Lenawee County, Michigan, made on the 11th day of December, A.D., 1882 authorising the same, as guardian of William Taylor, an insane person, I shall on the 27th day of January, 1883, at the office of E. B. Wood, Tecumseh, Michigan, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, offer for and sell at public vendue to the highest bidder those parcels of land situate in the township of Raisin, Lenawee Co. Mich. known and described as follows: The east half of the northwest quarter of section eight, and also, that parcel in said township bounded by commencing at a stake in the prairie set up in the center point in the north line of the southwest quarter of said section eight, from thence south along the line between the east and west halves of said south west quarter of said section, one degree and thirty minutes (1°—30') east eight chains to a stake in the prairie, thence eastward nine chains and eighty-three links to a leaning white oak corner, thence along the margin of the low ground south thirty-four degrees and fifty minutes (34°—50') east six chains and forty-seven links to a stake, thence along the margin of the low ground south sixty-two degrees and fifty minutes (62°—50') east seven chains and eleven links to a stake between the east and west halves of said section to a white oak tree about sixteen inches in diameter, blazed and notched, near the ground; bears south seventy-three and one-half degrees west ninety-six links; thence along the line between the east and west halves of said section north one degree and twenty minutes (1°—20') west sixteen chains and forty-two links to a stake at the center of said section; thence along the line between the north and south halves of said section north eighty-nine degrees and thirty minutes (89°—30') west nineteen chains and fifty-two links to the place of commencement. All in Town six south, of Range four east, and containing one hundred acres of land more or less, subject to a certain indenture of mortgage made by said insane person to one Joseph Taylor, of England, and recorded in Register of Deed's office for said county in liber 52 of mortgages at page 379, upon which there is due the sum of about five hundred and fifty-three and 43-100 dollars. Further terms of sale published at and before sale.

Dated December 14th, 1882.
CHARLES C. TEFFT,
Guardian.

EXECUTORS' SALE.

ESTATE of Esther Jones, deceased. Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a license granted to us, as executors of last will of said deceased by the Judge of Probate for Lenawee County, Michigan, made on the 27th day of November, A. D. 1882, therefore, we will sell on the 26th day of January, A. D. 1883, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the dwelling houses upon the premises respectively to be sold, the estate, title and interest of said deceased in and to those parcels of land situate in the village of Tecumseh, Lenawee County and State of Michigan, known and described as follows: The south half of the west two-thirds of lot fifteen of the original recorded plat of said village of Tecumseh, bounded west by Oneida street, north by George Wilson's land, east by the J. Plank lot, and south by Chicago street, being six rods north and south and four rods east and west. Lot No. twenty-eight of the original recorded plat of said village, being six rods by twelve rods. Also the north three-fourths of lot twenty-seven of the original recorded plat of said village of Tecumseh, being six rods by nine rods. Said lot twenty-seven is sold subject to a mortgage made by deceased for $110.00, dated September 9th, 1881, with interest thereon from September 9th, 1882, at eight per cent.

Terms of sale published at and before sale.
Dated December 14th, 1882.
BENJAMIN L. BAXTER,
EDWIN B. WOOD,
Executors.

ESTATE OF CHARLES H. MAHAR.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, s. s.

At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate Office in the city of Adrian on Monday, the 4th day of December, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Charles H. Mahar, minor.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Patrick Kehoe, guardian of said minor, asking for the allowance of his guardian's account and rendering his resignation as such guardian.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the 8th day of January next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the next-of-kin of said minor and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate office, in the City of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.
(A True Copy.)
NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate. dec14

SIFTED THEM OUT
Winnowing the Wheat from the Tares—
A Problem Easily Simplified.

"My friend," said the druggist, "you have a lame back, you say, and want a plaster to put on it. Once I could have shown a large assortment to choose from. Now I keep only a few, and sell most of BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTER. Why? Because they are the best. I have Allcock's, the Capsicum, and some others. They are harmless and slow. Business is business, and I gradually ceased to deal in them to any great extent."

"All right, do me up a Capcine, without any more talk, for my back aches as though I had been working my passage in a baggage car."

"Here you are," said the druggist, "with the word CAPCINE cut in the middle of the plaster, proving it to be genuine."

"And here's your twenty-five cents," said the lame-backed man, walking slowly away.

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption.

When death was hourly expected, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting with the many herbs of Calcutta, he accidentally made a preparation which cured his only child of Consumption. His child is now in this country, and enjoying the best of health. He has proved to the world that Consumption can be positively and permanently cured. The doctor now gives this Recipe free, only asking two three-cent stamps to pay expenses. This hero also cures night sweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break up a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Craddock & Co., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, naming this paper.

One Dollar! One Year!
THE WEEKLY PLAIN DEALER.
Cleveland, Ohio. $1.00 for a year's subscription. A leading Democratic journal and valuable Family Newspaper. Send a dollar for the best paper in the West for the price. PLAIN DEALER PUBLISHING CO., Cleveland, Ohio. Sample copy free.

CANCER
CAN BE CURED.
LOOSE'S EXTRACT RED CLOVER,
Has, by its merits alone, acquired a great reputation as a cure for cancer.
Many cancers have been cured by its use, but we do not claim that every cancer can be cured; but even in those cases where cures cannot be effected, its cost is as nothing, when compared with the
RELIEF OBTAINED
And its power for prolonging life.
LOOSE'S RED CLOVER PILLS
Cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation, and all kindred diseases. They act on the Liver and Kidneys, and purify the blood. In boxes of 25 Pills, 25c.; 5 boxes for $1.00. Send for circular. Cut this out and send to your friends suffering with cancer.
J. M. LOOSE & CO., MONROE, MICH

CONSUMPTION.
I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed, so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE, together with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease, to any sufferer. Give Express and P. O. address.
DR. T. A. SLOCUM, 181 Pearl St., New York.

YOUNG MEN If you want to learn Telegraphy in a few months, and be certain of a situation, Address, Valentine Bros., Janesville, Wis.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

The Government has employed special counsel in the Detroit tobacco cases.

Red Cloud is in the city to talk about the Pine Ridge Agency affairs.

During the last month 40,625 immigrants arrived in this country from Europe.

Dr. Reyburn was the first of the Garfield claimants to present his warrants.

It is said that the Indians on the Red River are willing to take separate reservations.

It is reported here that Rerdell, in order to save himself, will turn state's evidence in the star route trial.

By order of Secretary Folger the exchange of 3½ per cents into 3's will be suspended during the month of February.

John F. Olmstead, of Washington, has been nominated by the President Commissioner of the District of Columbia.

The exports of breadstuffs during November amounted to $15,300,494, against $18,025,888 in November last year.

In Carris' political assessment case the Supreme Court reaffirmed the decision of the lower court of New York.

Montana people have been grumbling about delay in their mail service, and instructions have been issued which will probably remedy the matter.

Ex-Senator Conkling made a three hours' argument for the Southern Pacific Railroad before a large audience in the Supreme Court Wednesday.

All the first and second-class Postmasters have been notified to make no purchases of office furniture until authorized to do so by the First Assistant Postmaster General.

The senate committee on railroads has agreed to make a favorable report on the bill authorizing the Southern Pacific and other railroads to consolidate into a continuous line from ocean to ocean.

The house pension committee has agreed to report a bill giving $8 per month to soldiers engaged for thirty days in the Mexican, Blackhawk, or Florida wars, or their widows.

The heirs of William Blackmore, residing in Pittsburg, have engaged attorneys to prosecute their claim to the ground in Washington on which stand the capitol, white house, treasury, and navy buildings, and hundreds of residences and stores.

Rumors are floating about Washington that within sixty days Secretary Lincoln will be appointed minister to England, Gen Hartranft be made secretary of war, and Attorney General Brewster be given Justice Bradley's seat on the supreme bench.

Yee Ot, who made a fortune in the laundry business at Allegheny City, has returned to China to marry his cousin. The matter has caused a vast amount of talk. Sec Folger was appealed to, and decided that under the last law the bride can not be brought here.

Colonel Pleasants, of Georgia, charged with misappropriating funds, had an interview with Secretary Folger Friday, and begged that he be permitted to retain his office for two years, in which time he could make good the deficiency. The Secretary said he could not have it for two hours, and peremptorily ordered his removal.

The bill introduced in congress to permit the construction of a wagon bridge between Omaha and Council Bluffs is supported by the merchants of the latter city, but a hard fight is being made by the Union Pacific, which has a monopoly of car ferriage. The estimated cost of the work is $2,000,000, which can be readily obtained.

The House Appropriations Committee completed the army bill. It reduces the appropriations about $1,600,000 from last year and the bill as it will be reported to the House, appropriates $300,775 less than the estimates were. The total appropriation is $24,000,000. A provision of the bill retires officers at the rank they occupy at the time they are retired instead of at the time they are wounded. The proposition providing for the increase of the standing army was rejected by the committee.

A QUEER STATE OF AFFAIRS.

The foreman of the present star-route jury, when his name was drawn, said his mind was made up already. Nevertheless, both sides accepted him, and the court ordered that he be sworn. Before the trial began he again repeated from his place on the jury-bench and to the court the reasons why he was not a proper juror, and asked to be excused; but the request was not granted, and he will serve. This circumstance has given rise to much comment, particularly in legal circles. The juror is known to be, and he himself told the court that he was, a follower of Col. Ingersoll in his peculiar religious notions. What does it mean? is the question in nearly every body's mouth.

THE ARMY AND NAVY.

The social influence of the families and connections of army and navy officers in Washington upon congress, and especially upon the senate, has always rendered it difficult to pass through both branches of the national legislature any measures affecting the personnel of these services adversely to the army. In this respect the navy has enjoyed greater advantage than the army, by reason of the number of detailed army officers always in the city, as represented by resident family connections in high places. The senate generally checkmates the house in such matters. Regardless of obstacles likely to be encountered at the other end of the capitol, the committee on appropriations have recommended some important reforms in the staff and pay departments, and in these they are believed to have the hearty sympathy of the majority of army officers outside of Washington. An amendment, suggested by Mr. Thomas, of Illinois, and agreed to, provides that officers detailed for staff duty shall not receive extra pay and allowances. The case of Lieut. Fred Grant, detailed for service on Gen. Sheridan's staff with rank and pay of lieutenant colonel, was cited as an instance of flagrant abuse of the existing laws. The committee also provides for the gradual reduction of the number of paymasters and the ultimate absorption of the pay department by the quartermaster's department. This is to be done by adhering rigidly to the rule that no additional paymasters shall be appointed and no vacancies arising from any cause shall be filled, and whenever all of the paymasters have died, resigned, retired, or been dismissed the payment of the army shall be transferred to the quartermaster's department. This scheme was approved by a large majority of the members present Friday, but one member who was opposed to it prevented its adoption by making the point that there was not a quorum present. Only 125 members remain in the hall, and the house was obliged to adjourn without completing the bill.

THE CIVIL-SERVICE BILL.

Mr. Dorman B. Eaton makes the following statement of the condition and prospects of the civil-service reform bill: "The Pendleton bill is quite certain to pass the senate. It will receive nearly all the Republican votes, and I think half and perhaps more of the Democratic votes. It is likely to occupy another day and perhaps more of the time of the senate. There have been many amendments introduced, but with two or three exceptions they are without the spirit of the bill and not likely to be adopted in any form which will change its structure or imperil its efficiency. There are two amendments, each providing for an examination competitively of those already in the public service, which I do not think have any chance of passing the senate, but may possibly find so much strength on the Democratic side as to protract the debate. The result thus far has shown that the general frame of the bill, and indeed its essential provisions, are as appropriate for carrying forward such a reform as public opinion will sustain as any that could have been devised. The clause requiring entrance at the lowest grade has been more attacked than any other. I do not regard the clause as very material, and it is quite probable that it may be left out of the bill. But whether it is retained or not, or whatever party may be in power, I think it quite certain that the greatest majority would come into the service at the lowest grade. The opposition to the provision assumes that it has a political significance and also a practical effect which the framers never intended or imagined. To allay the suspicion and mistrust which might perhaps imperil the bill in the house, it would be best perhaps to omit the clause. The prospect of passing the bill in the house is not so good, though I think it will pass that body. The bill introduced by Mr. Kasson provides for four-year terms, but not for competitive examinations. It contains what I must regard as impractical provisions effecting removals. I can not look upon it as a reform measure at all, but doubtless it is so intended by its promoters. It would require a change every day of the year in the New York custom-house and postoffice. It will be denounced by the Democrats as a manifest attempt to keep the present men in office, under a Democratic president, and hence as an effort to give party advantage under the guise of reform. Nothing so much as this Kasson bill imperils the passage of the Pendleton bill in the house, and I think it much to be regretted that Mr. Kasson can not be induced to move the Pendleton bill in that body. It will be moved by Mr. Hiscock, who is giving to the Pendleton bill an efficient support. I do not think the Kasson bill has any chance of passing either house, and while I think Democrats enough will support the Pendleton bill to carry it through the house, yet the Kasson bill places it in considerable peril."

CONGRESSIONAL.

SENATE.

DEC. 18.—Mr. Sherman presented a bill to extend for two years the time in which spirits must be withdrawn from bonded warehouses. Mr. Plumb reported a measure to authorize the sale to settlers of part of the Fort Dodge reservation. The provisions of the Indian appropriation bill, which sets aside $9,625,000, were explained by Mr. Dawes, and several amendments reported by the senate committee were adopted. Mr. Brown stated that the committee appointed to attend the funeral of Ben H. Hill expended only $1,025. The house resolution in regard to the death of Mr. Orth called out tributes of respect, and caused an adjournment.

DEC. 19.—Mr. Sherman presented a memorial asking that monthly publications be carried by mail at the same rate as weeklies. The Indian appropriation bill was passed, with an amendment directing the removal of the Crow agency to the vicinity of Fort Custer. Mr. Logan introduced a bill which requires every telegraph or cable company to forward the business of any other line. The bill to extend the time for the withdrawal of distilled spirits in bond was called up by Mr. Sherman. Mr. Ingalls secured an amendment for the collection of 6 per cent. interest after the expiration of three years from entry. Mr. McPherson offered a resolution for a rebate in case the tax on tobacco is reduced.

DEC. 20.—The senate passed the consular appropriation bill. Mr. Saunders, by request, introduced an act for the admission of Utah as a state, and a bill for the construction of a bridge across the Missouri directly between Omaha and Council Bluffs. When the civil-service bill came up, Mr. Pendleton offered an amendment striking out the provision that original entrance to the service shall be in the lowest grade.—This provoked a free-for-all talking match, in which several senators tired out their tongues, when an executive session came to their relief.

DEC. 21.—In the senate, petitions were presented for a rebate on tobacco, for the repeal of all taxes on that article, and for immediate action on the bonded whisky bill. Mr. Bayard gave notice that he would endeavor to quiet apprehension in the tobacco business by pressing a tobacco rebate resolution. Mr. Saunders offered a resolution in favor of reserving all government lands for actual settlement. A proposition for a holiday recess was voted down by 25 to 36. The agricultural appropriation bill was passed.

DEC. 22.—The senate adopted a resolution in favor of giving a rebate on tobacco in case the tax be reduced. The civil-service bill was considered. Mr. Brown's amendment to limit the term of the commissioners was lost. Mr. Saulsbury's proposition that the commissioners take an oath to perform their duties without political bias was accepted, and their salaries were fixed at $3,500 each.

HOUSE.

DEC. 18.—The desk of the late Hon. G. S. Orth in the house was draped in mourning, and the chaplain alluded to his death in tender phrases. Mr. Butterworth offered a resolution reciting the injury done the tobacco trade by the proposition to reduce the tax, and pledging the house to grant a rebate on unbroken packages should the tax be repealed. Mr. Kelley reported back unfavorably the resolution for a holiday recess, and it was voted down by 105 to 123. A resolution offered by Mr. Robeson, to impose a fine of fifty dollars per day on members absent during the holidays, was adopted.

DEC. 19.—A bill was introduced to limit the number of liquor saloons in the District of Columbia to two hundred. Mr. Mills offered a resolution inquiring of the postmaster general if letter-carriers had been prohibited from wearing overcoats. A number of requests for leave of absence having been presented, it was voted by 177 to 101, to adjourn from December 22 to January 2. Bills were introduced—to prevent federal office-holders from interfering with the freedom of elections, to stop the importation of adulterated tea, to annul the anti-polygamy law and to repeal the statutes for the preemption of public lands. A resolution was adopted that the Garfield board of audit report all claims presented and allowed. The postoffice appropriation bill was considered in committee of the whole and the relations of the Pacific roads to the government were fully explained.

DEC. 20.—The house passed a bill to permit retired army officers to hold civil offices in the territories, after rejecting an amendment to cover their retired pay into the treasury. The postoffice appropriation bill was passed. Mr. Lynch offered a resolution to extend the provisions of the pension appropriation bill to enlisted colored men. Fifteen leaves of absence were granted.

DEC. 21.—In the house, Mr. Kelley reported a resolution for a rebate on tobacco in stock in the event of a reduction of the tax, and Mr. Kasson presented a substitute affirming that the only reduction made will be that provided for in the house bill now pending. The speaker presented a report by the collector of customs at Sitka, justifying the bombardment of an Indian village by the revenue schooner Corwin. The army appropriation bill, which sets aside $24,681,700, was considered in committee of the whole. Mr. Hewitt argued in favor of giving land-grant railroads for transportation only half what is paid by private parties, and Messrs. Hiscock, Robinson and Butterworth antagonized his position.—Twenty-five leaves of absence were granted.

DEC. 22.—The house adopted a resolution to adjourn to Wednesday, January 3, after which date the hours of meeting will be 11 a. m. The army appropriation bill was taken up in committee of the whole. Mr. Thomas, of Illinois, instancing the case of Lieutenant Fred Grant, secured an amendment providing that aids-de-camp shall receive no additional rank or pay for staff duty. Mr. Brown offered an amendment designed to prevent the appointment of political pets to army paymaster ships, but a vote disclosed the lack of a quorum. Twenty-eight members were given leave of absence.

UTAH Masons refuse to admit Mormons into the fraternity. This will meet with the approval of the craft all over the country. The sanctity and purity of their homes are the cardinal virtues of Masonry, and always encouraged.

AUCTION SALE.

J. Conkling will sell at auction, four miles southeast of Tecumseh, Thursday, Jan. 4, 1883, at 12 o'clock, m., the following property: 1 span work mares, 1 three-year-old colt, 1 two-year-old colt, 1 yearling colt, 1 double and 1 single harness, 2 milch cows, 1 yearling heifer, 2 calves, 2 breed sows, 12 pigs, 30 sheep, 2 lumber wagons, 1 single carriage, 1 pair bob-sleighs, 1 pair light bobs, 1 grain drill, and a lot of other agricultural implements, consisting of harvester, binder, reaper and mower, etc.; 300 bushels corn in ear, 800 bundles cornstalks, 10 tons hay, and a lot of household furniture. Terms as usual. Abe Hanford, auc'r.

SEE our three big offers for subscriptions for 1883.

LETTER LISTS.

Tecumseh.

Remaining uncalled for in the Post-Office at Tecumseh, Dec. 28, 1882.

Albright, F N	Haden, Mr James
Allen, Miss Ellen	Jaffery, Mr W H
Beals, F H	Jones, Mrs Delia
Bross, Mrs J H	Mayland, H
Chatfield, Mrs Phebe	Robinson, M L
Cannon, Mrs Henry	Randal, Mrs Asia
Dargauty, Miss Mary	Smith, Mrs Emma
Fought, Charley	Swart, H A
Hill, W H	Wilson, Daniel S
Hartmann Belle,

Persons calling for letters in the above list will please say "Advertised."

FRED ROSACRANS, P.M.

GENERAL MARKETS.

CHICAGO.

WHEAT.—Higher; December, 91¼@91⅜c; January, 91⅞@92⅛c; Feb., 93⅛@93⅜c. CORN.—Lower; December, 50@50⅛c; Jan., 49@49⅛c; Feb., 48⅞@49c. OATS.—Higher; December, 30⅝@30⅞c; Jan., 35@35⅛c; Feb., 35@35⅛c. RYE.—Firm; December 57⅛@58c; Jan., 58⅛c. PROVISIONS.—Mess Pork lower; Dec., $16.92½@17.00; Jan., $17.07½@17.10; February, $17.20@17.25. Lard—Steady; Dec sold at $10.27@10.27½; January, $10.32½@10.32½; Feb., $10.42½@10.45. CATTLE.—Market firm. We quote:

Fancy heavy export steers	$6.40@6.85
Choice fat steers	5.85@6.25
Good do.	4.60@5.75
Medium grade steers	4.10@4.50
Fair to medium steers	3.75@4.30

Hogs.—Market firm. Sales ranged from $5.75@6.25 for light packing and shipping; $6.15@6.60 for heavy packing, and from $6.25@6.70 for fair to choice smooth heavy shipping lots.

BUTTER.—Steady and firm. We quote: Choice to Fancy Creamery at 38a40c ₱ lb; ordinary to good do. 25a33c; good to fancy Dairy at 28a34c; common to fair do. 20a25c; Ladle-packed, 15a16c; packing stock at 13 13½c; Grease, 9a11c.

NEW YORK.

WHEAT.—Higher; No. 2 Dec., $1.07⅝ 1.08; January, $1.08⅛@1.09⅛; February, $1.11¼@1.11⅜. CORN.—Quiet; Mixed Western Spot, 57@71c.

CINCINNATI.

FLOUR.—Market quiet; Family, $4.10@4.25. WHEAT—Firm; No. 2 Red Winter, 95@96c. CORN.—Lower; No. 2 Mixed, 49c. OATS.—Higher; No. 2 Mixed, 41c.—RYE.—Quiet; No. 2 Fall, 62½c. PROVISIONS—Pork dull at $17.50. Lard quiet at $10.20.—Bulk Meats firm; Clear sides $6.37½@9.12½. Bacon dull; Clear sides $11.50.

MILWAUKEE.

WHEAT.—Lower; December, 84c; January, 93⅜c; February, 93⅝c; No. 3, 78⅝c. CORN.—Lower at 53½c for No. 2. OATS.—Firm; No. 2 White, 36c. RYE.—Higher; 77½c No. 1. BARLEY.—Lower at 73c for No. 2.

TECUMSEH MARKET.

Corrected Every Thursday Morning.

Apples, ₱ barrel	1 75 @	2 00
Apples, dried, ₱ lb	@	06
Butter, ₱ lb	20 @	25
Barley, ₱ bushel	60 @	72
Beans, ₱ bushel	1 75 @	2 25
Buckwheat, ₱ bushel	60 @	65
Buckwheat Flour, ₱ hundred	@	4 50
Beef—dressed, ₱ hundred	5 00 @	6 00
Beef Hides	5 @	6
Calf Skins, ₱ lb	8 @	10
Corn in ear	28 @	30
Corn—shelled, ₱ bushel	60 @	65
Clover Seed	5 25 @	5 50
Chickens—dressed	10 @	12
Eggs, ₱ doz	@	26
Flour, ₱ barrel	5 50 @	6 25
Hogs—dressed, ₱ cwt	6 00 @	6 75
Hogs—live, ₱ cwt	4 75 @	5 50
Hay, ₱ ton	10 00 @	12 00
Honey, ₱ lb	@	15
Ham, ₱ lb	@	14
Lard, ₱ lb	@	13
Oats, ₱ bushel	33 @	40
Onions, ₱ bushel	@	60
Potatoes, ₱ bushel	40 @	45
Salt, ₱ barrel	@	1 20
Sheep Pelts	50 @	1 00
Timothy Seed, ₱ bushel	@	2 50
Turkeys—dressed, ₱ lb	@	10
Wood, ₱ cord	3 00 @	4 00
Wheat, White, ₱ bushel	94 @	1 00
Wheat, Red, ₱ bushel	95 @	1 00
Wool	30 @	33

OUR NEW

FALL STOCK

—OF—

HEAVY DRAPERIES

Is rapidly coming in, and is well worthy of your attention. We make up

Long Curtains,

Portieres,

Valances,

—AND—

MANTLE LAMBREQUINS,

All in the Latest Styles and of the Newest materials.

We give special attention to Interior Decorations and ask the favor of a call from those thinking of such improvements.

STERLING & CO.,

196 & 198 Summit Street,

TOLEDO, OHIO.

PENSIONS FOR SOLDIERS, on any disease, wound or injury. Parents, widows and children are entitled. Fee $10. Increase pensions, bounty, back pay and honorable discharges procured. New Laws. Send stamp for instructions and bounty table. N. W. FITZGERALD & CO., Attorneys, Box 588 Washington, D.C.

A New Stock

—OF—

FUNERAL FURNISHING GOODS,

Including a great variety of

CLOTH COVERED CASKETS,

IN WHITE AND BLACK.

Embalming Made a Specialty.

PRICE REDUCED FOR 1883.

TERMS—SIX MONTHS.

Ten Per Cent Discount Thirty Days.

C. P. WARING,

RIDGEWAY, MICH

PATENTS

CAN I OBTAIN A PATENT?

Send a rough sketch or (if you can) a model of your invention to GEORGE E. LEMON, Washington, D. C., and a Preliminary Examination will be made of all United States records of patents of the same class of inventions and you will be advised whether or not a patent can be obtained.

FOR THIS PRELIMINARY EXAMINATION NO CHARGE IS MADE.

What will a Patent Cost?

If you are advised that your invention is patentable, send $20 to pay Government application fee of $15, and $5 for the drawings required by the Government. This is payable when application is made, and is all of the expense unless a patent is allowed. When allowed the attorney's fee, $25, and the final Government fee ($20) is payable. This you know beforehand, for notice, whether you are going to get a patent or not, and no attorney's fee is charged unless you do get a Patent. An attorney whose fee depends on his success in obtaining a Patent will not advise you that your invention is patentable, unless it really is patentable, so far as his best judgment can aid in determining the question; hence, you can rely on the advice given on a preliminary examination. Design Patents and the Registration of Labels Trade Marks and Re-issues secure Patents. Rejected, Abandoned or Forfeited Patents. Very often valuable inventions are used in the classes of cases. If you have undertaken to secure your own patent and failed, a skillful handling of the case may lead to success. Send me a written request addressed to GEORGE E. LEMON, stating that he recognizes GEORGE E. LEMON, of Washington, D. C., as your attorney in the case giving title of the invention and about the date of filing your application. An examination and report will cost you nothing. Separate fees for title to inventions, in fact any information relating to Patents promptly furnished. Copies of Patents furnished at the regular Government rates, 25c. each. Remember this office has been in successful operation since 1865 and you thus have the benefits of experience, besides reference can be given to actual clients in almost every county in the United States. Pamphlet relating to Patents free. Address

GEO. E. LEMON,

615 15th St., WASHINGTON D. C.

Attorney-at-Law and Solicitor of American and Foreign Patents.

ESTATE OF JOHN GLENN.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss

At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate Office in the city of Adrian, on Tuesday, the 26th day of December, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

Present, Norman Geddes, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of John Glenn, deceased

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified of Robert Glenn, a half-brother of said deceased, praying for the probate of an instrument now on file in this court, purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased, and that administration of said estate may be granted to Newton L. Bryant, the named executor in said last will.

Thereupon it is ordered, That Monday, the 23d day of January next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said state of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate.

(A True Copy.)

NORMAN GEDDES, Judge of Probate. dec28

1883 NORTH STAR ★ SEED FARMS 1883

GO TO HEADQUARTERS FOR

EARLY MINNESOTA SWEET CORN

Educated and practical growers now assent to our motto "That the further North Seeds are grown the earlier their product will be." We offer this year a full line of Standard Potatoes, true to name, grown on dry upland; Scotch Fife and Blue Stem Wheat; White Russian Oats; Stampless Cabbage, said to prove week earlier than Early York; our North Star Yellow Dent Corn still takes the lead, and for fodder is equal to any of onion seed, tomatoes, carrots, peas, &c., &c., a full line and large crop, all 1882 growth on our own farms. Wild Rice for duck ponds always on hand for Spring or Fall sowing. Annual Catalogue. Free. T. M. METCALF, Grower, Importer & Jobber, St. Paul, Minn.

SOLDIERS

Charged with DESERTION after May 22, 1865, can secure PAY, BOUNTY and HONORABLE DISCHARGE. Apply only to HARVEY SPALDING, Attorney at Law, 59 Corcoran Bldg., Washington, D. C., who collects abandoned government claims at his own cost. No fee charged until money is paid over to claimants. If you have any just claims, write to him at once. Postmasters, Claimants, Act June 14, 1866, collected

SAMARITAN

CURES AND

NEVER FAILS.

NERVINE

Is unfailing and infallible in curing Epileptic Fits, Spasms, Convulsions, St. Vitus' Dance, Alcoholism, Opium Eating, Spermatorrhœa, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, Syphilis, Scrofula and all Nervous and Blood diseases. To Clergymen, Lawyers, Literary men, Merchants, Bankers, Ladies and all whose sedentary employment causes Nervous Prostration, Irregularities of the blood, stomach, bowels or kidneys, or who require a nerve tonic, aperient or stimulant, Samaritan Nervine is Invaluable.—Thousands proclaim it the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system. For sale by all Druggists.

DR. S. A. RICHMOND MEDICAL CO., Sole Proprietors, St. Joseph, Mo.

Inclose stamp for Circulars.

SELLERS' WHOOPING-COUGH AND ALL THROAT & LUNG TROUBLES PRICE 25 Cts. COUGH SYRUP. HAS NO EQUAL FOR CURING COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, ASTHMA, CROUP, &c.

THIS PAPER may be found on file at GEO. P. ROWELL & CO'S NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING BUREAU (10 Spruce Street), where advertising contracts may be made for it in NEW YORK.

ATTENTION PEOPLE!

WM. McCOWEN SPEAKS.

SWINDLERS

Are those who advertise to sell goods at cost, and then charge you three times as much as their poorly made trash is worth.

I

Do not advertise to sell goods at cost, but do advertise to sell by far better goods for less money than any other house in this county. Strangers call every day at my immense warerooms and marvel at what they see.

Farmers go home with their wagons loaded with honest made Furniture bought at prices lower than the lowest.

City people are pouring in every day to select Christmas gifts from my elegant stock of fine and fancy Furniture too numerous to mention, and all go away saying no wonder that

Wm. McCOWEN

is the

Leading Furniture Man

IN TECUMSEH.

WANTED!

All who intend buying a SEWING MACHINE to know that they can save money by buying at the

TECUMSEH SEWING MACHINE ROOMS.

The largest stock and best assortment in the State.

SOLD ON TERMS TO SUIT ALL.

Good Machines from

$10.00 and UPWARDS.

Use none but LANDGRAF'S

CACHALOT OIL.

Trade established since 1868.

GET THE BEST

THE PHILADELPHIA TIMES

The people generally get that which they make a market for. They demanded better newspapers, and within the last few years journalism has made rapid strides. THE TIMES, which, from the day of its first issue, took place in the front rank of progressive journalism, has kept along at the double-quick step, and at this time is a better newspaper than ever. It is a journal that never sleeps and never takes a holiday. As there are 365 days, so there are 365 issues of the TIMES in a year. The week-day edition of the TIMES is of four pages, being in a form suitable for the busy man or the busy woman. The Sunday edition, of eight pages, contains a great deal of the best miscellany as well as all the news. The editorial strength of the TIMES need not be dwelt upon—the fact that it is quoted more than any other paper in America is sufficient evidence of its excellence in that direction. Nor need the typographical superiority be more than mentioned—for it is widely known as "the handsomest paper in the country."

THE PHILADELPHIA WEEKLY TIMES

Covers a distinct field. Into THE WEEKLY goes the cream of the daily issues, and at the same time it contains matter especially adapted to the wants of readers in every part of America. It circulates, as a first-class journal, in every State and Territory, and it has subscribers in every part of the world. The leading feature of THE WEEKLY is the "ANNALS OF THE WAR." This department embraces chapters of unwritten history, contributed by prominent actors in the War of the Rebellion, and it has become a recognized depository of such matters, whether from Northern or Southern sources. The ANNALS will be kept fully up to the high standard of former years.

TERMS.

THE DAILY TIMES—Twelve Cents a week. Mail Subscriptions, postage free. Six Dollars a year, Fifty Cents a month.

THE WEEKLY TIMES—Fifty-six columns of the choicest reading, especially prepared to meet the wants of weekly newspaper readers. One copy, $2.00; Five copies, $8.00; Ten copies, $15.00; Twenty copies, $25.00. An Extra copy sent free to any person getting up Clubs of ten or twenty.

THE SUNDAY EDITION—Double sheet, eight pages. The best known and most accomplished writers contribute to its columns every week. Two Dollars a year, postage free. Single copies, Four Cents.

THE TIMES ALMANAC—A Manual of Political and Other Information, published on the First of January, every year. Fifteen Cents a copy.

THE ANNALS OF THE WAR—A royal octavo volume of 800 pages, beautifully illustrated. Written by Principal Participants in the War, North and South. Price, $3.00.

Address all Letters and other Communications to

THE TIMES,

Times Building, Chestnut and Eighth Streets,

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Send for a Specimen Copy.

The Tecumseh Herald.

VOL. XXXIII.—NO 32 TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 21, 1882. WHOLE NO. 1670

IF YOU WANT ANYTHING IN THE LINE OF

CUTLERY,

GRANITE IRON WARE,

BUFFALO ROBES, HORSE BLANKETS,

OR ANYTHING IN THE

HARDWARE

Line, call and see us, as we can sell you

A Better Article for Less Money

THAN ANY CONCERN IN THE COUNTRY.

Yours, truly,

WHITENACK, BORDINE & CO.

The Newest Designs

CLOAKS, PALETOTS AND DOLMANS.

Perfect Fitting,

Tastefully Trimmed

and Carefully Made.

Ready Made & to Measure

A. B. COTTON,

New Clothing,

New Cloths,

New Hats & Caps.

We are in daily receipt of new and seasonable goods, and can now show the most complete line in every department to be found in the market.

Our facilities for furnishing anything needed by boy or man are unequaled, and our prices are acknowledged on all hands to be the lowest. We invite an early inspection.

STRONG & McNAIR.

$1.25 Chromo!

GIVEN AWAY AT

A. W. SLAYTON'S

FOR 50 CENTS.

Any person buying $2.00 worth or more, at Slayton's for cash during the next 30 days we will give a large framed Chromo worth $1.25 for 50 cts.

DON'T FAIL TO GO TO

Slayton's FURNITURE Store

FOR YOUR

HOLIDAY GOODS!

AROUND THE COUNTY.

FRANKLIN.

The singing school is in a prosperous condition—forty-five members at present.

Work has commenced here on the T. & M. railroad; a gang of men are at work on the farm of Brazilla Hurry and another on the farm of J. M. Burns.

The oyster supper given by the M. E. church at Mr. Orville Kemp's last Friday evening was well attended.—Gross receipts $14.

Our blacksmiths find plenty to do now. Peters & Mudge have engaged to do the blacksmithing here for the railroad men, which with their increased custom work calls for an extra number of workmen.

Mr. Alvin Coleman, of Franklin, has now in his possession a copy of the Hampshire Gazette, a paper published at Northampton, Mass, dated Jan. 3, 1800, containing a full account of the obsequies of Gen. Washington, together with the expressions of sorrow from foreign nations, and John Adams' address to the Senate on the event of the loss of the Illustrious Chief. The paper is in mourning throughout and bears the marks of time, as it is nearly 83 years since its publication. It is needless to say that Mr. Coleman prizes this ancient record very highly.

MACON.

The thriving village of Macon is still in existence, although we have come to the conclusion that our reporter for the HERALD has sold out and gone west.

School opened last week with Mr. C. E. Triplet as principal, and Miss May Avery, of Tecumseh, as assistant.

Rev. C. J. Chase, of Hillsdale, pastor of the Baptist church, concluded a series of meetings last Sunday evening. We wish him success wherever his new field of labor may chance to be.

Israel Pennington, one of our oldest settlers, has been failing in health for some time. At present he is in a very critical condition. His brother, John, who has been very sick is slowly improving.

Spencer Morgan, the postmaster, is suffering with rheumatism.

Will Morgan, formerly a resident of this place, now residing in Kent Co., is visiting his many friends at Macon.

EAST TECUMSEH.

Our Literary Society is growing in interest with each meeting, the last one being the best since it resumed duties last fall. The entire programme was good, especially the music by the Misses Easlick. The tariff question was well argued on both sides, the affirmative carrying off the laurels. Election of officers will take place at the next meeting. Let there be a full attendance of the members. The following is the programme for the next meeting: Music, by Choir; Dec., Sam. Boyce, Tom Cleveland, Henry Ackerman, Artie Hall; Select Reading, Nellie Boyce, Mrs. J. T. Boyce; Recitation, Louisa Noble, Mamie Gallatin; Vocal Music, Miranda Robertson and Nellie Boyce. Question for discussion Dec. 30th—Resolved, that Foreign Emigration should be prohibited. Affirmative—R. R. Hall, A. G. Hall, J. T. Boyce; Negative—B. F. DePuy, A. S. Murphy, Philip Kehoe.

Miss Lillie V. Goheen, of East Tecumseh, was the "boss" speller at the spelling match of the Farmers' Club, on last Friday evening, although not having attended school in two years. Well done. Pa-trol-ling is the way Webster spells the word.

Marshall, Mich. Oct. 10, 1881.

Mr. J. D. Kellogg, Dear Sir:—For upwards of five years I was troubled very much with my kidneys. At times I could not sleep at night and I steadily grew worse. I used several remedies highly recommended for the kidneys, but obtained no benefit. I was finally induced to try your Columbian Oil, which began to help me from the start, and after using five bottles I find myself cured. I am yours truly, Frank B. Wright.

State Grange officers elected at Lansing last week: Master, C. G. Luce; overseer, A. N. Woodruff; lecturer, John Holbrook; steward, S. A. Tooker; assistant steward, A. B. Clark; chaplain, E. R. Willard; treasurer, S. T. Brown; secretary, J. T. Cobb; gatekeeper, E. Bartlett; Ceres, Mrs. Cole; Pomona, Mrs. Drake; Flora, Mrs. W. W. A. Stone; lady assistant steward, Mrs. A. B. Clark.

THE T. & M. RAILROAD.

Marshall Statesman: The line through the city is now being located. From Kalamazoo avenue it will run up Pearl street, going back of the old Hoe factory and 100 feet north of the paper mill. The line runs directly through the old stone spring factory and the office of the Rock River Paper Co. The mill pond will be bridged just north of the dam and nearly parallel with it. The location of the depot is not yet determined. The right of way will soon be secured through the city and grading will commence. The contract for getting out the bridge timbers has been offered to Deville Hubbard by Mr. Thomas Hamilton. He has it under consideration, and will give his answer in a few days. The work of preparing the old roadbed from Beadle lake to Monteith began yesterday, and as soon as completed ties and iron will be laid. It is a singular fact that all employes on the line receive their pay from headquarters as the Michigan & Ohio Company, nearly all contracts are drawn up for the company as the Michigan & Ohio, while the contracts for the right of way and deeds are made out to the Toledo & Milwaukee road. Which will be the name seems yet to be uncertain.

Battle Creek Republican: J. H. McLane and Engineer Boeh, of the T. & M., are in the city to-day, and are registered at the Williams. Mr. McLane informed a Republican reporter that they were going over the old grade for the purpose of selecting points to place men and teams. "You can state in your paper," said the contractor, "that men and teams will be at work on both sides of Battle Creek within two or three days." Mr. McLane will have work for all the teams and men that he can find. Mr. Boeh is also making a tour of inspection of the grade. He states that the bridge builders are at work at Gun river. He corroborates the newspaper statements regarding the presence of ties and steel rails at Allegan and Monteith. It is quite evident that the work on the new road through the city will be finished at an early date.

FARMERS' CLUB.

The meeting of the Farmers' Social Club, at I. H. Schreder's, was a very successful one. The house was filled to overflowing, and the programme was carried out except the discussion.

Artie Hall gave a declamation. Leva Gillespie's recitation—Prayer and Potatoes—received the applause of the house.

The spelling caused considerable excitement. Mrs. Geo. Griswold proved to be the best speller in the club, but Lillie Goheen was a visitor that evening, and spelled two or three words after Mrs. G. was down, therefore had the honor of being the best speller.

After spelling, the election of officers took place, which resulted as follows: F. C. Rector, President; Fred. Hendershot, Vice-President; Mrs. F. C. Rector, Secretary.

Owing to the lateness of the evening, the discussion was laid over for the next meeting, which will be held Friday evening, Dec. 30th, at John Schreder's. Programme: Vocal Music; Declamation, Joe Platt; Instrumental Music, W. Schreder and H. Horton; Essay, Mrs. Will Waldron; Recitation, Ida Rector; Song, F. V. Horton. Question—Resolved, that each township should comprise but one road district; led by I. H. Schreder.

MRS. F. C. RECTOR, Sec'y.

THE ECHO.

The Echo is the weekly edition of the Detroit Evening News. It has just entered upon its fifth year, and both in popularity and circulation has been a decided success. It is of the same size as the News, contains little or no advertising, and is filled from the first column to the last with the very choicest matter that can be procured. All the best items, paragraphs and articles are culled from the daily; a synopsis of each week's news is carefully prepared for it; its market reports, while brief, are very complete and reliable, and nearly a whole page of each issue is devoted to choice original or selected stories—something superior, on the average, to the ordinary newspaper tales. Altogether it is a little gem of a paper, and at the price is without question the cheapest of the kind in the country. Single copies, 75 cents; 3 copies for $2, 5 for $3.

Now is the time to treat Catarrh of long standing. Elys' Cream Balm reaches old and obstinate case, where all other remedies fail. Do not neglect procuring a bottle, as in it lies the relief you seek. Price 50 cents. Apply into the nostrils with little finger.

Catarrh. For fifteen years I have been greatly annoyed with this disgusting disease, which caused severe pain in my head, continual dropping in my throat and unpleasant breath. My sense of smell was much impaired. By a thorough use for six months of Elys' Cream balm I have entirely overcome these troubles. J. B. Case, St. Denis Hotel, Broadway and 11th St., N. Y.

THE PROBATE COURT.

Following is the record of business transacted at the probate court for the week ending Dec. 16, 1882:

Estate of David Harkness, deceased; petition for the allowance of executor's final account; hearing January 8, 1883.

Estate of Erastus Brockway, deceased; affidavits of publishing and posting commissioners' notice; commissioners' warrant and report.

Estate of Esther Jones, deceased; oath before sale of real estate.

Estate of William Taylor, an insane person; affidavit of publication; license to sell real estate.

Estate of Betsey Westcott, deceased; affidavit of publication; order of continuance until December 18, 1882.

Estate of William H. Smith, deceased; affidavit of publication; will; proof and probate; bond filed; letters issued; order appointing appraisers.

Estate of John B. Ayres, minor; release of guardian; order of discharge.

Estate of Florence Esther Smith, deceased; administratior's bond filed; letters issued; order appointing appraisers.

Estate of James M. Patterson, deceased; affidavits of publishing and posting commissioners' notice; commissioners' warrant and report; affidavit of publication; order of continuance until December 16, 1882, at ten o'clock a. m.

Estate of Mahlon Schomp, deceased; affidavit of publication; will, proof and probate; bond filed; letters issued; order appointing appraisers.

Estate of Thomas Halstead, deceased; affidavit of publication; order of appointment of administrator; bond filed; letters issued; order appointing appraisers.

Estate of Minnie M. Leach, minor; affidavit of publication; license to sell real estate; oath before sale.

Estate of Louisa Pechtel, deceased; affidavit of publication; order of appointment of administrator; bond filed; letters issued; order appointing appraisers.

Estate of Claude Whaley and Emma Whaley, minors; bond filed: letters of guardianship issued.

Estate of Edmund S. Garnsey, deceased; petition for proof of will; hearing January 8, 1883.

Estate of John J. Allen, deceased; petition for the appointment of administrator; hearing January 8, 1883.

Estate of Herman Robb, deceased; petition for the allowance of executors' final account; hearing January 8, 1883.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS.

Below is a list of transfers of Real Estate in Lenawee County for the week ending Dec. 16, 1882:

BLISSFIELD.

Chas. Hoffman to Noah Dings, land on sec. 21. $1075.

Geo. Lane to Samuel J. Foster, land on sec. 27. $2,500.

Samuel J. Foster to Geo. Lane, land in village. $2,800.

DEERFIELD.

August Gunlet to Chas. Kapneck, land on sec. 34. $2,000.

RIGA.

Wm. W. Crapo to Chas. B. Bothum, land on secs. 8, 17, 20, 28 and 29. $5040.

Chas. B. Bothum to Adam Ruhl, land on sec 20. $600.

Chas. B. Bothum to Elizabeth Newman, land on sec 20. $720.

Chas. B. Bothum to Josiah Westerman, land on secs 28 and 29. $1,460.

Chas. B. Bothum to Nicholas Wieland, land on sec 29. $700.

Chas. B. Bothum to Frederick Thom, land on sec. 17. $680.

Chas. B. Bothum to Everell D. Stevens, land on sec 29. $800.

Chas. B. Bothum to Jacob Schwyn, land on sec 29. $700.

Rebecca Foor to Balthasar Schneider, land on sec 18. $500.

Robt. Arthurs to Adam Dreher, land on sec. 2. $570.

John S. Marks to A. B. Bostwick, land on sec 20. $25.

The Big Four.

They are represented by more people, have more subjects, call oftener, stay longer, and yet are the most unwelcome guests you can have on your list of visitors.

The first of this precious quartette of unwelcome guests gives you an excrutiating headache even to think of him.

The second takes away your appetite, debilitates your system, gives you a sallow complexion, and makes you truly miserable generally.

The third bestows upon you a legacy of skin eruptions, and disordered secretions, constipation and other irregularities too numerous to mention.

The fourth takes forcible possession of your health of mind and peace of body, and makes you a perfect martyr to his tyrannical, unjust government. He caps the climax, and what little the others have left he robs you of; you cannot eat without fear and trembling, and sleep becomes a stranger to your eyes.

The Stomach, the Blood, the Liver, and the Kidneys constitute

The Big Four.

They are good servants, but bad enemies; for when they rebel against the system, either individually or collectively, a protecting safeguard must be found; this can be done by Burdock Blood Bitters, a certain antidote for the attacks of the Big Four in any shape and form.

Sold by all druggists.

Farrand, Williams & Co., wholesale druggists. Detroit, Mich.

THE turkey crop has been harvested.

Women who give Dr. Pengelly's Zoa-Phora a trial will find it a permanent cure for all diseases peculiar to the sex.

LIST OF JURORS.

The following is the list of jurors, as drawn by the County Clerk, for the January term of Circuit Court, which convenes on the 16th proximo.

Adrian—First ward, William Corbin; Second ward, Clinton Williams; Third ward, Philo C. Mills; Fourth ward, Daniel Wright.

Adrian township—J. R. Goddard.
Blissfield—J. W. Brown.
Cambridge—Andrew Dewey.
Clinton—Welcome Fisk.
Deerfield—G. V. Sisson.
Dover—J. B. Stockwell.
Fairfield—Edward Service.
Franklin—Daniel Hanford.
Hudson—David H. VanWy
Macon—Jacob Litchard.
Madison—Eli Sparhawk.
Medina—C. W. Hopkins.
Ogden—Wm. Marshall.
Palmyra—W. H. McDowell.
Raisin—Albert Southworth.
Ridgeway—Joseph Thackery.
Riga—Isaac B. Kellogg.
Rollin—Lyman Crout.
Rome—George W. Fleming.
Seneca—Lyman Aldrich.

AUCTION SALES.

Clark Sutton will sell at auction on the premises in Saline township two miles north of Pennington's Corners, on Friday, Dec. 22d, 1882, at 12 o'clock M., the following property: 110 good sheep, 7 good shoats, 200 bush. corn in the ear, road scraper, 4 tons tame hay, 8 tons marsh hay, lumber wagon, straw stack, 15 bushels of potatoes, &c. Usual terms. H. W. Stevens, auc.

John Emans, having sold his farm, will sell at auction at his residence 2½ miles north of Ridgeway, on Ridge road, on Friday, Dec. 29th, at 12 o'clock M., the following property: Four cows, mare, 18 sheep, sow, bull, lumber wagon, 250 bush. of corn, stack corn stalks, 2 tons timothy hay, one-half of straw stack, plows, drags, cultivators, fanning mill, corn sheller, grindstone, 2 kettles, barrel of vinegar, 2 barrels of cider, household goods, &c. Usual terms. Abe Hanford, auctioneer.

The Greatest Medicine of the Age.

Kellogg's Columbian Oil is a powerful remedy, which can be taken internally as well as externally by the tenderest infant. It cures almost instantly, is pleasant, acting directly upon the nervous system, causing a sudden buoyancy of the mind. In short, the wonderful effects of this wonderful remedy cannot be explained in written language. A single dose inhaled and taken according to directions will convince any one that it is all that is claimed for it. Warranted to cure the following diseases: Rheumatism or Kidney disease in any form, headache, toothache, earache, neuralgia, sprains, bruises, flesh wounds, bunions, burns, spinal affections, colic, cramping pains, cholera morbus, flux, diarrhœa, colds, bronchial affections, catarrh, and all aches and pains, external or internal. Full directions with each bottle. For sale by C. A. Wright & Co.

DEMOREST'S MONTHLY MAGAZINE begins the year brilliantly; the January number for 1883 being unsurpassed by any that have preceded it. The articles are of unusual interest, especially How we Live in New York, by Jennie June; Holiday Gifts and Customs in Paris; Visits, and Manners at the Table, and Current Topics, which is full of valuable information. Most of the shorter stories are remarkably well told, and The Admiral's Ward keeps up its interest. Every department is carefully filled. The forty-five illustrations are excellent, among which is a splendid oil picture, The Fisher Boy and the Fisherman's Daughter. No family will regret subscribing to this admirable magazine, as it supplies a household want, and is both useful and entertaining.

UNDER the law now circuit court commissioners have equal rights. The old law authorized the judge to appoint one commissioner for injunction master, now each one can issue injunctions.

A CHICAGO justice has got to the front with an astonishing exhibition of good sense. He fined a couple of fellows $100 for carrying concealed weapons.

SUBSCRIPTIONS for all newspapers and magazines published will be taken at the HERALD office at reduced rates.

How Now! What Is It?

The great system renovator is Burdock Blood Bitters. Try it and be convinced. Price $1.00.

SEE the stock of Christmas cards at the HERALD office.

The Burleigh-Miln dramatic combination will play in various Michigan towns next month.

READ our special subscription offers in another column.

To a Defunct Goat.

Thou'rt lying cold and pale, O! William Goat!
I see thee as thou art—as Walt Whitman would say—
Prone in mute death, stiff in thy shagginess:
And, since thou now so helpless art and low liest,
And canst not leap to sudden, harsh revenge,
I take the liberty of firing off
These faint few lines at thee, O Billy!

Thou hast been a Great Butter in thy time,
Bombarded hast thou the reckless small boy
With a most damaging bombardment; thou
Likewise hast oftentimes launched forth full tilt
Thy cheerful cranium at the old man and made Him realize that not by any means is life
An empty dream. Assaulted, too, hast thou
The wild-eyed servant girl, high hoisting her
Into the pelluced air mid piercing shrieks
Of more than moral agony. All—all
Have had of thee a taste; thou last, Great Goat,
Not been partial.

Thou reignedest a king
Among us, William, and thou hadst of room
E'en more than the afflicted lepers of old days.
Proud men saw thee and vanished like the wind;
Women paneled thee and split all thy land
With screams diresome, what time themselves they made Exceedingly remote. They did not much admire.
The appearance of thy frontispiece, O William Goat!
Sometimes, in truth, the small boy braved thy ire,
And sought to monkey round thy festive form;
But thou, O William Goat, [illegible] generally
Projected sky-high for his pains.
But thou, O W. G.!
Couldst not avail of all thy puissant self
To but feil death. Death is the Boss Butter.
From Buttville—don't you forget it, Billy;
He laid thee low.

—Post-Despatch.

BELLA.

A hot August day; a dusty country road, or rather lane, on the fringe of Dartmoor, far away from all towns or any signs of civilization, save an occasional alehouse. The lane is narrow, as all lanes thereabouts are, the banks high, and the hedges that grow along their ridges higher still, overhanging till they meet in the centre, and so form a perfect bower of shade, grateful enough to the solitary pedestrian who trudged steadily onwards, despite the heat of the day—a handsome young man, with a perspiring brow, toiling up a parched roadside, laden with an artist's sketching paraphernalia.

"Whew!" he exclaimed, pausing a moment to shift his easel to the other shoulder, and lift his straw hat an instant from his moist curls, "this is getting monotonous."

Maurice Dering was a good traveler, and was not deterred by the heat, dust or distance, but for more than a mile the close branches had twinkled unbroken overhead on either side his way, not a dwelling or glimpse of landscape to be seen.

He covered his blonde curls and resumed his walk. He intended to put up for the night at the next house.

He reached it at last—a low, broad farm-house, with cattle lowing in the yard, and a sour-visaged woman gathering up milk-pans from a bench by the door.

"Good evening, madam! Can I get put up here for the night?" asked Maurice, coming rather gladly to a standstill under the doorway, and relieving himself of his burdens.

The woman gave him a sharp glance, which however seemed to be satisfactory.

"This ain't a public," she answered, "but I've got a room I don't mind letting. Come and look at it," and went within doors.

The artist followed.

Mrs. Trevethick, however, instantly disappeared beyond his sight, and he found himself in a low, long room, with an open fireplace filled with evergreen bushes, and a swarm of flies devouring a sickly baby, asleep on a chintz-covered sofa. The whole house was filled with the odor of boiled bacon and greens, and was quite breathless.

The young man retreated again into the open air, and sat down on the bench where the milkpans had been, fanning himself with his straw hat.

The interminable hedges had come to an end here, and a vista of low-lying emerald meadows and silvery, curving river opened against the sunset sky.

The heat was tempered by the gathering dampness, bringing a sense of refreshment and rest, which was speedily banished by sounds from within. First came the bump and jingle of a tray of dishes set upon the table, then an excited female voice.

"Bella! Bella! I say! lift that saucepan off the fire; then come an' take this young one off my skirts, an' lay the table. There's a gentleman here to supper—a painter chap leastways. There! Keep out from under my feet, then!"

A bump, the scream of a child, the wailing of two children.

"Harmony, sweet harmony!" hummed Maurice, rising and walking down the lane.

The open air was sweet; the sunset sky a magnificent gold. At the end of the lane was a spring, running into a rocky basin, pretty as a poem. He forgot Mrs. Trevethick, and strolled and mused, watching the lights and shadows, and breathing the perfume of white clover and sweet-brier, until a shriek of "Sup-p-er!" from the open doorway recalled him to the house.

"Supper's all ready, young man," saluted Mrs. Trevethick from the dusky interior. "Wash yourself. There's plenty of water in the kitchen sink. Bella, you show him. Ain't got any brush. You can shake your coat out to the door."

Maurice's smile of amusement as he followed these suggestions was suddenly arrested by the sight of a young face, so deadly pale and sad that in an instant he forgot everything else.

"Here is water," said the girl called Bella. She had a baby in her arms, another by the hand. "The towel is clean," she added timidly.

She had a sweet and gentle voice.

"Thank you! Never mind me. I'll do very well now," replied Maurice, plunging into a swimming basin of ice-cold water.

But he watched Bella, as she sat wearily down upon a stool, and placing both babies in an antiquated cradle, began to rock them, softly singing. The elder rubbed his fists in his eyes and squalled lustily; but she persevered patiently, until both were asleep. Then she rose and waited on the table.

There was a large family of rough men, redolent of the barn-yard, who energetically devoured the meal, with their elbows at right-angles, plying fork and knife alternately, on trips to and fro between plate and mouth, giving either no rest until the last brimming saucer of hot tea had been emptied, and the repleted eater rose and lounged out at the door.

Maurice thanked his stars that he was blessed with the digestion of an ostrich, as he rose from the table of greasy bacon, greens, and potatoes, and hot saffron bread.

He, too, went out for a breath of fresh air, but could hear Mrs. Trevethick scolding Bella.

"Don't want no supper? Umph! that's all fancy. Sit right down here an' go to eatin'! If you don't eat you can't work, an' the work's got to be done. No appetite? Well, eatin' ll make an appetite. Come, be quick. There's the dishes to wash, clothes to be folded, bread to set, hash to chop, fowls to get in, an' a bed made up in the spare chamber."

Maurice spent the evening under the stars, responsive to his host's civil efforts to entertain him, and listening with inward amusement to the unsophisticated remarks of the others concerning his art.

He learned also that other artists had been before him, and made pictures of views pronounced by them unexceptionably fine.

"You jes' go down an' see the mill to-morrow," said his host, warming, as they parted. "If you don't call that a spic-an'-span bit o' scenery, I'm mistaken," and Maurice decided to go.

When he reached his chamber the clock struck nine, and Bella, evidently having just reached the completion of this day, among the manifold ones assigned to her, had made up the big feather-bed, brought water and towels, and now stood irresolute at a window, with a bird-cage in her hand.

"My bird, sir. I—I—suppose he will trouble you."

"What! that little thing? Not at all," replied Maurice.

His answer evidently pleased her.

"I am very glad. This is all the place I have to put him safe from Herod."

"Herod?"

"The cat."

"The big, skulking black fellow in the kitchen?"

Bella said yes, and carefully hung up the cage again.

The fluffy, yellow ball on the perch stirred, removed his head from under his soft wing, and looked sleepily at her with a small black eye.

"Goldy's very knowing," murmured the girl, watching him.

The first smile that Maurice had seen there brightened her cheek, and his artist-eye noticed that her lips were round and red as cherries. How forlorn and down-trodden she was! He put a kindly hand on her short-cut, nut-brown hair.

"What pretty hair you have! Who cuts it so short?"

"Mrs. Trevethick. It takes so much time to take care of it, when it gets long," she answered, gently, but removing from his touch with an involuntary air which made him wonder how old this poor child was, and in a moment she was gone.

He went down to the mill the next day, and made up his mind to make a sketch of the river there. He was obliged to alter his plans to do so; but the testimony of his brother artists was not at fault—the view was lovely beyond compare.

For a day or two he forgot everything but his work. He noticed, however, that the little bird in his window was every day supplied with fresh seed and water, and throve and sang. And daily and hourly, when he was upon the premises, he heard Mrs. Trevethick scolding Bella.

He observed, at length, a tumbler, fresh-filled every day with carnations and velvety scarlet cardinal flowers, which were placed upon the table in his room, making a fine bit of color, and wondered at the unsuspected taste for beauty in Mrs. Trevethick.

At the end of the fourth day his sketch was completed. He was exceedingly pleased with it, and promised to perfect from it a delightful picture.

It would prove a success to display to his artist friends, and best of all, his mother. He had a beloved mother, who hoped all things of her only son.

There was a girl, too, with a fringe of golden hair above her delicate eyebrows, who would smile, too, if he sold his picture at a good price. Florence Atherton liked success.

He came into the house that day, the last of his stay at the farm, with a light heart, which beat more slowly at the sound of Mrs. Trevethick's high voice.

"Dinner won't be ready in time! Look sharp an' get in the beef, an' then peel them potatoes. You could have got everything going if you had liked in half the time. Whatever was you a doin'? Gettin' a few flowers? To stick up in that artist feller's chamber, of course! I declare if you wasn't sixteen years old I'd box your ears."

Mrs. Trevethick's voice was raised to such a pitch that Maurice wisely decided it best to put in an appearance, and forthwith appeared upon the scene.

He hardly liked to acknowledge to himself that he feared the irate woman would do the weak, friendless girl a bodily injury, but instinctively he hastened to the door.

"I shall be obliged to leave before dinner, Mrs. Trevethick. Can I have a lunch at half-past eleven? Just a glass of milk, a slice of your nice brown bread and a baked apple."

For even Maurice's sound stomach could bear no longer the rank vegetables and reeking fat of Mrs. Trevethick's table, and he ventured to suggest what his repast should be. He fortunately obtained it, and then tried to speak a last kind word to poor Bella.

So she, poor little thing, had put the flowers on his table. She sat in a corner, peeling the potatoes. He was sure there were tears falling on her hands as the shreds dropped from her fingers. But she rose at last, wiped them away, and put the potatoes to cook over the fire.

When she had put some coal on the fire, she sat down on an old chair by the hearth. The light struck her young cheek, and showed it deadly white. It struck Maurice that she would die. From the bottom of his heart he pitied her, and longed to say something cheering. Fortunately, Mrs. Trevethick left the room for a moment, and he went to her side; but Bella did not look up, and after an instant he laid a gentle hand on her bent head.

"This pretty hair! Don't let Mrs. Trevethick cut it off again, Bella, and I will bring you a blue ribbon to tie it with when I come back."

Light words, but they seemed to bring life back again to Bella. She looked up with strangely-radiant eyes.

"Are you coming back?"

"Yes; I shall stop here as I return."

Then Mrs. Trevethick entered.

Maurice went up to the Cumberland Lakes, and was gone two months. It was a profitable Summer for him, though a letter from his mother well-nigh made it profitless.

"My dear boy, you will be surprised, and I fear grieved, to learn of Flora Atherton's marriage to Mr. St. George. She liked you I am sure; but you are comparatively poor. Mr. St. George is worth half a million. They have gone abroad. You will experience regret, but believe me, Maurice, time will prove that this was all for the best. Believe your mother who loves you."

He did believe her, and wrenched Flora Atherton out of his heart. He worked hard; was a little graver when he stopped again at the dreary home of poor little Bella. He had brought her the ribbon and some books, and meant to interest his mother in her when he returned to London. Perhaps she could invent some way of helping her.

"Law, Mr. Deering! is that you?" cried Mrs. Trevethick. "Though I'd almost forgotten your name. Bella, she's been sick, but she's better now."

Bella crept off the chintz-covered sofa—a little, slender, white creature, all eyes. The little, white face twisted itself into a smile that brought tears to Maurice's eyes.

"My child," he said, sitting down beside her and taking her hand, "how thin you are! how white! Ain't you strong enough to get into the fresh air?" looking distressfully about the dingy, close room?

"Law, no!" said Mrs. Trevethick. "She's just like a rag—no help to herself or anybody else."

And she went out and spitefully slammed the door.

After an instant, in which Maurice did some desperate thinking, Bella drew a hair-pin from her hair, letting down a silky, nut-brown mass upon her shoulders.

"It is not cut off," she whispered.

He smiled, and praised the gold-bright ripples.

"Bella—"

But Mrs. Trevethick came back.

He walked to the village that afternoon, bought some oatmeal, showed Mrs. Trevethick how to prepare it, made his supper off it, with a bowl of good milk, and then told Bella to eat it.

"It will make her strong, Mrs. Trevethick."

"Law! Well, I hope it will! She don't eat nothin'; an' them that can't eat can't work I can't keep her much longer if she don't get to work pretty soon."

Maurice wondered why. What heartless people! What a hard world surrounds this young girl!

"I will stay here a day or two, Bella, till I see you better," he whispered to her, the next morning, while she obediently partook of a cup of oatmeal and milk.

She had brought Goldy down, and the cage hung above her head. The bird had suffered in a cold chamber from an early frost.

At Maurice's solicitation, she crept out into the open air for a few moments, but the hot sun seemed too much for her, and she came back to the old lounge.

"I'll knock a window out, and let in some sunshine and air, at any rate," said Maurice.

The window yielded to his strong hand, and the balmy October breeze blew in. This was a decided improvement. And certainly there was a little more color in Bella's waxen face.

He made a few sketches of autumn scenery during the next few days—spots he remembered which had needed the Autumnal effects.

On the third day, Bella had gathered strength to walk down the lane to see the glory of the woods—a wondrous display of scarlet and gold. She trembled and sobbed.

"What is it, Bella?"

"Nothing! nothing!"

She would not tell him, and he thought she had gone beyond her strength, and blamed himself. He walked back to the house with her, and Bella walked in.

A painful cry from within:

"Oh, Goldy! Goldy!"

Maurice had seated himself upon the bench outside, but he sprang up. A great, black form crouched upon the window-seat—Herod. There was no time to be lost.

The creature was trembling with eagerness, his great, green eyes fixed unerringly upon the flash of those golden wings, as the bewildered canary flew round and round the room. A spring, a scream, an explosion—all simultaneous—then a horrible cry, and Herod fell to the ground.

"Who has dared kill my cat?" shrieked Mrs. Trevethick from within.

"Goldy was out of the cage; Herod was going to kill him. Please don't be angry!" faltered Bella's trembling voice.

"That miserable canary! I'll wring its neck——"

"Mrs. Trevethick," said Maurice, coming in. "I am responsible. I shot the cat. It was the only way of saving Bella's bird."

"Perhaps, then," shrieked Mrs. Trevethick, "you'll take the bird an' Bella, too, off my hands, you are so mighty ready to take up for her!"

"I will take her out of your reach instantly, Mrs. Trevethick, if she will be my wife. Bella, will you come with me to my mother?"

"Law!" breathed Mrs. Trevethick.

He took the friendless little creature in his strong arms. One look into her eyes of joy was enough.

Mrs. Dering's brown eyes opened wide upon the pale, forlorn girl that her son brought to her; but when Bella sobbed out, "I am not good enough to be his wife I know, I know—but oh, I love him so!" she took her in her arms and kissed her.

Subscribe for the HERALD.

A GIFT TO EVERY SUBSCRIBER.

This Offer is made by the New York Observer.

The oldest and best of the religious weeklies. For sixty years this undenominational, unsectarian and evangelical newspaper has been circulating in the United States and in almost every foreign country. Its subscribers are counted by tens of thousands. Each year its proprietors have added to its value, engaging fresh editors and correspondents at home and abroad, enlarging and multiplying its departments and endeavoring to realize their high ideal of the best Religious and Secular Family Newspaper. They offer this year, to every subscriber, new or old, whose subscription is paid for 1883, the new book of Rev. S. Irenæus Prime, D D., entitled "Prayer and its Answer," a handsome volume of nearly 200 pages, bound in cloth, the retail price of which is one dollar. Specimen copies of the paper sent free.

Address NEW YORK OBSERVER, New York.

The Doctor's Last Happy Resort.

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 11, 1882.

I recently had a very difficult case of Consumption. I treated it in the most scientific manner possible, but to no effect; patient grew gradually worse. Rather than give up, and as a last resort, I decided, much against my wish, to use a remedy that had cured one of my former patients.—Greatly to my surprise, the patient began to gain, and in a much shorter time than I dared to ever expect, she was completely cured. The name of this remarkable remedy is Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. I now use it altogether in my practice.—Leading M. D., Evansville.

Sold by C. A. Wright & Co.

There is an East Indian lady in Paris who can talk in twelve languages. Fortunately she is not married.

That old established remedy, Downs Elixir, still more than holds its own in the public estimation, despite sharp and active competition. It is a "home remedy," and in this locality needs no words of praise from us, so well and favorably known is it. It is the standard remedy for coughs, colds and all throat troubles, with great numbers of our people, and their continued use and unsolicited recommendation of it speaks volumes in its favor.—Burlington, Vt., Free Press, January 26, 1882.

The journalist, like the carpenter, makes a living by his ads.

Fortunes for Farmers and Mechanics.

Thousands of dollars can be saved by using proper judgment in taking care of the health of yourself and family. If you are Billious, have sallow complexion, poor appetite, low and depressed spirits, and generally debilitated, do not delay a moment, but go at once and procure a bottle of those wonderful Electric Bitters, which never fail to cure, and that for the trifling sum of fifty cents.—Tribune.—Sold by C. A. Wright & Co.

Half the ills we hoard in our hearts are ills because we hoard them.

The World Still Moves.

Notwithstanding Mother Shipton's dire prediction, the world still exists. The people will live longer if they use Dr. Bigelow's Positive Cure, which subdues and conquers coughs, colds, consumption, whooping cough, and all diseases of the lungs. For proof call at Baker & Hall's drug store, and get a bottle free.

It is stated that the Muskegon salt boring has gone down 2,200 feet. The motto is "Salt, h—l, or China."

The Keystone of Health.

How can you expect to feel well, or even enjoy life, when you go about with a hacking cough? The fool, in his wisdom, says there is no cure for it, but the wise man hies him to Baker & Hall's drug store and gets a bottle of Dr. Bigelow's Positive Cure, and at once gets well. A trial bottle costs nothing.

AN honest housewife who went to buy a dress, said: "None of your gaudy colors for me. Give me plain red and yaller."

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all kinds of Skin Eruptions. This Salve is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction in every case or money refunded Price 25 cents per box. For sale by All Druggists.

Important to Travelers

Special Inducements are offered you by the BURLINGTON ROUTE. It will pay you to read their advertisement to be found elsewhere in this issue.

"No; she lingered and suffered along, pining away all the time, for years, the doctors doing her no good; and at last was cured by this Hop Bitters the papers say so much about. Indeed! indeed! how thankful we should be for that medicine."

EVERY person who subscribes for a newspaper should call at the HERALD office and get figures before sending for their papers for 1883 and save money.

SUBSCRIPTIONS for all newspapers and magazines published will be taken at the HERALD office at reduced rates.

I. Ship Speaks of His Wife.

Indianapolis, Ind.

Mr. A. Kiefer—Dear Sir: My wife has for several years been a great sufferer from periodical attacks of Neuralgia in the head. Several of the most eminent physicians had been called upon to treat her, but they could only give temporary relief.

About two years ago she commenced using the Taxarine, and I am gratified to say, since then she has had no recurrence of those terrible pains. I attribute her restoration to health entirely to the use of Taxarine, and in conclusion would say to all who suffer that excruciating of all pains to give Taxarine a trial. Yours etc. I. Ship.

For sale by all druggists.

Taxarine Memorandum Books free.

The morality of domestic life is the very corner-stone of civilization.

TO THE AFFLICTED.

Since the introduction of Kellogg's Columbian Oil it has made more permanent cures and given better satisfaction on Kidney Complaints and Rheumatism than any known remedy. Its continued series of wonderful cures in all climates has made it known as a safe and reliable agent to employ against all aches and pains, which are the forerunners of more serious disorders. It acts speedily and surely, always relieving suffering and often saving life. The protection it affords by its timely use on rheumatism, Kidney affection, and all aches and pains, wounds, cramping pains, cholera morbus, diarrhoea, coughs, colds, catarrh, and disorders among children, makes it an invaluable remedy to be kept always on hand in every home. No person can afford to be without it, and those who have once used it never will. It is absolutely certain in its remedial effects, and will always cure when cures are possible. Call at C. A. Wright & Co.'s and get a memorandum book giving more all details of the curative properties of this wonderful medicine.

Relief Found at Last.

Carmel, Ind.

A. Kiefer—Dear Sir: I was afflicted with derangement of the Liver, which caused a general derangement of my whole system. Had three-day ague for two years, from which I found no relief until induced to try your Taraxine, which I am happy to say affected a cure. I am enjoying fine health and have had no ague for over one year. Yours, etc., John Jeffries.

Jealousy.

Some poet has said that "All torments of the damned we find, is only thee, Oh, Jealousy, thou tyrant of the mind." This is grandly sweeping and magnificently inaccurate. Any sufferer from Indigestion knows to the contrary. Indigestion, the villian of the tragedy played upon the gastric juices of the stomach can, and does double discount the horrors of jealousy. Jealousy is often an attendant upon the later, and when indigestion is removed, this jaundiced companion of a deranged liver, flies. Taraxine is the best known remedy extant for impaired digestion, deranged liver, and diseases of the bowels and kidneys.

For sale by all druggists.

Free to Everyone.

A 10c sample of Hill's Peerless Cough Syrup. We also sell the large bottles on an absolute guarantee. If not satisfied after using, return the empty bottle and we will refund your money. We also sell the Peerless Worm Specific on the same terms. No cure, no pay. Cobbs' Little Podophyllin Pills will cure headache, billiousness and constipation. No pay. One pill a dose.

C. A. Wright & Co.

The New Discovery.

Dr. Deming's Pile Ointment, the discovery of a physician of wide reputation, who has achieved the greatest success, the most conspicuous distinction, and the highest honors in his profession, is a sure cure for blind, bleeding, itching and ulcerated piles. A single box has frequently been known to cure the most obstinate case, and thousands who have used this great remedy attest its efficacy.—For sale by all druggists.

Griggs' Glycerine Salve.

The best on earth can truly be said of Griggs' Glycerine Salve, which is a sure cure for cuts, bruises, scalds, burns, wounds and all other sores. Will positively cure piles, tetter and all skin eruptions. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Only 25 cents. For sale by Baker & Hall.

"Rough on Rats."

The thing desired found at last.—Ask Druggists for "Rough on Rats." It clears out rats, mice, roaches, flies, bed-bugs. 15c. boxes.

To twit a man of his faults, is to expose a greater fault of your own.

Brain and Nerve.

Wells' Health Renewer, greatest remedy on earth for impotence, leanness, sexual debility, &c., $1. at druggists. Mich. Depot, J. E. Davies & Co., Detroit, Mich.

A man of integrity will never listen to any reason against conscience.

Don't Die in the House.

Ask druggists for "Rough on Rats." It clears out rats, mice, bedbugs, roaches, vermin, flies, ants, insects.—15c. per box.

1883.

Harper's Magazine.

ILLUSTRATED

Harper's Magazine begins its sixty-sixth volume with the December Number. It is not only the most popular illustrated periodical in America and England, but also the largest in its scheme, the most beautiful in its appearance, and the best of all. Major, by Constance Fenimore Woolson, the author of Anne, was begun in the November Number. In literary and artistic excellence the Magazine continues to improve with each successive number. Special efforts have been made for the lighter entertainment of its readers through humorous stories, sketches, etc.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE, One Year $4 00
HARPER'S WEEKLY, " " 4 00
HARPER'S BAZAR, " " 4 00
The THREE above named publications, One Year 10 00
Any TWO above named, One Year 7 00
HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE, One Year 1 50
HARPER'S MAGAZINE, HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE, ... 5 00
HARPER'S FRANKLIN SQUARE LIBRARY One Year (52 Numbers) 10 00

Postage Free to all subscribers in the United States or Canada

When no time is mentioned it will be understood that the subscriber wishes to begin with the current Number.

The last Eight Volumes of Harper's Magazine, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of $3 00 per volume. Cloth Cases, for binding, 50 cents each—by mail, postpaid.

Index to Harper's Magazine, Alphabetical, Analytical, and Classified, for Volumes I to 60, inclusive, from June, 1859, to June, 1880, one vol. 8vo. Cloth, $4.00.

Remittances should be made by Post-Office Money Order, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of Harper Brothers.

Address HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

1883.

Harper's Weekly

ILLUSTRATED.

Harper's Weekly stands at the head of American illustrated weekly journals. By its unpartisan position in politics, its admirable illustrations, its carefully chosen serials, short stories, sketches, and poems, contributed by the foremost artists and authors of the day, it carries instruction and entertainment to thousands of American homes.

It will always be the aim of the publishers to make Harper's Weekly the most popular and attractive family newspaper in the world.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS

HARPER'S MAGAZINE, One Year $4 00
HARPER'S WEEKLY, " " 4 00
HARPER'S BAZAR, " " 4 00
The THREE above named publications, One Year 10 00
Any TWO above named, One Year 7 00
HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE, One Year 1 50
HARAER'S MAGAZINE, HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE, ... 5 00
HARPER'S FRANKLIN SQUARE LIBRARY One Year (52 Numbers) 10 00

Postage Free to all subscribers in the United States or Canada.

The volumes of the Weekly begin with the first Number for January of each year. When no time is mentioned, it will be understood that the subscriber wishes to commence with the Number next after the receipt of order.

Back Four Annual Volumes of Harper's Weekly in neat cloth binding, will be sent by mail postpaid, or by express, free of expense (provided the freight does not exceed one dollar per volume), for $7 00 per volume.

Cloth Cases for each volume, suitable for binding, will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of $1 00 each.

Remittances should be made by Post Office Money Order or Draft to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of HARPER & BROS.

Address HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

1883.

Harper's Bazar.

ILLUSTRATED

This popular journal is a rare combination of literature, art, and fashion. Its stories, poems, and essays are by the best writers of America; its engravings possess the highest artistic excellence; and in all matters pertaining to fashion it is universally acknowledged to be the leading authority in the land. The new volume will contain many brilliant novelties.

HARPER'S PERIODICALS

HARPER'S MAGAZINE, One Year $4 00
HARPER'S WEEKLY, " " 4 00
HARPER'S BAZAR, " " 4 00
The THREE above-named publications, One Year 10 00
Any TWO above named, One Year 7 00
HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE, One Year 1 50
HARPER'S MAGAZINE, HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE, ... 5 00
HARPER'S FRANKLIN SQUARE LIBRARY One Year (52 Numbers) 10 00

Postage Free to all subscribers in the United States or Canada.

The Volumes of the Bazar begin with the first Number for January of each year. When no time is mentioned, it will be understood that the subscriber wishes to commence with the Number next after the receipt of order.

The last Four Annual Volumes of Harper's Bazar, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by mail, postage paid, or by express, free of expense (provided the freight does not exceed one dollar per volume), for $7 00 per volume.

Cloth Cases for each volume, suitable for binding, will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of $1 00 each.

Remittances should be made by Post-Office Money Order or Draft, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of HARPER & BROS.

Address HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

1883.

HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE.

An Illustrated Weekly—16 Pages.

Suited to Boys and Girls of from Six to Sixteen Years of Age.

Volume IV. Commences November 7, 1882.

The YOUNG PEOPLE has been from the first successful beyond anticipation.—[N. Y. Evening Post.

It has a distinct purpose, to which it steadily adheres—that, namely, of supplanting the vicious papers for the young with a paper more attractive, as well as more wholesome.—[Boston Journal.

For neatness, elegance of engraving and contents generally, it is unsurpassed by any publication of the kind yet brought to our notice.—[Pittsburgh Gazette.

TERMS:

Harper's Young People, Per Year, Postage Prepaid, $1.50.

Single Numbers, Four Cents each.

Specimen copy sent on receipt of Three Cents.

The Volumes of Harper's Young People for 1881 and 1882, handsomely bound in Illuminated Cloth, will be sent by mail, postage prepaid, on receipt of $3.00 each. Cover for Young People for 1882, 25 cents; postage, 18 cents additional.

Remittances should be made by Post-Office Money Order or Draft, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of Harper & Brothers.

Address, HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

SALT RHEUM AND FEVER SORES

WARNER'S SAFE CURE

The Most Decayed portions of the cuticle is cast off in the wrapper at the end of the first week.

Beware of Fraud.

Unscrupulous parties have tried to imitate our Remedy and deceive the public by using SIMILAR NAMES, but do not be deceived; see that the word SAFE with picture of an Iron Safe, on a black wrapper and white letters is on every package. Also, see that it is on the label and stamp, and take no other.

The Best Blood Purifier.

H. H. WARNER & CO.,
ROCHESTER, N.Y.

B. KING OF THE BLOOD.

The Most Thorough Purifier of the Blood Yet Discovered.

Cures all Humors, from a Common Erupt-ion to the Worst Scrofula.

It purifies the Blood.
It invigorates the Liver.
It regulates the Bowels.
It strengthens the Stomach.
It gives vivacity in place of lassitude; cheerfulness in place of gloom, and robust vigor in place of debility.

Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Disordered Liver, Constipation, Nervous Affections, General Debility, in short all the numerous diseases and discomforts caused by impure blood are speedily conquered by this powerful corrector, the chief and sovereign of all ancient or modern medical discoveries—KING OF THE BLOOD.

ITS NAME IS ITS BEST DESCRIPTION as it is a royal dispenser of the blessings of health and vanquishes the foes that lurk in the blood.

It banishes PIMPLES, SALT RHEUM, SCALY ERUPTIONS, ULCERS, SCALD HEAD, FEVER SORES, and all SCROFULOUS DISORDERS.

It checks CONSUMPTION in its early stages. It has frequently cured it when advanced.

It disperses TUMORS and CANCERS without the Surgeon's knife.

It cures DROPSY, general or partial.

It cures FEMALE WEAKNESS and DISEASE.

It reduces in a safe and effectual manner all swellings, external or internal.

It eradicates the effects of Venerial Disease and Mineral Poisons, and establishes a sound constitution.

Many certificates, much further information and all directions for using, will be found in the pamphlet, "Treatise on Diseases of the Blood," in which each bottle is enclosed.

Price $1 per bottle, containing 12 ounces, or 40 to 50 doses. Sold by dealers in medicine.

If your druggist does not happen to have it on hand, request him to order a supply of it for you, as it will be cheaper than for you to order direct of us, and less trouble.

D. RANSOM, SON & CO., Proprietors
Buffalo, N.Y.

The Purest and Best Medicine ever Made.

A combination of Hops, Buchu, Mandrake, Dandelion, with all the best and most [illegible] properties of all other Bitters, making the greatest Blood Purifier, Liver Regulator, and Life and Health Restoring Agent on [illegible] earth.

No disease can possibly long exist where the Bitters are used, so varied and perfect are their operations.

They give new life and vigor to the aged and infirm.

To all whose employments cause irregularity of the bowels or urinary organs, or who require an Appetizer, Tonic, and mild Stimulant, Hop Bitters are invaluable, without intoxicating.

No matter what your feelings or symptoms are what the disease or ailment is use Hop Bitters. Don't wait until you are sick but if you only feel bad or miserable, use them at once. It may save your life. It has saved hundreds.

$500 will be paid for a case they will not cure or help. Do not suffer or let your friends suffer, but use and urge them to use Hop Bitters.

Remember, Hop Bitters is no vile, drugged drunken nostrum, but the Purest and Best Medicine ever made; the "INVALIDS FRIEND and HOPE" and no person or family should be without them.

D.I.C. is an absolute and irresistible cure for drunkenness, use of opium, tobacco and narcotics. All sold by druggists. Send for Circular. Hop Bitters Mfg. Co., Rochester, N.Y. and Toronto, Ont.

HALL'S Catarrh Cure

Is Recommended by Physicians.

$100 REWARD FOR A CASE IT FAILS TO CURE.

We manufacture and sell it with a positive guarantee that it will cure any case, and we will forfeit the above amount if it fails in a single instance.

It is unlike any other Catarrh remedy, as it is taken internally, acting upon the blood. If you are troubled with this distressing disease, ask your Druggist for it, and ACCEPT NO IMITATION OR SUBSTITUTE. If he has not got it, send to us, and we will forward immediately. Price, 75 cents per bottle.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

FARMERS and FARMERS' SONS
CAN MAKE $50 to $150 PER MONTH
during the Fall and Winter. For particulars, address
J. C. McCurdy & Co., Chicago, Ill.

WIT AND HUMOR.

"This is a base insinuation," said the tramp, as he sallied out of the front gate on the bow of a No. 13 double-soled boot.

When a physician has cured a singer of hoarseness, he sends in a bill of invoice. The bill being worded: To curing one in-growing tone ail.

Said Mr. Moriarity, in explanation of his battered appearance, "Ye see the horse I was dhriving waz a mule." And Mr. Finnegan replied: "Ye need say no more, Dennis."

The "sermonette," spoken of so frequently in the West, is not a full sermon. It is a nice little new bonnet talk, sufficient to call a congregation of hearers together, but not powerful enough to wear them out.

Professor George Bristow aims to be the most honest of critics, and on being asked by the father of an animated foghorn how he liked his daughter's voice, he replied: "She sings like a Patti (under his breath) goniah!"

A Scotch lawyer was so short in stature that it was necessary for him to stand on a stool when addressing the court. "Well," said a wit, on seeing him thus elevated, "this is one way of rising at the bar."

"Whar's the man that's going up in that balloon?" inquired a countryman. "That's the fellow standing on the left of it." "Rather thin, isn't he, though?" returned country. "Yes," answered the other; "he's thin in purse as well as in person. He's the heir o'naught."

Fritz to Miller—"To-day is my birthday." Emma—"And mine, too." Karl—"Mine, too!" Bertha—"Mine, too!" Miller—"Why, what a remarkable coincidence, neighbor!" Mother—"Ah, yes you see, we celebrate them all on the same day, because it's cheaper."

Heard at a doorstep: "Why, Mr. Milkman, you said your cows were drying up and you could only let me have a pint for the baby, but here are two quarts." "Yes, mum; I can spare more now; some of the other babies have died."

"Gentlemen, you may not think it, but I have stood on the top round of the ladder," said an inebriated individual who was haranguing the crowd. "Troth, thin," exclaimed one of his hearers, "That same ladther must a been lyin' flat on the ground."

"Heavens!" shrieked an excited mother, as the nurse let the baby fall over the second floor banister. "Two inches nearer the wall and that child would have smashed a fifty dollar statuette and the hall lamp!" And then they picked up the baby.

An old Irish soldier who prided himself on his bravery, said he had fought in the battle of Bull Run. When asked if he had retreated and made his escape as others did on that occasion, he replied, "Be jabers, those that didn't run are there yet!"

"Mr. Brown, do you eat mush?" asked a four-year old fiend of this sister's beau. "Why, Johnnie?" "Because sister says she wishes you would n't talk like you had a mouthful of mush." Sister faints, and Brown remembers that he has an engagement in Australia.

Irritated mamma—"No, it doesn't fit as if he had been born to it—it does n't fit at all." "But s'help me—!" Irritated mamma—"Your advertisement says, 'Money returned if not approved.'" Mr. Moses—"So they do, ma tear, so they do; but your money vas approved it vas very goot money."

The president of a little Southern railroad boasts that they have not had an accident for five years. We traveled over that line once. A trusty flagman walks ahead of every train, and when he becomes tired the train stops and the passengers go fishing until he gets rested.

"Well, Tom," said a blacksmith to his apprentice, "you have been with me now three months, and have seen all the different parts in our trade; I wish to give you your choice of work for a while." "Thank'ee, sir." "Well, now, what part of the business do you like best?" "Shuttin' up shop and goin' to dinner."

Professor—"Now, Mr. Snodkins, you may criticise the theme I have just read." Snodkins—"I'd rather write a criticism, sir. I can't talk as well as I can write." Professor—(who had waded through Snodkins' last theme with great difficulty)—"Then, sir, I am sorry for you."

One day towards nightfall, and in an uncertain light, a man bought an overcoat of pretended plum-color. The next morning it proved to be of a quite too unmistakable green. Returning it to the storekeeper, that worthy regarded the buyer calmly and said, "You must have a little patience with it, my dear sir; it isn't ripe yet."

A Boston editor bounced the cook, cuffed two children, left his wife in tears and made a bee line for the office and wrote: "If you want to make the world brighter and better, begin by being kind and loving to those in the small circle of your own family, and from that as a center work out as you are permitted to go."

When we see the young man of the period with the cutaway coat, his ears sheltered from the cold north wind blasts by the broad expanse of collar, his two watch chains, but no watch, his pointed shoes and intellectual eyeglass, his tootsey-wootsey cane and pancake hat, we realize that the $84,000,000 annually expended in educating the American youth is little enough.

A short time ago, at a school in the north of England, during a lesson on the animal kingdom, the teacher put the following question: "Can any boy name to me an animal of the order edentela; that is, a front-tooth toothless animal?" A boy, whose face beamed with pleasure at the prospect of a good mark, replied: "I can." "Well, what is the animal?" "My grandmother!" replied the boy, in great glee.

"Yes," he said, "one of the very nicest, best girls in the world, is in love with me, and folks know it, and it just breaks my heart. Why should it? Why, don't you know that nice fellows always get some cheap creature for a wife, and nice girls always marry miserable fellows? Folks know she is a thoroughly good girl, and they set me down as a regular tough. My character is ruined."

The Fables of India.

Max Muller, in The Contemporary Review, says: The study of fables owes its new life to India, from whence the various migrations of fables have been traced at various times and through various channels from east to West. Buddhism is now known to have been the principal source of our legends and parables. But here, too, many problems still wait for their solution. Think, for instance, of the allusion to the fable of the donkey in the lion's skin, which occurs in Plato's "Cratylus." Was that borrowed from the east? Or take the fable of the weasel changed by Aphrodite into a woman who, when she saw a mouse, could not refrain from making a spring at it. This, too, is very like a Sanskrit fable; but how, then, should it have been brought into Greece early enough to appear in one of the comedies of Strattis, about 400 B. C.? Here, too, there is plenty to do. We may go back even further into antiquity, and still find strange coincidences between the legends of India and the legends of the west, without as yet being able to say how they traveled, whether from east to west or from west to east. That at the time of Solomon there was a channel of communication open between India and Syria and Palestine is established beyond doubt. I believe, by certain Sanskrit words which occur in the bible as names of articles of export from Ophir, articles such as ivory, apes, peacocks, and sandal-wood, which taken together, could not have been exported from any country but India. Nor is there any reason to suppose that the commercial intercourse between India, the Persian gulf, the Red sea, and the Mediterranean was ever completely interrupted, even at the time when the Book of Kings is supposed to have been written. Now, you must remember in the Book of Kings the judgment of Solomon, which has always been admired as a proof of great legal wisdom among the Jews. I must confess that, not having a legal mind, I never could suppress a certain shudder when reading the decision of Solomon: "Divide the living child in two, and give half to the one and half to the other." Let me now tell you the same story as it is told by the Buddhists, whose sacred canon is full of such legends and parables. In the Kanjur, which is the Tibethan translation of the Buddhist Tripitaka, we likewise read of two women who claimed each to be the mother of the same child. The king, after listening to their quarrels for a long time, gave it up as hopeless to settle who was the real mother. Upon this visakha stepped forward and said: "What is the use of examining and cross-examining these women? Let them take the boy and settle it among themselves." Thereupon both women fell on the child, and when the fight became violent the child was hurt and began to cry. Then one of them let him go, because she could not bear to hear the child cry. That settled the question. The king gave the child to the true mother and had the other beaten with a rod. This seems to me, if not the more primitive, yet the more natural form of the story, showing a deeper knowledge of human nature and more wisdom than even the wisdom of Solomon.

The Pay of Famous Singers.

Notwithstanding the popular idea that great singers and scenic artists are too well recompensed now, it seems they were far better recompensed in other days—a fact which will delight all who love to revert to the past as an age of gold.

The famous Catalini, after a single concert at the Tuileries, was engaged by Napoleon himself to remain at Paris—100,000 francs a year and two months' vacation ($20,000.) Catalini did not dare to refuse, although she had previously signed a contract at Lisbon with the English ambassador; thus committing "lyrical bigamy," as the French call it.

Capoul's fortune is small compared with that of the tenor Jelliote in the last century. People may talk about Patti's 6,000 francs a night, but Mingotti in 1750 received 10,000 livres for singing one air in the bedroom of a Spanish princess who was expecting to become a mother, and even then, the king of Spain was obliged to compel the consent of the impressario by royal order. Saint-Huberti was decorated by Louis XV. with the order of St. Michel.

But even these were hardly so lucky as the great tenor Carafelli. At 48 he retired from the theater so rich that he bought himself a dukedom without any trouble, and became duke of Sarto-Dovato.

Even in the century preceding Ferri was taken to Stockholm upon a vessel especially equipped and chartered for him by the queen of Sweden. Ferri was idolized elsewhere. At London one evening, during a performance, a masked lady stepped from her box upon the stage, presented him with a magnificent emerald, and kissed him rapturously upon the mouth, in sight of the whole theater.

How a Whale Breathes.

The windpipe does not communicate with the mouth; a hole is, as it were, bored right through the back of the head. Engineers would do well to copy the action of the valve of the whale's blow-hole; a more perfect piece of structure it is impossible to imagine. Day and night, asleep or awake, the whale works his breathing apparatus in such a manner that not a drop of water ever gets down into the lungs. Again, the whale must of necessity stay a much longer period of time under the water than the seals; this alone might possibly drown him, inasmuch as the lungs cannot have access to fresh air. We find that this difficulty has been anticipated and obviated by a peculiar reservoir in the venous system, which reservoir is situated at the back of the lungs.

From the investigations of naturalists it would appear that the trout lives to a green old age. An instance is given of a trout, domesticated in an English well, having attained the age of nearly forty years, though its weight never exceeded two pounds.

A new game has come into use at Iowa City. It is called "house football," and is played exclusively by the girls.

THE GREAT BURLINGTON ROUTE

CHICAGO BURLINGTON & QUINCY

PRINCIPAL LINE

AND OLD FAVORITE FROM CHICAGO TO PEORIA

This Route has no superior for Albert Lea, Minneapolis and St. Paul. Nationally reputed as being the Great Through Car Line. Universally conceded to be the best equipped Railroad in the World for all classes of travel.

KANSAS CITY — OMAHA — DENVER — LINCOLN — CALIFORNIA

All connections made in Union Depots.

Through Tickets via this Celebrated Line for sale at all offices in the U. S. and Canada.

Try it, and you will find traveling a luxury, instead of a discomfort.

All information about Rates of Fare, Sleeping Cars, etc., cheerfully given by

T. J. POTTER, 2d Vice Pres't & Gen'l Manager, Chicago, Ill.
PERCEVAL LOWELL, Gen. Pass. Agt., Chicago, Ill.

SAMARITAN NERVINE

CURES AND NEVER FAILS.

is unfailing and infallible in curing Epileptic Fits, Spasms, Convulsions, St. Vitus Dance, Alcoholism, Opium Eating, Spermatorrhœa, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, Syphilis, Scrofula and all Nervous and Blood Diseases. To Clergymen, Lawyers, Literary Men, Merchants, Bankers, Ladies and all whose sedentary employment causes Nervous Prostration, Irregularities of the blood, stomach, bowels or Kidneys, or who require a nerve tonic, appetizer or stimulant, SAMARITAN NERVINE is invaluable. Thousands proclaim it the most wonderful invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system. For sale by all Druggists.

THE DR. S. A. RICHMOND MEDICAL CO., Sole Proprietors, St. Joseph, Mo.

Gray's Specific Medicine.

TRADE MARK — THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY. An unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhœa, Impotency, and all Diseases that follow as a sequence of Self-Abuse; as loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the Back, Dimness of Vision, Premature Old Age, and many other diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a Premature Grave. — TRADE MARK

BEFORE TAKING. — AFTER TAKING.

Full particulars in our pamphlet, which we desire to send free by mail to every one. The Specific Medicine is sold by all druggists at $1 per package, or six packages for $5, or will be sent free by mail on the receipt of the money, by addressing THE GRAY MEDICINE CO., Buffalo, N. Y.

On account of counterfeits, we have adopted the Yellow Wrapper, the only genuine. Guarantees of cure issued by

FARRAND, WILLIAMS & CO., Wholesale Agents, Detroit

PATENTS

F. A. LEHMANN, Solicitor of Patents, Washington, D. C. Send for Circular.

THE MILLER BROS. CUTLERY CO. MERIDEN, CONN.

STANDARD POCKET CUTLERY, Ladies' Scissors and Ink Erasers.

Make all styles of STEEL PENS.

We show cut of Patent Adjustable Quill Action Reservoir Pen, "The Acme," and will mail sample gross on receipt of $2.

Our whole line of Pens will be sold by the trade. Price Lists furnished to dealers on application.

AN OLD FRIEND

When you took the American Agriculturist you thought it just splendid. It is now more valuable to you than ever, being especially adapted for the West. Send stamp for specimen copy and see how wonderfully the paper has improved. Price, $1.50 a year. English or German edition. ORANGE JUDD CO., 751 Broadway, New York.

FOR SALE OR RENT.

A good house and lot in a good location. Enquire of J. E. Hall or at the HERALD OFFICE

ONLY $20 for this style of PHILADELPHIA SINGER. Equal to any Singer in the market. Remember, we send it to be examined before you pay for it. This is the same style other companies retail for $50. All Machines warranted for 3 years. Send for Illustrated Circular and Testimonials. Address CHARLES A. WOOD & CO., 17 N. Tenth St., Philadelphia, Pa.

FOR SALE.

A good house and lot within five minutes walk of the post office, for sale at a bargain. Reasons for selling, business out of town. For full particulars and terms enquire at the HERALD OFFICE.

PISO'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION. CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. 25 CTS.

KANSAS FARMS,

Choice improved farms for sale in Southeastern Kansas. A rare chance for some one who wishes to buy a home cheap. For situation, location terms, price, etc., call at the HERALD OFFICE.

AGENTS Wanted for handsome illustrated standard works of character; great variety; low in price; selling fast; needed everywhere; Liberal terms. Wm. Garretson & Co., Odd Fellows Block, Columbus, O. Books & Bibles

WHAT WILL THE WEATHER BE TO-MORROW?

Pool's Signal Service Barometer

COMBINED WITH THERMOMETER AND STORM GLASS.

WILL TELL YOU!

It will detect, and indicate correctly any change in the weather 12 to 48 hours in advance. It will tell what kind of storm is approaching, and from what direction—invaluable to navigators. Farmers can plan their work according to its predictions. Saves 50 times its cost in a single season. Has an accurate thermometer attached, which alone is worth the price of the combination. This great WEATHER INDICATOR is endorsed by the most eminent Physicians, Professors and Scientific men of the day to be the BEST IN THE WORLD! The Thermometer and Barometer are put in a nicely finished walnut frame, with silver plated trimmings, etc., making it a beautiful as well as useful ornament. We will send you a sample one, delivered free, to your place, in good order, on receipt of $1, or six for $4. Agents are making from $5 to $20 daily selling them. A trial will convince you. Order at once. It sells at SIGHT. Just the thing to sell to farmers, merchants, etc., invaluable to everybody. U. S. Postage Stamps taken if in good order, but money preferred. Agents wanted everywhere. Send for Circular and terms. Address all orders to OSWEGO THERMOMETER WORKS, Oswego, Oswego Co., N. Y. (Largest establishment of the kind in the world.) Referred to the Mayor, Postmaster, County Clerk, First and Second National Banks, or any business house in Oswego, N. Y. Write your Post Office, County and State plainly, and remit by money order, draft on New York or registered letter, at our risk.

This will make a Beautiful and Very Useful Present.

READ WHAT THE PUBLIC SAY ABOUT IT.

I find Pool's Barometer works as well as one that costs $50. You can rely on it every time. I. Cape, Capt. H. Rogers, Ship "Twilight," San Francisco. Barometer received in good order, and must say that the instrument gives perfect satisfaction in every respect. It is neatly made and wonderfully cheap at two dollars. Geo. B. Fancher, M. C. R. R., Chico, Butte Co., Cal. Pool's Barometer has already saved me many times its cost, in forefelling the weather. It is a wonderful curiosity and works to perfection. F. J. Robertson, Milwaukee, Wis.

BEWARE OF WORTHLESS IMITATIONS. None genuine without our Trade Mark, and signature of J. A. Pool, on the back of instrument, as below:

J. A. Pool — TRADE MARK

Every instrument warranted Perfect and Reliable. Size 9 1-2 inches long 3 1-4 wide. If not satisfied on receiving the instrument, return it at once and we will refund your money. Please state where you saw our advertisement.

D. W. CLARK,

GENERAL DEALER IN

Groceries & Provisions,

Confectionery, Etc.

A full line of Choice GREEN & JAPAN TEAS always on hand and sold at the lowest possible figure.

GOODS DELIVERED FREE WITHIN THE CORPORATION.

Richard's Block, North Side Chicago Street,

Tecumseh. Michigan.

I. C. WOLCOTT, JOHN S. TEMPLE. S. McCLURE.

WOLCOTT, TEMPLE & CO.,

Wholesale and Retail Dealers in

LUMBER, LATH, SHINGLES, SASH & DOORS

AND ALL KINDS OF BUILDING MATERIAL.

Planing, Sawing, Matching to Order.

Mill and Yard North of Railroad Depot,

TECUMSEH, - MICHIGAN.

JAMES LOWRY,

GENERAL DEALER IN

Groceries and Provisions

CROCKERY & GLASS WARE.

Agent for Model Clothes Wringer.

Highest Cash Price Paid for Butter, Eggs, Lard, &c.

THE BEST AND CHEAPEST TEAS IN TOWN

No. 3, Merchants' Block, TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

S. W. TEMPLE,

Wholesale and Retail Dealer in

Lumber, Lath, Shingles

And all kinds of

BUILDING MATERIAL.

SASH, DOORS AND BLINDS, COAL AND LIME.

Box and Yards near Depot, TECUMSEH, MICH.

THREE BIG OFFERS!

Tecumseh Herald and Detroit Weekly Free Press for $2.25
" " " " " Post & Tribune, 2.25
" " " Michigan Farmer, 2.00

All other papers at reduced rates. Call at

THE HERALD OFFICE

Before ordering your papers for 1883.

WEEKLY TIMES.

Eight large pages—56 columns—and Only Costs One Dollar a Year, and the choice of a beautiful picture or useful book to every subscriber. The oldest, brightest, largest, cheapest, and best weekly paper published. It is more generally taken in the country over because it is the best, and it is made the best because it has the largest circulation, and therefore the income to justify the necessary outlay. It is the easiest paper to get subscribers for, and our terms to agents are of extraordinary liberality. We want Agents. Specimen copy free. Address THE WEEKLY TIMES, 230 Walnut St., Cincinnati, O.

THE CINCINNATI TIMES-STAR

Is the best and cheapest daily paper published in the West. Eight pages—48 columns—and only six dollars a year, or 12 cents a week. The Daily Times-Star is the only eight page paper in the country published at this price. It is independent in politics, but aims to be fair in everything, and just to all parties, individuals, sections, and nationalities. If you want all the news attractively and honestly presented subscribe for it. The largest circulation of any paper published in Cincinnati. The postmaster will receive your subscription if there is no agent in your place.

Rupture

Its Relief and Cure as certain as day follows day, by Dr. J. A. Sherman's Method. With safety from the dangers of strangulation and without the injury trusses inflict. Those wishing proof should send 10 cents for his book, containing likenesses of bad cases before and after cure, also endorsements of professional gentlemen, Ministers, Merchants, Farmers, and others who have been cured. Trusses and Rupture sooner or later affect the nervous and mental system, bring on organic diseases, impotency, destroy energy and social desires, making the young old and the old useless. Principal office, 251 Broadway, New York. For the convenience of Western patients, Dr. Sherman will be at his office, cor. 4th and Market streets, St. Louis, Mo., from November 1st to December 20th.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

Issued Every Thursday Evening.

BY STACY BROTHERS.

Office in the NEW HERALD BUILDING, One Door East of the Opera House, Tecumseh, Mich.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:

One year, Cash in Advance,	$1.50
Six Months, " "	.75
Four Months, " "	.50

Twenty-five cents will be added to the subscription price for every three months that payment may be delayed.

ADVERTISING RATES:

Business Locals, five cents per line for each insertion.

Special notices, fifty cents an inch for each insertion.

Marriages, Births, and Death Notices free.

Rates on General Advertising or by month or contracts, made known at the Counting Room.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Correspondents' names are invariably required, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Anonymous communications will be rejected.

ENTERED AT THE POST OFFICE AT TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, AS SECOND CLASS MATTER.

TECUMSEH, MICH., DEC. 21, 1882.

A TRIP TO ANN ARBOR.

Having occasion to visit Ann Arbor last Monday we decided to take the short cut via. the Wabash and T. & A. A. roads. Starting at seven A. M. we drove from home to Britton station with a horse and buggy. Taking the train on the Wabash at 8 o'clock a pleasant ride of half an hour carried us to Milan. The first train on the Toledo & Ann Arbor road goes north at ten o'clock A M. and the interval was passed in taking a survey of Wm. Hayden's new stave factory. We found Mr. A. S. Hayden in charge, and also noticed among the workmen the faces of Joe Turner, Geo. Mangus and other former Tecumsehites. The mill since its rebuilding has been running five weeks and is crowded with business. About thirty-five hands are now employed, and it is the intention of the proprietor to buy enough stock to keep the mill running far into the summer. The building is all that could be asked for in convenience and security from fire. The engine and boiler room is constructed of brick and the shavings are all carried out of the building by means of a "blower." The entire premises are swept clean every night, and no smoking is allowed about the building. The precautions against fire are such that the danger of another burn out is reduced to the minimum.

At ten o'clock the T. & A. A. train came along and another ride of half an hour brought us into Ann Arbor. We proceeded directly to Dr. Frothingham's office and received the treatment which will be continued once or twice a week for several weeks. The Professor has a very convenient and tasty suit of rooms on the second floor of the Hamilton block, and he is evidently enjoying a large practice. He has lately bought an interest in the Register Printing and Publishing Co., which establishment has been moved from its former quarters north of the public square into the Hamilton Block. The paper has lately been enlarged and greatly improved and the office itself has received much new type and valuable machinery, including a gas engine. As it now stands it is one of the best equipped printing offices in the state, outside of Detroit. It's business is rapidly growing under its present efficient management. The job printing and bindery departments especially are overrun with custom.

After dinner we called at the office of the Daily News. This is a five column sheet published every week day afternoon. It has a good circulation and ought to succeed. The Argus and Democrat offices were interviewed also. Both are located in pleasant rooms and the proprietors speak encouragingly of their future prospects. The central office of the local telephone exchange was easily found. It is located in the third story of No. 56, South Main Street. The rooms are pleasantly fitted up and the exchange seems to be running very satisfactorily.

Leaving Ann Arbor at four o'clock, P. M. we took the T. & A. A. train going south and arrived at Milan half an hour later. The interval of one hour between trains was passed in the office of the Milan Leader. The proprietor of the Leader is well fixed in a neat little building on the ground floor. The paper is well conducted and fitly represents the business interests of that growing village. We hope to see more of the Leader hereafter. Upon arriving at Britton we found our horse had been well provided for by Mr. John Britton. Mr. Britton seems to have his hands full of business now. In addition to running his farm, in which occupation his son is in company with him, he runs the water-tank engine at the Wabash depot, and also buys grain, produce, stock, etc., for shipment. He has shipped a good many car loads of grain during the past summer and is now buying large quantities of dressed pork. He shipped one car of hogs early this week. A ride of an hour over the crisp and icey snow brought us home in good season. This route to Ann Arbor we consider much preferable to the old "Robin Hood Barn" routes, via Jackson or Grand Trunk Junction.

What we ought to have is a direct road to Ann Arbor via Saline.

UNCLE JOSIAH.

A Brief Personal Sketch of Governor-Elect-Begole.

Mr. Begole is remotely of French descent, and on his mother's side comes of good old revolutionary stock. The families of his grand-parents became dissatisfied with slavery, and about 1800 removed from Maryland to New York State, manumitted their human chattels and settled in Livingston county. Governor Begole was born there in January, 1815, and in 1816 his father emigrated to Mt. Morris, N. Y., and the youthful Josiah subsequently went to school at old Genesee academy. In 1836 he removed to Michigan, which was then a territory, taught school in Genesee county, married Miss Harriet Miles in 1839, and began work on a farm. However, to make it a farm he had to first clear the land, but by dint of frugality, hard knocks, good health and economy, he succeeded, and to-day owns one of the best places in all that district of good farms surrounding the pleasant city of Flint.

From the first Mr. Begole was a trusted man, and his fellow citizens recognized his fitness for public trusts, time and again. He served them as school inspector and justice of the peace, and in 1856 was chosen county treasurer, holding the position for four or five terms.

When the time came he was ripe for a change from whigism to the new party formed under the oaks at Jackson, and became early in its history a tower of strength in the Republican organization.

When the war broke out he took an advanced place among those who believed in its vigorous prosecution, and while his eldest son, a promising young man, went forth to battle for the Union, the father was none the less useful to the cause by active work at home, and in noble and practical efforts for the relief of the families of those who were at the front. The son, on whom had been centered the fathers' hopes, laid down his life, falling in battle near Atlanta in the campaign of 1864. It was a sad blow to the family at the pleasant home in Flint, and the story of that young man's life and soldierly death is yet the sore and pathetic spot in the father's memory.

Mr. Begole has never been understood as a seeker for political place, and when in 1871 he was nominated for the State Senate there was not an opposing voice. He was triumphantly elected and served actively on the floor and on important committees. He was one of the most prominent and persistent friends of the proposition to build the present capitol, which stands a noble monument to the spirit that planned it, and the honesty that marked its erection. Mr. Begole was a deegate to the National Republican Convention at Philadelphia in 1872, and in that year he was also elected to Congress on the Republican ticket, his opponents being A. C. Baldwin and Byron G. Stout.

The next time we see Mr. Begole's name before the people is after the Greenback political theory had begun to permeate the State, and in 1880, having previously burned his former Republican bridges behind him, he stood as the Greenback nominee for Congress against Gen. Spaulding and Edwin Winans, receiving 5,699 votes in the six counties then constituting the sixth district.

The history of the political transmutations which placed him where he now stands is too recent to call for repetition here.

His business career has been one of marked success, and he has never let many dollars slip out of his sight by reason of his political affairs. His interests are large and varied, but as the head of the lumber firm of Begole, Fox & Walker, of Flint, he has been placed where nerve, skill and good financiering have been essential and always found. This firm, after having taken the timber from vast tracts in Genesee county, has extended its operations, and to-day is operating its mills with forest products brought by rail from Clare and Roscommon counties. A peculiarity of its business is a recognition of the fact that there is money in the use of timber such as the average lumber wastes or neglects. Thus it has attacked the problem of the finer manipulation of the vast products of our forests, which has taken much thought from Michigan capitalists, and various important industries at Flint attest the faith this firm has in the theory that it is unwise to send all our timber abroad to be returned to us in the shape of articles our own mechanics could have made at a handsome profit to themselves and the community.

Found at Last.

What every one should have, and never be without, is Thomas' Eclectric Oil. It is thorough and safe in its effects, producing the most wondrous cures of rheumatism, neuralgia, burns, bruises, and wounds of every kind.

The journalist, like the carpenter, makes a living by his ads.

Druggist's Testimony.

H. F. McCarthy, druggist, Ottawa, Ont., states that he was afflicted with chronic bronchitis for some years, and was completely cured by the use of Thomas' Eclectric Oil.

GOVERNOR BEGOLE'S VIEWS.

The New York Mail and Express sent to the Democratic Governors-elect of the several States the following inquiries:

First—What, in your opinion, will be the effect of the recent Democratic victories on the next National Democratic creed, as to the tariff, internal improvements and the paper currency of the country?

Second—What elements, if any, in the Democratic party, will supply to it, in the near future, the conservative power wielded by the former slave owners of the South in favor of a strict construction of the Federal Constitution, as regards the centralization of administration, the favoring of a "paternal policy" and the free expenditure of Federal moneys in the States?

The Express says:

"The first Governor-elect to respond to our inquiries was Mr. Begole, of Michigan, who was one of the originators of the Republican party in that State, has seen considerable public service, including one term in Congress, and was especially made known to the country by a letter written to an agent in the 'burnt district' in Michigan, after the great forest fires of 1881, when rival 'committees' were quarreling for the funds, the pith of which is found in the following extract: 'Until the differences between the two committees are adjusted and you receive your regular supplies from them, draw on me. Let no one suffer while I have money.' Mr. Begole was elected by a combination of Democrats and Greenbackers."

The following is the letter sent by Gov. Begole replying to the inquiries above:

Headquarters of the Democratic and National Campaign Com.,
FLINT, Mich., Nov. 21, 1882.

To the Editor of the Mail and Express:

Dear Sir—Your highly esteemed favor of the 28th inst. is before me, and, in reply to the questions asked me, I would say briefly that the platform of the combined opposition, if such a combination there be, will doubtless contain planks demanding a thorough revision of the tariff laws, not so much with reference to our internal revenue tax as to the present unnecessary tax on imported articles, which so largely effect the masses.

There can be no possible objection to necessary internal improvements, but the people will evidently demand that the proposed improvements be of so public a nature as to admit of no doubt as to their necessity. With regard to the currency question, it occurs to me that the rechartering of the national banks disposes of that matter for the present, although the platform could consistently condemn the measure.

It would hardly be proper for me as a member of the National party, to attempt to forestall the action of the Democratic party as regards its policy towards centralization; yet, if I correctly understand your proposition, I might be allowed to allude to the rapidly growing sentiment here in the West against the too prevalent custom of the administration to attempt to control the political destinies of each State, with the recurrence of their biennial elections.

This sentiment would rather indicate that the people with a big P are to be preferred to the nation with a big N; hence the "paternal policy" alluded to could hardly receive the unanimous support of any element within the Democratic party.

Very truly, J. W. BEGOLE.

A Very Good Thing

To have in every home, by everybody, old and young, in the country or village, and in cities as well. A marvel of condensed information, both useful and trustworthy, with a thousand or more engravings, illustrating labor-saving methods and devices in the Field, in the Garden, and in the Household, Animals, Plants, et., with many large beautiful Pictures; Illustrated Stories for and Instructive Talks with Boys and Girls; Plans of Houses, Barns, and Out-Buildings, with Specifications. All these, and much more, will be found in the 42d Volume of the Americaan Agriculturist, now beginning, and at less cost than anywhere else in the world. Its exposures of Humbugs, a most valuable feature, is to be pushed with increased vigilance. To the previous staff of editors and contributors many additions are now made, including the best writers all over the country. In its prime, this journal enters its 42d volume, more vigorous than ever, with new writers, new artists, new dress, etc. Though prepared at larger expense than most $3 and $4 magazines, it is, owing to its immense circulation, supplied, post-paid, for $1.50 a year, and less to clubs—either English or German edition. Single number, 15 cents. One specimen, post-paid, 6 cents. A plate copy of Dupre's last great painting, "In The Meadow," is presented to each yearly subscriber. Address Publishers of American Agriculturist, 751 Broadway, New York.

Remarkable Escape.

John Kuhn, of Lafayette, Ind., had a very narrow escape from death. This is his story: "One year ago I was in the last stages of Consumption. Our best physicians gave my case up. I finally got so low that our doctor said I could not live twenty-four hours. My friends then purchased a bottle of Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the lungs, which benefited me. I continued until I took nine bottles. I am now in perfect health having used no other medicine.

Dr. Roger's Vegetable Worm Syrup instantly destroys worms, and removes the secretions that cause them.

Henry's Carbolic Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, Salt Rheum, Tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all kinds of skin eruptions, etc. Get Henry's Carbolic Salve, as all others are but imitations. Price 25 cents.

The New York World.

A Live Daily Newspaper for the People.

ALL THE NEWS, 2 CENTS.

The Only 8-Page Newspaper in the United States Sold at 2 Cents.

NEW PRESSES, NEW TYPE, NEW BUILDINGS, NEW APPLIANCES, AND NEW LIFE IN EVERY DEPARTMENT.

THE WORLD contains the fullest and freshest Local and Foreign News, and is a recognized authority in Masonic, Military, Sporting and Society matters. Special attention is called to the Masonic and Military Items in the SUNDAY WORLD.

THE NEW YORK WORLD has no superior on either side of the water as a Live, Brilliant, Perfectly Appointed, Progressive Newspaper.

TERMS---POSTAGE PAID.

DAILY AND SUNDAYS:

One year	$7.70
Six months	3.85
Three months	1.95
One month	.65

DAILY, WITHOUT SUNDAYS:

One year	$6.50
Six months	$3.25
Three months	1.65
Less than 3 months, per month	.55

NEW YORK SUNDAY WORLD:

One year	$1.20

Each subscriber who sends $7.70 for one year's subscription to the Daily and Sunday World may select one of a large list of popular books. These books are 12mo volumes, printed uniformly in large, clear type, from new electrotype plates, and are very beautifully bound in cloth, with illuminated covers in black and gold. They retail at $1 a volume. List furnished on application.

Getters-up of Clubs will receive 10 per cent. commission on subscriptions to the Daily World, and can also give their customers their choice on these premiums.

THE NEW YORK WEEKLY WORLD.

A Large 8-Page 48-Column Newspaper.

One Whole Year for Only $1, Postage Paid. Six Months for 50 Cents.

The $1 also entitles each individual subscriber to a choice of a large list of popular books, all printed in large, clear type and neatly bound, in addition to the Weekly World for a year. List furnished on application; or containing 30 pages of choice instrument and vocal music, which, if retailed singly, would regate over $2.

The World Musical Album,

The Weekly World is a complete Family Paper. Free Masons should read its special Masonic Department, with contributions from the pens of distinguished Masons. The Weekly World is the only leading newspaper in the country that has a special department devoted to Masonic interests.

The Weekly World also Contains:

All the news, Complete and Interesting. A full page of Agricultural and Farm News. A full page of Long and Short Stories, Comic Ballads and Serious Poems, Fairy Tales and Sailors' Yarns. What every Housewife Wants to Know. The Veterinary Department—With Prescriptions Free for All Subscribers and Full Instructions for the treatment of Live Stock. The best Chess and Checker Column in the world for Amateur Players. Riddles, Charades, Puzzles, Enigmas, Acrostics, &c., for the young folks, and Answers to Inquiries. Complete Market Reports—Unrivalled in Detail and Accuracy.

Each Department is perfect of its kind, and all Combined make the Best Weekly Newspaper ever published.

THE N. Y. SEMI-WEEKLY WORLD.

Published Every Tuesday and Friday,

SAME SIZE AS THE WEEKLY WORLD, ONLY $2 A YEAR.

THE SEMI-WEEKLY WORLD, is published for those who do not care to take a daily newspaper, and who want to read the news oftener than once a week.

The Agricultural, Financial, Masonic and General News in the Semi-Weekly World is Unexcelled.

Subscribers to the Semi-Weekly World for one year are entitled to a choice of a large list of popular books, all printed in large, clear type and neatly bound. List furnished on application; or

The World Musical Album.

Subscribers to THE SUNDAY WORLD are entitled to the same premiums as those of THE SEMI-WEEKLY WORLD.

Unparalleled Offers to Club Agents

Any one may become a Club Agent.

The largest commissions ever paid and handsome premiums in addition.

The World will give to the person sending in the largest number of subscriptions to the Weekly World, up to May 1, 1883,

A HANDSOME ORGAN,

with ORGAN BENCH and MUSIC BOOK, worth $125. This is a magnificent instrument. It is elegantly cased in black walnut and has twenty-seven stops and ten full sets Golden Tongue Reeds. It can be seen at any time in The World Publication Office.

No person can compete for this organ who sends in less than 500 subscriptions to the Weekly or Semi-Weekly World up to May 1, 1883.

The World will give a

Two-Horse Plough, a Hilling Cultivator, and a One-Horse Plough

to the person sending in the second, third and fourth largest number of subscriptions to the Weekly or Semi-Weekly World up to May 1, 1883.

These premiums are all in addition to the large cash commissions paid by The World.

In competing for the cash commissions and premiums, a subscription to The Semi-Weekly World will be considered as equivalent to two subscriptions to The Weekly World.

THE WORLD takes this occasion to publicly thank all the kind friends who so promptly furnished it with names and information recently, and it begs them to consider themselves Club Agents for The World, and to remember that the Premium offers and handsome Cash Commissions apply to them as well as to other agents.

Secretaries of Masonic Lodges will see the advantage of getting up clubs.

Sample copies free.

Address, THE NEW YORK WORLD N. Y.

INVESTORS

Desiring First-class DIVIDEND Paying Stocks or Bonds yielding TEN PER CENT. Per annum, and over,

Well Secured,

may obtain full particulars, with satisfactory references and testimonials, by addressing

H. BLAISDELL, Financial Agent.
48 Congress St., Boston, Mass.

Mention this paper.

THE MILLER BROS. CUTLERY CO.
MERIDEN, CONN.

STANDARD POCKET CUTLERY,

Ladies' Scissors and Ink Erasers.

Make all styles of

STEEL PENS.

We show cut of Patent Adjustable Quill Action Reservoir Pen, "The Acme," and will mail a sample gross on receipt of $3.

Our whole line of Pens will be sold by the trade.

Price Lists furnished to dealers on application.

NOW

IS THE TIME TO BUY,

KIES BROTHERS!

MAMMOTH STOCK

OF WINTER

CLOTHING,

Must be sold by JANUARY 1st.

NOW FOR BARGAINS.

Now is the time to Clothe your Boys.

Remember that our Stock of

FURNISHING GOODS,

HATS AND CAPS

Can not be Beat.

KIES BROS.,

ONE PRICE CLOTHIERS,

Mills Block, TECUMSEH, MICH.

LEE'S

ONLY TEN MORE DAYS!

To Secure the Benefit of the Great

20 PER CENT. OFF

SALE OF

BOOTS & SHOES

AT LEE'S.

STORE TO RENT.

Terms STRICTLY CASH. All goods marked in plain figures.

REMEMBER THE PLACE!!

HEWITT'S BLOCK.

MAKE HENS LAY An English Veterinary surgeon and Chemist, now traveling in this country, says that most of the Horse and Cattle Powders sold here are worthless trash. He says that Sheridan's Condition Powders are absolutely pure and immensely valuable. Nothing on earth will make hens lay like Sheridan's Condition Powders. Dose, 1 teaspoonful to 1 pint food. Sold everywhere, or sent by mail for 8 letter-stamps. I. S. JOHNSON & CO., Boston, Mass.

HOLIDAY SUPPLEMENT.

VOL. XXXIII.--NO 32 TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 21, 1882. WHOLE NO. 1670

The Most Beautiful Frenchwoman.

Lucy Hooper writes from the French capital: The prettiest woman in Paris has returned to Paris. Anybody who has ever seen the fair and famous Madame Bernadaki, the celebrated Russian beauty, will know at once whom I mean without any further description. I saw her in her box at the opera the other night, looking the very type of perfect, if soulless, loveliness. In feature she resembles greatly the portraits of Madame Recamier. The eyes are of a deep, lovely blue, the nose aquiline, the mouth small and shaped like cupid's bow. The exquisitely shaped head is set to perfection on the white, rounded throat, and the shoulders in mold and in coloring would put to shame the most artistic form that ever was sculptured in marble. If her face were only expressive it would be divine. In her superb toilette of white satin the other night she was simply dazzling. She does not altogether understand how to set off her own marvelous beauty. She breaks the lines of her exquisite form by wearing great masses of flowers on her corsage, and she mars the outline of her shapely head by similar additions to her coiffure. It is said that she will be next season one of the queens of Parisian society. Some encumberment which had weighed on her husband's estates will be removed and he will come into the possession of vast wealth, which, joined to his wife's personal charms, will fully suffice to secure the position of the pair in the beau monde. I hope that some one of the great portrait painters of the day will, during the coming season, immortalize on canvas the face and form of this flesh-and-blood Venus.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Scobeleff's Test of the Sentry.

As a disciplinarian he was firm and strict. No point was too minute to be overlooked. Scobeleff's videttes were never caught napping. His knowledge of the detail of military duty was universal—even to sounding all the bugle calls. An illustration of the discipline of his corps occurs to me. I had been talking with him of military breech-loaders and discussing the merits of various systems. Taking a "Berdan" with which the troops were latterly armed, from a soldier, he undid the breech and lock and explained the mechanism with the precision of a gun-smith. Returning the rifle to the soldier, he turned, walking up to a sentry a few paces distant, he said: "Let me see your rifle"—extending his hand as he spoke. The man saluted, and replied: "I cannot, your excellency." "But I want to see if it is clean." persisted the general. "I cannot, your excellency," again said the sentry, as firm as a rock. Scobeleff smiled, pulled his ears, and walked on. I asked an explanation, whereupon he said that a rule of war with him was that no sentry on duty was on any account to give up possession of his arms—not even to the czar himself. "But," said I, "suppose the sentry had given up his rifle when you were seemingly so serious in asking it. What then?" "He would have been shot," quietly replied the general, "for disobedience to orders in times of war."—Fortnightly Review.

Is Salt Healthful?

A correspondent of the English Mechanic says: "Whoever judges by the effect on dogs of what would be the effect on human beings must make mistakes. There is not the least reason to suppose that the effect would be the same in the two cases. I do not fancy that a diet of thistles with lumps of rock salt would be beneficial to man, but donkeys certainly thrive on both. It is a well known fact that to experiment on animals with drugs for the purpose of ascertaining their effect is futile and utterly useless, the action being different on nearly all. Tobacco is harmless to a goat, lachesis (rattle-snake) to a pig, strychnine to a toucan, and belladona (deadly nightshade) to a rabbit; but all these are deadly poisons to man. I do not know whether salt, (chloride of sodium) be good or bad; but, as a fact, I do not eat more than a teaspoonful a year, and am very healthy. I have often noticed that persons who are fond of salt are generally unhealthy or half developed, but I do not know whether this is the cause or the effect."

How Danenhower and His Men Were Buried.

The reports of Engineer Melville and Lieut. Danenhower, made to the Navy Department, give details of their journey after the separation of the boats, most of which have already been published. Melville, in giving the details of the burial of DeLong and his party, says the bodies were placed in a box made of 7 inch planks, the box being 22 feet long, 7 feet wide, and 2 feet deep. In the center was planted a cross made of spar 13 inches in diameter, with the names of all the men cut on it in letters 8 inches long. The box was placed on a rock 400 feet high, the cross projecting a distance of 43 feet above.

The smallest bird of America is the humming-bird; and of Europe the golden-crested wren. The smallest quadruped in the world is the pygmy-mouse of Siberia. One of the most diminutive plants is the arctic raspberry, which is so small that a six-ounce vial will hold the whole, branches, leaves and all.

"What a remarkably ugly man Mayor Grace is," said Col. Mooney to a pretty and tender-hearted young lady. "Ah," replied she, deprecatingly, "but he has a face that grows on you." "Hum!" responded the Colonel, "God forbid, madam, that it should ever grow on me."

The man who scissors off coupons is the genuine "revenue cutter."

C. A. KEIL.

HOLIDAY GOODS!

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION,

Watches, Silverware, Jewelry, Diamonds.

Christmas Cards.

Birthday Cards.

GIFT BOOKS,

Bibles, Albums, Poems, Miscellaneous Books,

FANCY GOODS!

Stationery, Vases, Fancy Boxes, Toilet Sets, Picture Books,

TOYS

FOR OLD AND YOUNG.

C. A. KEIL.

DIARIES! DIARIES!

Christmas Cards,

FANCY GOODS

And Confectionary for the

HOLIDAYS!

AT

A. E. Kennedy's.

Post Office Building.

Clothing! Clothing! Clothing!

At Closing Prices.

Strong & McNair

Have the most complete assortment in every department the market affords. In OVERCOATS we can discount all competition.

In Mens' Suits,

Boy's Suits,

Children's Suits,

Underwear, Hats and Caps, our stock is immense, and we are making such prices as must sell them before January 10th.

Buyers who would save money we invite to give us a look.

HOLIDAY GOODS!

Henry McClure

Has now on hand the largest and best selected stock of Holiday Goods ever brought to this market, And will be sold away down below any competition. Don't fail to call and examine before you buy, and save money.

H. McCLURE.

Please Get me One of Those

LOVELY PICTURE FRAMES

At Hough & Hosmer's.

An Earthquake Experience.

Miss Fanny Snow of Rochester, N. Y., who was in the city of Mexico during an earthquake, writes a graphic account of her sensation. The following is an extract:

We were walking briskly along San Francisco street in the hot sun, when I felt myself suddenly whirling—could not see. I cried out, frightened, "Why, Miss L., I'm dizzy!" "So am I," she replied: and then I think for a moment I lost my senses, for I had a wild idea that I must get somewhere under shelter. As I saw people all around dropping on their knees, I did not want to be the one conspicuous person on the street who would not kneel at the archbishop or the holy sacrament. Whatever I thought, I staggered into a shoe-store, and just as I got inside it struck me that an earthquake was in session. They were repairing something or other in the store, and I vaguely felt through my dizziness that I must get out from under the scaffolding, and I somehow found myself in the street, standing on the corner and clinging to a building.

By that time I had recovered my senses, and could philosophize on the subject. It was very interesting to watch the people. They poured out of the stores into the streets, and very generally knelt. I took in the height of the buildings around, and concluded that should they fall into the narrow streets one might as well be in one spot as another, so I stayed in the shade. It was very quiet, not a word was spoken anywhere. I don't suppose it lasted three minutes, but it was the queerest sensation imaginable. For the moment that I did not know what it was I was dreadfully frightened, but the moment it occurred to me that it was only an earthquake, I was as composed as if I had taken earthquakes for a daily exercise all my life. I was quite seasick for a little while, and never was seasick at sea.

Smoking and Spitting.

A lady writer in the Boston Advertiser has poured in a broadside of denunciatory criticism on the men who smoke and spit in public places, the streets and cars especially. The Advertiser heard her complaint patiently, and replied in a really philosophic temper; the gist of its advice being that what people on the whole are willing to put up with, the few who are incommoded or offended must try and put up with the best way they can. It is quite too bad to have to answer a sensitive woman's complaints in that way, but what can be done? It is all out of the question to think of stopping the practice of smoking. Yet we think it but right and courteous that smokers should consider that not every one smokes. A puff of tobacco smoke in the face is like a sickening dose to many persons, men as well as women. Ordinarily, a gentleman does not smoke in the street, except at unusual hours.

But on the subject of spitting there is more to be said. There is altogether too much of it, and it is done too indiscriminately. A person who is capable of any reflection should at least see for himself the common decency of spitting off the sidewalk instead of upon it. The habit of spitting on floors that are walked over by others is simply indecent. And the practice of disgorging in the corners of the floors beneath car-seats is unqualifiedly vile. As for squirting about in the passage ways of railway cars, the person who does it needs a great deal of training before being admitted into any apartment where either gentlemen or ladies are. Men should prepare themselves for their railroad ride just as they do for their dinner; they can finish their spitting before they enter the cars, and hold up at least until they have ended their ride, especially if it is to be a short one. Few habitual spitters know what a perfect torture of disgust they inflict on others by the ostentatious display they make of this nasty habit.

The Daily Press.

The daily newspaper office is never closed. Night and day, the newspaper office is never deserted. There is always somebody awake about the building. At noon the work of the editors begins, and ceases not until two and three o'clock the next morning. At sunset the type-setters begin, and do not leave off until three and four o'clock the following morning. When the type-setters leave off, the pressmen take hold and work on until sunrise. Before their labors close, the folders, packers and mailing-clerks come on duty. By this time the counting-room is on deck, and every floor of the office building has one or more, and, as a rule, a half-dozen occupants all day. It would be impossible, therefore, for a newspaper office to take fire without being observed in time to prevent a disaster. There is nothing really combustible about a printing-office but the paper, and that is never stored in very large quantity in the building and is always tightly baled and not easy to take fire.

The Chicago of the Early Days.

When the board of trade met in a room of no great space on South Water street, and the bulls were very small calves, and the bear cubs of very small account, and corners were not heard of—barring corner lots; in the days before the "Wigwam," when Widow Clarke's mansion lay far to the southern line of the city, and Chicago Avenue lay far north, and the pigs were not afraid of the policemen beyond Superior street, when the cows went out to pasture on the prairies, and had not far to go, and the herdsman's horn sounded for them through what were then the still morning hours; when the little parks within the city were planted with old tin cans, the great parks unheard of, and Lincoln park was the cemetery for our dead; when we were all poor by comparison, but merry as May-day, for the world was young on the Lake shore, and, while each man fought for his own hand, we all fought for the clan, and were known wherever we went by the way we stood up for Chicago as the very choicest spot on the habitable globe, predestined and called already, and bound in good time to be justified and glorified.—Robert Collyer.

Luck, like lightning, often comes in a dark hour.

The Indians of Alaska.

The number of aborigines in Alaska is variously estimated from thirty to fifty thousand. With regard to those in the interior nothing is very meagre accurate knowledge. The obstacles in the way of a thorough understanding of the nature of this portion of the American possessions, and the number and character of the natives are not great, either from the cost of outfitting an exploring party, danger from the natives, or any other terrors incident to such an undertaking. In their handiwork, especially as exhibited by carvings in wood, stone and slate, their ornaments and shapely canoes, they display unlooked-for skill. Blanketed natives, with painted or tattooed besmeared faces, were to be seen. From a condition offensive to the nostrils and the scanty mode of dress, there are various stages of approach to cleanliness and civilized style of clothing; some, indeed, make a very presentable appearance. Sometimes Indians were observed affectionately fondling their children, and the men often carrying their offspring in their arms with all the apparent pride of their white brethren. The women generally do the trading and bargaining in disposing of furs and in other transactions. When an Indian offers fur for sale, and the price has been arranged between him and the purchaser, his klochman, or squaw, can veto the transaction, and has to be consulted before the trade becomes final. The Indians are never in a hurry to conclude a bargain, those at a distance often remaining at a trading post for weeks holding out for a most trifling advance on the price offered. They are shrewd traders, and the amounts agreed upon for the different kinds of furs seem very high to an uninitiated looker-on. The purchasers would lose money on the goods if they paid coin. The Indian's shrewdness manifests itself only in securing the promise of a high price. They do not want money, but desire articles out of the store. Their ignorance of what these cost the dealer leaves them a prey to the most outrageous imposition from the more intelligent but less honest white trafficker. These Indians are industrious, willingly embracing opportunities of earning money by working for it. If they are not a doomed race, by reason of liquor and contact with depraved whites preventing their reclamation from heathenism, in the coming development of the resources of Alaska they will be a valuable factor as "hewers of wood and drawers of water." They are quick to learn what is required of them.—Portland Oregonian.

A Canadian Courtship.

A real romance occurred lately in a hotel in Montreal. In the hotel the road agent of a respectable company boarded while in the city. In the same hotel an American young lady was domiciled. The lady was pleasant and accomplished. The young gentleman at first viewed the lady admiringly at a distance, but too timid to approach. Day by day his interest grew stronger. He had never spoken to her nor she to him, and, so far as he was concerned, this was what he most earnestly desired she might do. In this dilemma he applied to a friend for advice. "Do you eat at the same table?" asked the friend. "Yes," was the reply. "Then I would advise you the next time you dine to ask the lady to pass the salt." "All right," sighed the love-sick hero. The following day he intended to put his friend's advice into operation, but was most delightfully balked by the lady asking him "to please pass the salt." From that moment the ice was broken, till at last the lady asked for the gentleman's card, in order that she might know whom she was conversing with. The gentleman at once handed the lady his business card. Matters then went on smoothly, all the while the couple enjoying each other's company at concerts, operas, etc. At length this state of matters was brought to a crisis. The lady was about to return to the States. The lover was perplexed and again applied to his friend for advice, who at once advised him to pop the question and thus settle anxiety. She was willing to become one with him. The question then came, when the happy day would be. She replied "to-morrow." To this the gentleman at first demurred, as he had certain business matters to fix. She told him to leave them alone and write to his employers resigning his position and leave the rest to her. He complied; they were married and went to the States, where the Canadian gentleman learned that he had married a young widow worth $250,000. In his happiness he did not forget the friend who advised him. He sent that gentleman a check for $2,000 with a letter of thanks for his kind advice in enabling him to become a rich and happy man, through the possession of a handsome and loving woman. The gentleman who tendered the advice felt dubious as to the reality of the check, and did not present it at the bank for some days. At last he put the matter to the test, and was informed the money had been lying in the bank at his order for a number of days. And so the romance ended to the satisfaction of all persons interested.

"Hasn't It, George."

There is quite a good joke now going the rounds at Vallejo, Cal., says the Wheatland Graphic. A young lady visiting there is quite sweet on a certain young journalist. One morning the pair started out for a long ramble over in the Contra Costa hills. Being gone all day, they returned in the evening completely worn out and fatigued. The young lady and gentleman were met by a party of their friends, soon after their return, and were asked as to what kind of a time they had. Now the young lady has a very unhandy habit of proving any assertion she may make, by appealing to any friend that she happens to have with her at the time. So, as usual, away she went, and answered the enquiry as follows: "Oh, we had a fine time. But climbing over rocks and bushes has made me black and blue all over, hasn't it, George?" (appealing to the young man who had gone out with her.) George said emphatically that he'd be hanged if he knew anything about it; and now the young couple get no rest from the chaffing of their friends.

I AM NOW READY FOR THE

HOLIDAYS!

Christmas Slippers

Just received. Latest and Nobbiest Styles. Call early and make your selections.

My store will be open evenings during the

HOLIDAYS.

G. W. Marsden.

A Sewing Machine!

Makes an elegant and useful

HOLIDAY PRESENT!

See the new

SKELETON CABINET

MACHINE.

AT

G. P. SPARKS'

Sewing Machine Rooms.

THE LIGHT-RUNNING

NEW HOME

ALL WE ASK IS, to have you TRY ONE before BUYING ANY OTHER. It is the only Machine that is kept up with the times in the way of improvements. The immense number already sold is proof of its great popularity. Every Machine warranted for Five Years. Responsible Agents wanted in unoccupied territory. Send for Circular. Address,

JOHNSON, CLARK & CO., Manufacturers, 248 STATE STREET, CHICAGO, ILL.

For The Holidays!

George Heesen

Calls the attention of the public to his immense stock of Men's, Youths', Boy's and Children's

CLOTHING!

and GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS at his

Palace Clothing House

Chicago St. Tecumseh, Mich.

Don't Cry. Solid and Plated Ware

At Hough & Hosmer's.

THE

Y S!

ers tyles. Call ring the n.

hine!

ENT!

RUNNING
HOME

o have you TRY ONE
ER. It is the only Mae times in the way of number already sold is Every Machine warnsible Agents wanted in r Circular. Address, & CO., Manufacturers,
REET, CHICAGO, ILL.

ays!

s immense hildren's

G!

S at his louse

d Ware

er's.

World's Weaver's Works!

NOW ON EXHIBITION

At GAINSLEY & CO.

Looms of America, Looms of France,
Looms of Germany, Looms of Switzerland, Looms of England,
ALL

Represented in the Magnificent Collection

Of Winter Fabrics now displayed

At Prices which will Eclipse all competing figures and outrival our most liberal former quotations.

We Open the Holiday Season

By offering a few of the countless Bargains our large Stock contains:

Two Cases Merimack Prints 6c a yard.
Two Cases Wiltshire Suitings 5c a yard.
Two Cases Alpaca 9 1-2c a yard.

Unbleached and bleached Sheeting, Muslins, Table Damasks, Crashes, Canton Flannels, Shirtings, Ticks and Denims, all much below former prices. Cashmeres, Ottomans, Satins and Cords, Henrietta Crapes in all Wool and lk Warps, English Brocades, Black Gros Grain silks, atin Rhademas, Moirantiques, Brocades and Silks.

tunning Bargains In White Blankets and Comforters. An Elegant Line of fancy Goods and Notions to select from for Christmas Presents.

Hdkfs., Gloves, Hosiery, Nubias and Mittens, Purses, Jewelry, Combs and Brushes, Bows, Ties and Suspenders, Collars and Cuffs.

Beautiful satin Rhadema Circulars and Dolmans.

Great Job in Cloth and Felt skirts.

Our counters will be Loaded down with the Christmas Novelties for the little Folks, from a 5c mouth Organ to a steam Boat and Railway Train.

Don't fail to see the Collection.

GAINSLEY & CO.

Tecumseh, December 15th, 1882.

O! Dem Golden Slippers!

A BEAUTIFUL PRESENT
FOR THE

HOLIDAYS!

JOE WILSON

Greets You with the Best Stock of Boots, Shoes and Slippers in
TECUMSEH.

"Hough & Hosmer Have

What YOU WANT."

Bill Arp's Baby Talk.

The poet hath said that "a baby in the house is a well spring of pleasure." There is a brand-new one here now, the first in eight years, and it has raised a powerful commotion. It's not our baby, exactly but it is in the line of descent, and Mrs. Arp takes on over it all the same as she used to when she was regularly in the business. I thought maybe she had forgot how to nurse 'em and talk to 'em, but she is singing the same old familiar songs that have sweetened the dreams of half a score, and she blesses the little eyes and sweet little mouth, and uses the same infantile language that nobody but babies understand. For she says "tum here to its danmudder," and "bless its 'itle heart," and talks about its sweet little footsy-tootsies, and holds it up to the windows to see the wagons go by and the wheels going rouny-pouny, and now my liberty is curtailed, for as I go stamping around with my heavy farm shoes she shakes her ominous finger at me just like she used to, and says don't you see the baby is asleep, and so I have to tip-toe around, and ever and anon she wants a little fire, or some hot water, or a little catnip, for the baby is a-crying, and surely has got the colic. The doors have to be kept shut now for fear of a draft of air on the baby, and a little hole in the window pane about as big as a dime had to be patched, and I have to hunt up a passel of kin'lings every night, and put 'em where they will be handy, and they have sent me off to another room where the baby can't hear me snore, and all things considered, the baby is running the machine, and the wellspring of pleasure is the center of space.

A grandmother is a wonderful help, and a great comfort at such a time as this, for what does a young mother with her first child know about colic and thrash, and hives, and hiccups, and it takes a good deal of faith to dose, 'em with sut tea and catnip, and limewater, and paregoric, and soothing syrup, and sometimes with all of these the child gets worse, and if it gets better I've always had a curiosity to know which remedy it was that did the work. Children born of healthy parents can stand a power of medicine and get over it, for after the cry comes sleep, and sleep is a wonderful restorer.

Rock 'em awhile in the cradle and then take 'em up and jolt 'em a little on the knee, and then turn 'em over and jolt 'em on the other side, and then give 'em some sugar in a rag, and after a while they will go to sleep and let the poor mother rest. There is no patent on this business, no way of raising 'em all the same way, but it is trouble, trouble from the start, and nobody but a mother knows how much trouble it is. A man ought to be a mighty good man just for his mother's sake, if nothing else, for there is no toil or trouble like nursing and caring for a little child, and there is no grief so great as a mother's if all her care and anxiety are wasted on an ungrateful child.—Atlanta Constitution.

A New Red Riding Hood.

The subject of this sketch was a clever little girl, who derived her odd name from wearing on her head the sleeve of one of her father's old red flannel shirts. She was an independent little piece and when asked why her mother didn't buy her a new bonnet, said she would "just sleeve wear what she had on." When one one of the neighbor's children sneeringly said, "Your pa gets drunk," Little Red Red Riding Hood responded, "Your pa would, too, but he can't afford it;" and when the next-door boy ill-naturedly said, "Your mother takes in washing," Little Red Riding Hood answered, "She don't take in much when your mother gets the first whack at the line."

It will be seen from these incidents in her life that, though little read, she was well posted, and the confidence with which her mother dispatched her to carry codfish balls down into Stoors township to her sick grandmother is easily understood.

Holding the lead dime, which her mother had given her for car fare, tightly in her hand, Little Red Riding Hood started for a street-car, and, having a few minutes to wait, improved the opportunity by setting up a howl that attracted the attention of a benevolent old gentleman to whom she explained her cause for grief. She was going, she said, to her poor, sick grandmother and had just been put off a car because her dime was counterfeit. The gentleman gave her a quarter and put her on the next car. The conductor in due time called upon Little Red Riding Hood for a fare, when she produced her lead dime. "This is counterfeit," said the conductor, whereat Riding Hood fell to sobbing as if her heart would break; the conductor passed her, an old lady gave her a dime, and a boy shared some gingerbread with her. Arrived near her grandmother's house Little Red Riding Hood sat down and ate the codfish balls; then she bought some milk from a drunken milkman, upon whom she passed the counterfeit dime, receiving from him 16 cents in change, after which she proceeded to her grandmother's and stayed with her for three weeks.

In contrasting this story with the original Little Red Riding Hood the reader should bear in mind the disadvantage our heroine labored under in having to be her own wolf, a role which she sustained with signal ability. There does not appear to be anything more to add, except that the town is full of our kind of Little Red Riding Hoods.—Cincinnati Saturday Night.

A crazy man named Jackson threw Bolton township, Vermont, into a fever lately by climbing up a perpendicular ledge 190 feet high. About half-way up he took off his boots, hat, and coat, and screamed for help. The village at once turned out to save the lunatic, or witness his terrible fall. Some strong men finally threw him a rope from the top and hauled him up.

"Ma," howled a boy running into the house and approaching his mother, "ma, little brother hit me with a stick." "Well, I'll whip your little brother," said the mother, abstractedly tucking together a pair of stockings she had been darning. "No, don't whip him; don't let him have any supper. I whipped him before he hit me."

Some Small Things.

William H. Vanderbilt has the least to say of any man on Wall street.

The smallest navy in the world for the money spent on it—the United States navy.

The shortest verse in the Bible is the thirty-fifth verse of the eleventh chapter of St. John.

The mule has the reputation of having the smallest and daintiest foot for its size of all hoofed animals.

Diamond is the smallest movable type in the world. It often gets under the finger nails of the compositors.

Watches made as early as 1700 were so delicately constructed by hand and so small as to easily fit on the top of a lead pencil.

It is worthy of remark that a mosquito has concealed in its bill six complete surgical instruments, each so minute as to be indiscernible to the naked eye.

General Langer, the editor of a newspaper called the Key West Democrat, is 20 years old, forty inches high, and weighs thirty-five pounds. The General was born in San Domingo and raised in Florida.

The sting of a honey bee, when compared with the point of a fine needle under a powerful magnifying glass, is scarcely discernible. The point of the needle seemed to be about an inch in breadth.

Prof. Edward C. Pickering, of Harvard College says that in undertaking to measure the intensity of the light of the satellite of Mars a hole about the twenty-five hundredth part of an inch is required.

A very curious little toy is the microscope containing the Lord's prayer.—The whole prayer is on a piece of glass not larger than the head of a pin, yet it is magnified to such an extent that it can be read easily by looking through the microscope.

The smallest hogs in the world are quartered in the zoological garden in London. They c[illegible] from Australia and are known as th[illegible] hogs." They are well formed, [illegible] good natured and make excelle[illegible] They are about the size of a wild [illegible]

The smallest baby was born in Chandelaria, Nev., a few weeks ago. The father and mother are strong and healthy, weighing 190 and 160 pounds. The child is a male, perfectly formed. When it first saw light it weighed eight ounces. Its face is about the size of a horse chestnut. The mother's wedding ring was pulled over its foot up to the knee. Three such babies could play hide and seek in a cigar box. It is in good health.

The will of the late Peter Meltzberger, who recently died in Reading, Pa., has just been filed in the register's office. It is the shortest ever admitted to probate in Berks county. It is as follows: "Reading, Pa., Jan. 29, 1880.—I, Peter Meltzberger, do give and bequeath to my wife, Lena Meltzberger, all my personal and real property, absolutely, and I appoint my said wife executrix of my last will and testament. Peter Meltzberger."

A kind of dwarfed kangaroo is found in Northwestern Texas. Its body is about eight inches long. Its fore legs are not more than an inch and a half to two inches long, and its hind ones are fully six inches. It has a tail about eight inches long, completely bare, except a tuft of long hairs at the end, and a ridge of short hairs on its upper edge. The animal is of a soft blue color. Its only mode of locomotion is by jumping like a kangaroo, and it can jump eight or ten feet.

An ingenious mechanic of Jamestown, N. Y., has constructed a perfect locomotive, said to be the smallest in the world. The engine is only eight and a half inches long, with a tender twelve inches long. The pumps throw a drop of water per stroke. As many as 585 screws were required to put the parts together. The engine itself weighs a pound and a half, and the tender two pounds, two and a half ounces. The mechanic was at work upon the locomative at intervals for eight years.

For the Young Folks.

The following may serve to while away some long winter evenings: Can you place a newspaper on the floor in such a way that two persons can easily stand upon it and not be able to touch one another with their hands? Answer—Yes; by putting the paper in the door way, one-half inside and the other half outside of the room, and closing the door over it, two persons can easily stand upon it and still be beyond each other's reach. Can you put one of your hands where the other cannot touch it? Easily; by putting one hand on the elbow of the other arm. Can you place a pencil on the floor in such a way that no one can jump over it? Yes, if I place it close enough to the wall of the room. Can you push a chair through a finger ring? Yes; by putting a ring on the finger and pushing the chair with the finger. You can put yourself through a keyhole by taking a piece of paper with the words "yourself" written upon it and pushing it through the hole. You can ask a question that no one can answer with a "no," by saying what does y-e-s spell? You can go out of the room with two legs and return with six, by bringing along a chair with you.

The city of Texarkana, though small in comparison to some of the other cities of the Union, is the most phenomenal. It lies in two States, Texas and Arkansas; hence its name. The State line runs through the center of its chief street, its population is 6,000. It is considered the gateway of the Southwest. It is only 8 years old, but has the air of a city of 25 years. Four railroads center there, the climate is like that of Italy, and tramps are not tolerated. Money is plenty and the people are prosperous.

The Brooklyn Supreme Court has decided that a child born to a man and woman who supposed themselves legally married is a legitimate child, even though said marriage was illegal. The question arose in a case wherein both parents thought themselves rightly married, whereas it was shown that the woman had never been divorced from a man to whom she had been married and who was then living. The second marriage was annulled and the child awarded to its father.

GIFT SALE!

Don't fail to attend A. W. SLAYTON'S gift sale of

"HOLIDAY GOODS!

Which takes place at his store on Chicago street, Tecumseh, every day until Dec. 25. These goods, all kinds of

FURNITURE AND SEWING MACHINES

Must be sold, and they will go cheap, Call soon.

A. W. SLAYTON.

WETMORE AXES!

Champion Diamond & Lightning
Tooth Cross-Cut Saws,

Blankets, Robes, Whips, Skates, Sleigh Bells,

Hand-sleds, also, a full line of

Fine Pen & Pocket Cutlery

and a large and c mplete line

SEASONABLE GOODS

Of all kinds, at prices guaranteed to please, at

SUTTON & SWAN'S.

JIM COLE

Will Have the largest stock of Turkeys,

Geese,

Chickens, Ducks, Oysters,

FRESH FISH AND

Bear, Vension, Rabbit, Quail,

Beef, Veal, Mutton, Pork,

FOR CHRISTMAS & NEW YEARS.

Oh, do get me One of those Charming Watches that I saw at HOUGH & HOSMER'S.

HOLIDAY SUPPLEMENT.

VOL. XXXIII.--NO. 31 TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN THURSDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 21, 1882. WHOLE NO. 1670

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

The city taxes in Charlotte are $1.63 on $100.

Jackson has now a Chinese population of six souls.

The Jackson salt well will be put down several hundred feet more. The hole is now 2,001 feet deep.

Twenty one students of Albion College suspended for breaking the college rules.

The ferry ceased running across the Ontonagon river on Wednesday, December 6, and since that time loaded teams have crossed on the ice.

Mining operation on the Menominee and Marquette iron ranges, in Michigan, employ about 14,000 men and $52,000,000 in capital.

Finest line Gents' Neck Wear at Kies Bros.

Niles Mirror: The old log cabin built by Thos. Deniston, in 1838, was torn down a short time since. His hewed oak logs were as sound as they were the day when they went up.

The Silver Islet Mine shaft is now down over 1,100 feet, and they are still sinking about nine feet a week, taking with them the whole width of the shaft, which is 7x14.

Kies Bros. do the leading merchant tailoring business.

Will McGraw, Thomas H. McGraw and Mrs. C. B. Curtis, of Bay City, each received New York drafts on Monday for $100,000 from the estate of the late Jennie McGraw Fiske.

In Hart, the other day, a pastor of one of the churches noticing that another pastor was illy clad as to his coat, flew around and raised money enough to buy the desired article. There's brotherly love for you!

Seal Skin Caps at Kies Bros.

Buy your Silk Handkerchiefs at Kies Bros.

The Saginaw Courier tells about a horse that fell sick in the night, and, breaking out of its stable, made its way to the stable of a veterinary surgeon who had before treated the animal for a sickness. It stood there several hours awaiting the opening of the stable in the morning, and when admitted soon fell dead. The Courier thinks the story incredible, but it hardly needs an especial vouching for, though that might be necessary had the horse gone to an undertaker.

Go to Kies Bros.' for Hats & Caps

A drain commissioner's convention, to be composed of county and township drain commissioners and others interested in drainage, is proposed to be held at Lansing early in January. The object is to compare notes with the view of securing uniformity in the operation of the drain law, and to agree upon some needed amendments. The drain law of last session is regarded as a great improvement on the old law, and with some modifications it is believed it will be all that is desired. Wellington Ellis, county drain commissioner, Detroit, may be addressed on the subject.

Kies Bros.' use the best trimmings in their merchant tailoring department.

The Ontonagon Miner says the prevailing excitement up that way, is about the recent decision of the Secretary of the Interior, regarding the land in the even sections embraced in the limits of the Ontonagon & Brule River Railroad grant, which was to the effect that the lands referred to were only subject to pre-emption or homestead entry and were not for sale by the government. A number of valuable tracts which have been bought and paid for, but on which the owners have not got patents, have been entered as homesteads, pre-empted or taken up on script. All is excitement and homesteaders cabins are going up throughout the woods.

Full line of Sweet, Orr & Co's Overalls and Jackets, direct from the factory, at Kies Bros.

New York Ledger: A friend of ours once had a startling experience in a clearing on the southern shore of Lake Superior. Sitting on a large log, twenty feet long, he thoughtlessly held the lighted end of a cigar upon the half rotten surface, and went away without noticing the effect. The next day, at the same hour, passing by the spot, he was astounded to find the huge trunk nearly consumed, and all glowing with an intense heat. The fire had silently eaten its way through and through the log, and nothing but its chance isolation prevented a disastrous forest fire, which might have laid waste half a dozen counties and destroyed a thousand homes.

CONUNDRUM

WHY HAVE KIES BROS.

Sold so many Winter Suits and Overcoats during the warm fall.

ANSWER.

Because they have

The Most Complete Stock!

And Make the

LOWEST PRICES

IN SOUTHERN MICHIGAN.

ONE PRICE TO ALL!

KIES BROS.,

Mills Block, TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

LOST.

A Note, for $1,8.25, drawn by Dr. Loree in favor of Geo. Exelby. All persons are cautioned against negotiating for the same. Finder please leave at HERALD office.

EVANS' BUSINESS COLLEGE

And Institute of Rapid Writing and Flourishing. This Institution opens this year with a large increase of students over last; new rooms and more help. In addition to the usual branches, Shorthand Writing and German are taught. Classes will be formed January 2d to Flourishing and Drawing. Good board $3.00.

WANTED.

10,000 feet of seasoned Beech wood for cash.
GEO. N. STACY.

NOTICE.

The village council request that parties depositing coal ashes in the streets of the village of Tecumseh, abandon the practice. It is strictly against the village ordinance described as a nuisance.
H. W. STEVENS, Marshall.

TIES WANTED.

Parties wishing to contract for ties along the new Toledo & Milwaukee R. R., will confer with H. W. Stevens, Tecumseh, Mich.

FOR SALE.

A new parlor suit for sale very cheap. Enquire at the Exchange hotel. J. H. EMERY.

FOR SALE.

80 acres of good land situated 3 miles Southeast Tecumseh on section 1 in Raisin. For particulars enquire of C. D. BILLS

EYE AND EAR SURGERY.

Dr. R. D. Tipple, Eye and Ear Surgeon, 307 Superior street, Toledo, treats all diseases of the eye, ear, throat and nose both medically and surgically upon scientific principles, inserts artificial eyes, adjusts spectacles, &c. Special attention given to straightening cross-eyes and removing cataracts. Consultations free.

John R. Clark
WILL LECTURE ON
IRISH LIFE AND CHARACTER!
WITH NEW SONGS AND RECITATIONS,
—AT—
Opera House, Tecumseh, Jan. 1,
Sage's Hall, Pennington Corners, Tuesday, Jan. 2.
Grange Hall, Macon, Wednesday, January 3.
Town Hall, Clinton, Thursday, January 4.
Britton, Friday, January 5.
Assisted by Local Talent.

O. P. Bills. Mrs. C. Bills.
N. Church, Mrs. M. H. Church.

O. P. BILLS & CO.,
BANKERS.
J. N. Satterlhwaite, Cashier.
Tecumseh, Mich.

Do a general Banking business. Receive deposits. Exchange bought on all points and our own drafts issued, available in all parts of the United States and Canada, and the principal cities of Europe.

THE South-eastern Bee-keepers' Association, comprising the counties of Monroe, Hillsdale, Lenawee, Washtenaw, Jackson, Oakland and Livingston, will hold their annual meeting in the Court House, at Ann Arbor, Jan. 20th, 1883. All are invited.

H. D. CUTTING, Pres't.
G. J. PEASE, Sec'y, Ann Arbor.

SUMMER IN ICELAND.

In speaking of the lecture by D. W. C. Durgin, D. D., President of Hillsdale College, which is to be delivered at the Opera House this evening the Morenci Observer has the following:

"The lecture of Dr. Durgin, of Hillsdale College, at the Congregational church, last Wednesday evening, on Iceland and what he saw in his journeyings there last year, was attended by a very appreciative audience and gave immense satisfaction. The doctor's happy faculty of word painting, permeated as it is by a vein of rich and genuine humor, makes his lecture alike agreeable and pleasant. Christopher Sparling, the "wee little" student of Hillsdale College, nineteen years of age and weighing only forty pounds, was present and spoke his little piece in excellent style. He and his brother who is also a dwarf, are successfully pursuing a college course, and defraying their expenses mainly by the sale of their photographs."

THREE GREAT OFFERS.

For the benefit of our subscribers, we have succeeded in making arrangements with the Detroit Free Press, Michigan Farmer, and Detroit Post and Tribune, and will offer the HERALD in connection with these papers at the following rates:

Herald & Weekly Free Press.....$2 25
" " " Post and Tribune 2.25
" " " Michigan Farmer 2.60

We have special rates from these papers, and have made a special rate on the HERALD to give our subscribers a chance to get the papers most needed in this vicinity at a reasonable rate, and hence concluded to make the cash reduction rather than give a premium, as heretofore. These rates are better than can be obtained from any subscription agent, and gives you the HERALD for less money than you can get any other paper published in Lenawee county. We also give special rates on all other newspapers published, and it will be to the advantage of any person to see us before subscribing for their newspapers for 1883.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD.

TECUMSEH, MICH. DEC. 21, 1882.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

CHRISTMAS next Monday.

RABBIT hunters are putting in full time.

JUST one more issue of the HERALD in 1882.

TO-MORROW will be the shortest day of the year.

THE small boy now delights to "ketch on."

THE sleighing is getting better and wood plenty.

HOW the HERALD will shine with its new dress!

THE snow is being used for all it is worth in this vicinity.

WE wish all our subscribers and friends a Merry Christmas.

THE Board of Supervisors will convene next Tuesday at 2 P. M.

MANCHESTER will have a masquerade ball on New Year's night.

LET all attend the lecture of Dr. Durgin at the Opera House this evening.

MISSES LIZZIE AND EMMA SMITH returned to their home in this village on Monday last.

IT seemed as if trains were passing every few minutes over the Jackson branch last Sunday.

THE Old Year is packing his trunk, and with a through ticket will soon depart for the misty past.

THE man who wanted a cold, steady winter, might report progress how he likes it as far as he has got.

EVERY boy or girl who buys a Christmas card at the HERALD office will get an advertising card.

A SLEIGHING party of Adrian young people spent last Friday evening at the residence of N. M. Sutton.

EVERY person who subscribes for a newspaper should call at the HERALD office and get figures before sending for their papers for 1883 and save money.

ALL members of Tecumseh masonic lodge should be present at the regular meeting to-morrow evening, as the officers for the ensuing year are to be elected.

THE fall term of the Raisin Valley Seminary will close on Friday. Prof. White, the new superintendent seems to be giving excellent satisfaction.—The winter term will open Jan. 2d.

THE almanac states that winter will begin to-day. This must be a mistake; either the almanac set the winter opening too late, or the weather clerk did not consult the almanac when he sent the cold weather of the past two weeks.

MILTON, the poet, was blind and it must have been a sad life for him to live and not see. But it might have been even sadder were he now living in our midst and yet unable to witness the glorious display of elegant holiday goods by our various dealers.

DRESSED pork has been coming into market at a lively rate for several days past, owing, in a great measure to the uniform cold weather and excellent roads. The shipments by local dealers have been large, and the prices must prove quite satisfactory to the farmer.

THE cigarmakers throughout the country are materially reducing the working force in their establishments, not wishing to manufacture more goods than enough to supply the present demand until the question of taxation is definitely settled one way or the other.

Detroit Free Press: A John Chinaman in Ann Arbor has demonstrated his ability to be Christianized by going on a sleigh-ride, getting capsized out of the rig, and letting the horse run away. Until he runs away with a bank vault, however, he cannot expect "Melican man" to look on him as an equal.

THE last regular meeting of Macon Grange for the year 1882 will be held at Grange Hall, Friday, Dec. 22d. Election of officers will take place at this meeting, and also a Board of Directors elected for the year 1883. Let there be a full attendance. There will be a meeting of the present Board of Directors Monday, Dec. 18, at 7 p. m., at Grange Hall.

Morenci Observer: Mrs. Smith, the venerable grand-mother of Prof. Payne, of the State University, now living with her daughter in Adrian, is nine-four years of age, is in excellent health and in the enjoyment of all her faculties. We remember her as the frequent and welcome guest in our father's house, in the State of New York, full fifty years ago.

MICHIGAN crop report for November shows the condition of wheat to be 92 per cent. of the average, the area seeded down being a little less than in the fall of 1881. Acreage of corn, over 800,000; estimated yield, 27,500,000 bushels. Acreage of oats, over 480,000; yield, about 15,400,000 bushels.—Wheat marketed in the four months of July, August, September and October, 4,214,257 bushels.

SEE our three big offers for subscriptions for 1883.

THE Daily Record is a new daily started at Coldwater. It is a neat four column folio, and is sold at twenty-five cents per month.

SANTA CLAUS has visited Tecumseh and unloaded a portion of his choicest candy toys at Hause's, where you can buy them for a small amount of money. Call and see.

A RESPONSIVE Christmas service will be held on Sabbath eve., at the Methodist church. The Sabbath school and the congregation uniting in the service.

THE columns of the HERALD are rather overcrowded with advertising just at present; With the first issue in January our readers will again receive the usual amount of reading matter.

AT the next regular communication of Tecumseh Lodge, No. 69, F. & A. M., to be held on Friday evening, Dec. 22d, an election of officers for the ensuing year will take place. Let there be a full attendance.

WE saw in Lilley, Bidwell & Co's. bank yesterday a fine case of fourteen birds stuffed and mounted by Kief, of Manchester. Mr. Lilley is a great admirer of this class of work and has one of the finest collections in the county.

THERE'S a $50 fine for a grocer to sell an empty oil barrel without first having erased the inspector's brand. It might be well to keep this information in mind, as the government has a good many detectives in its employ.

A SPECIAL meeting of the Chautauqua Literary and Scientific Circle will be held on Monday evening, Dec. 25, 1882, at the private office of Dr. R. B House. As matters of importance will came before the Circle it is hoped that all will attend.

THE public schools of this village will close to-morrow, and a vacation of two weeks will follow. The winter term will open the Monday after New Year's. Our schools have prospered finely this year under the administration of Prof. Hammond.

THE donation party at the Baptist church last Friday evening, for the benefit of the undersigned, was largely attended. The net proceeds amounted to $107.30. Will the donors accept the sincere thanks of

C. E. & E. A. CONLEY.

Clinton News: Fifty-two years ago, this coming Christmas, every adult person in the village of Clinton, sat down to a dinner of wild turkey, at Mrs. Benjamin B. Fisk's, mother of W. V. Fisk, in a log house on the site of Dr. A. F. Tuttle's present residence. Things have changed since those days.

THE general offices of the Ohio and Michigan R. R. Company, which is the Ohio end of the T. & M., were located in the Hall block, Toledo, which was burned last week. Everything in the office was lost. The loss will be a serious annoyance but it will not interfere with the work now in progress on the T. & M. line in Michigan.

IF you want to see your wife boil over with gratitude and tears of joy fill her eyes step into Spark's Sewing Machine Rooms, buy that Skeleton Cabinet, Nickle-plated face White Sewing Machine and have it sent home on Christmas eve. No investment will pay you so large a percentage. You can buy it for less money than a plain machine with no drawers formerly cost. You can well afford it now the T. & M. railroad is a fixed fact.

THE Lenawee county poor house has about sixty-five inmates, the average number for several years. One old inmate, a former leading citizen of Blissfield and Riga, who had been in the poor house for the last 20 years, died during the autumn; whiskey was what ailed him. The superintendents are putting up a new barn and putting things in general good order, and they think they have one of the best kept county "asylums" in the state.

IT is not necessary to pick our words in mentioning the Philadelphia Times, the prospectus of which journal appears in another column. The Times has got to be a sort of necessity with some people in this community and it ought to be with many more. It has many imitators all over the land, but there is really nothing like The Times from Maine to California. We have persuaded ourselves at times that the reason the people like it so much is that it is constantly giving its readers juicy bites from the sunny side of the journalistic peach.

JAMES VICK.—From the appearance of Vick's Floral Guide, which is on our desk, we should judge that the young Vicks are "chips of the old block," as the Floral Guide with its lithographed cover is handsome enough for the parlor table. It is printed on the best of paper, has three colored plates of Flowers and Vegetables, and full of useful information. Those who send 10 cents for it cannot be disappointed, as the plates alone are worth the amount. Address as in past years, James Vick, Rochester, N. Y.

OUR special combination offers are taking splendidly. This arrangement seems to fit the case exactly.

PROF. EVANS' Business College at Adrian is in a flourishing condition. See his announcement in another column.

A SPECIAL train will run from Tecumseh Monday night to accommodate those who wish to attend the Chic party, at Adrian.

THE second entertainment of the Clinton lecture course will be given by the celebrated British Bell Ringers on Tuesday evening next, Dec. 26th.

THOSE who trip the "light fantastic toe," and are "watching out" for a good time, should remember Sage & Cary's dance, at Pennington's Corners on Christmas night.

JOHN R. CLARK will address the citizens of Raisin Centre on Sunday evening, Dec. 24th, on his favorite theme. Subject, "The Moral Heroism of the Temperance Movement."

Battle Creek Journal: A farmer came into the city last week with ten pounds of butter and a few dozen eggs, which he foolishly exchanged for a new suit of clothes. Those who are able to hold on, may get a house and lot before spring for a firkin of butter and a few eggs, while the owner of a good stock of beef and a poultry yard will eventually command a brick block or a banking house!

Saline Observer: Dryden said "that virtue, though in rags, will keep you warm." Dryden was an old f—l, or else he possessed a better quality of virtue than people do now-a-days. We tried that kind of clothes ourself last winter, and nearly froze before Christmas, and this winter we intend to wear thicker goods. Virtue may be thick enough in the summer time, but you want to lay it off about the 1st of November if you don't want bad colds.

Clinton News: H. D. Cutting attended the State Bee Keepers' annual meeting at Kalamazoo last week. He was elected secretary for the coming year. Mr. Cutting was a member of the committee on statistics this year and has furnished us with the following statistics, which will be of interest to bee keepers: Number of colonies of bees in the spring in the state, 1,284; number of colonies in the fall, 2,147; number of pounds of comb honey, 19,818; extracted honey, 39,676 pounds.

Hudson Gazette: The "Oyster Special" is the only freight on the Lake Shore enjoying the distinction of a through run from New York to Chicago. They were booming through Hudson, a few days since, at a good rate, when operator Smith flagged them down, and presented the conductor with orders to take on a car of cider! Then there was a liberal use of foreign language—uttered with all the muscular intonations a rolled train man is capable of. To think that his train, on its westward flight, should be made to stop on account of a few barrels of apple-juice! It was too much, and the brakemen swore, too.

MRS. TENNY, the State Librarian, in a recent note, says there is no provision of law allowing her to distribute the book known as "Michigan in the War," to other than living soldiers entitled to receive it by virtue of a certificate from the Adjutant General. The price of the book to those not in the service is one dollar, with thirty-two cents added if forwarded by mail. Until the orders from soldiers are filled, however, it is thought best to make no sales of the work. So far the applications for it are very large, but Mrs. Tenny thinks in good time there will be a sufficient number of copies for sale to supply all who may wish to purchase the volume.

Ypsilanti Sentinel: Many of our exchanges are complaining of the lack of school teachers, and the destitution of many district schools on that account. It is quite possible that the present system of examination and certificates is weeding out teachers too close. And perhaps, also, it does not always weed out the worst and save the best. It is not always the handsomest soldiers on dress parade that make the best fighters, and the teacher that cuts a poor figure before examining committees may nevertheless be eminently successful before the class. Could not some plan be devised to allow districts their allotment of public money on showing satisfactory work done by a non-certified teacher, if no other could be obtained?

AT this time of the year, the old and young alike are anticipating the pleasures of the holiday season. All are contemplating the purchase of some thing, but very many are undecided what to buy that will carry pleasure to the hearts of the intended recipients. For the past few years there has been a growing tendency among the people to make useful and substantial gifts. This is evinced by the number of persons who have purchased Sewing Machines for Christmas presents. There is nothing that embodies the useful, substantial and ornamental more than the noiseless, light-running machine of the present day. Nine different kinds to select from at Tecumseh Sewing Machine rooms.

J. B. SWAN arrived home from Florida yesterday and reports a good time.

TRUMAN CROSMAN had a finger taken off by a machine in C. M. Claflin's broom factory yesterday morning.

MRS. H. B. HAYNES and Mrs. A. Peebles, of Akron, O., are visiting in Tecumseh. They are the guests of Mrs. Ed. Snedicor.

JOHN R. CLARK will fill five engagements in this vicinity the first week in January. Dates will be found among special notices.

THE Royal English Bell Ringers give one of their celebrated concerts at Town Hall, Clinton, Tuesday evening, Dec. 26. Admission, 50 cents.

CHRISTMAS services will be held at the Baptist church Sunday morning, Dec. 24th, and a Sunday school concert will be given in the evening.

GEO. ADAMSON has favored us with some late San Francisco papers, received from Tom. Tom speaks in glowing terms of the metropolis of the Pacific.

THE Adrian Times says that dressed hogs were bringing $6.75 per hundred in that market yesterday. Live hogs were bringing $6.00 in this market at the same time.

PROF. COCKER, of Ann Arbor, has been critically ill for the past week.—His condition yesterday was a little better, but his recovery is still considered very doubtful.

LET everybody go and hear Dr. Vincent. He is an eloquent speaker.—Those who heard him in June, when he was here, will certainly go and take all their friends with them.

THE juvenile temperance meeting will be held next Sabbath at 3 P. M., in the chapel of the Baptist church.—Rev. R. S. Pardington will address the meeting in connection with other exercises.

THE statement in the HERALD last week, that Rev. R. S. Pardington preached the funeral discourse at O'Connelly's funeral in Blissfield was an error. Rev. H. Shepard officiated on that occasion.

MRS. C. C. TEFFT and Miss Ettie Tefft started last Monday for Hamilton, N. Y. Mrs. Tefft's aged father, Seth Bass, Esq., is in critical health, and the members of his family have been summoned home. His recovery is very doubtful.

H. W. DEXTER, of Saline, has rented the Lee barn, lately occupied by Avis as a livery barn, and has started a new livery stable. Mr. Dexter is a veteran livery man, has a good stock and comes to our town well recommended. We wish him success in his enterprise.

DR. J. H. VINCENT will deliver his two lectures in the Opera House, on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, December 27th and 28th. Subjects—"That Boy" and "That Boy's Sister" Admission to the floor, 35 cents; gallery, 25 cents; reserved seats, 35 cents.—Tickets can be procured at Kiel's jewelry store.

READ the following flattering testimonials and press notices of the Royal Hand Bell Ringers, who give a concert at Clinton next Tuesday evening, under the auspices of the Clinton Lecture Association:

I unhesitatingly commend them to all who desire a pure and exquisite enjoyment.—John B. Gough.

The audience applauded every selection, as it deserved.—N. Y. World.

For novelty, beauty and interest, the concert, in the Star course, was the best of the series.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

The entertainment is really one of high order and refinement, and excels by far anything of the kind ever given in the city.—Cincinnati Inquirer.

THE surveyors on the T. & M. road have run a line from the premises of Clara Jackson, about one and a half miles east of Britton, in the town of Ridgeway, in a southeasterly direction, through Petersburg. South of that village they strike an old grade, which can be bought for a song. This will form a very feasible line and will shorten the distance between Tecumseh and Toledo two or three miles. It is very probable that this line will be adopted in preference to the direct route to Dundee, as it affords a shorter and better line to Toledo. Proper depot facilities are already engaged at Toledo, whichever route into that city shall be finally chosen.

—Disturbance among the heavenly bodies. The sun darkened, stars cease to twinkle, for the Light Running New Home eclipses them all. Though not down in the almanac, this eclipse is visible in all parts of the world. But that my business is not all down on paper is shown by the fact that I am selling more Sewing Machines than any other house in Southern Michigan. Call and see the best and get holiday prices.

B. J. COLLER, Adrian, Mich.

—Call at the yard and mill of the Tecumseh Lumber Co., and examine their stock.

—One of the best blood purifiers ever made is "King of the Blood." Sold by Druggists generally. Manufactured by D. Ransom Son & Co. Buffalo, N. Y.

DON'T READ THIS.

If you want to buy a sewing machine go to Coller's Sewing Machine Emporium, Adrian, get his "bottom prices" on the New Home, latest patent, then call at the Tecumseh Sewing Machine Agency and I will sell you one for two dollars less than his lowest figure. This will pay you for your trouble. A man who will infringe on another's territory is not the one you want to buy a machine of. I keep in stock the Domestic, White, New Home, Crown, Victor, and Stinger, which I will sell you as low as any agency in the state. My rooms at Brown's New Photograph Gallery, are elegantly fitted up and will be found very pleasant for ladies who desire to examine and try the different machines. I keep all kinds of attachments and needles, also the very best oil to be had in the market. Old machines repaired or taken in exchange. By fair, honorable dealing I hope to gain the confidence of the public. Please call and examine before purchasing of outside parties. It will be to your interest to do so.

G. P. SPARKS.

Most People

In this country seem to think that Coller's Palace of Music, at Adrian, Mich., is the place to buy pianos and organs. Customers have been more numerous than ever of late. Below we give a list of names of parties who have purchased fine organs: Andrew Russell; Fairfield; H. Pauling, Adrian township; Aaron Van Ostrand, Dover; Cyrus Crandall, Raisin; John Van Vleet, Ridgeway; Baptist Church, Tecumseh; I. O. O. F. No. 169, Jasper; Mr. Whittaker, Clayton; Henry Binns, Addison.

Mr. Coller handles four of the leading organs, as follows: Estey, Reading, Chicago Cottage, and Clough & Warren Chime Bells. Largest stock and lowest prices for holiday trade.

When you want good geese feathers be sure and go to McCowen's.

—People can get pictures at my gallery in Clinton now any day in the week. I shall remove it to Brooklyn, Mich., very soon.

Brown, the Photographer.

—Ladies, you are all invited to look through my ware-rooms and examine my large stock of fine furniture. You can't help but find a present of some kind.

WM. MCCOWEN

—If you are going to purchase a sewing machine don't fail to see the light running New Home, latest patent, feed on four sides of the needle, at Collar's Sewing Machine Emporium, Adrian, Michigan.

—The people here at not fools, but go to McCowen's when they want good goods at low prices, every time.

—If you cannot call at Coller's Palace of Music and Sewing Machine Emporium, at Adrian, and examine his stock, write him a postal for catalogue and bottom prices.

—For window cornices, room mouldings, velvet, cabinet, and all kinds of picture frames, go to McCowen's.

—December will be a bargain month at A. B. Cotton's.

—We have a five years' lease of the lumber yard on Shawnee street, near the depot, besides being the sole owners of the Planing Mill and Sash and Door factory, corner of Pearl and Shawnee streets, formerly owned by S. W. Temple. We have come to stay, to do an honest, legitimate business, and cordially invite the people to call on us and make our acquaintance. We are bound to please.

Respectfully,
TECUMSEH LUMBER CO.

—Dress Goods at Bargains.

A. B. Cotton.

—Parties wishing floral decorations for weddings, funerals or other uses, will be promptly supplied by leaving orders with J. J. Orr, at Wright's drug store. Elmer D. Smith.

Twenty-Seven

More Light Running New Home Sewing Machines just sold by B. J. Coller, of Adrian, to the following parties: George Miller, Clinton; Miss Libbie Priest, Clinton; Mr. Bradner, Clinton; Miss Mary Blessing, Tecumseh; Mrs. Alvy Freer, Ridgeway; Cornelius Exelby, Ridgeway; George Allison, Ridgeway; Paul Schwab, Ridgeway; Herman Atwell, Ridgeway; Orrin Craft, Ridgeway; James Wright, Ridgeway; Abbott Smith, Holloway; H. C. Vanoalter, Palmyra; E. A. Baker, Palmyra; P. J. Tenent, Palmyra; Mr. Crane, Springville; Henry Henderson, Sand Creek; Mr. Dunn, Fairfield; Mr. Delano, Fairfield; Mr. Aldrich, Madison; R. A. Childs, Adrian; E. A. Mills, Rollin; Amanda M. Davis, Adrian; Isaac Rathbone, Adrian township; Philo Lossing, Palmyra; Sophia Karle, Adrian; Mr. Foot, Adrian.

Call on Mr. Coller and take a Light Running New Home on trial, if you are going to buy, and satisfy yourselves that it is the finest sewing machine made.

—Leave your orders for Sash, Doors, blinds, mouldings, window frames, tanks, troughs, etc., etc., with the Tecumseh Lumber Co. They will receive prompt attention.

LODGES AND SOCIETIS

TECUMSEH LODGE, NO. 14, I. O. O. F

REGULAR MEETINGS every Tuesday Evening at their Lodge Room over Brewer's Store, Chicago Street

J. W. WOODEN, N. G.
ROBERT HODGES, Sec.

Railroad Time Tables.

and M. S. RAILROAD.

TRAINS GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	No. 15. Mail.	No. 17. Express.	No. 49. Accom.
Jackson	6 50 a m	2 40 p m	1 40 p m
Napoleon	7 10 "	3 05 "	2 30 "
Norvell	7 16 "	3 12 "	2 40 "
Manchester	7 30 "	3 30 "	3 30 "
Clinton	7 45 "	3 48 "	3 10 "
Tecumseh	7 52 "	4 00 "	4 30 "
Adrian	8 50 "	4 37 "	5 25 "
Detroit	10 50 "	7 10 "
Toledo	9 50 "	5 25 "

TRAINS GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	No. 16. Mail.	No. 18. Express.	No. 48. Accom.
Detroit	9 20 a m	6 40 p m
Toledo	10 50 "	8 25 "
Adrian	11 40 a m	9 20 "	5 10 a m
Tecumseh	12 14 p m	9 57 "	5 25 "
Clinton	12 22 "	10 07 "	7 30 "
Manchester	12 40 "	10 30 "	8 25 "
Norvell	12 56 "	10 45 "	9 05 "
Napoleon	1 05 "	10 55 "	9 25 "
Jackson	1 30 "	11 20 "	10 20 "

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Coupon tickets can now be procured at this station over best routes, to all principal cities in the U. S.

N. S. SATTERTHWAITE, Ticket Agent.

Post Office, Tecumseh, Michigan,

MAILS CLOSE.

Eastern and Detroit—morning mail ..... 7 30 A. M.
Northern and Detroit, via Jackson ..... 11 40 A. M.
Eastern and Detroit ..... 3 30 P. M.

OVERLAND.

Clinton, Springville, Cambridge & Brooklyn, Mondays, Wednesdays, Fridays ..... 1 30 "
Ridgeway—daily ..... 1 30 "
Lake Ridge, daily ..... 1 30 "
Macon, daily ..... 12 00 M.

ARRIVALS.

Northern Mail ..... 7 55 A. M.
Eastern Mail ..... 12 10 P. M. 9 57 P. M.

Office hours from 7 A. M. to 7 30 P. M., Sundays from 10 to 10 30 A. M.

FRED ROSACRANS, P. M.

For the Latest Styles of

Buggies, Carriages
SLEIGHS AND HARNESS,
GO TO WENAWEE CARRIAGE FACTORY
Satisfaction Guaranteed
J. R. [illegible]LEY

ABE HANT[illegible]
General Auctioneer.

Auction business entrusted to his care will receive prompt attention.

TECUMSEH, - MICHIGAN

BEN REYNOLDS,
Licensed Auctioneer.

ALL AUCTION BUSINESS,
Town or country will receive prompt attention.
TECUMSEH, MICH.

B. F. STEINHOFF'S
Dental Rooms.

OVER BANK
GAS FOR EXTRACTING.
THE LOWEST PRICES for THE BEST WORK

LOOSE'S EXTRACT
RED CLOVER BLOSSOM.
The Great Blood Purifier

PURE AND HARMLESS

Cures Scrofula in all its forms, Cancer, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Rheumatism and all other blood and skin diseases and regulates the bowels. $1 per pint bottle.

Loose's Red Clover Pills are a speedy, certain, cheap.

Loose's Red Clover Pills are for Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Constipation. They act on the liver and kidneys. In boxes of 30 pills 25c., 5 boxes $1.

For sale by all druggists, or address J. M. Loose, Monroe, Mich. Send for circular.

I have removed my
BLACKSMITH SHOP
To the old stand of J. H. Mills,
On Logan Street,
Opposite Hayden's Warehouse
where I have better facilities than ever for doing good work.
Horse Shoeing a specialty
ED. ROWLAND.

Weight of Men and Women.

As Determined by Over 20,000 People at the Last Cincinnati Exposition.

The comporative weight of men and women, and the average weight of general humanity has always been an interesting subject. So the little circular issued by Mr. W. A. Collord, Chairman of the last Cincinnati Exposition, cannot fail to attract attention. He says: "It will be remembered that permission was given the Department of Scientific Educational Appliance to employ a clerk to record the weights of men and women being weighed during the exhibition. The sheets containing the record have now been added up, and the committee reports as follows:

The object sought was a determination of the average weight of men and women, a fact often required by civil and mechanical engineers. Haswell states that the average weight of 20,000 men and women, weighed at Boston in 1854, was—men, 141½ pounds; women, 121½. We have always thought these weights too low for western people. The number weighed at the Tenth Cincinnati Industrial Exposition was 22,155, and the total weight 3,072,306 pounds. Men weighed, 7,467, weight, 1,150,198 pounds. Women weighed, 14,688; weight, 1,922,198 pounds. Average weight of men, 154.02 pounds; average weight of women, 130.87 pounds.

For men this is 12.52 pounds higher than the Boston average and for women 6.37 pounds higher.

We also determined with reasonable certainty the average weight of people from the country, independently of the general average. This was rendered possible by the excursions that were coming here at various times from this and the adjoining states, parts of which were weighed.

For Ohio—Average weight of 141 men was 157.38 pounds; average weight of 179 women was 133.26 pounds.

For Southern Indiana and Illinois—Average weight of 123 men was 158.52 pound; average weight of 193 women was 133.55 pounds.

For Kentucky—Average weight of 114 men was 158.43 pounds; average weight of 188 women was 133.76 pounds.

The mean of these averages is so much above the general average as to attract attention. For men it is 4.09 pounds higher, and for women 2.65 pounds. The very high, and approximate, average of those from Southern Indiana and Illinois and from Kentucky revalls the Kentucky origin of the former.

A Good Word for Cremation.

There are only three ways in which dead bodies can be disposed of—either in earth, sea, or fire. There are obvious objections, on the score of good taste, to sending our dead to be torn to bits by fishes. It is also certain that our cemeteries and grave-yards, with slowly-decomposing masses of animal matter, leads to the surrounding soil being poisoned by the products of putrefaction—a result that can not be considered healthy by any stretch of imagination. But if we burn a dead body to ashes we do, or need do, injury to nobody. There is nothing unwholesome in the ashes, which may be preserved with reverent care as sacred relics, and people who prefer to burn their dead rather than let them rot in cold obstruction and rot" have both sense and science on their side. Indeed, we have never heard of anything like a good argument against cremation, save one.—It is that started by a Belgian statesman, who holds that, if we burn dead bodies, we lessen the chance's of detecting cases of poisoning. But surely it would be possible to devise means whereby, while the body was consumed, the stomach of each corpse might be preserved for a certain time after death, lest it might be wanted for analysis.—We do not share the terror of those bishops who, like Dr. Wordsworth, think that cremation may tamper with the popular belief in the resurrection of the body; nor can we all set to sympathize with the late home secretary, who when cremation was once brutted in his presence, is said to have asked with horror, "But, then, what shall we do for burial certificates?" The world went and has gone on after the sacrifice of far more important forms than the burial certificate, which, to Sir Richard Cross, seems an essential element in the constitution of society; and it ought not to be more difficult to believe in the resurrection of a body which shark has eaten and digested than to suppose it reduced to ashes in a funeral pyre.—London Bee.

"I go for a season but I return anon," jauntily remarked the merchant when he left the office at 10 45 A. M. "What does he mean?" I inquired of the new boy. "Why," replied the boy who wasn't new, "going for a season is stepping out for a clove, and returning anon is returning soon mouse," that is, sneaking around when you least expect him, trying to catch you reading the paper and eating peanuts."

A German paper has a rather good story about a lady who, not feeling as well as she might, went to consult a physician. "Well," said the doctor, after looking at her tongue, feeling of her pulse, and asking for sundry questions, "I should advise you, yes, I should advise you not to get married." "Are you single, doctor?" inquired the fair patient, with a significant, yet modest smile. "I am, mein frau; but I do not see what that has to do with your case, I do not suppose you know how to prescribe to take the pills I do they prescribe."

A story is told of a German who, while shaving, accidentally cut off his nose. In the excitement he dropped the razor and picked up one of his toes. It was passing up to a medical amateur of his anatomy, he clapped the toe to the bleeding wounds, and bound them on tightly. After the flesh had grown, he took off the bandage, removed the bandages, and was filled with horror when he found a well-developed toe in place of a nose, and vice versa. "Now when over he gets a cold he has to remove his shoe and stocking in order to blow his nose."

